

Call for Proposals

National Professional Development Program

Preparing Educators for English Learners

OELA announces the 2016 National Professional Development (NPD) program call for proposals. NPD funds eligible institutions of higher education in consortia with local educational agencies or state educational agencies to implement professional development activities that will improve instruction for English learners .

Professional development may include preservice or in-service activities for educators of ELs including teachers, administrators, paraprofessionals or others educators working with ELs.
