I. Call to Order

Chair Heiner welcomed everyone and called the retreat to order at 9:08 a.m. ET.

II. Roll Call

Chair Heiner asked for a roll call of members. The following members were present: Ben Cundiff, Tracey Cusick, Rich Gimmel, Kathy Gornik, Hal Heiner, Gary Houchens, Alesa Johnson, Joseph Papalia, Milton Seymore, Laura Timberlake and Education and Workforce Development Cabinet Deputy Secretary Mike Nemes on behalf of Secretary Ramsey. Absent: Amanda Stamper and Council on Postsecondary Education (CPE) President Dr. Aaron Thompson.

III. Introductory Remarks

Chair Heiner delivered opening remarks to frame the day of learning for board members and those in the audience. He shared the purpose of the retreat, to serve as a day to review the board's goals and objectives, and the problems facing student learning outcomes in the state and nation. As such, the day served as a time to hear from speakers with demonstrated success in closing the achievement gap in different settings.

IV. Presentation: Opportunity Myth and Student Success -- TNTP

Dr. Tequilla Brownie with TNTP shared highlights from TNTP's latest report titled, "The Opportunity Myth." Findings related to the examination of the quality of students' academic experiences in school – and its effect on their long-term success – and how to improve those experiences at scale. Dr. Brownie discussed key resources that influence a student's school experience and outcomes, along with how state leaders can lead the way toward making students' opportunities possible.

V. Presentation: After School Programs that Emphasize Academic Excellence -- Donnita Travis with By the Hand

Donnita Travis shared her background, along with the mission of and services provided by the non-profit, Chicago-based after school program she founded, By the Hand. A former By the Hand student, Madeja, joined Travis to discuss the services the program offers and the impact of those services. Travis led the board in questions and answers focused on the relationships and impact of her organization, and models, through enrichment services and staff.

VI. Presentation: Closing Gaps: In the Classroom, Within a School, Across a School System - Michele Caracappa

Michele Caracappa, Chief Program Officer with New Leaders, shared her experiences with Success Academy Charter Schools as one of the top performing networks in the state of New York. Caracappa focused her presentation on closing gaps from a systems perspective within schools. Caracappa led the board in questions and answers focused on her observations on effective practices as a result of serving in different educator roles.

VII. Lunch

VIII. Presentation: The Story of J.B. Atkinson Academy - Dewey Hensley

Dr. Dewey Hensley, former principal of J.B. Atkinson Academy in Jefferson County Schools, shared his background and discussed how his personal experiences with poverty shaped his work in closing the achievement gap. Further, Hensley discussed the importance of embedding soft skills in everyday classroom instruction, as well as attending to the needs of the whole child.

IX.
