

April 22, 2017

nationalmathfestival.org

Washington, D.C.

Britta Shillingsburg

Event Planner & Marketing Specialist, MSRI

What is the National Math Festival?

- April 22, 2017 10:00 a.m. – 7:00 p.m.
- Free & Public event
- In collaboration with IAS
- Goal is to inspire and challenge attendees and change the public perception of math
- Performances, interactive exhibits and lectures
- Pre – K through adults

<http://nationalmathfestival.org/>

National Math Festival in 140 seconds

Where?

- Nation's Capitol
- Walter E. Washington Convention Center
- Expansive hallways for activities and attendee engagement for “festival” atmosphere
- Feel and sense that you are a part of something bigger

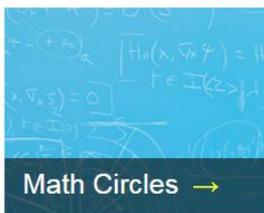

Beyond Washington, D.C.

- Math Movement
- Thank you to AMS, MAA, AWM, and SIAM
- Events at science museums around the U.S.
- More Math! on www.nationalmathfestival.org

More Math!

Where the National Math Festival lives 365
days a year

More Math!

For those of you who can't wait until the 2017 National Math Festival, we invite you to explore the wonder and beauty of math with these puzzles, games, books, videos, and other mathy treats.

Ways to Get Involved

1. Cross - promotion

One complimentary ad in your newsletter

2. Volunteers

3. More Math! games, puzzles, videos etc.

4. Become a Sponsor

5. Participate and Attend

Questions?

Contact us:

Kirsten Bohl

Project Lead, National Math Festival

kbohl@msri.org

(740) 391 - 7654

Sponsorships:

Heike Friedman

Development Director, MSRI

Hfriedman@msri.org

(510) 643 – 6056

www.nationalmathfestival.org

Thank You!

Follow us:

Twitter: @natmathfestival #wemath

instagram: @natmathfestival #wemath

www.facebook.com/nationalmathfestival

www.nationalmathfestival.org