

Clarity for Learning

Fall Online Book Study

September 16 - December 13

Facilitated by Jackie Rogers and Misty Higgins, Professional Learning Coordinators
at the Kentucky Department of Education

Join educators across the state to dig deeper into clarity in teaching and learning!

Throughout this study, we will focus on answering two critical questions:

1. How can clarity improve teaching and learning?
2. How does clarity serve as the foundation for other powerful, evidence-based practices?

The book study will include

- monthly reading assignments
- time for reflection
- action research as you apply learning to classroom practice
- Opportunities to collaborate with other KY educators as we share our struggles and successes with the goal of improving teaching and learning for our students

A Google Classroom format allows participants to work at their own pace as they read and interact with the community.
