FOREWORD

This 2022 Edition of Kentucky School Laws Annotated has been published and distributed in accordance with KRS 156.240. It contains those provisions of the Kentucky Constitution and the Kentucky Revised Statutes pertaining to schools and education. In addition, it contains the new laws enacted through 2022 Regular Session of the General Assembly.

Interpretations of the laws which have resulted from court decisions and opinions of the Attorney General are included in notes at the end of sections. In addition, to facilitate research, cross references and citations to other sources are provided. Finally, at the end of this edition, you will find a “Kentucky School Laws — Quick Reference” to aid in searching for statutes by subject.

I trust this volume will serve as a valuable resource for all those with an interest in the education of Kentucky’s children.

No preference shall ever be given by law to any religious sect, society or denomination; nor to any particular creed, mode of worship or system of ecclesiastical polity; nor shall any person be compelled to attend any place of worship, to contribute to the erection or maintenance of any such place, or to the salary or support of any minister of religion; nor shall any man be compelled to send his child to any school to which he may be conscientiously opposed; and the civil rights, privileges or capacities of no person shall be taken away, or in anywise diminished or enlarged, on account of his belief or disbelief of any religious tenet, dogma or teaching. 1. Hospitals.

The drafters of our Constitution did not intend to go so far as to prevent a public benefit, like a hospital in which the followers of all faiths and creeds are admitted, from receiving state aid merely because it was originally founded by a certain religious denomination whose members now serve on its board of trustees. Kentucky Bldg. Com. v. Effron, 310 Ky. 355, 220 S.W.2d 836, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 915 (Ky. 1949).

The provision in Const., § 5 prohibiting preference by law to any religious sect, society or denomination was not violated by provisions of law which authorized allocation of state tax funds to nonprofit, privately owned hospitals which were governed and controlled by the members of certain religious faiths. Kentucky Bldg. Com. v. Effron, 310 Ky. 355, 220 S.W.2d 836, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 915 (Ky. 1949).

Lease of city-county hospital to religious organization did not violate this section. Abernathy v. Irvine, 355 S.W.2d 159, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 16 (Ky. 1961), cert. denied, 371 U.S. 831, 83 S. Ct. 49, 9 L. Ed. 2d 67, 1962 U.S. LEXIS 649 (U.S. 1962).

2. Oaths.

Fact that jurors were given oath ending with “so help me God” did not violate constitutional rights of person accused of felony. Pierce v. Commonwealth, 408 S.W.2d 187, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 81 (Ky. 1966).

3. Schools.

4. — Religious Beliefs of School Administration.

Where school administrator’s use of her religious beliefs in exercising her administrative duties and in exercising authority over teachers was offensive to some of the staff, it did not invariably pose some substantial threat to public safety, peace or order, and thus, her behavior in this regard was protected conduct. Hooks v. Smith, 781 S.W.2d 522, 1989 Ky. App. LEXIS 151 (Ky. Ct. App. 1989).

5. — Compulsory Attendance.

While the state has an interest in the education of its citizens which could be furthered through compulsory education, the rights of conscience of those who desire education of their children in private and parochial schools should be protected. Kentucky State Board for Elementary & Secondary Education v. Rudasill, 589 S.W.2d 877, 1979 Ky. LEXIS 295 (Ky. 1979), cert. denied, 446 U.S. 938, 100 S. Ct. 2158, 64 L. Ed. 2d 792, 1980 U.S. LEXIS 1592 (U.S. 1980).

The language of this section concerning compulsory school attendance is intended to permit the Commonwealth to prepare its children to intelligently exercise the right of suffrage by compelling attendance at a formal school, public or private or parochial, for a legislatively determined period each year. Kentucky State Board for Elementary & Secondary Education v. Rudasill, 589 S.W.2d 877, 1979 Ky. LEXIS 295 (Ky. 1979), cert. denied, 446 U.S. 938, 100 S. Ct. 2158, 64 L. Ed. 2d 792, 1980 U.S. LEXIS 1592 (U.S. 1980).

If the legislature wishes to monitor the work of private and parochial schools in accomplishing the constitutional purpose of compulsory education, it may do so by an appropriate standardized achievement testing program, and if the results show that one or more private or parochial schools have failed to reasonably accomplish the constitutional purpose, the Commonwealth may then withdraw approval and seek to close them for they no longer fulfill the purpose of “schools.” Kentucky State Board for Elementary & Secondary Education v. Rudasill, 589 S.W.2d 877, 1979 Ky. LEXIS 295 (Ky. 1979),

6. — Achievement Testing.

Requiring students to take the Kentucky Instructional Results Information System (KIRIS) examination did not violate students' constitutional rights of freedom of religion. Triplett v. Livingston County Bd. of Educ., 967 S.W.2d 25, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 74 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997), cert. denied, 525 U.S. 1104, 119 S. Ct. 870, 142 L. Ed. 2d 771, 1999 U.S. LEXIS 599 (U.S. 1999).

7. — Maintenance.

Contract by school district trustees to maintain sectarian school free of charge from public funds in return for sectarian school teaching common school pupils free of charge was in violation of this section. Williams v. Board of Trustees, 173 Ky. 708, 191 S.W. 507, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 518 (Ky. 1917) (Ky. 1917).

8. — Student Transportation.

A county fiscal court's resolution which provided approximately 65 percent of the total cost of transporting non-public elementary school students was not unconstitutional where (1) funds were not paid directly to any private or parochial school and were, instead, paid to the individual local board of education operated transportation system of contracted bus and vehicle companies, (2) the benefit provided by the resolution went directly toward the safety and welfare of elementary age school children and not into the accounts of non-public schools, and (3) the resolution did not establish a tuition ceiling as a requisite to eligibility for the transportation subsidy. Neal v. Fiscal Court, 986 S.W.2d 907, 1999 Ky. LEXIS 24 (Ky. 1999).

9. — Place of Worship.

A public school opened with prayer and the reading without comment of passage from King James' translation of the Bible, during which pupils are not required to attend, is not a place of worship, nor are its teachers ministers of religion within the meaning of this section. Hackett v. Brooksville Graded School Dist., 120 Ky. 608, 87 S.W. 792, 27 Ky. L. Rptr. 1021, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 144 (Ky. 1905).

10. Religion.

Taxpayers could not intervene in a suit by a religious non-profit against the Commonwealth regarding a tourism incentive program as the required significant legal interest they alleged was rooted in their status as taxpayers, and their generalized interest in how their tax dollars were used was insufficient to intervene as of right under Fed. R. Civ. P. 24(a); they did not establish direct personal injury and mere disagreement over litigation strategy was not inadequacy of representation. Ark Encounter, LLC v. Stewart, 311 F.R.D. 414, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 147650 (E.D. Ky. 2015), dismissed in part, 152 F. Supp. 3d 880, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8405 (E.D. Ky. 2016).

Taxpayers could not intervene in a suit by a religious non-profit against the Commonwealth regarding a tourism incentive program because the potential strains on judicial economy and delays, confusion, and prejudice to the existing parties that would result from unrestricted intervention by taxpayers weighed against allowing permissive intervention under Fed. R. Civ. P. 24(b). Ark Encounter, LLC v. Stewart, 311 F.R.D. 414, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 147650 (E.D. Ky. 2015), dismissed in part, 152 F. Supp. 3d 880, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8405 (E.D. Ky. 2016).

11. — Beliefs.

KRS 39A.285 and 39G.010 do not violate the First and Fourteenth Amendments, U.S. Const. amend. I and XIV, and Ky. Const. § 5 as the legislation merely pays lip service to a commonly held belief in the puissance of God; the legislation does not seek to advance religion, nor does it have the effect of advancing religion, but instead seeks to recognize the historical reliance on God for protection. Ky. Office of Homeland Sec. v. Christerson, 371 S.W.3d 754, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 209 (Ky. Ct. App. 2011), cert. denied, 568 U.S. 1228, 133 S. Ct. 1582, 185 L. Ed. 2d 577, 2013 U.S. LEXIS 2211 (U.S. 2013).

12. — Witnesses.

A witness may not be cross-examined as to his religious belief for the purpose of discrediting him, as by Const., § 2 and this section, all persons are placed on the same footing as witnesses, without regard to religious beliefs. Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Mayes, 80 S.W. 1096, 26 Ky. L. Rptr. 197 (1904).

13. — Materials.

14. — — Distribution.

One distributing religious tracts for Jehovah's Witnesses, either selling or donating them, is engaged in religious and not commercial activity and an ordinance forbidding commercial peddling, if applicable, would violate this section guaranteeing freedom of religion. Seevers v. Somerset, 295 Ky. 595, 175 S.W.2d 18, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 304 (Ky. 1943). See Hibbsman v. Madisonville, 295 Ky. 601, 175 S.W.2d 21, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 305 (Ky. 1943).

15. — Services.

Award of 99 percent of fiscal court's transportation subsidy to educational institutions that promoted religious teachings and beliefs, while equivalent support for the public school optional program was withheld violated this section and Const., § 189. Fiscal Court v. Brady, 885 S.W.2d 681, 1994 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 1994).

16. — — Public Safety.

A legislature may prohibit the practice of a religious rite or ceremony that endangers the lives, health or safety of the participants or other persons. Lawson v. Commonwealth, 291 Ky. 437, 164 S.W.2d 972, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 254 (Ky. 1942).

The legislature has no right to interfere with religious beliefs, but it does have the right to impose reasonable limitations upon acts done under color of the exercise of religious beliefs, including the power to regulate the times, places and manner of performing such acts when necessary to safeguard the health, good order and comfort of the community. Lawson v. Commonwealth, 291 Ky. 437, 164 S.W.2d 972, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 254 (Ky. 1942).

17. — — Reptiles.

Statute prohibiting handling of snakes in religious services was valid, notwithstanding that harmless as well as poisonous snakes were included, since ordinary person cannot distinguish between them. Lawson v. Commonwealth, 291 Ky. 437, 164 S.W.2d 972, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 254 (Ky. 1942).

18. Sunday Laws.

Statute pertaining to and regulating certain amusements, work and labor on Sabbath could not be constitutionally enforced as regulation of religion under this section. Commonwealth v. Phoenix Amusement Co., 241 Ky. 678, 44 S.W.2d 830, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 150 (Ky. 1931).

19. Taxation.

Notwithstanding this section or Const., §§ 170 or 189, trust fund devoted to propagation of Christian principles as taught by Christian church was not exempt from taxation as church property. Commonwealth v. Thomas, 119 Ky. 208, 83 S.W. 572, 26 Ky. L. Rptr. 1128, 1904 Ky. LEXIS 160 (Ky. 1904).

KRS 158.115 authorizing county to use county funds to provide transportation for school children attending school in compliance with compulsory attendance laws, where children did not reside within reasonable walking distance of school and there were no sidewalks upon which they could travel, did not violate this section, notwithstanding that it would authorize transportation of children to parochial schools as well as public schools for it is simply an exercise of police power for the protection of children against the inclemency of weather and hazards of highway traffic. Nichols v. Henry, 301 Ky. 434, 191 S.W.2d 930, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 746 (Ky. 1945).

20. Employment Discrimination.

KRS 344.030(5) and 344.040 prohibiting employers from discriminating on the basis of religion unless the employer is unable to reasonably accommodate to the employee's religious observance do not violate the establishment clauses of the federal or state Constitutions since the statutes have a secular purpose to promote equal employment opportunity, do not have a primary effect which either advances or inhibits religion and do not involve excessive entanglement of the government in religion. Kentucky Com. on Human Rights v. Kerns Bakery, Inc., 644 S.W.2d 350, 1982 Ky. App. LEXIS 277 (Ky. Ct. App. 1982), cert. denied, 462 U.S. 1133, 103 S. Ct. 3115, 77 L. Ed. 2d 1369, 1983 U.S. LEXIS 635 (U.S. 1983).

City and county ordinances which prohibited employment discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity did not violate the constitutional prohibition against interference with the rights of conscience. Hyman v. City of Louisville, 132 F. Supp. 2d 528, 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 4016 (W.D. Ky. 2001).

21. Use of Vehicle.

KRS 189.820 does not infringe upon the right to exercise religion by restricting religious worship rituals or enforcing compulsory conduct to which a person is conscientiously opposed; driving an automobile is not a fundamental constitutional right, but a legitimately regulated privilege, like the use of public roads, and the use of a vehicle and the public roads are not acts of religious worship. KRS 189.820 is a neutral law of general applicability, and does not invoke strict scrutiny analysis; the Commonwealth's objective of ensuring public safety through the most effective means possible by use of an emblem to alert to a slow-moving vehicle overshadowed any encumbrances on religious practices. KRS 189.820 would have passed constitutional muster if a strict scrutiny analysis was applied; an argument that a bicycle exemption created a showing of legislative belief that slow-moving vehicle emblems did not promote roadway safety was rejected, and an argument that reflective tape was a less restrictive alternative was also rejected. Gingerich v. Commonwealth, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 97 (Ky. Ct. App. June 3, 2011, sub. op., 2011 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 963 (Ky. Ct. App. June 3, 2011)).

Drivers who refused to display a slow-moving vehicle emblem on horse-and-buggy vehicles for religious reasons could be ticketed and fined under KRS 189.820 without violating their right to the free exercise of religion under Ky. Const. §§ 1, 5. Under the rational basis standard of review, which was appropriate because § 189.820 is a public safety statute that generally applies to all slow-moving vehicles and does not prohibit any religious practice, there was ample rational basis for a statute regulating slow-moving vehicles for safety reasons. Gingerich v. Commonwealth, 382 S.W.3d 835, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 175 (Ky. 2012).

22. Scope of Protection.

Free-exercise-of-religion protections in Ky. Const. §§ 1, 5 provide no more protection than the First Amendment, U.S. Const. amend. I; thus, generally applicable statutes that provide for the public health, safety, and welfare and only incidentally affect the practice of religion are subject to rational basis review under the Kentucky Constitution, as they are under the federal Constitution. Enactments that directly prohibit or restrain a religious practice are subject to a strict scrutiny standard of review under Kentucky law.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Under subsection (2) of KRS 160.290, a school board may make regulations designed to protect the general welfare and safety of students and in doing so may take into account specific standards of moral conduct so that school dances could be eliminated as an approved school function by the board unless such ban were imposed for religious reasons, in which case it would violate this section and the first amendment to the federal Constitution. OAG 70-167.

For the Commonwealth to grant to a private college the power to exercise eminent domain, from a public-purpose standpoint the private institution of higher learning would have to be one which accords entrance privileges to qualified applicants on an open and equal basis without discrimination as to race, national origin or religious belief. OAG 70-567.

The benefits of eminent domain could be given to certain qualifying private colleges either by providing for the exercise of the right in behalf of a particular qualifying private college through a designated state agency, with related over-all responsibilities for higher education, or by extending the right to certain specified classes of private colleges and private universities. OAG 70-567.

The acceptance by the Commonwealth for a possible erection on the capitol grounds of a monolith and base on which is inscribed the Ten Commandments would, as a replica of a recognized code of law or moral conduct, not appear to offend either the Kentucky or United States Constitutions. OAG 71-179.

Voluntary and spontaneous prayer meetings by students on school property not held during regular school hours constitute no violation of this section. OAG 72-386.

While conceivably a state university might legally employ a minister to teach or perform services not related to his professional status as a minister or to the promotion of any religion, this section prohibits the appointment of financial aid from state funds to a chaplain or religious education director of a state subsidized college or university. OAG 73-563.

A local board of education may constitutionally conduct within its school speech therapy courses for parochial school pupils residing within the school district. OAG 75-639.

A nonprofit organization, created for the production of outdoor "religious dramas" such as to contribute to the "religious well-being" of county citizens, is nonsecular or sectarian in its publicly declared and avowed character; thus, even though it produces other than religious dramas, the financial support by the government with coal funds runs afoul of the first amendment. OAG 79-490.

County money cannot be legally used to maintain a cemetery or cemetery road if the cemetery only allows burial of persons of a particular religion, since such expenditure would involve the use of public funds with a preference for a particular religious faith; however, even though the cemetery is maintained by a particular religious faith, if the cemetery is available for the public generally, regardless of the particular faith of the maintaining church, the expenditure would be constitutional. OAG 82-101.

There is no statute that regulates the entrance age for a child to attend a nonpublic school and one could not constitutionally be enacted due to the Kentucky Supreme Court's view of this section and the proscription against state regulation of nonpublic schools. OAG 82-408.

Since the statutory powers of a county fiscal court do not include carrying on or promoting the work of the church or churches, a fiscal court cannot legally expend county tax money in putting rock and gravel upon church parking lots, meritorious as it might otherwise be in relation to spiritual and moral training. OAG 83-175.

59. Local and special legislation.

§ 55. When laws to take effect — Emergency legislation.

No act, except general appropriation bills, shall become a law until ninety days after the adjournment of the session at which it was passed, except in cases of emergency, when, by the concurrence of a majority of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly, by a yea and nay vote entered upon their journals, an act may become a law when approved by the Governor; but the reasons for the emergency that justifies this action must be set out at length in the journal of each House.

History.

Repeal, proposed by Acts 2021, ch. 27, § 1, and is contingent upon ratification.

1. Construction.

Under this section and Const., § 58, the legislature is empowered to provide that a particular thing may or may not be done after a given date which is subsequent to the time the act so providing becomes a law. Commonwealth by Byars v. Hemingray's Ex'r, 185 Ky. 393, 215 S.W. 69, 1919 Ky. LEXIS 308 (Ky. 1919).

This section, insofar as it conflicts with referendum clause, Const., § 171, must be controlled by latter. State Nat'l Bank v. Board of Councilmen, 207 Ky. 543, 269 S.W. 726, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 134 (Ky. 1925).

2. Application.

Statute providing that no appeal should be taken from judgment for recovery of money or personal property if value in controversy be less than $200 was passed at session of legislature which adjourned March 15, 1898, took effect 90 days thereafter and therefore applied to an appeal granted June 15, 1898. Piper v. Spencer, 58 S.W. 815, 22 Ky. L. Rptr. 780, 1900 Ky. LEXIS 275 (Ky. Ct. App. 1900).

Act approved March 10, 1908, relating to violation of local option law did not apply to a transaction made in March of that year. Boggs v. Commonwealth, 134 Ky. 500, 121 S.W. 433, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 405 (Ky. 1909).

Act of March 17, 1914, fixing minimum jurisdiction of Court of Appeals at $500, which, under this section, did not become effective until 90 days thereafter did not govern an appeal granted by circuit court June 9, 1914. Ockerman v. Woodward, 162 Ky. 134, 172 S.W. 92, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 18 (Ky. 1915).

Legislature did not impermissibly designate 2017 Ky. Acts 1 as emergency legislation because its proffered reason for an emergency had a rational basis. Zuckerman v. Bevin, 565 S.W.3d 580, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 502 (Ky. 2018).

3. Emergency Clause.

4. — Approval of Governor.

Under this section an act embracing an emergency clause, when passed over the Governor's veto, as provided by Const., § 88, becomes a law at once, though never approved by the Governor. Commissioners of Sinking Fund v. George, 104 Ky. 260, 47 S.W. 779, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 938, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1898).

Statute containing an emergency clause which is neither approved nor disapproved by the Governor takes effect from the time the governor returns it to the secretary of state. Ficke v. Board of Trustees, 262 Ky. 312, 90 S.W.2d 66, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 25 (Ky. 1936).

5. — Judicial Review.

The legislature has the power to decide what are sufficient grounds for existence of an emergency, as it is a legislative and not a judicial question. Lakes v. Goodloe, 195 Ky. 240, 242 S.W. 632, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 342 (Ky. 1922).

In the case of a statute changing the existing method of breaking deadlocks in fiscal courts, the Court of Appeals would not review the legislature's determination that an emergency existed requiring the statute to take effect under an emergency clause. Hill v. Taylor, 264 Ky. 708, 95 S.W.2d 566, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 388 (Ky. 1936).

Since it is conclusively presumed that the legislative journals of the General Assembly set forth sufficient reasons for the insertion of an emergency clause in a statute, the reviewing court in a proceeding to test the statute is not bound by the allegations in the petition to the contrary. Hill v. Taylor, 264 Ky. 708, 95 S.W.2d 566, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 388 (Ky. 1936).

If there is any rational basis for concluding that the circumstances cited as constituting an emergency justified more expeditious action than would ordinarily be true, the courts should not interfere with the legislative discretion. American Ins. Assn. v. Geary, 635 S.W.2d 306, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 265 (Ky. 1982).

Although the court must have the ultimate authority of determining whether an emergency actually existed, the legislative judgment in that respect must be accorded the same presumption of validity that it enjoys in other instances of constitutional inquiry. American Ins. Assn. v. Geary, 635 S.W.2d 306, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 265 (Ky. 1982).

6. — Legislative Intent.

Statutes enacted at the same session of the legislature are presumed imbued with the same spirit and policy and must be construed if possible to effectuate both acts; however, if one of the acts, inconsistent with another, contains an emergency clause and the other does not, the act containing the emergency clause must prevail on the presumption that this was the intent of the legislature. Campbell County Election Com. v. Weber, 240 Ky. 373, 42 S.W.2d 511, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 407 (Ky. 1931).

7. — Signature of Governor.

Governor's signature to bill containing emergency clause is not necessary to give effect to emergency clause for, upon his failure to return bill within ten (10) days, it takes effect at once as if signed by him; retaining of bill by Governor is, for legislative purposes, the same as signing it and signing it, as used in Const., § 88, is synonymous with approving it, as used in this section. Boggs v. Commonwealth, 15 Ky. L. Rptr. 653 (1894).

8. — Entry in Journal.

When the reason for declaring an emergency is sufficiently expressed in the legislation itself, the requirement that it be cited in the journal is satisfied. American Ins. Assn. v. Geary, 635 S.W.2d 306, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 265 (Ky. 1982).

9. — Validity.

The validity of an "emergency clause" may be determined in the same way and upon the same evidence that the validity of the other parts or sections of the act is determined; bill that has been properly enrolled, signed by presiding officer of both houses, and approved by governor will be presumed to have been enacted into a law in the manner prescribed by the constitution, and cannot be impeached by reference to the journals of either house. Commonwealth v. Hardin County Court, 99 Ky. 188, 35 S.W. 275, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 113, 1896 Ky. LEXIS 67 (Ky. 1896).

An emergency clause is invalid if the act shows on its face that no emergency exists. McIntyre v. Commonwealth, 221 Ky. 16, 297 S.W. 931, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 655 (Ky. 1927), limited, Hill v. Taylor, 264 Ky. 708, 95 S.W.2d 566, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 388 (Ky. 1936).

Where no emergency actually existed, the emergency provision of an act declaring that due to the congested condition of the docket in a certain judicial district an emergency existed and that the act should be effective upon its passage, thus eliminating the April term of the Perry Circuit Court, was invalid under this section. McIntyre v. Commonwealth, 221 Ky. 16, 297 S.W. 931, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 655 (Ky. 1927), limited,

Hill v. Taylor, 264 Ky. 708, 95 S.W.2d 566, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 388 (Ky. 1936).

Where emergency clause was invalid on its face, act took effect 90 days after adjournment of legislature. Combs v. Commonwealth, 224 Ky. 653, 6 S.W.2d 1082, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 657 (Ky. 1928).

Where statute already had taken effect under the general rule of this section, an appeal from a judgment attacking the validity of an emergency clause in the act will be dismissed as moot. Lyttle v. Keith, 264 Ky. 652, 95 S.W.2d 299, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 384 (Ky. 1936).

The reason stated in the emergency clause of Acts 1982, Ch. 246 which act deals generally with a surcharge upon certain insurance premiums collected in the state which is intended to fund a trust for the payment of incentives to the fire fighters and policemen of the various municipalities, to the effect that the general fund appropriations for fiscal year 1981-82 for the professional fire fighters foundation program fund as provided by KRS 95A.200 through 95A.990, and the law enforcement foundation program fund as provided by KRS 15.410 through 15.510 would lapse on June 30, 1982, sufficiently supported the legislative declaration of emergency. American Ins. Assn. v. Geary, 635 S.W.2d 306, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 265 (Ky. 1982).

10. Retroactivity.

Since Court of Appeals' decision, holding that a wife had a cause of action for loss of consortium resulting from negligence of a third party in Kotsiris v. Ling, 451 S.W.2d 411, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 390 (Ky. Ct. App. 1970), applied retroactively whereas the prior statute did not, wife's cause of action claiming for loss of consortium resulting from negligence of defendants which was filed prior to the effective date of KRS 411.145 stated the claim, and hence defendant's motion to dismiss the complaint on the ground of failure to state a claim was denied. Thomas v. Deason, 317 F. Supp. 1098, 1970 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9915 (W.D. Ky. 1970).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Bills are not required to provide in their title a statement to the effect that they are emergency legislation, nor is it necessary to provide in the body of the bills themselves reasons or justification for the emergency as this section simply requires that the reasons for the emergency are to be set out in the journal of each house. OAG 60-274.

Where a regulation is adopted by an existing state agency and such regulation is required to give meaning and effect to the statute but it is not to be enforced prior to the effective date of the act, such regulations should be accepted by the Legislative Research Commission for filing notwithstanding the fact that they may have been adopted by an existing agency prior to the effective date of enabling legislation. OAG 64-391.

Ordinary legislation passed at the 1970 regular session of the Kentucky general assembly became effective on June 18, 1970. OAG 70-145.

The failure to include § 26 (which removes the circuit clerks from KRS 64.010 (now repealed) of S.B. 15 (Acts 1976 (Ex. Sess.), ch. 14) in § 492 (providing an effective date of January 2, 1978) of said bill was obviously a clerical or grammatical error and was not intended to deprive the clerks of the circuit court of their fees during the period from March 19, 1977 to January 2, 1978 and thus the circuit clerks should have continued to apply the fee statute, KRS 64.010 (now repealed), until January 2, 1978. OAG 77-109.

The General Assembly may condition the effectiveness of the Kentucky coal legislation and implementing regulations upon the approval of the secretary of interior without violating any Kentucky constitutional section because of the supremacy clause of the United States Constitution and the necessity for enacting state strip mining legislation that will be in accord with the Federal Strip Mining Law of 1977. OAG 80-99.

The emergency clause of Acts 1982, Ch. 282 related solely to § 3 of the act which amended KRS 45A.335 to exclude members of state boards and commissions from the term "officer or employee," as used in the conflict of interest statute, KRS 45A.340(5); it not only did not relate to the other sections of the bill, which were separable, but it gave no reason to justify that an emergency existed with respect to these sections. In view of the fact that this section requires an act to express in plain language what the emergency is in order for it to be effective, only § 3 became effective on April 2, 1982, upon the passage of the act and approval of the Governor, and the remaining sections of the act became effective as ordinary legislation on July 15, 1982. OAG 82-308.

The day of adjournment must be excluded in determining the effective date of ordinary legislation. OAG 86-6.

The effective date of ordinary legislation enacted during the 1987 special session of the General Assembly that adjourned sine die Thursday, October 22, 1987 is January 21, 1988. OAG 87-74.

In determining the effective date of ordinary legislation adopted at the 1988 Special Session of the General Assembly, December 14, 1988, the day of adjournment, must be excluded, which means that March 14, 1989, would be the 90th day following adjournment which day must be included in computing the 90-day period of time provided in this section, thereby making all ordinary legislation effective March 15, 1989. OAG 89-1.

Where the Regular Session of the General Assembly adjourns sine die on April 13, the effective date of ordinary legislation passed at that session would be July 13. OAG 89-56.

If the Regular Session of the General Assembly adjourns sine die on April 15, the effective date of ordinary legislation passed at that session would be July 15. OAG 92-12.

Where the Regular Session of the General Assembly adjourns sine die on April 14, 1992, the effective date of ordinary legislation passed at the session would be July 14, 1992. OAG 92-72.

The "normal" effective date for legislation enacted during the 1993 First Extraordinary Session of the Kentucky General Assembly, that is, the effective date for legislation which does not contain an emergency provision or a delayed effective date, is May 18, 1993. OAG 93-25.

The language "ninety days after adjournment," as used in Ky. Const., § 55, indicates that the day of adjournment (meaning day of final adjournment for the session, termed "adjournment sine die") is to be excluded in computing the 90 day period set forth in the above cited Constitutional provision, and that the 90th day shall be included in the period, in order that 90 full days shall pass after enactment of certain legislation, before the legislation becomes effective. OAG 94-17.

The "normal" effective date of legislation enacted during the 1994 Regular Session of the Kentucky General Assembly is Friday, July 15, 1994, final adjournment having been on April 15, 1994. OAG 94-30.

"Until ninety days after the adjournment", as used in this section indicates that the day of adjournment (meaning the day of final adjournment for the session, termed "adjournment sine die") is to be excluded in computing the 90-day period set forth in this constitutional provision, and that the 90th day shall be included in the period, so that 90 full days shall pass after enactment of certain legislation, before the legislation becomes effective. OAG 95-32.

The effective date of legislation, other than general appropriation bills and acts containing emergency or delayed effective date provisions, passed during the 1996 Regular Session of the Kentucky General Assembly, is the first moment of Monday, July 15, 1996, where the first day of the 90-day period after the session was Tuesday, April 16, 1996, and the 90th day of that period was Sunday, July 14, 1996, then when the last moment of that 90th day has expired, 90 full days will have passed after the adjournment "sine die" of the 1996 Regular Session of the Kentucky General Assembly. OAG 96-19.

1. In General.

The general law, consisting of fragmentary and incomplete enactments, on subject of turnpikes, passed since adoption of Constitution, did not affect local act providing for free turnpike roads in Mason County, the alleged general law showing an absence of legislative intent to affect the local act, though policy of Constitution demands the substitution of general laws for all local ones. Pearce v. Mason County, 99 Ky. 357, 35 S.W. 1122, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 266, 1896 Ky. LEXIS 94 (Ky. 1896).

Changes in the organic law of the Commonwealth have been in the direction of more strictly limiting the legislative power. This section is an indication that there existed in the minds of the people a deep-seated distrust of legislative methods and a fear of legislative usurpation of power. Pratt v. Breckinridge, 112 Ky. 1, 65 S.W. 136, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1356, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 286 (Ky. 1901).

Workers' compensation act did not violate this section since classifications made therein were reasonable. Greene v. Caldwell, 170 Ky. 571, 186 S.W. 648, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 126 (Ky. 1916).

Law permitting counties to dispose of unappropriated land consisting of a portion of the bed of the Ohio River lying within the county is not unconstitutional as special legislation. Willis v. Boyd, 224 Ky. 732, 7 S.W.2d 216, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 676 (Ky. 1928).

Act prohibiting operation on highway of any motor truck or semi-trailer truck exceeding 18,000 pounds in gross weight was not violative of this section or Ky. Const., § 60 as being class legislation. Whitney v. Johnson, 37 F. Supp. 65, 1941 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3654 (D. Ky.), aff'd, 314 U.S. 574, 62 S. Ct. 117, 86 L. The portion of law which required that excess fees in counties containing a city of the first class be paid into the state treasury was not subject to the criticism that it was local legislation inhibited by this section and Ky. Const., § 60. Jefferson County Fiscal Court v. Trager, 302 Ky. 361, 194 S.W.2d 851, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 686 (Ky. 1946).

Statutory provision authorizing issuance of veterinary license, without examination, to persons who had practiced for one (1) year prior to effective date of original licensing law, which provision was contained in an act revising the veterinary law, was not unconstitutional as being special or class legislation or as granting special privileges or emoluments. Doller v. Reid, 308 Ky. 348, 214 S.W.2d 584, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 939 (Ky. 1948).

Act of the General Assembly granting a named individual the right to practice dentistry and directing the state board of dental examiners to issue a license was void as constituting special legislation in violation of this section. Bentley v. Commonwealth, 239 S.W.2d 991, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 931 (Ky. 1951).

A law is not local or special merely because it does not relate to the whole state or to the general public. Commonwealth v. Moyers, 272 S.W.2d 670, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1125 (Ky. 1954).

KRS 67.320 (now repealed), did not violate this constitutional provision since it was a general statute authorizing any county to have a fire department and directing that a duplication of services should be avoided in those instances in which a municipally maintained fire department existed. Johnson v. Peak, 407 S.W.2d 692, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 171 (Ky. 1966).

The standard to which all legislation must conform to avoid unconstitutionality under this section is that the legislation must (1) apply equally to all in a class, and (2) there must be distinctive and natural reasons inducing and supporting the classification. Kling v. Geary, 667 S.W.2d 379, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1984).

A general law relates to persons or things as a class, while a special law relates to particular persons or things of a class. Waggoner v. Waggoner, 846 S.W.2d 704, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 189 (Ky. 1992), cert. denied, 510 U.S. 932, 114 S. Ct. 346, 126 L. Ed. 2d 310, 1993 U.S. LEXIS 6585 (U.S. 1993).

The fact that the General Assembly deals with a special subject does not per se make it special legislation. Waggoner v. Waggoner, 846 S.W.2d 704, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 189 (Ky. 1992), cert. denied, 510 U.S. 932, 114 S. Ct. 346, 126 L. Ed. 2d 310, 1993 U.S. LEXIS 6585 (U.S. 1993).

Classifications based upon reasonable and natural distinctions that relate logically to the purpose of the act do not violate this section. Waggoner v. Waggoner, 846 S.W.2d 704, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 189 (Ky. 1992), cert. denied, 510 U.S. 932, 114 S. Ct. 346, 126 L. Ed. 2d 310, 1993 U.S. LEXIS 6585 (U.S. 1993).

2. Purpose.

The aim and purpose of this section is to prevent special privileges to bar favoritism and discrimination and to insure equality under law. Department of Finance v. Dishman, 298 Ky. 545, 183 S.W.2d 540, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 948 (Ky. 1944).

The purpose of the constitutional inhibition in this section and Const., § 60 is to require that all laws upon a subject shall operate alike upon all individuals and corporations. Jefferson County Police Merit Bd. v. Bilyeu, 634 S.W.2d 414, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 260 (Ky. 1982).

The express purpose of the fifth clause of this section is to prevent those who have sufficient political power or who can afford a persuasive lobbyist from achieving immunity from accountability to the law that governs others. Tabler v. Wallace, 704 S.W.2d 179, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 1985), cert. denied, 479 U.S. 822, 107 S. Ct. 89, 93 L. Ed. 2d 41, 1986 U.S. LEXIS 3436 (U.S. 1986).

This section is more than simply another way of restating the generalized language of the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution; Ky. Const., §§ 1, 2 and 3 which provide that the General Assembly is denied arbitrary power and shall treat all persons equally, suffice to embrace the equal protection clause to the Fourteenth Amendment. Tabler v. Wallace, 704 S.W.2d 179, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 1985), cert. denied, 479 U.S. 822, 107 S. Ct. 89, 93 L. Ed. 2d 41, 1986 U.S. LEXIS 3436 (U.S. 1986).

3. Construction.

The true test of whether a law is a general one is not alone that it applies equally to all in a class but in addition there must be distinctive and natural reasons inducing and supporting the classification. Safety Bldg. & Loan Co. v. Ecklar, 106 Ky. 115, 50 S.W. 50, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 1770, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 31 (Ky. 1899), overruled, Linton v. Fulton Bldg. & Loan Ass'n, 262 Ky. 198, 90 S.W.2d 22, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 22 (Ky. 1936).

This section was restriction upon future legislation and in no way impaired validity of former laws or rights secured under them. Guthrie v. Sparks, 131 F. 443, 1904 U.S. App. LEXIS 4299 (6th Cir. Ky.), cert. denied, 195 U.S. 633, 25 S. Ct. 790, 49 L. Ed. 353, 1904 U.S. LEXIS 741 (U.S. 1904).

In determining whether an act relating to a particular class of city is local and special legislation, Ky. Const., § 156 must be considered in connection with this section and Ky. Const., § 60. Mannini v. McFarland, 294 Ky. 837, 172 S.W.2d 631, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 539 (Ky. 1943).

For a special law to be constitutional, there must be a substantial reason why a particular law is made to operate upon a class of citizens and not generally upon all. Walters v. Bindner, 435 S.W.2d 464, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 210 (Ky. 1968).

The usual test applied to determine whether a particular law is general or special is: Does it embrace all of the class to which it relates? Walters v. Bindner, 435 S.W.2d 464, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 210 (Ky. 1968).

There must be a substantial and justifiable reason apparent from legislative history, from the statute's title, preamble or subject matter, or from some other authoritative source to uphold discriminatory legislation. Tabler v. Wallace, 704 S.W.2d 179, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 1985), cert. denied, 479 U.S. 822, 107 S. Ct. 89, 93 L. Ed. 2d 41, 1986 U.S. LEXIS 3436 (U.S. 1986).

The same rules relative to classification and uniformity in application apply as well to police measures as to other acts. Chandler v. Louisville, 277 Ky. 79, 125 S.W.2d 1026, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 624 (Ky. 1939).

The "cost of production" includes the cost of raw materials as well as the cost of processing; thus, a vegetable oil refining and distribution company was required to include the cost of the crude oil itself in its cost of production for the purposes of the revenue statute. Also, the fact that the cost-of-energy computation must be made on the basis of plant facilities at one (1) location does not serve to limit taxpayer's production costs. Further, the statute does not violate the equal protection provisions of the Kentucky Constitution because a processor of bought materials is not similarly situated to a processor of materials owned by others or a processor of its own materials. Louisville Edible Oil Prods. v. Revenue Cabinet Commonwealth, 957 S.W.2d 272, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 81 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

This section applies only to laws passed by the General Assembly and, therefore, does not apply to city and county ordinances. Hyman v. City of Louisville, 132 F. Supp. 2d 528, 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 4016 (W.D. Ky. 2001).

Since city ordinances which sought to reduce the deer population by prohibiting residents from feeding them, by permitting residents to use a bow or crossbow to assist in culling the deer population, and by imposing field dressing requirements for deer kills within city limits were enacted by the city council, and not Kentucky's General Assembly, the prohibition of Ky. Const. § 59 did not affect those ordinances. Kelly v. City of Fort Thomas, 610 F. Supp. 2d 759, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1146 (E.D. Ky. 2009), aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 620 F.3d 596, 2010 FED App. 0285P, 2010 U.S. App. LEXIS 18437 (6th Cir. Ky. 2010).

Legislation passed by the Kentucky General Assembly lawfully which amended the power of the Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to respond to emergencies did not violate the Kentucky Constitution because the Kentucky Legislature did not identify or single out any particular person, business, school, locality or entity to which the legislation was to apply. Instead, the legislation applied statewide. Cameron v. Beshear, 2021 Ky. LEXIS 240 (Ky. Aug. 21, 2021).

5. Classification.

Fact that certain levee district was the only one that had ever been formed under levee law did not make such law local or special in violation of this section, since it was applicable to every county in state with less than 200,000 population where levee might be needed and since population specification was not unreasonable and arbitrary with reference to purpose of such law. Board of Drainage Comm'rs v. Board of Levee Comm'rs, 191 Ky. 470, 230 S.W. 959, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 348 (Ky. 1921).

Prohibition by statute of street trades by boys in cities of the first, second or third class is based on a reasonable classification and is not special or local legislation. Commonwealth v. Lipinski, 212 Ky. 366, 279 S.W. 339, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 147 (Ky. 1926). See Commonwealth v. Jarrett, 213 Ky. 618, 281 S.W. 805, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 581 (Ky. 1926).

Classification by the General Assembly for legislative purposes will not be disturbed by the courts under the above section unless it is so unjust or arbitrary as to exclude one (1) or more of a class. Middendorf v. Jameson, 265 Ky. 111, 95 S.W.2d 1057, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 417 (Ky. 1936). See Louisville v. Coulter, 177 Ky. 242, 197 S.W. 819, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 592 (Ky. 1917) (Ky. 1917); Jones v. Russell, 224 Ky. 390, 6 S.W.2d 460, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 606 (Ky. 1928); Mansbach Scrap Iron Co. v. Ashland, 235 Ky. 265, 30 S.W.2d 968, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 338 (Ky. 1930); Shannon v. Wheeler, 268 Ky. 25, 103 S.W.2d 718, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 422 (Ky. 1937).

Legislation based on a classification which is so manifestly unreasonable and arbitrary that it imposes a burden on or excludes one (1) or more of a class without reasonable basis in fact is forbidden, but legislation based on reasonable and natural destruction of fact is not. Withers v. Board of Drainage Comm'rs, 270 Ky. 732, 110 S.W.2d 664, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 150 (Ky. 1937).

An act applying only to a particular class of cities or counties, if based on a legal classification, will supersede general laws on the same subject as far as that class is concerned. Jefferson County Fiscal Court v. Thomas, 279 Ky. 458, 130 S.W.2d 60, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 258 (Ky. 1939).

Former decision that act which concerned salaries of constables and deputies in counties over 250,000 was based on reasonable classification and that act was not special or local was conclusive of question of classification both in original act and amendment, which merely broadened purposes of original act. Jefferson County Fiscal Court v. Thomas, 279 Ky. 458, 130 S.W.2d 60, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 258 (Ky. 1939).

Law requiring that certain appliances be sold only by registered pharmacists where it was reasonable to assume that pharmacists were especially qualified to determine whether the appliances complied with the specifications required by the act constituted a classification based on reasonable and natural distinctions and is constitutional under this section. Markendorf v. Friedman, 280 Ky. 484, 133 S.W.2d 516, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 130 (Ky. 1939).

In making a classification of persons to whom a law applies, it is not necessary that the legislature state its reasons and if any possible reasonable basis can be conceived to justify the classification, it should be upheld. Meredith v. Ray, 292 Ky. 326, 166 S.W.2d 437, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 81 (Ky. 1942).

Mathematical exactness in classification is impossible, and an act will not be declared unconstitutional merely because in practice it results in some inequality provided there is some general basis for the division. Meredith v. Ray, 292 Ky. 326, 166 S.W.2d 437, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 81 (Ky. 1942).

References in subsection (3) of KRS 76.080 to "Louisville" and "Jefferson County" did not render metropolitan sewer district law unconstitutional as local or special legislation where other sections properly referred to "city of first class and county containing such city" and it was apparent that the one reference to Louisville and Jefferson County by name was inadvertent. Veail v. Louisville & Jefferson County Metropolitan Sewer Dist., 303 Ky. 248, 197 S.W.2d 413, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 830 (Ky. 1946).

Law was not special or local solely because it did not relate to general public; it could relate to special class or special locality if facts reasonably differentiated such class or locality from general public or state at large. Young v. Willis, 305 Ky. 201, 203 S.W.2d 5, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 773 (Ky. 1947).

Legislation establishing a classification, the wisdom of which is a legislative function, is not in violation of the Constitution prohibition against special legislation where the classification is based on natural and reasonable distinction. Board of Education v. Mescher, 310 Ky. 453, 220 S.W.2d 1016, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 954 (Ky. 1949).

Law authorizing board of education in any county containing a city of the first class to impose occupational license fees is not special legislation prohibited by this section, although at present the statute applies in fact only to one (1) county. Sims v. Board of Education, 290 S.W.2d 491, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1956).

Under this section and United States Const., Amend. 14, KRS 277.330, providing that the mere fact of injury to livestock by a train constitutes prima facie evidence of the negligence of the railroad, is unconstitutional as class legislation. Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Faulkner, 307 S.W.2d 196, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 83 (Ky. 1957).

Former prohibition of KRS 436.160 against allowing pool-room operators to open for business on Sunday was not unconstitutional, even though amateur sports were allowed. Walters v. Bindner, 435 S.W.2d 464, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 210 (Ky. 1968).

The fact that a statute discriminates in favor of a certain class does not render it unconstitutional if the discrimination is founded upon a reasonable distinction, or if any state of facts reasonably can be conceived to sustain it. Kentucky Milk Marketing & Anti-Monopoly Com. v. Borden Co., 456 S.W.2d 831, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 1969).

Classification of cities and counties on the basis of size and population alone for any purpose other than their organization or government is permissible only if size and population has an appreciable relevancy to the subject matter of the legislation. Board of Education v. Board of Education, 522 S.W.2d 854, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 143 (Ky. 1975).

Since KRS 132.487(3), which excludes motor vehicles from the calculation of the compensating and maximum possible tax rates, applies equally to all vehicles which are to be operated on the highways of the state and since there are distinctive and natural reasons inducing and supporting the classification of motor vehicles because of their mobility, rapid depreciation and frequency of transfer and because they stand virtually alone in licensing requirements, the classification of motor vehicles was valid and did not contravene this section prohibiting special legislation. Kling v. Geary, 667 S.W.2d 379, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1984).

Where legislation establishes a classification made upon a reasonable and natural distinction which relates logically to the purpose of the act, there is no violation of this section. Kling v. Geary, 667 S.W.2d 379, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1984).

Since motor vehicles are a separate, distinct and reasonable classification, the mere fact that the dates of assessment and collection vary from real property or other personalty does not offend the provisions of this section prohibiting special legislation. Kling v. Geary, 667 S.W.2d 379, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1984).

The fact that ad valorem taxes on motor vehicles are collected by the county clerk rather than the sheriff does not render the legislation unconstitutional; as long as the taxes are uniform, within a valid classification, it is not a "local or special" act. Kling v. Geary, 667 S.W.2d 379, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1984).

Act 264 of 1982, governing motor vehicle taxation was not special legislation for failure to provide for a two percent (2%) discount which is granted to real property and other personal property under KRS 134.020 since motor vehicles are a classification based upon distinctive and natural reasons, and under this act no motor vehicles are subjected to a discount within the classification; the mere fact that all taxes are not paid in a short period of time, as envisioned in KRS 134.020, et seq., does not render the legislation unconstitutional. Kling v. Geary, 667 S.W.2d 379, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1984).

The fact that a legislative act deals with a special subject does not make it special legislation where the Legislature establishes a classification based on reasonable and natural distinctions. Graham v. Mills, 694 S.W.2d 698, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 236 (Ky. 1985).

Although classifications according to population are allowable, where the subject is one of general application throughout the state and has been so treated in the general scheme of legislation, distinctions favorable or unfavorable to particular localities resting alone upon numbers and density of population would be violative of this section and Ky. Const., § 60. Tri-City Turf Club, Inc. v. Public Protection & Regulation Cabinet, 806 S.W.2d 394, 1991 Ky. App. LEXIS 2 (Ky. Ct. App. 1991).

The Supreme Court will not permit a statute to survive by simply defining a class in a narrow fashion, which will yield, ipso facto, a self-sustaining classification. Yeoman v. Commonwealth Health Policy Bd., 983 S.W.2d 459, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1998).

A State Health Plan issued by the Cabinet for Health and Family Services which established criteria for a pilot project to study the risks and benefits of allowing angioplasty at hospitals without immediate access to an open-heart surgery facility, was limited to one hospital in eastern Kentucky and one hospital in western Kentucky, and required the hospitals to be located thirty (30) minutes from an on-site open-heart surgery center, was not unconstitutional, as: (1) such did not constitute special or local legislation, in violation of Ky. Const. §§ 59 and 60; (2) the classification was reasonable, natural, and consistent with the legitimate purpose of the government; and (3) it passed the rational basis test. St. Luke Hosps., Inc. v. Commonwealth, 254 S.W.3d 830, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 146 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

6. — Population.

Where subject of classification is one reasonably depending upon or affecting the number or density of population as a correlative fact in the scheme of the particular legislation, classification according to population is allowable, but where subject is one of general application throughout state and has been so treated in general scheme of legislation, distinctions favorable or unfavorable to particular localities rested alone upon numbers and density of population would be violative of subsections Eighteenth and Twenty-ninth of this section and

Const., § 60. James v. Barry, 138 Ky. 656, 128 S.W. 1070, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 117 (Ky. 1910).

Legislation operating in like manner on all persons in like circumstances is not special or local. While an act making arbitrary and unreasonable classification of political subdivisions for the purpose of making laws applicable to them alone will not be upheld, cities and counties may be classified according to population for the purpose of making laws applicable to them. Connors v. Jefferson County Fiscal Court, 277 Ky. 23, 125 S.W.2d 206, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 564 (Ky. 1938).

Classification of political subdivisions based on population did not offend this section if such classification was rested upon some reasonable basis and not upon mere arbitrary division without any real or substantial distinction. Chandler v. Louisville, 277 Ky. 79, 125 S.W.2d 1026, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 624 (Ky. 1939).

Classification on the basis of population must have a reasonable relation to purposes and objects of the legislation and must be based upon a rational difference in the necessities or conditions found in the groups subjected to different laws. Chandler v. Louisville, 277 Ky. 79, 125 S.W.2d 1026, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 624 (Ky. 1939).

Act relating to compensation and expenses of sheriff, in county having an assessed valuation of more than $100,000,000, containing a population of less than 75,000, comprising a separate judicial district, and containing a second-class city, did not violate this section, the elements of the classification having a logical and reasonable relation to the purpose of the act. Thompson v. Shipp, 298 Ky. 805, 184 S.W.2d 245, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 1028 (Ky. 1944).

Where an act relates to local county government, the amount of population and its density, the wealth of the community, and the size of the cities in the county are proper and logical elements upon which to base a classification. Thompson v. Shipp, 298 Ky. 805, 184 S.W.2d 245, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 1028 (Ky. 1944).

Density of population of a county is not alone a sufficient basis for classification of counties in a law, although density of population may be a proper foundation if there exists some natural, logical, or reasonable basis of support to take the act out of the category of arbitrary selection. Wehrman v. Steltenkamp, 304 Ky. 409, 200 S.W.2d 949, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 660 (Ky. 1947).

The merger of city and county governments under KRS 67A.010 to 67A.040 (KRS 67A.040 now repealed) does not violate this section by confining its application to counties other than one containing a city of the first class, as an act classifying counties or cities upon the basis of size alone has always been permissible under this section if the subject of the act was the organization or government of the classified governmental units. Pinchback v. Stephens, 484 S.W.2d 327, 1972 Ky. LEXIS 148 (Ky. 1972).

A classification according to population and its density, and according to the division of cities into classes, is not a natural and logical classification and cannot be sustained unless the act pertains to the organization or government of cities and towns or is incident thereto, or unless the classification has a reasonable relation to the purpose of the act. Jefferson County Police Merit Bd. v. Bilyeu, 634 S.W.2d 414, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 260 (Ky. 1982).

The subject matter of KRS 78.428, which removes certain officers from the protection of a merit system in counties having a population of 600,000 or more, is governmental in nature and is constitutional under this section and Ky. Const., § 60. Jefferson County Police Merit Bd. v. Bilyeu, 634 S.W.2d 414, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 260 (Ky. 1982).

Although classifications according to population are allowable, where the subject is one of general application throughout the state and has been so treated in the general scheme of legislation, distinctions favorable or unfavorable to particular localities resting alone upon numbers and density of population would be violative of Ky. Const., § 60 and this section; an act based upon a classification merely according to classes of cities cannot be upheld unless it pertains to the organizations or government of the classified cities or unless the classification has a reasonable relation to the purpose of the act. Miles v. Shauntee, 664 S.W.2d 512, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 282 (Ky. 1983).

7. — Cities.

Law providing that when any public improvement ordered to be constructed in a city of the first class is such that it may be lawfully constructed at cost of owners of adjacent land the cost thereof shall be apportioned against real estate owned by state in like manner as against any other land does not violate prohibition against local or special legislation, although act applies only to cities of first class and there is only one (1) first-class city within the Commonwealth. Hager v. Gast, 119 Ky. 502, 84 S.W. 556, 27 Ky. L. Rptr. 129, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 25 (Ky. 1905).

Law providing that use of escheats in cities of first class shall be for public schools in such cities and authorizing school board to sue for same is not special legislation within the meaning of this section notwithstanding that same privilege is not allowed to school boards of other cities. Commonwealth use of Louisville School Board v. Chicago, S. L. & N. O. R. Co., 124 Ky. 497, 99 S.W. 596, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 673, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 207 (Ky. 1907).

Since the Constitution provides that cities of Commonwealth shall be divided into classes, the fact that Louisville is only city of first class does not invalidate legislation pertaining to that city alone. Kirch v. Louisville, 125 Ky. 391, 101 S.W. 373, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 1356, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 294 (Ky. 1907).

Act permitting all second-class cities to adopt commission form of government as provided therein was not special legislation contrary to this section. Bryan v. Voss, 143 Ky. 422, 136 S.W. 884, 1911 Ky. LEXIS 429 (Ky. 1911).

Law which requires proper construction scaffolding only in cities of the first and second classes does not constitute special legislation. Jones v. Russell, 224 Ky. 390, 6 S.W.2d 460, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 606 (Ky. 1928).

So much of law regarding appointment of city administrators that provided that the city administrator of each city of the first class shall be appointed by the commissioner of revenue (now secretary of revenue), with the approval of the governor, contravened this section and Ky. Const., §§ 60 and 160 and was void, since the attempted separate classification of cities of the first class was not based on natural or distinctive reasons. Chandler v. Louisville, 277 Ky. 79, 125 S.W.2d 1026, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 624 (Ky. 1939).

An act based on a classification merely according to classes of cities cannot be upheld unless it pertains to the organization or government of the classified cities, or unless the classification has a reasonable relation to the purpose of the act. Mannini v. McFarland, 294 Ky. 837, 172 S.W.2d 631, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 539 (Ky. 1943).

KRS 81.195 (repealed) is not constitutional because it does not provide for the same treatment for all cities of the third class. Corbin v. Roaden, 453 S.W.2d 603, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1970).

KRS 64.510 (repealed) and KRS 69.010 providing that only Commonwealth Attorneys whose districts contained a first- or second-class city or an urban county government shall receive an increase in compensation did not deny equal protection to those districts which did not qualify but had a population as large as those districts which did qualify since the problem of crime being greater in the former districts was a reasonable basis for classification. Commonwealth ex rel. Hancock v. Davis, 521 S.W.2d 823, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 162 (Ky. 1975).

Section 156 of the Constitution is an exception to this section that prohibits special legislation. Hall v. Miller, 584 S.W.2d 51, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 433 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

An act, based on a classification merely according to classes of cities cannot be upheld unless it pertains to the organizations or government of the classified cities or unless the classification has a reasonable relation to the purpose of the act. Hall v. Miller, 584 S.W.2d 51, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 433 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

The 1968 Act (Acts 1968, ch. 5) reclassifying the city of Edgewood from a sixth to a fourth-class city did not vitiate the 1962 annexation ordinance of city attempting to annex Edgewood nor prevent the annexing city from going forward with the proposed annexation, for the legislative intent of said act was to do nothing more than carry out the mandate of Ky. Const., § 156 to make changes in classification as the population of the cities and towns increases or decreases and was not indicative of an intent to legislate the corporate limits of Edgewood, and even if it had been the intent of the legislature to set corporate limits of said city such intent would have been frustrated by this section and Ky. Const., § 159 prohibiting establishment of city boundaries by special and local laws. Covington v. Beck, 586 S.W.2d 284, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 453 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

8. — Reasonable.

Law regulating the appearance of lobbyists before the legislature is not class legislation prohibited by this section, although it does not apply to those appearing without compensation or on behalf of themselves or the public. Campbell v. Commonwealth, 229 Ky. 264, 17 S.W.2d 227, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 756 (Ky. 1929).

KRS 231.020 does not violate this section, although it regulates only places of entertainment located outside of cities, since there is a reasonable basis for such classification arising from the fact that cities have their own police protection. Ratliff v. Hill, 293 Ky. 36, 168 S.W.2d 336, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 556 (Ky. 1943).

The sanitation district law is not unconstitutional as class or special legislation because it applies only to counties having cities of the first three (3) classes, in view of the more serious sanitation and sewerage problems facing dwellers in the larger cities and suburban areas. Somsen v. Sanitation Dist. of Jefferson County, 303 Ky. 284, 197 S.W.2d 410, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 828 (Ky. 1946).

Where Department of Welfare filed claim for maintenance and board of patient in state hospital, provision of subsection (2) of KRS 203.110 (now KRS 210.330) was applicable and not unconstitutional and five (5) year statute of limitations would not begin to run against the department until acquisition by patient of an estate which could be subject to debt, since the classification by KRS 203.110 (now KRS 210.330) is not arbitrary but has a sound and reasonable basis. Department of Welfare v. Fox, 240 S.W.2d 65, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 944 (Ky. 1951).

The requirement of law that real estate brokers and salesmen need be licensed only in cities of the first three (3) classes and within five (5) miles thereof is not unconstitutional as special legislation, since the classification therein is reasonable and germane to the purpose of the law. Sims v. Reeves, 261 S.W.2d 812, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1063 (Ky. 1953).

Veterans' bonus statute restricting payments to residents of the state and providing larger bonus for veterans having service overseas established reasonable classification and was not unconstitutional as special legislation. Watkins v. State Property & Bldgs. Com., 342 S.W.2d 511, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 94 (Ky. 1960).

Antidiscrimination ordinance of first-class city which prohibits the refusal of restaurant owner to serve food to Negroes was not a special law and did not provide a reasonable classification. Commonwealth v. Beasy, 386 S.W.2d 444, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 502 (Ky. 1965).

The legislature is not prohibited from making reasonable classifications. Kentucky Milk Marketing & Anti-Monopoly

Com. v. Borden Co., 456 S.W.2d 831, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 1969).

Statutory provisions (KRS 160.040-160.210) that allowed special structuring of a new school board upon the merger of the school district of a city of the first class with the county school district did not constitute forbidden local or special legislation where the reasons for treatment different from other mergers were justified by the factors of urbanization which differentiate school problems in cities of the first class. Board of Education v. Board of Education, 522 S.W.2d 854, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 143 (Ky. 1975).

A city ordinance which made a permanent, continuing increase of 35% in the pensions of police officers who retired prior to a certain date and other beneficiaries who were receiving benefits attributable to such a police officer's service had a reasonable basis in that its purpose was to correct inequities in the retirement benefits for policemen who retired before the specified date, and therefore the law did not constitute special or local legislation. Hyde v. Haunost, 530 S.W.2d 374, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 52 (Ky. 1975).

There is a reasonable basis in the General Assembly's contrasting sexual offenders who are strangers or mere acquaintances of the abused child from those who abuse not only the child, but their advantageous position as a person who society teaches the child to regard as an adult role model; therefore, subdivision (2) of KRS 532.045, prohibiting probation, parole, or conditional discharge for persons convicted of certain crimes, does not violate this section as being class legislation. Owsley v. Commonwealth, 743 S.W.2d 408, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 589 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

For a law to be constitutionally general and not special legislation, the classification must be based upon a reasonable and natural distinction which relates to the purpose of the act and the legislation must apply equally to all in a class. St. Luke Hosp. v. Health Policy Bd., 913 S.W.2d 1, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 4 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996).

"Zero tolerance" provisions of KRS 189A.010, pertaining to underage drinking and driving, are rationally related to a legitimate state purpose and are based on a valid distinction; therefore, such provisions are valid under the equal protection clauses of the United States and Kentucky Constitutions and do not constitute special legislation in violation of Ky. Const., § 59. Commonwealth v. Howard, 969 S.W.2d 700, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 95 (Ky. 1998).

When asserting the validity of a classification, the burden is on the party claiming the validity of the classification to show that there is a valid nexus between the classification and the purpose for which the statute in question was drafted; there must be substantially more than merely a theoretical basis for a distinction; rather, there must be a firm basis in reality. Yeoman v. Commonwealth Health Policy Bd., 983 S.W.2d 459, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1998).

Amendments to KRS 68.197 retroactively restoring a provision that two (2) counties were not required to give taxpayers credit for city occupational license fees paid did not violate Ky. Const. § 59 as a local or special act because there were distinctive and natural reasons setting those two (2) counties apart from other counties such that a legitimate legislative purpose to relieve threatened fiscal hardship was served by requiring the latter counties to credit the fees but relieving the former counties from the requirement. The fees were authorized for the two (2) counties pursuant to a public question ballot approved by the voters and thus was a legitimate and unique classification. King v. Campbell County, 217 S.W.3d 862, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 331 (Ky. Ct. App. 2006).

9. — Pensioners.

There are real and substantial distinctions between public and private employment sufficient to justify the separate classification of governmental pensioners and private industry pensioners under Ky. Const., § 59(15) for purposes of Ken-

10. — Rural Road Fund Allocation.

Although the allocation of the rural secondary road fund among all counties on the basis of rural population and rural road use, regardless of the amount of tax collected in each county, did not consider the over-all population of each county or the number of vehicles per mile of rural roads in accordance with the formulae for distribution of road funds prescribed by KRS 177.360 and KRS 179.410, the allocation was not unconstitutionally arbitrary under § 2 of the Constitution nor did it constitute special or local legislation as prohibited by this section or § 60, since those formulae were not so directly related to the public purpose of improving and maintaining rural roads as to require their inclusion in the basis used for allocation, the basis used was reasonably related to the public purpose, and the resulting classification was reasonable. Jefferson County v. King, 479 S.W.2d 880, 1972 Ky. LEXIS 320 (Ky. 1972).

11. — Unreasonable.

Spot zoning of property for the construction of a doctor's office building is a discriminatory classification of property and, as such, unconstitutional under this section, although it might result in some contribution to the public welfare. Parker v. Rash, 314 Ky. 609, 236 S.W.2d 687, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 696 (Ky. 1951).

Law making the right to operate a motor vehicle dependent upon payment by the owner of his personal property taxes and exempting from this requirement carriers for hire of vehicles designed to carry more than nine persons is in violation of this section as special legislation. Schoo v. Rose, 270 S.W.2d 940, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1027 (Ky. 1954).

Law that provides that uniform time observance will apply to certain categories of activity (i.e., business and government) but not to others is unconstitutional under this section, since the classification established is unreasonable and arbitrary. Dawson v. Hamilton, 314 S.W.2d 532, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 300 (Ky. 1958).

An act violates this section if it contains no justification for the requirement that a county containing a city of the first class that also contains a city of some other class with an independent school district that would be required under such an act to use an entirely different procedure to annex adjacent areas to its independent school district from the procedure used by independent school districts in cities of the same class in all the remaining counties in the state. Board of Education v. Board of Education, 472 S.W.2d 496, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 200 (Ky. 1971).

Since a review of the legislation that enacted present subsection (5) of KRS 230.377 in 1988 as subsection (3) discloses no legislative history concerning intertrack wagering in Kentucky and the title of the statute does not reflect a substantial justification for the distinction which affects Henderson County alone, subsection (5) of KRS 230.377 is determined to be unconstitutional as special or local law. Tri-City Turf Club, Inc. v. Public Protection & Regulation Cabinet, 806 S.W.2d 394, 1991 Ky. App. LEXIS 2 (Ky. Ct. App. 1991).

Subdivision (1)(b) of KRS 189A.200 which mandates pre-trial suspension of an operator's license when the accused individual is under the age of twenty-one (21) is an arbitrary classification based on age and is manifestly unreasonable; therefore, it is violative of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution and Ky. Const., § 59. Commonwealth v. Raines, 847 S.W.2d 724, 1993 Ky. LEXIS 51 (Ky. 1993), overruled in part, Commonwealth v. Howard, 969 S.W.2d 700, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 95 (Ky. 1998), overruled in part,

12. Courts.

Special act regulating practice in a discontinued Circuit Court held in terms, passed before adoption of present Constitution, was not in violation of this section, since such provision is prospective in its operation and, under it, the special act remained in force until passage of a general law regulating practice in Circuit Courts held in terms. Piper v. Guenther, 95 Ky. 115, 23 S.W. 872, 15 Ky. L. Rptr. 462, 1893 Ky. LEXIS 131 (Ky. 1893).

A local act passed prior to present Constitution regulating practice in a court not of continuous session ceased to be operative after expiration of six (6) years from adoption of Constitution. Morgan v. Wickliffe, 110 Ky. 215, 61 S.W. 13, 22 Ky. L. Rptr. 1648, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 66 (Ky. 1901).

Provision that practice in Circuit Courts of continuous session may by general law be made different from practice of Circuit Courts held in terms is, by implication, a restriction on power of legislature to make the practice different in the several Circuit Courts held in terms, for the one exception is necessarily an exclusion of others. Morgan v. Wickliffe, 110 Ky. 215, 61 S.W. 13, 22 Ky. L. Rptr. 1648, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 66 (Ky. 1901).

This section is not violated by a joint resolution authorizing certain claimants to sue the Commonwealth in a named court. Commonwealth v. Lyon, 72 S.W. 323, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 1747, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 435 (Ky. Ct. App. 1903).

Law providing that legality of ordinance of first-class city may be tested by city by appeal to Jefferson Circuit Court and then to Court of Appeals, as other cases in Circuit Court are appealed, is not invalid local law regulating jurisdiction of courts. Louisville v. Wehmhoff, 116 Ky. 812, 76 S.W. 876, 79 S.W. 201, 25 Ky. L. Rptr. 1924, 25 Ky. L. Rptr. 995, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 250 (Ky. 1903).

Law providing that in all counties having town not larger than the fourth class and containing population larger than county seat and over 17 miles therefrom the Circuit Court should be held alternately in county seat and in larger town was not violative of this section. Johnson v. Fulton, 121 Ky. 594, 89 S.W. 672, 28 Ky. L. Rptr. 569, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 243 (Ky. 1905).

Statute, insofar as it undertook to divide the terms of McCracken Circuit Court into civil terms and criminal terms, was unconstitutional. Smedley v. Commonwealth, 138 Ky. 12, 129 S.W. 547 (Ky. 1910).

Act providing that in case railroad company does not comply with award of railroad commission within ten (10) days a copy of such award and the evidence shall be filed with clerk of proper Circuit Court, on which action may be maintained, and in which no other testimony than that introduced before commission shall be heard, was not unconstitutional. Illinois C. R. Co. v. Paducah Brewery Co., 157 Ky. 357, 163 S.W. 239, 1914 Ky. LEXIS 300 (Ky. 1914).

Law creating three (3) magisterial districts in counties having over 250,000 population and that fees therefrom be paid to general fund of the county is not unconstitutional as special legislation applying to particular persons or places as distinguished from classes of places or persons. Greene v. Caldwell, 170 Ky. 571, 186 S.W. 648, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 126 (Ky. 1916). See Shaw v. Fox, 246 Ky. 342, 55 S.W.2d 11, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 761 (Ky. 1932).

Law providing that railroad commission shall hear complaints against carriers for correction of extortionate rates and, if its award be not satisfied within ten (10) days, file copy of evidence and award in a Circuit Court, whereupon summons shall issue as in other cases, and trial be had as in ordinary action, is not unconstitutional in that an award of commission may be proceeded upon and judgment rendered without complainant filing a petition, since law applies to all

Circuit Courts in state in which designated cause of action may arise. Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Greenbrier Distillery Co., 170 Ky. 775, 187 S.W. 296, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 144 (Ky. 1916).

Act conferring juvenile jurisdiction on Circuit Courts having seven (7) judges and relieving respective county courts of such jurisdiction was violative of this section and former section of Constitution regarding jurisdiction of county courts, since act was applicable to Jefferson County only and took from Jefferson County Court jurisdiction that would remain in county court of other counties. Neutzel v. Williams, 191 Ky. 351, 230 S.W. 942, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 343 (Ky. 1921).

Law authorizing appeal by a taxpayer from a decision of the state tax commission equalizing assessments only to the Franklin Circuit Court and thence to the Court of Appeals is a regulation of venue and is not special or local legislation which would be prohibited under this section. Johnson v. Fordson Coal Co., 213 Ky. 445, 281 S.W. 472, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 535 (Ky. 1926), writ of error dismissed, 275 U.S. 494, 48 S. Ct. 82, 72 L. Ed. 391, 1927 U.S. LEXIS 310 (U.S. 1927).

Law changing specified judicial district without creating a new one was not based on any general division of the state into judicial districts with due regard to territory, business and population and is unconstitutional as to local or special act. Fields v. Nickell, 248 Ky. 526, 58 S.W.2d 912, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 264 (Ky. 1933).

Law that created a special juvenile court in cities of the third class located more than ten (10) miles from the county seat, in counties not having a Circuit Court of continuous session, violated this section, since there was no discernible reason for separately classifying such cities. Barry v. Giles, 300 Ky. 22, 187 S.W.2d 827, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 800 (Ky. 1945).

Law exempting candidates for the position of circuit or appellate judge from the provision that no candidate who has been defeated in a primary election shall have his name placed on the ballot in the succeeding general election, is based on a reasonable classification and thus is not special legislation unconstitutional under this section. Rosenberg v. Queenan, 261 S.W.2d 617, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1025 (Ky. 1953).

Since this section, providing that the practice in courts of continuous session may by general law be made different from the practice of Circuit Courts held in terms, implies the right of the legislature to designate certain courts as being courts of continuous session and which right is not qualified elsewhere in the Constitution, the Legislature thus has the right to say whether the courts of a particular district shall be of continuous session or of terms and the mere fact that legislature at one time passed a law, fixing a standard of population alone as the basis for determining whether a court should be in continuous session was of no significance, because the matter was not one required to be dealt with by general law. Harrod v. Meigs, 340 S.W.2d 601, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 58 (Ky. 1960).

13. Jurors.

Law that provided for longer grand jury sessions in counties containing cities of the first class than in other counties, established a classification based upon reasonable and natural distinction and was not unconstitutional as local or special legislation. Miller v. Hoblitzell, 271 S.W.2d 899, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1064 (Ky. 1954).

14. Prosecutions.

KRS 15.715(4), relating to intervention in certain prosecutions by the Attorney General, is not local and special legislation contrary to this section. Graham v. Mills, 694 S.W.2d 698, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 236 (Ky. 1985).

15. Punishment.

Defendant cannot complain that penalty of a local law instead of that of a general law has been inflicted where the penalty imposed is less than the minimum amount prescribed in the general law. Stamper v. Commonwealth, 102 Ky. 33, 42 S.W. 915, 19 Ky. L. Rptr. 1014, 1897 Ky. LEXIS 64 (Ky. 1897).

This section, in conjunction with law providing for punishment of offense of embezzlement by officer or agent of any bank, operated to repeal a bank charter granted by special act of the legislature prior to adoption of Constitution to the extent that it provided for the punishment of the offense of embezzlement of the bank's funds by any of its officers or agents. Commonwealth v. Porter, 113 Ky. 575, 68 S.W. 621, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 364, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 81 (Ky. 1902).

This section does not prohibit legislature from repealing an existing statute and giving to the repeal its common-law effect of taking away from courts the power to enforce penalties incurred thereunder, as the legislature, unlike the congress, has all power that is not expressly taken away from it. Pannell v. Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Co., 113 Ky. 630, 68 S.W. 662, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 2423, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 87 (Ky.), modified, 113 Ky. 640, 82 S.W. 1141, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 248 (Ky. Ct. App. 1902).

Law declaring that any person who shall unlawfully take, drive or operate a motor vehicle without knowledge or consent of owner shall be guilty of an offense punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary was not unconstitutional, since purpose of Constitution was to prevent passing of acts applicable only to special localities. Singleton v. Commonwealth, 164 Ky. 243, 175 S.W. 372, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 364 (Ky. 1915).

16. Limitation of Civil or Criminal Causes.

KRS 413.135 is not applicable in an action against manufacturers of products used in the design or construction of a permanent improvement to real estate; if KRS 413.135 did include such manufacturers within its protected class, it would be unconstitutional as special legislation in violation of this section. In re Beverly Hills Fire Litigation, 672 S.W.2d 922, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 239 (Ky. 1984).

KRS 413.135 as amended in 1986 providing for limitations for actions for damages arising out of injury is constitutionally defective as special legislation and further attempts to amend it to overcome the constitutional defects fatally impale upon Ky. Const., §§ 14, 54 and 241. Perkins v. Northeastern Log Homes, 808 S.W.2d 809, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 44 (Ky. 1991).

17. Actions.

Law providing a special limitation of six (6) months as to actions against cities of first class by members of police force to recover any salary withheld for any cause, or for reinstatement to the force or department, was both a local and special act. Gorley v. Louisville, 104 Ky. 372, 47 S.W. 263, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 602, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 175 (Ky. 1898).

The special limitation of six (6) months provided by charter of cities of first class as to actions against such cities for damages violated provision against General Assembly passing local or special acts to regulate limitation of civil or criminal causes. Louisville v. Kuntz, 104 Ky. 584, 47 S.W. 592, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 805, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 198 (Ky. 1898).

Subsection Twenty-nine (29) of this section does not prohibit Commonwealth from giving its consent, by joint resolution of the General Assembly, to the bringing of a particular suit against it in the Franklin Circuit Court, though Ky. Const., § 231 empowers the General Assembly to direct, by general law, in what manner and in what courts suit may be brought against the Commonwealth. Commonwealth v. Haly, 106 Ky. 716, 51 S.W. 430, 21 Ky. L. Rptr. 666, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 93 (Ky. 1899), limited, Carr v. Jefferson County, 275 Ky. 685, 122 S.W.2d 482, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 475 (Ky. 1938), limited, Wright's Adm'r v. Carroll County, 275 Ky. 690, 122 S.W.2d 485, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 476 (Ky. 1938).

Charter of city of Louisville fixing six (6) months as limitation within which actions for damages against the city may be instituted was unconstitutional. City of Louisville v. Hegan, 49 S.W. 532, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 1532, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 438 (Ky. Ct. App. 1899).

Law providing that in actions by city of first class to enforce liens for cost of street improvements copies of ordinance, contract and apportionment shall be prima facie evidence of every fact necessary to enable plaintiff to recover relates to matter affecting municipal government and is valid through special legislation, since Ky. Const., § 156 authorizes special legislation for purposes of municipal government. Richardson v. Mehler, 111 Ky. 408, 63 S.W. 957, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 917, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 214 (Ky. 1901).

Act of General Assembly permitting motorist to bring tort action against the Commonwealth based on alleged negligence of the State Highway Department is not unconstitutional as special legislation under this section, since a general law creating such causes of action would be impractical and does not exist. Commonwealth v. Bowman, 267 Ky. 50, 100 S.W.2d 801, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 751 (Ky. 1936). See Commonwealth v. Daniel, 266 Ky. 285, 98 S.W.2d 897, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 643 (Ky. 1936).

An act of the General Assembly authorizing an individual to sue a particular county on a subject to which a general law could be made applicable is unconstitutional as special and local legislation. Carr v. Jefferson County, 275 Ky. 685, 122 S.W.2d 482, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 475 (Ky. 1938). See Wright's Adm'r v. Carroll County, 275 Ky. 690, 122 S.W.2d 485, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 476 (Ky. 1938).

So long as parties are dealing at arms length they may fix a period of limitations shorter than the statutory period, provided such period is not unreasonably short; if the period fixed is a reasonable one, it will be enforced. Burlew v. Fidelity & Casualty Co., 276 Ky. 132, 122 S.W.2d 990, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 521 (Ky. 1938).

Resolution authorizing individual to sue state, although special in being for sole benefit of individual, has not been regarded as within meaning and spirit of subsection Twenty-ninth of this section, providing that where general law can be made applicable to special law shall be enacted, and under doctrine of stare decisis that construction should be adhered to. Daniel's Adm'r v. Hoofnel, 287 Ky. 834, 155 S.W.2d 469, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 654 (Ky. 1941).

KRS 411.100, requiring the giving of notice to city authorities within 90 days as a condition precedent to the bringing of an action against city for personal injuries resulting from defect in street, was not a statute of limitations giving cities special rights not given to other tortfeasors and was not unconstitutional as class or special legislation. Galloway v. Winchester, 299 Ky. 87, 184 S.W.2d 890, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 388 (Ky. 1945).

Law providing that all actions against only cities of the first class for taxes and assessments illegally paid or collected shall be commenced within six (6) months, is unconstitutional under this section's prohibition against local or special legislation. Louisville v. Louisville Taxicab & Transfer Co., 238 S.W.2d 121, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 795 (Ky. 1951).

KRS 44.070 to 44.110, 44.120 to 44.160, authorizing individuals to maintain claims against the Commonwealth for damages resulting from negligence but limiting any award thereunder to $5,000 (now $10,000), is a general statute under this section and a legislative resolution authorizing two (2) individuals to sue the Commonwealth in the amount of $15,000 for personal injuries is unconstitutional under the provision of this section that prohibits the passing of a local or special law where a general law could be made applicable. Commonwealth v. McCoun, 313 S.W.2d 585, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 272 (Ky. 1958).

The three (3) year statute of limitations for stock frauds provided by subsection (3) of KRS 292.480 is not unconstitutional under this section and Ky. Const., § 60 as a local law. Hutto v. Bockweg, 579 S.W.2d 382, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 389 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

18. Disabled Persons.

Legislature has no power to fix one rate for any pay patients who are admitted into a state asylum as such and to fix another rate one-third greater for patients who are admitted as paupers but subsequently become able to pay, though the latter pay only at the end of a suit, the discrimination being an arbitrary one without any proper or reasonable relation to the object sought to be accomplished, and such a law is void as fixing an arbitrary penalty. Schroer v. Central Kentucky Asylum for Insane, 113 Ky. 288, 68 S.W. 150, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 150, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 57 (Ky. 1902).

Law requiring that children provide necessities to a destitute parent, which law applied only to adult children residing within the state and possessing the necessary means and ability, did not involve an arbitrary classification and was not, therefore, special legislation prohibited by this section. Wood v. Wheat, 226 Ky. 762, 11 S.W.2d 916, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 164 (Ky. 1928).

19. Relief of Disability.

20. — Feme Covert.

A special act of the legislature empowering a married woman to trade as a feme sole and hold by purchase real and personal property free from her husband's debts is constitutional since passed before the adoption of the present Constitution. Eskridge v. Carter, 29 S.W. 748, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 760 (1895).

21. — Minors.

The workmen's compensation act does not fall within the constitutional prohibition against local or special legislation by empowering a minor to accept the provisions of the act for compensation in lieu of the right to sue for damages in cases where he is not employed in wilful violation of any law. D. E. Hewitt Lumber Co. v. Brumfield, 196 Ky. 723, 245 S.W. 858, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 596 (Ky. 1922).

22. Descent.

Law declaring child of a mother divorced on the ground of pregnancy before marriage a bastard is not unconstitutional as special legislation. Richardson's Adm'r v. Borders, 246 Ky. 303, 54 S.W.2d 676, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 733 (Ky. 1932).

KRS 381.280, providing that any heir or beneficiary under a will who takes the life of another and is convicted of a felony therefor forfeits any interest as an heir, legatee, or devisee in the property of the decedent, is not special legislation unconstitutional under this section, since the law operates uniformly throughout the state upon all members of the classes named. Wilson v. Bates, 313 Ky. 333, 231 S.W.2d 39, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 873 (Ky. 1950).

Under the present Constitution, the legislature is prohibited from granting divorces. Iring v. Iring, 188 Ky. 65, 221 S.W. 219, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 232 (Ky. 1920).

24. Compensation for Services.

A special act in favor of an attorney, validating a contract made between him and the state for rendition of services, is not invalid under this section, the legislature inferentially being given the power to enact a local law to legalize the contract. Carroll v. Bosworth, 151 Ky. 337, 151 S.W. 916, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 803 (Ky. 1912).

Joint resolution of the General Assembly ordering repayment to a sheriff of his personal expenses incurred in returning a fugitive from out of state, which reimbursement had not previously been authorized by law, did not violate this section as special legislation. Pennington v. Shannon, 270 Ky. 142, 109 S.W.2d 389, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 37 (Ky. 1937).

25. Taxation.

Act authorizing city of Louisville to levy taxes on property within its limits and enforce its lien thereon by an equitable action remained in full force after adoption of present Constitution and after passage of act incorporating cities of first class, as to taxes levied prior to passage of last act, since both of the latter enactments were prospective only and moreover expressly declared that their provisions should not affect former taxes lawfully levied and assessed. Long v. Louisville, 97 Ky. 364, 30 S.W. 987, 17 Ky. L. Rptr. 253, 1895 Ky. LEXIS 201 (Ky. 1895).

Law requiring the taxation of the same property in the possession of and owned by one who owes taxes thereon to the United States in a different manner or mode than required on the same character of property in the hands of and owned by those citizens who have paid taxes to the United States is special legislation and unconstitutional. Commonwealth ex rel. Armstrong v. Taylor, 38 S.W. 10 (Ky. 1896).

Act providing that distilled spirits in bonded warehouses should be assessed by state board of valuation and assessment, instead of by the county assessor, as other property is assessed was not unconstitutional. Commonwealth ex rel. Armstrong v. E. H. Taylor Jr. Co., 101 Ky. 325, 41 S.W. 11 (Ky. 1897).

Law relating to salaries of officers and their deputies in counties of 75,000 inhabitants or more and requiring monthly reports to auditor was not unconstitutional, although having application to Jefferson County alone. Winston v. Stone, 102 Ky. 423, 43 S.W. 397, 19 Ky. L. Rptr. 1483, 1897 Ky. LEXIS 95 (Ky. 1897), overruled, Vaughn v. Knopf, 895 S.W.2d 566, 1995 Ky. LEXIS 49 (Ky. 1995).

Fact that law imposes upon corporations, for failure to report, a penalty different from that imposed upon an individual who fails to list his property for taxation does not render it objectionable as special legislation. Louisville & J. Ferry Co. v. Commonwealth, 104 Ky. 726, 47 S.W. 877, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 927, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1898).

A city ordinance fixing a certain fee for license to sell liquor on any street other than Main Street and fixing a larger fee for license to sell on that street is invalid to the extent that it discriminates against business conducted on Main Street, being to that extent special legislation. Board of Council of Harrodsburg v. Renfro, 58 S.W. 795, 22 Ky. L. Rptr. 806, 1900 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. Ct. App. 1900).

Provision of charter of first-class cities requiring payment of interest on taxes past due is not void as special legislation, though the statutes do not provide for payment of interest on taxes due to cities of other classes, or to state or county. Walston v. Louisville, 66 S.W. 385, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1852 (1902).

Special act of legislature incorporating taxing district with many of the governmental powers of towns and cities was not repealed by Constitution, though that instrument prohibits legislature from passing such special laws in the future and provides for the repeal of all laws inconsistent with its provisions. Covington v. District of Highlands, 113 Ky. 612, 68 S.W. 669, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 433, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 89 (Ky. 1902).

This provision looked altogether to future legislation and did not affect directly or indirectly the laws already in force at the time of the adoption of the present Constitution. Covington v. District of Highlands, 113 Ky. 612, 68 S.W. 669, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 433, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 89 (Ky. 1902).

Law was not unconstitutional as special or local legislation insofar as it allowed taxes to be collected by suit in cities of first class, similar provisions being made for suits in other classes of cities. Woolley v. Louisville, 114 Ky. 556, 71 S.W. 893, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 1357, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 36 (Ky. 1903).

Where the subject of classification was land which had been omitted from taxation for a great many years, the act did not violate this section though it did not apply to every county in the state. Eastern Kentucky Coal Lands Corp. v. Commonwealth, 127 Ky. 667, 106 S.W. 260 (Ky. 1907), aff'd, 219 U.S. 140, 31 S. Ct. 171, 55 L. Ed. 137, 1911 U.S. LEXIS 1626 (U.S. 1911).

If a few, or any number of persons less than all, who follow a designated trade, occupation, or profession may be exempt, while others are taxed, the law imposing the tax would not be general, but special or local, and forbidden by this section and Ky. Const., § 60. Hager v. Walker, 128 Ky. 1, 107 S.W. 254, 32 Ky. L. Rptr. 748, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 29 (Ky. 1908).

The provisions of the Constitution prohibiting special legislation and providing that taxation must be levied by general laws did not repeal or make inoperative special laws passed before its adoption, but it was contemplated that such laws should remain in force until changed by legislature unless in conflict with some constitutional provision. Smith v. Simmons, 129 Ky. 93, 110 S.W. 336, 33 Ky. L. Rptr. 503, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 134 (Ky. 1908).

Law providing a minimum school tax rate of 36 mills for cities of second class was not unconstitutional as local or special legislation. Louisville v. Commonwealth, 134 Ky. 488, 121 S.W. 411, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 399 (Ky. 1909).

Act that added to list of fourth-class cities a taxing district incorporated by a special act existed only as a taxing district under such special act and amendment until adoption of Constitution, consisted of considerable territory not used for urban purposes, and which should not be included within the boundaries of a city was violative of subsection Twenty-nine of this section and of Ky. Const., § 156. Albershart v. Donaldson, 149 Ky. 510, 149 S.W. 873, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 647 (Ky. 1912).

Since Const., § 182 permits legislature to provide how railroad property shall be assessed, law providing that where lines of domestic railroad corporation are outside state the board of valuation and assessment shall fix the value of the capital stock in manner provided and apportion to state the proper proportion was not in violation of this section. Commonwealth v. Anderson v. Southern Pac. Co., 150 Ky. 97, 149 S.W. 1105, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 821 (Ky. 1912), overruled, Commonwealth v. Kentucky Heating Co., 176 Ky. 35, 195 S.W. 459, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 40 (Ky. 1917).

Law authorizing the valuation and assessment of franchises by cities was not unconstitutional but rather is a legitimate exercise of the legislative power to confer on the assessing authorities of cities the right to assess for taxation for municipal purposes franchises of corporations doing business in the city. Kentucky Heating Co. v. Louisville, 174 Ky. 142, 192 S.W. 4, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 165 (Ky. 1917), writ of error dismissed, 250 U.S. 653, 40 S. Ct. 53, 63 L. Ed. 1191, 1919 U.S. LEXIS 1804 (U.S. 1919).

Exemption of mortgages to building and loan associations when the debt does not mature within five (5) years from general tax on recording of mortgages is not prohibited by this section as local or special legislation. Middendorf v. Goodale, 202 Ky. 118, 259 S.W. 59, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 360 (Ky. 1923).

To permit application of tax rate prevailing at time of actual assessment or levy, although made subsequent to time directed by law, would result in legislative establishment of different rate in different counties, dependent upon the time assessments or levies were actually made, and would thus violate subsection Fifteenth of this section by making possible application of different law to different counties for same fiscal year for same class of property. Ross v. First Nat'l Bank, 213 Ky. 453, 281 S.W. 517, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 536 (Ky. 1926).

Law providing that in counties containing cities of the first class the tax commissioner (now secretary of revenue) should be paid monthly advances for the expenses of his office is not in violation of this section as local or special legislation even though only one (1) county in the state contains a city of the first class. Shannon v. Wheeler, 268 Ky. 25, 103 S.W.2d 718, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 422 (Ky. 1937).

Law providing differing rates of assessments between counties with 75 or more drainage districts and all other counties is unconstitutional as special legislation, since it is based on an arbitrary classification. Withers v. Board of Drainage Comm'rs, 270 Ky. 732, 110 S.W.2d 664, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 150 (Ky. 1937).

Law permitting only cities of the first and third classes to make assessments against state property for internal improvements is based on a reasonable classification, since the bulk of the state's property is located within Louisville and Frankfort, cities of these classes, and thus is not in violation of this section. Logan v. Louisville, 283 Ky. 518, 142 S.W.2d 161, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 379 (Ky. 1940).

Act which imposed license tax upon "each peddler with a vehicle" but exempted from such tax all other peddlers was void as unreasonably discriminatory and as being special or local in application contrary to this section. Denton v. Potter, 284 Ky. 114, 143 S.W.2d 1056, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 450 (Ky. 1940).

Law authorizing establishment of libraries only by cities and counties having a minimum assessed valuation of $5,000,000 did not violate this section, since public libraries are matters of statewide rather than local concern, and therefore the classification of cities made by Const., § 156 was not applicable, and since assessed valuation had a direct bearing on ability to support a library, and therefore furnished a reasonable basis for classification. Board of Trustees v. Newport, 300 Ky. 125, 187 S.W.2d 806, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 801 (Ky. 1945).

Provisions of KRS 160.475 and 160.476, leaving it optional with county boards of education as to amount of tax necessary to operate district schools and to request county fiscal court to make levy accordingly, did not violate subsection Fifteenth of this section, since such act was general statute applicable to all fiscal courts and county public school districts equally throughout state. Harlan-Wallins Coal Corp. v. Cawood, 303 Ky. 544, 198 S.W.2d 218, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 891 (Ky. 1946).

KRS 132.380, in exempting incumbent tax commissioners from taking further examinations in order to succeed themselves, establishes a reasonable classification and is not unconstitutional as special legislation or in violation of Const., § 3. Department of Revenue ex rel. Allphin v. Turner, 260 S.W.2d 658, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 983 (Ky. 1953).

Provision of KRS 96.182 authorizing board of first-class cities to use surplus revenues for purpose of purchasing, paying, retiring, guaranteeing the payment of, or underwriting revenue bonds issued by any third-class city was not special legislation. Perkins v. Frankfort, 276 S.W.2d 449, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 422 (Ky. 1955).

Provisions of KRS 68.180 to 68.195, permitting fiscal court of county having population of at least 300,000 to impose occupational license tax and allowing credits against such tax for fees paid to first-class cities within such counties, did not constitute special legislation in contravention of this section or Const., § 60. Kupper v. Fiscal Court of Jefferson County, 346 S.W.2d 766, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 337 (Ky. 1961).

There was no unconstitutional distinction in the use of tax revenue as between counties containing a city of the first class and all other counties, since the legislature had reason to provide an additional function for tourist and convention commissions in counties other than those containing a city of the first class. Second Street Properties, Inc. v. Fiscal Court of Jefferson County, 445 S.W.2d 709, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 179 (Ky. 1969).

The "Roll-Back" law is not special or local legislation within the prohibition of this section. Miller v. Nunnolley, 468 S.W.2d 298, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 334 (Ky.), cert. denied, 404 U.S. 941, 92 S. Ct. 286, 30 L. Ed. 2d 255, 1971 U.S. LEXIS 564 (U.S. 1971).

As a consequence of the disparity between the numbers of eligible producers voting in successive referenda required to adopt and to terminate or discontinue the assessment program for tobacco promotion (KRS 247.780(1)), the votes of those producers who favor the assessment program is accorded substantially greater weight than votes of those persons in the same class of producers who are opposed to the program; thus the terms and conditions of subsection (1) of KRS 247.780 effectively operate to deny the producers of burley tobacco who are opposed to an assessment program the equal protection of the law required by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and the same contravenes Const., § 3 and this section and, therefore said subsection (1) is discriminatory and void. Tabor v. Council for Burley Tobacco, Inc., 599 S.W.2d 466, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 319 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

Law which authorized the fiscal court to levy tax for purpose of constructing and maintaining Campbell County courthouse, violated this section and Const., § 60, which prohibit local and special legislative authorization of tax levies. Whitford v. Hehl, 612 S.W.2d 759, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 426 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

While KRS 186A.120(3)(b), 186A.220 and 186A.230 exempt dealers who hold vehicles for resale from payment of the ad valorem tax, this is not a “halving” of a classification, but is only a method of fixing the time and the person responsible for payment of the ad valorem tax on all motor vehicles — to-wit, the purchaser of the vehicle at the time the vehicle is registered for use upon the highway, and the tax is payable by all persons, including an individual or a dealer, who intend to operate the vehicle on the highways of the state; these sections, read in conjunction with KRS 134.810(4), do not violate subsection (15) of this section or Const., § 171. Kling v. Geary, 667 S.W.2d 379, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1984).

Legislation which extended a provider tax to hospitals did not constitute invalid special legislation. Children’s Psychiatric Hosp., Inc. v. Revenue Cabinet, 989 S.W.2d 583, 1999 Ky. LEXIS 43 (Ky. 1999).

A county ordinance, which levied an occupational license fee on the gross compensation of all persons employed or self-employed within the county, did not constitute local or special legislation in violation of the Kentucky Constitution as the occupational license fee applied to every employed or self-employed entity in that county. Preston v. Johnson County Fiscal Court, 27 S.W.3d 790, 2000 Ky. LEXIS 119 (Ky. 2000).

Challenged portions of the amendments to certain taxation statutes were not impermissible special legislation in violation of Ky. Const. § 59 with respect to regulating the rate of interest. Revenue Cabinet v. Asworth Corp., 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 229 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 20, 2009), cert. denied, 562 U.S. 1200, 131 S. Ct. 1046, 178 L. Ed. 2d 865, 2011 U.S. LEXIS 1056 (U.S. 2011).

26. Public Property.

Law permitting cities of the second class to condemn land for proper public purposes does not constitute special or local legislation prohibited by this section. Shipp v. Lexington, 212 Ky. 702, 279 S.W. 1094, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 221 (Ky. 1926).

Law designating a short stretch of county road as part of the state highway system is not purely local in nature, since it deals with a statewide system as distinguished from merely local county roads and does not constitute unconstitutional local or special legislation. Smith v. State Highway Com., 247 Ky. 816, 57 S.W.2d 1014, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 460 (Ky. 1933).

27. Corporations.

Act providing for establishment and maintenance of state fair to be under management and control of specified livestock breeders’ association, an existing corporation, was not a local or special act to grant a charter to any corporation or amend the charter of any existing corporation. Kentucky Live Stock Breeders’ Ass’n v. Hager, 120 Ky. 125, 85 S.W. 738, 27 Ky. L. Rptr. 518, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 83 (Ky. 1905).

Act empowering cities of first class to construct system of sewerage and providing that mayor of first-class cities may appoint four (4) persons who, with mayor, shall constitute sewerage commission which shall constitute a body corporate with capacity to contract, to be contracted with and to sue and be sued was not in conflict with this section, though there is only one (1) city of the first class. Miller v. Louisville, 99 S.W. 284, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 664 (1907).

Act creating board of waterworks for cities of first class with authority to own all stock in waterworks corporations and to take possession of property and franchises of water companies and operate them for benefit of city did not create corporation to carry on private business contrary to this section. Kirch v. Louisville, 125 Ky. 391, 101 S.W. 373, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 1356, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 294 (Ky. 1907).

There being no right at common law to incorporate trading or manufacturing corporations, and the Constitution providing against their creation by special law, when incorporated under general law by articles placing limit on corporation’s indebtedness, the incurring of indebtedness in excess of the limit is express violation of law. Randolph v. Ballard County Bank, 142 Ky. 145, 134 S.W. 165, 1911 Ky. LEXIS 171 (Ky. 1911).

Although the legislature is empowered to create corporations, it is prohibited from doing so by the passage of local or special acts. Handley v. Graham, 187 Ky. 316, 219 S.W. 417, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1920).

Legislation which exempts vehicles owned by the United States, the state, counties, or municipal corporations from the statutory limitations on weight, dimensions, speed, operation and use of motor trucks and semi-trailers involves a classification based on distinctive and natural reasons and is not unconstitutional as special legislation. Whitney v. Fife, 270 Ky. 434, 109 S.W.2d 832, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 87 (Ky. 1937).

28. Highways.

Prohibition of this section against local or special legislation does not prevent legislature prescribing different standards for highway use between use by individuals for private gain and use by the state for public purposes. Whitney v. Fife, 270 Ky. 434, 109 S.W.2d 832, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 87 (Ky. 1937).

29. Bridges.

Laws authorizing cities of the first class to construct and operate bridges across any navigable stream forming state boundary property comes within Const., § 156, dividing cities for purpose of organization and government, and is not special legislation prohibited under this section. Klein v. Louisville, 224 Ky. 624, 6 S.W.2d 1104, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 663 (Ky. 1928).

State highway toll bridge act that empowered the state highway commission to build or cause to be built bridges over streams that were the boundary line between Kentucky and another state was not special legislation but was a general act and was simply a supplement to previous acts that looked to construction of adequate state highways. Bloxton v. State Highway Com., 225 Ky. 324, 8 S.W.2d 392, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 762 (Ky. 1928).

30. Livestock.

Statutory provision that all suits against a railroad or corporation for injury to livestock must be brought within one (1) year is not unconstitutional as special legislation, since it classifies reasonably and operates equally upon all falling within the class. Carr v. Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., 344 S.W.2d 619, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 243 (Ky. 1961).

31. Public Officers.

An act authorizing state departments to employ attorneys did not violate subsection Eighteenth or Twenty-ninth of this section. Johnson v. Commonwealth, 291 Ky. 829, 165 S.W.2d 820, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1942).

32. — Compensation.

Law fixing compensation of officers in counties having population of over 40,000 and under 75,000 in manner different from similar officers in other counties was not special or local legislation, since classification was reasonable. Stone v. Wilson, 39 S.W. 49, 19 Ky. L. Rptr. 126 (1897), overruled, Vaughn v. Knopf, 895 S.W.2d 566, 1995 Ky. LEXIS 49 (Ky. 1995).

Cole*, 204 Ky. 27, 263 S.W. 1114, 1924 Ky. LEXIS 441 (Ky. 1924).

Act doubling pensions of policemen in first-class cities was not unconstitutional, since, although there is only one (1) first-class city, the legislature must provide by general law for the government of cities of that class. Board of Trustees v. Schupp, 223 Ky. 269, 3 S.W.2d 606, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 315 (Ky. 1928).

Law fixing salaries of constables and deputy constables in counties containing 250,000 people was based on reasonable classification and was not special or local legislation. Jefferson County Fiscal Court v. Thomas, 279 Ky. 458, 130 S.W.2d 60, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 258 (Ky. 1939).

33. — Fees.

Section 106 of the Constitution, requiring that the fees of county officers shall be regulated by law, means a general law applicable alike to every officer of the class. Alexander v. Owen County, 136 Ky. 420, 124 S.W. 386, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 500 (Ky. 1910). See Madison County Fiscal Court v. McChord, 145 Ky. 727, 141 S.W. 377, 1911 Ky. LEXIS 945 (Ky. 1911).

Law regulating fees for county officers in counties having a population of 75,000 or more is a valid exercise of the power delegated to the legislature by Const., § 106 and does not constitute special or local legislation prohibited by this section. Herold v. Talbott, 261 Ky. 634, 88 S.W.2d 303, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 703 (Ky. 1935).

Act that authorized civil service and pensions for county employees in counties containing a city of the second class and having a population in excess of 80,000 was unconstitutional as local or special legislation prohibited by this section. Wehrman v. Steltenkamp, 304 Ky. 409, 200 S.W.2d 949, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 660 (Ky. 1947).

Act that authorized civil service and pensions for county employees in counties containing a city of the second class and having a population of more than 80,000 could not be upheld on claim that density of population in such counties required more employees and made it difficult for fiscal court to investigate, classify and fix compensation of its employees, in view of fact that same condition existed in several slightly smaller counties with similar density of population. Wehrman v. Steltenkamp, 304 Ky. 409, 200 S.W.2d 949, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 660 (Ky. 1947).

Law which fixed maximum compensation of county police officers at $25.00 per year in counties of less than 25,000 and $2,400 and up per year in counties over 70,000, was not unconstitutional as special or discriminatory legislation against the lesser populated counties which in effect would prevent the establishment of police forces in these counties, since the Legislature obviously believed that in small counties such a police force would only be needed in emergencies to supplement sheriff's force and there being no requirement that such officers devote full time to their office. Metcalf v. Howard, 304 Ky. 498, 201 S.W.2d 197, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 666 (Ky. 1947).

34. — Income.

Law requiring that tax collection commissions of outgoing sheriff be included in sheriff's income for the preceding year but not affecting some outgoing sheriffs was not special legislation prohibited by this section. Petty v. Talbott, 256 Ky. 688, 76 S.W.2d 940, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 475 (Ky. 1934).

35. Elections.

Law providing for holding of local option elections, regulating time for holding such elections in towns, cities, districts, or precincts, differentiating between counties having cities of fourth class or larger and those not having cities within fourth class was constitutional, since such classification was proper. Board of Trustees v. Scott, 125 Ky. 545, 101 S.W. 944, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 894, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 313 (Ky. 1907).

Primary election law providing that all officers, with certain exceptions, should be nominated at the primaries was not unconstitutional as class legislation, since class legislation is repugnant to the Constitution only when it is special and the classification is not reasonable, and the Legislature, in its discretion, might properly exempt certain officers, because the small salary or the nominal position prevented them from being the object of political corruption. Hodge v. Bryan, 149 Ky. 110, 148 S.W. 21, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 595 (Ky. 1912).

Provision in act that when it shall be made to appear, by affidavit filed in Circuit Court, that an error or omission has occurred, or is about to occur, in the placing of any name on an official primary ballot the court shall order the correction of the error, that order of the court shall be final and not appealable, and that only candidates may institute proceedings thereunder is not special legislation, since, while it confers upon candidates as a class a right not conferred upon any other class, it applies to all candidates and, there being no constitutional right of appeal, the disallowance of appeal does not render it class or special legislation. Hager v. Robinson, 154 Ky. 489, 157 S.W. 1138, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 129 (Ky. 1913).

Exemption by law of nominations by political parties for certain offices from compulsory provisions of general primary election law does not violate this section prohibiting special legislation. Stevenson v. Hardin, 238 Ky. 600, 38 S.W.2d 462, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 288 (Ky. 1931).

Law providing for pay to members of the county board of registration and purgation in Jefferson County only did not violate this section, since duties may be more arduous in Jefferson County, but did violate this section insofar as it provided for compensation of purgation officers in Jefferson County only, since duties of officers would be no different than in other counties. Burton v. Mayer, 274 Ky. 245, 118 S.W.2d 161, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 233 (Ky. 1938).

Law classifying counties for purposes of state's contribution to election expenses upon whether county had acquired voting machines is not discriminatory, is based on reasonable classification, and is not unconstitutional as special legislation. State Property & Bldg. Com. v. Hays, 346 S.W.2d 3, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 277 (Ky. 1961).

Law specifying time for filing of candidates for office in fourth-class cities was not violative of this section or Const., § 6 or § 60. Hallahan v. Moody, 419 S.W.2d 770, 1967 Ky. LEXIS 196 (Ky. 1967).

So much of KRS 121.045 as prohibits donations to the election campaigns of candidates for the office of property valuation administrator by persons whose property he may assess is unconstitutional. Lee v. Commonwealth, 565 S.W.2d 634, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 511 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

36. — Voting.

Law regulating voter's registration in counties containing cities of the first class is unconstitutional as special legislation, since it is applicable only to one (1) county which contains other cities and rural areas. Atherton v. Fox, 245 Ky. 718, 54 S.W.2d 11, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 647 (Ky. 1932).

Provisions of law establishing federal employees and full-time students as two (2) general classes eligible to vote by absentee ballot did not constitute special legislation under this section, since such classification was reasonable. Hallahan v. Mittlebeeler, 373 S.W.2d 726, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 171 (Ky. 1963).

37. Interest Rates.

Law providing system for licensing and regulation of those in business of making loans of $300 or less but exempting those engaged in automobile financing business was not unconstitutional as local or special law to regulate rate of interest or as class legislation, though including as an incident of such regulation provisions regulating the charging and collection of interest by those within the act. Ravitz v. Steurle, 257 Ky. 108, 77 S.W.2d 360, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 511 (Ky. 1934).

Building and loan associations authorized by law to assess dues and premiums against their members in addition to six percent (6%) interest on their loans are a proper subject of classification and independent legislation regulating them is not unconstitutional as special legislation. Linton v. Fulton Bldg. & Loan Ass'n, 262 Ky. 198, 90 S.W.2d 22, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 22 (Ky. 1936).

Because KRS 360.040, which permits accrual of interest in accordance with a written obligation, applies equally to all persons who entered into written obligations containing interest accrual rates, and the reasons that support excepting those interest rates from the general 12% per annum rate are constitutional reasons, KRS 360.040 is not unconstitutional special legislation relating to regulation of the rate of interest. Union Trust, Inc. v. Brown, 757 S.W.2d 218, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 133 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

38. Liens.

Lien law in favor of mechanics is founded on a reasonable and natural classification. Safety Bldg. & Loan Co. v. Ecklar, 106 Ky. 115, 50 S.W. 50, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 1770, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 31 (Ky. 1899), overruled, Linton v. Fulton Bldg. & Loan Ass'n, 262 Ky. 198, 90 S.W.2d 22, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 22 (Ky. 1936).

Law providing that in actions by first-class city to enforce liens for cost of street improvements copies of the ordinance, contract and apportionment shall be prima facie evidence of every fact necessary to enable plaintiff to recover is valid, though special legislation, since Const., § 156, providing for classification of towns and cities, authorizes special legislation for purposes of municipal government. Richardson v. Mehler, 111 Ky. 408, 63 S.W. 957, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 917, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 214 (Ky. 1901).

Law giving a garage keeper or repairman a lien for repairs, service, or accessories and the right to sell an automobile in satisfaction thereof without personal notice to the owner does not constitute special legislation which is prohibited by the Constitution. Willis v. La Fayette-Phoenix Garage Co., 202 Ky. 554, 260 S.W. 364, 1924 Ky. LEXIS 759 (Ky. 1924).

39. Fish and Game.

Law providing that a certain per cent of fines imposed for catching fish with seine shall be paid to officer securing apprehension and conviction of offender and giving Circuit Courts exclusive jurisdiction to indict and punish was constitutional. Commonwealth v. Drain, 99 Ky. 162, 35 S.W. 269, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 50, 1896 Ky. LEXIS 63 (Ky. 1896).

Department of Fish and Wildlife resources forbidding the use of hoop nets, seines and other types of commercial fishing gear except trot lines and snag lines in the Tennessee River from its mouth upstream to the Kentucky Dam is based on reasonable classification and is not unconstitutional as local or special legislation. Commonwealth v. Moyers, 272 S.W.2d 670, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1125 (Ky. 1954).

40. Manufacturing.

Law prohibiting use of milk bottles and other containers by others than those whose names are branded thereon was constitutional, since law does not create arbitrary class but class created is reasonable one, based upon consideration of public policy. Commonwealth v. Goldberg, 167 Ky. 96, 180 S.W. 68, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 818 (Ky. 1915).

41. Mining.

Fact that law relating to issuance of due bills by certain companies engaged in mining applied only to companies employing ten (10) or more persons did not render it unconstitutional as special legislation, since the classification was natural and reasonable. Commonwealth v. Hillside Coal Co., 109 Ky. 47, 58 S.W. 441, 22 Ky. L. Rptr. 559, 1900 Ky. LEXIS 166 (Ky. 1900).

KRS 352.540, relating to payment of wages to miners, although partaking of special legislation inhibited by this section, is valid as consistent with end sought by Const., § 244 respecting payment to wage earners in lawful money. Barker v. Stearns Coal & Lumber Co., 287 Ky. 340, 152 S.W.2d 953, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 534 (Ky. 1941).

42. Schools.

Special acts concerning school districts in towns and cities were repealed by the general law relating to common schools to extent that they were inconsistent with the general law. Hickman College v. Colored Common School Dist., 111 Ky. 944, 65 S.W. 20, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1271, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 278 (Ky. Ct. App. 1901).

Act providing that any graded school district created by special act and having school fund other than that provided by general law shall have power to issue bonds with coupons attached not to exceed certain amount was not unconstitutional, since terms of act were applicable to all of separate class of schools to which it related. Smith v. Board of Trustees, 171 Ky. 39, 186 S.W. 927, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 300 (Ky. 1916).

Since act providing for a visitor for Negro but not white schools did not give the Negro race the benefit of a Negro visitor in addition to a trustee but only in place of a trustee, it is not unconstitutional under this section. Daviess County Board of Education v. Johnson, 179 Ky. 34, 200 S.W. 313, 1918 Ky. LEXIS 171 (Ky. 1918).

Law requiring a county to pay the tuition of pupils authorized to attend the most convenient high school in their county of residence is not unconstitutional as special or local legislation. Madison County Board of Education v. Smith, 250 Ky. 495, 63 S.W.2d 620, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 738 (Ky. 1933).

Law which exempts fifth and sixth-class city school districts from the obligation imposed on other districts to provide educational facilities for Negroes is unconstitutional as special legislation. Board of Education v. Board of Education, 264 Ky. 245, 94 S.W.2d 687, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 324 (Ky. 1936).

Exemption of incumbent members of board of education from meeting new educational qualifications does not make law local or special legislation. Commonwealth v. Griffen, 268 Ky. 830, 105 S.W.2d 1063, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 536 (Ky. 1937).

The fundamental mandate of the Constitution and statutes is that there shall be equality and that all public schools shall be nonpartisan and nonsectarian. Wooley v. Spalding, 293 S.W.2d 563, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1956).

The phrase "standards promulgated by the state board of education" in subsection (3) of KRS 157.305 (now repealed) was a mandate to formulate and establish such reasonable and uniform regulations as were necessary to a just and proper administration of the act and thus this section was not violated. Butler v. United Cerebral Palsy, Inc., 352 S.W.2d 203, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 200 (Ky. 1961).

Under KRS 157.305 (now repealed), exceptional children, for whose education the common schools were not adequate, were proper subjects of classification. Butler v. United Cerebral Palsy, Inc., 352 S.W.2d 203, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 200 (Ky. 1961).

The ordinary duties of a school principal differ greatly from those of a school teacher, as administrative personnel have either fiscal management duties and educational supervisory duties, or both, with responsibilities which are quite different from those of classroom teachers; the role of an administrator in carrying out policy and in formulating overall policy is also quite different from that of a teacher, and it is certainly not beyond reason that the Legislature would deem it advisable not to give one whose supervisory and policy role is so different, the same kind of job protection given to a classroom teacher. Hooks v. Smith, 781 S.W.2d 522, 1989 Ky. App. LEXIS 151 (Ky. Ct. App. 1989).

The proper test to be applied under the equal protection clause and this section of the Kentucky Constitution is whether there is a rational basis for the different treatment of school administrators from that of school teachers. Hooks v. Smith, 781 S.W.2d 522, 1989 Ky. App. LEXIS 151 (Ky. Ct. App. 1989).

Statutory grant of authority under KRS 156.160 and KRS 189.540 to Department of Transportation to adopt regulations to govern the design and operation of school buses was not unconstitutional special legislation because it applied only to public and not to private or parochial school bus drivers; the statutes apply equally to a class and further a legitimate state interest in safe transportation of public school children. Cornette v. Commonwealth, 899 S.W.2d 502, 1995 Ky. App. LEXIS 108 (Ky. Ct. App. 1995).

43. Liquor Laws.

Act making it unlawful to sell liquor in certain magisterial district of Pendleton County or to obtain license for such sale and providing for punishment of persons who violated the act was not repealed by the subsequent adoption of this section. Brann v. Hart, 97 Ky. 735, 31 S.W. 736, 17 Ky. L. Rptr. 462, 1895 Ky. LEXIS 236 (Ky. 1895).

Act which left no discretion in board of trustees to refuse to issue liquor license where majority of townspeople voted in favor of sale of liquor changed the general law, under which the licensing authorities had discretion, and therefore violated prohibition against enactment of any special law to regulate or prohibit the sale of liquor or alter the liquor laws. Riley v. Rowe, 112 Ky. 817, 66 S.W. 999, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 2168, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 228 (Ky. 1902).

Under this section and Const., §§ 61 and 154, the Legislature is without authority to prohibit a citizen from having in his possession intoxicating liquors for his own use, though it has power to regulate the sale of liquor or any other use of it which, in itself, is inimical to the public health, morals, or safety. Commonwealth v. Campbell, 133 Ky. 50, 117 S.W. 383, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 169 (Ky. 1909).

Act prohibiting the possession of intoxicating liquors unlawfully acquired did not constitute local or special legislation under this section, since the act applied equally to all persons and places within the state. Lakes v. Goodloe, 195 Ky. 240, 242 S.W. 632, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 342 (Ky. 1922).

Law that prohibited the keeping of pool tables in a room in a city of the fourth class where alcoholic beverages were sold was invalid local and special legislation. Mannini v. McFarland, 294 Ky. 837, 172 S.W.2d 631, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 539 (Ky. 1943).

The special character of the alcoholic beverage business is such that it may be treated as a special category for purposes of regulation and license taxation and a law limiting license fees on brewers is not special legislation in violation of this section. George Wiedemann Brewing Co. v. Newport, 321 S.W.2d 404, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 282 (Ky. 1959).

Although the Court of Appeals correctly upheld the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board's reading of KRS 241.075(3), because the Board's decision was premised on requiring that a measurement be taken along a route that was both lawful and safe, its distance measurement was proper, irrespective of legal pedestrian laws in KRS 189.570; accordingly, the constitutionality of KRS 241.075(3) under Ky. Const. §§ 59 and 60 should not have been addressed. Louisville/Jefferson County Metro Gov't v. TDC Group, LLC, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 35 (Ky. 2009).

KRS 241.075(2) is unconstitutional as local or special legislation in violation of Ky. Const. §§ 59 and 60. Therefore, it was improper to deny an applicant's request for a retail liquor by the drink license merely because the license would have been located within 700 feet of another similarly situated establishment. O'Shea's-Baxter, LLC v. Commonwealth, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 1 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 4, 2013, sub. op., 2013 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 983 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 4, 2013)).

44. — Local Option.

Where question submitted to voters was adoption of special local option law for certain precinct, election was void, since such special legislation was violation of this section. Reynolds v. Commonwealth, 106 Ky. 37, 49 S.W. 969, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 1681, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 10 (Ky. 1899).

Where the sale of liquor was prohibited by special act of the General Assembly prohibiting the sale in a special locality, the local law remained in full force until repealed or until the sale of liquor was permitted by an election held under the general local option law. Buskirk v. Commonwealth, 162 Ky. 118, 172 S.W. 99, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 21 (Ky. 1915).

Under this section the Legislature cannot constitutionally prohibit a person from bringing liquor into local option territory for his own use. Barber v. Commonwealth, 182 Ky. 200, 206 S.W. 290, 1918 Ky. LEXIS 342 (Ky. 1918).

Law which provides for separate local option elections for cities of the first four (4) classes located in counties which either have voted dry or hold a countywide election on the question of local option in counties that are wet is not unconstitutional as special legislation. May v. Drake, 309 Ky. 819, 219 S.W.2d 31, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 816 (Ky. 1949).

KRS 242.125, permitting cities of first four (4) classes to decide for themselves whether or not to adopt prohibition, was not violative of this section as being special legislation, since such classification was reasonable in relation to subject matter and no discrimination had been made between members of same class. McMullin v. Richmond City Council, 312 Ky. 430, 227 S.W.2d 975, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 663 (Ky. 1950).

Subdivision (10)(a) of KRS 242.1292, which allows the city governing body of second-class cities to designate precincts as limited sale ("wet") precincts, is clearly premised on a finding by the governing body that the economy of a certain precinct has been adversely affected by the prohibition against the sale of alcoholic beverages; accordingly, the subdivision bears a reasonable relationship to the purpose of the act, which is to help the precinct's economy, and is constitutional. United Dry Forces v. Lewis, 619 S.W.2d 489, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 260 (Ky. 1981).

Subdivision (10)(b) of KRS 242.1292 providing that the city governing body in second-class cities should order a local option election in a dry precinct upon petition of 33% of the voters bears no relationship to the statutory purpose of helping the precinct's economy and is unconstitutional as special and local legislation, and elections held pursuant to that subdivision were void; however, because of the implied severability clause in KRS 446.090, the remainder of KRS 242.1292 is constitutional. United Dry Forces v. Lewis, 619 S.W.2d 489, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 260 (Ky. 1981).

Classifications in KRS 242.185(6) were reasonably related to the statute's purpose and the statute did not violate the Kentucky Constitution. Temperance League of Ky. v. Perry, 74 S.W.3d 730, 2002 Ky. LEXIS 95 (Ky. 2002).

Although the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board incorrectly measured the 700-foot distance between licensees required by KRS 241.075, because there was no rational basis to presume that the evils associated with a concentration of liquor licensees in a mixed-use area were any different in large or small cities, KRS 241.075(2) did not satisfy the reasonable-relation element under either the Schoo or the United Dry Forces test; consequently, the statute is unconstitutional as local or special legislation in violation of Ky. Const. §§ 59 and 60. Louisville/Jefferson County Metro Gov't v. TDC Group, LLC, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 102 (Ky. Ct. App. Apr. 6, 2007), aff'd on other grounds, 283 S.W.3d 657, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 28 (Ky. 2009).

45. Medical Malpractice.

The provisions of subsections (2) and (5) of KRS 304.40-330 (now repealed), authorizing the commissioner to exempt certain physicians from the patient compensation fund and to fix the rate of surcharges, were not unconstitutional on their faces and, if properly implemented, would not violate this section. McGuffey v. Hall, 557 S.W.2d 401, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 533 (Ky. 1977).

The provision of KRS 304.40-330 (6) (now repealed) limiting the number of members insured in the patient compensation fund did not constitute special legislation in violation of this section. McGuffey v. Hall, 557 S.W.2d 401, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 533 (Ky. 1977).

The "University of Kentucky Medical Malpractice Insurance" Act, KRS 164.939 to 164.944, is not arbitrary and discriminatory in violation of this section. Dunlap v. University of Kentucky Student Health Servs. Clinic, 716 S.W.2d 219, 1986 Ky. LEXIS 300 (Ky. 1986).

46. General Laws.

Under subsection Twenty-ninth of this section and under Const., §§ 58 and 230, a contention that act appropriating money for benefit of destitute children of state to a particular, private, charitable institution, organized under laws of this state, is special legislation within the prohibition of this section is untenable, as the selection of one agency to apply money so appropriated, from the nature of the case, calls for an act of appropriation applicable to it alone. Hager v. Kentucky Children's Home Soc., 119 Ky. 235, 83 S.W. 605, 26 Ky. L. Rptr. 1133, 1904 Ky. LEXIS 166 (Ky. 1904).

Law vesting escheated property within cities of first class in board of education for use of schools was not unconstitutional as local or special legislation. Ky. v. Thomas' Admr, 140 Ky. 789, 131 S.W. 797, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 362 (Ky. Ct. App. 1910).

This section recognizes that there may be subjects of legislation to which a law which may be enacted may apply alone and expressly allows legislation local in its application, and does not forbid any legislation of local application where every similar locality in the state is embraced by the act. Ky. v. Thomas' Admr, 140 Ky. 789, 131 S.W. 797, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 362 (Ky. Ct. App. 1910).

Act that granted pensions to indigent Confederate soldiers was not a special law, since they were placed upon a different basis from other indigent persons because of public services rendered by them to state. Bosworth v. Harp, 154 Ky. 559, 157 S.W. 1084, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 114 (Ky. 1913).

Under subsection Twenty-ninth of this section, there had to be created in general act some method of ascertaining when law was accepted, and this could be properly ascertained by court judgment. Boone County v. Verona, 190 Ky. 430, 227 S.W. 804, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 468 (Ky. 1921).

An act providing for the abatement of a disorderly house as a nuisance is not local or special legislation and thus unconstitutional under this section. King v. Commonwealth, 194 Ky. 143, 238 S.W. 373, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 119 (Ky. 1922).

Act relating to sheriff's commissions for collecting school taxes in counties of certain population did not violate subsection Twenty-ninth of this section. Ross v. Board of Education, 196 Ky. 366, 244 S.W. 793, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 520 (Ky. 1922).

Act dealing with "all valid existing or future contracts and leases for oil and gas rights upon and under the lands of this Commonwealth" was not special legislation within inhibition of subsection Twenty-ninth of this section, since such act applied to all persons and contracts of class described and such classification was justifiable. Roberts v. Atlantic Oil Producing Co., 295 F. 16, 1924 U.S. App. LEXIS 3144 (6th Cir. Ky.), cert. denied, 265 U.S. 582, 44 S. Ct. 465, 68 L. Ed. 1190, 1924 U.S. LEXIS 3185 (U.S. 1924).

Law providing lesser compensation to nonresident alien dependents of a deceased workman is based on a reasonable classification of persons and is not special legislation prohibited by this section. Maryland Casualty Co. v. Chamos, 203 Ky. 820, 263 S.W. 370, 1924 Ky. LEXIS 1022 (Ky. 1924).

Law providing for resolution of deadlock in vote of county fiscal court by action of county judge is not local or special legislation. Kirchdorfer v. Tincher, 204 Ky. 366, 264 S.W. 766, 1924 Ky. LEXIS 458 (Ky. 1924).

Statutory regulation of public auction sales of leaf tobacco classifying all warehouses the same and making them subject to the same requirements is not special legislation. Jewell Tobacco Warehouse Co. v. Kemper, 206 Ky. 667, 268 S.W. 324, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 1023 (Ky. 1925).

Legislation providing for the organization of cooperative tobacco marketing associations is not violative of this section as special legislation. Liberty Warehouse Co. v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 208 Ky. 643, 271 S.W. 695, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 358 (Ky. 1925), aff'd, 276 U.S. 71, 48 S. Ct. 291, 72 L. Ed. 473, 1928 U.S. LEXIS 62 (U.S. 1928).

KRS 92.280 is general in its application in that any or all cities of the third class are granted the same power and privilege; therefore it does not violate subsection Twenty-ninth of this section. Planters Bank & Trust Co. v. Hopkinsville, 289 Ky. 451, 159 S.W.2d 25, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 584 (Ky. 1942).

Provision in former law regarding right to collect fair wage allowing attorney's fees to successful female or minor claimant was not violative of subsection Twenty-ninth of this section, since the general assembly was justified in prescribing special conditions and protective provisions for class of workers involved. W. W. Mac Co. v. Teague, 297 Ky. 475, 180 S.W.2d 387, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 752 (Ky. 1944).

Section 156 of the Constitution, classifying cities according to population for purposes of organization and government, constitutes an exception to this section and Const., § 60; therefore, an act of the Legislature limited to a city of a certain class and pertaining to municipal affairs is valid as being general rather than special legislation. Dieruf v. Louisville & Jefferson County Bd. of Health, 304 Ky. 207, 200 S.W.2d 300, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 613 (Ky. 1947).

Willis*, 305 Ky. 201, 203 S.W.2d 5, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 773 (Ky. 1947).

As KRS 96.171 to 96.188 apply to all cities of a certain class, they do not violate this section even if, at the time of passage, there was only one (1) city in that class in a position to take advantage of the provisions of these sections. Settle v. Jones, 306 Ky. 9, 206 S.W.2d 59, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 946 (Ky. 1947).

KRS 427.010(4), which denies to debtors bankruptcy exemptions in property subject to consensual liens, clearly lies beyond any of the 29 enumerated types of "special legislation" specifically prohibited by this section and is therefore "general legislation" well within the province of the Legislature to enact. In re Bennett, 36 B.R. 893, 1984 Bankr. LEXIS 6282 (Bankr. W.D. Ky. 1984).

47. Special Laws.

Act amending law which made sheriff ex officio member of county board of election commissioners, so as to provide that in counties containing second-class cities the Circuit Court clerk, instead of the sheriff, shall be a member of the board, was unconstitutional as providing special law where general law can be made applicable. Droege v. McInerney, 120 Ky. 796, 87 S.W. 1085, 27 Ky. L. Rptr. 1137, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 1905).

Barbering is not such a business as warranted a law putting it into a class by itself and visiting on barbers a penalty more severe and different than those imposed by another section of the act on others following their usual occupations on Sunday. The law violated subsection Twenty-ninth of this section. Stratman v. Commonwealth, 137 Ky. 500, 125 S.W. 1094, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 594 (Ky. 1910).

classification for which there is no natural or distinctive reason, all county-governing bodies discharging identical duties. Felts v. Linton, 217 Ky. 305, 289 S.W. 312, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 90 (Ky. 1926).

Requirement of law that counties containing a city of the fifth class support and maintain a community hospital is special legislation and unconstitutional, since it is based on a classification of counties, which is without distinctive or natural reason. Community Hospital v. Barren County Fiscal Court, 244 Ky. 672, 52 S.W.2d 896, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 518 (Ky. 1932).

Law which established office of district detective in all judicial districts composed of two (2) counties having a population of 100,000 or more according to the 1930 United States census is unconstitutional as special legislation, since only one (1) district had such a population in 1930 and no other district could ever qualify, the operation of the law being limited by the population as of a specific date. Harlan County v. Brock, 246 Ky. 372, 55 S.W.2d 49, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 775 (Ky. 1932).

The failure of the division of forestry of the Department of Conservation to place itself and its employees within the application of the compensation act does not, on the theory of granting redress to a claimant against the state, justify the action of the General Assembly in attempting to apply retroactively to a particular person and to no other the substantive provisions of an existing general law and contravenes the letter and spirit of subsection Twenty-ninth of this section. Department of Conservation v. Sowders, 244 S.W.2d 464, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1220 (Ky. 1951).

Law that applied only to cities of the first class and imposed on an abutting property owner liability for injuries resulting from failure to repair defects in a sidewalk was special legislation and, as such, unconstitutional under this section, since there was no reasonable or proper distinction between cities of different sizes which in this instance justified the arbitrary classification imposed and a general law could readily apply. Louisville v. Klusmeyer, 324 S.W.2d 831, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 396 (Ky. 1959).

Law that required proof of payments of ad valorem before registration receipts for motor vehicles could be issued, as it pertained to vehicles required to be licensed by county clerks, was special legislation in violation of subsection Twenty-ninth of this section, since three (3) classifications of motor vehicles were specifically excluded from operation of such law. Department of Revenue ex rel. Scent v. Williams, 351 S.W.2d 875, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 186 (Ky. 1961).

KRS 242.1292, providing for special precinct elections in second-class cities on the question of prohibition, does not deal with government organizations or structure; accordingly, it does not fall within the exception provided by Const., § 156 to the prohibitions against local and special legislation contained in this section and Const., § 60. United Dry Forces v. Lewis, 619 S.W.2d 489, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 260 (Ky. 1981).

The Uniform Residential Landlord and Tenant Act (KRS 383.505 to 383.715), which was limited by KRS 383.715 to apply only to counties containing cities of the first class and urban-county governments, was special legislation within the prohibition of the Kentucky Constitution and was therefore invalid since the act only applied in two (2) of the 120 counties in the state and the problems of public health, economic waste and substandard dwelling dealt with by the act were no less important in the other 118 counties in the Commonwealth. Miles v. Shauntee, 664 S.W.2d 512, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 282 (Ky. 1983).

Where the only apparent basis for KRS 413.135 is that a special class faced with a growing exposure to litigation, lobbied for a statute limiting their liability, there is no social or economic basis presented to justify a special class, and other groups similarly situated do not share in their legislative windfall. Therefore, KRS 413.135 is in fundamental conflict with the fifth clause of this section and its historical development. Tabler v. Wallace, 704 S.W.2d 179, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 1985), cert. denied, 479 U.S. 822, 107 S. Ct. 89, 93 L. Ed. 2d 41, 1986 U.S. LEXIS 3436 (U.S. 1986).

KRS 189A.070, governing license revocations for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, does not fail the “rational basis test” of equal protection, it does not constitute special legislation in contravention of this section, it does not violate Const., § 3, and it does not contravene the prohibition against cruel and unusual punishment found in the Eighth Amendment to the United States Constitution and Const., § 17. Praete v. Commonwealth, 722 S.W.2d 602, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 416 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

Special legislation is that which favors a special interest to the detriment of the rest of society; it is not legislation which is merely designed to further a specific purpose. Yeoman v. Commonwealth Health Policy Bd., 983 S.W.2d 459, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1998).

Individual counties and cities were authorized to adopt the provisions of the Uniform Residential Landlord Tenant Act (URLTA), KRS 383.500 et seq., and such a limited and local adoption did not lend itself to a conclusion that the Legislature intended a sweeping modification of the common law; to the contrary, such a piecemeal abrogation of the common law would have violated the constitutional provisions against local or special legislation. Miller v. Cundiff, 245 S.W.3d 786, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 143 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

KRS 164.7901, which provided scholarship money to individual students who attended the university’s pharmacy school, was a special legislation in contravention of Ky. Const. § 59 because in restricting scholarships to those attending the university’s pharmacy school, the Kentucky General Assembly failed to treat equally all members of the pharmacy student class, precisely the type of special privilege and favoritism that § 59 condemned. Univ. of the Cumberland v. Pennybacker, 308 S.W.3d 668, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 97 (Ky. 2010).

48. Workers’ Compensation.

The interpretation of KRS 342.740 and KRS 342.730, prior to the 1976 amendment of the latter, to allow minimum weekly benefits for permanent, partial disability was not unconstitutional. Yocum v. Gantley, 566 S.W.2d 176, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 517 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

The pre-1994 version of KRS 342.732 does not constitute special legislation in violation of this section. Leeco, Inc. v. Asher, 919 S.W.2d 227, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 36 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996); Leeco, Inc. v. Brock, 919 S.W.2d 229, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 32 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996); Leeco, Inc. v. Asher, 919 S.W.2d 232, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 31 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996); Leeco, Inc. v. Caldwell, 919 S.W.2d 234, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 41 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996); Leeco, Inc. v. Sizemore, 919 S.W.2d 237, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 54 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996).

Legislature’s purpose for enacting KRS 342.732 was to encourage coal workers who have contracted occupational pneumoconiosis but who have not as yet sustained a significant respiratory impairment to leave the industry before they become disabled and the means by which the Legislature sought to accomplish this was by providing for retraining incentive benefits, therefore KRS 342.732 does not amount to special legislation in violation of this section. Kem Coal Co. v. Baker, 918 S.W.2d 236, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 37 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996).

The two (2) year limitation period provided for by the 1996 amendment to KRS 342.125(3) applied to an injury which occurred before the effective date of the amendment and did not constitute special legislation with regard to the regulation of labor, trade, mining, or manufacturing. Brooks v. University of Louisville Hosp., 33 S.W.3d 526, 2000 Ky. LEXIS 198 (Ky. 2000).

Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 342.750(6) did not violate Ky. Const. §§ 59 and 60 because it did not apply to a particular individual, object or locale, but applied statewide to all employers and employees. Calloway Cty. Sheriff’s Dep’t v. Woodall, 607 S.W.3d 557, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 300 (Ky. 2020).

Statutory amendment, which terminated workers’ compensation income benefits when the recipient reached the age of 70 or four years from the date of injury or last injurious exposure, whichever event occurred last, was not unconstitutional because the amendment was not special legislation as it did not identify an individual, object, or locale. Cates v. Kroger, 2021 Ky. LEXIS 311 (Ky. Aug. 26, 2021).

49. Special Legislation.

Former KRS 65.115 is unconstitutional as special legislation in violation of this section and Const., § 60. Monticello Co. v. Natural Resources & Env’tl. Protection Cabinet, 864 S.W.2d 921, 1993 Ky. App. LEXIS 65 (Ky. Ct. App. 1993).

The mere fact that the legislative treatment of coal workers’ pneumoconiosis is different from that of other occupational pneumoconiosis does not make it arbitrary or unfair to either group where the legislative history provides distinctive and natural reasons for classifying them separately; therefore, KRS 342.732 is not unconstitutional as special legislation. Kentucky Harlan Coal Co. v. Holmes, 872 S.W.2d 446, 1994 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 1994), overruled in part, Vision Mining, Inc. v. Gardner, 364 S.W.3d 455, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 177 (Ky. 2011).

KRS 216B.020, which grants a limited exemption from the Certificate of Need (CON) requirement of KRS 216B.061 does not violate this section and Const., § 60 as a “special act” since the legislation treats all members within the class of existing health facilities equally and provides them all with the same opportunity to take advantage of the CON exemption at the same cost with the same time constraints. St. Luke Hosp. v. Health Policy Bd., 913 S.W.2d 1, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 4 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996).

Under Ky. Const. § 59, S.B. 86 was not unconstitutional special or retroactive legislation, as KRS 304.50-005 defined the class and provided it was applicable to all members; there were distinctive and natural reasons supporting the classification, which was met by the nature of self-insured groups, the similarity of such groups and the legitimate legislative interest in regulating the risks and liabilities of injured employees and their members. There was nothing indicating that S.B. 86 would apply only to the plaintiff group if there were other workers’ compensation self-insured groups. Curtis Green & Clay Green, Inc. v. Clark, 318 S.W.3d 98, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 89 (Ky. Ct. App. 2010).

2017 Ky. Acts 1 applies to all collective bargaining agreements entered into on or after January 9, 2017, with the exception of certain employees covered or exempted by federal law; with the exceptions required by federal law, it applies to all employers and all employees, both public and private, it does not single out any particular union, industry or employer, and it applies statewide. Zuckerman v. Bevin, 565 S.W.3d 580, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 502 (Ky. 2018).

2017 Ky. Acts 1 does not violate the constitution because the legislature clearly established a rational basis for the Act, to promote economic development, to promote job growth, and to remove Kentucky’s economic disadvantages in competing with neighboring states. Zuckerman v. Bevin, 565 S.W.3d 580, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 502 (Ky. 2018).

Purpose of the section is not to prevent the legislature from enacting any laws concerning labor, trade, mining or manufacturing. That would be absurd; rather, the intent is for any acts touching these subjects be general acts. Zuckerman v. Bevin, 565 S.W.3d 580, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 502 (Ky. 2018).

50. Tax on Physicians' Gross Revenues.

Two percent (2%) tax on physicians' gross revenues utilized to obtain federal matching money to support Kentucky Medicaid provided for in House Bill 1 [Enact. Act 1993 (2nd Ex. Sess.), ch. 2], did not violate Const., § 59. Revenue Cabinet v. Smith, 875 S.W.2d 873, 1994 Ky. LEXIS 34 (Ky.), cert. denied, 513 U.S. 1000, 115 S. Ct. 509, 130 L. Ed. 2d 417, 1994 U.S. LEXIS 8026 (U.S. 1994).

51. Justification.

Justification under Const., § 59 equates to reasonable justification under Const., §§ 2 and 3. Revenue Cabinet v. Smith, 875 S.W.2d 873, 1994 Ky. LEXIS 34 (Ky.), cert. denied, 513 U.S. 1000, 115 S. Ct. 509, 130 L. Ed. 2d 417, 1994 U.S. LEXIS 8026 (U.S. 1994).

52. Health Care Legislation.

Health care legislation which provided for wide-ranging health care reforms, including, but not limited to, creation of a Health Policy Board, provider arbitration, certificate of need procedures, insurance reform, medical education and medical taxation, was not special legislation, notwithstanding that a private foundation was actively involved in the drafting and passage of the bill and that it was granted special privileges and emoluments, since there were clear social and economic goals which the bill was designed to further. Yeoman v. Commonwealth Health Policy Bd., 983 S.W.2d 459, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1998).

53. Utilities.

KRS 278.183 is not invalid special legislation since it is uniform upon the class to which it applies, the class in question is that of electric utilities and not utility costs, and the statute does not single out any utility for special treatment. Kentucky Indus. Util. Customers, Inc. v. Kentucky Utils. Co., 983 S.W.2d 493, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 165 (Ky. 1998).

54. Insurance.

The Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Act is not contrary to this section and Section 60 of the Constitution of Kentucky, which prohibit the enactment of special legislation. Farmland Mut. Ins. Co. v. Johnson, 36 S.W.3d 368, 2000 Ky. LEXIS 122 (Ky. 2000).

55. Liquidated Damages.

KRS 382.365 is not unconstitutional under the Due Process Clause and Ky. Const. § 2 in providing a severe penalty as a mortgagor has a duty to act reasonably and in good faith and the mortgagor's rights flow from a contract, in which there is an implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing; further, the exclusion of line of credit and revolving credit plan mortgages from KRS 382.365 does not violate Ky. Const. § 59. Union Planters Bank, N.A. v. Hutson, 210 S.W.3d 163, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 170 (Ky. Ct. App. 2006).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Workers' Compensation.

Unpublished decision: KRS 342.125(8), which limited the period in which an employee could reopen a claim after December 31, 1996, afforded the employee a reasonable four-year period after December 12, 1996 in which to assert a right to increased compensation, and did not violate Ky. Const. § 59(24), as the provision served a legitimate purpose. Johnson v. Gans Furniture Indus., Inc., 114 S.W.3d 850, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 204 (Ky. 2003).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Where the general assembly passed a joint resolution authorizing an individual to sue the Commonwealth and the Department of Highways but the resolution became lost and failed to get enrolled and sent to the Governor's office, there is no way the individual involved can pursue his claim because the resolution violated this section and, even if the resolution had been properly enrolled and sent to the Governor's office, the individual involved could not have recovered in the courts. OAG 61-629.

A system of tax collection whereby an automobile on which the motor vehicle license is to be renewed, and which has an outstanding personal property tax bill against it will not be registered or renewed by the county until such time as the taxes are satisfied, would not be legal. OAG 70-700.

The water pollution control commission cannot arbitrarily set standards which provide a greater burden or provide greater benefits for citizens of one part of the state and not the other, but if facts reasonably differentiate a class or locality from the general public or the state at large, the regulation will not run afoul of the constitutional provision. OAG 71-110.

The provisions of KRS 61.710 requiring financial disclosure by any employee of a daily newspaper with a circulation of 50,000 or more published in Kentucky who either orally or in writing contributes to the editorial policy of the newspaper and by any employee of a radio or television station that is owned in common with such a newspaper who directly or indirectly contributes to the editorial policy of the station are unconstitutional under this section and sections 3 and 60 of the Constitution as establishing an arbitrary classification and as special legislation. OAG 72-289.

The fiscal court can, by appropriate ordinance, establish a merit system for county employees if the ordinance is not in conflict with the county police force merit system or the fire department merit system and providing that said ordinance is not otherwise in conflict with constitutional or statutory provisions. OAG 73-829.

The county clerk has no statutory or constitutional authority to impose the condition of showing a tax receipt to prove payment of property taxes before issuing a vehicle registration license plate since KRS 186.035 (repealed) was found to be unconstitutional as special legislation. OAG 74-3; 74-34.

The coal severance tax imposed by KRS 143.010 to 143.990, as distributed to the counties pursuant to KRS 42.300 (repealed), is not unconstitutional in violation of this section or Ky. Const., §§ 3, 51, 177 or 181. OAG 75-76.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources cannot require a person to be a member of a nonprofit corporation as a prerequisite to using the shooting ranges at a certain wildlife area since such requirement would be an unlawful endorsement of such nonprofit corporation to the exclusion of other private corporations, commercial or nonprofit, and would be illegal and in violation of the Constitution, and since there is no basis for such a classification, the requirement would violate §§ 59 and 60 of the Kentucky Constitution. OAG 76-617.

The provisions of House Bill 514, enacted by the regular session of the 1978 Kentucky General Assembly, (Chapter 372, KRS 81.015) are applicable only to the Fairdale area of Jefferson County and purport to designate that specific area as an "unincorporated urban place" within the meaning of KRS 177.365 to 177.368 (KRS 177.367 and 177.368 repealed), thereby by-passing the statutory procedure set forth in those provisions which are applicable to all other areas seeking such designation, and is probably unconstitutional as being in violation of subsection (29) of this section and § 60 of the Kentucky Constitution. OAG 78-394.

KRS 186.230(9) is unconstitutional because the classification set out therein is arbitrary and, consequently, is in violation of Ky. Const., § 2 and this section. OAG 79-445.

It is not lawful to pay group insurance for part of the county employees and not all of them since, for purposes of hospitalization insurance, all county employees would be in the same class and discrimination cannot be made against persons in the same class. OAG 81-188.

KRS 290.295 (now repealed) did not violate any constitutional provisions, even though the effect of the section was to permit credit unions consisting of state employees to merge under the provisions of KRS Chapter 271A (now repealed or renumbered in KRS Chapter 271B), which only requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the shareholders of each such credit union desiring to merge, while the only manner in which the members of other types of credit unions could effectively unite their credit unions was by dissolution under KRS 290.290 (now repealed), a prerequisite of which was a four-fifths (4/5) affirmative vote of the shareholders. OAG 82-467.

Neither KRS 186.193 nor 186.232 support an arbitrary classification in violation of this section and § 2 of the Constitution; these statutes apply equally to all vehicles and trailers which are to be operated on the highways of this state. OAG 84-339.

Where the state has occupied the field of prohibitory legislation on a particular subject, local government lacks authority to legislate with respect thereto; thus, a county may not enact an ordinance requiring all mopeds operated within the county to display a sticker showing that the vehicle may only be operated by a person having a valid motor vehicle operator's license. OAG 84-380.

There is a reasonable distinction which justifies the separate treatment given to the salaries of beginning teachers in the state-supported vocational schools, the state school for the deaf, and the state school for the blind, and therefore KRS 163.032 is not "special" legislation in violation of either this section or § 60 of the Kentucky Constitution. OAG 85-86.

KRS 17.165, which exempts church-sponsored day care centers from its requirement that child care centers request a sex crime records check as to their applicants for employment, is unconstitutional as special legislation in violation of this section and Ky. Const. § 60. OAG 87-13.

The classifications contained in subsections (2) to (4) of KRS 230.377, which are based upon population of counties, constitute an exception for one county without any rational basis for doing so. Such an arbitrary classification is special and local legislation and violates this section and Ky. Const., § 60. OAG 88-51.

House Bill 89 (Acts 1992, ch. 105) contains objective standards for the Economic Development Finance Authority to use in certifying qualified counties and eligible companies involved in an economic job development program, which provides a reasonable classification that supports the application of the Act to the particular counties and companies that are certified; therefore the attorney general opined that House Bill 89 (Acts 1992, ch. 105) does not violate sections 59 and 60 of the state Constitution as to the enactment of local or special legislation. OAG 92-55.

Limitation of the benefits under the enterprise zones program to ten (10) areas selected by the enterprise zone authority does in fact confer a special status on these areas, denying benefits they receive to other areas similarly situated; since unique benefits are provided to designated areas having no natural and reasonable basis to distinguish them from other similarly situated areas, and since the legislation in question exempts certain districts from the operation of general laws, the legislation is both local and special in character, and thus violative of this section and Ky. Const., § 60; therefore, the following sections are unconstitutional local or special legislation in contravention of this section and Ky. Const., § 60: KRS 154.45-001, 154.45-020, 154.45-030, 154.45-040, 154.45-050, 154.45-070, and 154.45-090; furthermore, although House Bill 66, [Acts 1992, ch. 35] enacted by the 1992 General Assembly, makes numerous changes to various provisions in the enterprise zone statutes, it did not affect the conclusion of unconstitutionality. OAG 92-86.

Acts 1994, ch. 87 (KRS 42.700 (now repealed) and amendments to KRS 21A.140 and 311.610) is unconstitutional as it is violative of subdivision (15) of this section, as special legislation, in that there is no rational basis for the singling out of physicians and attorneys to pay for medical malpractice insurance for charitable health care facilities and certain of those volunteering at such facilities. OAG 95-21.

The General Assembly may permit referenda on local school curriculum; however, in doing so, the General Assembly must not violate equal protection provisions and special and local legislation provisions of the Kentucky Constitution. OAG 00-3.

History.

Amendment, proposed by Acts 1992, ch. 168, § 11, and ratified November 3, 1992.

Compiler's Notes.

The General Assembly in 1992 (Acts 1992, ch. 168, § 11) proposed an amendment to the Constitution which amendment was ratified by the voters at the regular election November 3, 1992. Prior to the amendment this section read: “§ 91. Constitutional state officers — Election, qualification, term of office — Duties — Secretary of State to record acts of Governor and report them to General Assembly. — A Treasurer, Auditor of Public Accounts, Register of the Land Office, Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, Secretary of State, Attorney General and Superintendent of Public Instruction, shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State at the same time the Governor is elected, for the term of four years, each of whom shall be at least thirty years of age at the time of his election, and shall have been a resident citizen of the State at least two years next before his election. The duties of all these officers shall be such as may be prescribed by law, and the Secretary of State shall keep a fair register of and attest all the official acts of the Governor, and shall, when required, lay the same and all papers, minutes and vouchers relative thereto before either House of the General Assembly. The officers named in this section shall enter upon the discharge of their duties the first Monday in January after their election, and shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified.”

Section 19 of Acts 1992, ch. 168 provided: “It is further proposed as a part of this amendment and as a schedule of transitional provisions, for the purposes of this amendment, and any other provision of the Constitution of Kentucky notwithstanding: “(1) The Governor; Lieutenant Governor; Treasurer; Auditor of Public Accounts; Attorney General; Secretary of State; Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics; Superintendent of Public Instruction; and Railroad Commissioners elected in 1991 shall be ineligible for election to the same office for the succeeding term. Those officers elected in 1995 shall be eligible for election to the next succeeding term.

“(2) The term of office of Commonwealth’s Attorneys and Circuit Clerks elected in 1993 shall be for a single term of seven years. The regular election for those offices shall then be held in 2000 and every six years thereafter.

“(3) The term of office of District Judges, Mayors, County Judges/Executive, and local officers who regularly serve a four-year term and who are scheduled to be elected in 1993 shall be for a single term of five years. The regular election for those offices shall then be held in 1998 and every four years thereafter.

“(4) The term of office for local officers who regularly serve a two-year term and who are scheduled to be elected in 1993 shall be for a single term of three years. The regular election for those offices shall then be held in 1996 and every two years thereafter.

“(5) The term of office for Circuit Judges and Judges of the Court of Appeals elected in 1999 shall be for a single term of seven years. The regular election for those offices shall then be held in 2006 and every eight years thereafter.

“(6) The term of office for mayor, magistrate, or other officer not specifically provided for in subsection (4) of this section elected in 1995 shall be extended for one year and subsequent elections for offices subject to the provisions of this subsection shall be held in even-numbered years.

“(7) No person holding elective office upon the effective date of this amendment shall have the duration of his current term extended. However, if the next election of any officer not specifically provided for in this section is scheduled to appear on the ballot in an odd-numbered year, the duration of that term of the officer elected shall be extended for one year. The election for any office subject to the provisions of this subsection shall subsequently be held in even-numbered years.”

1. Attorney General.

Legislature was to prescribe duties of Attorney General. Commonwealth v. Southern Pac. Co., 127 Ky. 358, 105 S.W. 466, 32 Ky. L. Rptr. 259, 32 Ky. L. Rptr. 285, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 138 (Ky. 1907).

Although the Attorney General possesses duties and rights deriving from the common law, the Legislature, under the mandate of this section, may restrict his powers as well as add to them, providing such action does not strip his office of such duties as to leave it ineffective or unable to fulfill its necessary functions. Johnson v. Commonwealth, 291 Ky. 829, 165 S.W.2d 820, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1942).

Unless authorized by law or decision of the Court of Appeals, the Attorney General has no authority to intervene in will contests which may involve a charitable trust absent a showing that such intervention would have been permitted under the established and recognized common law of England before 1607. Commonwealth ex rel. Ferguson v. Gardner, 327 S.W.2d 947, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 82 (Ky. 1959).

In addition to duties prescribed by law pursuant to this section, the Attorney General had certain common-law duties. Matthews v. Pound, 403 S.W.2d 7, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 310 (Ky. 1966).

2. Commissioner of Agriculture.

The specific powers and duties of the State Commissioner of Agriculture must be ascertained from the specific legislation passed by the General Assembly pursuant to this section and provided for therein. Ferguson v. Chandler, 266 Ky. 694, 99 S.W.2d 732, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 709 (Ky. 1936).

3. Secretary of State.

4. — Register.

The General Assembly was charged with notice of appointments by the Governor to the State Textbook Commission, since these appointments were duly recorded in the register kept by the Secretary of State in accordance with this section. Bell v. Sampson, 232 Ky. 376, 23 S.W.2d 575, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 11 (Ky. 1930). See McChesney v. Sampson, 232 Ky. 395, 23 S.W.2d 584, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 12 (Ky. 1930).

Pursuant to this section which requires the Secretary of State to maintain a register of the official acts of the Governor, gubernatorial appointments to the State Highway Commission must be made in writing. Johnson v. Sampson, 232 Ky. 648, 24 S.W.2d 306, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 57 (Ky. 1930).

5. Auditor of Public Accounts.

Where this section and Ky. Const., § 93, provide that the duties and responsibilities of the Auditor of Public Accounts shall be prescribed by law, the Auditor cannot, with respect to the judicial branch of the government, constitutionally be given any authority that the legislative body has no right to confer. Ex parte Auditor of Public Accounts, 609 S.W.2d 682, 1980 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1980).

6. Control of Governor.

As the Governor is the supreme executive power, it is not possible for the General Assembly to create another executive officer or officers who will not be subject to that supremacy, but it definitely has the prerogative of withholding executive powers from him by assigning them to the constitutional officers named in this section who are not amenable to his supervision and control. Brown v. Barkley, 628 S.W.2d 616, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 232 (Ky. 1982).

Except for the informational duty specified in Const., § 78, the officers named in this section are not and cannot be placed under the control or supervision of the Governor. Brown v. Barkley, 628 S.W.2d 616, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 232 (Ky. 1982).

7. Powers and Duties.

The officers named in this section have no powers or duties not assigned to them by statute, except for the clerical duties placed on the Secretary of State by the Constitution and the common-law prerogatives of the Attorney General that have not been removed or diminished by statute. Brown v. Barkley, 628 S.W.2d 616, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 232 (Ky. 1982).

Whatever powers, duties, personnel, funds or property are given by statute to an officer named in this section, they may be removed by statute and may be transferred by executive order if, and only if, such a transfer is authorized by statute. Brown v. Barkley, 628 S.W.2d 616, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 232 (Ky. 1982).

Because the Kentucky General Assembly lawfully passed legislation which amended the power of the Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to respond to emergencies, the Governor's complaint did not present a substantial legal question that necessitated staying the effectiveness of the legislation, and the equities favored implementation of the legislation pending an adjudication of the constitutionality of the legislation, the circuit court abused its discretion by issuing a temporary injunction against implementation of the legislation. Cameron v. Beshear, 2021 Ky. LEXIS 240 (Ky. Aug. 21, 2021).

8. — Transfer by Governor.

The Governor has no constitutional or statutory power to transfer powers, duties, personnel, funds or property that have been assigned by the General Assembly to a department headed by an officer named in this section. Brown v. Barkley, 628 S.W.2d 616, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 232 (Ky. 1982).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

An executive order relating to reorganization becomes effective when properly filed with the secretary of state. OAG 69-51.

The Attorney General is charged with the duty of serving as chief law officer and adviser, but he has no law enforcement power or authority. OAG 70-522.

The Governor may under KRS 12.025 (repealed) reorganize by executive order the Department of Agriculture, which is administered by a constitutional officer, until the General Assembly reconvenes since the Department of Agriculture is clearly a department for Chapter 12 purposes under KRS 12.020, since the General Assembly has not specifically exempted a department headed by an elected official from the KRS 12.025 (repealed) reorganization powers of the Governor, as was done with certain other departments, and since the Governor in the absence of the General Assembly can prescribe through executive order the duties and responsibilities of the Commissioner of Agriculture under this section and Const., § 93; however, the Governor cannot strip a constitutional officer of all duties under KRS 12.025 (repealed) and leave an empty shell for him to administer since the General Assembly could not do this while it was in session. OAG 81-3.

Since the auditor is required to audit the accounts of Circuit Court clerks, the Legislature is required to appropriate moneys to fund the audit activity. OAG 81-41.

The Auditor of Public Accounts has no right to conduct audits of Circuit Court clerks, as a permissive mandatory matter, if he is not statutorily required or permitted to conduct such audits; however in view of the direct involvement of the Circuit Court clerks in putting money into the State Treasury and expending money coming out of the State Treasury, and in view of the express language of KRS 43.050(2)(a) and 43.010, the Auditor of Public Accounts is required to audit the Circuit Court clerks of Kentucky in the areas of state treasury involvement, within the practical capabilities of his staff and budget, and considering other mandatory audits. OAG 81-41.

The Treasurer, Auditor of Public Accounts, Secretary of State, Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, and Attorney General shall be ineligible to reelection for the succeeding four years after the expiration of any second consecutive term for which they shall have been elected. Amendment, proposed by Acts 1992, ch. 168, § 12, and ratified November 3, 1992.

Compiler's Notes.

The General Assembly in 1992 (Acts 1992, ch. 168, § 12) proposed an amendment to the Constitution which amendment was ratified by the voters at the regular election November 3, 1992. Prior to the amendment this section read: “§ 93. Constitutional state officers not to succeed themselves — Duties — Fees — Inferior state officers — Term. — The Treasurer, Auditor of Public Accounts, Secretary of State, Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, Attorney General, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Register of the Land Office shall be ineligible to re-election for the succeeding four years after the expiration of the term for which they shall have been elected. The duties and responsibilities of these officers shall be prescribed by law, and all fees collected by any of said officers shall be covered into the treasury. Inferior state officers, not specifically provided for in this Constitution, may be appointed or elected, in such manner as may be prescribed by law, for a term not exceeding four years, and until their successors are appointed or elected and qualified.”

Section 19 of Acts 1992, ch. 168 provided: “It is further proposed as a part of this amendment and as a schedule of transitional provisions, for the purposes of this amendment, and any other provision of the Constitution of Kentucky notwithstanding: “(1) The Governor; Lieutenant Governor; Treasurer; Auditor of Public Accounts; Attorney General; Secretary of State; Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics; Superintendent of Public Instruction; and Railroad Commissioners elected in 1991 shall be ineligible for election to the same office for the succeeding term. “(2) The term of office of Commonwealth’s Attorneys and Circuit Clerks elected in 1993 shall be for a single term of seven years. The regular election for those offices shall then be held in 2000 and every six years thereafter.

“(3) The term of office of District Judges, Mayors, County Judges/Executive, and local officers who regularly serve a four year term and who are scheduled to be elected in 1993 shall be for a single term of five years. “(6) The term of office for mayor, magistrate, or other officer not specifically provided for in subsection (4) of this section elected in 1995 shall be extended for one year and subsequent elections for offices subject to the provisions of this subsection shall be held in even-numbered years.

“(7) No person holding elective office upon the effective date of this amendment shall have the duration of his current term extended. However, if the next election of any officer not specifically provided for in this section is scheduled to appear on the ballot in an odd-numbered year, the duration of that term of the officer elected shall be extended for one year. The election for any office subject to the provisions of this subsection shall subsequently be held in even-numbered years.”

1. Creation of Officers.

Under this section only inferior state officers could be created. Pratt v. Breckinridge, 66 S.W. 405, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1858, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 463 (Ky. 1902).

2. — Appointment.

The act known as the “Goebel Election Law,” to the extent that it provided for the appointment of election commissioners by the Legislature, was an invasion of the powers of the executive and therefore unconstitutional. Pratt v. Breckinridge, 112 Ky. 1, 65 S.W. 136, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1356, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 286 (Ky. 1901).

Law in which the General Assembly specifically named the first members of a State Highway Commission created thereby is not authorized by this section and is unconstitutional as a violation of the separation of powers under Const., §§ 27 and 28. Sibert v. Garrett, 197 Ky. 17, 246 S.W. 455, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 639 (Ky. 1922). See Sewell v. Bennett, 187 Ky. 626, 220 S.W. 517, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 179 (Ky. 1920).

The General Assembly may, under this section, authorize the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate to appoint a commission to establish normal schools. Craig v. O’Rear, 199 Ky. 553, 251 S.W. 828, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 894 (Ky. 1923).

The appointment of an examiner to hold office at the pleasure of the court does not conflict with this section. Kratzer v. Commonwealth, 228 Ky. 684, 15 S.W.2d 473, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 616 (Ky. 1929).

This section constitutes a limitation on the Governor’s constitutional power to fill vacancies and, under this section, a law providing that members of the State Highway Commission be appointed by a board created by that law is valid. Rouse v. Johnson, 234 Ky. 473, 28 S.W.2d 745, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 220 (Ky. 1930).

This section does not invalidate law creating a city personnel commission and empowering it to appoint a personnel director to hold office during good behavior. Kerr v. Louisville, 271 Ky. 335, 111 S.W.2d 1046, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 241 (Ky. 1937).

Trial court erred in dismissing an appointed education council member’s declaratory action that claimed appointment of a nominee when the general assembly was not in session was invalid, because Ky. Const. § 93 was ambiguous and language permitting the senate to confirm nominees led to a strong presumption that the house was intentionally excluded from the confirmation process. Fox v. Grayson, 317 S.W.3d 1, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2010).

3. — — Senate Approval.

The General Assembly, in providing for the method of appointment by the Governor of members of the Workers’ Compensation Board, was fully empowered by this section to condition such appointments on the approval or rejection of the senate. Sewell v. Bennett, 187 Ky. 626, 220 S.W. 517, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 179 (Ky. 1920).

The Kentucky State Senate has the inherent power to advise and consent on executive branch appointments of inferior state officers. Kraus v. Kentucky State Senate, 872 S.W.2d 433, 1993 Ky. LEXIS 169 (Ky. 1993), limited, Fox v. Grayson, 317 S.W.3d 1, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2010).

The procedure for advice and consent of subsection (3) of KRS 342.230 is constitutional; there is no violation of the separation of powers doctrine because the statute does not permit the Senate to make appointments of administrative law judges but only to accept or reject the decision of the Worker's Compensation Board. Kraus v. Kentucky State Senate, 872 S.W.2d 433, 1993 Ky. LEXIS 169 (Ky. 1993), limited, Fox v. Grayson, 317 S.W.3d 1, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2010).

4. — Election.

Under this section and Const., § 107, the Legislature had power to pass an act creating Board of Penitentiary Commissioners and providing for their election by the Legislature. Commissioners of Sinking Fund v. George, 104 Ky. 260, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 938, 47 S.W. 779, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1898), overruled in part, Pratt v. Breckinridge, 112 Ky. 1, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1356, 65 S.W. 136, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 286 (Ky. 1901). See Pratt v. Breckinridge, 112 Ky. 1, 65 S.W. 136, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1356, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 286 (Ky. 1901).

5. Duties.

Although the Attorney General possesses duties and rights deriving from the common law, the Legislature, under the mandate of Const., § 91, may restrict his powers as well as add to them, providing such action does not strip his office of such duties as to leave it ineffective or unable to fulfill its necessary functions. Johnson v. Commonwealth, 291 Ky. 829, 165 S.W.2d 820, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1942).

Legislative designation of specific duties and responsibilities of treasurer under this section did not extinguish implied obligations of his office, and thus treasurer could raise good faith constitutional question concerning legality of claim upon treasury. Raney v. Stovall, 361 S.W.2d 518, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 246 (Ky. 1962).

Where Const., § 91, and this section provide that the duties and responsibilities of the auditor of public accounts shall be prescribed by law, the auditor cannot, with respect to the judicial branch of the government, constitutionally be given any authority that the legislative body has no right to confer. Ex parte Auditor of Public Accounts, 609 S.W.2d 682, 1980 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1980).

6. Term.

Where an act creating the office of prison commissioners provided a term of six (6) years for one of the commissioners, the excess of the term over four (4) years was void. Commissioners of Sinking Fund v. George, 104 Ky. 260, 47 S.W. 779, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 938, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1898).

A law providing that policemen shall not be removed by the board of safety during good behavior would seem, to the extent that it attempted to give a term of more than four (4) years, to be violative of this section. Fiscal Court of Franklin County v. Commonwealth, 139 Ky. 307, 117 S.W. 301, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 1909). See Louisville v. Ross, 138 Ky. 764, 129 S.W. 101, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 131 (Ky. 1910).

The metropolitan police bill providing for the appointment of policemen to hold office either during good behavior or at the pleasure of the appointing power was not unconstitutional as authorizing an appointment for a longer term than a term of years. Louisville v. Ross, 138 Ky. 764, 129 S.W. 101, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 131 (Ky. 1910).

An act creating the office of railroad policeman is not violative of this section in failing to limit the term of office for a time not exceeding four (4) years, but the term of office is limited to four (4) years. Cincinnati, N. O. & T. P. R. Co. v.

Cundiff, 166 Ky. 594, 179 S.W. 615, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 755 (Ky. 1915).

Where the university trustee's six (6) year term had expired, and the 1988 General Assembly repealed the provisions in KRS 164.130 (now repealed), 164.320 (now repealed), and 164.820 (now repealed) providing for six (6) year terms for trustees and regents at various state universities, the trustee's appeal from judgments declaring the six (6) year term unconstitutional was moot, even though the action was transferred to the Supreme Court under subsection (2) of CR 76.18 (deleted by Supreme Court Order) because it was of great and immediate public interest. Jones v. Forgy, 750 S.W.2d 434, 1988 Ky. LEXIS 28 (Ky. 1988).

7. — Hold Over After Expiration.

This section, with others of constitution, make it plain that the constitution makers intended that all public officers, except members of the General Assembly and members of municipal legislative boards, should hold over after the expiration of their fixed terms and until their successors are elected and qualified. Byrne & Speed Coal Co. v. Louisville, 189 Ky. 346, 224 S.W. 883, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 429 (Ky. 1920). See Booth v. Board of Education, 191 Ky. 147, 229 S.W. 84, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 267 (Ky. 1921).

8. — Separate.

Law providing for the sheriff to act as delinquent tax collector after his term does not extend his term as sheriff but creates an entirely separate and distinct office and term, and is not violative of this section. Petty v. Talbott, 256 Ky. 688, 76 S.W.2d 940, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 475 (Ky. 1934).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Acts 1966, ch. 93 (KRS 164.740 to 164.764) is unconstitutional insofar as it attempts to authorize terms of office of eight (8) years for the board of directors of the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority, but the unconstitutional portion is severable from the remainder of the act. OAG 66-447.

Two (2) members of the State Labor Relations Board whose terms have expired without their reappointment or the appointment of new members by the Governor could continue to serve in their positions until they were either reappointed or until their successors were appointed and qualified. OAG 76-309.

The Governor may under KRS 12.025 (repealed) reorganize by executive order the Department of Agriculture, which is administered by a constitutional officer, until the General Assembly reconvenes since the Department of Agriculture is clearly a department for Chapter 12 purposes under KRS 12.020, since the General Assembly has not specifically exempted a department headed by an elected official from the KRS 12.025 (repealed) reorganization powers of the governor, as was done with certain other departments, and since the governor in the absence of the General Assembly can prescribe through executive order the duties and responsibilities of the commissioner of agriculture under Const., § 91 and this section; however, the governor cannot strip a constitutional officer of all duties under KRS 12.025 (repealed) and leave an empty shell for him to administer since the General Assembly could not do this while it was in session. OAG 81-3.

The State Legislature cannot establish a six (6) year term for the office of property valuation administrator in view of the fact that this office is a minor state office, the term of which is limited to four (4) years pursuant to this section. OAG 82-38.

The position of member of a state university board of trustees or board of regents meets the criteria of a state office, the term of which is limited to four (4) years pursuant to this section; therefore, the State Legislature cannot establish a six (6) year term for the office of state university board of regents or board of trustees member. History.

Amendment, proposed by Acts 1992, ch. 168, § 13, and ratified November 3, 1992.

Compiler's Notes.

The General Assembly in 1992 (Acts 1992, ch. 168, § 13) proposed an amendment to the Constitution which amendment was ratified by the voters at the regular election November 3, 1992. Prior to the amendment this section read: “§ 95. Time of election of constitutional state officers. — The election under this Constitution for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Treasurer, Auditor of Public Accounts, Register of the Land Office, Attorney General, Secretary of State, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, and the same day every four years thereafter.”

Section 19 of Acts 1992, ch. 168 provided: “It is further proposed as a part of this amendment and as a schedule of transitional provisions, for the purposes of this amendment, and any other provision of the Constitution of Kentucky notwithstanding: “(1) The Governor; Lieutenant Governor; Treasurer; Auditor of Public Accounts; Attorney General; Secretary of State; Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics; Superintendent of Public Instruction; and Railroad Commissioners elected in 1991 shall be ineligible for election to the same office for the succeeding term. Those officers elected in 1995 shall be eligible for election to the next succeeding term.

“(2) The term of office of Commonwealth’s Attorneys and Circuit Clerks elected in 1993 shall be for a single term of seven years. The regular election for those offices shall then be held in 2000 and every six years thereafter.

“(3) The term of office of District Judges, Mayors, County Judges/Executive, and local officers who regularly serve a four-year term and who are scheduled to be elected in 1993 shall be for a single term of five years. The regular election for those offices shall then be held in 1998 and every four years thereafter.

“(4) The term of office for local officers who regularly serve a two-year term and who are scheduled to be elected in 1993 shall be for a single term of three years. The regular election for those offices shall then be held in 1996 and every two years thereafter.

“(5) The term of office for Circuit Judges and Judges of the Court of Appeals elected in 1999 shall be for a single term of seven years. The regular election for those offices shall then be held in 2006 and every eight years thereafter.

“(6) The term of office for mayor, magistrate, or other officer not specifically provided for in subsection (4) of this section elected in 1995 shall be extended for one year and subsequent elections for offices subject to the provisions of this subsection shall be held in even-numbered years.

“(7) No person holding elective office upon the effective date of this amendment shall have the duration of his current term extended. However, if the next election of any officer not specifically provided for in this section is scheduled to appear on the ballot in an odd-numbered year, the duration of that term of the officer elected shall be extended for one year. The election for any office subject to the provisions of this subsection shall subsequently be held in even-numbered years.”

152. Vacancies — When filled by appointment, when by election — Who to fill.
155. School elections not governed by Constitution.

§ 152. Vacancies — When filled by appointment, when by election — Who to fill.

Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, vacancies in all elective offices shall be filled by election or appointment, as follows: If the unexpired term will end at the next succeeding annual election at which either city, town, county, district or State officers are to be elected, the office shall be filled by appointment for the remainder of the term. If the unexpired term will not end at the next succeeding annual election at which either city, town, county, district or State officers are to be elected, and if three months intervene before said succeeding annual election at which either city, town, county, district or State officers are to be elected, the office shall be filled by appointment until said election, and then said vacancy shall be filled by election for the remainder of the term. If three months do not intervene between the happening of said vacancy and the next succeeding election at which city, town, county, district or State officers are to be elected, the office shall be filled by appointment until the second succeeding annual election at which city, town, county, district or State officers are to be elected; and then, if any part of the term remains unexpired, the office shall be filled by election until the regular time for the election of officers to fill said offices. Vacancies in all offices for the State at large, or for districts larger than a county, shall be filled by appointment of the Governor; all other appointments shall be made as may be prescribed by law. No person shall ever be appointed a member of the General Assembly, but vacancies therein may be filled at a special election, in such manner as may be provided by law.

1. In General.

The Legislature has the power to prescribe how a vacancy in the office of county judge shall be filled. Frost v. Johnston, 262 Ky. 592, 90 S.W.2d 1045, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 82 (Ky. 1936).

The Legislature has the power to prescribe by general law how county or district offices smaller than a county may be filled. Barton v. Brafford, 264 Ky. 480, 95 S.W.2d 6, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 354 (Ky. 1936), overruled, Gearhart v. Kentucky State Board of Education, 355 S.W.2d 667, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. 1962).

2. Construction.

This section is mandatory, and has to be used in construing Const., § 160. Scott v. Singleton, 171 Ky. 117, 188 S.W. 302, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 306 (Ky. 1916).

3. Application.

This section applies only to vacancies. Campbell v. Dotson, 111 Ky. 125, 63 S.W. 480, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 510, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 193 (Ky. 1901).

4. Appointive Offices.

This section does not affect the question of filling vacancies in appointive offices. Poyntz v. Shackelford, 107 Ky. 546, 54 S.W. 855, 21 Ky. L. Rptr. 1323, 1900 Ky. LEXIS 132 (Ky. 1900), overruled, St. Bernard Coal Co. v. Pittsburg Coal Co., 112 Ky. 418, 64 S.W. 288, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 52, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 282 (Ky. 1901), overruled, Pratt v. Breckinridge, 112 Ky. 1, 65 S.W. 136, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1356, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 286 (Ky. 1901); Pratt v. Breckinridge, 112 Ky. 1, 65 S.W. 136, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1356, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 286 (Ky. 1901).

This section embraces only vacancies in elective offices, whether constitutionally or statutorily created, and has no application to the filling of vacancies in appointive offices. Rouse v. Johnson, 234 Ky. 473, 28 S.W.2d 745, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 220 (Ky. 1930).

5. Appointment.

Where a vacancy was created in the office of county coroner more than three (3) months before the next succeeding annual election, a new coroner was properly appointed only until his successor was elected at that election. Berry v. McCullough, 94 Ky. 247, 22 S.W. 78, 15 Ky. L. Rptr. 117, 1893 Ky. LEXIS 38 (Ky. 1893).

Where an elected city officer dies, a temporary appointment can be made only until the next time when a legal election of a successor can be held. Shelley v. McCullough, 97 Ky. 164, 30 S.W. 193, 17 Ky. L. Rptr. 53, 1895 Ky. LEXIS 162 (Ky. 1895).

When three (3) months intervene between the time a vacancy occurs in an office and the next succeeding annual election, the appointment made to fill the vacancy properly lasts only until that election. Pence v. Frankfort, 101 Ky. 534, 41 S.W. 1011, 19 Ky. L. Rptr. 721, 1897 Ky. LEXIS 224 (Ky. 1897).

When the entire city board of trustees is vacated, the county judge is empowered to fill said vacancies by appointment, but only if the county court is in session. Chapman v. Horton, 59 S.W. 743, 22 Ky. L. Rptr. 1022 (1900).

Where the statute so directs, the Governor, and not the county judge, has the power to fill a vacancy in the office of justice of the peace. Daugherty v. Arnold, 110 Ky. 1, 60 S.W. 865, 22 Ky. L. Rptr. 1504, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 54 (Ky. 1901). See Olmstead v. Augustus, 112 Ky. 365, 65 S.W. 817, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1772, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 318 (Ky. Ct. App. 1901).

This section and Const., § 160 authorized legislature to enact law requiring that town board of trustees should by ordinance provide who would act in place of absent police judge. Grayson v. Bagby, 115 Ky. 651, 74 S.W. 659, 25 Ky. L. Rptr. 44, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 135 (Ky. 1903).

Where so provided by statute, the city council has authority to fill vacancy in office of police judge. Traynor v. Beckham, 116 Ky. 13, 74 S.W. 1105, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 167 (Ky. Ct. App. 1903).

An appointment cannot be made to fill a vacancy until a vacancy actually occurs. Shepherd v. Gambill, 75 S.W. 223, 25 Ky. L. Rptr. 333 (1903).

The provision that "all other appointments shall be made as may be prescribed by law" controls the appointment of school board members to fill vacancies in a school district that is not larger than the county. Glass v. Hopkinsville, 225 Ky. 428, 9 S.W.2d 117, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 798 (Ky. 1928).

Resignations of city officials are not effective until accepted by the city council, so that no vacancies exist and no appointments can be made until that time. Tabor v. Webb, 227 Ky. 611, 13 S.W.2d 758, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 919 (Ky. 1929).

6. Election.

7. — Issuance of Writ.

Issuance of a writ of election is a condition precedent to holding a valid election to fill a vacancy, and any steps theretofore taken by primary, convention or party authority, looking to filling of the vacancy, are absolutely void. Furste v. Gray, 240 Ky. 604, 42 S.W.2d 889, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 458 (Ky. 1931).

8. — General.

Vacancies in city offices may be filled at a general election of either state, county, town or district officers. Mullins v. Jones, 290 Ky. 796, 162 S.W.2d 761, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 488 (Ky. 1942).

9. — Special.

A special election to fill a vacancy in a city office may be held in a year in which congressmen are elected. Smith v. Doyle, 76 S.W. 519, 25 Ky. L. Rptr. 958 (1903).

Provision of Const., § 148 prohibiting election of local officers in same year in which members of congress are elected, and provision of Const., § 167 requiring election of city officers in odd years, do not apply to special elections to fill vacancies prescribed by this section. Smith v. Ruth, 308 Ky. 60, 212 S.W.2d 532, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 847 (Ky. 1948).

10. — Time.

The time when the election to fill a vacancy shall be held is fixed by this section, and cannot be prescribed by the Legislature. Todd v. Johnson, 99 Ky. 548, 36 S.W. 987, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 354, 1896 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1896).

11. — Late.

Even though election to fill vacancy in office that had been temporarily filled by appointment of city council should have been held in November, 1950 but due to an oversight was not held until November, 1951, the 1951 election was authorized. Cawood v. Hensley, 247 S.W.2d 27, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 661 (Ky. 1952).

12. — Territory.

The provision of this section for filling vacancies at the next succeeding annual election at which either city, town, county, district, or state officers are to be elected, places a limitation not only as to time but also as to territory, and the regular election must be one in territory of the same boundary, or contain the entire district or unit of government to which the office being filled belongs. Brumleve v. Ruth, 302 Ky. 813, 195 S.W.2d 777, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 948, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 949 (Ky. 1946). See White v. Hubbard, 302 Ky. 820, 195 S.W.2d 781, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 739 (Ky. 1946).

13. — County.

An election under this section, to fill the unexpired term of an officer elected by the voters of a single county, could not be held in the November 1946 election, where the only officer to be elected at that time, representing a territory coextensive with the county, was a representative in congress, who was not a district or state officer within the meaning of this section. Brumleve v. Ruth, 302 Ky. 813, 195 S.W.2d 777, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 948, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 949 (Ky. 1946). See White v. Hubbard, 302 Ky. 820, 195 S.W.2d 781, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 739 (Ky. 1946).

Ruth*, 302 Ky. 813, 195 S.W.2d 777, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 948, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 949 (Ky. 1946). See White v. Hubbard, 302 Ky. 820, 195 S.W.2d 781, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 739 (Ky. 1946).

Since this date was more than three (3) months before the next general election, the vacancy was required to be filled by election. Ashcraft v. Currier, 694 S.W.2d 707, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 243 (Ky. 1985).

21. State Officers.

As to the filling of a vacancy at election, where state officers are to be elected, presidential electors are "state officers" within the meaning of the provisions of this section and law providing for the filling of a vacancy in office of mayor, therefore, vacancy in office of mayor of Louisville could be filled at presidential election. Smith v. Ruth, 308 Ky. 60, 212 S.W.2d 532, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 847 (Ky. 1948).

22. Term.

LEXIS 5 (Ky. 1929), overruled, Little v. Bogie, 300 Ky. 668, 190 S.W.2d 26, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 625 (Ky. 1945).

Robbins*, 292 Ky. 12, 165 S.W.2d 817, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 15 (Ky. 1942).

Jones*, 290 Ky. 796, 162 S.W.2d 761, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 488 (Ky. 1942).

Where an incumbent mayor who had been reelected to another term beginning January 7, 1974, died on December 15, 1973, the present city council would be authorized to appoint someone as mayor to fill the vacancy for the remainder of this term and the newly elected council would then appoint someone to serve as mayor until the next regular election for the area in which the vacancy occurred which would be the 1975 general election. OAG 73-863.

A police court judge appointed by a city council to fill a vacancy would serve until the next election for statewide offices and until the person elected at that time received his certificate of election and qualified. OAG 74-120.

Where sixth-class city was reclassified to a fifth-class city, vacancies on the city council and the office of mayor were filled by appointment of the council until the next regular election for all of the county pursuant to this section. OAG 74-286.

The election of city officers has to be held when there is a regular election for appellate court judge for the district in which the city is located. OAG 74-338.

The election of members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives does not qualify as a state election under this section. OAG 74-338.

If the mayor of a fourth-class city resigns three (3) months prior to a November school board election embracing the city, this requires the vacancy to be filled at the election, but if the resignation is less than three (3) months prior to such an election, the appointee would automatically serve until the second succeeding election. OAG 74-558.

Federal elections for United States Senator and members of the House of Representatives do not qualify as regular elections under the terms of this section. OAG 74-655.

If a vacancy occurs in the office of city council less than 70 days before the primary preceding a regular school board election embracing the entire city and is filled by appointment, the major parties may nominate to fill, or any independent may file a petition for, the vacancy at the coming election and the person elected would be entitled to take office immediately after receiving his certificate of election and executing the oath of office. OAG 74-655.

Since the November, 1975 election embraced the entire state, an election at that time to fill the vacancy in the office of city prosecutor who had to be nominated at the special city primary was proper. OAG 75-245.

Pursuant to KRS 88.180 (repealed), members of the boards of trustees in cities of the sixth class must be elected every two (2) years in the odd years although an election was held in 1974 at which the present officers were elected to fill vacancies for the remainder of the unexpired term in compliance with § 152, Const. OAG 75-473.

Where mayor of city resigned in December 1975, the city council should appoint a successor who would serve until the 1976 general election (statewide election) whereupon a successor would be elected to serve out the unexpired term. OAG 75-660.

Where a vacancy in the office of mayor existed more than three (3) months prior to the next regular statewide election and where at election time there would be a two (2) year unexpired term to fill, the vacancy had to be filled at the next regular election and if no candidate filed for the unexpired term then the office of mayor was legally required to be listed on the ballot to enable voters to write in a candidate. OAG 75-707.

As presidential electors are considered state officers, election of such electors is a regular statewide election which means that any vacancies in elective offices should be filled at that time by election. OAG 75-672 and 76-24.

Neither a "write-in" candidate nor any other who did not receive sufficient votes to be elected to city council would be entitled to assume office if a duly elected member in the same election could not for any reason take office, since the proper procedure would be for the council to declare a vacancy which could then be filled pursuant to this section and KRS 86.240 (repealed). OAG 75-673.

An appointee to a vacancy in an elected office serves until the next general election in the area served by that office. However, if the vacancy occurs less than three (3) months before the election, the appointee serves until the succeeding election. OAG 76-103.

The election of presidential electors qualifies as a state election which embraces the area in which the vacancy in the office of sheriff has occurred. OAG 76-103.

The election of presidential electors qualifies as a state election which embraces the area in which the vacancy in the office of magistrate has occurred. OAG 76-119.

Where a vacancy occurs in a magisterial district and is temporarily filled by appointment by the Governor, the vacancy must be filled at the next regular election which embraces the area in which the vacancy occurred. OAG 76-179.

Where vacancies caused by resignations in the office of mayor and the city council for a city of the fourth class were to be filled at the next annual election, the appointees to fill such vacancies would serve only until the election. OAG 76-179.

After the resignation of a member of the common council of a third class city the council is authorized at the same meeting, if it so desires, to appoint, pursuant to motion, a successor and nominations to fill vacancies can be made by any member of the council. OAG 76-470.

Where a vacancy occurred in a county office less than three (3) months prior to the coming November election and where the unexpired term ended at the next general election, the person appointed to fill the vacancy would serve out the remainder of the unexpired term and there would be no short term election. OAG 76-534.

All vacancies in elective offices must be filled at the next regular election embracing the area in which the vacancy occurs. OAG 78-16.

Where a redistricting created a new magisterial district and where the only elections to be held in the county were a federal election and school board elections which would not embrace the entire district, no election could be held to fill the unexpired term of magistrate until the statewide election in the following year. OAG 78-98.

Federal elections do not qualify under this section as State elections. OAG 78-98, 78-126.

Where a vacancy in the office of county attorney was filled by appointment and no elections were scheduled for November of that year which would embrace the entire county, the appointee would hold office until the statewide election in November of the following year. OAG 78-126.

Where the county judge has died between terms, an election to fill that office in 1978 is mandatory where there is, scheduled in 1978, a Supreme Court race in the district which embraces the county in question. OAG 78-154.

This section of the Constitution applies to all vacancies in elective offices except as otherwise provided in the Constitution, thus where a Circuit Judge resigned and a replacement to fill the vacancy was appointed on February 9, 1978, a candidate for the unexpired term must run in the November, 1979, election. OAG 78-194.

Where a person was appointed to fill vacancy of Commonwealth Attorney on January 2, 1978, he would not be required to run for the unexpired term at any time prior to November, 1978. OAG 78-198.

Where the duly elected jailer died on February 18, 1978, and the county judge/executive appointed a jailer to take his place, the date that an election would be required to fill this vacancy for the unexpired term would be November, 1979. OAG 78-200.

If a vacancy on the town board occurred more than three (3) months prior to the 1978 general election, this section of the Constitution would require the vacancy be filled at that time, provided there was a regular election embracing the city, otherwise the appointee would serve out the remainder of the unexpired term which ended January, 1980, since the next regular election would be in November, 1979. OAG 78-217.

Federal congressional elections in 1978 did not qualify as State elections under this section. OAG 78-229.

If there were parts of the city that were not included in either or both of two (2) school elections there would be no regular election embracing the entire city within the meaning of this section of the Constitution and no election could be held for the unexpired term of a city council member and, accordingly, an appointee could serve out the remainder of the unexpired term ending in January, 1980, since the next regular election for city council would be at the November, 1979, election. OAG 78-229.

If there were school elections in both the county and independent school districts in 1978 and their territory is adjacent to each other and at the same time (by the combined elections) takes in the entire City of Murray though neither alone embraces the City of Murray, the terms of § 152 would be complied with in that there would be regular elections at which all of the voters of the city would participate though they would not be entitled to vote for the same officers and, consequently, a vacancy on the city council would have to be filled in those November elections rather than allowing an appointee to finish the term. OAG 78-229.

Where a county's magisterial districts are reapportioned pursuant to KRS 67.045 and as a result of such reapportionment more districts are established than existed prior to reapportionment, vacancies are automatically created in the new districts at the time the reapportionment becomes effective and these vacancies must be filled by appointment of the Governor until an election can be held for the unexpired term or terms, pursuant to this section of the Constitution. OAG 78-282.

Where an appointment has been made to fill a vacancy, and an election must be made to fill the unexpired term, it must occur at the same time as the next regular election embracing the entire area where the vacancy occurred, and this may include a school board election, provided the school district covers the entire jurisdiction, but does not include a federal election. OAG 78-439; OAG 78-451.

This section requires that all vacancies in elective offices must be filled at the next regular election embracing the area in which the vacancies have occurred, and although federal elections do not qualify, school elections can qualify if all of the qualified voters of the city will be entitled to vote in the school election. OAG 78-552, 78-566.

Special elections involving public questions would not qualify as a regular election during which a special election to fill a vacancy might be filled since this section refers only to regular elections for public officers. OAG 78-566.

A town which lost a city commissioner due to death and has filled the post by appointment and which is having school board elections which cover the whole town must fill this vacancy with a special election at that time. OAG 78-612.

Once a municipality is incorporated it remains so incorporated unless its charter is forfeited in a legal proceeding in Circuit Court, and if a city has not been dissolved, it still exists and all that is necessary to activate it would be for the county court to fill by appointment, subject to this section of the Constitution, the board of trustees pursuant to KRS 88.230 (repealed), which in turn can fill all other appointive offices, including that of marshal; and once the necessary officials have been appointed, they can proceed to operate under the charter of sixth-class cities. OAG 78-632.

When the mayor resigns, a vacancy is automatically created which is to be filled by the city council as provided in KRS 87.210 (repealed), which would be subject to the requirement of this section of the Constitution concerning the filling of vacancies for unexpired terms, and the appointee would serve until an election could be held, which obviously could not be held this coming November election if the vacancy occurred immediately, or less than three (3) months before the November election as provided by the Constitution, but it must be filled at the November, 1979, election if the term does not end that year because there is a statewide election which obviously would embrace the entire city. OAG 78-647.

If the mayor of a fourth-class city resigns his office in January of 1979 or at any time less than 70 days before the May primary (May 29), party nominations would have to be made at the May primary for the November election, which would be an election for an unexpired term since the present term would not expire until January, 1982, the next regular election being in November, 1981, but candidates for the vacancy could run as independents by filing not less than 55 days before the November election, and parties could make a nomination for the November election if the vacancy occurred less than 70 days before the May primary, and regardless of whether anybody files for the vacancy, the office would have to be listed on the November ballot, providing of course the vacancy occurs less than three (3) months before the November election as provided in this section of the Constitution. OAG 78-784.

A person elected to office may resign from office at any time and for any reason, and such resignation of itself does not in any way affect his qualifications to hold office or his right to change his mind and decide to run for the unexpired term to which he was elected. OAG 79-65.

A person initially elected for the regular four (4) year term as jailer, but who subsequently resigned, can run for nomination in the May primary and, if nominated, for election in November for the unexpired term. OAG 79-65.

Where a vacancy occurred in the office of county attorney and the regular county attorney term would end December 31, 1981, the office would be filled by appointment until the election of November, 1979, at which election the vacancy would be filled by election for the remainder of the term. OAG 79-266.

Where a county clerk died in office July 5, 1979, his successor was appointed July 10, 1979, his term would not expire in 1979, and the 1979 general election would be held on November 6, there were more than three (3) months between the date of death and election day, and therefore an election would be held to fill the vacancy, for the remainder of the term, on November 6, 1979. OAG 79-419.

Where a county jailer, elected in 1977, resigned in July, 1978, his appointed successor would be required to seek election to fill the vacancy in the 1979 election, since, as a statewide election, that would be the first election embracing the area in which the vacancy occurred. OAG 79-462.

Where a mayor of a city of the fifth class, elected in November, 1977, resigned in May, 1978, the position should have been filled by an election in November, 1979, and failure to do so created a vacancy which would have to be filled until November, 1980, at which time it must be filled pursuant to this section. OAG 79-653.

A vacancy on the board of commissioners in a city of the fourth class created in April, 1980, must be filled at the November, 1980, election under the terms of this section irrespective of the provisions of KRS 89.140 (repealed), since under this section, which supersedes any statute to the contrary, all vacancies must be filled at the next regular election embracing the area in which they occur if three (3) months intervene. OAG 80-322.

Since this section requires that a city hold an election in November, 1980, to fill a vacancy on the city commission that occurred in April, 1980, even though the unexpired term ran through December, 1981, and since the city will be operating under the general election laws as of July 15, 1980, any candidate desiring to run for the unexpired term must file an independent petition not less than 55 days before the November election on the form prescribed by the state board of elections and KRS 118.365(2). OAG 80-322.

Where a justice of the peace, whose term was to expire at the end of December, 1981, moved out of his district in July, 1980, a vacancy was thereby created on the fiscal court; the Governor fills the vacancy by appointment until the November, 1980, general election, at which time the vacancy will be filled by election for the remainder of the unexpired term. OAG 80-425.

Where a vacancy occurred in the office of city commissioner under the commission form of government in June, 1979, and no election was or could be held that November under this section, the vacancy would have to be filled at the November, 1980, general election since the voters are electing presidential electors who are classified as state officers. OAG 80-267.

Where a vacancy in the office of mayor occurred in October, 1979, which was too late for the office to be placed on the November, 1979, ballot, it must be placed on the November, 1980, ballot, to be filled for the unexpired one (1) year term, irrespective of whether or not anyone files for the office, since presidential electors, who are statewide officers, are being elected in November, 1980. OAG 80-405.

Where vacancies occur in the office of mayor and in one of the positions on a city council, the city council or its clerk should notify the county clerk that the two (2) vacancies exist, and the fact that they must be filled at the November election pursuant to this section; any person who desires to run for the unexpired terms of said offices will be required to file a petition under the terms of KRS 118.215 and 118.315. OAG 80-386.

Where vacancies occur in the office of mayor and in one of the positions on the city council in July, 1980, this section requires that the unexpired terms be filled at the November, 1980, general election, since presidential electors will be elected then and they are considered statewide officers which would make that election qualify under the terms of this section. OAG 80-386.

A city council may increase the size of the council from seven (7) to eight (8) by appropriate ordinance at any time, but preferably before the filing deadline for a nonpartisan primary procedure adopted pursuant to KRS 83A.170, and may immediately fill the vacancy by appointment, subject to an election for the unexpired term as required by this section. OAG 81-131.

Where a city has enacted an ordinance providing for nonpartisan city elections under KRS 83A.170, and at the special city primary in May nominations were made for only three (3) of the four (4) city commissioner positions, write-in votes cannot be cast for the fourth position at the November election, since KRS 83A.170 requires a person to be nominated in a special city primary in order to hold the office to be filled in the November election; thus, because only three (3) commissioners were nominated, only three (3) can be elected at the November election and a vacancy will be created when the new commission members are to take office on the first Monday in January, at which time the elected commissioners would be authorized to fill the vacancy pursuant to subsection (4) of KRS 83A.040, subject to the provisions of this section governing the filling of all vacancies in elective office which would require an election to be held at the next regular election. OAG 81-263.

If letter of the elected county jailer, which contained an explicit resignation effective April 1, 1982, was tendered to the county judge/executive, then the resignation was effective, regardless of a later letter in which the jailer attempted to withdraw his resignation, where the county judge/executive communicated no acceptance of the resignation, but did the equivalent of appointing a successor. OAG 82-222.

Where upcoming school board race would not embrace entire magisterial district, as would be required in order to qualify as a regular election embracing the magisterial district under the terms of this section, and there were no other regular state or local elections embracing the county (federal elections for members of Congress not qualifying as state elections under the terms of this section), vacancy in the office of justice of the peace in the magisterial district could not be filled at the coming November 1982 election, and the Governor's appointee to fill this vacancy would have to serve until the 1983 general election, at which time an election for statewide officers would have to be held. OAG 82-257.

City council vacancy existing in April, 1982, could not be filled for the unexpired term unless there was no regular election in the fall of 1982 embracing the city. If there was such an election as, for example, a school board election or an election for the Supreme Court, then this section would require the vacancy to be filled at that time for the unexpired term; if there was no qualifying election under the terms of the Constitution, then the mayor's appointee would serve for the remainder of the term. OAG 82-351.

Where a vacancy was created in the office of mayor on March 1, 1982, in a city of the sixth class, and was properly filled by appointment, if there was a regular school board election that embraced such city to be held at the November 1982 election, the vacancy in the office of mayor must be filled at that time; furthermore, as a member of the city commission was appointed to fill the vacancy in the office of mayor, the vacancy on the commission must also be filled for the unexpired term at the same time the office of mayor was filled. OAG 82-397.

Where the constable elected at the November 1981 election resigned before serving any of his term, the vacancy in the office of constable had to be filled at the November 1982 election under the terms of this section since there was a regular election, for Justice of the Supreme Court, embracing the county to be held at that time. OAG 82-415.

Where a vacancy occurred on August 2, such day had to be excluded under KRS 446.030, and thus, August 3 would be the initial day that the three (3) month period would begin to run, which period would end at midnight on November 2 — election day; therefore, three (3) months would not intervene as required by this section, and the vacancy could not be filled at the November, 1982 election. OAG 82-428.

Where a county increased its magisterial districts from four (4) to five (5), a vacancy would automatically exist in the fifth district which must be filled for the unexpired term in accordance with the requirements of this section and said election would be held in the next regular November election; prior to the election for the unexpired term, the Governor could fill the vacancy by appointment pursuant to KRS 63.190 which would end when the person elected in November received his certificate of election and qualified for the office. OAG 83-55.

All newly elected councilmen at the November 1983 election must take office on January 10, 1984 and any vacancy that previously occurred during the year and had been filled by appointment would not be filled at said election since the appointee would serve out the remainder of the term as authorized under this section. On the other hand, if the term did not end in 1983, the person elected to fill the vacancy at the November election for the remaining two (2) years of the term would be entitled to take office immediately after the election or as soon as he received his certificate of election and qualified. OAG 83-467.

Where a person is elected to fill a vacancy for an unexpired term, such person is entitled to take office immediately after his election or as soon thereafter as he receives his certificate of election and qualifies; he would then hold office for the remainder of the unexpired term. OAG 84-244.

Where a constable resigned his office in early 1984, but neither major party nominated a candidate for the office in the May 1984 primary, regardless of whether or not anyone filed as an independent for constable, this section would require the office to be placed on the November 1984 ballot for "write-in" purposes, since the office must be filled by an election; if no one is elected, then a vacancy occurs to be filled by the county judge/executive for the remainder of the term ending in January 1986. OAG 84-244.

A person elected to fill vacancy in the office of Commonwealth's Attorney in November election was entitled to assume the office as soon as he received his certificate of election and executed the oath of office. He was not required to wait until the first Monday in January. OAG 84-304.

Where the membership of a city council is increased from seven (7) to nine (9) effective January 1, 1986, since staggered terms for members of said city council had been established pursuant to KRS 83A.110, the establishment of staggered terms by prior referendum would necessarily include the two (2) additional members; thus when the vacancies are filled by appointment pursuant to KRS 83A.040 those selected must draw in the manner provided in KRS 83A.110 to determine who will serve a two (2) year term and who will serve only a one (1) year term. The member drawing the two (2) year term would have to run for the one (1) year unexpired term at the November 1986 election, as required by this section of the Constitution. The member drawing the one (1) year term would have to run for a regular two (2) year term at the November 1986 election. OAG 85-106.

A special election may be called immediately upon the Governor's acceptance of a resignation from a legislator, even if the resignation states that it is to be effective at a future date. OAG 93-81.

History.

Amendment, proposed by Acts 1994, ch. 168, § 2, and ratified November 8, 1994.

Compiler's Notes.

The General Assembly in 1994 (Acts 1994, ch. 168, § 2) proposed an amendment to this section, which amendment was ratified by the voters at the regular election November 8, 1994 and became effective November 8, 1994. Prior to this amendment this section read:

“§ 157. Maximum tax rate for cities, counties and taxing districts — Indebtedness exceeding income provided for year not to be incurred without popular vote.

The tax rate of cities, towns, counties, taxing districts and other municipalities, for other than school purposes, shall not, at any time, exceed the following rates upon the value of the taxable property therein, viz: For all towns or cities having a population of fifteen thousand or more, one dollar and fifty cents on the hundred dollars; for all towns or cities having less than fifteen thousand and not less than ten thousand, one dollar on the hundred dollars; for all towns or cities having less than ten thousand, seventy-five cents on the hundred dollars; and for counties and taxing districts, fifty cents on the hundred dollars; unless it should be necessary to enable such city, town, county, or taxing district to pay the interest on, and provide a sinking fund for the extinction of, indebtedness contracted before the adoption of this Constitution. No county, city, town, taxing district, or other municipality, shall be authorized or permitted to become indebted, in any manner or for any purpose, to an amount exceeding, in any year, the income and revenue provided for such year, without the assent of two-thirds of the voters thereof, voting at an election to be held for that purpose; and any indebtedness contracted in violation of this section shall be void. Nor shall such contract be enforceable by the person with whom made; nor shall such municipality ever be authorized to assume the same.”

Section 5 of Acts 1994, ch. 168 provides: “It is further proposed as a part of this amendment and as a transitional provision for the purposes of this amendment, that any contract or legally binding obligation of a local government shall remain unaffected until the contract or obligation is renegotiated or expires.”

Many of the decisions under this section regarding indebtedness were decided prior to the 1994 amendment of this section which deleted that portion of the section prohibiting an entity from becoming indebted in amount exceeding yearly income and revenue. Now see Const., § 157b.

1. Constitutionality.

This section does not impair obligation of contract in violation of the federal Constitution where a contract entered into prior to the adoption of this section gave a city an option to purchase a waterworks plant after a ten (10) year term where the contract imposed no obligation to exercise the option and the section in no way affected the city's obligation to allow the waterworks company to exercise its contractual rights. Ashland Waterworks Co. v. Ashland, 230 F. 254, 1916 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 965 (D. Ky. 1916), rev'd, 251 F. 492, 1918 U.S. App. LEXIS 1721 (6th Cir. Ky. 1918).

2. Purpose.

The purpose of this section was to protect the people of counties and cities from improvident contracts by county and city officials for public improvements. Hopkins County v. St. Bernard Coal Co., 114 Ky. 153, 70 S.W. 289, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 942, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 142 (Ky. 1902).

The purpose of this section and Const., § 158 is to require counties, municipalities, and other taxing units to adopt the pay-as-you-go plan and not to incur obligations in excess of their current revenues. Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938).

It is doubtful whether it was the intention of this section to allow a county or city to incur a debt which could not be paid before the end of its fiscal year, even on the basis of bona fide anticipation. Fulton County Fiscal Court v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

It is clearly the purpose of this section to enforce upon officials a pay-as-you-go plan of financing. Banks-Miller Supply Co. v. Carter County, 45 F. Supp. 521, 1942 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2830 (D. Ky. 1942).

This section and Const., § 159 were intended, first, to prohibit the creation of indebtedness by taxing districts without making provisions for its payment and, second, to require that every valid debt of a taxing district be paid. Griffin v. Clay County, 304 Ky. 592, 201 S.W.2d 733, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 684 (Ky. 1947).

The intent and purpose of this section was to prevent local governments from incurring indebtedness that would be carried from one (1) year to the next, thereby precluding effective operation of the government. Caywood v. Stivers, 430 S.W.2d 327, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 398 (Ky. 1968).

3. Construction.

This section is to be construed with reference to the time the indebtedness is contracted and not with reference to the time when authority may have been given to contract an indebtedness at some future time when such authority may or may not be exercised. Audit Co. v. Louisville, 185 F. 349, 1911 U.S. App. LEXIS 3993 (6th Cir. Ky. 1911).

The limitation imposed by this section on indebtedness of counties is entitled to a strict construction. Banks-Miller Supply Co. v. Carter County, 45 F. Supp. 521, 1942 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2830 (D. Ky. 1942).

The limit of municipal tax rate fixed by this section is mandatory, and is not modified by Const., §§ 158 and 159. Tipton v. Shelbyville, 139 Ky. 541, 107 S.W. 810, 32 Ky. L. Rptr. 1123, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 8 (Ky. 1908).

Constitution § 157a only enlarges and extends this section, and does not conflict with it. Hughes v. Eison, 190 Ky. 661, 228 S.W. 676, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 509 (Ky. 1921).

It is the duty of county fiscal courts and other taxing authorities in other governmental units to observe the limitations on indebtedness. Hockley v. Carter County, 267 Ky. 250, 101 S.W.2d 928, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 298 (Ky. 1937).

The constitutional limit on county and municipal indebtedness is mandatory, not a mere restriction upon the Legislature's power, and leaves no discretion to legislators, judges or administrative officials. Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938).

This section and Const., § 158 are self-executing, and require no legislation to give them effect. Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938).

This section and Const., § 158 must be read together. Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938).

This section should be strictly interpreted to effectuate obvious and salutary purposes intended. Miles v. Lee, 284 Ky. 39, 143 S.W.2d 843, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 436 (Ky. 1940).

Road and bridge bonds must be issued under this section or the provisions of Const., § 157A. Defoe v. Perry County, 293 Ky. 487, 169 S.W.2d 309, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 647 (Ky. 1943).

The tax limits of this section are absolute and to no extent modified by the provisions of Const., §§ 158 and 159. Rea v. Gallatin County Fiscal Court, 422 S.W.2d 134, 1967 Ky. LEXIS 38 (Ky. 1967).

The Legislature may constitutionally fix city tax rate limits below the maximums specified in this section. Ashland v. Webb, 470 S.W.2d 604, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 279 (Ky. 1971).

4. Application.

The limitation of indebtedness applies to common school districts. Perry v. Brown, 51 S.W. 457, 21 Ky. L. Rptr. 344 (1899).

The debt limit provisions of this section limit the power of the municipality only, and not the power of the General Assembly in adjusting taxation. Covington & C. Bridge Co. v. Davison, 102 S.W. 339, 31 Ky. L. Rptr. 425 (1907).

An urban-county government is subject to the tax limitations imposed by this section upon cities having the same population, subject to such more restrictive statutory limitations as the General Assembly may see fit to impose. Jacobs v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, 560 S.W.2d 10, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 564 (Ky. 1977).

5. 1994 Amendment.

Ballot question by which 1994 amendment was adopted was not misleading or inconsistent, but revealed the substance of the amendment, and was therefore constitutional and in compliance with KRS 120.280. Chandler v. City of Winchester, 973 S.W.2d 78, 1998 Ky. App. LEXIS 63 (Ky. Ct. App. 1998).

6. Income and Revenue.

Fines and license fees are too uncertain to be estimated as part of a city's yearly revenue. Overall v. Madisonville, 125 Ky. 684, 102 S.W. 278, 31 Ky. L. Rptr. 278, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1907), overruled, Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938).

License taxes, where they have become stabilized, may be anticipated and the income therefrom estimated, in estimating the city's income for the year. Premier Constr. Co. v. Kimmell, 230 Ky. 439, 20 S.W.2d 77, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 111 (Ky. 1929).

In anticipating revenue it would not render an assumed indebtedness invalid where license fees, fines, receipts from cemetery lots and miscellaneous receipts were included in the revenue estimate, even though such receipts are uncertain, where the total of such estimates would not have changed the results. Nourse v. Russellville, 265 Ky. 96, 95 S.W.2d 1096, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 433 (Ky. 1936).

In the conduct of fiscal affairs, a city may take into consideration fixed revenue that may be reasonably anticipated and, therefore, revenues from municipally owned utilities may be anticipated where net revenues from past years were known. Kockritz v. Henderson, 269 Ky. 334, 107 S.W.2d 245, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 602 (Ky. 1937).

In the estimation of revenues of previous years, it is error to include both delinquent taxes for a certain year and the amount that might have been collected if the maximum rate had been applied. Fulton County Fiscal Court v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

This section is concerned only with such future revenues as can be exacted in the form of taxes. Skidmore v. Elizabethtown, 291 S.W.2d 3, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 352 (Ky. 1956).

Under this section the phrase "income and revenue" refers to that which the particular taxing district has actually provided for in reasonable and good faith anticipation in collecting. Bell v. Board of Education, 343 S.W.2d 804, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 433 (Ky. 1961).

7. Governmental Expenses.

The constitutional prohibition refers only to improvident contracts, voluntarily entered into by the county, and not to necessary expenses of government, and therefore a statute authorizing a guard to keep down mob violence is not unconstitutional. Hopkins County v. St. Bernard Coal Co., 114 Ky. 153, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 942, 70 S.W. 289, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 142 (Ky. 1902), overruled in part, Nelson County Fiscal Court v. McCrocklin, 175 Ky. 199, 194 S.W. 323, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 316 (Ky. 1917). See City of Louisville v. Gorley, 80 S.W. 203, 25 Ky. L. Rptr. 2174 (1904).

This section does not apply to contracts designed to maintain the public peace or protect the good name of the state. Hopkins County v. St. Bernard Coal Co., 114 Ky. 153, 70 S.W. 289, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 942, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 142 (Ky. 1902).

Expenses for essential governmental functions do not constitute an indebtedness within the meaning of this section. Russell County Fiscal Court v. Russell County, 246 Ky. 529, 55 S.W.2d 337, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 779 (Ky. 1932).

Fees and salaries for county officers are not within the limitation of this section. Breathitt County v. Cockrell, 250 Ky. 743, 63 S.W.2d 920, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 764 (Ky. 1933).

This section applies to contract indebtedness and not to necessary governmental expenses and, therefore, bonds executed for a sewer system were valid even though the total obligation created by the bond was in excess of the year's revenue. Francis v. Bowling Green, 259 Ky. 525, 82 S.W.2d 804, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 351 (Ky. 1935).

The expense of services of official court stenographer is a governmental expense, but stenographer could not compel fiscal court to levy tax in excess of constitutional limitation to pay warrants for services rendered in previous years. Landrum v. Ingram, 274 Ky. 736, 120 S.W.2d 393, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 339 (Ky. 1938).

The incurrence of debt for essential governmental purposes is valid, even though the debt limit fixed by this section is exceeded. Fulton County Fiscal Court v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

Claims for county poor farm are necessary and indispensable governmental expenses. First Nat'l Bank v. Hays, 288 Ky. 297, 156 S.W.2d 121, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 95 (Ky. 1941).

Claims for pauper idiots' support are necessary and indispensable governmental expenses. First Nat'l Bank v. Hays, 288 Ky. 297, 156 S.W.2d 121, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 95 (Ky. 1941).

Claims of county livestock inspector are necessary and indispensable governmental expenses. First Nat'l Bank v. Hays, 288 Ky. 297, 156 S.W.2d 121, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 95 (Ky. 1941).

Tax money obtained by the district board under KRS 107.310 to 107.500 as a county tax must be expended only for projects that constitute valid county purposes and any tax so levied must be counted under this section as part of the regular tax rate of the county. Lowery v. Jefferson, 458 S.W.2d 168, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 167 (Ky. 1970).

8. School Purposes.

The tax rate provided for cities and towns of less than 10,000 population applies to an indebtedness for school purposes as well as for strictly municipal purposes. Richmond v. Powell, 101 Ky. 7, 27 S.W. 1, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 174, 1894 Ky. LEXIS 133 (Ky. 1894).

The limitation on indebtedness in this section also applies to debts incurred for school purposes. Commonwealth v. Louisville & N. R. Co., 105 Ky. 206, 48 S.W. 1092, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 1127, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 203 (Ky. 1899).

The tax rates of this section do not place a limit on rates that may be levied for school purposes but the debt limit does include indebtedness for school purposes. Walsh v. Pineville, 152 Ky. 556, 153 S.W. 1002, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 721 (Ky. 1913).

The limitations imposed by this section have no application to the property tax voted for school purposes under authority of a valid election. Christopher v. Robinson, 164 Ky. 262, 175 S.W. 387, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 368 (Ky. 1915).

The provisions of this section fixing tax rates for other than school purposes were not intended as an exception to the debt limits of Const., § 158, which limits no city, town, county, taxing district and municipality can exceed even for school purposes. Booth v. Board of Education, 229 Ky. 719, 17 S.W.2d 1013, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 833 (Ky. 1929).

There is no constitutional limitation on tax rates for school purposes. Bell v. Board of Education, 343 S.W.2d 804, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 433 (Ky. 1961).

9. Determination of Population.

The methods used under Const., § 156 apply to ascertaining the population of cities under this section. O'Bryan v. Owens- boro, 113 Ky. 680, 68 S.W. 858, 69 S.W. 800, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 469, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 645, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 1902), overruled, Nelson County Fiscal Court v. McCrocklin, 175 Ky. 199, 194 S.W. 323, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 316 (Ky. 1917).

A city council may itself ascertain that the city has more inhabitants than shown by the United States census and apply a tax rate justified by the actual population. Moss v. Frankfort, 231 Ky. 470, 21 S.W.2d 813, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 304 (Ky. 1929).

10. Indebtedness.

A city contract to pay water rent which was entered into prior to the adoption of the Constitution is an indebtedness within the meaning of this section. Mayfield Woolen Mills v. Mayfield, 111 Ky. 172, 61 S.W. 43, 22 Ky. L. Rptr. 1676, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 169 (Ky. 1901).

The word "indebtedness," as used in this section, refers to indebtedness created by contract, and the current expenses for the year are not to be counted as an existing debt. O'Bryan v. Owensboro, 113 Ky. 680, 68 S.W. 858, 69 S.W. 800, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 469, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 645, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 1902), overruled, Nelson County Fiscal Court v. McCrocklin, 175 Ky. 199, 194 S.W. 323, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 316 (Ky. 1917).

An indebtedness is a liability voluntarily incurred by a city by express contract and which it is bound to pay in money. Overall v. Madisonville, 125 Ky. 684, 102 S.W. 278, 31 Ky. L. Rptr. 278, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1907), overruled, Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938).

A contract which provides for $3,000 a year payments for five (5) years creates an indebtedness. Board of Education v. Board of Trustees, 154 Ky. 309, 157 S.W. 697, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1913).

The provision that the tax rate of cities shall not at any time exceed the rate of 75 cents on the value of taxable property therein in cities of less than 10,000 inhabitants was intended to protect municipal corporations from their own extravagance, and applies only to indebtedness created or attempted to be incurred by contract and not where the liability incurred is for a tort caused by or resulting from its own negligence. Menar v. Sanders, 169 Ky. 285, 183 S.W. 949, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 704, L.R.A. (n.s.) 1917E422 (Ky. 1916), overruled in part, Nelson County Fiscal Court v. McCrocklin, 175 Ky. 199, 194 S.W. 323, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 316 (Ky. 1917). See Catlettsburg v. Davis' Adm'r, 262 Ky. 726, 91 S.W.2d 56, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 99 (Ky. 1936).

A contract requiring a city at the end of 25 years either to exercise a purchase option for a waterworks plant or to renew its lease for another 25 years created an indebtedness within the meaning of this section and Const., § 158. Benjamin v. Mayfield, 170 Ky. 446, 186 S.W. 169, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 87 (Ky. 1916).

The court's appointment of a county agent and the appropriation of money to be used to pay the agent's salary was the creation of an indebtedness within the meaning of this section. Carman v. Hickman County, 185 Ky. 630, 215 S.W. 408, 1919 Ky. LEXIS 351 (Ky. 1919).

The limitations of this section apply to indebtedness created by contract. Catlettsburg v. Fabric Fire Hose Co., 264 Ky. 594, 95 S.W.2d 285, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 382 (Ky. 1936).

Determination of validity of existing debts is inconclusive of county's right to fund a particular debt. First Nat'l Bank v. Hays, 288 Ky. 297, 156 S.W.2d 121, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 95 (Ky. 1941).

The indebtedness referred to in this section means one created by contract or voluntarily incurred in such manner as would otherwise bind the municipality to pay and does not include a liability imposed by law for what is done without right or what is done negligently. Knepfle v. Morehead, 301 Ky. 417, 192 S.W.2d 189, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 493 (Ky. 1946).

The limitation on indebtedness that can be incurred in any one (1) year means that obligations cannot be entered into to be paid out of revenues to be collected after the termination of the fiscal year. Meyers v. Louisville, 310 Ky. 348, 220 S.W.2d 852, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 923 (Ky. 1949).

An obligation from which county cannot disengage itself without abandoning an unavoidable function of government is a debt within the meaning of this section. State Property & Bldg. Com. v. Hays, 346 S.W.2d 3, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 277 (Ky. 1961).

An indebtedness authorized by the voters pursuant to this section is not subject to the limitations of KRS 132.010. Raque v. Louisville, 402 S.W.2d 697, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 375 (Ky. 1966).

When the public improvements finance board borrows money and pledges in payment thereof the annual appropriations for future years which the county is committed to make out of its general revenues, a debt has been created within the meaning of this section. Sawyer v. Jefferson County Fiscal Court, 438 S.W.2d 531, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 411 (Ky. 1969).

The Tax Increment Act, KRS 99.750 to 99.770 (repealed), which permits various taxing districts to release increments expected to be derived by such districts as a result of the undertaking of a renewal or redevelopment project by an urban renewal community agency or authority to be used as a special fund for bond payments on the project is invalid since ad valorem taxes cannot be pledged as the source of bond payments under a special fund as such tax is a mandatory tax and any obligation that is payable from it is a debt within the meaning of this section. Miller v. Covington Development Auth., 539 S.W.2d 1, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 40 (Ky. 1976).

Fiscal court did not violate this section by establishing a nonprofit corporation to float a bond issue to fund the repair of county roadways since, although the corporation would assume ownership of the roadways and lease them back to the fiscal court until the rental payments were sufficient to retire the bond issue, at which time the roads would be reconveyed to the county, the debt incurred was not a debt of the county or enforceable against it in any way. Hoskins v. Wilson, 778 S.W.2d 654, 1989 Ky. App. LEXIS 142 (Ky. Ct. App. 1989) (decided prior to 1994 amendment).

11. — When Created.

A city council resolution to employ engineers and accountants did not create an indebtedness until the employments provided for in the resolution were actually made. Louisville v. Parsons, 150 Ky. 420, 150 S.W. 498, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 903 (Ky. 1912).

An indebtedness is not created until the city has obtained the consent at an election of two thirds (2/3) of the voters voting on the question and has issued the bonds evidencing the debt. Barry v. New Haven, 162 Ky. 60, 171 S.W. 1012, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 13 (Ky. 1915).

A vote in favor of a road and bridge bond issue does not of itself create an indebtedness, as the debt is not incurred until the bonds are issued and sold, so that election as to incurring the indebtedness by the issuance of such bonds is not invalid merely because at the time of the election the debt limit would be exceeded, where it is not exceeded at the time of issuance and sale of the bonds. Young v. Fiscal Court of Trimble County, 190 Ky. 604, 227 S.W. 1009, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 479 (Ky. 1921).

12. — Old Debt Renewed.

This section does not prohibit a fiscal court from recalling outstanding bonds and issuing new bonds in lieu of the old bonds as provided in KRS 66.090 and 66.100. Richmond Cemetery Co. v. Sullivan, 66 Ark. 646, 104 Ky. 723, 47 S.W. 1079, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 1028, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 222 (Ky. 1898).

The debt limit set by this section applies only to the creation of a new debt, and does not prevent the renewal of an existing debt without such a vote. Culbertson v. Louisville, 138 Ky. 747, 128 S.W. 292, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 127 (Ky. 1910).

13. — Not Debts.

The pledging of unappropriated funds by the city to guarantee payment of revenue bonds was not the creation of a debt against the city. Martin County v. Cassady, 307 Ky. 728, 212 S.W.2d 281, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 823 (Ky. 1948).

KRS 90.300 to 90.410, and city ordinance passed thereunder, do not, in guaranteeing tenure and pension benefits to city employees, create a debt against the city in violation of this section. Henderson v. Thomy, 307 Ky. 783, 212 S.W.2d 303, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 831 (Ky. 1948).

Issuance of bonds by a county board of education was not the creation of a debt in violation of this section where anticipated tax revenues on which the anticipated tax revenues on which the school budget was based were reduced as a result of judicial decisions with respect to methods of computing assessed valuations of certain property. Bell v. Board of Education, 343 S.W.2d 804, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 433 (Ky. 1961).

The creation of a library district does not permit an indebtedness of the taxing authority without a vote of the people within the prohibition of this section. Boggs v. Reep, 404 S.W.2d 24, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 286 (Ky. 1966).

Since the commitment by the county to make the appropriations to the public improvements finance board does not, in and of itself, create a debt, there is no violation of this section in the mere statutory direction to the county to make the appropriations for public improvements, nor in the resolution of the fiscal court so doing. Sawyer v. Jefferson County Fiscal Court, 438 S.W.2d 531, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 411 (Ky. 1969).

14. — Floating.

A fiscal court has no power to borrow money to pay a floating indebtedness which was void because the voters had never approved the incurring of such excess debts. Tarter v. Wesley, 200 Ky. 14, 252 S.W. 109, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 1923).

A county cannot expend all of its revenues on mere nongovernmental matters and then pass on its indispensable governmental obligations as a floating debt for future generations. Ballard v. Adair County, 268 Ky. 347, 104 S.W.2d 1100, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 465 (Ky. 1937).

The floating debt of a county or municipality may be funded without a vote of the people if the debts were valid and not in violation of this section and Const., § 158. Williams v. Taylor Count, 274 Ky. 217, 118 S.W.2d 526, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 244 (Ky. 1938).

City seeking approval of bonds issued to fund floating debt must show that debt was incurred for necessary governmental expenses and that no particular debt, other than for necessary governmental expenses, when added to the other debts of the city, exceeded the limitations of this section. Henderson v. Mt. Vernon, 279 Ky. 829, 132 S.W.2d 322, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 359 (Ky. 1939).

The city cannot issue bonds to cover that portion of the floating indebtedness incurred for other than necessary governmental expenditures, incurred after January 16, 1939, the effective date of Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549, 122 A.L.R. 321 (Ky. 1938), notwithstanding the fact that during the prior years in which the expenditures exceeded its actual resources, it might lawfully have created a much larger indebtedness. Chestnut v. Bowling Green, 285 Ky. 800, 149 S.W.2d 523, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 469 (Ky. 1941).

15. — Created Before Constitution.

Where a statute passed prior to the Constitution allowed a city to incur a certain type of debt, the city may continue to do so even after the adoption of the Constitution or until such time as the Legislature shall again act. Lexington's Appeal, 96 Ky. 258, 28 S.W. 665, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 467, 1894 Ky. LEXIS 124 (Ky. Ct. App. 1894).

This section does not forbid an indebtedness to be incurred where all the necessary steps had been taken pursuant to a statute and prior to the adoption of the Constitution. Ludlow v. Board of Education, 29 S.W. 854, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 805 (1895).

This section does not apply to an indebtedness for public improvements authorized prior to the adoption of the Constitution by the Legislature where subsequent to the Constitution another act authorized the issuance of bonds to pay for improvements allowed by the first act. Warren v. Newport, 64 S.W. 852, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1006, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 623 (Ky. Ct. App. 1901).

The tax limits of this section are not applicable where an excess tax levy was made in order to obtain money to pay a debt which was validly incurred under a statute in effect prior to the adoption of the present Constitution. Bank of Columbia v. Taylor County, 112 Ky. 243, 65 S.W. 451, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1483, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 304 (Ky. 1901).

A county may issue bonds to pay a debt incurred prior to the adoption of the present Constitution without submitting the issue to the voters. Hawkins v. Nicholas County, 89 S.W. 484, 28 Ky. L. Rptr. 479 (1905).

This section does not prevent compliance with a valid contract which was entered into before the adoption of the Constitution. Slade v. Lexington, 141 Ky. 214, 132 S.W. 404, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 430 (Ky. 1910).

Where a city was under a contractual obligation when the Constitution was adopted, it may issue bonds to take care of the obligation. Benjamin v. Mayfield, 170 Ky. 446, 186 S.W. 169, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 87 (Ky. 1916).

A city may issue bonds to discharge a debt incurred prior to the adoption of the Constitution without submitting the issue to the electorate so long as the debt does not exceed the principal of all debts acquired before the Constitution or require a tax levy in excess of the limits of this section. Phipps v. Mayfield, 194 Ky. 130, 238 S.W. 195, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 113 (Ky. 1922).

A bond issue to refund an indebtedness incurred prior to the adoption of the present Constitution is valid though the amount surpasses the limits of Const., § 158 and was not authorized by the voters as prescribed in this section. Rice v. Pineville, 207 Ky. 530, 269 S.W. 719, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 129 (Ky. 1925).

The limits in this section do not preclude a tax levy to pay the interest on and provide a sinking fund for the payment of an indebtedness contracted before the adoption of the Constitution. Frank v. Fuss, 235 Ky. 143, 29 S.W.2d 603, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 300 (Ky. 1930).

16. — Subsequent Illegal Debts.

Where debts were created in 1903 and 1904 and could have been paid in those years had the sheriff not defaulted, those debts may be paid at a later time because if those debts did not exceed the income from those years, then no subsequent occurrence can render them void. Lawrence County v. Lawrence Fiscal Court, 130 Ky. 587, 113 S.W. 824, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 302 (Ky. 1908).

County warrants which were presumably issued before the fiscal court excluded the debt limitations are valid. Geveden v. Fiscal Court of Carlisle County, 263 Ky. 465, 92 S.W.2d 746, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 190 (Ky. 1936).

If a debt is valid when created, it cannot be invalidated by subsequent illegal expenditures. Penrod v. Sturgis, 269 Ky. 315, 107 S.W.2d 277, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 608 (Ky. 1937).

Fact that aggregate amount of warrants issued over a period of three (3) years exceeded revenues for those years did not establish invalidity of any particular warrant; to show that any particular warrant was invalid, it was necessary to plead and prove that anticipated revenue was exceeded at time warrant was issued and, if warrant was valid when issued, subsequent issuance and payment of their obligations exceeding revenues would not render valid warrant invalid. Jackson v. First Nat'l Bank, 289 Ky. 1, 157 S.W.2d 321, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 10 (Ky. 1941).

Debts of municipalities constitute valid and binding obligations if, at the time they were made, they were legal. Winchester v. Winchester Bank, 306 Ky. 45, 205 S.W.2d 997, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 928 (Ky. 1947).

Where the governing body of a city assumes an obligation and executes notes therefore and, at the time the notes are executed, they do not cause the city's anticipated income provided for the year to be exceeded, the notes are valid under this section, even though subsequent expenditures of the city for the year actually exceed the income collected. Winchester v. Winchester Bank, 306 Ky. 45, 205 S.W.2d 997, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 928 (Ky. 1947).

17. — Partial Invalidity.

When an indebtedness is in excess of constitutional limits, only the excess will be void. McKinney v. Board of Trustees, 144 Ky. 85, 137 S.W. 839, 1911 Ky. LEXIS 555 (Ky. 1911).

In an election approving bond issues for several purposes, where some of the debts were invalid, the election was still valid as to the other debts involved. Snow v. Providence, 202 Ky. 627, 260 S.W. 389, 1924 Ky. LEXIS 770 (Ky. 1924).

18. — Estimation of Amount.

In order to ascertain whether a county has incurred debt in any year beyond its income for that year, it is necessary to know the tax levy for that year as well as the value of taxable property and the amount of total indebtedness. Maysville & L. Turnpike Road Co. v. Wiggins, 104 Ky. 540, 47 S.W. 434, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 724, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 189 (Ky. 1898).

Under this section it is the amount of tax that may be levied which must be considered in determining whether there is an excess indebtedness, and a city may not levy a lesser amount in order to defeat the collection of a debt. Providence v. Providence Electric Light Co., 122 Ky. 237, 91 S.W. 664, 28 Ky. L. Rptr. 1015, 1906 Ky. LEXIS 36 (Ky. 1906), overruled, Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938).

In estimating total indebtedness of a county for the purpose of tax levy, current expenses must be included but it must appear that such current expenses consist of salaries and other charges necessary to the maintenance of the county government or arose out of binding obligations incurred prior to the creation of the debt in question. Carter v. Krueger & Son, 175 Ky. 399, 194 S.W. 553, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 346 (Ky. 1917), overruled, Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938).

In determining the amount of annual indebtedness, an indebtedness created pursuant to a vote of the people is not to be considered and only the sum necessary to pay annual expenses, the annual interest and the annual sum necessary to create a sinking fund sufficient to discharge the indebtedness shall be considered. Ballard v. Shelbyville, 180 Ky. 135, 201 S.W. 452, 1918 Ky. LEXIS 4 (Ky. 1918).

A debt which was invalidly incurred may not be considered in arriving at a conclusion as to the amount of additional debt which a county is authorized to incur. Hogan v. Lee Fiscal Court, 235 Ky. 100, 29 S.W.2d 611, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 301 (Ky. 1930).

In determining whether nongovernmental expense will exceed this section's limitation on county indebtedness, valid floating indebtedness of county must be added to necessary governmental expense for the year, and if these items equal or exceed revenue for the year, an indebtedness for a purpose not governmental cannot thereafter be incurred. Jackson County v. Madden, 271 Ky. 535, 112 S.W.2d 986, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 20 (Ky. 1938).

The validity of a note of a board of education given in exchange for warrants previously issued must be determined by the financial status of the school district when the original indebtedness was created. Citizens Bank v. Rowan County Board of Education, 274 Ky. 481, 118 S.W.2d 704, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 266 (Ky. 1938).

A debt created pursuant to a vote of the people is not to be considered in the comparison of a city's annual indebtedness with its annual income if the debt so created would otherwise increase the total indebtedness beyond the maximum limit. Fulton County Fiscal Court v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

An estimate of indebtedness permissible under this question must include current expenses for the current year. Fulton County Fiscal Court v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

19. — — Debts of School Boards.

Where a board of education was authorized by statute to issue bonds and hold an election for approval, the indebtedness is that of the board alone and the debt of the city is not considered in determining when the limits of this section are reached. Rogan v. Board of Education, 192 Ky. 770, 234 S.W. 443, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 152 (Ky. 1921).

The outstanding indebtedness of a municipality may not be taken into consideration in determining whether a graded school district has reached the constitutional limitation on indebtedness. Fall v. Read, 194 Ky. 135, 238 S.W. 177, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 105 (Ky. 1922). See Dayton v. Board of Education, 201 Ky. 566, 257 S.W. 1021, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 345 (Ky. 1923).

An indebtedness of a municipality is not to be taken into account in estimating the indebtedness of a school board of the district which covers the same territory. Dayton v. Board of Education, 201 Ky. 566, 257 S.W. 1021, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 345 (Ky. 1923).

20. — — Amount of Levy.

Income and revenue refer to the revenue actually levied and not the maximum levy that could have been made and, therefore, a taxing unit may not lawfully incur debts in excess of the revenues actually levied for the current year. Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938); Overall v. Madisonville, 125 Ky. 684, 102 S.W. 278, 31 Ky. L. Rptr. 278, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1907), overruled, Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938); Carter v. Krueger & Son, 175 Ky. 399, 194 S.W. 553, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 346 (Ky. 1917), overruled, Payne v. Covington, 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549 (Ky. 1938); Vaughn v. Corbin, 217 Ky. 521, 289 S.W. 1104, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 4 (Ky. 1927); Frank v. Fuss, 235 Ky. 143, 29 S.W.2d 603, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 300 (Ky. 1930); Stratton v. Jessamine County, 257 Ky. 302, 77 S.W.2d 955, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 555 (Ky. 1934); Harrison v. Roberts, 264 Ky. 62, 94 S.W.2d 296, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 277 (Ky. 1936); Hill v. Covington, 264 Ky. 618, 95 S.W.2d 278, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 380 (Ky. 1936); Nourse v. Russellville, 265 Ky. 96, 95 S.W.2d 1096, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 433 (Ky. 1936).

In determining the validity of an indebtedness incurred prior to the decision in Payne v. Covington (1938), 276 Ky. 380, 123 S.W.2d 1045, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 549, 122 A.L.R. 321, it is permissible to assess the revenue which would have been raised had the maximum tax rate been imposed Payne v. Covington, 283 Ky. 848, 143 S.W.2d 727, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 427 (Ky. 1940).

Any indebtedness incurred in any year in excess of the amount actually derived from the tax imposed, rather than the amount which the city or other taxing district might have collected if it had levied the maximum tax, is invalid. Chestnut v. Bowling Green, 285 Ky. 800, 149 S.W.2d 523, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 469 (Ky. 1941).

21. — Anticipated Revenue.

Borrowing immediate and necessary funds in anticipation of future collection of revenue for the current fiscal year is not the creation of such an indebtedness as is inhibited by this section. Waddle v. Somerset, 281 Ky. 30, 134 S.W.2d 956, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 4 (Ky. 1939).

City of fourth class has right to borrow money in anticipation of current revenues. Jackson v. First Nat'l Bank, 289 Ky. 1, 157 S.W.2d 321, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 10 (Ky. 1941).

Fact that warrants were payable in a future year did not invalidate them if anticipated revenue of year in which they were issued was not exceeded by their issuance. Jackson v. First Nat'l Bank, 289 Ky. 1, 157 S.W.2d 321, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 10 (Ky. 1941).

22. — Uncollected Revenue.

A city may borrow against an occupational tax collected by employers even though the money is not received by the city until after the fiscal year, because when the employer collects the tax during the fiscal year the funds are constructively received by the city at the time the employers collect the taxes. Meyers v. Louisville, 310 Ky. 348, 220 S.W.2d 852, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 923 (Ky. 1949).

The fiscal court could pledge tax funds which had already accrued but had not been collected. Caywood v. Stivers, 430 S.W.2d 327, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 398 (Ky. 1968).

23. — Annexed or Merged Entities.

A county cannot assume the liability of a road district without popular consent. Carpenter v. Central Covington, 119 Ky. 785, 81 S.W. 919, 26 Ky. L. Rptr. 430, 1904 Ky. LEXIS 130 (Ky. 1904).

A city, as authorized by statute, acquiring the stock of a water company which had incurred an indebtedness and had issued bonds therefor, can issue bonds to refund the indebtedness of the company without submitting the proposition to the voters of the city. Gaulbert v. Louisville, 97 S.W. 342, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 50 (1906).

A county school board would not be permitted to assume the debts of another school district which it had absorbed, assuming such debt would create a total indebtedness in excess of the income for that year. Owsley County Board of Education v. Owsley County Fiscal Court, 251 Ky. 165, 64 S.W.2d 179, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 797 (Ky. 1933).

Where an annexing city assumes the debts of an annexed city, an illegal indebtedness is not created where the debts of the annexed city were validly created because only the amount of interest and the sinking fund need be considered and this does not bring the debt within the prohibitions of this section. Matz v. Newport, 265 Ky. 126, 95 S.W.2d 1071, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 422 (Ky. 1936).

This section does not relieve a county school board from liability for a judgment against an independent school district which had been merged with the county district by order of the state board of education. Board of Education v. Nelson, 268 Ky. 83, 103 S.W.2d 691, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 413 (Ky. 1937).

A county board of education could be liable for the debts of an independent school district when the district was merged and issue bonds to satisfy the indebtedness, since it was a debt which the board did not voluntarily incur. Bales v. Holt, 270 Ky. 272, 109 S.W.2d 632, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 68 (Ky. 1937).

If the question of incurring an indebtedness and issuing general obligation bonds had been submitted to the voters in accordance with this section and had received the required two-thirds (2/3) vote in favor, then property in the district at the time the vote was taken would remain liable for the tax required to pay the indebtedness, regardless of the transfer of the property to another school district. Board of Education v. Board of Education, 250 S.W.2d 1017, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 897 (Ky. 1952).

24. — Approval of Voters.

The constitutional provision prohibiting a city from incurring any indebtedness beyond a certain limit, unless authorized by a two-thirds (2/3) vote at a special election, does not require such an election where for any reason the proposed indebtedness is not within the prohibition. Ashland Waterworks Co. v. Ashland, 251 F. 492, 1918 U.S. App. LEXIS 1721 (6th Cir. Ky. 1918).

A provision wherein a city is directly liable to bondholders for any deficiencies arising from the city's failure to pursue all remedies available to collect improvement assessments does not make the public improvement bonds an indebtedness within the meaning of this section. Robertson v. Danville, 291 S.W.2d 816, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 400 (Ky. 1956).

32. — Valid Expenditures.

Where a city agreed to appropriate $3,000 annually to support a library building in accordance with an agreement with the donor of the building, there was no violation of this section where the appropriation was made out of each year's revenues. Lambert v. Board of Trustees, 151 Ky. 725, 152 S.W. 802, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 562 (Ky. 1913).

Where a county, under a state-aid plan, undertook to build a road and to pay only a quarter of the cost while issuing warrants for the remaining cost conditioned upon the receipt of the sums due from the state, this agreement is not invalid under this section where the pursuit of this plan leaves no doubt that the county would not be indebted beyond its annual revenue. Tartar v. Skaggs, 184 Ky. 58, 211 S.W. 203, 1919 Ky. LEXIS 17 (Ky. 1919).

Where a city had sold construction bonds for $9,660 and there was no evidence that this sum was expended before the city had purchased certain materials, the payment for which is now sought by the seller, then it is not established that the city had exceeded its debt limitation before it made purchases in question and, therefore, such purchases were valid. Cahill-Swift Mfg. Co. v. Bardwell, 219 Ky. 649, 294 S.W. 171, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 416 (Ky. 1927).

A statute providing for state colleges to lease buildings for a term which would amortize the cost of the buildings did not violate this section, as this section applies only to self-governing political subdivisions of the state and the statute made renewal of the leases optional from year to year. McDonald v. University of Kentucky, 225 Ky. 205, 7 S.W.2d 1046, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 734 (Ky. 1928).

Where a school district employed a contractor to build a schoolhouse and the total price was beyond the amount of funds available, there was no proof that the debt was invalid where there was no contract executed and the builder agreed not to do any more than could be paid from yearly revenue. Cockrell v. Board of Trustees, 237 Ky. 280, 35 S.W.2d 310, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1931).

Financing plan whereby banks agreed to advance money to pay condemnation award on acquisition of additional land to extend airfield and to obtain lien therefor on land, but without obligation by air board to repay the money or by city to levy tax for board's benefit, did not constitute borrowing of money by board and obligation to repay it out of revenues for ensuing year in violation of KRS 183.200 and this section. Miles v. Lee, 284 Ky. 39, 143 S.W.2d 843, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 436 (Ky. 1940).

County warrants were not issued in violation of this section, because they were not to be paid until succeeding years, in absence of anything in written contract indicating they were not to be paid from revenues collected in years in which obligations were made. Banks-Miller Supply Co. v. Carter County, 45 F. Supp. 521, 1942 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2830 (D. Ky. 1942).

Payment of increased teachers' salaries from a capital outlay item of the education budget was not improper where it was within the limits and constituted a part of the anticipated revenues. Dunn v. Allen, 308 Ky. 774, 215 S.W.2d 957, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 1047 (Ky. 1948).

Since county containing city of sixth class could, under KRS 67.080(8), issue bonds for the purpose of constructing and furnishing a county public health clinic and hospital and the procedure of this section was followed and the amount of indebtedness was within Const., § 158, there was no merit in suggestion that issuance of the bonds would violate this section. Demunbrun v. Browning, 311 Ky. 71, 223 S.W.2d 372, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1058 (Ky. 1949) (decision prior to 1978 amendment of KRS 67.080).

33. — — Accumulating Funds.

The fiscal court may, within lawful limits, make levies to accumulate a fund with which to pay for a courthouse when erected in the future, since this section does not prohibit such levies. Combs v. Letcher County, 107 Ky. 379, 54 S.W. 177, 21 Ky. L. Rptr. 1057, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 182 (Ky. 1899).

34. — — Ordinances.

Paducah*, 283 Ky. 628, 142 S.W.2d 365, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 386 (Ky. 1940).

Bond issue voted by citizens of second-class city for purpose of raising funds with which to acquire rights of way for floodwall to be constructed with federal funds was valid, notwithstanding fact that, at time of passage of ordinance submitting question to voters and at time of election, federal government had not set apart or made available the funds with which to construct the floodwall. Schatzman v. Covington, 301 Ky. 832, 193 S.W.2d 447, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 583 (Ky. 1946).

A bond issue for urban renewal which would be paid from occupational license fees from the area "if and when such fees are received" did not create an unvoted debt because the ordinance did not bind the city to continue for any period of time to impose such fees. Watkins v. Fugazzi, 394 S.W.2d 594, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 194 (Ky. 1965).

Bourbon County Bd. of Education*, 193 Ky. 171, 235 S.W. 360, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 209 (Ky. 1921).

Georgetown Board of Education*, 209 Ky. 726, 273 S.W. 498, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 589 (Ky. 1925).

City Board of Education*, 234 Ky. 836, 29 S.W.2d 565, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 281 (Ky. 1930). See Holman v. Glasgow Graded Common School Dist., 237 Ky. 7, 34 S.W.2d 733, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 529 (Ky. 1931).

Where a lease entered into by a school board was for one (1) year with options to renew on a year-to-year basis, this did not create an indebtedness for more than a year and such yearly rent was not in excess of anticipated revenue; therefore, there was no violation of this section. Davis v. Board of Education, 260 Ky. 294, 83 S.W.2d 34, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 396 (Ky. 1935).

Under this section a county, like other governmental units, may raise money for construction by conveying realty to a corporation which had the power to borrow money, issue bonds and rent the realty back to the county where there is no showing that the rent and other governmental expenses would exceed the amount of revenue that could be raised in any year. Sizemore v. Clay County, 268 Ky. 712, 105 S.W.2d 841, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 521 (Ky. 1937).

36. — — Leases.

Although the provision of KRS 107.410 authorizes the district board, on a year-to-year basis, to agree to contribute a portion of the rental payments under a lease agreement, the power of the district board to agree, for any year, to contribute such rental payments must be confined to payment from such income and revenue as actually has been provided to the board for that year and only for projects that would serve a county purpose. Lowery v. Jefferson, 458 S.W.2d 168, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 167 (Ky. 1970).

Fiscal Court of Adair County*, 263 Ky. 23, 91 S.W.2d 537, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 122 (Ky. 1936).

The mere fact that a school board has exceeded the amount of its realized annual revenue does not violate the constitutional debt limitation where the board stays within the amount of its budget, if its excess expenditure over realized income is within the amount which the board might reasonably have anticipated would be received by it from the tax levy, but where board did not reduce the amount of its budgets, notwithstanding repeated annual experience of failing to realize revenue called for by its budgets, it did not keep its expenditures within required reasonably anticipated amount. *Fiscal Court of Lincoln County v. Tax imposed under KRS 173.720 on behalf of library district is imposed by the fiscal court as an agent of the district and it does not constitute a county tax; consequently, the fact that the amount of the tax when added to that of the county tax exceeds the maximum for counties does not make it violative of the Constitution. Boggs v. Reep, 404 S.W.2d 24, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 286 (Ky. 1966).

45. — Unconstitutional Statutes.

The provisions of KRS 162.090, making school bonds the obligation of the city in cases where the city school district embraces the city, cannot constitutionally be applied where the city boundaries extend beyond those of the school district, therefore the bonds constitute obligations of the school district, for which only property within the district may be taxed and for which only voters in the district may vote on the question of issuance of bonds. *Board of Education v. Where city alleged that notes were contracted by the defendant in excess of the revenues levied, collected and deposited in the general fund of city instead of alleging that the obligations sued on or referred to constituted an indebtedness at the time it was made in excess of the income and revenue provided for that year, city's allegation was insufficient to show a violation of this section. OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A special election to determine whether or not the maximum tax rate should be increased can be held on the regular election day. OAG 60-563.

This section requires that a city of the sixth class, in order to raise the maximum tax rate from 75 cents for the purchase of fire equipment, must have the assent of two thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the voters voting on the question. OAG 60-563.

A contract entered into by the fiscal court for delivery of a piece of equipment during the current fiscal year but for which the first payment would be deferred until the next fiscal year would be void where the budget for the year in which payment would be made had not been approved when the contract was made. OAG 61-408.

A special tax to be levied for the operation of a county health department could only be levied in the manner provided in KRS 212.720 to 212.740. OAG 62-618.

The county fiscal court could not make a special tax levy to finance a county health department. OAG 62-618.

The debt of a watershed conservancy district created by judgment of the circuit court in a reverse condemnation proceeding could perhaps be satisfied by an additional tax levy in excess of the maximum rate set out in this section and KRS 262.760. OAG 63-995.

A tax for a fire protection district levied by the fiscal court must be included in the computation of the 50-cent county tax limit. OAG 63-1079.

Under KRS 173.520(2)(b), the entire principal sum borrowed shall not exceed 50 per cent of the anticipated revenue for the fiscal year in which the money is borrowed. OAG 64-207.

The special library tax levy must be included in determining the maximum tax levy permitted under this section. OAG 64-250.

The incurrence of debt for essential governmental purposes is valid though the results may exceed the limitations of Const., § 158, but payment must be effected out of funds raised within the tax rate structure limitations of this section. OAG 64-700.

A county library district could not borrow funds to build a new building to be repaid from tax revenues over a period of 20 years. OAG 65-261.

The execution of a mortgage by a municipality on the physical properties of an off-street parking project as additional security for the revenue bonds issued to finance the project would create a prohibited indebtedness of the city under this section and Const., § 158. OAG 65-473.

A first mortgage executed by a city on parking meters partially financed by money from the general fund would create a prohibited indebtedness within the meaning of this section and Const., § 158. OAG 65-485.

If a city borrowed the sum of $17,000 by executing a note for that amount to a local bank, even though the city were permitted to pay off the note in equal instalments over a period of five (5) years, such a loan would involve the aggregate or total amount of $17,000, rather than the $17,000 being broken into five (5) equal parts. OAG 66-689.

The metropolitan sewer district building corporation, a nonprofit, no-stock, public organization, organized pursuant to KRS ch. 273, is the lawful agency and instrumentality of Louisville and Jefferson County metropolitan sewer district in the implementation and carrying out of the lawful corporate purposes of the joint district, and particularly in the implementation of the power granted metropolitan sewer district by KRS 76.080(6), and the interest on the bonds issued by it is exempt from both federal and state income taxation and from Kentucky state ad valorem taxation. OAG 67-197.

The fact that a town did not collect taxes in 1965 would not prevent it from collecting taxes in subsequent years, using this section to find the base rate and applying the compensating factor of KRS 132.027 to it. OAG 67-449.

An urban service district created under KRS ch. 108 does not qualify as a taxing district within the meaning of this section and Const., § 158. OAG 68-248.

A county hospital could acquire equipment on a lease purchase arrangement whereby a rental would be paid monthly over a period of months in excess of 12 and, upon the completion of the required rental payments, the hospital would exercise its option to purchase. OAG 68-280.

A county hospital could not legally purchase equipment on a monthly instalment payment plan that would extend over a period in excess of 12 months. OAG 68-280.

A county hospital could not legally purchase equipment which could not be paid for within the fiscal year in which it was purchased. OAG 68-280.

If a city borrows the sum of $249,800 by executing a note for that amount to a local bank, even though the city were permitted to pay the note over a short-term period, such loan would be construed to involve the aggregate or total amount of $249,800 in determining the limitation of the indebtedness of the city. OAG 68-479.

A city's borrowing $60,000 from its depository under a five (5) year note to purchase new garbage equipment would be a violation of this section. OAG 68-578.

The establishment of a revolving capital improvement fund with money borrowed from the city investment fund and to be repaid over a five (5) year period from ad valorem taxes would be a violation of Const., § 158. OAG 69-255.

A proposed financial plan for the city to acquire an off-street parking facility which would extend over four (4) years at a total cost equal to the approximate income of the city could violate this section and Const., § 158 which provide that the city may not incur indebtedness in excess of the anticipated revenue for the year unless there is an affirmative vote by two thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the city's inhabitants. OAG 69-258.

This section refers to an indebtedness created by contract only and has no application to liability incurred for a part caused by or resulting from negligence and, as a consequence, a city can be required to levy a special tax in excess of the maximum rate permitted by this section to pay any judgment against it resulting from a tort action. OAG 69-555.

Where six (6) years earlier the people of a city voted a bond issue for the construction of a floodwall but nothing further was done, the city would now be authorized to levy the special tax irrespective of the fact that the flood control project has not yet begun nor have the bonds actually been issued. OAG 69-577.

The tax levied for county library purposes is a part of the county's maximum permissible ad valorem tax rate authorized by this section (the county library is not a separate taxing district). The rolled back rate for the library tax levy is not to be counted or included in the county's general tax levy. OAG 70-327.

Under subsection (2) of KRS 216.317, regardless of whether the voting method or the petition method is used, a hospital district is created which constitutes a separate taxing district. This method of establishing the district is reasonably suited to its purpose and does not contravene this section particularly since the petition method is equivalent to the voting method since a majority of the voters must sign the petition. OAG 70-816.

While a city may create an indebtedness for a public purpose, there is a constitutional debt limit for each class of city which cannot be exceeded without an affirmative vote of two thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the people living within the city. OAG 70-817.

A library district cannot obligate itself to spend more money in a particular year than the anticipated income and revenue provided for such year. OAG 71-34.

The entire principal indebtedness would govern and not the amount of principal to be paid each year in measuring an obligation of the library district against the requirements of this section. OAG 71-34.

Where a proposed library building would exceed the debt limitations of the library district, a holding company could be used to borrow the necessary funds and lease the library building to the library district. OAG 71-34.

Where, due to litigation, tax bills were not sent out until June 1 and the books were to be closed as of June 30, the county treasurer could, for the purpose of making properly budgeted expenditures, authorized by the fiscal court to be paid from the tax revenue collected from the June 1 tax bills, keep his accounting books open for the 75-day period required for the collection of the taxes. OAG 71-264.

A second-class city may borrow money in anticipation of revenue for the fiscal half year in which the money is borrowed. OAG 71-460.

County does not violate this section's limitation on indebtedness by selling courthouse to a holding corporation for $1.00, after which the corporation borrows funds to renovate the courthouse and sells it back to the county by means of a lease purchase contract. OAG 72-32.

A watershed conservancy district with an annual tax revenue of $17,000 may not procure a loan of $17,000 where that district has a previous obligation of $14,000 even though that obligation is broken down into instalments. OAG 72-568.

For the purpose of the indebtedness limitations of the Constitution under this section and § 158 of the Constitution, the revenue-sharing money actually made available to the city and county for the year in which the proposed new indebtedness for the buildings will be incurred is a valid part of the two (2) governmental units' revenue for that particular year. OAG 73-263.

A city may borrow money to meet its pension fund obligations if such funds are not available in the city's 1973 budget provided the total amount of the money borrowed does not exceed its anticipated revenue for the year in violation of this section and § 158. OAG 73-283.

A county library board can obtain the levy of a tax by the county fiscal court over and beyond the county's general tax levy by either establishing a library district and thus a separate taxing district organized under KRS 173.470 or KRS 173.720 or it may request the fiscal court, pursuant to KRS 67.083, to present to the voters the question of an additional tax levy, which if assented to by two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of those voting upon the question, would be an intended, authorized "voting levy" and therefore not subject to KRS 68.245 (1) or prohibited by this section. OAG 73-291.

When a county establishes a garbage district, such district can levy an annual tax on the property within the district or it may impose a service charge for users. The affairs of such a district would be controlled and managed by a board of directors who could operate the system directly or let a franchise and contract out on bids and, while the fiscal court may establish such district and boundaries for it, the legislative bodies of incorporated cities within the county boundary would have to approve their being made a part of the district and the fiscal court would have no authority to specify the methods of financing the district may use. OAG 73-487.

All taxes levied by a county in one (1) year constitute one fund and are to be taken in the aggregate in computing the commission due the collecting officer except that where a special district is a separate taxing district and where commission procedure is not otherwise provided apart from KRS 134.290(2), the county should be reimbursed for that portion of the sheriff's commission allocated to the collection of such separate taxing district taxes and paid by the county, as the library tax, under KRS 173.720, and the public health taxing district tax, under KRS 212.720, are not a part of the county tax within the prohibition of this section. OAG 73-647.

If the county decides to issue county government obligation bonds, instead of revenue bonds, which would not be county obligations, then the limitations of this section and § 158 would have to be considered and, if an emergency were shown, the 2 per cent limit could be exceeded, but if the obligation exceeded the income and revenue of the county for a one-year period, the question would have to be submitted to the voters and whatever amount was borrowed would have to be measured against these limitations. OAG 73-764.

A garbage and refuse disposal district is a public agency, rather than a private agency, since the directors on the governing body of the district must take an oath of office and have a definite term of office, the plans and operations of the district are governed by statute, and the board of directors has condemnation, bond issuing, and taxing power. OAG 73-813.

A county cannot pledge money, pursuant to KRS 183.132, to an airport board for airport purposes out of the general fund, without the vote of the people, unless the amount pledged can be found within the available income for the fiscal year. OAG 74-399.

A fiscal court may pass an ordinance submitting the question as to the voting of an ad valorem tax, for the purpose of financing county ambulance service, at the general election, regardless of whether the county directly provides such services or contracts for such services, without being in conflict with any constitutional or statutory provision. OAG 75-158.

Since KRS 75.040 authorizes the board of trustees of fire protection districts to levy taxes and as a separate taxing district under this section and § 158; it may borrow money in anticipation of but not in excess of its annual revenue for the year unless by an affirmative vote of the voters living within the district, it could borrow funds from a savings and loan association to purchase land and to erect a building to house its fire fighting facilities. OAG 75-511.

This section does not authorize a special election for any situations coming under it. OAG 75-690.

Neighborhood improvement districts do not have the authority to levy ad valorem property taxes as they are not taxing districts. OAG 76-33.

A contract entered into by a county to pay an annual rental for a period of years is a creation of indebtedness for the aggregate amount of the rentals in the year in which the contract is made and where such indebtedness would exceed the revenue of the county for the year, it may not be contracted without the assent of two thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the voters of the county. OAG 76-150.

A county judge, on behalf of the fiscal court, could not validly enter into a lease contract with the United States for a 50-year term without a vote of approval by two thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the voters at an election. OAG 76-538.

A maintenance agreement in which the fiscal court agrees to the expenditure of county funds over a number of years to maintain an earthen dam for flood control purposes would violate this section. OAG 77-322.

Industrial revenue bonds issued by a county pursuant to KRS Chapter 103 are not an indebtedness of the county within the meaning of this section. OAG 77-422.

Control by the fiscal court of land acquisitions and capital expenditures of separate taxing districts would in effect strike down the autonomy of separate taxing districts within the meaning of this section. OAG 77-433.

The entire amount of the obligation for whatever number of years must be considered in the initial year in determining the total indebtedness that the city will be obligated for as opposed to its anticipated revenue for said year, and if the total indebtedness exceeds the anticipated revenue in the initial year, this section would be violated. OAG 78-452.

If fire trucks are purchased on a lease-purchase basis (that is, when so many rentals are paid on the truck then the title will be transferred to the city) and if the city would only obligate itself in renting the equipment for one (1) year, subject to renewals one (1) year at a time, and if the annual installments on the truck can be paid from current revenues within the fiscal year in which the loan is made, then the loan would be legal under this section. OAG 78-572.

If the aggregate loan amount for foreclosing and remodeling a building cannot be paid by receipts during the fiscal year from current revenues, then such loan would be illegal under this section without a vote of the people. OAG 78-572.

Without a vote of the people, any loan made to the city must not exceed, when considering the total financial obligations of the city for the particular fiscal year, the anticipated current revenue of the city for that fiscal year. OAG 78-572.

A hospital district is a special taxing district, and the hospital district tax rate is entirely separate from the county tax ad valorem rate. OAG 79-100.

When an indebtedness is incurred in excess of the anticipated revenue and it is not for essential governmental purposes, only the excess of the anticipated revenue would be considered void. OAG 79-126.

A contract to pay an annual amount for a period of years creates an indebtedness for the aggregate amount in the year in which the contract is made. OAG 79-226.

The tax rate restriction applicable to a separate taxing district does not involve the tax rate restriction of the county in which it is located. OAG 79-273.

The limit of tax rate as fixed by this section is mandatory and absolute. OAG 79-273.

Under this section the Legislature intended to create the extension district as a separate entity of government, a separate "governmental subdivision of the Commonwealth," a separate public body corporate, and a separate taxing district. OAG 79-273.

There is no requirement that the Legislature, in order to create a separate taxing district, must employ in the statute the magic words "shall constitute a separate taxing district within the meaning of § 157 of the Constitution." OAG 79-273.

The mortgage provision applied in KRS 103.251 is constitutional in terms of the indebtedness restrictions of this section and § 158 of the Constitution; since no general fund revenues or tax revenues of the city will ever be involved, even should the mortgage ever be foreclosed and the property sold, no deficiency judgment can be obtained against the city and the bond transaction does not fall within the rule given in Bowling Green v. Kirby, 220 Ky. 839, 295 S.W. 1004, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 603 (Ky. 1927), that where a mortgage could foreclose on project property, which was acquired by city revenues, the foreclosure and sale constituted payment of a debt by the municipality. OAG 79-439.

While a city has an obligation of good faith to the industrial building revenue bondholders under the bond documents, that is not equivalent to the financial obligation of the city or city indebtedness under this section and § 158 of the Constitution. OAG 79-439.

A fire protection district is a special and separate taxing district under this section and § 158 of the Constitution. OAG 79-647.

The county judge/executive, with approval of the fiscal court as a body, could dissolve an agricultural extension district, provided it meets certain minimal constitutional requirements: (1) the fiscal court would hold a public hearing on the matter of dissolution; (2) all liabilities and contractual obligations of the district would have to be settled completely prior to dissolution. OAG 80-67.

When this section and Const., § 158 are read in their entirety, the restrictions of those sections are to be applied to a unit of government constituting a “municipality” and a “taxing unit” at the same time, in other words, those designated categories must coexist in order for the restrictions to apply; an urban-county airport board has no taxing power, and since it is not a “taxing unit” it is not subject to the restrictions of this section and Const., § 158. OAG 80-333.

A county fiscal court has the authority, pursuant to this section, to place the question of a special ad valorem tax levy for park construction and maintenance on the November general election ballot, if a contractual indebtedness in connection with the park is envisioned and such contractual indebtedness cannot be funded out of current county revenues; the requisite vote for passage is two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the voters voting at such election. OAG 80-381.

The issue of a special tax for the maintenance of a county park can be included on the same ballot with the question of a bond issue for the construction of the county park, provided the questions on the ballot clearly delineate the precise indebtedness involved in both categories; the bond issue question, under KRS 66.040, requires two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the votes on the question, and the special tax voted on must fund both the construction and maintenance of the county park. OAG 80-381.

A fiscal court could engage in a five (5) year contract with a landfill operator at an agreed-to price for handling the county's garbage and solid waste, but with the express understanding that payments to the landfill operator will come only out of the receipts to the county in the form of garbage system user charges; the contract should by an express provision make it clear that the fiscal court is not obligated to fund out of its general funds, created by tax revenues, the landfill contract and the hauling of the garbage and solid waste from the transfer station in the county to the landfill; the contract could also provide that during the five (5) year period the fiscal court would covenant to maintain the specific user charges agreed on, and that all county garbage would be delivered to that landfill operator. OAG 80-455.

An emergency ambulance service district created either by referendum under KRS 108.100 or by action of the fiscal court under KRS 108.105 would be a special taxing district under this section, since KRS 108.100 and KRS 108.105 must be read together under the doctrine of in pari materia and since an autonomous special taxing district would not be included in the county's ad valorem tax levy under KRS 68.245. OAG 81-99.

Where a hospital district is created pursuant to KRS 216.317 and is established by the secretary for human resources pursuant to KRS 216.320 so that it is a separate “taxing district” under this section, but the fiscal court has not levied an ad valorem tax to fund its operations, the district cannot constitutionally enter into a contract for a period in excess of one (1) year obligating it to pay a debt which cannot be funded from revenues available in the year in which the obligation is created unless it is specifically approved, pursuant to this section, by two thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the voters residing in the taxing district. OAG 81-128.

An ambulance service district is a special taxing district under subdivision (3) of KRS 108.100 and this section, and as such, the tax rate and debt limitations referred to in this section relate to that district rather than the county in which it is located; thus the sheriff, rather than the county, has the authority to collect the special ad valorem tax for the district. OAG 81-319.

Since KRS 108.105 relates to an “alternative means of creating an ambulance service district,” that section and KRS 108.100 should be construed together in pari materia, in construing KRS 108.105 to involve a taxing district within the meaning of this section which involves a separate tax independent of the county tax levy. OAG 81-344.

Where a vote of the people is necessary under this section, to validate a contractual debt occasioned by subsidizing a person or a company holding an emergency ambulance service franchise, the election law contains no minimum time for the fiscal court's certifying by a formal order the question under this section to the county clerk before the regular election but it should be so certified to the county clerk, by a formal fiscal court order, before the ballots are printed. OAG 81-344.

Future receipts of county coal severance funds could not be obligated by a fiscal court beyond its present term of office for the future construction of a high school pursuant to subsection (2)(f) of KRS 42.455; a fiscal court cannot, due to the restrictions of this section, create county obligations in any year which would be in excess of the county's income and revenue for that particular year without a vote of the people. OAG 81-408.

A county fiscal court can lease real property to a private entrepreneur for a five (5) year period without violating this section and Const., § 158 if the contractual obligation by the county for maintenance and repair during that period can be funded out of the current revenues available to the county in the year the lease is executed; otherwise the proposed lease must be approved by two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the voters at an election held pursuant to this section. OAG 82-60.

Where there is no contractual financial obligation created on the part of a county, the limitations of this section and § 158 of the Constitution do not come into play. OAG 82-60.

The Legislature, in connection with a health taxing district under both KRS 212.725 and 212.755, intended to make each type of health district a separate or special taxing district under this section. OAG 82-151.

There is no rational basis for a distinction between a public health district created under KRS 212.720 and one created under KRS 212.750. Both types of districts were intended to be special taxing districts under this section. OAG 82-151.

Once a fiscal court properly set a county attorney's salary as to maximum amount, the inability of the county to pay all of the salary at a certain time because the budget only provided for payment of a lesser amount would not constitutionally prevent the attorney's later recovery of the balance owed under the appropriate statute of limitation. OAG 82-159.

Where proposed water improvement and expansion project to be constructed by Corps of Engineers involves the exercise of governmental or legislative powers or the exercise of discretion, as opposed to the exercise of business or proprietary powers, the city legislative body may not enter into a contract to obligate itself to operate and maintain the project beyond the terms of its members. In addition, the constitutional debt limit question could be involved where the agreement extends for many years as a city cannot become indebted in an amount exceeding in any year the income and revenue provided for such year. OAG 82-235.

A library district can qualify to issue revenue bonds under KRS Ch. 58, since it is a special taxing district under this section and is a “governmental agency” under KRS 58.010(3). If it issues revenue bonds for a proposed project, the library district board can exercise the power to condemn real estate pursuant to KRS 58.140. OAG 82-343.

If a proposed loan from local banks to a county hospital could not be completely funded out of tax revenues available in the accounting year in which the loan was made, the loan would be void without a vote of the people, as required by this section. That would be true even if the debt were within the limits set by Const., § 158. OAG 82-401.

Patient revenues cannot be included as “income and revenue” of a hospital within the meaning of this section. OAG 82-401.

The future revenues envisioned in this section relate only to such future revenues as can be exacted in the form of taxes. OAG 82-401.

The payment of expenses of the usual and current administration of government, i.e., compulsory obligations of government arising out of statutory law, are not within the prohibitive range of this section. However, the operation of a hospital by the county is not mandatory; therefore, a proposed debt relating to a hospital fall within the operative provisions of Const., § 158 and this section. OAG 82-401.

Where a county hospital faced a cash-flow crisis and needed to acquire funds to meet that crisis, the proposed debt could be validated by submitting it to a vote of the people under this section if such debt would exceed the available tax revenues for the particular year. The necessary affirmative vote required by this section would validate such an obligation either with government obligation bond financing or without any bond issue assuming that the limits of Const., § 158 were observed. OAG 82-401.

This section only places an inhibition on the “indebtedness” of a county or municipality; it does not purport to direct any specific form or type of indebtedness. Obviously, this section was written for the protection of the taxpayers of counties and municipalities. OAG 82-446.

Where a county, in order to fund an operating deficit of the county hospital, proposed to enter into an obligation in the form of notes payable solely and only out of a “special fund,” i.e., the revenues of the county hospital and, although the notes would probably be set up in terms of one (1) year obligations, it would be the intention of the county and the hospital, on the one hand, and the owners of the notes on the other hand, to renegotiate the contract each year for a period of seven (7) years with a continually decreasing total such that the entire obligation would be paid in seven (7) years time, and where the notes would declare on their face that payment would be made solely and only from the revenues of the hospital and that the county would have no obligation, directly or indirectly, to pay the notes from the county treasury or budgeted funds of the county, such proposed loan would not violate this section and would be legal. OAG 82-446.

Pursuant to Const., § 158 and this section, a county is required to adopt, budget-wise, the pay-as-you-go plan and not to incur obligations in excess of its current revenues. OAG 83-49.

The library tax imposed under KRS 173.720 is not a part of the county tax within the prohibition of this section; to the contrary, the library tax is a tax levied by a new authorized and separate taxing district pursuant to statutory authority. OAG 83-310.

Road equipment expense is not a necessary and compulsory governmental expense. OAG 83-323.

There is an exception to the restrictions of Const., § 158 and this section which consists of obligations for essential governmental services and functions; examples of “essential governmental expenses” are salaries of county officials and employees, expenses of holding county elections and the expense of maintaining a county hospital. OAG 83-323.

Since the leasing of road equipment does not involve an essential and compulsory governmental service or function, if a lease contract involves an assumption by the county of a total debt of lease payments which exceeds the income and revenue available to the county for the particular year in which the lease is executed, the contract would violate this section in the absence of a requisite vote of the people; in the event that such lease would involve a lease for only one (1) year, which could at the option of fiscal court be renewed from year to year (the county only being obligated for one (1) year at a time), and assuming that the county has currently available revenue to cover the first year’s rental (and has available the current revenue to cover any subsequent one (1) year renewal), and assuming the limit of Ky. Const., § 158 is met, then this section would not be violated. OAG 83-323.

A board of managers of the city/county hospital, selected by the county judge and city mayor to operate the affairs of the hospital, is not a municipality within the meaning of this section. OAG 83-388.

A city commission of a third-class city could not undertake to purchase real property on an installment contract basis from general revenues of the city at a total cost in excess of anticipated revenue for the current fiscal year without enactment of an ordinance pursuant to KRS 91A.030 and without compliance with the referendum requirement of this section. OAG 84-74.

The manifest purpose of this section was to inaugurate and perpetuate the “pay-as-you-go” plan of government in the local branches of government and to prevent fiscal authorities invested with the power to appropriate public moneys from incurring obligations in excess of the income and revenue, actually provided for by levy or otherwise, in the absence of the necessary constitutional vote. OAG 84-293.

A fire protection district is a “governmental agency,” as defined in KRS 58.180, and could thus use the corporate bond mechanism established in KRS 58.180. Therefore, a fire protection district may create a nonprofit corporation and provide for the issuance of the corporation’s revenue bonds to finance a firehouse and related facilities. OAG 84-328.

A fire protection district, as a special taxing district under this section and § 158 of the Constitution, is a “governmental agency,” as defined in KRS 58.010(3); thus, it has the authority to acquire, construct, and maintain a firehouse or other directly related facilities by the issuance of revenue bonds, pursuant to KRS 58.020. OAG 84-328.

The health district, acting through the health board, may execute a land contract for the purchase of property for district purposes, pursuant to KRS 212.740, subject to this section, payable from district ad valorem taxes, under KRS 212.725 and 212.755. OAG 84-385.

Public health taxing district was designated as a separate taxing district within the meaning of this section, pursuant to KRS 212.720 and 212.750. Thus, where county board of health sought to purchase property for the purpose of expansion by way of a conventional 10- or 15-year note and mortgage, this section required that the total indebtedness be fundable from the revenue available to the district for the year in which the obligations were executed; if the indebtedness would exceed the income and revenue actually available for the year in which the obligation was incurred, the assent of two-thirds (⅔) of the voters of the district at an election for that purpose would be required. OAG 84-385.

A fire protection district is a special and separate taxing district under this section and Const., § 158. OAG 85-65.

In a county with a population of less than thirty thousand, a fiscal court can produce new or additional revenue other than that derived from the ordinary ad valorem tax rate by levying a license or occupational tax without a vote of the people if the county does not already have a general license or occupational tax. OAG 85-84.

By exempting school districts from the scope of application of the act, and by permitting termination by a taxing district on a year-to-year basis of a contractual arrangement with an agency, Acts 1986, ch. 13, which repealed the Tax Increment Act, KRS 99.750, and enacted KRS 99.751, 99.756, 99.761, 99.766 and 99.771 (now see KRS 65.490 et seq.), has remedied the constitutional problems under this section and Const., § 184 that the Supreme Court in Miller v. Covington Development Authority, 539 S.W.2d 1, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 40 (Ky. 1976), found with the Tax Increment Act. OAG 86-48.

Constitution §§ 26, 158, 162, 179 and this section do not impose a general ban upon a county agreeing to joint and several liability with other counties or political entities; furthermore, these constitutional sections do not prohibit payment of obligations incurred in a prior year, from moneys of a subsequent year. OAG 93-54.

§ 157b. Adoption of budget required for cities, counties, and taxing districts — Expenditures not to exceed revenues for fiscal year.

Prior to each fiscal year, the legislative body of each city, county, and taxing district shall adopt a budget showing total expected revenues and expenditures for the fiscal year. No city, county, or taxing district shall expend any funds in any fiscal year in excess of the revenues for that fiscal year. A city, county, or taxing district may amend its budget for a fiscal year, but the revised expenditures may not exceed the revised revenues. As used in this section, "revenues" shall mean all income from every source, including unencumbered reserves carried over from the previous fiscal year, and "expenditures" shall mean all funds to be paid out for expenses of the city, county, or taxing district during the fiscal year, including amounts necessary to pay the principal and interest due during the fiscal year on any debt.

History.

Adoption proposed by Acts 1994, ch. 168, § 3, and ratified November 8, 1994.

Compiler's Notes.

The General Assembly in 1994 (Acts 1994, ch. 168, § 2) proposed that a new section be added to the Constitution to be numbered as section 157b. Such proposed section was ratified by the voters at the regular election November 8, 1994 and became effective November 8, 1994.

Section 5 of Acts 1994, ch. 168 provides: "It is further proposed as a part of this amendment and as a transitional provision for the purposes of this amendment, that any contract or legally binding obligation of a local government shall remain unaffected until the contract or obligation is renegotiated or expires."

Analysis

1. In General.
2. Violation.
3. No Violation.

1. In General.

KRS 91A.030(8) is clear that no budget ordinance shall be adopted which provides for appropriations to exceed revenues in any one fiscal year in violation of Ky. Const. § 157, which provides that the legislative body of a city shall adopt a budget showing total expected revenues and expenditures for the fiscal year. Likewise, KRS 91A.030(10) is equally clear that any amendments made to the original ordinance must continue to satisfy the same requirement of balance between revenue and expenditures. Taylor v. Carter, 333 S.W.3d 437, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 250 (Ky. Ct. App. 2010).

2. Violation.

At the time that a budget, or an amendment to a budget is passed, it need not be literally, "in balance" as of the date of passage because a city is certainly not expected to have, at the moment of passage, revenues adequate to meet all anticipated expenditures; however, the budget must be "in balance" insofar as anticipated expenditures not exceed anticipated revenues. Therefore, LaGrange, Ky., Ordinance 10-2008 violated KRS 91A.030(8), (10) and Ky. Const. § 157 because a tax decrease caused anticipated revenues to be less than anticipated expenditures; the city did not know at the time the ordinance was passed that it would later receive donations that served to offset the reduction in revenue. Taylor v. Carter, 333 S.W.3d 437, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 250 (Ky. Ct. App. 2010).

3. No Violation.

Contract for fire protection services did not violate Ky. Const. § 157b as that constitutional provision did not prohibit the district from creating obligations beyond one year, and the 10-year contract renewal only obligated it to only spend those tax revenues collected. Se. Bullitt Fire Prot. Dist. v. Se. Bullitt Fire & Rescue Dep't, 537 S.W.3d 828, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 397 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

§ 158. Maximum indebtedness of cities, counties, and taxing districts — General Assembly authorized to set additional limits and conditions.

Cities, towns, counties, and taxing districts shall not incur indebtedness to an amount exceeding the following maximum percentages on the value of the taxable property therein, to be estimated by the last assessment previous to the incurring of the indebtedness: Cities having a population of fifteen thousand or more, ten percent (10%); cities having a population of less than fifteen thousand but not less than three thousand, five percent (5%); cities having a population of less than three thousand, three percent (3%); and counties and taxing districts, two percent (2%), unless in case of emergency, the public health or safety should so require. Nothing shall prevent the issue of renewal bonds, or bonds to fund the floating indebtedness of any city, county, or taxing district. Subject to the limits and conditions set forth in this section and elsewhere in this Constitution, the General Assembly shall have the power to establish additional limits on indebtedness and conditions under which debt may be incurred by cities, counties, and taxing districts.

Amendment proposed by Acts 1994, ch. 168, § 4, and ratified November 8, 1994.

Compiler's Notes.

The General Assembly in 1994 (Acts 1994, ch. 168, § 4) proposed an amendment to this section of the Constitution which was ratified by the voters at the regular election November 8, 1994 and became effective November 8, 1994. Prior to this amendment this section read:

“§ 158. Maximum indebtedness of cities, counties, and taxing districts — Indebtedness authorized or incurred prior to Constitution

The respective cities, towns, counties, taxing districts, and municipalities shall not be authorized or permitted to incur indebtedness to an amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding the following named maximum percentages on the value of the taxable property therein, to be estimated by the assessment next before the last assessment previous to the incurring of the indebtedness, viz.: Cities of the first and second classes, and of the third class having a population exceeding fifteen thousand, ten per centum; cities of the third class having a population of less than fifteen thousand, and cities and towns of the fourth class, five per centum; cities and towns of the fifth and sixth classes, three per centum; and counties, taxing districts and other municipalities, two per centum: Provided, any city, town, county, taxing district or other municipality may contract an indebtedness in excess of such limitations when the same has been authorized under laws in force prior to the adoption of this Constitution, or when necessary for the completion of and payment for a public improvement undertaken and not completed and paid for at the time of the adoption of this Constitution: And provided further, If, at the time of the adoption of the Constitution, the aggregate indebtedness, bonded or floating, of any city, town, county, taxing district, or other municipality, including that which it has been or may be authorized to contract as herein provided, shall exceed the limit herein prescribed, then no such city or town shall be authorized or permitted to increase its indebtedness in an amount exceeding two per centum, and no such county, taxing district or other municipality, in an amount exceeding one per centum, in the aggregate upon the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained as herein provided, until the aggregate of its indebtedness shall have been reduced below the limit herein fixed, and thereafter it shall not exceed the limit, unless in case of emergency, the public health or safety should so require. Nothing herein shall prevent the issue of renewal bonds, or bonds to fund the floating indebtedness of any city, town, county, taxing district or other municipality.

Section 5 of Acts 1994, ch. 168 provides: “It is further proposed as a part of this amendment and as a transitional provision for the purposes of this amendment, that any contract or legally binding obligation of a local government shall remain unaffected until the contract or obligation is renegotiated or expires.”

1. Construction.

This section, along with Const., § 157, fixes a maximum of indebtedness which may not be exceeded except for the reasons specified in the sections. Bardwell v. Harlin, 118 Ky. 232, 80 S.W. 773, 26 Ky. L. Rptr. 101, 1904 Ky. LEXIS 22 (Ky. 1904).

The debt limitation of this section contemplates a present and not a future indebtedness. Barry v. New Haven, 162 Ky. 60, 171 S.W. 1012, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 13 (Ky. 1915).

This section limits aggregate indebtedness permitted to be incurred with the assent of two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the voters pursuant to Const., § 157. Parsons v. Arnold, 235 Ky. 600, 31 S.W.2d 928, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 416 (Ky. 1930).

The provision with respect to renewal bonds and bonds to fund a floating indebtedness is self-executing and requires no specific statutory implementation. Johnson v. Middleton, 243 Ky. 251, 47 S.W.2d 1030, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 61 (Ky. 1932). See Baker v. Rockcastle County Court, 225 Ky. 99, 7 S.W.2d 846, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 715 (Ky. 1928); Geveden v. Laurel County, 270 Ky. 638, 110 S.W.2d 419, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 128 (Ky. 1937).

The limitations on counties in this section are inapplicable to bonds issued for roads and bridges. Shearin v. Ballard County, 266 Ky. 806, 100 S.W.2d 836, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 12 (Ky. 1937). See Shearin v. Ballard County, 267 Ky. 737, 103 S.W.2d 292, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 393 (Ky. 1937).

That part of this section requiring payment in 40 years must be read with that part of Const., § 158 permitting renewal of bonds. Pulaski County v. Ben Hur Life Ass'n, 286 Ky. 119, 149 S.W.2d 738, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 210 (Ky. 1941).

2. Application.

Funding bonds are within the limitations of this section. Fulton County Fiscal Court v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

Voted bonds are also within the limitations of this section. Fulton County Fiscal Court v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

Ordinarily, constitutional restrictions on municipal indebtedness are not applicable to obligations which are payable out of money derived from income and revenues of city-owned and revenue-producing public utilities. Grimm v. Moloney, 358 S.W.2d 496, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 180 (Ky. 1962).

3. Determination of Population.

For the purpose of determining the population and so the limit of indebtedness, a city may take a census pursuant to an ordinance, though a federal census has been taken two (2) months before, especially where territory has been added in the meantime. Lancaster v. Owensboro, 72 S.W. 731, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 1978, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 334 (Ky. Ct. App. 1903).

4. Indebtedness.

When a city contracts to pay a certain sum per year for a given number of years for water and electric light, it "incurs an indebtedness" within the meaning of the Constitution, for the total amount which the contract provides shall be paid during all the years it is to continue. Beard v. Hopkinsville, 95 Ky. 239, 24 S.W. 872, 15 Ky. L. Rptr. 756, 1894 Ky. LEXIS 9 (Ky. 1894).

Bonds which were issued prior to the adoption of the Constitution and short-term notes are debts within the meaning of this section. Jones v. Board of Education, 191 Ky. 198, 229 S.W. 1032, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 295 (Ky. 1921).

The legislature has the power to prescribe the form and manner of the issuing and sale of bonds as long as the right and power of a governmental subdivision to pay its debts is not destroyed. Rohde v. Newport, 246 Ky. 476, 55 S.W.2d 368, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 793 (Ky. 1932).

Interest to become due in future would not be considered as an indebtedness within constitutional debt limitations. Dalton v. State Property & Bldgs. Com., 304 S.W.2d 342, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 276 (Ky. 1957).

5. — Governmental Purposes.

The incurrence of debt for essential governmental purposes is valid even though the debt limitations fixed by this section and Const., § 157 are exceeded, but payment of such a debt must be made out of funds raised within those limitations. Fulton County Fiscal Court v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

6. — Current Expenses.

Appropriations for current operation of the county do not constitute a debt within the limitations prescribed by this section where such appropriations are within a reasonable anticipation of all taxes and other revenues to be collected during the current year. Estill County v. Noland, 295 Ky. 753, 175 S.W.2d 341, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 324 (Ky. 1943).

7. — Special Assessments.

Where statute authorized city council to order street pavements at cost of property owners and to provide a fund for the immediate payment of the entire cost or for payments on a ten (10) year plan and to borrow money in anticipation by issuing bonds, the city had authority to order the work done and to order immediate payment therefor by the property owners, and one could not avoid payment on the ground that the city had no power to order the improvement. Covington v. Nadaud, 103 Ky. 455, 45 S.W. 498, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 151, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 84 (Ky. 1898).

8. — Created Before Constitution.

The provisions of this section and Const., § 157 do not affect an indebtedness of a town created by vote of its taxpayers before the Constitution was adopted. Aydelett v. South Louisville, 26 S.W. 717, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 166 (1894).

The provisions of this section do not prohibit the incurring of an indebtedness in excess of the amount by the issuance of bonds where, before the adoption of the Constitution, all the steps required by the charter necessary to the issuance of the bonds had been taken. Ludlow v. Board of Education, 29 S.W. 854, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 805 (1895).

The provisions of this section and Const., § 157 do not apply to an indebtedness for public improvements which a city of the second class was specially authorized, prior to the adoption of the Constitution, to contract. Warren v. Newport, 64 S.W. 852, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1006, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 623 (Ky. Ct. App. 1901).

9. — Excess at Time of Constitution.

Where the indebtedness of a city at the time of the adoption of the Constitution exceeded the prescribed limit by the Constitution, it matters not how great the excess, the city may, so long as the indebtedness has never been reduced below the limit prescribed, increase its indebtedness to the extent of two percent (2%) on the value of the taxable property in the city, but any increase since the adoption of the Constitution is to be estimated in determining whether a further increase will exceed the two percent (2%) limit. Ashland v. Culbertson, 103 Ky. 161, 44 S.W. 441, 19 Ky. L. Rptr. 1812, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 41 (Ky. 1898), overruled, Weil, Roth & Co. v. Paris, 176 Ky. 841, 197 S.W. 461, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 130 (Ky. 1917).

Where a city of the fourth class decreases its indebtedness existing at the time of the adoption of the Constitution below the five percent (5%) maximum, the two percent (2%) extension does not apply. Walsh v. Pineville, 152 Ky. 556, 153 S.W. 1002, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 721 (Ky. 1913).

Where a city's indebtedness has exceeded five percent (5%) of its taxable property at the adoption of the Constitution and ever since, it is entitled to incur the additional indebtedness permitted by this section. Bosworth v. Middlesboro, 190 Ky. 246, 227 S.W. 170, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 420 (Ky. 1921).

10. — Estimation of Amount.

City bonds expressly issued to retire bonds issued to take up the city's floating debt are not to be considered in determining whether the limit of indebtedness as fixed by the Constitution has been exceeded. Farson, Leach & Co. v. Board of Comm'rs, 97 Ky. 119, 30 S.W. 17, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 856, 1895 Ky. LEXIS 160 (Ky. 1895).

In determining whether the indebtedness created by the issuance of bonds by a city will exceed the limit prescribed by the Constitution, only the face of the bonds, and not the future interest, is to be estimated. Ashland v. Culbertson, 103 Ky. 161, 44 S.W. 441, 19 Ky. L. Rptr. 1812, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 41 (Ky. 1898), overruled, Weil, Roth & Co. v. Paris, 176 Ky. 841, 197 S.W. 461, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 130 (Ky. 1917).

In determining the amount of indebtedness of a city of the third class, an indebtedness created prior to the adoption of the Constitution should not be considered. Kimbley v. Owensboro, 176 Ky. 532, 195 S.W. 1087, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 75 (Ky. 1917).

Previously issued warrants which were void cannot be considered in determining the validity of a proposed expenditure. Williams v. Estill County, 253 Ky. 417, 69 S.W.2d 683, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 655 (Ky. 1934).

11. — — Current Expenses.

Current expenses of a city for the current year are not to be included in an estimate of a city's existing indebtedness. O'Bryan v. Owensboro, 113 Ky. 680, 68 S.W. 858, 69 S.W. 800, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 469, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 645, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 1902), overruled, Nelson County Fiscal Court v. McCrocklin, 175 Ky. 199, 194 S.W. 323, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 316 (Ky. 1917).

In determining the total indebtedness under this section, there must be included the proposed indebtedness and all outstanding contracted indebtedness, whether bonded or floating, but it is not necessary to include current expenses for the current year. Winchester v. Nelson, 175 Ky. 63, 193 S.W. 1040, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 287 (Ky. 1917).

Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co.*, 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

12. — — School Debts.

Where a city includes an independent school district which is an independent corporation, the indebtedness of the school district is not to be treated as a part of the city's indebtedness, in determining whether the city has reached its maximum constitutional debt limit, so as to preclude the issuance of further bonds. Ex parte Newport, 141 Ky. 329, 132 S.W. 580, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 462 (Ky. 1910), overruled, Ex parte Ashland, 256 Ky. 384, 76 S.W.2d 43, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 415 (Ky. 1934).

In estimating the indebtedness of a city in order to determine whether a proposed bond issue would exceed the limits of this section, the bonded indebtedness of the school board is not considered as part of the city's indebtedness. Rash v. Madisonville, 148 Ky. 154, 146 S.W. 386, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 406 (Ky. 1912).

An indebtedness of cities of the second class for school purposes is distinct from that of any other municipal corporation or political body, including the school district, and in reckoning the indebtedness thereof to determine whether contemplated school bonds would exceed the city's debt limit, the indebtedness of a school corporation wholly or partially within the city is not to be considered. Coppin v. Board of Education, 155 Ky. 387, 159 S.W. 937, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 258 (Ky. 1913).

School improvement bonds which were approved by the voters of the city were debts of the city and not of the board of education with respect to the determination of debt limitations of this section. Hager v. Board of Education, 254 Ky. 791, 72 S.W.2d 475, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 160 (Ky. 1934).

Citizens Bank*, 279 Ky. 413, 130 S.W.2d 832, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 297 (Ky. 1939).

Monroe County*, 271 Ky. 368, 112 S.W.2d 47, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 244 (Ky. 1937), overruled, Bell v. Board of Education, 343 S.W.2d 804, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 433 (Ky. 1961).

14. — — Sinking Funds.

In determining the indebtedness under this section, a sinking fund created to pay bonds not yet due should be deducted from the total amount of outstanding indebtedness. First Nat'l Bank v. Jackson, 199 Ky. 94, 250 S.W. 795, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 767 (Ky. 1923).

15. — — Time of Bond Sale.

It is sufficient under this section, limiting the indebtedness of fourth-class cities to five percent (5%) of the assessed value of the property, that the indebtedness does not exceed the constitutional limitation at the time of the issuance and sale of the bonds, and the fact that the existing indebtedness, together with that created by the bonds, exceeded the limitation at the time of the election to authorize the issuance of the bonds would not make them invalid, the indebtedness not being created until the bonds were sold. Frost v. Central City, 134 Ky. 434, 120 S.W. 367, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 396 (Ky. 1909), overruled, Board of Education v. Corbin, 301 Ky. 686, 192 S.W.2d 951, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 544 (Ky. 1946).

16. — — Assessment.

Where a city is divided into colored and white school districts, the taxable property to be included in assessments for the colored school district includes the property owned by colored citizens and the proportion of corporate property in the city that the number of colored children bears to the whole number of children of school age in the city. Moss v. Mayfield, 186 Ky. 330, 216 S.W. 842, 1919 Ky. LEXIS 218 (Ky. 1919).

Board of Education*, 209 Ky. 351, 272 S.W. 887, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 498 (Ky. 1925).

The assessed valuation of the property taxable for the support of the county board of education when the bonds are sold determines the constitutional limitation of the debt, but that value is presumed to be the same as the last complete and final assessment. Rowan County Board of Education v. Citizens Bank, 279 Ky. 413, 130 S.W.2d 832, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 297 (Ky. 1939).

Loyall*, 284 Ky. 233, 144 S.W.2d 502, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 481 (Ky. 1940).

been exceeded. Jackson v. First Nat'l Bank, 289 Ky. 1, 157 S.W.2d 321, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 10 (Ky. 1941).

Covington*, 220 Ky. 798, 295 S.W. 1068, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 636 (Ky. 1927). See Davis v. Newport, 224 Ky. 546, 6 S.W.2d 693, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 635 (Ky. 1928).

levy within the limits prescribed by Const., § 157. Rowland v. Winchester, 306 Ky. 772, 209 S.W.2d 305, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 646 (Ky. 1948).

Where city had a population of less than 15,000 and the limitation of its indebtedness was five percent (5%) of the assessed value of the taxable property and the city proved that at the end of the year 1947 its outstanding obligations were approximately $35,000 and the assessed valuation of the taxable property was greater than $8,000,000, it was evident that $12,000 bond issue to fund valid floating debt would not create an indebtedness in excess of the constitutional maximum. Rowland v. Winchester, 306 Ky. 772, 209 S.W.2d 305, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 646 (Ky. 1948).

20. — — — Deficits in Revenue.

A floating debt accumulated over several years from unexpected deficits in revenue and based on obligations assumed pursuant to a fair estimate of revenue was a valid obligation for which bonds could be issued. Lee v. Board of Education, 261 Ky. 379, 87 S.W.2d 961, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 666 (Ky. 1935).

An indebtedness which resulted from a failure of anticipated revenue is a valid floating indebtedness where the entire indebtedness of the city has not exceeded the limits of this section. Jones v. Paducah, 263 Ky. 542, 92 S.W.2d 811, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 213 (Ky. 1936).

Where city's floating indebtedness, resulting from deficits in revenues over series of years, constitutes city's only direct obligation and was smaller than amount of indebtedness which city could have incurred in year during which assessed valuation of city property was smallest, bonds issued to fund such floating indebtedness would not be prohibited under constitutional provision limiting authorized indebtedness to specified percentage of assessed valuation. Penrod v. Sturgis, 269 Ky. 315, 107 S.W.2d 277, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 608 (Ky. 1937).

A city of the fifth class cannot incur an indebtedness beyond the percentage fixed, or which would require the imposition of a tax rate in excess of 75 cents on the $100, as fixed by Const., § 157, except in cases of emergency. Marion v. Haynes, 157 Ky. 687, 164 S.W. 79, 1914 Ky. LEXIS 373 (Ky. 1914).

The term "emergency" means some pressing necessity out of the ordinary state of affairs which could be remedied only by unusual expedients, an emergency ordinarily meaning a crisis on the outcome of which everything depends, while an exigency is merely an occasion of urgency and suddenness. Marion v. Haynes, 157 Ky. 687, 164 S.W. 79, 1914 Ky. LEXIS 373 (Ky. 1914).

Bonds in excess of the constitutional limit are valid where the bonds were issued to meet an emergency need for a waterworks system. Samuels v. Clinton, 188 Ky. 300, 221 S.W. 1075, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 275 (Ky. 1920).

A city of the fourth class could exceed the debt limit for the purpose of making a necessary improvement in its water supply rendered necessary by abandonment of mine from which water had been taken. Harris v. Morganfield, 201 Ky. 588, 257 S.W. 1032, 1924 Ky. LEXIS 603 (Ky. 1924).

Where evidence indicated a city of the fourth class could expect a flood of much greater height than it had heretofore experienced due to the removal of timber in the river watershed, an emergency existed and bond issue which exceeded five percent (5%) of the assessment of taxable property was valid. Hill v. Pineville, 314 Ky. 359, 235 S.W.2d 776, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 654 (Ky. 1951).

The debt limitation may be exceeded by a city of the fourth class when an emergency threatens the public health and safety. Williams v. Barbourville, 246 S.W.2d 591, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 642 (Ky. 1952).

Where city was subjected to recurring floods which caused extensive property damage, emergency existed within meaning of this section and city could exceed debt limitation and city had duty under Const., § 159 to provide payment for debt even though city had to levy tax in excess of maximum rate specified in Const., § 157. Williams v. Barbourville, 246 S.W.2d 591, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 642 (Ky. 1952).

The need to construct a courthouse after the old courthouse had been totally destroyed constitutes an emergency within the meaning of this section. Magoffin County v. Rigsby, 303 S.W.2d 545, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 266 (Ky. 1957).

An emergency may be something other than a sudden or unexpected circumstance or condition and may be a pressing necessity requiring immediate attention, and the failure to provide such immediate attention does not make the pressing necessity any less an emergency. Rodgers v. Crittenden County, 337 S.W.2d 728, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 368 (Ky. 1960).

The need for a new courthouse constitutes an emergency where the old courthouse is over 75 years old, has been rapidly deteriorating since being condemned in 1919 and constitutes a fire hazard which endangers irreplaceable records as well as the health and safety of those frequenting the building. Rodgers v. Crittenden County, 337 S.W.2d 728, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 368 (Ky. 1960).

The gross inadequacy of hospital facilities in a county constitutes an emergency within the meaning of this section and permits a county to exceed its normal debt limitation. Miller v. County of Breckinridge, 361 S.W.2d 283, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 235 (Ky. 1962).

24. — Not Emergencies.

A county indebted up to the constitutional limit, and having a courthouse which may be used without endangering the public health or safety, cannot incur further indebtedness for the construction of a new courthouse, though the community has outgrown the existing courthouse. Fiscal Court of Franklin County v. Commonwealth, 139 Ky. 307, 117 S.W. 301, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 1909). See Bradford v. Fiscal Court of Bracken County, 159 Ky. 544, 167 S.W. 937, 1914 Ky. LEXIS 864 (Ky. 1914).

The need for an electric light system is not so great as to create an emergency and the limits of this section may not be exceeded by acquisition of a light plant and water system even where the need for a water system would be an emergency need. Samuels v. Clinton, 184 Ky. 97, 211 S.W. 567, 1919 Ky. LEXIS 41 (Ky. 1919).

The need to replace a school building destroyed by fire does not constitute an emergency within the meaning of this section. Nelson v. Board of Education, 213 Ky. 714, 281 S.W. 808, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 603 (Ky. 1926).

The fact that present sanitary facilities were inadequate and posed a potential health problem did not create such an unforeseen condition requiring immediate attention as to constitute an emergency within the meaning of this section. Hurst v. Millersburg, 220 Ky. 108, 294 S.W. 788, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 469 (Ky. 1927).

The need for an electric light plant does not constitute an emergency where it is not apparent that a delay in obtaining the service would imperil the public health and safety. Kentucky Utilities Co. v. Ginsberg, 255 Ky. 148, 72 S.W.2d 738, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 180 (Ky. 1934).

25. — Question of Fact.

Whether a school bond issue was necessitated by an emergency is a question of fact on which the finding of the board of education is not conclusive. Buckner v. Board of Education, 236 Ky. 768, 34 S.W.2d 236, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 837 (Ky. 1930).

26. — Municipalities and Taxing Districts.

A board of education may not incur an indebtedness in excess of the limitations of this section which are applicable to counties, taxing districts and other municipalities, as the debts are those of the board itself and not part of the city's debt. Sutherland v. Board of Education, 200 Ky. 23, 252 S.W. 123, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 12 (Ky. 1923).

A board of education which can mandatorily require the fiscal court to make a school levy is a taxing district, and may issue bonds to fund its floating indebtedness. Ebert v. Board of Education, 277 Ky. 633, 126 S.W.2d 1111, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 706 (Ky. 1939).

27. — Delay in Bond Issue.

A delay of eight (8) years between an election and the issuing of bonds was not unreasonable and would not render the bonds invalid. Runyon v. Simpson, 270 Ky. 646, 110 S.W.2d 440, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 135 (Ky. 1937).

28. — Partial Invalidity.

An order for an election to authorize an issue of school district bonds, exceeding the limitation fixed by this section, is not invalid as to the issuance of the legal amount. McKinney v. Board of Trustees, 144 Ky. 85, 137 S.W. 839, 1911 Ky. LEXIS 555 (Ky. 1911).

Where the voters had approved a $50,000 bond issue and $25,000 worth of bonds were issued, the additional amount of bonds cannot later be issued where at the time of the election the assessed property of the district would have supported an issue of only $22,000. Nelson v. Williamsburg Independent Graded School Dist., 265 Ky. 792, 97 S.W.2d 814, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 579 (Ky. 1936).

29. — Subsequent Invalid Debts.

Where county bonds were issued to an amount within the constitutional limits and later the assessed valuation of the county decreased and other debts were created so that the constitutional limits were exceeded, such facts would not invalidate either the bonds or the interest due thereon, but any portion of the later debts created for nongovernmental expenses would be void. Jones v. Fiscal Court of Fulton County, 275 Ky. 619, 122 S.W.2d 510, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 484 (Ky. 1938).

Any subsequent obligation of a county, after the aggregate of all the debts reaches the maximum allowed by this section, is void. Fulton County Fiscal Court v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

30. — Election Ordinance.

An ordinance providing for a bond election need not state the value of assessed property, as such a statement would have no influence on the determination of whether the bond issue would create an indebtedness in excess of the limitations of this section. King v. Katterjohn, 193 Ky. 359, 236 S.W. 250, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 1922).

31. — Valid Bond Issue.

A provision in an ordinance that a city contribute to the payment of bonds issued for a sewer system did not create a debt in excess of the limits of this section where the ordinance specifies that the bonds are to be paid from the revenues from the sewer system and that they are not to constitute an indebtedness of the city. Francis v. Bowling Green, 259 Ky. 525, 82 S.W.2d 804, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 351 (Ky. 1935).

A bond issue to fund an indebtedness must be approved where the debt appears to be within constitutional limits. Letcher County Board of Education v. Bank of Whitesburg, Inc., 271 Ky. 166, 111 S.W.2d 656, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 225 (Ky. 1937).

A bond issue approved by the voters to pay for construction of a floodwall is valid where there is no evidence that the limits of this section would be exceeded in liquidating the bonds. Miller v. Ashland, 310 Ky. 680, 221 S.W.2d 620, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 986 (Ky. 1949).

A bond issue which would be valid within the limits of this section will not be invalidated by the fact that the accomplishment of the purpose for which the bonds were issued would cost four times the amount of the bond issue. Howard v. Board of Education, 311 Ky. 130, 223 S.W.2d 721, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1076 (Ky. 1949).

32. — Invalid Debts.

A contract by a city of the fourth class incurring an indebtedness in excess of the five percent (5%) limit, made after the adoption of the Constitution but before the formal classification of the cities into classes by the general assembly, as required by the Constitution, was void. Beard v. Hopkinsville, 95 Ky. 239, 24 S.W. 872, 15 Ky. L. Rptr. 756, 1894 Ky. LEXIS 9 (Ky. 1894).

A subscription by a county in aid of a railroad, even if it would otherwise be valid, is unauthorized, where it would create indebtedness in excess of the limit prescribed. Whitney v. Kentucky M. R. Co., 110 Ky. 955, 63 S.W. 24, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 472, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 161 (Ky. 1901).

33. — Valid Statutes.

KRS 66.310, in forbidding counties to incur indebtedness in excess of one half (½) of one percent (1%) of their assessed valuation without the approval of the county debt commission, does not contravene this section which merely limits the power of the Legislature and does not preclude it from fixing a lower limit. Boll v. Ludlow, 227 Ky. 208, 12 S.W.2d 301, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 483 (Ky. 1928). See Booth v. Board of Education, 229 Ky. 719, 17 S.W.2d 1013, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 833 (Ky. 1929).

The provision of KRS 66.310 prohibiting a county from contracting a debt in excess of one-half (½) of one percent (1%) of the value of its taxable property without approval of the state local finance officer is not an attempt to reduce the constitutional debt limit but to require the statutory procedure to be followed before exceeding the statutory limit. Lincoln Nat'l Bank, Inc. v. County Debt Com., 294 Ky. 642, 172 S.W.2d 463, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 513 (Ky. 1943).

34. — Invalid Statutes.

A statute raising the limit of indebtedness which may be incurred by a school district from two percent (2%) to four percent (4%) is unconstitutional. Boll v. Ludlow, 227 Ky. 208, 12 S.W.2d 301, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 483 (Ky. 1928). See Booth v. Board of Education, 229 Ky. 719, 17 S.W.2d 1013, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 833 (Ky. 1929).

35. — Tax Levies.

A court may not compel a city to levy a tax to pay an indebtedness which exceeded the limitations of this section. Bardwell v. Southern Engine & Boiler Works, 130 Ky. 222, 113 S.W. 97, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 258 (Ky. 1908).

36. — Pleading and Proof.

A petition which merely avers that a floating indebtedness was illegally incurred is insufficient where it states conclusions rather than facts. King v. Christian County Board of Education, 229 Ky. 234, 16 S.W.2d 1053, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 728 (Ky. 1929).

Where a school board's proof in a proceeding to approve a bond issue was inconsistent, the validity of the indebtedness cannot be established. Arrowood v. Board of Education, 271 Ky. 812, 113 S.W.2d 466, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 65 (Ky. 1938).

37. — Injunctions.

38. — — Parties.

In taxpayer's action to enjoin the collection of a tax levied to pay county courthouse bonds, the county issuing the bonds should be made a party, since it will be directly affected by the result of the litigation, but the holders of outstanding county warrants, which the county in the same action alleges are invalid, need not be made parties, since such warrants could not possibly be affected. Cincinnati, N. O. & T. P. R. Co. v. Kinman, 280 Ky. 148, 132 S.W.2d 735, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1939).

There could be no valid judgment in either an ex parte proceeding or a taxpayer's suit for injunction as to the validity of warrants issued by a county where the holders of the warrants were not made parties to either proceeding. Cincinnati, N. O. & T. P. R. Co. v. Kinman, 280 Ky. 148, 132 S.W.2d 735, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1939).

39. — Revenue Bonds.

Bonds meeting the requirements of KRS 58.010 to 58.140 do not violate the constitutional prohibitions on indebtedness because such bonds are paid solely from revenues of the designated system and do not encumber the city itself. Baker v. Richmond, 709 S.W.2d 472, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1136 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The incurrence of debt for essential governmental purposes is valid though the results may exceed the limitations of this section, but payment must be effected out of funds raised within the tax rate structure limitations of Const., § 157. OAG 64-700.

The execution of a mortgage by a municipality on the physical properties of an off-street parking project as additional security for the revenue bonds issued to finance the project would create a prohibited indebtedness of the city under this section and Const., § 157. OAG 65-473.

A first mortgage executed by a city on parking meters partially financed by money from the general fund would create a prohibited indebtedness within the meaning of Const., § 157 and this section. OAG 65-485.

If a city borrowed the sum of $17,000 by executing a note for that amount to a local bank, even though the city were permitted to pay off the note in equal instalments over a period of five (5) years, such a loan would involve the aggregate or total amount of $17,000, rather than the $17,000 being broken into five (5) equal parts. OAG 66-689.

An urban service district created under KRS ch. 108 does not qualify as a taxing district within the meaning of Const., § 157 and this section. OAG 68-248.

A county hospital could not legally purchase equipment which could not be paid for within the fiscal year in which it was purchased. OAG 68-280.

A city's borrowing $60,000 from its depository under a five (5) year note to purchase new garbage equipment would be a violation of Const., § 157. OAG 68-578.

The establishment of a revolving capital improvement fund with money borrowed from the city investment fund and to be repaid over a five (5) year period from ad valorem taxes would be a violation of this section. OAG 69-255.

A proposed financial plan for a city to acquire an off-street parking facility which would extend over four years at a total cost equal to the approximate income of the city could violate Const., § 157 and this section, which provide that the city may not incur indebtedness in excess of the anticipated revenue for the year unless there is an affirmative vote by two-thirds (2/3) of the city's inhabitants. OAG 69-258.

Where six (6) years earlier the people of a city voted a bond issue for the construction of a floodwall but nothing further was done, the city would now be authorized to levy the special tax irrespective of the fact that the flood control project has not yet begun nor have the bonds actually been issued. OAG 69-577.

A city could not borrow on a ten (10) year loan the money to construct a fire station and office building without the debt being voted on in a general election if it exceeded the annual income of the city and, even if the vote was in favor of the indebtedness, it could not exceed the constitutional debt limit set by this section. OAG 70-24.

County does not violate this section's limitation on indebtedness by selling courthouse to a holding corporation for $1.00, after which the corporation borrows funds to renovate the courthouse and sells it back to the county by means of a lease purchase contract. OAG 72-32.

For the purpose of the indebtedness limitations of the constitution under section 157 and this section of the constitution, the revenue sharing money actually made available to the city and county for the year in which the proposed new indebtedness for the buildings will be incurred is a valid part of the two governmental units' revenue for that particular year. OAG 73-263.

A city may borrow money to meet its pension fund obligations if such funds are not available in the city's 1973 budget provided the total amount of the money borrowed does not exceed its anticipated revenue for the year in violation of this section and § 157. OAG 73-283.

If the county decides to issue county government obligation bonds instead of revenue bonds which would not be county obligations, then the limitations of this section and § 157 would have to be considered and if an emergency were shown, the two percent (2%) limit could be exceeded, but if the obligation exceeded the income and revenue of the county for a one (1) year period, the question would have to be submitted to the voters and whatever amount was borrowed would have to be measured against the limitations. OAG 73-764.

Since KRS 75.040 authorizes the board of trustees of fire protection districts to levy taxes and as a separate taxing district under Const., § 157 and this section, it may borrow money in anticipation of but not in excess of its annual revenue for the year unless by an affirmative vote of the voters living within the district, it could borrow funds from a savings and loan association to purchase land and to erect a building to house its fire fighting facilities. OAG 75-511.

Neighborhood improvement districts do not have the authority to levy ad valorem property taxes as they are not taxing districts. OAG 76-33.

When an indebtedness is incurred in excess of the anticipated revenue and it is not for essential governmental purposes, only the excess of the anticipated revenue would be considered void. OAG 79-126.

A contract to pay an annual amount for a period of years creates an indebtedness for the aggregate amount in the year in which the contract is made. OAG 79-226.

The mortgage provisions applied in KRS 103.251 is constitutional in terms of the indebtedness restrictions of § 157 of the Constitution and this section, since no general fund revenues or tax revenues of the city will ever be involved, even should the mortgage ever be foreclosed and the property sold, no deficiency judgment can be obtained against the city and the bond transaction does not fall within the rule given in Bowling Green v. Kirby, 220 Ky. 839, 295 S.W. 1004, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 603 (Ky. 1927), that where a mortgage could foreclose on project property, which was acquired by city revenues, the foreclosure and sale constituted payment of a debt by the municipality. OAG 79-439.

While a city has an obligation of good faith to the industrial building revenue bondholders under the bond documents, that is not equivalent to the financial obligation of the city or city indebtedness under § 157 of the Constitution and this section. OAG 79-439.

A fire protection district is a special and separate taxing district under § 157 of the Constitution and this section. OAG 79-647.

When Const., § 157 and this section are read in their entirety, the restrictions of those sections are to be applied to a unit of government constituting a “municipality” and a “taxing unit” at the same time, in other words, those designated categories must coexist in order for the restrictions to apply; an urban-county airport board has no taxing power, and since it is not a “taxing unit” it is not subject to the restrictions of Const., § 157 and this section. OAG 80-333.

A county fiscal court can lease real property to a private entrepreneur for a five (5) year period without violating this section and Const., § 157 if the contractual obligation by the county for maintenance and repair during that period can be funded out of the current revenues available to the county in the year the lease is executed; otherwise the proposed lease must be approved by two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the voters at an election held pursuant to Const., § 157. OAG 82-60.

Where there is no contractual financial obligation created on the part of a county, the limitations of this section and § 157 of the Constitution do not come into play. OAG 82-60.

Where proposed water improvement and expansion project to be constructed by Corps of Engineers involves the exercise of governmental or legislative powers or the exercise of discretion, as opposed to the exercise of business or proprietary powers, the city legislative body may not enter into a contract to obligate itself to operate and maintain the project beyond the terms of its members. In addition, the constitutional debt limit question could be involved where the agreement extends for many years as a city cannot become indebted in an amount exceeding in any year the income and revenue provided for such year. OAG 82-235.

If a proposed loan from local banks to a county hospital could not be completely funded out of tax revenues available in the accounting year in which the loan was made, the loan would be void without a vote of the people, as required by Const., § 157. That would be true even if the debt were within the limits set by this section. OAG 82-401.

The payment of expenses of the usual and current administration of government, i.e., compulsory obligations of government arising out of statutory law, are not within the prohibitive range of Const., § 157. However, the operation of a hospital by the county is not mandatory; therefore, a proposed debt relating to a hospital fell within the operative provisions of Const., § 157 and this section. OAG 82-401.

Where a county hospital faced a cash-flow crisis and needed to acquire funds to meet that crisis, the proposed debt could be validated by submitting it to a vote of the people under Const., § 157 if such debt would exceed the available tax revenues for the particular year. The necessary affirmative vote required by Const., § 157 would validate such an obligation either with government obligation bond financing or without any bond issue assuming that the limits of this section were observed. OAG 82-401.

Pursuant to Const., § 157 and this section, a county is required to adopt, budget-wise, the pay-as-you-go plan and not to incur obligations in excess of its current revenues. OAG 83-49.

Road equipment expense is not a necessary and compulsory governmental expense. OAG 83-323.

There is an exception to the restrictions of Const., § 157 and this section which consists of obligations for essential governmental services and functions; examples of “essential governmental expenses” are salaries of county officials and employees, expenses of holding county elections and the expense of maintaining a county hospital. OAG 83-323.

Since the leasing of road equipment does not involve an essential and compulsory governmental service or function, if a lease contract involves an assumption by the county of a total debt of lease payments which exceeds the income and revenue available to the county for the particular year in which the lease is executed, the contract would violate Const., § 157 in the absence of a requisite vote of the people; in the event that such lease would involve a lease for only one (1) year, which could at the option of fiscal court be renewed from year to year (the county only being obligated for one (1) year at a time), and assuming that the county has currently available revenue to cover the first year’s rental (and has available the current revenue to cover any subsequent one (1) year renewal), and assuming the limit of this section is met, then Const., § 157 would not be violated. OAG 83-323.

A fire protection district is a special and separate taxing district under this section and Const., § 157. OAG 85-65.

Constitution §§ 26, 157, 162, 179 and this section do not impose a general ban upon a county agreeing to joint and several liability with other counties or political entities; furthermore, these constitutional sections do not prohibit payment of obligations incurred in a prior year, from moneys of a subsequent year. OAG 93-54.

1. Purpose.

It is the purpose of the Constitution and a high policy of the law not to permit the same person to fill two (2) incompatible offices at the same time and this policy recognizes that it is the duty of a public officer or servant to discharge his duties uninfluenced by the duties and obligations of another office whatever the title or duties may be. Rash v. Steller v. Livingston, 171 Ky. 52, 186 S.W. 916, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 298 (Ky. 1916).

Superintendent and members of board of children's home are city and county employees, not state officers; therefore, they could not be designated as superintendent of schools and board of education of independent school district established at the home, since to do so would violate this section. *Williams v. Provisions of act that required the approval of proposed surface drainage project by city and county legislative bodies of metropolitan sewer district was not unconstitutional under this section on ground that it had effect of permitting city and county officers to act as officers of sewer district in violation of prohibition of this section against one person holding offices in two (2) different municipalities, for city and county governing bodies only had power to determine whether a particular project should be undertaken and, once it was undertaken, district had sole authority to carry it out. Curtis v. Louisville & Jefferson County Metropolitan Sewer Dist., 311 S.W.2d 378, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 185 (Ky. 1958).

If a library was created under KRS 173.310 or KRS 173.450, it would come within the term "other municipality" of this section, a member of the board of trustees would be a municipal officer, and, under KRS 61.260, there would be a conflict of interest if a law firm accepted employment from the library board where a member of the law firm was a member of the library board of trustees when the contract was made and such member might receive benefit as a result of the contract. Although KRS 26.270 (repealed) provided that the city legislative body of a city of the sixth class shall provide by ordinance who shall act in the place of the police judge, the city legislative body cannot designate a councilman to act in the place of the police judge since both a city councilman and a city police judge are municipal officers and both KRS 61.080(4) and this section of the Constitution state that no person shall, at the same time, fill two (2) municipal offices, either in the same or different municipalities. OAG 74-124.

Although this section of the Constitution and KRS 61.080 state that no person shall at the same time fill two (2) municipal offices, either in the same or different municipalities, there are no legal prohibitions against one person holding the position of police chief and the position of city manager at the same time since a police chief is a city officer and according to KRS 89.560 (repealed) a city manager is an employee of the city rather than a city officer. OAG 74-125.

Neither the sheriff nor one of his deputies may serve as the nonsalaried county police chief as the police chief should only be answerable to the county court and while KRS 61.080 and this section do not prohibit such appointments, a practical incompatibility could arise in the serving in two (2) capacities. Although no constitutional or statutory conflict of interest or incompatibility exists between the office of county commissioner and that of administrative head of a department of county government, since the latter office would be under the supervision of the county commissioners and since the two (2) positions possibly could not be performed at the same time with the requisite care and ability there would appear to exist a common law incompatibility. OAG 74-737.

A person may not be a school board member and hold a position on the planning and zoning commission at the same time under this section and KRS 160.180, but until he either resigns or is ousted by the judgment of the court, he is a de facto officer in both agencies and his actions as such are valid. OAG 75-123.

This section does not prohibit a city prosecutor from serving on a county park board at the same time although KRS 61.080(3) would so prohibit. OAG 75-138.

Since the office of master commissioner is an office of the court, it is not incompatible with the office of magistrate under this section or KRS 61.080, although a common law conflict might arise if the duties of both offices could not be performed by the same incumbent with care and ability. OAG 75-255.

Although the offices of common councilman in a city of the third class and Circuit Court clerk are incompatible in view of KRS 61.080, there is no constitutional or statutory provision

Since a school board member is a state officer, and since a county emergency director is a county employee, this section and KRS 61.080 expressly prohibit one person from holding such office and employment at the same time. OAG 79-319.

There is no conflict of interest if a county commissioner were appointed as a deputy county court clerk for the purpose of helping the clerk process the 1979 tax appeals. OAG 79-398.

This section and KRS 61.080 do not prohibit the holding of two (2) county offices at the same time. OAG 79-398.

A state employee, such as an employee of the state Department of Transportation (now Transportation Cabinet) or Department of Highways can legally serve as a district commissioner for the State Department of Fish and Wildlife insofar as any questions concerning incompatibility under this section and KRS 61.080. OAG 79-438.

Neither this section nor KRS 61.080 prohibit a person from holding state employment in multiple positions. OAG 79-438.

The position of county court clerk is a county office under the Constitution, particularly § 99, and a school teacher, part-time or otherwise, is a state employee. OAG 79-459.

There is no constitutional nor statutory prohibition which would inhibit a local board from hiring a county clerk as a substitute teacher. OAG 79-459.

This section and KRS 61.080 prohibit a state officer from holding a county office at the same time; however, there is no prohibition against a state employee holding a county office except where such person is under the state merit system and cannot run for such office, which prohibition would not be applicable with respect to school teachers since they do not come under the state system. OAG 79-459.

Although neither KRS 61.080 nor this section would prevent a state representative from also serving on a local city-county human rights commission, the separation of powers doctrine under Const., §§ 27 and 28 prevent a person serving in one branch of government from exercising powers in another. OAG 79-483.

It is not incompatible for a full-time county employee to also serve as a trustee of a sixth-class city located in that county. OAG 79-493.

There is nothing in this section or KRS 61.080 which would create an incompatibility between the jobs of deputy sheriff and part-time school bus driver. OAG 79-537.

There is no constitutional or statutory incompatibility for an elected official, such as a member of the city council, to hold at the same time an office in a privately incorporated association, such as the N.A.A.C.P. OAG 79-603.

Since the office of director of an emergency ambulance service district is neither a county nor city office, nothing in this section nor in KRS 61.080 would prevent a city or county officer from lawfully serving on that board. OAG 79-607.

There is no incompatibility, under either this section, KRS 61.080 or the common law, between the state offices of secretary of energy and chairman of the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky. OAG 79-624.

Nothing in this section or KRS 61.080 would prohibit an employee of a Commonwealth Attorney's office from also being a member of a state university's board of regents. OAG 79-645.

Since the offices of city clerk and city treasurer are separate and distinct city offices, no person can, at the same time, hold either of these offices and another city office, such as that of city councilman, in view of this section and KRS 61.080. OAG 80-20.

Inasmuch as the executive director had no authority to change regulations, to administer any program or to change any program, but instead the work consisted of being a research person and coordinator of the activities of the task force group, there was no incompatibility between the position as executive director of the governor's task force on welfare reform and a position as a member of a county urban council. OAG 80-60.

A person cannot hold the office of city clerk and city treasurer at the same time in a city of the sixth class. OAG 80-73.

This section and KRS 61.080 do not prohibit a person from holding a municipal office, such as city clerk-treasurer, and at the same time municipal employment, such as the position of police dispatcher. OAG 80-82.

Since membership on the city board of adjustment constitutes a municipal office and membership on the local board of appeals under the Kentucky Building Code also constitutes a municipal office, the two (2) are incompatible, one with the other, and no person can hold both at the same time. OAG 80-91.

The office of city school board member and that of county comptroller are incompatible. OAG 80-92.

The office of commissioner of the Department of Public Information is not incompatible with a position on the Kentucky Heritage Commission or the Kentucky Historic Preservation Review Board. OAG 80-96.

This section and KRS 61.080 prohibit a state officer or deputy state officer from holding a county office; however, there is no provision prohibiting a state employee, such as a school principal, who is not under the state merit system from becoming a candidate for a county office, such as a county magistrate, and serving as such at the same time he holds his state position. OAG 80-131.

Although neither this section nor KRS 61.080 prohibits a person from holding the positions of city councilman and civil defense director at the same time, there may be a common-law conflict of interest depending on who appoints the civil defense director pursuant to KRS 39.415; if the city legislative body appoints the civil defense director, then a conflict of interest would exist since the councilman in question would be directly involved in his own appointment; on the other hand, if the mayor is authorized to make the appointment, then no such conflict would appear to exist. OAG 80-141.

No conflict of interest would exist under this section or KRS 61.080 if a county deputy jailer were permitted to join the county auxiliary police force. OAG 80-222.

An individual holding the office of magistrate can at the same time serve on the county board of elections, since no constitutional or statutory provisions prohibit a person from holding two (2) county offices at the same time and KRS 117.035 specifically permits a person who holds another county office to serve on the county board of elections. OAG 80-263.

Since the position of trial commissioner is a state office and membership on the county election board is a county office, an individual would be prohibited from holding both positions at the same time by this section and KRS 61.080. OAG 80-266.

Assuming no factual circumstances that would give rise to a common-law conflict of interest, a member of a county fiscal court while serving in office may also be employed full time or part time as an instructor at the University of Louisville, or any other state institution of higher learning. OAG 80-277.

A member of the Kentucky General Assembly can at the same time serve as a presidential elector since the Constitution does not prohibit a person from holding two (2) state offices at the same time, unless there exists a common-law incompatibility. OAG 80-291.

A county attorney is a county constitutional officer, pursuant to Const., § 99, and, therefore, an assistant county attorney is a statutory county officer for the purpose of considering the general question of incompatibility of offices; since the office of assistant county attorney involves only one office, a county constitutional office, no incompatibility exists even though the county attorney has been given state duties as a prosecutor (KRS 15.725(2)) and county duties as an adviser to fiscal court (KRS 69.210). OAG 80-341.

Insofar as constitutional and statutory provisions governing incompatible offices are concerned, there is no restriction preventing a pretrial release officer, presumably appointed by the administrative office of the courts under RCr 4.06, from becoming a candidate for a political office and there is no statutory restriction preventing the release officer from calling attention to his position during the campaign. OAG 80-360.

There is no incompatibility in law or fact in holding at the same time the positions of Commonwealth Attorney and membership on the Eastern Kentucky University board of regents. OAG 80-402.

There is no constitutional or statutory provision prohibiting an individual from holding a real estate license and the office of county judge/executive at the same time, although a common-law incompatibility might exist. OAG 80-478.

An individual serving on the Crime Victims Compensation Board and as a member of the Board of Claims is a nonmerit state employee, and would not be prohibited from continuing to hold the two (2) state positions while at the same time serving as a paid coordinator with a presidential campaign. OAG 80-488.

There is no incompatibility between serving as an employee of the Department of Human Resources (now Cabinet for Human Resources) and as a school board member since both positions are with the state, one being a form of state employment and the other (school board) a state office. OAG 80-505.

Since the position of property valuation administrator is a state office, if and when an employee of the county ambulance service assumed the office of property valuation administrator, he must resign from his position with the county. OAG 80-523.

There would be no constitutional or statutory restriction on a Circuit Court clerk serving as an instructor in one of the state's driver improvement programs. OAG 80-548.

A person may not, at the same time, serve as clerk of the District Court and an auxiliary police officer for a city of the fourth class. OAG 80-552.

An employee of a county ambulance service, which is comprised of two (2) counties, could run for the elective office of coroner while still employed. OAG 80-563.

The board of trustees of a county library district could be subject to a taxpayer's suit, but to successfully maintain an action the taxpayer would have to show standing to bring such a suit, as well as special or peculiar injury. OAG 80-570.

A deputy state fire marshal (paid a monthly salary) may not also serve as a county police officer at night. OAG 80-576.

Since a deputy Circuit Court clerk is a state officer and a county treasurer is a county officer, the same person cannot, at the same time, fill both offices as they are incompatible with each other. OAG 80-608.

Where sixth class city sought to appoint the chief of police as city treasurer and as director of the city water department, the same person would be prohibited from holding two (2) municipal offices at the same time under KRS 61.080 and this section; however, the city under the appropriate ordinance could assign the duty of collecting city taxes to the chief of police and make it part of his overall responsibility. OAG 81-8.

A county school teacher can be elected to the office of magistrate without violating this section and KRS 61.080 since a person may hold both state employment such as a school teacher and at the same time hold a county office such as magistrate. OAG 81-13.

An Assistant Commonwealth Attorney may accept a night teaching position with a community college without creating a conflict of interest since this section and KRS 61.080 do not prohibit a person from holding a form of state employment and a state office at the same time. OAG 81-17.

A dispatcher with the city police department may run for and, if elected, serve as a city council member without violating the provisions of KRS 61.080 and this section. OAG 81-91.

A master commissioner may also be appointed trial commissioner since there is no statutory prohibition under KRS 61.080 or constitutional prohibition under this section and neither position is subordinate to the other since the master commissioner serves in the Circuit Court and the district commissioner serves in the district court. OAG 81-108.

An assistant Commonwealth's Attorney may be employed by a city under a personal service contract since the attorney would be considered an independent contractor; thus, there would not be a conflict under this section and KRS 61.080 between holding state office and municipal office simultaneously. OAG 81-114.

The deputy circuit clerk, who is a state officer under KRS 30A.010, may be appointed concurrently as a trial commissioner of the county district court, who is also a state officer under KRS 24A.100, since neither this section nor KRS 61.080, both of which treat the subject of incompatible offices, prohibits a person from holding two (2) state offices at the same time. OAG 81-124.

Where the executive director of a community development agency, which was not created as an independent agency under KRS 99.350, is elected to the office of mayor of the same city, there is no statutory or constitutional conflict pursuant to this section or KRS 61.080 since a person can theoretically hold a municipal office and employment at the same time; however, the mayor could not continue to hold the executive director's position without creating a common-law incompatibility or conflict of interest since he is presumed to possess the power under KRS 83A.130 to not only hire, but also fire, the executive director. OAG 81-179.

Where an attorney is on retainer for a municipal water and sewer commission and runs for the position of Commonwealth's Attorney, he could hold both positions without violating KRS 61.080 and this section since the retainer position is held as an independent contractor rather than as a city officer or city employee. OAG 81-214.

A director of county parks and recreation board which is a joint city-county board created by KRS 97.035 can also be elected to the city council, since the joint board is a hybrid whose members are neither city nor county officers and thus there would be no violation of KRS 61.080 or this section which prohibit a person from holding two (2) municipal offices or a municipal and a county office at the same time. OAG 81-240.

Under Kentucky law a city policeman is considered to be a municipal officer and thus a city cannot employ as a part-time police officer a person who is presently serving as a police officer in another city without creating an incompatibility prohibited by subsection (4) of KRS 61.080 and this section. OAG 81-307.

The employment of a county attorney as attorney for the county board of education does not violate KRS 61.080 and this section since employment as the school board attorney would be that of an independent contractor rather than an employee, and since such employment would, at most, be a form of state employment rather than constituting a state office. OAG 81-308.

A person who is the master commissioner of the county Circuit Court can lawfully be appointed to serve as a member of the water commission, since the office of master commissioner is, under KRS 31A.010, merely a position filled by and under the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court, rather than a state, county or city office; thus, no incompatibility exists under KRS 61.080 and this section between the two (2) positions. OAG 81-313.

An employee of a city or county can act as a court commissioner appointed to appraise real estate pursuant to KRS 416.580 and receive compensation therefor, since the court commissioner position is an office of the court at most and thus not a state, county or municipal office; the holding of both positions does not violate KRS 61.080 or this section. OAG 81-368.

The appointment by a Circuit Court Judge of a city comptroller to the position of court commissioner to appraise real estate pursuant to KRS 416.580 would at most constitute appointment to an office of the court which is not a state, county or municipal office; accordingly, the holding of both offices would violate neither KRS 61.080 nor this section. OAG 81-368.

An ordinance which created the office of city alcoholic control administrator in a fourth-class city and vested the powers and duties of the administrator in the mayor was in violation of KRS 241.160, which provides that such office may either be created or its duties assigned to an existing office, and also violated subsection (3) of KRS 61.080 and this section which prohibit any person from filling two (2) municipal offices at the same time; however, the city council could amend or revise the ordinance to state that the duties of the administrator should be assigned to the office of the mayor, thereby avoiding the creation of a separate municipal office. OAG 81-390.

This section and KRS 61.080 do not prohibit a county judge/executive from appointing a firefighter from one fire department to serve on the board of trustees of a fire protection district which does not include that department, since city and county firefighters are considered employees of their employing entity rather than governmental officers, and trustees of a fire protection district are district officers rather than state, county or city officers. OAG 81-427.

The position of master commissioner for the Circuit Court is not a municipal, state or county office within the meaning of this section or KRS 61.080; accordingly, a city councilman in a fourth-class city can simultaneously serve as a master commissioner. OAG 82-7.

A local industrial development authority would constitute an independent political subdivision or hybrid state-corporate agency under subsection (2) of KRS 152.830; accordingly, an assistant Commonwealth's Attorney may simultaneously hold membership in a local industrial development authority without violating this section and KRS 61.080. OAG 82-11.

Since a metropolitan sewer district is a hybrid agency not contemplated by this section or KRS 61.080, a property valuation administrator can also serve as a member of the board of a sewer district without violating such provisions. OAG 82-81.

This section and KRS 61.080 do not apply to a situation where a county attorney enters into a contractual agreement to act for a city which has not created an "office" embracing the city attorney. OAG 82-150.

The executive director of the Kentucky Higher Education Authority must be considered a state employee within the meaning of this section and KRS 61.080; the same would be true with respect to his serving as Executive Director to the Kentucky Higher Education Student Loan Corporation pursuant to KRS 164A.050(7). OAG 82-282.

An unpaid city council member who is also employed by the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority as Executive Director, and by virtue of his position as Executive Director of the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority, is also the Executive Director of the Kentucky Higher Education Student Loan Corporation, is holding a municipal office and state employment, concerning which there is no constitutional or statutory objection. OAG 82-282.

A member of the Board of Trustees of a fire protection district established pursuant to KRS Ch. 75 would not, for purposes of KRS 61.080 and this section, be considered a state, city or county officer and there is no statutory or constitutional prohibition against a person serving at the same time as a county police officer and as a member of the Board of Trustees of such a fire protection district. OAG 82-304.

There is no constitutional or statutory objection to a state employee holding, at the same time, a municipal office. OAG 82-318.

There would be no legal objection to the appointment of a state employee serving in the Department for Human Resources (now Cabinet for Human Resources), Child Welfare section, to the Electric Plant Board of a city. OAG 82-318.

The office of city councilman and that of deputy circuit clerk are incompatible and no one can hold both positions at the same time without violating this section and KRS 61.080. OAG 82-351.

Although one of the commissioners is required to be appointed mayor pro tem pursuant to KRS 83A.140(4), he can only serve as such in the place of the mayor when the mayor is unable to attend to the duties of the office, and as a consequence he cannot serve as mayor pro tem when a vacancy has occurred. Thus, when a member of the commission is appointed to fill the office of mayor, he automatically vacates his position on the commission, as no person can hold two (2) municipal offices at the same time under this section and KRS 61.080. OAG 82-397.

Fire protection district trustees and officers are not state, city or county officers for purposes of KRS 61.080 and this section, but would be considered district officers; not only are there no statutory or constitutional prohibitions against a fire district fire chief serving at the same time as a member of the fire district's board of trustees, but, KRS 75.031(1)(a) requires that two (2) members of the board be elected by the members of the volunteer firefighters of the district and be members thereof. The General Assembly obviously intended that the interests of the firefighters be represented on the board since two (2) board members must be members of the district's fire department. OAG 82-409.

The fire chief of a fire protection district organized pursuant to KRS Ch. 75 is not prevented by statutory or constitutional provisions from serving at the same time as one (1) of the two (2) required members of the fire department on the fire district's board of trustees. On those particular occasions where a conflict does occur, the fire chief should remove himself from the proceedings rather than merely abstaining or passing on the matter. OAG 82-409.

Since the terms of KRS 154.650 to 154.700 clearly indicate that members of the enterprise zone authority possess the five (5) basic elements required in order to establish their position as a public office and a state office, the Governor cannot appoint county and city officers to the authority without violating KRS 61.080 and this section; therefore, the Kentucky Municipal League and the Kentucky Association of Counties in nominating potential appointees for the authority must submit the names of persons who do not hold a city or county office. OAG 82-429.

Due to the fact that the urban county government is a hybrid form of government not contemplated by KRS 61.080 or this section, the officers of such government cannot be considered either county or city officers, and, as a consequence, there would exist no constitutional or statutory incompatibility where an officer or employee of such government was appointed to the enterprise zone authority pursuant to KRS 154.675. OAG 82-482.

If a city has either established a position of legal advisor as a form of city employment or created the office of city attorney, no one could hold at the same time the state office of trial commissioner and the office of city attorney or city employment without violating KRS 61.080 and this section. However, if an attorney is employed on a personal service contract basis, he would be considered an independent contractor and there would be no constitutional or statutory objection to his serving as trial commissioner of the district court. OAG 82-502.

Since members of the water district commission are neither state, county or city officers, no incompatibility would exist where a person serves as a member of the commission and at the same time serves on the city council. Of course where any business develops between the water district and the city concerning which a vote must be taken, the councilman in question should refrain from participating or voting on the matter as this would be against public policy. OAG 82-635.

No conflict of interest or incompatibility existed where an auxiliary police officer of a city was at the same time a full-time Instructor-Coordinator of the Department of Training at Eastern Kentucky University; an auxiliary police officer of a city has the same powers as a regular police officer and is, therefore, considered a municipal officer while the position of Instructor-Coordinator for a department at Eastern Kentucky University would at most be considered a form of state employment. Neither this section nor KRS 61.080 prohibits a state employee from holding a municipal office. OAG 83-29.

While there is nothing in Kentucky law which would prevent a full time county employee from seeking the office of railroad commissioner, this section and KRS 61.080 and 61.090 would clearly prohibit a county employee from holding both his county position and the office of railroad commissioner simultaneously; it would, therefore, be necessary for him to resign the county position in order to assume the office of railroad commissioner if he is elected. OAG 83-66.

The mayor of a city could legally serve as financial secretary to the planning and zoning commission, whether it be strictly a city commission or a joint city-county commission. OAG 83-72.

The position of financial secretary to a zoning and planning commission would not constitute a municipal office since there is no statutory authority for creating such position as an office under KRS Chapter 100 which governs planning and zoning; consequently, neither this section nor KRS 61.080 prohibits a municipal officer from holding municipal employment and serving as financial secretary at the same time and receiving compensation from both sources. OAG 83-72.

If a municipal utility commission is simply an agency of the city, the city attorney should probably represent both the city and the commission since the utility is an agency of the city; if it is an independent agency, he could at the same time be employed under a personal service contract which would make him an independent contractor. In neither event would the question of his holding two (2) municipal offices at the same time be involved. OAG 83-119.

An employee of a county department of correction does not possess peace officer powers. Therefore, there would be no constitutional or statutory objection to his holding the office of chief of police of a city at the same time, since he would be a county employee. OAG 83-291.

Since a private, nonprofit corporation is not a public agency, no statutory or constitutional incompatibility would exist if a member of a city council and a member of the board of directors of an urban renewal agency also served on the board of directors of a nonprofit corporation established to operate a community center in the same city. OAG 83-317.

Membership on a school board constitutes a state office. OAG 83-318.

Membership on a county fair board does not constitute a public office, in the sense of its being established by or pursuant to a specific statute or the Constitution, which would involve KRS 61.080 and this section. OAG 83-318.

A member of the board of education can at the same time serve as a member of a county fair board. OAG 83-318.

Neither this section nor KRS 61.080, dealing with incompatible offices prohibits a person, who holds a particular office that may or may not be incompatible with the one he seeks, from becoming a candidate for public office; it is only when the person is elected and holds an office that is incompatible with one to which he is elected that this section and KRS 61.080 are affected. OAG 84-101.

Where a city which had a volunteer fire department had not established the position of fire chief as an office, the position of fire chief could only be considered as a form of employment; accordingly, there was no constitutional or statutory conflict involved when the county magistrate was appointed as fire chief of the city. OAG 84-150.

Since an airport board is a joint board, it is a hybrid agency authorized by statute between the cities and county; thus, a municipal officer could be appointed to such board without violating the prohibition against a municipal officer holding any other municipal, county or state office at the same time, contained in KRS 61.080 and this section, provided the appointment is made jointly by the mayor of the other city and the county judge/executive, and the appointee is not present during the voting. OAG 84-384, modifying OAG 74-755.

This section and KRS 61.080 do not prohibit a person from holding a state office and state employment at the same time unless the duties involved are incompatible; thus, the position of a member of the local board of education would not be incompatible with a position as an instructor at the Hazard Area Vocational School since the local board would have no control over the appointment of the instructor. OAG 85-23.

From the standpoint of the incompatible offices provisions of this section of the Kentucky Constitution and KRS 61.080, state officers are not prohibited from holding positions on the boards of directors of the Kentucky Housing Corporation and the Kentucky Higher Education Student Loan Corporation when those officers are holding positions specifically authorized by KRS 198A.030(3) and KRS 164A.050(3), because where a statute provides for the appointment of specifically designated public officers to hold another public office, these public officers hold their second public office in an “ex officio” capacity, which eliminates the possibility of a constitutional or statutory incompatibility. OAG 91-208.

The position of trustee of the Kentucky Retirement Systems Board is a “State Office” and, therefore, Section 165 of the Kentucky Constitution and KRS 61.080 apply in determining the qualifications of potential board members. OAG 00-7.

While it would be incompatible for a county attorney to hold, at the same time (either through election or appointment) the office of Commonwealth’s Attorney, it is not a conflict under this section or under KRS 61.080 for the county attorney, on a temporary basis, to assume the duties of the Commonwealth’s Attorney for an interim period until another person can be either appointed or elected to fill the office. OAG 92-162.

A mayor of a city of the third class is not prohibited by KRS 76.030, KRS 61.080 or this section from serving on the board of the Louisville and Jefferson County Metropolitan Sewer District. OAG 93-43.

Since a state motor vehicle enforcement officer is a state officer and a special deputy sheriff is a county officer and since subsection (1) of KRS 61.080 bans one from serving at the same time as a state officer and as an officer of any county, selected motor vehicle enforcement officers may not be appointed as special deputy sheriffs. OAG 93-61.

A person employed by an entity, such as the Louisville Waterfront Development Corporation which was established jointly by a city, a county and the state, while a public officer or employee, would not for purposes of the incompatible offices provisions be considered a state, county, or city officer or employee; thus the incompatible offices provisions would not preclude a person from serving concurrently as a member of the Kentucky General Assembly and as an officer or employee of the Louisville Waterfront Development Corporation. OAG 95-24.

An urban county is a county with an urban county form of government, such that officers of an urban county are county officers for purposes of Ky. Const. § 165 and KRS 61.080. Therefore, a member of the Lexington-Fayette Urban County Council may not also serve as a division director within the Cabinet for Health and Family Services. OAG 2004-10.

The position of executive director of the Office of the Ombudsman of the Cabinet for Health and Family Services is a “state office,” and one who holds that position is a “state officer,” such that one cannot hold that position and lawfully remain a member of the Lexington-Fayette Urban County Council. OAG 2006-02.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Under this section and KRS 92.020 (repealed) implementing same, no city other than that of the first class is required under present law to change its fiscal year from a calendar year to that of July 1 through June 30. OAG 80-380.

A local city housing authority which is an independent agency could maintain a fiscal year ending March 31, as required by the federal government, despite the requirements of this section and KRS 92.020 (repealed), since the agency is independent and not an agency of the city. OAG 81-324.

A water and sewer system, organized by a city pursuant to KRS 96.350 and operating on a fiscal year basis ending April 30, must change its fiscal year to one provided for in KRS 92.020 (repealed), pursuant to the city’s authority to do so under this section, since an entity created under KRS 96.350 is not an independent agency and thus is subject to the restrictions of KRS 92.020 (repealed). OAG 81-324.

The exclusionary effect of the language in this section, “unless otherwise provided by law,” embraces not only a statute providing a calendar year basis, but also a statute specifying in particularity some beginning date of a fiscal year other than July 1. OAG 85-65.

The fiscal year of counties is governed by this section, except where provided otherwise by statute. OAG 85-65.

Section 68.060 specifically adopts this section by providing that the fiscal year of each county shall begin on July 1, and end on June 30 next following. OAG 85-65.

School boards and cities are covered by this section, except where otherwise provided by statute. OAG 85-65.

The fiscal year provisions of this section apply to fire protection districts created and organized under KRS Ch. 75, unless otherwise provided by statutory law. OAG 85-65.

By enactment of KRS 75.255 in 1974 the General Assembly abandoned the statutory alternative of a calendar year for fire protection districts, while leaving intact the prior provision of KRS 75.031(2) relating to a “fiscal year basis.” Thus by this legislation a fire protection district is permitted to use only a fiscal year basis. And since KRS Ch. 75 does not specify some beginning date other than July 1, of each year, the July 1 beginning date mentioned specifically in this section governs such fire protection districts. OAG 85-65.

§ 170. Property exempt from taxation — Cities may exempt factories for five years.

There shall be exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit; real property owned and occupied by, and personal property both tangible and intangible owned by, institutions of religion; institutions of purely public charity, and institutions of education not used or employed for gain by any person or corporation, and the income of which is devoted solely to the cause of education, public libraries, their endowments, and the income of such property as is used exclusively for their maintenance; household goods of a person used in his home; crops grown in the year in which the assessment is made, and in the hands of the producer; and real property maintained as the permanent residence of the owner, who is sixty-five years of age or older, or is classified as totally disabled under a program authorized or administered by an agency of the United States government or by any retirement system either within or without the Commonwealth of Kentucky, provided the property owner received disability payments pursuant to such disability classification, has maintained such disability classification for the entirety of the particular taxation period, and has filed with the appropriate local assessor by December 31 of the taxation period, on forms provided therefor, a signed statement indicating continuing disability as provided herein made under penalty of perjury, up to the assessed valuation of sixty-five hundred dollars on said residence and contiguous real property, except for assessment for special benefits. The real property may be held by legal or equitable title, by the entireties, jointly, in common, as a condominium, or indirectly by the stock ownership or membership representing the owner's or member's proprietary interest in a corporation owning a fee or a leasehold initially in excess of ninety-eight years. The exemptions shall apply only to the value of the real property assessable to the owner or, in case of ownership through stock or membership in a corporation, the value of the proportion which his interest in the corporation bears to the assessed value of the property. The General Assembly may authorize any incorporated city or town to exempt manufacturing establishments from municipal taxation, for a period not exceeding five years, as an inducement to their location. Notwithstanding the provisions of Sections 3, 172, and 174 of this Constitution to the contrary, the General Assembly may provide by law an exemption for all or any portion of the property tax for any class of personal property.

Compiler's Notes.

The General Assembly in 1998 (Acts 1998, ch. 227, § 1) proposed an amendment to this section of the Constitution, which amendment was ratified by the voters at the regular election in November, 1998. Prior to the amendment, the section read: "There shall be exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit; real property owned and occupied by, and personal property both tangible and intangible owned by, institutions of religion; institutions of purely public charity, and institutions of education not used or employed for gain by any person or corporation, and the income of which is devoted solely to the cause of education, public libraries, their endowments, and the income of such property as is used exclusively for their maintenance; household goods of a person used in his home; crops grown in the year in which the assessment is made, and in the hands of the producer; and real property maintained as the permanent residence of the owner, who is sixty-five years of age or older, or is classified as totally disabled under a program authorized or administered by an agency of the United States government or by the railroad retirement system, provided the property owner received disability payments pursuant to such disability classification, has maintained such disability classification for the entirety of the particular taxation period, and has filed with the appropriate local assessor by December 31 of the taxation period, on forms provided therefor, a signed statement indicating continuing disability as provided herein made under penalty of perjury, up to the assessed valuation of sixty-five hundred dollars on said residence and contiguous real property, except for assessment for special benefits. The real property may be held by legal or equitable title, by the entireties, jointly, in common, as a condominium, or indirectly by the stock ownership or membership representing the owner's or member's proprietary interest in a corporation owning a fee or a leasehold initially in excess of ninety-eight years. The exemptions shall apply only to the value of the real property assessable to the owner or, in case of ownership through stock or membership in a corporation, the value of the proportion which his interest in the corporation bears to the assessed value of the property. All laws exempting or omitting property from taxation other than the property above mentioned shall be void. The General Assembly may authorize any incorporated city or town to exempt manufacturing establishments from municipal taxation, for a period not exceeding five years, as an inducement to their location."

The General Assembly in 1990 (Acts 1990, ch. 151, § 1) proposed an amendment to the Constitution which amendment was ratified by the voters at the regular election in November, 1990. Prior to the amendment this section read:

"§ 170. Property exempt from taxation — Cities may exempt factories for five years

There shall be exempted from taxation public property used for public purposes; places actually used for religious worship, with the grounds attached thereto and used and appurtenant to the house of worship, not exceeding one-half acre in cities or towns, and not exceeding two acres in the country; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit, institutions of purely public charity, and institutions of education not used or employed for gain by any person or corporation, and the income of which is devoted solely to the cause of education, public libraries, their endowments, and the income of such property as is used exclusively for their maintenance; all parsonages or residences owned by any religious society, and occupied as a home, or residences owned by any religious society, and occupied as a home, and for no other purpose, by the minister of any religion, with not exceeding one-half acre of ground in towns and cities and two acres of ground in the country appurtenant thereto: household goods of a person used in his home; crops grown in the year in which the assessment is made, and in the hands of the producer; and real property maintained as the permanent residence of the owner, who is sixty-five years of age or older, or is classified as totally disabled under a program authorized or administered by an agency of the United States government or by any retirement system, provided the property owner received disability payments pursuant to such disability classification, has maintained such disability classification for the entirety of the particular taxation period, and has filed with the appropriate local assessor by December 31 of the taxation period, on forms provided therefor, a signed statement indicating continuing disability as provided herein made under penalty of perjury, up to the assessed valuation of sixty-five hundred dollars on said residence and contiguous real property, except for assessment for special benefits. The real property may be held by legal or equitable title, by the entireties, jointly, in common, as a condominium, or indirectly by the stock ownership or membership representing the owner's or member's proprietary interest in a corporation owning a fee or a leasehold initially in excess of ninety-eight years. The exemptions shall apply only to the value of the real property assessable to the owner or, in case of ownership through stock or membership in a corporation, the value of the proportion which his interest in the corporation bears to the assessed value of the property. All laws exempting or omitting property from taxation other than the property above mentioned shall be void. The General Assembly may authorize any incorporated city or town to exempt manufacturing establishments from municipal taxation, for a period not exceeding five years, as an inducement to their location."

An amendment to this section was also proposed by the 1990 General Assembly (Acts 1990, ch. 150, § 3), was submitted to the voters for ratification or rejection at the regular election in November, 1990, and was defeated.

The General Assembly in 1980 (Acts 1980, ch. 113, § 1) proposed an amendment to this section of the Constitution, which amendment was ratified by the voters at the regular election in November, 1981. Prior to the amendment, the section read: "§ 170. Property exempt from taxation — Cities may exempt factories for five years. — There shall be exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes; places actually used for religious worship, with the grounds attached thereto and used and appurtenant to the house of worship, not exceeding one half acre in cities or towns, and not exceeding two acres in the country; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit, institutions of purely public charity, and institutions of education not used or employed for gain by any person or corporation, and the income of which is devoted solely to the cause of education, public libraries, their endowments, and the income of such property as is used exclusively for their maintenance; all parsonages or residences owned by any religious society, and occupied as a home, or residences owned by any religious society, and occupied as a home, and for no other purpose, by the minister of any religion, with not exceeding one half acre of ground in towns and cities and two acres of ground in the country appurtenant thereto; household goods of a person used in his home; crops grown in the year in which the assessment is made, and in the hands of the producer; and real property maintained as the permanent residence of the owner, who is sixty-five years of age or older, up to the assessed valuation of sixty-five hundred dollars on said residence and contiguous real property, except for assessment for special benefits. 1. Construction.

The provisions of this section and Const., § 172 are mandatory; therefore, a city council has no power to remit or compromise taxes due the city. Shuck v. Lebanon, 68 S.W. 843, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 451, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 319 (Ky. Ct. App. 1902).

Tax exemption privileges may not be extended beyond the clear import of the provisions of this section. Trinity Temple

Charities, Inc. v. Louisville, 300 Ky. 172, 188 S.W.2d 91, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 505 (Ky. 1945).

The exemption for property used for religious purposes under this section is to be strictly construed. Ashland v. Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church, 278 S.W.2d 708, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 483 (Ky. 1955).

2. Application.

The provision of this section and a statute that public property used for public purposes shall be exempt from taxation refers only to general ad valorem or property taxes and not to special assessments for street improvements. Mt. Sterling v. Montgomery County, 152 Ky. 637, 153 S.W. 952, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 702 (Ky. 1913).

This section does not apply where the Legislature has declined to give the state jurisdiction over intangible property of a nonresident beneficiary. Henderson v. Barrett's Ex'r, 152 Ky. 648, 153 S.W. 992, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 718 (Ky. 1913).

Tobacco held by the French government for sale under its governmental monopoly for all tobacco sales in territory under its jurisdiction is not subject to Commonwealth taxation and such taxation would be a clear interference with the sovereignty of France as recognized by the United States and the Commonwealth. French Republic v. Board of Sup'rs, 200 Ky. 18, 252 S.W. 124, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 13 (Ky. 1923).

The exemptions of this section do not apply to foreign institutions owning property within the state but conducting their charitable or educational activities wholly outside the state. Lloyd Library & Museum v. Chipman, 232 Ky. 191, 22 S.W.2d 597, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 420 (Ky. 1929). See Layman Foundation v. Louisville, 232 Ky. 259, 22 S.W.2d 622, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 436 (Ky. 1929).

This section applies to ad valorem taxes and has no application to license, franchise, occupation, or excise taxes levied under proper authority. Louisville v. Cromwell, 233 Ky. 828, 27 S.W.2d 377, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 663 (Ky. 1930).

The state income tax law is not a property tax and therefore is not governed by the provisions of this section nor by Const., §§ 171 and 172. Reynolds Metal Co. v. Martin, 269 Ky. 378, 107 S.W.2d 251, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 604 (Ky. 1937).

The exemption of public property used for public purposes exempts such property from ad valorem taxation only. Board of Education v. Talbott, 286 Ky. 543, 151 S.W.2d 42, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 283 (Ky. 1941).

This section only applies to ad valorem taxes. Thomas v. Elizabethtown, 403 S.W.2d 269, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 8 (Ky. 1965). See Commonwealth ex rel. Luckett v. Elizabethtown, 435 S.W.2d 78, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 199 (Ky. 1968), overruled in part, Commonwealth v. Interstate Gas Supply, Inc., 554 S.W.3d 831, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 2018).

3. Effect on Prior Law.

Acts of the Legislature exempting property from taxation adopted prior to the adoption of the constitution were repealed by this section. Newport v. Masonic Temple Ass'n, 103 Ky. 592, 45 S.W. 881, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 266, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 23 (Ky. 1898). See Campbell County v. Newport & C. Bridge Co., 112 Ky. 659, 66 S.W. 526, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 2056, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 208 (Ky. 1902).

Prior statute exempting farm property from municipal taxation was invalidated by this section. Brown v. Dover, 274 Ky. 692, 120 S.W.2d 225, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 330 (Ky. 1938).

4. Crops.

Tobacco grown in one calendar year and in the hands of the producer may be assessed at any assessing date during the following year. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. v. Carrollton, 208 Ky. 270, 270 S.W. 749, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 268 (Ky. 1925).

Under this section the word "grown" is used in the sense of the word "raised." Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. v.

Carrollton, 208 Ky. 270, 270 S.W. 749, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 268 (Ky. 1925).

5. Household Goods.

Though this section exempts from taxation personal property of a person with a family "not exceeding $250 in value," nothing is exempt from levy and sale for such taxes as the owner does in fact owe. Reams v. McHargue, 111 Ky. 163, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 540, 63 S.W. 437, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 184 (Ky. 1901), aff'd, 71 S.W. 526 (1903) (decision prior to 1955 amendment).

The question of household exemptions may not be raised in an action regarding taxable property and a sheriff's settlements of tax collections. Livingston County v. Dunn, 244 Ky. 460, 51 S.W.2d 450, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 453 (Ky. 1932).

The word "place," which appears in other exemptions of this section, is not used in connection with the educational and charitable institutions which are exempted and cannot be used to limit the two (2) constitutional exemptions. Department of Revenue v. Louisville Children's Theater, Inc., 565 S.W.2d 643, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 513 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

6. Homesteads.

The dollar value principle applies to the $6500 limit of the homestead exemption and therefore the 1974 amendment to subsection (2) (c) of KRS 132.810 which provides that the $6500 exemption would be construed in terms of the purchasing power of the dollar in 1972 is valid. Lester v. Ft. Thomas, 531 S.W.2d 490, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 35 (Ky. 1975).

7. Manufacturing.

Exemption from taxation may be given to manufacturing establishments for a period of five (5) years from their establishment but it does not apply to those who are already established in the city. Middlesboro v. New South Brewing & Ice Co., 108 Ky. 351, 56 S.W. 427, 21 Ky. L. Rptr. 1782, 1900 Ky. LEXIS 46 (Ky. 1900).

A manufacturer claiming an exemption under this section must allege that his business was a new business in the city and the failure to so allege is not cured by the allegation that a statement as to this fact had been filed with the city assessor. Louisville Car Wheel & R. Supply Co. v. Louisville, 146 Ky. 573, 142 S.W. 1043, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 102 (Ky. 1912).

One engaged in generating electricity for distribution and sale is engaged in manufacturing within the provisions of this section and a statute authorizing municipalities to exempt manufacturing establishments from taxation. Kentucky Electric Co. v. Buechel, 146 Ky. 660, 143 S.W. 58, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 142 (Ky. 1912).

The promotion of new and expanded industrial development, by providing tax benefits, is a fixed policy of the Commonwealth. Department of Revenue v. Spalding Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co., 436 S.W.2d 522, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 184 (Ky. 1968).

8. — Exempt.

A new corporation composed in part of the stockholders of the original corporation, which took over the business of an insolvent company and purchased its establishment, was not entitled to exemption under an ordinance exempting manufacturing establishments from taxation for five (5) years. Victor Cotton Oil Co. v. Louisville, 149 Ky. 149, 148 S.W. 10, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 592 (Ky. 1912).

Where a manufacturer purchased a foundry site and entered upon a new manufacturing enterprise of a different kind, the continued manufacture of some articles made by the old company did not stop exemption from taxation as a new enterprise. Voght Bros. Mach. Co. v. Sea, 181 Ky. 327, 204 S.W. 76, 1918 Ky. LEXIS 509 (Ky. 1918).

9. — Not Exempt.

Where a corporation merely buys out and continues in the same city, though increasing the capacity of, the business of manufacturing establishments, which are going concerns and have no purpose of abandoning their business, there is no location therein of a new business, so as to entitle it to exemption from taxation under an ordinance passed pursuant to a statute and this section. Continental Tobacco Co. v. Louisville, 123 Ky. 173, 94 S.W. 11, 29 Ky. L. Rptr. 616, 1906 Ky. LEXIS 129 (Ky. 1906).

A corporation which is created by the consolidation of three (3) corporations and which continues the business in the same city by means of a larger plant and greater capital is not entitled to exemption from taxation under an ordinance passed pursuant to a statute authorized by this section of the constitution. Jones Bros. v. Louisville, 142 Ky. 759, 135 S.W. 301, 1911 Ky. LEXIS 299 (Ky. 1911).

A railroad company which had for many years maintained its shops in the city and erected new buildings on land part of which it had purchased prior to the passage of an ordinance exempting property of manufacturers from taxation and installed new machinery but continued substantially the same work was not entitled to exemption. Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Louisville, 143 Ky. 258, 136 S.W. 611, 1911 Ky. LEXIS 391 (Ky. 1911).

A corporation organized as a wholesale business to take over a largely retail bakery business was not entitled to exemption from municipal taxation as a new manufacturing establishment where the corporation was in effect controlled, owned and operated by the proprietor of the former business. Louisville v. New York Baking Co., 151 Ky. 758, 152 S.W. 980, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 587 (Ky. 1913). See B. F. McCormick Lumber Co. v. Winchester, 155 Ky. 494, 159 S.W. 997, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 285 (Ky. 1913).

Where a company established a box factory in the city wherein wooden boxes were manufactured and thereafter added a plant manufacturing paper boxes, this last plant was not a new business entitling it to tax exemption. Mengel Box Co. v. Sea, 167 Ky. 193, 180 S.W. 347, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 828 (Ky. 1915) (Ky. 1915).

A mere expansion of a manufacturing business from a very small to a very large business does not exempt the property from taxation. Louisville v. Louisville Tin & Stove Co., 170 Ky. 557, 186 S.W. 124, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 65 (Ky. 1916).

10. — Corporate Stock.

An effort to exempt the stock of a corporation from taxation would be invalid. Commonwealth ex rel. Hopkins v. Fidelity Trust Co., 147 Ky. 77, 143 S.W. 1037, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1912).

11. Public Property.

This section authorizes the exemption from taxation of property owned by a city necessary to the exercise of governmental duties, but not property held and used by a city for mere money making purposes, or for the comfort of its citizens. Board of Councilmen v. Commonwealth, 82 S.W. 1008, 26 Ky. L. Rptr. 957, 1904 Ky. LEXIS 406 (Ky. Ct. App. 1904).

Where nonnegotiable bonds, acquired by a city as part of the consideration for the sale of gas plant, are held by the city solely for the purpose of devoting the income to paying the expenses of lighting the streets, they are used for public purposes. Board of Councilmen v. Commonwealth, 94 S.W. 648, 29 Ky. L. Rptr. 699, 1906 Ky. LEXIS 323 (Ky. Ct. App. 1906).

Property of a municipality acquired and necessary to the discharge of strictly local municipal purposes is held for a public purpose and is exempt from taxation. Board of Councilmen v. White, 224 Ky. 570, 6 S.W.2d 699, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 639 (Ky. 1928).

In order to be exempt from taxation, property must be owned by all the citizens of a state or community. Inter-County Rural Electric Co-operative Corp. v. Reeves, 294 Ky. 458, 171 S.W.2d 978, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 446 (Ky. 1943).

The fact that property is devoted to public purposes does not exempt it from taxation unless it is also publicly owned, and mere use for public purposes does not clothe property with public ownership. Inter-County Rural Electric Co-operative Corp. v. Reeves, 294 Ky. 458, 171 S.W.2d 978, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 446 (Ky. 1943).

12. — Exempt.

The property of a city used in connection with its fire department, and also public parks of the city, are exempt from state taxation. Owensboro v. Commonwealth, 105 Ky. 344, 49 S.W. 320, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 1281, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 236 (Ky. 1899).

A waterworks system owned and operated by a city is of a governmental and public nature and is exempt from taxation as public property used for a public purpose and the fact that water rents are paid by the inhabitants using the water does not alter the public character of the waterworks system nor make it subject to taxation. Commonwealth v. Covington, 128 Ky. 36, 107 S.W. 231, 32 Ky. L. Rptr. 837, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 28 (Ky. 1908). See City of Covington v. District of Highlands, 110 S.W. 338, 33 Ky. L. Rptr. 323 (1908); *Ryan v. A sinking fund created to liquidate the bonded debt incurred by a city in the purchase of a waterworks system is but so much taxes collected to liquidate a debt, incurred for a public purpose, notwithstanding it is invested in interest-bearing stocks and bonds, and is exempt from taxation as public property used for a public purpose. Commonwealth ex rel. Albritton v. Sinking Fund Comm'rs of Lebanon Waterworks Co., 130 Ky. 61, 112 S.W. 1128 (Ky. 1908).

Where the rents received by a city for its wharf property leased to various persons are turned into the sinking fund for payment of interest and principal of the bonded indebtedness after policing, lighting, and repairing the property, the property is used for public purposes and is exempt from taxation. Commonwealth v. Louisville, 133 Ky. 845, 119 S.W. 161, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 232 (Ky. 1909).

Under this section the city hall of the city of Louisville is exempt from taxation. Schwalk's Adm'r v. Louisville, 135 Ky. 570, 122 S.W. 860, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 322 (Ky. 1909).

Trustees of Hamilton College*, 125 Ky. 329, 101 S.W. 405, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 1338, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 303 (Ky. 1907).

Since the tax exemption benefiting religious organizations is generally limited to ad valorem property taxes on places actually used for religious purposes not exceeding two (2) acres, a church campsite would be subject to ad valorem property taxes. OAG 64-1.

Where a city made a lease of a building to a business and in the lease the city proposed to obtain the maximum tax advantage for the business, the commissioners of the city could exempt the property of the business from city taxes for a period not to exceed five (5) years. OAG 65-58.

A city has authority to exempt a manufacturing establishment for at least five (5) years from city taxes only as an inducement to its location within the city, but no exemption is permitted from city school taxes. OAG 65-171.

Property in a city owned by religious organizations not actually used for religious purposes is subject to ad valorem property taxation by the city. OAG 65-613.

Any legislation that would give a $30.00 to $50.00 tax credit to be applied to the property tax bill of any person over 65 years of age is an attempt to do indirectly that which the courts have held cannot be done and would be unconstitutional and void. OAG 65-639.

Where income from property owned by a religious society was used exclusively for the support of a parochial school it operated, the property would not be subject to ad valorem property taxation by the city. OAG 65-765.

Where a church rented part of its property to another church to be used as a place of religious worship, the property was not subject to ad valorem taxation. OAG 65-825.

A county fiscal court has no authority to exempt the property of a private firm or manufacturing concern from county, state, school or health taxes as an inducement to industrial development without acquiring title to such property. OAG 67-205.

The cultivation of land in the Ballard County waterfowl refuge for the purpose of providing feed for waterfowl that make their home in the refuge and for building up a geese flock which can be hunted by all of the citizens of the Commonwealth is a proper part of the maintenance of the refuge as a public facility and does not detract from the exempt status of the land under this section. OAG 67-261.

A city ordinance granting a rebate of tax money to a developer for his street paving costs would violate the Constitution. OAG 67-454.

Residential property owned by a church from which it derives income is not exempt from taxation. OAG 67-470.

Property owned by a church which lies 100 feet from the church property and exceeds one-half acre is not exempt from ad valorem property taxation. OAG 68-113.

Where the Commonwealth or its agency or instrumentality is the grantor in a deed offered for recordation, such conveyance is subject to the real estate transfer tax. OAG 68-284.

Where real estate is sold to a church with the stipulation that it shall be occupied rent free by the sellers during their lifetimes, it is not exempt from ad valorem property taxation. OAG 69-95.

The property of the Boy Scouts of America is tax exempt as a charity under this section. OAG 69-526.

A county humane society was an institution of public charity and as such was entitled to exemption from the motor vehicle usage tax on its animal ambulance. OAG 69-535.

A county humane society was an institution of public charity and was entitled to an exemption from sales and use taxes on purchases by it of tangible personal property used in the operation of the society. OAG 69-535.

If a city purchased tangible personal property in the state to which the use tax applied, the city would be exempt. OAG 70-775.

An automobile owned by a church to transport children to a music education program was not exempt from the motor vehicle usage tax. OAG 71-233.

A city may increase its general fund tax rate to offset a revenue loss occasioned by property being exempted from property tax by the homestead exemption amendment to this section. OAG 71-537.

The homestead amendment to this section will affect the tax base of fourth-class cities as well as the tax base of counties. OAG 71-537.

As long as income from property owned by a city and county board of education is used solely for the furtherance of the education process in such city and county, the property is exempt from ad valorem property taxes by the city. OAG 72-44.

This section does not exempt a city from the payment of the state tax on gasoline. OAG 72-92.

Despite the homestead amendment to this section, which became effective January 1, 1972, property owned in the city of Catlettsburg both below the flood crest of 1937 and that located above the flood crest would be liable for special assessments for a floodwall bond levy, a flood control system bond levy, and a floodwall operation and maintenance levy. OAG 72-179.

Since the amendment of this section created the homestead tax exemption with no procedural conditions and created no authorization for legislative implementation, the amendment is self-executing and the General Assembly has no authority to establish deadlines relating to the application for or assertion of the right to the exemption. OAG 72-726.

There is no provision, in the absence of specific statutory authorization, to exempt from or refund gasoline taxes to charitable organizations such as Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc. OAG 72-745.

A parcel of real estate adjacent to a cemetery and occupied by the cemetery caretaker would be exempt from ad valorem property taxation. OAG 72-798.

If the income derived from a bookstore and a grill operated by Eastern Kentucky University is devoted to the furtherance of the educational process, such businesses are exempt from the city of Richmond net profits tax. OAG 73-20.

So long as a dwelling is used as a single unit family residence, the owner would be entitled to the exemption set out in this section, even though the structure was classified as a duplex. OAG 73-320.

There is no authority in the constitution, either directly or implied, to increase the $6,500 exemption provided for the assessed value of homesteads owned by persons 65 years of age or older and the only method by which such exemption could be increased would be by amending the constitution. OAG 73-371.

Since neither the constitution nor statutes give the fiscal court any power either expressly or by implication to exempt property from taxes, but only the power to levy taxes, the fiscal court has no authority to exempt tangible personal property from ad valorem property taxes. OAG 73-397.

The Actors' Theatre of Louisville, which was organized and incorporated as a nonprofit group for solely charitable and educational activities, none of the income from which and none of the expenditures by which inures to the private benefit of any individual or organization, qualifies under this section for exemption from the ad valorem tax as an institution of purely public charity and/or education. OAG 73-517.

The incidental renting of rooms in a residence that otherwise qualifies for the homestead exemptions does not, under this section and KRS 132.810, violate the single unit restriction. OAG 73-550.

A special school building tax is of general benefit to the whole community and is not the type of special benefit contemplated in the homestead amendment and, therefore, cannot be levied on property in the school district entitled to the homestead exemption except on the value in excess of $6,500. OAG 73-733.

If a city homeowner was sixty-five (65) years of age prior to the September 1972 assessment date, the city should have permitted him to file a homestead exemption application for exemption from 1973 city ad valorem property tax and the city legislative body should authorize a refund to the taxpayer who asserts a proper and qualified application for the exemption. OAG 73-780.

City had no authority to exempt a medical clinic which was built in connection with a low rent project for the elderly, since the only allowable exemption is for manufacturing establishments for a period up to five (5) years. OAG 74-126.

A county hospital qualifies as a public charity under this section and thus would be exempt from taxation. OAG 74-420.

Where a hospital is a charitable institution not operated for profit, and it receives income from the rental of a medical building which income it uses for the operation of the hospital, the rental property is exempt from ad valorem property tax so long as it is owned and operated by the hospital. OAG 74-496.

The reimbursement by a city of a private corporation constructing a private hospital for the construction of a portion of sewer line to the hospital along public right of way, in the form of property tax credits to the corporation until completed would be in violation of Const., §§ 171 and 174 requiring uniform and equal tax levies according to classification, Const., § 3 prohibiting exclusive grants except for public service and this section as it is not enumerated as exempt under such section. OAG 74-616.

The sale by a memorial foundation, an integral part of a religious society, of a residence to a minister in the form of a contract for deed, with monthly payments to be made by the minister over a period of years, is subject to ad valorem tax. OAG 74-635.

The Planned Parenthood Center, Inc. of Louisville, which maintains a family planning library and conducts classes about family planning, is entitled to an exemption from ad valorem property taxes as an institution of education and as a public library. OAG 74-791.

Life tenant of single unit residential property, who is 65 years of age and who maintains the property as a personal residence, is an "owner" of the property and may apply for the homestead exemption. OAG 75-110.

Although KRS 82.085 provides authority to levy ad valorem taxes at different rates depending upon the governmental services rendered, it nowhere provides for no city taxation at all and if the 4th class city were to levy no city ad valorem tax in newly annexed territory, such inaction would be in violation of this section. OAG 75-111.

A health services program for the people of the county, even though there is a charge for those persons who can afford to pay, would be a public charity and the vehicles, mobile home, apartment house building and mobile clinic owned and operated by the health service are exempt from ad valorem property taxation. OAG 75-148.

The 65 year old or older owner-occupant of a mobile home, which is a single unit residence, placed on a rented lot is entitled to the homestead exemption if the mobile home qualifies as real property by resting on a permanent fixed foundation and having the wheels or mobile parts removed. OAG 75-264.

A dialysis clinic performing medical services to patients with chronic renal failure, some of whom are paying for such service, some of whom are served without charge and some of whom are paying only a portion of the cost, is entitled to an exemption from ad valorem property taxes as an institution of purely public charity. OAG 75-266.

The charges for sewer services to a board of education are not an ad valorem tax from which boards of education are exempt but are like tolls or rentals so that a board of education is neither exempt from paying the sewer charges nor entitled to a refund for charges previously paid. OAG 75-598.

A sales tax on water and sewer charges is not similar to an ad valorem tax such as to render it unenforceable against local school districts under this section. OAG 76-5.

Though a $6500 maximum homestead exemption was in the proposed amendment to this section when it was placed on the 1975 ballot, the current exemption is $7700 instead of $6500 as a result of application of the rubber dollar principle, but the exemption cannot be more than the owner's interest in the property. OAG 76-45.

Any person 65 years of age or older is entitled to the $7700 exemption for 1976 upon application to the property valuation administrator without the necessity of having a deed prepared showing that person's interest in the property. OAG 76-95.

A "big brothers" corporation is an institution of purely public charity and would be entitled to exemption from ad valorem property taxation under this section. OAG 77-411.

Where a lease of a plot of land is for 99 years and is transferable, the person 65 years of age or older who leases the ground and builds a home upon it is entitled to the homestead exemption. OAG 77-624.

Equipment leased by a hospital from an out-of-state lessor is subject to ad valorem property tax since the property is not owned by the hospital but is merely leased. OAG 77-641.

If the property currently used for parking purposes by a church group is in excess of the applicable acre limitation, any excess is not exempt from taxation under the laws of this Commonwealth as long as it is not used also for worship services or as a parsonage. OAG 78-180.

Until such time as the court sees fit to expand its charitable definition to include motor vehicles owned by religious non-profit cemetery organizations from the motor vehicle usage tax, such vehicles are subject to the tax. OAG 78-579.

Should the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution exercise its purchase option and locate its national headquarters in Kentucky, its property will be exempt from ad valorem taxes since the aims and objectives of SAR place it precisely within the language of this section, which exempts institutions of purely public charities and public libraries. OAG 78-688.

Under KRS 132.190, all real and personal property within this state is subject to taxation, unless exempted by the Constitution and while household goods of a person used in his home are exempt from taxation, under this section, the personal property of the taxpayer used in his business or profession is not exempt, which means a lawyer would have to list for taxes the personal tangible property in his law office, which could include law library, bookcases, typewriters, filing cabinets and other items of equipment used in that office. OAG 79-140.

Where a convent building is being used as a place of residence for nuns who teach in a local parish school and also as a parsonage or place of residence for the priests who service the church, it would appear that the building is exempt from ad valorem property taxes both under the educational and religious exemption provisions of this section. OAG 79-596.

Since the homestead exemption under this section applies to all contiguous real property, where a property owner owns a 20-acre tract, the amount of the homestead exemption should be applied against the value of the total 20-acre tract, even though the property owner only uses one acre for a house and garden and the remaining 19 acres are hill land. OAG 80-170.

A person who is otherwise entitled to the homestead exemption granted by this section cannot be denied the exemption merely because he holds equitable title. OAG 80-179.

Where a county operates a rock quarry, the county is a "taxpayer" under the provisions of KRS Chapter 143A since it severs and processes rocks, and although the exemption provision of KRS 143A.030 does not apply to rock used on county and state roads, this section does exempt the county from the tax as it relates to the rock so used; however, the county is not exempt from the tax as relates to county rock sold to private individuals for purely private purposes. OAG 80-340.

The Louisville Orchestra, Inc., is, under this section, a "purely public charity," and is thus exempt from the sales tax on admissions. OAG 80-598.

Where a church-owned hospital owns an office building on an adjacent property which it rented to hospital staff doctors, the income from the office rental is exempt from taxation under this section if the income derived from office rentals is used in the operation of the hospital and there is no private profit inuring to any individual. OAG 81-150.

Where an individual donates an undivided one-fourth (¼) interest in certain unimproved real estate to a religious organization, and the organization will not enter into any agreement with the donor restricting its rights as a cotenant to its proportionate share of any income from the property, for the proceeds of its sale, or restricting its rights as cotenant to sue for a partition of its interest, such interest in the land would be exempt from ad valorem taxation under this section, since the organization will hold full legal rights commensurate with its ownership so that it will be the actual owner, and since the organization, as an umbrella type organization which supports a number of charitable, educational and religious organizations, including organizations which are not the same denomination as the donee, qualifies as a purely public charity sufficient to exempt it from taxation under this section. OAG 81-231.

Where the development finance authority acquires 50 percent ownership in certain real property for a one-year period, an exemption from ad valorem property taxation limited to the extent of the authority's ownership and for the duration of its ownership is available under this section since KRS 154.005 specifically states that the purposes of the authority are public purposes. OAG 81-270.

A theological seminary is not exempt by virtue of this section from the payment of a real estate transfer tax required by KRS 142.050 since the real estate transfer tax is a tax on the privilege of transferring title to real property and thus in the nature of a license tax, so that this section, which applies only to ad valorem taxes, does not apply to exempt the seminary. OAG 81-276.

Although the General Assembly may authorize incorporated cities or towns to exempt manufacturing establishments from municipal taxation, for a period not exceeding five (5) years pursuant to this section, as an inducement to locating in the community, the city may not exempt the manufacturing establishment from school or other taxes. OAG 81-326.

The Louisville Bar Association is not exempt from the state sales tax since subdivision (1) of KRS 139.470 exempts from the tax only those gross receipts which the state is prohibited from taxing under the Constitution, and the Bar Association qualifies as neither an institution of purely public charity nor an institution of education under this section. OAG 81-330.

An individual who is 65 years old or older or totally disabled who owns and resides in a building but leases the land upon which the building rests is entitled to the homestead exemption regardless of the length of the lease; furthermore, an owner of land who does not own the building cannot qualify for the exemption since the exemption applies only to permanent residences. OAG 81-422. (OAG 76-2 withdrawn).

If a homeowner otherwise qualifies for the homestead exemption, he should receive the full exemption even if he owns the property for less than a year since the intent of this section is that a qualified person pay ad valorem taxes on his home on the value above $6,500; the length of ownership in any taxable year is immaterial to this formula. OAG 81-429; overruled by OAG 85-108 to the extent it failed to recognize the controlling nature of the assessment date.

If the homeowner, who is otherwise qualified for the tax exemption provided in this section, sells his residence on July 1, and purchases another, he would be entitled to the exemption on both homes, in the amount of 50 percent of the ad valorem tax on each house over and above the value of $6,500 each. OAG 81-429; overruled by OAG 85-108 to the extent it failed to recognize the controlling nature of the assessment date.

When a house is transferred the taxes are divided between the buyer and seller, prorated to that part of the year each owned the house and the qualified exemptee will pay his share of the yearly tax based upon the percent of the year he owned the house; his portion of the tax will be based upon the value above $6,500 as adjusted for inflation. OAG 81-429; overruled by OAG 85-108 to the extent it failed to recognize the controlling nature of the assessment date.

A Department of Revenue (now Revenue Cabinet) memorandum dated December, 1981, which takes the administrative position that any qualified person who files for the exemption provided in the 1981 amendment to this section by the end of 1981 is due an appropriate reduction in 1981 ad valorem taxes, is the “proper authorization” required by subsection (5) of KRS 134.590 to allow the sheriff to refund the taxes due to a qualified disabled person for 1981 ad valorem taxes collected and in his possession. OAG 82-12.

The amendment to this section, approved by the voters in November, 1981, which extends the homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes, applicable to homeowners of age 65 or over, to homeowners who are classified as totally disabled under a program authorized or administered by any agency of the United States government, is effective for the entire tax year of 1981, provided the homeowner can qualify as a continuously totally disabled person for the 12 months of 1981; since the explicit language of the amendment put the qualification on an annual and full 12-month basis, there is no problem concerning retroactivity. OAG 82-12.

It is not necessary for a legislative enactment to establish the homestead exemption from ad valorem taxation since this section is self-executing; however, in order to claim the exemption, the owner of the qualified property must present his qualifications to the appropriate taxing authority and comply with the procedures contained in this section and KRS 132.810. OAG 82-21.

With the exception of the property described in KRS 92.300(1), a city of the sixth class has no alternative but to assess all property located within its jurisdictional limits which is not specifically exempted from local ad valorem taxation by the Constitution or by statute; a city ordinance attempting to exempt any other property will be void. OAG 82-21.

A county public library is not exempt from the payment of a city franchise tax imposed on Kentucky utilities and which is, in turn, passed on to the utility’s customers in the affected area. OAG 82-34.

The 1981 amendment to this section applies to the ad valorem tax of a fifth-class city, since it is not limited in its application to the state or county, but applies to all taxing districts; moreover, since the amendment was approved at the 1981 general election, which, under Const., § 256, is the final step in amending the Constitution, the amendment is effective in 1981. OAG 82-49.

The Lexington Ballet Company is exempt from paying sales or use tax on its purchases and is exempt from collecting sales tax on its admission tickets since it is an institution of purely public charity under this section. OAG 82-133.

This section does not exempt religious institutions from the utility gross receipts license tax. OAG 82-190.

Institutions of purely public charity are exempt from payment of the real estate transfer charges levied by KRS 142.050 pursuant to this section. OAG 82-484.

This section is applicable to all taxes, not merely ad valorem taxes. OAG 82-533.

Since the tax authorized by KRS 92.285 (repealed) is a tax on the insurance company, this section is not violated when the insurance company passes on the tax to a church by adding it to the premium on insurance sold to the church. OAG 82-533.

The fiscal court may impose an auto sticker tax under its police power as found in subsection (3)(t) of KRS 67.083; however, the proceeds cannot exceed the amount of revenue necessary to fund the administrative cost of the regulatory power. OAG 82-601 as modified by OAG 87-19.

While the courts have, in certain cases, allowed the use of the property to be a factor in determining whether property is exempt, that consideration has been limited to only two (2) categories of exemptions: (1) “places actually used for religious worship” and (2) “institutions of purely public charity”; this consideration has not been used in reference to the exemption for “public property used for public purposes” and because exemptions are not favored in the law, it cannot be expanded to include this situation. OAG 83-14.

For property to qualify for the exemption for “public property used for public purposes,” it must be owned by a public body. Therefore, a county could not exempt from property taxes a piece of property which was privately owned but was used by a city. OAG 83-14.

The Paducah/McCracken County Association for Retarded Citizens, Inc., organized solely to develop and operate residential and other services for the mentally handicapped, is an institution of purely public charity and, as such, is exempt from property tax. OAG 83-137.

Where certain property was condemned by the state as a total taking pursuant to court order, where the transportation cabinet took possession soon thereafter, but the property was not deeded to the state until several years later because of a continuing dispute over the amount of compensation to be paid, and where between the time of the cabinet’s taking possession and the date of the deed to the state, ad valorem property taxes were assessed against the publicly listed title holder, tax liens representing the back taxes assessed during the years of dispute were extinguished after legal title passed to the state. OAG 83-155.

Since title to any property acquired by a city plant board shall vest in the city for the use and benefit of the electric and water system, the plant board is exempt from taxation pursuant to this section as public property used for public purposes. OAG 83-345, modifying OAG 83-160 to the extent such opinion assumes that the plant board is liable for taxes.

As concerns a city license tax on insurance premiums, political subdivisions and special districts would not be exempt under this section. OAG 84-5.

Nonprofit institutions of purely public charity and education, where a city license tax on insurance premiums is designed for revenue, would be exempt from the city tax under this section, as an institutional exemption. OAG 84-5.

As relates to nonprofit institutions of purely public charity and education, since the insurance premium surcharge tax is designed to raise revenue, this section exempts such institutions from this tax. OAG 84-5.

Governmental units such as the state government and political subdivisions, and special districts, are not exempt from the state surcharge or tax levied on insurance premiums pursuant to KRS 136.392; the exemption of this section, as relates to governmental units, involves only ad valorem taxes. OAG 84-5.

A city can legally require a church to pay a reasonable license fee in order to sell products for church-related activities, and such license can be imposed on a daily basis, particularly where the sale is essentially on a day by day basis. OAG 84-29.

Where property owned by a hospital, which was a nonprofit corporation, was leased to a clinic, which was a for-profit corporation, then if the building on the property was owned by the clinic, it must be placed on the tax roll and the leasehold interest must also be placed on the tax roll. OAG 84-35.

From Kentucky case law the following standards for determining charities exempt under this section emerge: (1) the corporation or institution must itself be a charity and the income from its property must be used to further its charitable purpose; (2) the property must be employed for a purely charitable purpose; (3) a profit corporation or institution is not a public charity; and (4) the charity must be extended only to the Commonwealth of Kentucky and its people. OAG 84-169.

Nonprofit institutions of purely public charity and education are exempt from a city license tax on insurance premiums under this section, as an institutional exemption, provided that the tax is designed for revenue; however, the charitable institution is not exempt from payment of a city license tax when it is enacted under the police power or when it is enacted for police or regulatory purposes. Thus, the line of demarcation as to the application or nonapplication of the city license tax to nonprofit and charitable institutions is drawn around the concept of the license tax being either a revenue measure or a police measure. OAG 84-201.

The property of religious institutions is not intrinsically or inherently exempt from taxation; the exemption is limited to places of worship and parsonages, and the exemption from taxation is to be strictly and narrowly construed. Also, the exemption seems to be directed solely at real property. OAG 84-254.

The county judge/executive has no authority to exonerate the tax bills on church-owned vehicles. OAG 84-254.

Mere use of a church-owned vehicle by an educational institution does not exempt that property from taxation; the educational institution must own the property in order for the property to enjoy the benefit of the educational institution's exemption from taxation. OAG 84-254.

Whether property qualifies for the homestead exemption is determined as of January 1 each year. If one who is qualified for the homestead exemption owns the property as of that date, the property will receive the benefit of the exemption. If the property is owned as of the assessment date by one not qualified to receive the exemption, it will not receive the exemption for that year even though it may be acquired during the course of the year by one who is entitled to the exemption. OAG 85-108, OAG 81-429 modified.

Where the purpose of the corporation was to hold title to all real and personal property for the church and to make expenditures at the direction of the General Assembly, the corporation was entitled to the exemption as an institution of purely public charity, as charity was more than an incidental portion of its program. OAG 87-81.

The current exemption contained in the 1990 amendment to this section applies to all tangible personal property, all intangible personal property, and all real property owned and occupied by institutions of religion and is obviously permissive in its treatment of the subject; therefore, a proper interpretation should reject the imposition of conditions such as a requirement that the property be used for religious purposes, or that the property be occupied exclusively by the institution of religion, or that the institution of religion be in current rather than future occupation, because the voters did not intend to impose such conditions and the section must be construed in a general and nonrestricting sense in order that the plainly manifested purpose of those who created the amendment may be carried out. OAG 91-216.

§ 172A. Assessment of farm land according to value for farm purposes.

Notwithstanding contrary provisions of Sections 171, 172, or 174 of this Constitution —

The General Assembly shall provide by general law for the assessment for ad valorem tax purposes of agricultural and horticultural land according to the land's value for agricultural or horticultural use. The General Assembly may provide that any change in land use from agricultural or horticultural to another use shall require the levy of an additional tax not to exceed the additional amount that would have been owing had the land been assessed under Section 172 of this Constitution for the current year and the two next preceding years.

The General Assembly may provide for reasonable differences in the rate of ad valorem taxation within different areas of the same taxing districts on that class of property which includes the surface of the land. Those differences shall relate directly to differences between non-revenue-producing governmental services and benefits giving land urban character which are furnished in one or several areas in contrast to other areas of the taxing district.

1. Application.

Since this section specifically contemplates different rates of taxation when the land affected is given an "urban character" by the different governmental services which are furnished, and since there are no words or phrases which restrict the application of the section to farm land, it can be concluded that this section applies to urban land as well as agricultural land. Louisville v. Fiscal Court of Jefferson County, 623 S.W.2d 219, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 282 (Ky. 1981).

2. Construction.

This section and §§ 171 and 172 of the Constitution are to be interpreted together. Dolan v. Land, 667 S.W.2d 684, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1984).

3. Territorial Scope of Tax.

A plan for merger of city and county government which divides the county into three (3) taxing districts and authorizes ad valorem taxation at different rates in each district commensurate with government services provided in each district does not violate this section of the Constitution. Holsclaw v. Stephens, 507 S.W.2d 462, 1973 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 1973).

4. Tax Rates.

Under this section and KRS 82.085, a differential in tax rates between service districts in an urban-county is legitimate insofar as it applies to real estate but is unconstitutional and void as applied to personal property and severed mineral interests. Jacobs v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, 560 S.W.2d 10, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 564 (Ky. 1977).

Although this section and KRS 82.085 permit "variable" tax rates, there is an inherent danger in unrestricted differences in such rates; this section should not be viewed as permitting a taxing authority to cease providing or to agree not to provide governmental services in selective areas where it has customarily provided them and, by reason thereof, to create a different tax rate, since such a scheme would open the doorway for individuals or groups to barter with the taxing authority for a favorable tax rate for their particular property, with the result that the more prominent and influential citizens may fare better than others. Louisville v. Fiscal Court of Jefferson County, 623 S.W.2d 219, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 282 (Ky. 1981).

Where a city and an adjoining area that was to be annexed entered into a pretrial agreement whereby the adjoining area agreed to be annexed in return for the city's agreement to place the annexed area in a special taxing and service district, with a reduced ad valorem real estate tax rate over a number of years, but where the record was silent as to the availability of city services to the area, where there was no basis set out in the agreement for the difference in services authorized or not authorized and where there was no factual basis set forth in the agreement for the tax rates agreed upon, the agreement was invalid, since the difference in tax rates cannot be shown to be "reasonable" where no factual basis is set out for the agreed upon rates. Louisville v. Fiscal Court of Jefferson County, 623 S.W.2d 219, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 282 (Ky. 1981).

5. Uniformity of Assessment.

Where the proof indicated only that 12 similar farms in the general area of taxpayers' farm were assessed on an average of about 61 percent of their fair cash value of 1974, the assessments ranging from approximately 39 percent to 71 percent of fair cash value, and where there were certainly more than 12 "similar" farms in that county, no showing was made of a uniform or systematic proportionate assessment of the farm land in the particular district in which taxpayers' farm was located. Walters v. Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals, 569 S.W.2d 170, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 926 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

Although property valuation administrators throughout the state do not need to use the same method of arriving at an assessment, whatever method is used must result in a uniform standard of assessment whether the property is agricultural or residential since Const., § 174 says that all property shall be taxed in proportion to its value. Dolan v. Land, 667 S.W.2d 684, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1984).

Method used by property valuation administrator which resulted in farm property being assigned a value based on general averages rather than an individual and specific value related to the agricultural purpose for which it was used was constitutionally unsound since the method even though it was the same method used for all agricultural land in the county, failed to value the property on the basis of uniform standards and did not result in an effective tax which was equally burdensome on all farm taxpayers. Dolan v. Land, 667 S.W.2d 684, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1984).

Section 172 of the Constitution is subject to the same requirements of uniformity as this section because both are constitutional provisions for assessing property. Dolan v. Land, 667 S.W.2d 684, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1984).

There is a violation of constitutional rights if the effective tax rate is not uniform and thereby results in an unequal tax burden; any method of assessment which fails to follow the constitutional directions and accordingly does not produce an assessed value based on agricultural use of each individual parcel, violates the Constitution. Dolan v. Land, 667 S.W.2d 684, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1984).

The burden on the Department of Revenue (now Revenue Cabinet) is simply to assure that all property in this state is assessed fairly, according to its value; if this is done, the tax burden will be equally shared. Dolan v. Land, 667 S.W.2d 684, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1984).

Where assessments of agricultural land for one year were unconstitutional, the correct remedy was the use of the previous year's assessments for the subject property for the later tax year; the property valuation administrator was not entitled to belatedly assess the subject property for the later year's taxes since KRS 132.220(1) clearly states that property shall be evaluated as of January 1. Dolan v. Land, 667 S.W.2d 684, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1984).

The use of mathematical formula to arrive at a result may be proper as long as the procedure adopted does not produce an unfair or unequal valuation. Dolan v. Land, 667 S.W.2d 684, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1984).

KRS 132.010(9), (10) and 132.450(2)(a) do not violate the Constitution of Kentucky; dwelling houses are to be assessed at fair cash value, and the income and acreage standards to qualify for "agricultural land" or "horticultural land" are not unreasonable. Dolan v. Land, 667 S.W.2d 684, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1984).

Subdivision (4)(c) of KRS 140.300 did not violate Const., §§ 2, 171, and this section because each class is taxed equally. Revenue Cabinet Commonwealth v. Estate of Marshall, 746 S.W.2d 408, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 39 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

6. Compliance with Statutes.

Even accepting that the agricultural or horticultural value of their farm was less than its fair market value, where the record did not indicate that taxpayers complied with the requirements of KRS 132.450(2)(a) by filing the necessary application for agricultural or horticultural valuation with the administrator on or before April 1, the Board of Tax Appeals correctly concluded that there was no showing of the filing of a timely application for agricultural valuation. Walters v. Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals, 569 S.W.2d 170, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 926 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

7. Property Value.

The income-producing capacity of land is not the only factor to be considered in establishing the value of the property. Dolan v. Land, 667 S.W.2d 684, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1984).

8. Ad Valorem.

The term "ad valorem" literally means "according to the worth," and is used in taxation to designate an assessment of taxes against property at a certain rate upon its value. Revenue Cabinet v. Estate of Field, 864 S.W.2d 930, 1993 Ky. App. LEXIS 147 (Ky. Ct. App. 1993).

9. Inheritance Taxes.

Court of Appeals reversed a Circuit Court judgment which held that the portion of KRS 140.310(1) which limits entitlement to an agricultural assessment to "qualified persons" is invalid because it conflicts with this section. Ad valorem taxes are clearly distinguishable from inheritance taxes: the former are direct taxes on property based upon the value of the property, while the latter are taxes imposed not on property, but upon the privilege or right of succession thereto. Because the case involved an inheritance, or estate tax, this section, which limits the applicability of Const., §§ 171, 172 and 174 and which deals exclusively with ad valorem taxes, did not apply. Revenue Cabinet v. Estate of Field, 864 S.W.2d 930, 1993 Ky. App. LEXIS 147 (Ky. Ct. App. 1993).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

If a 4th class city were to levy no city ad valorem tax in newly annexed territory, such inaction would violate this section. OAG 75-111.

A county conservation district, which assists individual landowners with the development and implementation of a resource conservation plan for a unit of land, is required to allow Department of Revenue (now Revenue Cabinet) representatives access, on a confidential basis, to individual resource conservation plans upon request. OAG 76-272.

It would appear from an examination of the constitutional provisions (Ky. Const., § 172A) and the implementing statute (KRS 67.650) that where the voters in the district created are not receiving the services provided by the county government they may petition the fiscal court to reduce such rate but there is no provision for the fiscal court to act in accordance with such petition and it could very well ignore the petition and continue to levy the rate in effect. OAG 78-580.

Where subsection (2)(b) of KRS 132.450 provides for an exclusion for land under "a zoning classification other than for agricultural or horticultural purposes," such language is constitutionally consistent with this section, since such zoning classification is a change in the use of property as provided for under this section. OAG 81-58.

1. Purpose.

The purpose behind Const., § 177 and this section was to prevent local and state tax revenues from being diverted from proper governmental use. Louisville Municipal Housing Com. v. Public Housing Administration, 261 S.W.2d 286, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 997 (Ky. 1953).

This section is intended to prevent the investment of public funds in private enterprises and to forestall local and state tax revenues from being diverted from proper governmental use. Louisville Bd. of Ins. Agents v. Jefferson County Bd. of Education, 309 S.W.2d 40, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 145 (Ky. 1957).

2. Construction.

This section makes the same restrictions against a municipality's donating its money or loaning its credit that Const., § 177 does concerning the state. Hager v. Kentucky Children's Home Soc., 119 Ky. 235, 83 S.W. 605, 26 Ky. L. Rptr. 1133, 1904 Ky. LEXIS 166 (Ky. 1904).

This section does not prohibit a municipality from participating with another municipality in a function it is permitted or required to perform by itself and by which its inhabitants will reap a commensurate benefit. Johnson v. Louisville, 261 S.W.2d 429, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1014 (Ky. 1953).

Although Section 3 and this section of the Kentucky Constitution could prohibit an outright gift or lending of credit, these sections do not prevent all public incentives when offered in furtherance of a valid public service, such as economic development efforts. Dannheiser v. City of Henderson, 4 S.W.3d 542, 1999 Ky. LEXIS 114 (Ky. 1999).

3. Application.

The restriction of this section against obtaining or appropriating money for any corporation, association or individual applies to donations to projects from which no benefit will be received by the city or in which it may not independently engage. Valla v. Preston Street Road Water Dist., 395 S.W.2d 772, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 164 (Ky. 1965).

4. Incorporated District.

A city municipal housing commission which was organized under an enabling act of the General Assembly and operated by personnel of the city so as to participate in the federal housing program was not an incorporated district within the meaning of this section. Louisville Municipal Housing Com. v. Public Housing Administration, 261 S.W.2d 286, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 997 (Ky. 1953).

A municipal housing commission is not an incorporated district within the meaning of this section and may constitutionally inure its housing projects in a mutual fire insurance company. Louisville Municipal Housing Com. v. Public Housing Administration, 261 S.W.2d 286, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 997 (Ky. 1953).

5. Road Construction.

This section does not prohibit the General Assembly from authorizing a county to purchase a turnpike road from a corporation. Maysville & L. Turnpike Road Co. v. Wiggins, 104 Ky. 540, 47 S.W. 434, 20 Ky. L. Rptr. 724, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 189 (Ky. 1898).

The Legislature may authorize a county to donate its funds to aid in the construction of roads within its borders. Lawrence County v. Lawrence Fiscal Court, 191 Ky. 45, 229 S.W. 139, 1921 Ky. LEXIS 284 (Ky. 1921).

Under this section and KRS 177.030, donation of a traffic light by a county constitutes a donation in aid of the construction or maintenance of roads. Grauman v. Department of Highways, 286 Ky. 850, 151 S.W.2d 1061, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 337 (Ky. 1941).

Counties may donate money to the state for the purpose of constructing roads. Clay County v. Kentucky Dep't of Highways, 294 Ky. 638, 172 S.W.2d 436, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 500 (Ky. 1943).

Where county offered to lend proceeds of road bond issue to state for construction of primary road through county, but state declined to accept loan on ground that it would create an unconstitutional state debt, whereupon the fiscal court entered an order appropriating the money to the department of highways, the transaction constituted a donation to the state which the county could not recover. Clay County v. Kentucky Dep't of Highways, 294 Ky. 638, 172 S.W.2d 436, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 500 (Ky. 1943).

6. Industrial Property.

Financing proposal under which one city issued industrial bonds so as to permit such city to purchase factory site within corporate limits of nearby city (KRS 103.200 to 103.285) did not violate constitutional prohibition against city lending its credit to corporations, associations, or individuals. Norvell v. Danville, 355 S.W.2d 689, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 84 (Ky. 1962).

Where the city and the county both deposited with the chamber of commerce one half of the price of industrial property with instructions to acquire the property, and title to one-half interest was taken in the name of the county and title to the other half was taken in the name of the chamber but subsequently conveyed to the city, there was no violation of this section. Ezelle v. Paducah, 441 S.W.2d 162, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 307 (Ky. 1969).

The development of an industrial park by a city was not a prohibited lending of credit since the city was not loaning or giving a private company any form of credit, was not signing a note on behalf of the company guaranteeing repayment of any amount due, and was not issuing bonds with the debt service to be paid from future appropriations in city budgets; rather, the city bought and paid for land and was selling it without any involvement concerning the method of financing by the purchaser. Dannheiser v. City of Henderson, 4 S.W.3d 542, 1999 Ky. LEXIS 114 (Ky. 1999).

The sale of municipal property to private companies was for a proper public purpose where the city's sole purpose was to develop a corporate park so as to foster economic development by attempting to retain existing industry as well as to attract new industry to its local community; further, in order to show such public purpose, the city was not required to prove by clear and convincing evidence that unemployment was a widespread problem in the vicinity and, instead, only needed to prove that the development had a reasonable or sufficient relationship to the purpose of economic growth. Dannheiser v. City of Henderson, 4 S.W.3d 542, 1999 Ky. LEXIS 114 (Ky. 1999).

7. — Leased to Corporations.

City's issuance of bonds for construction of industrial building to be leased to private corporation did not contravene this section as it was specifically provided that the bonds should be payable only from the revenue derived from the building and would not constitute an indebtedness of the city. Faulconer v. Danville, 313 Ky. 468, 232 S.W.2d 80, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 901 (Ky. 1950).

A lease of a proposed industrial building constructed by city's indebtedness would not be a loaning of the city's credit to a private corporation in violation of this section. Dyche v. London, 288 S.W.2d 648, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 271 (Ky. 1956).

Where city proposed to issue revenue bonds for acquisition of site and construction of plant to lease under authority of KRS 103.200 to 103.280, and entered into contract with company to lease such plant, which contract contained option to purchase from the city, such option to purchase was not the lending of city's credit in violation of this section. Bennett v. Mayfield, 323 S.W.2d 573, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 331 (Ky. 1959).

The issuance of revenue bonds to finance a public project, such as an industrial building to be rented to private industry, does not constitute a lending of credit of the city in violation of this section. Miller v. Owensboro, 343 S.W.2d 398, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 421 (Ky. 1961).

A plan by which a city was to pay, in stages, for the construction of an industrial plant to be leased to a private corporation and where the payments were to be made solely from revenue bonds does not constitute an unlawful lending of credit in violation of this section. Gregory v. Lewisport, 369 S.W.2d 133, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 70 (Ky. 1963).

The issuance of revenue bonds to finance a public project, even if the project was to be rented, did not constitute a lending of credit in violation of this section. Baird v. Adairville, 426 S.W.2d 124, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 636 (Ky. 1968).

8. Public Libraries.

A public library is not a private corporation but is a public corporation which does not originate in contract, and is merely a governmental institution; hence, an act authorizing a municipality to appropriate money for a public library corporation does not violate the provisions of this section. Lambert v. Board of Trustees, 151 Ky. 725, 152 S.W. 802, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 562 (Ky. 1913).

9. Public Utilities.

Plan pursuant to which city desiring to acquire city water system was to purchase all of stock in private corporation which owned system, following which corporation would be dissolved, did not violate this section. Cawood v. Coleman, 294 Ky. 858, 172 S.W.2d 548, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 515 (Ky. 1943).

Where primary purpose of new city generating station was to provide adequate facilities to meet present and anticipated energy needs, contract to sell surplus energy from station to private utility did not violate this section. Miller v. Owensboro, 343 S.W.2d 398, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 421 (Ky. 1961).

An agreement in which one city agreed to construct and operate a sewage treatment plant and to build a trunk line to collect sewage from a second city for which the second city would pay a monthly sum over a 20-year period did not constitute a binding of credit by the second city, nor did the second city become a stockholder in the first city's corporate affairs. Russell v. Flatwoods, 394 S.W.2d 900, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 218 (Ky. 1965).

A plan under which a city would construct two (2) new power facilities for future use and sell the excess power until it was needed for municipal use did not violate Const., § 164 or this section. Wilson v. Henderson, 461 S.W.2d 90, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 610 (Ky. 1970).

10. Recreational Facilities.

An agreement between a city and a private foundation to erect and operate a city zoo does not constitute an appropriation of city funds for the benefit of a private corporation. O'Bryan v. Louisville, 382 S.W.2d 386, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 341 (Ky. 1964).

An agreement by a city to lease recreational facilities from a county board of education is not in contravention of this section as long as there is a good faith transaction as opposed to a gift disguised as an arm's-length contract. Sawyer v. Jefferson County Fiscal Court, 392 S.W.2d 83, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 275 (Ky. 1965).

11. Health Services.

Since the city-county board of health was but a means of carrying out a proper and necessary governmental function for the city and county and city reaped the same benefits from the activities of the board as it formerly reaped from activities of city board of health, the constitutional authority of the city to expend proceeds of bonds issued by city for improvement of buildings and equipment of board owned and operated hospital was as clear as its authority to contribute to the board from its general tax levy and the issuance of such bonds was not a loan of credit by the city to another corporation in violation of this section. Kesselring v. Louisville, 257 S.W.2d 596, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 800 (Ky. 1953).

The evidence did not compel a finding that a county's lease of a county hospital and grounds was for such a grossly inadequate consideration to the county as to violate this section by constituting a gift of public property to a private corporation. Porter v. Hospital Corp. of America, 696 S.W.2d 793, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 647 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

12. Correctional Facilities.

This section does not prohibit a city authorized by its charter to erect and maintain a house of correction and a house of refuge from making an appropriation to secure the location near the city of a state house of reform to which it may send its youthful offenders. Board of Trustees v. Lexington, 112 Ky. 171, 65 S.W. 350, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1470, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 295 (Ky. 1901).

A statute providing that in all counties having a town not larger than the fourth class and containing a population greater than the county seat and situated over 17 miles therefrom, the circuit court shall be held alternately in each town, the expense of furnishing a jail and courtroom in the larger town to be borne by it, does not violate this section. Johnson v. Fulton, 121 Ky. 594, 89 S.W. 672, 28 Ky. L. Rptr. 569, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 243 (Ky. 1905).

13. Railroad Construction.

A vote taken in a county after the constitution was adopted, favoring a subscription by the county in aid of a railroad, did not authorize the county to make such a subscription, though the vote and subscription were provided for by law passed prior to the adoption of the constitution. Whitney v. Kentucky M. R. Co., 110 Ky. 955, 63 S.W. 24, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 472, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 161 (Ky. 1901).

Ordinance requiring city to give assent to issuance of securities by street railway company did not make city guarantor of such securities, or pledge credit of city to railway. Poggel v. Louisville R. Co., 225 Ky. 784, 10 S.W.2d 305, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 886 (Ky. 1928).

14. Teacher Salaries and Pensions.

This section does not prohibit the operation of a municipal teachers' pension system under an enabling act. Board of Education v. Louisville, 288 Ky. 656, 157 S.W.2d 337, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 198 (Ky. 1941).

An appropriation of funds by a city, to supplement salaries of teachers in independent school district, the boundaries of which coincide with those of the city, violates this section. Board of Education v. Corbin, 301 Ky. 686, 192 S.W.2d 951, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 544 (Ky. 1946).

15. Assumption of School Debts.

An assumption by the city of Louisville of a bonded indebtedness of the Louisville independent school district would be the equivalent of lending credit in violation of this section as to the city taxpayers who live outside the boundaries of the school district. Board of Education v. Louisville, 258 S.W.2d 707, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 877 (Ky. 1953).

16. Bank Loans.

This section does not invalidate financing plan, whereby banks agreed to advance money to pay condemnation award on acquisition by city and county air board of additional land to extend airfield and obtain lien thereon, without formally obliging board, county or city to repay said money or levy tax for board's benefit. Miles v. Lee, 284 Ky. 39, 143 S.W.2d 843, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 436 (Ky. 1940).

17. Use of Public Property for Private Purpose.

Abutting property owner did not have right of private railway access over property reacquired by city under operation of law; reasonable right of access did not encompass grant of private right of railway access as to do so would be in contravention of the right enjoyed by all other members of the public or other abutting property owners and would constitute use of public property for a private purpose prohibited by this section and Const., §§ 2, 13, and 242. City of Louisville v. Louisville Scrap Material Co., 932 S.W.2d 352, 1996 Ky. LEXIS 62 (Ky. 1996).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A sheriff may not deduct from excess fees the cost of interest on money borrowed by him when said borrowed funds are for the operation of his office nor may a fiscal court pay deputies' salaries and office expenses of a sheriff where such amounts are to be repaid to the fiscal court by the sheriff when fees are available because of the provisions of this section. OAG 61-632.

A city would not violate this section by continuing to insure property it had purchased with a mutual insurance company, because becoming a member of a mutual insurance company does not make the insured a stockholder within the fair import of the constitutional prohibition. OAG 61-836.

The board of trustees of a city could not legally appropriate money to pay for the electric power and repairs necessary to keep a memorial cross lighted that was a memorial to a private individual. OAG 62-615.

The city of Marion cannot legally appropriate money from its general fund for the support of the Crittenden recreational center, a nonstock, nonprofit corporation. OAG 62-634.

If implemented in a school district, the young historians program can be regarded as educational in purpose within the meaning of the constitution. OAG 63-214.

A county fiscal court cannot advance funds to pay the operating expenses of the sheriff's office during the slack period when his current fees are not enough to meet the current expenses of his office. OAG 63-848.

Where the residents of a city voted in favor of a general obligation bond for an industrial park development and a site was purchased, under the implementing ordinance the city could lease or sell the industrial park property to a nonprofit industrial foundation but it could not donate municipal property to such an organization. OAG 68-181.

A city would not be legally authorized to make a donation to the building fund of the local YMCA, a private nonprofit organization over which the city has no control. OAG 68-533.

Where not all of the residents of three cities included in an independent school district lived inside the school district and one city had its own tax assessor while two (2) other cities where assessed by the county assessor, the proper tax levying authority for the district was the county fiscal court and the election expense should be borne by the fiscal court. OAG 69-2.

Although a city or county could not contribute public funds to a group of private citizens for a beautification project, the city and county could establish either separate committees or a joint committee pursuant to KRS ch. 65, composed of citizens and appropriate funds thereto, to be utilized for beautifying the metropolitan area. OAG 69-415.

Under this section a municipality or a municipal water commission would be prohibited from donating money to an industrial council created as a nonprofit corporation for the purpose of encouraging new industries in the municipality. OAG 69-520.

In view of this section, a city cannot legally appropriate funds to assist a women's civic club to construct an amphitheater on land owned by the board of education, a separate public entity. The city could, however, build the amphitheater as a public project, or jointly establish a recreational system with the school district pursuant to KRS 97.010 which could include the amphitheater or, pursuant to the same statute, the city could lease land from the school board to establish a recreational center. OAG 70-514.

It is doubtful that the city of Berea could contribute money to Berea College to make up the cost difference where the college was installing additional equipment to furnish water to the city under a franchise. OAG 70-679.

County fiscal court could pass a resolution granting a corporation organized under KRS 273.160 (repealed in 1968) the sum of $15,000 toward the construction of a rescue squad building to house the corporation whose primary purpose is to render aid to persons in distress, since the building would involve a public purpose under § 171 of the Kentucky Constitution, would not involve a lending of credit, and would not be an appropriation prohibited by § 171, but merely a method of carrying out a clear public purpose. OAG 73-334.

This section should be read together with § 171 with the idea that the proscription against county appropriations to a corporation is not absolute, but is merely to be read as definite where the public purpose required by § 171 is not shown. OAG 73-334.

An agreement by a board of education to lease unused portions of a television facility owned by it to a private corporation was lawful with the exception of a provision that a part of the consideration for the lease would be an option to purchase up to 10% of the stock of the private corporation, which provision was illegal and void under §§ 177, 179, 184 and 186 of the Kentucky Constitution. OAG 73-418.

Donations by a sixth-class city to organizations which aided in a tornado disaster are improper. OAG 74-437.

Although a fiscal court is prohibited by this section from loaning county funds to deputy sheriffs to permit them to purchase cars for use in the performance of their official duties, it may, under the authority of KRS 67.080 and 67.083, purchase such automobiles, as a properly budgeted item, the county retaining title to the cars and leasing them to the sheriff at an equitable monthly rental payable from the fees of his office. OAG 74-735.

The council of a city of the fourth class cannot legally appropriate money from its general fund to support a private, nonstock, nonprofit corporation in providing a supervised recreational program for the youth of the area and a meeting place for senior citizens of the community. OAG 75-366.

The appropriation of funds by municipalities for private purposes, such as face-lifting of private houses was within the constitutional prohibition under this section. OAG 75-156.

A city cannot use tax money to pay for subscriptions to a newspaper for the residents of a city where the newspaper is independent and is in no way associated with the city government. OAG 76-397.

For a school district to hold a vendor's lien on the sale of surplus school property would be a prohibited extension of its credit to the purchaser. OAG 77-771.

This section did not apply to appropriation to the State Department of Transportation (now Transportation Cabinet) for purposes of administering the railroad rehabilitation program. OAG 78-103.

A donation from a fiscal court to a volunteer fire department would in all probability be declared invalid under this section. OAG 78-122.

The fiscal court of a county containing a city of the third class may not legally appropriate money to a private nonprofit corporation not engaged in charitable and welfare work pursuant to KRS 204.200 (now repealed) insofar as in absence of specific statutory authorization to do so, such an appropriation of public funds is precluded by the Kentucky Constitution. OAG 78-158.

Generally, a city cannot appropriate public funds to nonprofit organizations in absence of legislative authorization when it has no control of such organizations and no connection with them. OAG 78-205.

The granting of a franchise for no monetary or valuable consideration would at least indirectly constitute a violation of this section of the Constitution, since the county is giving away monetarily what a fair franchise fee would be. OAG 78-208.

The purpose of this constitutional provision was to prevent the investment or contribution of public funds in private enterprises and to thereby forestall local tax revenues from being diverted from normal governmental channels. OAG 78-208.

The repeal of KRS 102.060 removed the authority for the appropriation of city funds, through the chamber of commerce for the purpose of industrial development, and that the tax moneys may not be applied for such purposes; furthermore, should the cities volunteer their tax moneys for such purposes, the action would be illegal under this section. OAG 78-313.

The city can only appropriate money for a public municipal purpose over which it has control, which would eliminate an appropriation to pay part of the funeral costs of an employee of the city. OAG 79-59.

A city cannot appropriate public funds to nonprofit corporations or to associations or individuals in absence of legislative authorization when it has no control of such organizations and no direct connection with them; furthermore, all appropriations of public money by municipalities must be for a public and corporate purpose rather than for private uses. OAG 79-67.

Since this section forbids municipal corporations from contributing to private corporations, a city may not contribute to a charitable hospital owned and operated by a private religious group. OAG 79-135.

This section of the Constitution applies to municipal donations or gifts to a corporation and would have no application with respect to the city's right to lease or sell municipal property. OAG 79-141.

The constitutional prohibition against lending credit of the state or of counties seeks to prevent transactions that might result in future liabilities against the general resources of the state or county. OAG 79-166.

A city may not make a grant to an incorporated religious nonprofit social welfare agency to assist that organization in operating a give-away program at its thrift store in that city, since this section prohibits the General Assembly from authorizing a city to appropriate money for any corporation, association or individuals. OAG 81-193.

Although a fire protection district, under KRS 75.040, has the authority through its board of trustees to levy a tax upon the property in its district in connection with the establishment, maintenance and operation of its fire department, there is no authority permitting a fiscal court to simply donate funds to a fire protection district, and such a donation would probably violate this section since it prohibits the General Assembly from authorizing a county to lend its credit or appropriate money to any corporation, association or individual. OAG 81-247.

Although a county receiving moneys from the Economic Assistance Fund established under KRS 42.450 would appear to have statutory authorization to make expenditures from the fund to such nonprofit organizations as little league baseball pursuant to the language of subsection (2) of KRS 42.455 and KRS 67.083(3)(f) which allow expenditures for "recreation," such an appropriation would violate the prohibition of this section against appropriations for corporations since the baseball program is not a county operation or function and is not under the basic operative control or management of the fiscal court. OAG 81-381.

A city could not purchase insurance coverage with itself as the named insured and a private railroad corporation as an additional insured in order to cover tort actions arising out of railroad accidents occurring on property leased by the railroad to the city, since such coverage would violate the prohibition contained in this section against a city appropriating public money for the benefit of a private corporation. OAG 81-418.

Where a city leased a parking lot from a railroad company, the city could not legally increase its lease payments to the railroad by the amount needed for the company to purchase its own insurance naming the city as an additional insured, for even though a city can provide for its own protection through the provisions of KRS 82.082, it is prohibited by this section from appropriating public money for the benefit of a private corporation. OAG 81-418.

Where a railroad company leased a parking lot next to its tracks to a city, the city could not legally expend funds for insurance coverage naming the company as insured to cover any liability which the company might incur as a result of claims against it for personal injury, death or property damage involving persons and property located on the leased property as a result of railroad accidents, since this section prohibits a city from appropriating public money for the benefit of a private corporation. OAG 81-418.

There is no authority in either KRS 67.080 or KRS 67.083 which authorizes a fiscal court to expend public funds to pay the electrical inspection fees for individual county residents; in addition, this section prohibits any county from appropriating money for any individual. OAG 82-30.

There was no constitutional problem where the county fiscal court advanced $500 to the clerk's office for use in making change with the clerk being a bailee for the money and the money being returnable to the county on demand. OAG 82-107.

Where a community action corporation is organized and functioning pursuant to KRS 273.410 to 273.455 (now KRS 273.410 to 273.453), and has been designated, pursuant to an ordinance or resolution of the fiscal court, as an agent of the county under KRS 273.435 for the implementation of various statutorily authorized public welfare projects, the fiscal court may appropriate public funds to such community action corporation in connection with the carrying out of such projects. OAG 82-238.

While a city cannot legally donate or contribute public funds to a private corporation over which it has no control, with certain exceptions where the State Legislature has specifically authorized such donations, the city could contract with a nonprofit organization to render paramedic services to its citizens the same as it is specifically authorized to do with respect to contracting for emergency ambulance service pursuant to KRS 65.710, 65.720. The city could also provide for paramedic service in conjunction with the operation of its own emergency ambulance service on behalf of the citizens of the city. OAG 82-366.

This section restricts a municipal corporation from making donations to projects for which no benefit will be received by the city or in which it may not independently engage. OAG 82-410.

A fiscal court could sell a hospital physical plant, which was not needed by the county, to a nonprofit corporation for at least its fair market value; a sale of surplus land for fair market value would satisfy §§ 3, 171 and this section, as relates to prohibited gifts of county money. OAG 83-37.

The purpose of this section was to prevent the investment of public funds in private enterprises and to thereby forestall local tax revenues from being diverted from normal governmental channels; thus, this section would prohibit a county's use of its tax resources or other resources to fund a hospital physical plant by selling the plant to a nonprofit corporation, which ran the hospital, for no consideration. OAG 83-37.

While a city may not give municipal park property or use of it to an independent agency for the purpose of constructing and operating a public swimming pool, nor donate municipal funds to the nonprofit corporation, basic responsibility for the operation and maintenance of the pool may be contracted for by the city with the independent agency whereby the agency would agree to purchase liability insurance covering the activities at the pool and further would agree to hold the city harmless regarding the use of the pool. OAG 83-399.

There is no statutory authority for a fiscal court to appropriate money to and on behalf of a nonprofit corporation which is not associated with and not under the control of county government for the construction of a water distribution system in the county; such an appropriation is prohibited by this section. If the county constructed such a water distribution system it could not simply give the system away to a nonprofit water association corporation but would have to receive fair market value for a transfer of ownership. OAG 83-410.

A city could not donate real property to a private, not-for-profit hospital corporation for construction of a hospital nor could it sell the property to the hospital corporation for less than fair market value; a city cannot donate its property whether it be in the form of real estate or an appropriation of public funds to any private corporation as this would be in direct violation of this section. The city, of course, may sell its property no longer needed for public purpose pursuant to the terms of KRS 82.081 and 82.082 in any manner that it desires; however, such property should be sold either for its fair cash value based on an independent appraisal, by auction or through the bidding method. OAG 84-74.

Any attempt by a city to grant a private, hospital corporation relief from the payment of water and sewer charges or to construct free of charge drainage or pipeline facilities, or grant it other credits or free services mentioned, would be in violation of this section and against public policy. OAG 84-74.

Since county revenue bonds issued in conformity with applicable statutory sections involve no county governmental debt obligation, no lending of credit, and no use of tax revenues, this section (prohibiting a county's lending of credit) is not violated. OAG 84-92.

Since the three authorized methods found under KRS 99.350 are exclusive, a city must follow one of these methods if it wishes to operate under KRS Ch. 99, thus a city cannot legally enter into any agreement with a private nonprofit association and appropriate funds thereto, as well as other facilities and services, for the purpose of operating a community development program authorized by KRS Ch. 99. OAG 84-247.

Pursuant to KRS 273.441 and KRS 273.410(2), any of the counties which have in legal effect designated a corporation as a community action agency may, subject to available funds and proper budgeting procedure under KRS Chapter 68, contribute, through the corporation, county funds for any of the purposes described specifically in KRS 273.441 and KRS 273.410(2), with the assumption that such county grants are made by way of an agreement between the county and the corporation that such county money will be spent for a designated purpose or purposes, as expressly provided in KRS 273.441 and 273.410(2), the corporation subsequently reporting to the county government the precise nature and amount of the final expenditure. This is no violation of this section of the Constitution. For a county may select a nonprofit corporation as an instrumentality in carrying out a public purpose. OAG 85-117.

Subdivision (3)(g) of KRS 67.083 states that counties may provide memorials; since this is a public purpose which the county may engage in, the fiscal court may donate money to a private institution for this purpose if it so chooses. OAG 86-23.

Although there is legal precedent for a county to acquire the stock of a private corporation in order to dissolve it, there is no authority for a county's long term holding of the preferred stock of a private corporation. OAG 92-139.

Although the county's acceptance of preferred stock in a private corporation, in place of a debt owed the county by the corporation, might ultimately result in a salutary effect on unemployment, such public purpose, carried out by a county, and not under a specific statutory framework, is not allowed by this section. OAG 92-139.

Constitution §§ 26, 157, 158, 162, and this section do not impose a general ban upon a county agreeing to joint and several liability with other counties or political entities; furthermore, these constitutional sections do not prohibit payment of obligations incurred in a prior year, from moneys of a subsequent year. OAG 93-54.

This section which prohibits counties from owning stock in a corporation, also prohibits counties from forming a trust that owns stock in a corporation. OAG 94-1.

Action of two (2) counties in executing an interlocal cooperation act in which they created a trust which issued tax-exempt bonds and used the proceeds to acquire all the stock of a corporation was prohibited by this section since the trust's authority is no greater than that of either county, and since the counties cannot own stock in a corporation, neither can the trust. OAG 94-1.

Appropriations by local governments to nonprofit organizations, which are earmarked and used for a public purpose, are a lawful use of public funds and are consistent with this section of the Kentucky Constitution. OAG 99-5.

McCracken County Fiscal Court has the authority under Kentucky law to offer a grant of a short term loan to a start-up business if done for a legitimate public purpose. OAG 2008-06.

Tobergte, The Impact of Kentucky's Present Constitution Upon Business Growth & Development, Volume 51, No. 3, Summer 1987 Ky. Bench & B. 21.

§ 180. Act or ordinance levying any tax must specify purpose, for which alone money may be used.

Every act enacted by the General Assembly, and every ordinance and resolution passed by any county, city, town or municipal board or local legislative body, levying a tax, shall specify distinctly the purpose for which said tax is levied, and no tax levied and collected for one purpose shall ever be devoted to another purpose.

Compiler's Notes.

The General Assembly in 1996 proposed (Acts 1996, ch. 98, § 1) the amendment of this section. The amendment was ratified by the voters at the regular election in November 1996. Prior to the amendment the section read:

“§ 180. Act or ordinance levying any tax must specify purpose, for which alone money may be used.

The General Assembly may authorize the counties, cities or towns to levy a poll tax not exceeding one dollar and fifty cents per head. Every act enacted by the General Assembly, and every ordinance and resolution passed by any county, city, town or municipal board or local legislative body, levying a tax, shall specify distinctly the purpose for which said tax is levied, and no tax levied and collected for one purpose shall ever be devoted to another purpose.”

The 1990 General Assembly, by Acts 1990, ch. 150, § 5, proposed that the Constitution be amended by repealing this section. This amendment was submitted to the voters for ratification or rejection at the regular election in November, 1990, and was defeated.

The provisions of this section are mandatory. Commonwealth v. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 121 Ky. 409, 89 S.W. 251, 28 Ky. L. Rptr. 362, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 220 (Ky. 1905).

This section does not limit the revenues of a year to the payment of liabilities incurred during that year, but only requires that revenues levied for a particular purpose, as for road purposes, be used for that purpose, either in the year levied or some other year. Lawrence County v. Lawrence Fiscal Court, 130 Ky. 587, 113 S.W. 824, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 302 (Ky. 1908).

The limitations imposed by this section have no application to the poll tax voted for school purposes under authority of a valid election. Christopher v. Robinson, 164 Ky. 262, 175 S.W. 387, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 368 (Ky. 1915).

3. Poll Taxes.

The provision of this section that the General Assembly may authorize the counties, cities, or towns to levy a poll tax not exceeding $1.50 per head does not preclude the levy of the tax by both a county and a town. Short v. Bartlett, 114 Ky. 143, 70 S.W. 283, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 932, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1902).

This section refers to poll taxes imposed for purposes other than the maintenance of common schools, and the maximum poll tax for general county purposes does not prevent a similar tax for school purposes, and under the Constitution the legislature may levy whatever taxes, ad valorem or capitation, necessary to provide an efficient system of common schools. McIntire v. Powell, 137 Ky. 477, 125 S.W. 1087, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 590 (Ky. 1910).

4. License Fees.

In view of Const., § 181 as to license fees, an act providing for license taxes on compounded and rectified distilled spirits is not unconstitutional for failure to specify the purpose for which the tax is levied. *Brown-Foreman Co. v. A license fee is not a tax within the meaning of this section, and an ordinance imposing a license fee need not specify its purposes, except where required by specific statute. Pure Milk Producers & Distributors Ass'ns v. Morton, 276 Ky. 736, 125 S.W.2d 216, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 575 (Ky. 1939).

5. Levy on Special District.

Under this section when only a special district is liable for the tax, the levy should be so made as to indicate the territory on which it is levied. Carpenter v. Central Covington, 119 Ky. 785, 81 S.W. 919, 26 Ky. L. Rptr. 430, 1904 Ky. LEXIS 130 (Ky. 1904).

6. Unattainable Purpose.

Bond proceeds, when the purpose of the issue has become impossible of attainment, may be used to retire the issue. Fiscal Court of Estill County v. Debt Com. of Kentucky, 286 Ky. 114, 149 S.W.2d 735, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 209 (Ky. 1941).

7. Funds.

8. — Separation.

Under this section a city was obligated to keep separate a fund levied to pay a bond issue from the fund levied for general purposes and neither of the funds should be devoted to another purpose or mixed with the other fund. Wilson v. Covington, 220 Ky. 795, 295 S.W. 1069, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 637 (Ky. 1927).

The city council should make separate tax levies for general expenses and for each bond issue before and since the adoption of the Constitution, keeping the moneys separate, and using them only for designated purposes. Frank v. Fuss, 235 Ky. 143, 29 S.W.2d 603, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 300 (Ky. 1930).

Annual interest and proportionate parts of the principal of a bond issue whose purpose is the funding of a floating debt must be paid from the regular, general and current revenues and the fiscal court must provide for these obligations out of the revenues by a special allocation of the levy and keep them as special inviolate funds under this section, Const., § 159 and KRS 68.100. Fulton County Fiscal Court v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 285 Ky. 17, 146 S.W.2d 15, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 591 (Ky. 1940).

Annual diversion of $19 million in coal severance tax receipts from the Workers' Compensation Benefit Reserve Fund (BRF) to the general fund did not violate Ky. Const. § 180 because the act levying the tax, KRS 143.090(4), did not, itself, dedicate coal severance tax revenue to the BRF or the Kentucky Workers' Compensation Funding Commission. Beshear v. Haydon Bridge Co., 304 S.W.3d 682, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 8 (Ky. 2010).

9. — General.

10. Surplus Funds.

The surplus remaining after the object of a tax levy has been accomplished must be treated as a part of the general funds of the county, and available for general county purposes. Field v. Stroube, 103 Ky. 114, 44 S.W. 363, 19 Ky. L. Rptr. 1751, 1898 Ky. LEXIS 32 (Ky. 1898). See Whaley v. Commonwealth, 110 Ky. 154, 61 S.W. 35, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1292, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1901).

Where a city collected a greater sum for school purposes than requested by the board of education but within the limitation of the rate of assessment fixed in the statute, amount collected belonged to the school district. Board of Education v. Newport, 174 Ky. 28, 191 S.W. 871, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 1917).

When school bond issue raises more funds than are needed, the application of the excess to the payment of the bonds and interest is not a diversion prohibited by this section. Ashland v. Board of Education, 286 Ky. 69, 149 S.W.2d 728, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 206 (Ky. 1941).

When fiscal court accepts proposed budget and levies a tax for general fund purposes in accordance with the budget, the requirement of this section that resolution passed by any county levying a tax must specify distinctly the purpose for which the tax is levied, is satisfied and when the purpose for which a tax was levied has been accomplished the surplus may be transferred to the general fund and be used for any purpose for which a tax might have been levied. Nichols v. Henry, 301 Ky. 434, 191 S.W.2d 930, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 746 (Ky. 1945).

Surplus remaining after the purpose of a tax levy has been accomplished is treated as part of the general fund of the county and becomes available for general county use notwithstanding this section. Fannin v. Davis, 385 S.W.2d 321, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 158 (Ky. 1964), overruled in part, Scalise v. Sewell-Scheuermann, 566 S.W.3d 539, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 451 (Ky. 2018).

City's sanitation assessment was not properly designated a "user fee," but to the extent it was a fee/assessment for a local governmental service the excess revenues generated could be deemed taxes; when the annual sanitation assessment ordinances were passed and the monies collected it was clear that excess funds would be generated, and thus, even if the assessment was a service fee, the predictable excess regularly devoted to the city's general expenditures was properly viewed as a tax. Scalise v. Sewell-Scheuermann, 566 S.W.3d 539, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 451 (Ky. 2018).

Resident properly stated a cause of action on behalf of a city to recover the surplus sanitation revenue that was not devoted to trash collection and recycling because Ky. Rev. Stat. §§ 92.330 and 92.340 prohibited the use of the sanitation tax revenue for other non-sanitation purposes; the city council was avoiding the increasingly unpopular action of raising taxes and instead running the city in some part on the fully-expected excess sanitation revenue. Scalise v. Sewell-Scheuermann, 566 S.W.3d 539, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 451 (Ky. 2018).

11. — Educational.

A tax levied and collected by a city for school purposes cannot be appropriated by act of the legislature to maintain a public library which is open to the pupils of the common schools only as a part of the general public, and which is not under the control of the board of education or the schools. Board of Education v. Board of Trustees, 113 Ky. 234, 68 S.W. 10, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 98, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 45 (Ky. 1902).

The use of funds collected for educational purposes, common school purposes, and the common school for the maintenance of a recreation plan did not violate this section, as recreational training is a part of the educational function. Dodge v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 298 Ky. 1, 181 S.W.2d 406, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 815 (Ky. 1944).

A board of education cannot be required to pay an assessment to help build a floodwall because payment would be in violation of this section and Const., § 184. Board of Education v. Spencer County, Levee, Flood Control & Drainage Dist., 313 Ky. 8, 230 S.W.2d 81, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 797 (Ky. 1950).

This section and Const., § 184 must be read together in determining how school funds shall be spent, and the test to be applied in each instance is what constitutes an educational purpose within the meaning of Const., § 184, rather than whether an activity might be beneficial to education. Board of Education v. Spencer County, Levee, Flood Control & Drainage Dist., 313 Ky. 8, 230 S.W.2d 81, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 797 (Ky. 1950).

Owensboro*, 36 S.W. 12, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 284 (1896).

An ordinance imposing a license fee on persons engaging in a trade, adopted under Const., § 181 and a statute, does not levy a tax within the meaning of this section, and the ordinance is not invalid because it does not specify the purpose for which the license fee is imposed. Shugars v. Hamilton, 122 Ky. 606, 92 S.W. 564, 29 Ky. L. Rptr. 127, 1906 Ky. LEXIS 80 (Ky. 1906). See Brown-Foreman Co. v. Commonwealth, 125 Ky. 402, 101 S.W. 321, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 793, 1907 Ky. An ordinance of a town levying a property tax for municipal purposes and a poll tax for said purposes sufficiently specifies the purposes for which the taxes are levied. Mt. Pleasant v. Eversole, 96 S.W. 478, 29 Ky. L. Rptr. 830 (1906).

If the purposes of a tax are found in the act levying it, this section is satisfied, though the purposes are stated in different parts of the act. Tyson v. Board of Trustees, 139 Ky. 256, 129 S.W. 820, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 29 (Ky. 1910).

16. — Valid.

Where a tax was levied for the purpose of paying off the existing indebtedness of the county, and to defray current and necessary expenses of the same, the appropriation of a portion thereof for road and bridge purposes was not a use of the money for purposes other than for which it was collected.

Poole v. Slayton, 128 Ky. 514, 108 S.W. 903, 33 Ky. L. Rptr. 373, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 82 (Ky. 1908).

Where county defaulted on road and bridge bonds, and plan was worked out to refund issued by exchanging bonds for a new issue bearing a lower rate of interest, county had authority to agree to pay, out of road and bridge sinking fund, reasonable compensation to agent who perfected plan, the costs of publishing call notices, and service charges to an agency for handling interest and principal payments. Governor v. Wolfe County, 291 Ky. 267, 163 S.W.2d 485, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 213 (Ky. 1942).

Identical resolutions of the fiscal court and county school board issued prior to an election ordered under KRS 160.477 to permit the electorate to vote on a proposed special school building tax levy, which resolutions informed the voters the levy was to be used for a school building adequate for the pupils in the locality in grades one through 12, did not amount to a contract to conduct a high school in the new building and a subsequent decision, resulting from a school consolidation plan, to use the new building for a grade school was within the school board's powers and did not constitute a diversion of tax revenues from the purpose for which they were collected. Ewing v. Peak, 266 S.W.2d 300, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 793 (Ky. 1954).

The applicability of this section and Ky. Const., Sections 184 and 186 to the issue of whether a sewer user charge can be paid from school funds must be determined by a reasonable interpretation of whether the service or commodity provided is necessary for the maintenance of the public schools and is exclusively for the benefit of the public schools. Sewer user charges imposed upon a county board of education bear a reasonable and rational relationship to the value of the services provided and therefore are exclusively for the benefit of and necessary for the maintenance of the public schools. Board of Education v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, 691 S.W.2d 218, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 518 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

Claims against a county allowed by the fiscal court for one year cannot be paid out of the levy for a subsequent year as that would be devoting the taxes to a purpose for which they were not levied. Cooper v. Wait, 106 Ky. 628, 51 S.W. 161, 21 Ky. L. Rptr. 229, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 83 (Ky. 1899).

After levy was made by appropriate ordinance for sinking fund, and tax was collected and deposited to credit of sinking fund, the city was thereafter without right to divert, by resolution or otherwise, the fund thus appropriated. Newport v. McLane, 256 Ky. 803, 77 S.W.2d 27, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 491 (Ky. 1934), overruled in part, Scalise v. Sewell-Scheuermann, 566 S.W.3d 539, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 451 (Ky. 2018).

Since the purpose of KRS 178.210 is to improve and construct rather than to repair and maintain, the expenditure of funds realized from the collection of a special tax levy repair or maintenance of county roads or bridges was illegal in violation of this section and KRS 68.110. Thompson v. Bracken County, 294 S.W.2d 943, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 1956).

19. — Valid.

A statute requiring that guards appointed to protect property against mobs shall be paid out of the county treasury and levy of that year means that they are to be paid out of the general fund, and a designation of this fund, in an order of the fiscal court levying the tax, as the general claim fund is sufficiently specific. Cahill v. Perrine, 105 Ky. 531, 49 S.W. 344, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 241 (Ky. 1899).

KRS 91.430 does not violate this section. Board of Education v. Sea, 167 Ky. 772, 181 S.W. 670, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 492 (Ky. 1916).

An act involving a school tax levy was valid under this section where the budget section showed every item of school expense for the year as well as the total amount needed to be raised for school purposes by the tax levy. Fiscal Court of Jefferson County v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 196 Ky. 212, 244 S.W. 764, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 511 (Ky. 1922).

Statute authorizing a school board to impose occupational license fees but only after electoral approval is not unconstitutional on the ground that the use of school tax funds to defray the expenses of the election amounts to a diversion of tax revenue from the purpose for which it was collected. Sims v. Board of Education, 290 S.W.2d 491, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1956).

Statute authorizing payment of bonds issued to match federal highway funds from license, excise taxes and fees from the sale and use of motor vehicles and fuels does not violate this section. Dalton v. State Property & Bldgs. Com., 304 S.W.2d 342, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 276 (Ky. 1957).

Statute providing for submission to voters of question of issuing general obligation bonds for developing and improving state parks and for constructing and improving highways, bridges and tunnels under federal cost participation program did not, by pledging ad valorem tax revenues to payment of park bonds, amount to a diversion of taxes from purposes for which they were levied, since such act in effect made provision for new levy replacing old levy, with new purposes, and did not purport to dispose of funds from old levy, while this section is concerned only with expenditure of funds that have been received from tax levy previously made. Walton v. Carter, 337 S.W.2d 674, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 363 (Ky. 1960).

KRS 341.145 providing a scheme for increasing unemployment benefits does not violate this section, for increasing benefits does not constitute a changing of the purpose of the funds levied for unemployment compensation benefits. Commonwealth v. Associated Industries of Kentucky, 370 S.W.2d 584, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. 1963).

20. — Invalid.

A statute which appropriates for library purposes a part of the net amount raised for school purposes is invalid. Lambert v. Board of Trustees, 151 Ky. 725, 152 S.W. 802, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 562 (Ky. 1913).

Contributions of railroad workers paid pursuant to the unemployment compensation law and credited thereunder to the pooled account were taxes validly levied under this section for the sole purpose of paying unemployment compensation benefits, and the legislature could not transfer this fund to a federal fund in an effort to obtain benefits of a federal statute which removed railroad workers from operation of state statute. Unemployment Compensation Com. v. Savage, 283 Ky. 301, 140 S.W.2d 1073, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 322 (Ky. 1940).

An act providing for disposition of contributions of railroad workers to unemployment compensation fund violated this section, since it provided for a diversion of funds from the uses for which they were raised. Kentucky Color & Chemical Co. v. Barnes, 290 Ky. 681, 162 S.W.2d 531, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 477 (Ky. 1942).

The additional three percent (3%) fee allowed a sheriff for the collection of school taxes by KRS 160.500 violates this section and Const., § 184 as a diversion of tax revenues from the purpose for which levied. Dickson v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 311 Ky. 781, 225 S.W.2d 672, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1251 (Ky. 1949).

A former provision of KRS 134.310 permitting excess of sheriff's commission for collecting school taxes over and above costs of such collection to be applied to the general expenses of the sheriff's office authorizes a diversion of school tax revenues to nonschool purposes and is unconstitutional. Board of Education v. Greenhill, 291 S.W.2d 36, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 366 (Ky. 1956).

21. Collection Expenses.

Under this section a tax collector's commission may not be paid out of taxes collected for school purposes. Winchester v. Board of Education, 182 Ky. 313, 206 S.W. 492, 1918 Ky. LEXIS 366 (Ky. 1918).

This section is not violated when a reasonable charge is made against a local school tax for its collection. Dickson v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 311 Ky. 781, 225 S.W.2d 672, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1251 (Ky. 1949).

Retention by sheriff of four percent (4%) of school tax collected was unconstitutional diversion of school funds where evidence indicated one percent (1%) was sufficient to cover cost of collecting school tax and the extra three percent (3%) was to be used by sheriff for general expenses of his office. Board of Education v. Wagers, 239 S.W.2d 48, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 836 (Ky. 1951).

A sheriff's fee for collecting school taxes must not exceed the cost of such collection. Barren County Board of Education v. Edmunds, 252 S.W.2d 882, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 1036 (Ky. 1952).

Although it may have been that the General Assembly's intent was to create a flat four percent (4%) commission for the county clerks for collecting the taxes, such interpretation would bring subsection (3) of KRS 134.805 into conflict with this section and Const., § 184; therefore, a county clerk may not receive a fee for collecting the school tax which is in excess of his or her actual cost of collection, not exceeding four percent (4%). Benson v. Board of Education, 748 S.W.2d 156, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 11 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

The only exception to the constitutional limitations of this section and Const., § 184 prohibiting the use of school funds for anything other than school purposes is the payment by the school board of the reasonable and actual costs of collecting the taxes. Benson v. Board of Education, 748 S.W.2d 156, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 11 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

22. Liability for Improper Expenditures.

City commissioners who, pursuant to resolution, diverted money from sinking fund to general fund, are civilly liable with their sureties to city for amount diverted, and neither expediency nor emergency created by their own actions could be invoked to avert their liability. Newport v. McLane, 256 Ky. 803, 77 S.W.2d 27, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 491 (Ky. 1934), overruled in part, Scalise v. Sewell-Scheuermann, 566 S.W.3d 539, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 451 (Ky. 2018).

Where taxes are expended for another purpose than that for which levied, those officials responsible for such expenditure are jointly and severally liable for the money so expended. Bernard v. McFarland, 267 Ky. 210, 101 S.W.2d 913, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 292 (Ky. 1937).

The fact that a board of education had been enjoined, in suit by taxpayers, from further collection of original tax for bonds was no defense where board had misapplied from sinking fund more than enough to pay the bonds. Board of Education v. Highland Cemetery, 292 Ky. 374, 166 S.W.2d 854, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 99 (Ky. 1942).

23. — Setoff.

In a suit by library board to recover fines and costs of a police court which were by statute designated for library use, the city could not claim a setoff for $3,000 raised by a special tax levy for library use in view of the fact that under this section such $3,000 could not have been used for any purpose other than that of use by the library. Owensboro v. Board of Trustees, 210 Ky. 482, 276 S.W. 143, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 714 (Ky. 1925).

24. — Repayment of Funds.

Where a city collected taxes paid in compromise, part of which money was for the public school tax, the city could not withhold the tax from the school system as under this section the city had no power to use such tax money for any other purpose. Cynthiana v. Board of Education, 52 S.W. 969, 21 Ky. L. Rptr. 731, 1899 Ky. LEXIS 340 (Ky. Ct. App. 1899).

Money paid by a city to a library pursuant to a statute which was found to be in violation of this section may be recovered by the board of education to which the money should properly have been paid. Board of Trustees v. Board of Education, 75 S.W. 225, 25 Ky. L. Rptr. 341 (1903).

Where school subdistrict used, for general school purposes, the proceeds of a tax levied to pay bonds, which proceeds would have been sufficient to pay bonds in full, bondholders were entitled to judgment requiring school board to pay bonds out of board's general fund, and to levy a tax to pay the balance of the bonds if the amount in the general fund was not sufficient to pay the bonds in full. Board of Education v. Highland Cemetery, 292 Ky. 374, 166 S.W.2d 854, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 99 (Ky. 1942).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The lending of school property, such as chairs, tables and projectors to various organizations for banquets and similarly related meetings constitutes an indirect, if not direct, use of school property and school funds for other than school purposes and is expressly prohibited by the Constitution. OAG 60-1032.

A board of education may enter into a contract with the county library whereby the library will provide and circulate books to designated schools within the county school district without violating the provisions of this section and Const., § 184. OAG 61-506.

A county board of education may not donate school funds to a town public library which is open to the public as well as school students, because such an appropriation or donation would constitute an expenditure of school funds for other than educational purposes; however, a board of education could enter into a contract with a town public library whereby the latter would agree to furnish books and services to the county school children in return for a certain sum. This would not violate this section and Const., § 184 because the school money expended would be for the direct benefit of only the school children in their district and, therefore, would not include the public generally. OAG 61-879.

A municipality may not erect a water tank on school premises without the consent of the board of education and the payment of fair compensation for the use of school property. OAG 63-1060.

A board of education may not provide and maintain an automobile for the personal use of a school superintendent. OAG 64-130.

A board of education may provide and maintain an automobile for the benefit of the school superintendent while discharging the duties attendant to his office. OAG 64-130.

An independent school district and a city may not cooperate to jointly construct, pay for and own an auditorium-gymnasium on school property, which would be used by the schools for educational purposes and by the city for various public functions. OAG 64-475.

An independent school district can construct an auditorium-gymnasium and, after its completion, use the money which the city wishes to contribute as rent for the times when the building could be leased to the city. OAG 64-475.

An organization may use school buses of an independent school district to transport children to a function if the buses are not being used for school purposes, if reasonable and adequate compensation is paid for their use, if adequate collision insurance is purchased by the organization, and if it will carry liability insurance sufficient to cover the liability of any and all persons who may be concerned, including the members of the local boards of education. OAG 64-630.

A school board has legal authority to purchase liability insurance to cover the liability for sick-leave payments imposed by KRS 161.155. OAG 64-841.

It is legal for a board of education to execute a contract with a local health department to provide preventive medical services. OAG 65-293.

Commingling of state and federal funds by a school would result in their becoming subject to the provisions of both state and federal laws governing their expenditure. OAG 65-625.

A school board may lawfully purchase fire and extended coverage insurance in the form of a package policy even though the premium is not specifically allocable to individual coverages if it does not exceed the rate regularly charged for fire and extended coverage insurance, as approved by the Kentucky department of insurance for such risks. OAG 66-36.

A restriction contained in a declaration of restrictions affecting a 10.44-acre tract proposed as a school site that would require the owner of the tract to pay an assessment that could be used for maintenance of other property in the subdivision would preclude the purchase of the tract as a school site since the payment of the assessment would violate this section and Const., § 184. OAG 67-413.

Tax receipts derived under KRS 132.160 may be used for road construction and reconstruction purposes. OAG 68-233.

Public schoolteachers may not, as a part of the duties for which they are compensated by boards of education, be assigned to teach in a private or sectarian school since the effect of such assignment would be to the primary benefit of the private or sectarian school as opposed to a primary benefit to its students or to the common schools and would offend this section and Const., § 184 which restrict school funds to public school purposes and would also offend Const., § 189 which prohibits the use by sectarian schools of funds levied for educational purposes. OAG 68-423.

Expenditures of school funds to provide turnabouts for school buses on private property adjacent to bridges that have been condemned would offend this section and Const., § 184 and would not be a proper school board expenditure. OAG 68-473.

An arrangement whereby a high school constructs a swimming pool on school property to be used by the students during school hours but which would be in the exclusive control of the school booster organization after school hours, which organization would sell pool memberships to the general public with the net proceeds to be paid to the board of education, would be proscribed by this section and Const., § 184. OAG 69-121.

A school board could not grant an easement across school property to the metropolitan sewer district since the easement would not constitute an educational purpose. OAG 69-127.

KRS 262.745 and this section would not permit the expenditure of a Commonwealth watershed conservancy district's tax moneys for the acquisition of Tennessee lands for the purpose of building a floodwater retarding structure in Tennessee. OAG 69-204.

A lease of school property permitting the construction of a swimming pool on the leased premises would not violate this section or Const., § 184 if the consideration received by the school district would be sufficient to compensate for the lease. OAG 69-290.

Under this section and Const., § 184, the funds of the school board may not properly be expended to pay a portion of the salary of policewomen to patrol intersections on the city streets during school rush hours since this activity involves a service for the general public welfare rather than one which is designed to accomplish an educational purpose. OAG 69-488.

The members of families of employees and/or the dependents of employees may, within the discretion of the board, participate in the various types of group coverage provided the extra cost of the family coverage or dependent coverage is paid by the employee. OAG 70-336.

If in the year that sufficient revenue was derived from a special tax to finally retire all bonds and interest a surplus was created, such surplus could be appropriated by the county for general purposes without being prohibited by this section. OAG 70-671.

Once the levying of a special tax has accumulated enough revenue to retire all bonds and pay all interest due, and even though there may be a surplus at that point, the levying of the special tax should cease. OAG 70-671.

While general tax dollars provided by the state may be used to pay a portion of the costs incurred in operating special education classes for exceptional children, a local board of education is precluded from spending school funds for such purpose even though such an operation is a most laudable and commendable one. OAG 72-86.

A school board may not make a contribution to a park commission which is seeking to accumulate a fund in order to secure matching federal funds for development of a community recreation park. Section 186 of the Constitution prohibits the use of school funds for other than school purposes. This section provides that no tax levied and collected for one purpose shall be used for another. It is therefore unconstitutional for a school board to contribute money for other purposes. OAG 72-95.

Any fee collected by a sheriff in excess of the cost of collecting school funds would constitute a diversion of school funds for other than school purposes in violation of this section and section 184 of the Constitution. OAG 72-277.

Under this section and § 184 of the Constitution it would be invalid for a school board to convey title to its property to a city except for fair market value or to lease the property for less than its fair rental value. OAG 72-376.

Under this section and § 184 of the Constitution a school board may lease unused property provided that the consideration paid by the lessee is the fair rental value of the property. OAG 72-397.

It is proper for a school district to require students to pay the cost of their meals, but if a school district sees fit to do so, it may use school funds to subsidize the school lunch program with the result that the pupils will be paying a price which is less than the cost of supplying their meals. OAG 73-754.

The announcement over a school speaker system or the distribution of notices to children on school property of meetings of an organization of parents to promote a constitutional amendment which would forbid busing of school pupils for the purpose of achieving racial balance in the public schools constitutes an illegal use of school property and improperly interjects political questions into the operation of the public school. OAG 74-118.

Public school teachers may not, as a part of the duties for which compensated by boards of education, be assigned, to teach in a private or sectarian school. OAG 74-331. (Modifying OAG 68-150, OAG 68-585.)

Proposed public relations plan to have administrators of the school system join various service organizations of the community would not be a proper expenditure of school funds and would be unconstitutional under this section and Const., § 184. OAG 74-873.

A school district may not spend funds for street construction and improvement on nonschool property. OAG 75-108.

Once funding bonds have been paid off, the levy must be discontinued. OAG 75-162.

A county fiscal court ordinance enacting a license tax for the stated purpose of defraying the general expenses of the county government, although somewhat generalized, is technically in compliance with this section and KRS 68.100. OAG 75-385.

Public school funds may not be expended to employ persons to control vehicular and pedestrian traffic on public streets or roads in or around school premises. OAG 75-614.

An off-duty constable employed as a school security guard is an employee of the school board which may compensate him for his services. OAG 75-631.

Although the services of school crossing guards are a benefit to school children, the guards do not serve an "educational purpose," and thus school board funds may not be expended to pay the salaries of individuals who patrol intersections on city streets. OAG 76-239.

A county sheriff's fee for collecting school taxes must represent the reasonable cost of collection, as long as the rate does not exceed 4 percent, and the sheriff must document his reasonable costs of collection. OAG 76-251.

The expenses of opening schools to serve as voting places on a presidential election day, as provided by subsection (2) of KRS 117.065, when the schools are mandated to be closed by KRS 2.190 would be so small and incidental as not to be proscribed by Kentucky Constitution, §§ 180, 184, 186. OAG 76-592. Withdrawing OAG 42-363.

The circumstances surrounding the use of schools as voting places, as provided for in subsection (2) of KRS 117.065, may be structured so that there does not exist any unwarranted and impermissible expenditures of public common school money for election purposes. OAG 76-614.

The transfer by a county board of health to a county hospital of a blanket appropriation of a sum of the tax district fund would involve an illegal and unconstitutional transfer of such tax funds, since such blanket appropriation to a hospital, county, city or private, is not permissible under KRS Chapter 212 and this section. OAG 76-753.

Once the sheriff's total fee for collecting school taxes is properly computed the constitutional test of diversion is met since the constitutional diversion occurs no sooner than the reasonable cost of collection is exceeded, regardless of how much the excess is. OAG 78-146.

The payment to the urban county government of 25% for the school tax collection fee paid to the sheriff does not constitute an unlawful diversion of school money. OAG 78-146.

The total cost of collecting school taxes (prior to the 75% and 25% distribution at State level) is strictly constitutional as being an expenditure for school purposes. OAG 78-146.

The use of county funds, personnel or equipment to improve or maintain private drives or lanes is illegal and unconstitutional. OAG 79-343.

An ordinance providing that an occupational tax levied and collected shall be paid into the general revenue funds of the county would be sufficient compliance with this section. OAG 79-374.

The use of city street equipment and material for paving private driveways purchased with public funds is illegal and unconstitutional, and the fact that the private citizens whose driveways are paved will repay the city for the material used is of no consequence as the question hinges on the initial use of such equipment and material purchased with public municipal funds. OAG 79-509.

The expense allowance provided the county judge/executive in KRS 67.722 may be constitutionally funded from the county road fund, since such "administration of the local county road program” relates directly to the “cost of administration” of the county road program, as the terms “cost of administration” and “public highways” are used in Const., § 230 and as envisioned in KRS 68.100, and this section; under the same reasoning, if it can be reasonably determined as to what percentage of his work schedule the county judge/executive is engaged in administrative work relating to the county road program of construction, maintenance, and repair, that percentage factor may be applied to his salary to determine that precise part of his salary which may be funded out of the county road fund. OAG 80-377.

If school district money in any respect and in any amount is used to transport nonpublic school children the Constitution would be violated. OAG 82-392.

It is not appropriate for the Board of Education to provide transportation for parochial pupils from their homes to the nearest public school, where they do not live within a reasonable walking distance to such school, and for the Board of Education to be reimbursed by either the fiscal court and/or the local parochial school system for the additional cost (if any) to the school system since reimbursement is required to be on a “per capita” basis. OAG 82-392.

It is not constitutionally permissible for the Board of Education to provide transportation for parochial school pupils from their homes to the nearest public schools so long as they do not live within a reasonable walking distance to such school, where transportation from public schools to parochial schools would then be provided either by the fiscal court or the local parochial school system. OAG 82-392.

Where nonpublic school children are transported on public school buses, irrespective of their point of departure, the local school district must be reimbursed on a per capita basis to avoid constitutional violation. The Court of Appeals has sanctioned only the per capita methodology for use in determining the additional transportation costs in transporting such children. OAG 82-392.

KRS 158.115 was the authorizing statute for a contract requiring a fiscal court to reimburse a school district on a straight per capita basis for nonpublic school students who rode public school buses and, absent full reimbursement by the fiscal court to the school board, the expenditure of public school moneys for transporting nonpublic school children would create a constitutional violation under this section as well as other provisions. Therefore, failure by the school board to enforce the contract with the fiscal court would be tantamount to willful neglect of duty and could lead to removal from office. OAG 82-405.

To the extent that a particular county tax ordinance or resolution spells out with particularity that all or a certain portion of the tax must go for county road purposes, any expenditure of that tax money, “earmarked” for county road purposes, to pay for the expense allowance provided for justices of the peace in KRS 64.530, would be in violation of KRS 68.100 and this section. OAG 82-466.

Within reason, school boards are permitted to bear the direct and indirect expenses incurred by teachers and administrators who attend, after prior approval by the board, professional activities and functions; however, school boards are not wholly unfettered in exercising their discretion in approving attendance at sundry professional activities since Const., § 184 and this section require that school funds may be used only for school purposes, the test being whether the expenditure is for an educational purpose rather than whether an activity might be beneficial to education. OAG 83-228.

A proposal by the fiscal court to pay a sum equal to 150 percent of the purported “actual cost” of transporting “all” the school children in a school district may not be legally tolerated, since it appears that a purported “actual increase cost” figure for the cost of transporting the nonpublic school children may not be constitutionally determined. OAG 83-294.

An expenditure of common school funds or a donation of school property for a public purpose other than for the benefit of public education is not permissible under this section and Const., §§ 184 and 186; therefore, under this section and Const., §§ 184 and 186, any transfer of surplus school buildings to community service organizations must be based on the fair market value of the property. OAG 91-85.

It is still the opinion of the Attorney General’s office that OAG 79-107 represents the law of Kentucky and the interpretation of this section and Ky. Const., § 184, and that the expenditure of school funds for school guard crossings is prohibited constitutionally. OAG 92-6.

A reward, offered by the local school board, for the purpose of apprehending the vandals who damaged school property constitutes a proper educational purpose within the meaning of this section and Ky. Const., §§ 184 and 186; the act also falls within the parameters of KRS 160.160 as being necessary in order that the board may accomplish the purposes for which it was created as the resources of each school system are limited, and must be protected. OAG 92-63.

A school board cannot lawfully agree to provide materials paid for with school funds, or provide school funds themselves, whether under an intergovernmental agreement or otherwise, for the construction or maintenance of school bus turnarounds within the meaning of subsection (2) of KRS 178.290. OAG 93-63.

KRS 158.6455 permits a local school council or principal to use school reward money to pay teacher bonuses, and these bonuses are permissible under the Kentucky Constitution because they are “for school purposes.” OAG 00-2.

A county board of education can constitutionally pay a privilege fee for connecting to a public sewer system. A privilege fee to fund construction of a sewer system is a “public school purpose” if it bears a rational relationship to the value of the services provided to the public schools. A fee based on usage and acreage meets this standard because it is proportional to the services provided. OAG 2009-01.

The General Assembly shall, by appropriate legislation, provide for an efficient system of common schools throughout the State.

Compiler's Notes.

The following amendment was proposed by the 1986 General Assembly (Acts 1986, ch. 36, § 4), was submitted to the voters for ratification or rejection at the regular election in November, 1986 and was defeated:

§ 183. Common schools to be provided for — State board of education — Superintendent of public instruction.

The general assembly shall, by appropriate legislation, provide for an efficient system of common schools throughout the state. There shall be a state board of education which shall consist of thirteen (13) members whose duties and qualifications shall be prescribed by statute. The governor shall appoint one (1) board member from each of the seven (7) supreme court districts and six (6) members at large to begin their respective terms on July 1, 1987. Individual appointments shall be subject to confirmation by majority vote of the senate during the first regular, special or organizational session of the general assembly subsequent to the appointment. Appointments not confirmed shall be void and the governor shall make an additional appointment to serve the remainder of the particular term, subject to confirmation by the senate. Of the original thirteen (13) appointments, three (3) shall be for six (6) year terms, two (2) for five (5) year terms, two (2) for four (4) year terms, two (2) for three (3) year terms, two (2) for two (2) year terms, and two (2) for one (1) year terms, at the designation of the governor. Thereafter, at the expiration of each term, a member of the state board of education shall be appointed for a six (6) year term. Board members shall be eligible to serve no more than two (2) consecutive terms. The state board of education shall appoint a superintendent of public instruction, who shall act as executive officer for the board and perform such duties and possess such qualifications as may be provided by the board or by statute. The superintendent shall serve pursuant to an employment contract which may be executed in a maximum term of five (5) years. An individual may, at the pleasure of the board, serve consecutive contractual periods of employment as superintendent. The superintendent of public instruction shall serve at such salary and allowances as may be fixed by the board and may be removed for cause to be prescribed by law.

Sections 5 and 6 of Acts 1986, ch. 36 read:

“Section 5. It is further proposed as a part of this amendment that the superintendent of public instruction serving in office at the time of the ratification of this amendment, shall continue in office until his elective term shall expire with the first appointed superintendent to take office at the expiration of the elected superintendent's term.”

“Section 6. It is further provided as a part of this amendment and as a schedule of transitional provisions for the purposes of this amendment, any other provision of the Constitution of Kentucky to the contrary notwithstanding, that:

1. The first appointments of the members of the State Board of Education shall be confirmed by the Senate in the 1987 organizational session of the General Assembly.

2. The State Board of Education that takes office in July, 1987 shall appoint an acting Superintendent of Public Instruction to take office the first Monday in January, 1988.

3. The terms of board members serving in office on June 30, 1987 shall expire on that date.

4. All statutes relating to the State Board of Education or the Superintendent of Public Instruction in force on the first Monday in January, 1988, as then constituted, not inconsistent therewith, shall remain in full force until altered or repealed by the General Assembly. The provisions of all statutes which are inconsistent with this amendment shall cease on the first Monday in January, 1988.”

An amendment was proposed by the 1972 General Assembly (Acts 1972, ch. 129, § 1), was submitted to the voters for ratification or rejection at the regular election in November, 1973 and was defeated.

1. Construction.

This section makes it mandatory upon the general assembly to provide an efficient common school system. Board of Education v. McChesney, 235 Ky. 692, 32 S.W.2d 26, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 441 (Ky. 1930). See Commonwealth ex rel. Baxter v. Burnett, 237 Ky. 473, 35 S.W.2d 857, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 623 (Ky. 1931).

This section is as broad as it is possible to frame an authority to the Legislature to deal with the common schools in any way it should desire. Louisville v. Board of Education, 302 Ky. 647, 195 S.W.2d 291, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 725 (Ky. 1946).

Although this section permits the General Assembly to provide, by appropriate legislation, for an efficient system of common schools, such legislation is not appropriate if it contravenes another constitutional provision of equal dignity. Board of Education v. Board of Education, 472 S.W.2d 496, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 200 (Ky. 1971).

The Kentucky Constitution contemplates that public funds shall be expended for public education and the Commonwealth is obliged to furnish every child in this state an education in the public schools, but it is constitutionally proscribed from providing aid to furnish a private education. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

A fair reading of Const., §§ 183-189 compels the conclusion that money spent on education is to be spent exclusively in the public school system, except where the question of taxation for an educational purpose has been submitted to the voters and the majority of the votes cast at the election on the question shall be in favor of such taxation. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

Several conclusions readily appear from a reading of this section. First, it is the obligation, the sole obligation, of the General Assembly to provide for a system of common schools in Kentucky. The obligation to so provide is clear and unequivocal and is, in effect, a constitutional mandate. Next, the school system must be provided throughout the entire state, with no area (or its children) being omitted. The creation, implementation and maintenance of the school system must be achieved by appropriate legislation. Finally, the system must be an efficient one. Rose v. Council for Better Educ., 790 S.W.2d 186, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 55 (Ky. 1989).

2. Power of Legislature.

What the system of education referred to in this section is, or is to be, is left wholly to the discretion of the General Assembly. Prowse v. Board of Education, 134 Ky. 365, 120 S.W. 307, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 383 (Ky. 1909). See Elliott v. Garner, 140 Ky. 157, 130 S.W. 997, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 201 (Ky. 1910); Madison County Board of Education v. Smith, 250 Ky. 495, 63 S.W.2d 620, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 738 (Ky. 1933); Commonwealth v. Griffen, 268 Ky. 830, 105 S.W.2d 1063, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 536 (Ky. 1937).

Cities of the fifth and sixth classes, in the absence of legislative authority, do not have the power under this section to organize by ordinance city school districts independent of the county districts. Allen v. Elkhorn Coal Corp., 208 Ky. 108, 270 S.W. 743, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 223 (Ky. 1925).

The determination of whether legislation providing for the common school system is "appropriate" is a legislative function. Board of Education v. Board of Education, 458 S.W.2d 6, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 160 (Ky. 1970).

The sole responsibility for providing the system of common schools is that of our General Assembly. The General Assembly must not only establish the system, but it must monitor it on a continuing basis so that it will always be maintained in a constitutional manner. The General Assembly must carefully supervise it, so that there is no waste, no duplication, no mismanagement, at any level. Rose v. Council for Better Educ., 790 S.W.2d 186, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 55 (Ky. 1989).

This section requires the General Assembly to establish a system of common schools that provides an equal opportunity for children to have an adequate education. In no way does this constitutional requirement act as a limitation on the General Assembly's power to create local school entities and to grant to those entities the authority to supplement the state system. Rose v. Council for Better Educ., 790 S.W.2d 186, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 55 (Ky. 1989).

3. State Control.

Public education has always been regarded as a matter of state concern, and the state does not relinquish its control and management of the school system by allowing or requiring the different localities to supplement the state's appropriation of funds by local taxation. Louisville v. Commonwealth, 134 Ky. 488, 121 S.W. 411, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 399 (Ky. 1909). See Commonwealth ex rel. Baxter v. Burnett, 237 Ky. 473, 35 S.W.2d 857, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 623 (Ky. 1931).

Every common school in the state, whether located in a city or a rural district, is a state institution, protected, controlled, and regulated by the state, and the fact that the state has appointed agencies such as fiscal courts, school trustees, and municipal bodies to aid it in the collection of taxes for the maintenance of these schools does not deprive them of their state character. Louisville v. Board of Education, 154 Ky. 316, 157 S.W. 379, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 66 (Ky. 1913). See Moss v. Mayfield, 186 Ky. 330, 216 S.W. 842, 1919 Ky. LEXIS 218 (Ky. 1919); Whitt v. Wilson, 212 Ky. 281, 278 S.W. 609, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 1120 (Ky. 1925); Commonwealth ex rel. Baxter v. Burnett, 237 Ky. 473, 35 S.W.2d 857, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 623 (Ky. 1931).

A provision in a deed of property to a city school board that such property be held for the exclusive use of white male students is void as an unconstitutional attempt to cede away governmental powers by the school board. Board of Education v. Society of Alumni, etc., 239 S.W.2d 931, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 907 (Ky. 1951).

4. Common Schools.

City schools, including high schools, are part of the state's common school system. Louisville v. Commonwealth, 134 Ky. 488, 121 S.W. 411, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 399 (Ky. 1909). See Whitt v. Wilson, 212 Ky. 281, 278 S.W. 609, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 1120 (Ky. 1925).

Graded schools are common schools. Jeffries v. Board of Trustees, 135 Ky. 488, 122 S.W. 813, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 312 (Ky. 1909).

Although county schools and graded common schools are part of common school system, application to graded common school system of laws clearly intended to be applicable only to county schools is not warranted. Sugg v. Board of Trustees, 255 Ky. 356, 74 S.W.2d 198, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 236 (Ky. 1934).

Common schools are public or free schools maintained by the state at public expense, as distinguished from private, parochial or sectarian schools. Sherrard v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 294 Ky. 469, 171 S.W.2d 963, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 2 (Ky. 1942).

This section places a duty on the General Assembly to establish an efficient common school system free from political influence. KRS 161.164 and 161.990 were enacted by the General Assembly in an effort to comply with this directive. State Bd. for Elementary & Secondary Educ. v. Howard, 834 S.W.2d 657, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 85 (Ky. 1992).

5. — Constitutionality of School System.

The Kentucky Supreme Court ruled that Kentucky's entire system of common schools was unconstitutional. That decision applied to the entire sweep of the system—all its parts and parcels; it applied to the statutes creating, implementing and financing the system and to all regulations, etc., pertaining thereto; it covered the creation of local school districts, school boards, and the Kentucky Department of Education to the Minimum Foundation Program and Power Equalization Program; and it covered school construction and maintenance, teacher certification—the whole gamut of the common school system in Kentucky. Rose v. Council for Better Educ., 790 S.W.2d 186, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 55 (Ky. 1989).

6. Normal Schools.

The state normal schools constitute a part of the common school system of the state, and the object of the Legislature in establishing them was to more fully effect the provisions of this section. James v. State University, 131 Ky. 156, 114 S.W. 767, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 118 (Ky. 1908).

In the absence of statutory authority the board of regents of a state normal school could not sell property of the school which held it as an agency of the state. Board of Regents v. Engle, 224 Ky. 184, 5 S.W.2d 1062, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 566 (Ky. 1928).

7. Institutional Schools.

State aid to institutional schools such as Louisville and Jefferson County children's home is not within the scope of this section to Const., § 186. Hodgkin v. Board for Louisville & Jefferson County Children's Home, 242 S.W.2d 1008, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1101 (Ky. 1951).

8. Uniform Education.

This section does not require a school district to provide a level of public education exceeding that prescribed by the state board of education as authorized by statute. Major v. Cayce, 98 Ky. 357, 33 S.W. 93, 17 Ky. L. Rptr. 967, 1895 Ky. LEXIS 66 (Ky. 1895).

City revenue from tax on corporations must be apportioned between white and colored schools, for to do otherwise would violate this section. Trustees of Graded Free Colored Common Schools v. Trustees of Graded Free White Common Schools, 180 Ky. 574, 203 S.W. 520, 1918 Ky. LEXIS 114 (Ky. 1918).

Operation of two high schools in western part of county and none in eastern part without providing equal and uniform educational opportunities for those in the eastern half is clearly arbitrary, discriminatory, and in violation of this section and KRS 158.010. Wooley v. Spalding, 293 S.W.2d 563, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1956).

Uniformity does not require equal classification but it does demand that there shall be substantially uniform system and equal school facilities without discrimination as between different sections of a district or county. Wooley v. Spalding, 293 S.W.2d 563, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1956).

9. School Districts.

School districts created in accordance with this section are creatures of the Legislature and Legislature has power to alter them or even do away with them entirely. Board of Education v. Mescher, 310 Ky. 453, 220 S.W.2d 1016, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 954 (Ky. 1949). See Board of Education v. Board of Education, 250 S.W.2d 1017, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 897 (Ky. 1952).

Though a school district possesses some of the attributes of a municipal corporation for some legal purposes, and though a school district is regarded as a political subdivision for some legal considerations, a school district is, nevertheless, an agency of the state subject to the will of the Legislature and existing for one public purpose only — to locally administer the common schools within a particular area subject to the paramount interest of the state. Board of Education v. Board of Education, 458 S.W.2d 6, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 160 (Ky. 1970).

10. Boards of Education.

General Assembly may require that members of county board of education have an eighth grade education. Commonwealth ex rel. Meredith v. Norfleet, 272 Ky. 800, 115 S.W.2d 353, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 207 (Ky. 1938).

It is the local boards which hold the substantial decision-making authority in regard to the local concerns for which they are established; although the state does establish guiding rules and policies for the efficient administration of the public schools, being a steward of state education policy does not make the school district an alter ego of the state. Blackburn v. Floyd County Bd. of Educ., 749 F. Supp. 159, 1990 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 18321 (E.D. Ky. 1990).

11. School Elections.

All elections affecting schools are exclusively under the control of the General Assembly, and are not included in the franchise and election articles of the Constitution. Hoskins v. Ramsey, 197 Ky. 465, 247 S.W. 371, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 663 (Ky. 1923).

Under this section the Legislature has the power to regulate school district elections by virtue of which the corrupt practices act applies to such elections. Ridings v. Jones, 213 Ky. 810, 281 S.W. 999, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 626 (Ky. 1926).

Statute providing for election by secret ballot of a board of education of each county, was in implementation of this section. Hunter v. Board of Education, 265 Ky. 162, 96 S.W.2d 265, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 453 (Ky. 1936).

12. School Taxes.

The Legislature is empowered to levy whatever taxes, either ad valorem or capitation, which are necessary to provide an efficient system of common schools throughout the state. McIntire v. Powell, 137 Ky. 477, 125 S.W. 1087, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 590 (Ky. 1910).

Since the imposition of a poll or capitation tax for school purposes is authorized by the Constitution, it is the absolute duty of the fiscal court to levy such a tax, within the statutory limit, at the request of the board of education. Fiscal Court of Logan County v. Board of Education, 138 Ky. 98, 127 S.W. 527, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 44 (Ky. 1910).

This section does not authorize Legislature to ignore limitation on indebtedness of two per cent of taxable property. Booth v. Board of Education, 229 Ky. 719, 17 S.W.2d 1013, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 833 (Ky. 1929).

All taxes imposed for common school purposes are state taxes, although the fund raised by any particular common school tax may be designed to be devoted exclusively to schools located in the territory affected by the tax. Paducah-Illinois R. Co. v. Graham, 46 F.2d 806, 1931 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1138 (D. Ky. 1931).

Providing funds by taxation for common schools, and providing for their organization and administration, are inherently legislative in character, and by this section expressly allocated to the legislative department. Paducah-Illinois R. Co. v. Graham, 46 F.2d 806, 1931 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1138 (D. Ky. 1931).

13. Assessments for Public Improvements.

In view of this section public school property belonging to a city school board may not be subjected to the payment of an assessment for the original construction of a street. Louisville v. Leatherman, 99 Ky. 213, 35 S.W. 625, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 124, 1896 Ky. LEXIS 75 (Ky. 1896).

The Legislature may not authorize a school district to issue bonds for or assume any obligation to pay for abutting municipal street improvements. Wilson v. Board of Education, 226 Ky. 476, 11 S.W.2d 143, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 124 (Ky. 1928).

14. Teacher Requirements.

The requirement of a county board of education, exercised under statutory authority, that teachers employed by it have higher educational requirements than are required for a teacher's license does not violate constitutional or statutory requirements of a uniform school system. Daviess County Board of Education v. Vanover, 219 Ky. 565, 293 S.W. 1063, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 379 (Ky. 1927).

15. Teacher Retirement.

A board of education regulation compelling retirement of teachers at age 65 was not unconstitutional. Belcher v. Gish, 555 S.W.2d 264, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 505 (Ky. 1977).

16. Valid Statutes.

Under this section, that part of the school law authorizing the conversion of a part of a common school district into a graded school district without the consent of a majority of all the patrons of the common school district is constitutional. Elliott v. Garner, 140 Ky. 157, 130 S.W. 997, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 201 (Ky. 1910).

KRS 160.045 does not violate Const., §§ 2, 19, 52, or this section. Board of Education v. Board of Education, 250 S.W.2d 1017, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 897 (Ky. 1952).

KRS 160.486 is valid and does not contravene the expressed will of the people contained in this Constitution. Board of Education v. Board of Education, 458 S.W.2d 6, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 160 (Ky. 1970).

Since the school based council is an authoritative body within the local school district, and the restriction in subdivision (2)(a) of KRS 160.345 prohibiting school district employees or their spouses from serving as parent members on the school based councils directly addresses the appearance of nepotism within that body and is clearly related to the goals of the Legislature to eradicate nepotism within the school districts of the Commonwealth, they are not unconstitutional as a violation of the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. Department of Educ. v. Risner, 913 S.W.2d 327, 1996 Ky. LEXIS 2 (Ky. 1996).

Governor of Kentucky properly issued an executive order, which made several temporary changes to various state education boards, because the boards fell within the ambit of the Governor's statutory authority to temporarily reorganize boards outside of the legislative session. The Governor's power did not violate the education provision of the Kentucky Constitution because the Kentucky Legislature apparently believed the grant of interim power to the Governor promoted Kentucky's system of common schools. Commonwealth ex rel. Beshear v. Bevin, 575 S.W.3d 673, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 214 (Ky. 2019).

17. Prior Statutes.

Special acts concerning school districts in towns and cities were repealed by the subsequent general law relating to common schools, to the extent that they were inconsistent therewith. Hickman College v. Colored Common School Dist., 111 Ky. 944, 65 S.W. 20, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1271, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 278 (Ky. Ct. App. 1901).

18. Efficient System.

A school system does not cease to be efficient, and thus violate this section, because of court ordered busing for desegregation since at the very least "efficient" refers to a system which exists and operates and it must operate in a constitutional manner. Carroll v. Department of Health, Education & Welfare, 410 F. Supp. 234, 1976 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16031 (W.D. Ky. 1976), aff'd, Carroll v. Board of Education, 561 F.2d 1, 1977 U.S. App. LEXIS 11870 (6th Cir. Ky. 1977).

The essential, and minimal, characteristics of an "efficient" system of common schools, may be summarized as follows: 1) The establishment, maintenance and funding of common schools in Kentucky is the sole responsibility of the General Assembly. 2) Common schools shall be free to all. 3) Common schools shall be available to all Kentucky children. 4) Common schools shall be substantially uniform throughout the state. 5) Common schools shall provide equal educational opportunities to all Kentucky children, regardless of place of residence or economic circumstances. 6) Common schools shall be monitored by the General Assembly to assure that they are operated with no waste, no duplication, no mismanagement, and with no political influence. 7) The premise for the existence of common schools is that all children in Kentucky have a constitutional right to an adequate education. 8) The General Assembly shall provide funding which is sufficient to provide each child in Kentucky an adequate education. 9) An adequate education is one which has as its goal the development of the seven (7) capacities recited previously. Rose v. Council for Better Educ., 790 S.W.2d 186, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 55 (Ky. 1989).

The Supreme Court considered foreign cases, along with constitutional debates, Kentucky precedents and the opinion of experts in formulating the definition of "efficient" as it appears in this section. Rose v. Council for Better Educ., 790 S.W.2d 186, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 55 (Ky. 1989).

19. Funding.

The present school funding statutes permit local Boards of Education to raise funds through property taxes and permissive taxes such as the utilities tax; base funding and Tier One funding can be produced by a property tax not subject to voter recall and this nonrecallable option enables boards of education to fund schools without relying on permissive taxes; the General Assembly has supplied a mechanism to satisfy base funding, as well as Tier One funding, according to the mandate of this section; and that is all that Rose v. Council for Better Educ., 790 S.W.2d 186, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 55 (Ky. 1989) requires. Board of Educ. v. Brooks, 824 S.W.2d 431, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 22 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The summer school sessions operated by the Louisville and Jefferson County school systems on a tuition basis are not extensions of the regular school term and, consequently, are not in violation of the constitutional or statutory provisions which require a uniform system of common schools to be maintained in the state. OAG 60-1053.

Following the tax rollback, the executive department of state government had the authority and duty to provide supplemental payments to certain schools under the minimum foundation program as would insure the orderly continuation of the common schools program and as would prevent the regression of the program. OAG 70-474.

Although there is a wide disparity of per pupil financial support for education, in view of the recent United States Supreme Court case, San Antonio Independent School District v. Rodriguez, the only way our present system of common schools could be declared unconstitutional as violating this section would be to hold that it is not an "efficient system" and, if there is a better way of school financing, it is not up to the courts but the educators and Legislature to find it. OAG 73-273.

There is no constitutional or legislative requirement that the cost of education to public school pupils must be free and a board of education may require that pupils be charged a reasonable fee for school supplies. OAG 75-619.

A local school board regulation requiring its certified employees to reside in the board district would seem to work against efficiency in operating schools and procurement of teacher personnel so as to violate this section. OAG 82-59.

The purchase of satellite receiving equipment for nonpublic schools through an appropriation by the General Assembly would appear to be educational in purpose and, therefore, would appear to be a constitutionally prohibited expenditure. OAG 89-41.

It is not unconstitutional for the Legislature to require reorganization of the Department of Education, in the course of developing an efficient system of common schools in compliance with this section. OAG 91-66.

Based on the language of this section of the Kentucky Constitution, and on case law interpreting this section, the General Assembly has authorization to create the Office of Education Accountability. OAG 91-222.

The discovery powers set forth in KRS 7.410(2)(d) are broad; however, they relate to the ability of the arm of the Legislature to study the implementation of the Reform Act, and to insure that the General Assembly is successful in creating an “efficient system of common schools,” as mandated by this section of the Kentucky Constitution. OAG 91-222.

A school board may not require principals to be residents of the school district. OAG 01-7.

The interest and dividends of said fund, together with any sum which may be produced by taxation or otherwise for purposes of common school education, shall be appropriated to the common schools, and to no other purpose. No sum shall be raised or collected for education other than in common schools until the question of taxation is submitted to the legal voters, and the majority of the votes cast at said election shall be in favor of such taxation: Provided, The tax now imposed for educational purposes, and for the endowment and maintenance of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, shall remain until changed by law.

This section leaves to the law-making body the determination of what is an efficient educational system, and to that body wide discretion in choosing the method of supplying an efficient system. Dodge v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 298 Ky. 1, 181 S.W.2d 406, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 815 (Ky. 1944).

This section and sections 180 and 186 of the Kentucky Constitution, when read together, prohibit the diversion of common school funds for purposes other than the maintenance of the public schools of the Commonwealth. Board of Education v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, 691 S.W.2d 218, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 518 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

3. Application.

The prohibitions of this section apply to local political units as well as to the General Assembly. Pollitt v. Lewis, 269 Ky. 680, 108 S.W.2d 671, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 659 (Ky. 1937).

4. Common School System.

In order for there to be a common school there must be a common school district. Hodgkin v. Board of Louisville & Jefferson County Children’s Home, 242 S.W.2d 1008, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1101 (Ky. 1951).

Neither the statements of the Court of Appeals nor the pronouncements of the legislature can make an institution a part of the common school system contrary to the mandate of the Constitution. Hodgkin v. Board for Louisville & Jefferson County Children’s Home, 242 S.W.2d 1008, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1101 (Ky. 1951).

5. Common School Fund.

The income to which the common school fund was entitled was not confined to those sources of revenue provided in a certain statute, but might be supplemented from other sources such as inheritance taxes. Gilbert v. Greene, 185 Ky. 817, 216 S.W. 105, 1919 Ky. LEXIS 380 (Ky. 1919).

Money appropriated for schools immediately becomes part of school fund, although appropriated after tax is levied or collected. Talbott v. Kentucky State Board of Education, 244 Ky. 826, 52 S.W.2d 727, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 516 (Ky. 1932).

Under this section, the school fund was entitled to the surplus in the county livestock fund, despite the repeal of statute providing for payment of the surplus to the school fund. Board of Education v. Tierney, 280 S.W.2d 201, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 148 (Ky. 1955).

6. School Taxes.

Under this section, a city could not avoid paying over to the school board the whole amount of taxes collected, on the ground that it went into the sinking fund. Louisville v. Louisville School Board, 32 S.W. 406, 17 Ky. L. Rptr. 697 (1895).

In view of Const., § 180 and this section, where a city collected a greater sum for school purposes than requested by board of education but within limitation of rate of assessment fixed in statute, the total amount collected belonged to the board of education. Board of Education v. Newport, 174 Ky. 28, 191 S.W. 871, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 1917).

Where a city collects taxes for school purposes without insisting upon levy being reduced by amount of unreported resources of board of education, it cannot subsequently so insist and may not withhold from the school board any portion of the tax levied for school purposes. Board of Education v. Newport, 174 Ky. 28, 191 S.W. 871, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 1917).

A tax levied for the benefit of common schools is a state tax, although it may be levied and collected by municipal county or district agencies. Moss v. Mayfield, 186 Ky. 330, 216 S.W. 842, 1919 Ky. LEXIS 218 (Ky. 1919). See Whitt v. Wilson, 212 Ky. 281, 278 S.W. 609, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 1120 (Ky. 1925).

Legislature may provide for efficient school system by directly levying tax which is sufficient when proceeds are distributed pro rata or by raising limit of local school tax rates. Talbott v. Kentucky State Board of Education, 244 Ky. 826, 52 S.W.2d 727, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 516 (Ky. 1932).

Continued collection of seven cents special tax voted in 1937 for a junior college program was not in violation of this section, although the junior college was to be operated by a state university under contract with the school board and the tax would be paid over to a nonprofit corporation created by the school board as its own agency, the school board having option to withdraw from the program of operation of the junior college. Montague v. Board of Education, 402 S.W.2d 94, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 355 (Ky. 1966).

7. — Collection Fees.

Using a portion of a tax collected for purposes of common school education to bear the costs of its collection, does not violate Const., § 180 or this section. Ross v. Board of Education, 196 Ky. 366, 244 S.W. 793, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 520 (Ky. 1922).

No violence is done to constitutional provisions prohibiting diversion of taxes or school funds when a reasonable charge is made against a local school tax for its collection. Dickson v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 311 Ky. 781, 225 S.W.2d 672, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1251 (Ky. 1949).

The additional three percent (3%) fee allowed the sheriff of Jefferson County for the collection of school taxes by KRS 160.500 violates this section and Const., § 180. Dickson v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 311 Ky. 781, 225 S.W.2d 672, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1251 (Ky. 1949).

A sheriff may not retain for the general expenses of his office from school tax funds any fee in an amount greater than that incurred as an expense of collecting such school tax funds despite statutory authority for a larger fee and the court is required to limit his fee upon such showing. Board of Education v. Wagers, 239 S.W.2d 48, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 836 (Ky. 1951). See Barren County Board of Education v. Edmunds, 252 S.W.2d 882, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 1036 (Ky. 1952); Board of Education v. Greenhill, 291 S.W.2d 36, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 366 (Ky. 1956).

The trial court must fix the fee of the sheriff for collecting board of education tax levy at a figure commensurate with the services rendered since a flat percentage fee violates Const., § 180 and this section in those cases where the reasonable cost of collection is less than amount which would be paid the sheriff by the application of the flat percentage to the total amount of taxes collected. Barren County Board of Education v. Edmunds, 252 S.W.2d 882, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 1036 (Ky. 1952).

Although it may have been that the General Assembly's intent was to create a flat four percent (4%) commission for the county clerks for collecting the taxes, such interpretation would bring subsection (3) of KRS 134.805 into conflict with Const., § 180 and this section; therefore, a county clerk may not receive a fee for collecting the school tax which is in excess of his or her actual cost of collection, not exceeding four percent (4%). Benson v. Board of Education, 748 S.W.2d 156, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 11 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

The only exception to the constitutional limitations of Const., § 180 and this section prohibiting the use of school funds for anything other than school purposes is the payment by the school board of the reasonable and actual costs of collecting the taxes. Benson v. Board of Education, 748 S.W.2d 156, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 11 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

The allocation of the costs of collection of school taxes based on a percentage of revenue collected does not violate this section; such collection costs in no way diminish the constitutional command that school taxes must be appropriated to the common schools and no other purpose. These basic principles were not changed by the adoption of the Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990. Board of Educ. v. Williams, 930 S.W.2d 399, 1996 Ky. LEXIS 94 (Ky. 1996).

8. Expenditure of Funds.

City school board's appropriation for purposes not expressly named in statute must reasonably relate to proper school activities or interests. Board of Education v. Simmons, 245 Ky. 493, 53 S.W.2d 940, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 625 (Ky. 1932).

Discretion vested in boards of education to expend school moneys, is subject to constitutional restriction that such expenditures must be for purposes of common school education. Schuerman v. State Board of Education, 284 Ky. 556, 145 S.W.2d 42, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 514 (Ky. 1940).

The determination of proper purposes of common school education is subject to wide and varied opinion and, unless an expenditure is extreme or clearly not for a proper educational purpose, the determination of such purpose is within the discretion of the General Assembly. Board of Education v. Talbott, 286 Ky. 543, 151 S.W.2d 42, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 283 (Ky. 1941).

If the taxes are paid, the sum so collected shall not be devoted to any other purpose than school purposes. Dickson v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 311 Ky. 781, 225 S.W.2d 672, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1251 (Ky. 1949).

This section must be read together with Const., § 180 in determining how school funds must be spent, and the test to be applied in each instance is, what constitutes an educational purpose rather than whether an activity might merely be beneficial to education. Board of Education v. Spencer County, Levee, Flood Control & Drainage Dist., 313 Ky. 8, 230 S.W.2d 81, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 797 (Ky. 1950).

School funds may not be diverted from school purposes. Grayson County Board of Education v. Boone, 452 S.W.2d 371, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 348 (Ky. 1970).

A fair reading of Const., §§ 183-189 compels the conclusion that money spent on education is to be spent exclusively in the public school system, except where the question of taxation for an educational purpose has been submitted to the voters and the majority of the votes cast at the election on the question shall be in favor of such taxation. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

The Kentucky Constitution contemplates that public funds shall be expended for public education and the Commonwealth is obliged to furnish every child in this state an education in the public schools, but it is constitutionally proscribed from providing aid to furnish a private education. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

9. — Valid.

City and county boards of education may expend reasonable amounts from public school fund to pay membership dues in Kentucky school board association, since maintenance of that association for purposes specified in its Constitution is beneficial to public education in Kentucky. Schuerman v. State Board of Education, 284 Ky. 556, 145 S.W.2d 42, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 514 (Ky. 1940).

Payment of gasoline tax by boards of education does not violate this section. Board of Education v. Talbott, 286 Ky. 543, 151 S.W.2d 42, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 283 (Ky. 1941).

The carrying of liability insurance on school buses is an expense incident to a rational program of school transportation, and the requirement of KRS 160.310 that such insurance be carried does not violate this section. Bronaugh v. Murray, 294 Ky. 715, 172 S.W.2d 591, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 531 (Ky. 1943).

Where no accurate time accounting could be made for school tax collection by the sheriff and his employees but the four percent (4%) he retained was not excessive, there was no diversion of school funds in the retention of the four percent (4%). Grayson County Board of Education v. Boone, 452 S.W.2d 371, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 348 (Ky. 1970).

A county fiscal court's resolution which provided approximately 65 percent of the total cost of transporting non-public elementary school students was not unconstitutional where (1) funds were not paid directly to any private or parochial school and were, instead, paid to the individual local board of education operated transportation system of contracted bus and vehicle companies, (2) the benefit provided by the resolution went directly toward the safety and welfare of elementary age school children and not into the accounts of non-public schools, and (3) the resolution did not establish a tuition ceiling as a requisite to eligibility for the transportation subsidy. Neal v. Fiscal Court, 986 S.W.2d 907, 1999 Ky. LEXIS 24 (Ky. 1999).

10. — Invalid.

The appropriation of any part of a school fund or of the taxes which have been devoted to the purposes of the common school system, to the payment either of general taxation for support of the state government, or of special assessments to pay the cost of street improvements, would be an appropriation thereof to another purpose than that of the school system, forbidden by this section. Louisville v. Leatherman, 99 Ky. 213, 35 S.W. 625, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 124, 1896 Ky. LEXIS 75 (Ky. 1896). See Kentucky Institution for Education of Blind v. Louisville, 123 Ky. 767, 97 S.W. 402, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 136, 1906 Ky. LEXIS 213 (Ky. 1906).

A tax levied and collected by a city for school purposes cannot be appropriated by act of legislature to maintain public library open to pupils of common schools only as a part of general public, and not under control of board of education for common schools. Board of Education v. Board of Trustees, 113 Ky. 234, 68 S.W. 10, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 98, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 45 (Ky. 1902).

State board of education could not purchase free textbooks for schools, where none of state's school fund had been appropriated for that purpose and general fund had been exhausted. State Board of Education v. Kenney, 230 Ky. 287, 18 S.W.2d 1114, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 71 (Ky. 1929).

The Tax Increment Act, KRS 99.750 to 99.770 (repealed), which permits various taxing districts to release increments expected to be derived by such districts as a result of the undertaking of a renewal or redevelopment project by an urban renewal community agency or authority to be used as a special fund for bond payment is invalid as it violates this section, for money collected for the purposes of education in the common school system cannot be spent for any other purpose. Miller v. Covington Development Auth., 539 S.W.2d 1, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 40 (Ky. 1976).

If the exclusive purpose of KRS 171.215, which provides that the state must supply textbooks to students in nonpublic schools, is to pay the expenses of children in private schools, Const., § 3 has been directly violated; conversely, if the textbooks also aid in the functioning of the private schools themselves, Const., §§ 171, 186, 189 and this section have been violated. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

KRS 171.215, which provides that the department of libraries (now department for libraries and archives) must supply textbooks without cost to pupils attending nonpublic schools, is unconstitutional in that it directs the expenditure of public funds for educational purposes through nonpublic schools. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

Grants made by fiscal court from county tax revenue by direct payment to certain specified privately-owned schools designated as transportation subsidies violated this section which provides that money cannot be expended for education other than in common schools without a vote of the public, because public money is being expended for the benefit of the private institution rather than providing specifically for the health and safety of all the children. Fiscal Court v. Brady, 885 S.W.2d 681, 1994 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 1994).

11. Assessment for Public Improvements.

Board of education could not be required to pay assessment by county flood and drainage district to build a flood wall notwithstanding board and children in its district would benefit thereby since such expenditure would be for other than educational purposes. Board of Education v. Spencer County, Levee, Flood Control & Drainage Dist., 313 Ky. 8, 230 S.W.2d 81, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 797 (Ky. 1950).

Even if the money paid by the state as the apportionment of a special improvement benefit assessment against school property is considered money appropriated in aid of education, it is within the legislative discretion to specify the purpose of its use. Robertson v. Danville, 291 S.W.2d 816, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 400 (Ky. 1956).

KRS 107.010 to 107.220 providing for the financing of public improvement projects by annual assessments on the basis of the assessed values of the benefited properties, does not, by providing that public school properties shall be assessed and that levies against it should be paid from the state treasury out of moneys not otherwise appropriated, violate this section. Robertson v. Danville, 291 S.W.2d 816, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 400 (Ky. 1956).

12. University of Kentucky.

This section does not prohibit a subsequent, new, statutory appropriation for the support of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. Agricultural & Mechanical College v. Hager, 121 Ky. 1, 87 S.W. 1125, 27 Ky. L. Rptr. 1178, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 171 (Ky. 1905).

Neither the change of the name of the Agricultural & Mechanical College of Kentucky to State University, nor transfer of normal work proper to state normal schools, destroyed its identity as a public corporation and state institution as respects the matter of appropriation therefor. James

v. State University, 131 Ky. 156, 114 S.W. 767, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 118 (Ky. 1908). See Agricultural & Mechanical College v. Hager, 121 Ky. 1, 87 S.W. 1125, 27 Ky. L. Rptr. 1178, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 171 (Ky. 1905); Marsee v. Hager, 125 Ky. 445, 101 S.W. 882, 31 Ky. L. Rptr. 79, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 304 (Ky. 1907).

The State University and the state normal schools are among the educational institutions for which, under this section, the legislature may make appropriations without submitting the matter to a vote of the people. James v. State University, 131 Ky. 156, 114 S.W. 767, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 118 (Ky. 1908). See Agricultural & Mechanical College v. Hager, 121 Ky. 1, 87 S.W. 1125, 27 Ky. L. Rptr. 1178, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 171 (Ky. 1905); Marsee v. Hager, 125 Ky. 445, 101 S.W. 882, 31 Ky. L. Rptr. 79, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 304 (Ky. 1907).

This section has no application to a statute providing that counties may send a number of pupils free of tuition to the State University. Barker v. Crum, 177 Ky. 637, 198 S.W. 211, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 665 (Ky. 1917) (Ky. 1917).

13. Normal Schools.

Statute establishing a system of state normal schools and appropriating money therefor was not in violation of this section. Marsee v. Hager, 125 Ky. 445, 101 S.W. 882, 31 Ky. L. Rptr. 79, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 304 (Ky. 1907).

14. Institutional Schools.

This section and Const., § 185 do not empower the commissioners of the sinking fund of the Commonwealth to provide funds for reconstruction of building of Industrial College for Colored People destroyed by fire or to authorize the trustees to reconstruct the building at state expense. Rhoads v. Fields, 219 Ky. 303, 292 S.W. 809, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 321 (Ky. 1927).

15. Valid Statutes.

Statute providing that the expenses of the Department of Education, of whatever character, be paid from the common school fund, is not repugnant to this section. Superintendent of Public Instruction v. Auditor of Public Accounts, 97 Ky. 180, 30 S.W. 404, 17 Ky. L. Rptr. 46, 1895 Ky. LEXIS 169 (Ky. 1895).

Under this section statute authorizing discounts for prompt payment of taxes including school taxes is not invalid as allowing sums produced by taxation for common schools to be appropriated to other purposes. Board of Education v. Sea, 167 Ky. 772, 181 S.W. 670, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 492 (Ky. 1916).

Law providing for an increase of the tax for operating expenses of common schools was valid. Larue v. Redmon, 168 Ky. 487, 182 S.W. 622, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 583 (Ky. 1916).

An act providing for payment of interest on warrants to be issued by the auditor for teachers' salaries did not violate this section. Adams v. Greene, 182 Ky. 504, 206 S.W. 759, 1918 Ky. LEXIS 387 (Ky. 1918).

KRS 212.260 authorizing county health officers to visit schools and inspect premises does not limit or substitute for school board's power to appropriate school funds under the Constitution. Board of Education v. Simmons, 245 Ky. 493, 53 S.W.2d 940, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 625 (Ky. 1932).

Statute authorizing a board of education to impose occupational license fees after electoral approval does not violate this section by providing that the necessary expenses of the required election be paid from school funds. Sims v. Board of Education, 290 S.W.2d 491, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1956).

Former statute that authorized public aid to private institutions for the education of exceptional children did not violate this section since it was not the intention of the delegates in adopting this section and Const., § 186 to deny forever the possibility of special educational assistance to those who by no choice of their own are unsuited to the standard programs and facilities of the common school system, the act in question being primarily a welfare rather than an educational measure and the fact that it takes the form of education being immaterial. Butler v. United Cerebral Palsy, Inc., 352 S.W.2d 203, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 200 (Ky. 1961).

16. Invalid Statutes.

Legislative act providing for furnishing free transportation to pupils attending private schools violated this section, there being no merit in argument that act provided benefit for children and not for school. Sherrard v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 294 Ky. 469, 171 S.W.2d 963, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 2 (Ky. 1942).

17. Sewer User Charges.

The applicability of this section and Ky. Const., §§ 180 and 186 to the issue of whether a sewer user charge can be paid from school funds must be determined by a reasonable interpretation of whether the service or commodity provided is necessary for the maintenance of the public schools and is exclusively for the benefit of the public schools. Sewer user charges imposed upon a county board of education bear a reasonable and rational relationship to the value of the services provided and therefore are exclusively for the benefit of and necessary for the maintenance of the public schools. Board of Education v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, 691 S.W.2d 218, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 518 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A board of education has no authority to appropriate money to a fire department, as the benefit to education in this regard would be remote and would not be an expenditure of school funds for educational purposes as required by this section. OAG 60-612.

The county board of education has authority to request the department of highways to allow a water line to be attached to the water main serving the school in order that service may be extended to a subdivision, since there would not be any additional expenditure of school funds for the extension of the water line to the new subdivision, there is no violation of this section. OAG 60-704.

Commingling of state and federal funds by a school would result in their becoming subject to the provisions of both state and federal laws governing their expenditure. OAG 65-625.

A school board may lawfully purchase fire and extended coverage insurance in the form of a package policy even though the premium is not specifically allocable to individual coverage if it does not exceed the rate regularly charged for fire and extended coverage insurance, as approved by the Kentucky department of insurance for such risks. OAG 66-36.

A restriction contained in a declaration of restrictions affecting a 10.44 acre tract proposed as a school site that would require the owner of the tract to pay an assessment that could be used for maintenance of other property in the subdivision would preclude the purchase of the tract as a school site since the payment of the assessment would violate this section. OAG 67-413.

The city council's requiring the board of education to make repairs in the sidewalk in front of the high school would be in direct violation of this section. OAG 68-67.

An expenditure of school funds to help defray the operating costs of the county health department would not be proper. OAG 68-143.

The payment to the city by the board of education of a tap-in fee for connecting to the sewer line would not violate this section or Const., § 186. OAG 68-283.

Expenditures of school funds to provide turnabouts for school buses on private property adjacent to bridges that have been condemned would offend this section and Const., § 180 and would not be a proper school board expenditure. OAG 68-473.

A school board could not grant an easement across school property to the metropolitan sewer district since the easement would not constitute an educational purpose. OAG 69-127.

A lease of school property permitting the construction of a swimming pool on the leased premises would not violate this section or Const., § 180 if the consideration received by the school district would be sufficient to compensate for the lease. OAG 69-290.

Under this section and Const., § 180 the funds of the school board may not properly be expended to pay a portion of the salary of policewomen to patrol intersections on the city streets during school rush hours since this activity involves a service for the general public welfare rather than one which is designed to accomplish an educational purpose. OAG 69-488.

The members of families of employees and/or the dependents of employees may, within the discretion of the board, participate in the various types of group coverage provided the extra cost of the family coverage or dependent coverage is paid by the employee. OAG 70-336.

A lease by a school board of school property at the nominal rental value of $1.00 per year merely on the basis that United Cerebral Palsy would conduct a school on the premises could not be justified per se under Const., §§ 180, 184, and 186. However, if a factual determination were made that a proposed United Cerebral Palsy school would furnish an approved program for the instruction of exceptional children and that such a program was needed by the local school board, the board could execute a lease of property for such a school for the nominal sum of $1.00 per year. OAG 70-805.

Both the value received criterion and the direct benefit criterion must be considered in applying tests to determine whether a particular expenditure is valid under the school purpose restriction. OAG 70-805.

The Kentucky statutes do not authorize the expending of bond proceeds to renovate school buildings presently existing and already acquired. OAG 71-107.

The statutory sections relating to acquisition of existing buildings in KRS chs. 58 and 162 are broad enough to include, by reasonable implication, whatever may be properly spent for the functional adaptation of purchased buildings to school purposes. OAG 71-107.

A school board cannot expend money for the construction of a community center building to be used for educational, recreational, and social community services and health purposes. OAG 71-184.

A local board of education is precluded from expending school funds to pay a portion of the costs incurred by either private or quasi-public nonschool agencies in operating special education classes for exceptional children. OAG 72-86.

An agreement by a board of education to lease unused portions of a television facility owned by it to a private corporation was lawful with the exception of a provision that a part of the consideration for the lease would be an option to purchase up to 10% of the stock of the private corporation, which provision was illegal and void under §§ 177, 179, 184, and 186 of the Constitution. OAG 73-418.

It is proper for a school district to require students to pay the cost of their meals, but if a school district sees fit to do so, it may use school funds to subsidize the school lunch program with the result that the pupils will be paying a price which is less than the cost of supplying their meals. OAG 73-754.

It would be a violation of the Constitution to pay the salary of a parochial schoolteacher from the funds of a public school district. OAG 73-799.

Since the control of air pollution is for the public benefit, the obtaining of a pollutant permit is a public school purpose and therefore payment of the fee does not violate the Constitution. OAG 74-57.

The announcement over a school speaker system or the distribution of notices to children on school property of meetings of an organization of parents to promote a constitutional amendment which would forbid busing of school pupils for the purpose of achieving racial balance in the public schools constitutes an illegal use of school property and improperly interjects political questions into the operation of the public school. OAG 74-118.

Public school teachers may not, as a part of the duties for which compensated by boards of education, be assigned, to teach in a private or sectarian school. OAG 74-331 (modifying OAG 68-150, and withdrawing OAG 68-585).

Qualified pupils in private schools which are nonsectarian and which do not teach religion are entitled to the benefits of the Title I program. OAG 74-683.

Proposed public relations plan to have administrators of the school system join various service organizations of the community would not be a proper expenditure of school funds and would be unconstitutional under this section and Const., § 180. OAG 74-873.

A public school district cannot be compelled to pay for public improvements nor can it voluntarily use school funds for such purposes. OAG 75-108 and 75-613.

Under this section and § 186 of the Const., school funds may not be expended for the construction of entrances to school property within the rights of way of state highways and the expense of such entrances must be borne by the state department of transportation (now transportation cabinet). OAG 75-362 and 75-613.

Public school funds may not be expended to employ persons to control vehicular and pedestrian traffic on public streets or roads in or around school premises. OAG 75-614.

An off-duty constable employed as a school security guard is an employee of the school board which may compensate him for his services. OAG 75-631.

Although the services of school crossing guards are a benefit to school children, the guards do not serve an "educational purpose," and thus school board funds may not be expended to pay the salary of individuals who patrol intersections on city streets. OAG 76-239.

A county sheriff's fee for collecting school taxes must represent the reasonable cost of collection, as long as the rate does not exceed 4 percent, and the sheriff must document his reasonable costs of collection. OAG 76-251.

Once approval to sell school property as surplus is given by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, there is no legal requirement that a board of education must dispose of the property by public auction or advertisement of sealed bids and the board may establish a price for the land and sell to any purchaser willing and able to meet that price if the figure represents at least the appraised fair market value of the property. OAG 76-291.

A board of education may not participate in defraying the cost of a property reappraisal that was ordered by the Circuit Court in an action by a private party against the city. OAG 77-299.

The expenses of opening schools to serve as voting places on a presidential election day, as provided by subsection (2) of KRS 117.065, when the schools are mandated to be closed by KRS 2.190 would be so small and incidental as not to be proscribed by Kentucky Constitution, §§ 180, 184, 186. OAG 76-592. Withdrawing OAG 42-363.

Since the requirement that schools not be opened without a custodian is a policy created by school board and not by statute, the circumstances surrounding the use of schools as voting places as provided for in subsection (2) of KRS 117.065 may be structured so that there does not exist any unwarranted and impermissible expenditures of public common school money for election purposes. OAG 76-614.

Since a water system is a necessary appendage to the school building and may relate very closely to the health and welfare of the students, a county board of education could legally spend public common school funds to construct a water line from the school property to an existing water line supply. OAG 76-654.

Once the sheriff's total fee for collecting school taxes is properly computed the constitutional test of diversion is met since the constitutional diversion occurs no sooner than the reasonable cost of collection is exceeded, regardless of how much the excess is. OAG 78-146.

The payment to the urban county government of 25% for the school tax collection fee paid to the sheriff does not constitute an unlawful diversion of school money. OAG 78-146.

The total cost of collecting school taxes (prior to the 75% and 25% distribution at State level) is strictly constitutional as being an expenditure for school purposes. OAG 78-146.

A city ordinance making school crossing guards, who are sworn peace officers with authority to issue citations and place and remove traffic control devices, employees of the school board rather than the city is invalid under KRS 94.360 (repealed), giving a city exclusive control over its streets, KRS 189.336, giving a city exclusive authority to place traffic control devices, and this section requiring school board funds be used only for the purpose of education. OAG 79-107.

The employment of school crossing guards is not an "educational purpose" for which school funds may be expended. OAG 79-107.

The governing body of a city of the second class has authority by ordinance to present the question to its citizens concerning whether they wish to have a seven cents special tax levy to support a community college continued or repealed. OAG 79-503.

An emergency ambulance service for school children and personnel may legally be provided by a contract made between a board of education and a private ambulance service since this is for school purposes and the expenditure would not be prohibited by this section of the Constitution. OAG 81-87.

The present school laws, in light of the Constitution, do not authorize or permit any state-funded extended employment days to be used for vacation or holidays. OAG 82-356.

Within reason, school boards are permitted to bear the direct and indirect expenses incurred by teachers and administrators who attend, after prior approval by the board, professional activities and functions; however, school boards are not wholly unfettered in exercising their discretion in approving attendance at sundry professional activities since Const., § 180 and this section require that school funds may be used only for school purposes, the test being whether the expenditure is for an educational purpose rather than whether an activity might be beneficial to education. OAG 83-228.

It is legal for a board of education to pay salaries and/or expenses — including travel, lodging, and meals for school administrators or teachers to attend business sessions of their respective professional organizations, training and professional improvement meetings conducted by their professional organization and accreditation associations to which their schools or districts belong, and/or lobbying activities conducted by their professional associations. OAG 83-228.

A proposal by the fiscal court to pay a sum equal to 150 percent of the purported "actual cost" of transporting "all" the school children in a school district may not be legally tolerated, since it appears that a purported "actual increase cost" figure for the cost of transporting the nonpublic school children may not be constitutionally determined. OAG 83-294.

Language in budget memorandum recommending and directing that 705 KAR 2:030 Section 8 be amended to change the local district transfer provision from 20% to the established value of the capital outlay component of a foundation unit with difference in the transfer to be used to fund the operational costs of the New Rowan County State Vocational-Technical School and the expanded facilities in Ashland and Elizabethtown is precatory in nature and in light of this section and Const., § 186 cannot be carried out for funds involved, are foundation program funds and not just general funds appropriated for education and using the difference in the transfer amount of funds to support the operational cost of the New Rowan County State Vocational-Technical School and expanded facilities in Ashland and Elizabethtown would be using foundation program funds for nonfoundation purposes. OAG 84-314.

Where one or more school districts initiate a suit to enforce state equalization of school funding within the Commonwealth, interested school districts may contribute reasonable amounts of money from school funds to meet the costs of the suit, including reasonable attorney's fees; such expenditures would, however, have to be made in accordance with appropriate budget considerations. OAG 85-100.

By exempting school districts from the scope of application of the act, and by permitting termination by a taxing district on a year-to-year basis of a contractual arrangement with an agency, Acts 1986, ch. 13 which repealed the Tax Increment Act, KRS 99.750, and enacted KRS 99.751, 99.756, 99.761, 99.766 and 99.771, has remedied the constitutional problems under this section and Const., § 157 that the Supreme Court in Miller v. Covington Development Authority, 539 S.W.2d 1, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 40 (Ky. 1976), found with the Tax Increment Act. OAG 86-48.

Any settlement of claims for taxes owed, including interest and penalties, would be a diversion of school fund moneys for a purpose other than that of the common schools. OAG 88-46.

Neither the school nor the tax collector can abate past due interest or penalty on local school taxes paid prior to or after filing suit for collection of the unpaid taxes, penalty, and interest. OAG 88-46.

The purchase of satellite receiving equipment for nonpublic schools through an appropriation by the General Assembly would appear to be educational in purpose and, therefore, would appear to be a constitutionally prohibited expenditure. OAG 89-41.

No existing law prohibits, outright, local districts from showing instructional TV programming with minimal commercials included so long as curricular materials are properly reviewed; if instructional TV programming, with minimal commercials included, is allowed in the public schools, then the two (2) minutes of advertising do not have to be excluded from the six (6) hour day. OAG 90-42.

The state board has the authority to ban any television instruction with commercial advertising if the board determines as a matter of public policy that such should not be utilized in the classroom. The board also has the authority to allow the local boards of education and school councils to decide this matter. OAG 90-42.

The common school fund consists of all sums produced by taxation or otherwise for common school purposes in addition to the interest and dividends of the fund. Those sums are to be spent exclusively on public education. KRS 156.665 (now repealed) provides that among the duties and responsibilities of the Council for Education Technology is the investment of all funds received by the council for the purpose of carrying out these duties and responsibilities, and accordingly, KRS 42.500 does not apply, as the authority granted to the State Investment Commission is limited by KRS 156.665 (now repealed). OAG 91-39.

Under KRS 168.100, the use of state funds appropriated for educational purpose may be applied by Kentucky Educational Television only for the benefit of public or common schools in order to avoid violation of this section and Const., §§ 171, 186, and 189. Accordingly, KET is required to charge nonstate schools, whether private and nonsectarian or parochial, for services delivered in the process of returning student responses to the KET master computer. OAG 91-71.

An expenditure of common school funds or a donation of school property for a public purpose other than for the benefit of public education is not permissible under this section and Const., §§ 180 and 186; therefore, under this section and Const., §§ 180 and 186, any transfer of surplus school buildings to community service organizations must be based on the fair market value of the property. OAG 91-85.

It is still the opinion of the Attorney General's office that OAG 79-107 represents the law of Kentucky and the interpretation of Ky. Const., § 180 and this section, and that the expenditure of school funds for school guard crossings is prohibited constitutionally. OAG 92-6.

A reward, offered by the local school board, for the purpose of apprehending the vandals who damaged school property constitutes a proper educational purpose within the meaning of this section and Ky. Const., §§ 180 and 186; the act also falls within the parameters of KRS 160.160 as being necessary in order that the board may accomplish the purposes for which it was created as the resources of each school system are limited, and must be protected. OAG 92-63.

A school board cannot lawfully agree to provide materials paid for with school funds, or provide school funds themselves, whether under an intergovernmental agreement or otherwise, for the construction or maintenance of school bus turnarounds within the meaning of subsection (2) of KRS 178.290. OAG 93-63.

KRS 158.6455 permits a local school council or principal to use school reward money to pay teacher bonuses, and these bonuses are permissible under the Kentucky Constitution because they are "for school purposes." OAG 00-2.

A county board of education can constitutionally pay a privilege fee for connecting to a public sewer system. A privilege fee to fund construction of a sewer system is a "public school purpose" if it bears a rational relationship to the value of the services provided to the public schools. A fee based on usage and acreage meets this standard because it is proportional to the services provided. OAG 2009-01.

The General Assembly shall make provision, by law, for the payment of the interest of said school fund, and may provide for the sale of the stock in the Bank of Kentucky; and in case of a sale of all or any part of said stock, the proceeds of sale shall be invested by the Sinking Fund Commissioners in other good interest-bearing stocks or bonds, which shall be subject to sale and reinvestment, from time to time, in like manner, and with the same restrictions, as provided with reference to the sale of the said stock in the Bank of Kentucky.

1. Escheated Property.

This section does not prevent the legislature from allowing certain localities to make additional provision for the financing of their schools and, consequently, a statute providing that certain categories of property, in case of escheat, shall go to a school district is valid. Ky. v. Thomas' Admr, 140 Ky. 789, 131 S.W. 797, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 362 (Ky. Ct. App. 1910).

All funds accruing to the school fund shall be used for the maintenance of the public schools of the Commonwealth, and for no other purpose, and the General Assembly shall by general law prescribe the manner of the distribution of the public school fund among the school districts and its use for public school purposes.

1. Construction.

This section and sections 180 and 184 of the Kentucky Constitution, when read together, prohibit the diversion of common school funds for purposes other than the maintenance of the public schools of the Commonwealth. Board of Education v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, 691 S.W.2d 218, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 518 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

2. Application.

This section applies exclusively to common school funds levied and collected by the Commonwealth in its sovereign capacity and from the state at large, it has no application to public school funds levied, collected, and raised by subdivisions of the state to supplement the state school fund for their exclusively local purposes, and the state has no right to take charge of such funds and distribute them throughout the state among the common schools. Talbott v. Kentucky State Board of Education, 244 Ky. 826, 52 S.W.2d 727, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 516 (Ky. 1932). See Cassady v. Oldham County, 246 Ky. 772, 246 Ky. 773, 56 S.W.2d 368, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 25 (Ky. 1933).

3. Common School Purposes.

A tax levied for the benefit of common schools is a state tax, although it may be levied and collected by municipal county or district agencies. Moss v. Mayfield, 186 Ky. 330, 216 S.W. 842, 1919 Ky. LEXIS 218 (Ky. 1919). See Whitt v. Wilson, 212 Ky. 281, 278 S.W. 609, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 1120 (Ky. 1925).

The definition of the purposes of common school education is necessarily broad and, unless a particular expenditure is clearly outside the reasonable purview of educational activities, the Legislature has a right to declare it to be for such a purpose. Board of Education v. Talbott, 286 Ky. 543, 151 S.W.2d 42, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 283 (Ky. 1941).

The courts scrupulously protect school funds from diversion even for laudable purposes. Board of Education v. Wagers, 239 S.W.2d 48, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 836 (Ky. 1951).

School districts were created by the General Assembly and exist only as a means for the state to carry out the General Assembly's constitutional duty to provide for an efficient system of common schools throughout the state. Calvert Invest., Inc. v. Louisville & Jefferson County Metro. Sewer Dist., 805 S.W.2d 133, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 17 (Ky. 1991).

4. — Teachers' Salaries.

An act providing for payment of interest on warrants to be issued by the auditor for teachers' salaries did not violate Const., § 184. Adams v. Greene, 182 Ky. 504, 206 S.W. 759, 1918 Ky. LEXIS 387 (Ky. 1918).

Common school teachers are state employees and as such may receive salaries appropriated by the General Assembly provided by statutes authorized by the constitution and distributed to all teachers of common school within the Commonwealth on a per capita basis. Board of Education v. Talbott, 261 Ky. 66, 86 S.W.2d 1059, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 592 (Ky. 1935).

5. — Expenditures.

A fair reading of Const., §§ 183-189 compels the conclusion that money spent on education is to be spent exclusively in the public school system, except where the question of taxation for an educational purpose has been submitted to the voters and the majority of the votes cast at the election on the question shall be in favor of such taxation. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

The Kentucky Constitution contemplates that public funds shall be expended for public education and the Commonwealth is obliged to furnish every child in this state an education in the public schools, but it is constitutionally proscribed from providing aid to furnish a private education. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

6. — — Valid.

Since the terms education, common school purpose and common school system are sufficiently broad enough to encompass recreational training, a county board of education may, under this section and Const., §§ 180 and 184, expend tax funds collected for school purposes for the financing of recreational training. Dodge v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 298 Ky. 1, 181 S.W.2d 406, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 815 (Ky. 1944).

County board of education was authorized to expend school funds to pay attorney's fees and court costs in defending two (2) cases against them for protection of corporate action and decisions of board for these actions serve a public school purpose. Hogan v. Glasscock, 324 S.W.2d 815, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 385 (Ky. 1959).

The extra cost to some school districts for busing as a result of court ordered desegregation does not violate this section since all that is required is that a common formula be used to arrive at distributions, not that distribution to each district be proportionately equal. Carroll v. Department of Health, Education & Welfare, 410 F. Supp. 234, 1976 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16031 (W.D. Ky. 1976), aff'd, Carroll v. Board of Education, 561 F.2d 1, 1977 U.S. App. LEXIS 11870 (6th Cir. Ky. 1977).

7. — — Invalid.

School taxes received from the state by a graded common school district cannot be used to purchase a lot or erect or furnish a school building. Crabbe v. Board of Trustees, 132 Ky. 478, 116 S.W. 706, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 113 (Ky. 1909).

Contract between county board of education and sheriff fixing sheriff's fee for collecting school taxes substantially in excess of the cost of collection is invalid as an unconstitutional diversion of school funds. Hager v. McConathy, 269 S.W.2d 725, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1017 (Ky. 1954).

If the exclusive purpose of KRS 171.215, which provides that the state must supply textbooks to students in nonpublic schools, is to pay the expenses of children in private schools, Const., § 3 has been directly violated; conversely, if the textbooks also aid in the functioning of the private schools themselves, Const., §§ 171, 184, 189 and this section have been violated. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

KRS 171.215, which provides that the department of libraries (now department for libraries and archives) must supply textbooks without cost to pupils attending nonpublic schools, is unconstitutional in that it directs the expenditure of public funds for educational purposes through nonpublic schools. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

8. Distribution of Funds.

Under this section the distribution of school funds is now left to Legislature discretion, although prior to the constitutional amendment of 1953, deleting the previous per capita clause of this section, the Legislature was thereby limited in the method by which it could distribute funds in aid of education. Robertson v. Danville, 291 S.W.2d 816, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 400 (Ky. 1956).

9. Sewer User Charges.

The applicability of this section and Ky. Const., sections 180 and 184 to the issue of whether a sewer user charge can be paid from school funds must be determined by a reasonable interpretation of whether the service or commodity provided is necessary for the maintenance of the public schools and is exclusively for the benefit of the public schools. Sewer user charges imposed upon a county board of education bear a reasonable and rational relationship to the value of the services provided and therefore are exclusively for the benefit of and necessary for the maintenance of the public schools. Board of Education v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, 691 S.W.2d 218, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 518 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

10. Escheated Property.

This section does not prevent the Legislature from allowing certain localities to make additional provision for the financing of their schools and, consequently, a statute providing that certain categories of property, in case of escheat, shall go to a school district is valid. Ky. v. Thomas' Admr, 140 Ky. 789, 131 S.W. 797, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 362 (Ky. Ct. App. 1910).

11. Aid for Exceptional Children.

Former statute that authorized public aid to private institutions for the education of exceptional children did not violate this section since it was not the intention of the delegates in adopting this section and Const., § 184 to deny forever the possibility of special educational assistance to those who by no choice of their own are unsuited to the standard programs and facilities of the common school system, the act in question being primarily a welfare rather than an educational measure and the fact that it takes the form of education being immaterial. Butler v. United Cerebral Palsy, Inc., 352 S.W.2d 203, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 200 (Ky. 1961).

12. Institutional Schools.

State aid to institutional schools such as Louisville and Jefferson County children's home is not within the scope of this section and Const., §§ 183-185. Hodgkin v. Board for Louisville & Jefferson County Children's Home, 242 S.W.2d 1008, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1101 (Ky. 1951).

Uniformity does not require equal classification but it does demand that there shall be substantially uniform system and equal school facilities without discrimination as between different sections of a district or county. Wooley v. Spalding, 293 S.W.2d 563, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1956).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A school board may not make a contribution to a park commission which is seeking to accumulate a fund in order to secure matching federal funds for development of a community recreation park. This section prohibits the use of school funds for other than school purposes. Section 180 provides that no tax levied and collected for one purpose shall be used for another. OAG 72-95.

This section would prohibit a school board from contributing funds to repair a city street which had been damaged by continued use by heavy school buses. OAG 72-514.

An agreement by a board of education to lease unused portions of a television facility owned by it to a private corporation was lawful with the exception of a provision that a part of the consideration for the lease would be an option to purchase up to 10% of the stock of the private corporation, which provision was illegal and void under §§ 177, 179, 184, and 186 of the Constitution. OAG 73-418.

It is proper for a school district to require students to pay the cost of their meals, but if a school district sees fit to do so, it may use school funds to subsidize the school lunch program with the result that the pupils will be paying a price which is less than the cost of supplying their meals. OAG 73-754.

Since the control of air pollution is for the public benefit, the obtaining of a pollutant permit is a public school purpose and payment of the fee does not violate the constitution. OAG 74-57.

Qualified pupils in private schools which are nonsectarian and which do not teach religion are entitled to the benefits of the Title I program. OAG 74-683.

Under Const. § 184 and this section, school funds may not be expended for the construction of entrances to school property within the right of way of a state highway and the expense of such entrances must be borne by the state department of transportation (now transportation cabinet). OAG 75-362.

In view of this section and § 184 of the Const., a board of education may not be compelled to replace or repair a sidewalk abutting one of its schools, nor may it voluntarily expend funds for such purpose, as such would constitute the expenditure of school funds for a nonschool purpose. OAG 75-613.

In view of this section, Const. § 184 and KRS 67A.060, a board of education may not be compelled to, nor may it voluntarily, pay an assessment imposed under KRS 67A.780 for a sanitary sewer benefiting school property. OAG 75-613.

Public school funds may not be expended to employ persons to control vehicular and pedestrian traffic on public streets or roads in or around school premises. OAG 75-614.

An off-duty constable employed as a school security guard is an employee of the school board which may compensate him for his services. OAG 75-631.

Inasmuch as common school funds may only be paid to common school districts, a county school board may not expend public common school funds to transport students attending a nonpublic model school. OAG 76-261.

The expenses of opening schools to serve as a voting place on a presidential election day, as provided by subsection (2) of KRS 117.065, when the schools are mandated to be closed by KRS 2.190 would be so small and incidental as not to be proscribed by Kentucky Constitution, §§ 180, 184, and 186. OAG 76-592. Withdrawing OAG 42-363.

Since the requirement that schools not be opened without a custodian is a policy created by the school board and not by statute, the circumstances surrounding the use of schools as voting places as provided for in subsection (2) of KRS 117.065 may be structured so that there does not exist any unwarranted and impermissible expenditures of public common school money for election purposes. OAG 76-614.

Where four teacher-owned cars were damaged by paint blown by wind from the paint room of a senior high school's agriculture department during the painting of a tractor, the board of education would be immune from liability under the doctrine of sovereign immunity, and since using school board funds for such a purpose would be tantamount to concluding there could be such liability, such an expenditure would be unconstitutional under this section. OAG 80-49.

A county fiscal court may provide snow removal service to the county schools in exchange for the transporting of nonpublic school students, provided that the value of such service is fairly and accurately determined, provisions are made for the payment to the county school system of any balance due, and appropriate procurement laws are followed where applicable; the best method for handling any legitimate exchange of services as outlined would be for the county school system to pay for the service and for the county fiscal court to pay that amount back to the county school system for the transporting of nonpublic school students. OAG 80-390.

The present school laws, in light of the Constitution, do not authorize or permit any state-funded extended employment days to be used for vacation or holidays. OAG 82-356.

Language in budget memorandum recommending and directing that 705 KAR 2:030 Section 8 be amended to change the local district transfer provision from 20% to the established value of the capital outlay component of a foundation unit with difference in the transfer to be used to fund the operational costs of the New Rowan County State Vocational-Technical School and the expanded facilities in Ashland and Elizabethtown is precatory in nature and in light of this section and Const., § 184 cannot be carried out for funds involved, are foundation program funds and not just general funds appropriated for education and using the difference in the transfer amount of funds to support the operational cost of the New Rowan County State Vocational-Technical School and expanded facilities in Ashland and Elizabethtown would be using foundation program funds for nonfoundation purposes. OAG 84-314.

Payment by a board of education for the sabbatical leave of a teacher or superintendent is constitutional so long as the teacher or superintendent agrees to extend at least two (2) years of future services to the school board. OAG 88-29.

No existing law prohibits, outright, local districts from showing instructional TV programming with minimal commercials included so long as curricular materials are properly reviewed; if instructional TV programming, with minimal commercials included, is allowed in the public schools, then the two (2) minutes of advertising do not have to be excluded from the six (6) hour day. OAG 90-42.

The state board has the authority to ban any television instruction with commercial advertising if the board determines as a matter of public policy that such should not be utilized in the classroom. The board also has the authority to allow the local boards of education and school councils to decide this matter. OAG 90-42.

Under KRS 168.100, the use of state funds appropriated for educational purpose may be applied by Kentucky Educational Television only for the benefit of public or common schools in order to avoid violation of this section and Const., §§ 171, 184 and 189. Accordingly, KET is required to charge nonstate schools, whether private and nonsectarian or parochial, for services delivered in the process of returning student responses to the KET master computer. OAG 91-71.

An expenditure of common school funds or a donation of school property for a public purpose other than for the benefit of public education is not permissible under this section and Const., §§ 180 and 184; therefore, under this section and Const., §§ 180 and 184, any transfer of surplus school buildings to community service organizations must be based on the fair market value of the property. OAG 91-85.

A reward, offered by the local school board, for the purpose of apprehending the vandals who damaged school property constitutes a proper educational purpose within the meaning of this section and Ky. Const., §§ 180 and 184; the act also falls within the parameters of KRS 160.160 as being necessary in order that the board may accomplish the purposes for which it was created as the resources of each school system are limited, and must be protected. OAG 92-63.

A school board cannot lawfully agree to provide materials paid for with school funds, or provide school funds themselves, whether under an intergovernmental agreement or otherwise, for the construction or maintenance of school bus turnarounds within the meaning of subsection (2) of KRS 178.290. OAG 93-63.

A county board of education can constitutionally pay a privilege fee for connecting to a public sewer system. A privilege fee to fund construction of a sewer system is a "public school purpose" if it bears a rational relationship to the value of the services provided to the public schools. A fee based on usage and acreage meets this standard because it is proportional to the services provided. OAG 2009-01.

§ 187. Race or color not to affect distribution of school fund.

In distributing the school fund no distinction shall be made on account of race or color.

History.

Amendment, proposed by Acts 1996, ch. 98, § 2, ratified November, 1996.

Compiler's Notes.

The General Assembly in 1996 proposed (Acts 1996, ch. 98, § 2) the amendment of this section. The amendment was ratified by the voters at the regular election in November 1996. Prior to the amendment the section read: " § 187. White and colored to share fund without distinction — Separate schools. — In distributing the school fund no distinction shall be made on account of race or color, and separate schools for white and colored children shall be maintained."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Constitutionality.

It was conceded by the state superintendent of public schools that this section was unconstitutional in light of the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of Brown v. Board of Educ., 347 U.S. 483, 74 S. Ct. 686, 98 L. Ed. 873, 53 Ohio Op. 326, 1954 U.S. LEXIS 2094 (U.S. 1954), limited, Nichols v. McGee, 169 F. Supp. 721, 1959 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3871 (D. § 188. Refund of federal direct tax part of school fund — Irredeemable bond.

So much of any moneys as may be received by the Commonwealth from the United States under the recent act of Congress refunding the direct tax shall become a part of the school fund, and be held as provided in Section 184; but the General Assembly may authorize the use, by the Commonwealth, of moneys so received or any part thereof, in which event a bond shall be executed to the Board of Education for the amount so used, which bond shall be held on the same terms and conditions, and subject to the provisions of Section 184, concerning the bond therein referred to.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. District School Funds.

District school funds are separate and distinct from the common school fund of the state which prior to the 1953 amendment of Const., § 186 deleting the per capita clause therefrom, was distributed by the state to the various school districts on a per capita basis under Const., § 186 and this section. *Commonwealth ex rel. 1. Construction.

The constitution and statutes require that there shall be equality and that all public schools shall be nonpartisan and nonsectarian. Wooley v. Spalding, 293 S.W.2d 563, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1956).

A fair reading of Const., §§ 183-189 compels the conclusion that money spent on education is to be spent exclusively in the public school system, except where the question of taxation for an educational purpose has been submitted to the voters and the majority of the votes cast at the election on the question shall be in favor of such taxation. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

The Kentucky Constitution contemplates that public funds shall be expended for public education and the Commonwealth is obliged to furnish every child in this state an education in the public schools, but it is constitutionally proscribed from providing aid to furnish a private education. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

2. Religious Activities Prohibited.

A board of education may be enjoined from distributing sectarian literature in a public school, from expending public school funds for religious or sectarian purposes, from keeping sectarian publications in public school libraries, and from stopping the operation of public school buses on religious holidays, not also legalized as state or national holidays, such activities being in violation of this section and applicable statutes. Wooley v. Spalding, 293 S.W.2d 563, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1956).

3. Prayer in Schools.

A prayer offered at the opening of a public school, imploring the aid and presence of the Heavenly Father, looking forward to a heavenly reunion after death, and concluding in Christ's name, is not sectarian, and does not make the school a sectarian school. Hackett v. Brooksville Graded School Dist., 120 Ky. 608, 87 S.W. 792, 27 Ky. L. Rptr. 1021, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 144 (Ky. 1905).

4. Rental of Church Property.

Rental of school buildings from church by a county school board was not of itself a violation of this section. Rawlings v. Butler, 290 S.W.2d 801, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 345 (Ky. 1956).

5. Private Schools.

The term private schools in KRS 157.305 does not include schools outside the state or schools that give sectarian instruction or have any denominational requirements with respect to their teachers or pupils and this section is not violated thereby. Butler v. United Cerebral Palsy, Inc., 352 S.W.2d 203, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 200 (Ky. 1961).

6. Salary Contributions.

Where members of religious order hired by the state and paid to teach in public schools had taken vow of poverty to religious order and contributed their salaries over living expenses to such order there was no violation of this section although there would be violation if the members were but conduits through which public school funds were channeled to a religious order. Rawlings v. Butler, 290 S.W.2d 801, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 345 (Ky. 1956).

7. Transportation to Private Schools.

Statute providing free transportation to pupils attending private schools violated this section, there being no merit in argument that act provided benefit for children and not for school. Sherrard v. Jefferson County Board of Education, 294 Ky. 469, 171 S.W.2d 963, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 2 (Ky. 1942).

Award of 99 percent of fiscal court's transportation subsidy to educational institutions that promoted religious teachings and beliefs, while equivalent support for the public school optional program was withheld violated Const., § 5 and this section. Fiscal Court v. Brady, 885 S.W.2d 681, 1994 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 1994).

A county fiscal court's resolution which provided approximately 65 percent of the total cost of transporting non-public elementary school students was not unconstitutional where (1) funds were not paid directly to any private or parochial school and were, instead, paid to the individual local board of education operated transportation system of contracted bus and vehicle companies, (2) the benefit provided by the resolution went directly toward the safety and welfare of elementary age school children and not into the accounts of non-public schools, and (3) the resolution did not establish a tuition ceiling as a requisite to eligibility for the transportation subsidy. Neal v. Fiscal Court, 986 S.W.2d 907, 1999 Ky. LEXIS 24 (Ky. 1999).

8. Textbooks for Private Schools.

If the exclusive purpose of KRS 171.215, which provides that the state must supply textbooks to students in nonpublic schools, is to pay the expenses of children in private schools, Const., § 3 has been directly violated; conversely, if the textbooks also aid in the functioning of the private schools themselves, Const., §§ 171, 184, 186 and this section have been violated. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

KRS 171.215, which provides that the department of libraries (now department for libraries and archives) must supply textbooks without cost to pupils attending nonpublic schools, is unconstitutional in that it directs the expenditure of public funds for educational purposes through nonpublic schools. Fannin v. Williams, 655 S.W.2d 480, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 1983).

9. Sectarian Orphanage.

Acceptance of inmates of Baptist Orphans' Home as students in public schools does not violate this section. Crain v. Walker, 222 Ky. 828, 2 S.W.2d 654, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 255 (Ky. 1928).

10. Valid Agreements.

Where a graded school employed two teachers from a denominational college whose services were donated to the school after a fire at the college had reduced its capacity to use these teachers, there was no invalid arrangement which would authorize the county superintendent to withhold funds from the graded school. McDonald v. Parker, 130 Ky. 501, 110 S.W. 810, 33 Ky. L. Rptr. 805, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 231 (Ky. 1908).

11. Invalid Agreements.

Contract between trustees of common school district and sectarian educational institution, whereby latter agreed to teach common school pupils and trustees agreed to keep buildings in repair out of common school funds, violated this section and Const., § 5. Williams v. Board of Trustees, 173 Ky. 708, 191 S.W. 507, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 518 (Ky. 1917) (Ky. 1917).

12. Public funding of religious schools

Pharmacy school appropriation for the university violated Ky. Const. § 189 because it was an allocation of public funds for educational purposes to a church, sectarian, or denominational school, and the university was a Baptist university that had been supported by members and churches of the Baptist faith. Univ. of the Cumberland v. Pennybacker, 308 S.W.3d 668, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 97 (Ky. 2010).

All revenue raised or taxes levied by the Commonwealth may fairly be said to have been collected for state government purposes and one leading purpose is indisputably public education at the primary, secondary and postsecondary levels. Under these circumstances, Ky. Const. § 189 is properly read to prohibit appropriation of any public funds to religious schools. Univ. of the Cumberland v. Pennybacker, 308 S.W.3d 668, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 97 (Ky. 2010).

Ky. Const. § 189 did not offend the First Amendment by prohibiting appropriations of public tax monies to religious schools because there is no speech forum at issue where defendants allege discrimination in the expenditure of public funds for education. Univ. of the Cumberland v. Pennybacker, 308 S.W.3d 668, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 97 (Ky. 2010).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A county board of education was authorized to pay the salaries of teachers at a school within the system even though the buildings of the school were owned by a religious denomination. OAG 60-1217.

Tuition to the Oneida School, a non-public institution, may not be paid by the Perry County board of education. OAG 67-348.

Public school teachers may not, as a part of the duties for which they are compensated by boards of education, be assigned to teach in a private or sectarian school since the effect of such an assignment would be to the primary benefit of the private or sectarian school as opposed to a primary benefit to its students or the common schools and would offend Const., §§ 180 and 184 which restrict school funds to public school purposes, and would offend this section which prohibits the use by sectarian schools of funds levied for educational purposes. OAG 68-423.

For the Commonwealth to grant to a private college the power to exercise eminent domain, from a public-purpose standpoint the private institution of higher learning would have to be one which accords entrance privileges to qualified applicants on an open and equal basis without discrimination as to race, national origin or religious belief. OAG 70-567.

The benefits of eminent domain could be given to certain qualifying private colleges either by providing for the exercise of the right in behalf of a particular qualifying private college through a designated state agency with related over-all responsibilities for higher education or by extending the right to certain specified classes of private colleges and private universities. OAG 70-567.

Funds appropriated by the General Assembly for the school lunch programs may be shared by parochial schools without violating this section. OAG 72-422.

As long as a public school corporation receives fair market value for the services it renders and as long as there is no entanglement of the business operation of the corporation with a parochial school, there is no legal objection to the corporation providing computer service to the parochial school. OAG 73-669.

It would be a violation of the constitution to pay the salary of a parochial schoolteacher from public school district funds. OAG 73-799.

Public school teachers may not, as a part of the duties for which compensated by boards of education, be assigned, to teach in a private or sectarian school. OAG 74-331 (modifying OAG 68-150, and withdrawing OAG 68-585).

This section has no bearing on whether a public school may agree to allow students attending parochial schools to participate on the athletic teams of the public school. OAG 74-650.

A public school may not pay the tuition of a deaf student who attends a catholic school at the parents' election after rejection of the public school's arrangement for the child to be admitted to the Kentucky school for the deaf. OAG 74-660.

Under KRS 168.100, the use of state funds appropriated for educational purpose may be applied by Kentucky Educational Television only for the benefit of public or common schools in order to avoid violation of this section and Const., §§ 171, 184 and 186. Accordingly, KET is required to charge nonstate schools, whether private and nonsectarian or parochial, for services delivered in the process of returning student responses to the KET master computer. OAG 91-71.

Constitutionality, under state constitutional provision forbidding financial aid to religious sects, of public provision of school bus service for private school pupils. 41 A.L.R.3d 344.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section

- 228. Oath of officers and attorneys.
- 237. Federal office incompatible with State office.
- 246. Maximum limit on compensation of public officers.

§ 228. Oath of officers and attorneys.

Members of the General Assembly and all officers, before they enter upon the execution of the duties of their respective offices, and all members of the bar, before they enter upon the practice of their profession, shall take the following oath or affirmation: I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this Commonwealth, and be faithful and true to the Commonwealth of Kentucky so long as I continue a citizen thereof, and that I will faithfully execute, to the best of my ability, the office of according to law; and I do further solemnly swear (or affirm) that since the adoption of the present Constitution, I, being a citizen of this State, have not fought a duel with deadly weapons within this State nor out of it, nor have I sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel with deadly weapons, nor have I acted as second in carrying a challenge, nor aided or assisted any person thus offending, so help me God.

Analysis

- 1. Construction.
- 2. Failure To Take Oath.

1. Construction.

Under this section officers must swear to uphold the Constitution of the United States as well as the Constitution of Kentucky, therefore, any decision of the United States Supreme Court construing the federal Constitution is binding on this court. Wagers v. Sizemore, 222 Ky. 306, 300 S.W. 918, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 941 (Ky. 1927). See Shaw v. Fox, 246 Ky. 342, 55 S.W.2d 11, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 761 (Ky. 1932).

2. Failure To Take Oath.

Fiscal court could not legally approve payments to a deputy jailer where there was no showing that he had qualified as such by taking the oath required by this section and Const., § 232. Taylor v. Todd, 241 Ky. 605, 44 S.W.2d 606, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 148 (Ky. 1931).

Assuming that an oath were required under this section, the failure of precinct officers to take such oath would not invalidate a primary election in that precinct. Sims v. Atwell, 556 S.W.2d 929, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 826 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

Trial court did not err in denying defendants' motion to suppress drug evidence obtained in a search of their home because the warrant was not void when signed by a trial commissioner allegedly not lawfully serving that office. Where the trial commissioner was appointed by a judge who did not reappoint the trial commissioner following his re-election but where the trial commissioner continued uninterrupted in that capacity, he remained a de facto officer with authority to issue search warrants. As such, the warrant and the search performed under the warrant's authority were valid. Gourley v. Commonwealth, 335 S.W.3d 468, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 251 (Ky. Ct. App. 2010).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Where five (5) months after taking office school board members had not yet taken the statutory oath of office the board members forfeited their office for failure to qualify within a reasonable time after their election. OAG 61-485.

Where five (5) months after taking office school board members had not yet taken the statutory oath, the state board of education was required to fill the resulting vacancies pursuant to KRS 160.190. OAG 61-485.

A forest warden is required to take the oath of office set forth in this section, and no other oath is required. OAG 63-323.

A person who is elected county coroner while voluntarily employed overseas by the department of the army as a civilian embalmer and who cannot return at the proper time to take the oath and assume the office, cannot be granted four (4) or five (5) months temporary leave and then return and assume the office because failure to take oath and make bond within the prescribed time would result in the automatic vacation of the office. OAG 69-239.

Under this section a city jailer would be required to take the oath of office. OAG 72-507.

KRS 277.280 requires that railroad policemen must take the oath prescribed by this section and in view of the language "so long as they continue a citizen thereof" in this section, it seems that a railroad policeman must be a citizen of Kentucky. OAG 75-166.

Volunteer firemen who are regular members of a fire department in a volunteer fire department district should be required to take the constitutional oath, and the oath contained in KRS 75.170. OAG 79-622.

Where a full-time student and resident of Kentucky has already been sworn into office as the student body president and assumed student government responsibilities as the student member of a state university board of regents, there is no need for him to take the constitutional oath of office provided for in this section, since subsection (5) of KRS 164.320 only requires that appointed members take the constitutional oath, and student body president is an elective office. OAG 81-172.

As to the residence requirement as relates to a county policeman, it is only necessary that he reside in some Kentucky county, and he does not have to reside in the county of the appointment, but it is necessary that his commuting, if done, will not prevent the proper carrying out of his police duties as scheduled. OAG 80-68.

Since the members of the enterprise zone authority, KRS 154.650 to 154.700, are state officers they must execute the oath of office prescribed by this section. OAG 82-429.

The language of this section clearly requires all public officers, which would include most, if not all, members of the various state boards and commissions, to be citizens of the commonwealth of Kentucky in order for them to qualify to execute the oath required of all public officers before they can enter the duties of their respective offices. OAG 83-103.

This section requires an officer taking the oath of office to be a citizen or resident of Kentucky, and Const., § 234 requires all civil officers of Kentucky to reside in Kentucky; therefore, that provision of KRS 423.110(6) relating to the appointment of a special notary living in a foreign jurisdiction, is unconstitutional. However, under the principle of severability, as expressed in KRS 446.090, KRS 423.110, minus the offending language involving appointing nonresidents, is constitutional; thus the special notary, who lives in Kentucky, may, under KRS 423.110, engage in notarial acts in a foreign jurisdiction, provided that such exercise of function does not violate the public policy of or is not in basic conflict with the law of the foreign jurisdiction; the extraterritorial recognition of KRS 423.110 is only based upon the principles of comity. OAG 85-36.

All notary publics, residents of Kentucky, including those appointed under KRS 423.110, must take the oath mentioned in KRS 423.110 before the county judge/executive of the county in which the notary resides, and must take the oath prescribed in this section before one of the applicable officers mentioned in KRS 62.020. OAG 85-36.

In light of Bernal v. Fainter, 467 U.S. 216, 104 S. Ct. 2312, 81 L. Ed. 2d 175, 1984 U.S. LEXIS 93, (1984), the citizenship requirement of this section is not enforceable as to the office of notary public under the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and Const., § 3; thus, an alien residing in a particular county in Kentucky may qualify as a notary public, provided that he satisfies the requirements of KRS 423.010 and takes the oath before the county judge/executive of his county that "he will honestly and diligently discharge the duties of his office," as required by KRS 423.010. In addition, he must take the oath of officers prescribed in this section, before any applicable officer listed in KRS 62.020, even though he is not a citizen of the United States nor Kentucky; in view of the holding in Bernal v. Fainter, the requirement of citizenship, as it applies to the oath of this section, would be, as a practical matter and in harmony with the cypres doctrine of equity, considered waived. OAG 85-37, modifying OAG 77-297.

The prohibition in KRS 15.740 against a Commonwealth's Attorney's representation of defendants does not apply until the prospective Commonwealth's Attorney has taken the oath of office under this section and § 232 of the Constitution; a prospective appointee has a reasonable time within which to qualify by taking the oath. OAG 85-80.

Since residency should not be considered a requirement to practice as a notary, the provision in this section regarding state citizenship should be deleted from the oath given to a notary; furthermore, the oath may be administered in any county. OAG 88-20.

2. Eligibility.
3. Incompatibility.
4. Military Service.
5. Rural Mail Carrier.
6. Postmaster.

1. Purpose.

The primary purpose of this constitutional provision is to prohibit a separation of allegiance from one sovereign to another, and to prevent a division of loyalty justly due the sovereign to which the officer is in the first instance duty bound. Baker v. Dixon, 295 Ky. 279, 174 S.W.2d 410, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 222 (Ky. 1943).

2. Eligibility.

This section does not require one holding a federal office to be eligible for an office under the Constitution at the time of his election but only at the time he assumes such office. Jones v. Williams, 153 Ky. 822, 156 S.W. 876, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 926 (Ky. 1913).

3. Incompatibility.

There is no incompatibility of office except as prescribed by this section and Const., § 165, or by statutes enacted pursuant thereto, or in cases involving incompatibility of duties in different positions. Coleman v. Hurst, 226 Ky. 501, 11 S.W.2d 133, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1928).

The incompatibilities set out in this section and Const., § 165 are not exclusive, and common-law incompatibility exists when the public functions to be performed are inconsistent the one with the other and when the nature and duties of the two (2) offices are such as to render it improper from consideration of public policy for one incumbent to retain both. Knuckles v. Board of Education, 272 Ky. 431, 114 S.W.2d 511, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 138 (Ky. 1938).

The offices of jailer and special tax collector are not incompatible under this section or Const., § 165 but are incompatible within the spirit and intent of KRS 61.080 which makes the offices of sheriff and jailer incompatible. Nichols v. Land, 288 Ky. 693, 157 S.W.2d 303, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 192 (Ky. 1941).

The test of incompatibility is not to be measured by physical inability to personally discharge the duties of the offices, but it must be tested by the measure of consistency of the duties involved. Baker v. Dixon, 295 Ky. 279, 174 S.W.2d 410, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 222 (Ky. 1943).

4. Military Service.

A captain in the Kentucky National Guard who has been ordered into temporary federal service but will still hold and act under commission issued to him by Governor of Kentucky, and will be required to take no additional oath or make no new enlistment contract or be given no federal commission, does not forfeit his office as circuit clerk, since he does not hold two incompatible offices under this section. Kennedy v. Cook, 285 Ky. 9, 146 S.W.2d 56, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 594 (Ky. 1940), limited, Caudel v. Prewitt, 296 Ky. 848, 178 S.W.2d 22, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 595 (Ky. 1944).

Involuntary induction into the armed forces of the United States in time of emergency does not work a forfeiture of a state office held by inductee. Baker v. Dixon, 295 Ky. 279, 174 S.W.2d 410, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 222 (Ky. 1943).

One who has entered into the military service of the United States in a professional capacity would, under this section, be ineligible to hold or exercise the office of Commonwealth Attorney, but one who is involuntarily inducted is not ineligible. Baker v. Dixon, 295 Ky. 279, 174 S.W.2d 410, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 222 (Ky. 1943).

This section does not apply where a Commonwealth Attorney becomes an officer in the United States army during a time of national emergency. Caudel v. Prewitt, 296 Ky. 848, 178 S.W.2d 22, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 595 (Ky. 1944).

5. Rural Mail Carrier.

Rural mail carrier did not hold office of trust or profit under the United States within the meaning of the Constitution. Lasher v. Commonwealth, 418 S.W.2d 416, 1967 Ky. LEXIS 215 (Ky. 1967).

6. Postmaster.

The trial court properly concluded that the postmaster of a fourth-class post office was not a holder of an office of trust or profit within the meaning of this section, and therefore was eligible to serve as a member of a school board. Commonwealth ex rel. Hancock v. Clark, 506 S.W.2d 503, 1974 Ky. LEXIS 749 (Ky. 1974).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A fourth-class postmaster is a federal officer and a school board member is a state officer, and for one person to hold both offices at the same time is prohibited by this section. OAG 60-813.

While there is no prohibition under the Constitution or statutes against a person holding federal employment and a county office at the same time as there would be if the same person held a federal office and a county office at the same time, the federal hatch act, 5 USCS § 118(i), makes it unlawful for any person employed in the executive branch of the federal government or any agency or department thereof to take an active part in the political management or political campaigns. OAG 61-196.

A mail contractor may not serve as a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives because the two (2) offices are incompatible. OAG 61-291.

The position of substitute rural mail carrier is incompatible with the office of member of a board of education. OAG 61-785.

A person who holds a public office in another state may not at the same time serve as a magistrate in Kentucky. OAG 61-972.

A school board member would be eligible to serve where he resigned his federal office of substitute mail carrier after his election but before he qualified for office and assumed his duties as school board member. OAG 65-157.

The position of rural mail carrier is a form of federal employment rather than a federal office and a person who holds such a position is not disqualified by the provisions of this section from serving on the county board of education. OAG 68-191.

A position on the field staff of a United States senator is a federal employment and not an office of trust or profit under the United States within the meaning of this section and consequently the provisions of this section do not bar a member of the general assembly from holding such a position. OAG 69-67.

This section prohibits a person from serving as a member of a local draft board and as a city councilman at the same time. OAG 69-298.

The position of mail distribution clerk is a federal employment and not an office of trust or profit under the United States within the meaning of this section and consequently the provisions of this section do not bar a postal clerk from the office of city commissioner. OAG 69-410.

An employee of the Blue Grass army activities could, at the same time, serve as a member of the school board without violating this section. OAG 69-438.

The positions of contract rural letter carrier and magistrate are not constitutionally incompatible under this section. OAG 70-33.

Under this section the office of postmaster is incompatible with membership on a county board of education. OAG 70-137.

Since the position of Special Master, an appointive position made by the federal district court whose duties are to hear the evidence in a particular case and file a report with the Circuit Judge who then renders a decision, is neither a federal office nor a judicial office, there is no constitutional objection, either under this section or under Const., § 28, to the position being held by a member of the general assembly. OAG 70-163.

This section does not prohibit a federal employee under civil service from serving at the same time as a county employee. OAG 70-326.

Since the offices of school board member and selective service board member are both offices of trust, they are incompatible under the Constitution and cannot be held by a person at the same time. OAG 70-812.

Where a state representative won a special election to fill a vacancy in the United States congress, a vacancy automatically was created in his district when he was sworn in as a member of congress. OAG 72-3.

A member of the county board of education cannot also hold the position of postmaster. The offices are incompatible under this section. OAG 72-67.

A part-time United States deputy marshal cannot be sworn in as a police officer in a city of the second class. OAG 72-129.

Persons who serve as members of the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission may not also serve in any state, county, city, town, municipal or federal office. OAG 72-354.

There is no prohibition against a federal employee serving as a school board member. OAG 72-665.

Despite changes in the federal postal system, a postmaster of any class of post office is still a federal officer and barred by this section from serving at the same time as a state officer. OAG 72-800.

This section does not bar the manager of a rural electric cooperative organized pursuant to KRS 279.020 to 279.220 from holding elective office, since rural electric cooperatives are Kentucky nonprofit corporations and are not a part of the federal government or of the federal rural electrification administration. OAG 73-412.

A field worker with the federally funded office of economic opportunity could properly serve, at the same time, as a member of a school board, her position with the federal government not amounting to an office of trust or profit under the United States. OAG 73-625.

At least in the case of fourth-class cities, the local postmaster may also serve as a school board member. OAG 75-661.

It would be legal for a person regularly employed by the federal government as a coal mine inspector to be elected and serve at the same time as a member of the school board. OAG 79-491.

This section would prohibit the postmaster of a first class post office in a city from being on the water board, since the postmaster position of a first class office would be an "office of trust", and a water board member is an office of trust under Kentucky law. OAG 80-234.

A member of the General Assembly may also serve as director of a member-owned rural electric cooperative which is a nonprofit corporation created pursuant to KRS chapter 279, since the cooperative is not a state administrative board or commission, and such dual employment therefor does not violate this section or KRS 6.800 which prohibits state legislators from holding any other state office or employment. OAG 81-249.

§ 246. Maximum limit on compensation of public officers.

No public officer or employee except the Governor, shall receive as compensation per annum for official services, exclusive of the compensation of legally authorized deputies and assistants which shall be fixed and provided for by law, but inclusive of allowance for living expenses, if any, as may be fixed and provided for by law, any amount in excess of the following sums: Officers whose jurisdiction or duties are coextensive with the Commonwealth, the mayor of any city of the first class, and Judges and Commissioners of the Court of Appeals, Twelve Thousand Dollars ($12,000); Circuit Judges, Eight Thousand Four Hundred Dollars ($8,400); all other public officers, Seven Thousand Two Hundred Dollars ($7,200). Compensation within the limits of this amendment may be authorized by the General Assembly to be paid, but not retroactively, to public officers in office at the time of its adoption, or who are elected at the election at which this amendment is adopted. 1. Construction.

This section is self-executing and may be enforced by the courts without any legislative authority. Shipp v. Rodes, 196 Ky. 523, 245 S.W. 157, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 565 (Ky. 1922). See Pike County v. Young, 266 Ky. 588, 99 S.W.2d 749, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 713 (Ky. 1936).

This section is clear and unequivocal, and leaves nothing to implication. Louisville v. German, 286 Ky. 477, 150 S.W.2d 931, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 1940).

This section is mandatory and self-executing. Louisville v. German, 286 Ky. 477, 150 S.W.2d 931, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 1940).

Section 3 of the Constitution and this section are harmonious. Talbott v. Thomas, 286 Ky. 786, 151 S.W.2d 1, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 277 (Ky. 1941). See Alvey v. Brigham, 286 Ky. 610, 150 S.W.2d 935, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 1940).

2. Application.

This section applies to compensation for public service, whether rendered in one or more positions. Coleman v. Hurst, 226 Ky. 501, 11 S.W.2d 133, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1928).

Where the Legislature has failed to regulate the salary of a public officer as allowed by Const., § 106, the officer's compensation is $5,000 by operation of this section. Holland v. Fayette County, 240 Ky. 37, 41 S.W.2d 651, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 344 (Ky. 1931).

This limitation applies to the officer and not the office. Louisville v. German, 286 Ky. 477, 150 S.W.2d 931, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 1940).

This section applies to municipal officers. Alvey v. Brigham, 286 Ky. 610, 150 S.W.2d 935, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 1940).

In conflict between this section and Const., § 133 (repealed), governing the salaries of Circuit Judges, this section must prevail. Barker v. Barnes, 248 S.W.2d 901, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 765 (Ky. 1952).

3. Actions.

4. — Equity.

In action by taxpayer to recover sums received by jailer alleged to be in excess of constitutional compensation limit where it was alleged allowance for feeding prisoners was excessive, it was proper to overrule plaintiff's motion to transfer to equity, in the absence of showing of fraud or collusion between jailer and the fiscal court. Taylor v. Broughton, 254 Ky. 265, 71 S.W.2d 635, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 75 (Ky. 1934).

5. — Fiscal Court.

Taxpayer, in suit to recover commissions collected by sheriffs in excess of $5,000, was not entitled to recover against fiscal court for not requiring sheriffs to account under statutes, since petition at best could only be construed as alleging failure to discharge discretionary duties. Shipp v. Bradley, 210 Ky. 51, 275 S.W. 1, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 627 (Ky. 1925). See Shipp v. Rodes, 196 Ky. 523, 245 S.W. 157, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 565 (Ky. 1922).

6. — Limitations.

County's claims against county attorney for moneys collected in excess of constitutional limit are barred by limitations as regards moneys collected more than five years before commencement of action. Jefferson County v. Chilton, 253 Ky. 221, 69 S.W.2d 338, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 636 (Ky. 1934).

7. — Pleadings and Proof.

A taxpayer may sue under this section on his own behalf and on behalf of other taxpayers to recover excess salary paid and need not demand that fiscal court bring such suit where facts justify assumption that fiscal court will not do so. Shipp v. Rodes, 196 Ky. 523, 245 S.W. 157, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 565 (Ky. 1922). See Pike County v. Young, 266 Ky. 588, 99 S.W.2d 749, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 713 (Ky. 1936).

In action against an officer to recover compensation which he received in excess of constitutional limitation, a disclosure of his total compensation may be obtained either by cross-examination or by interrogatories attached to the petition. Boyd County v. Boyd Fiscal Court, 247 Ky. 183, 56 S.W.2d 959, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 368 (Ky. 1933).

Suit against city manager to recover money paid in excess of constitutional limit cannot be maintained by taxpayer without showing demand on public officers to bring suit or circumstances indicating their refusal to do so. Wagner v. Wallingford, 257 Ky. 477, 78 S.W.2d 326, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 39 (Ky. 1935).

Jailer bringing suit to recover claims allowed by fiscal court had burden of proof of showing credits to which he was entitled when fiscal court answered that he already had been paid a certain sum and payment of his claims would exceed constitutional limitation. Bell Fiscal Court v. Helton, 258 Ky. 219, 79 S.W.2d 683, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 806 (Ky. 1935).

Where county court clerk received money from the county fiscal court in a specified year to which she was not entitled and used such to employ additional office help, it was incumbent upon the clerk, in an action brought by a taxpayer to recover such sum, to prove that she had had an excess of fees in an amount which was at least equal to the amount received from the fiscal court for the same specified calendar year and that she had paid this amount to the county in order to be relieved from liability, as the clerk could not use fees received in subsequent years which exceeded the amount required to pay office expenses and clerk's compensation to make up the amount owed to the county. Ader v. Howard, 263 S.W.2d 491, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1152 (Ky. 1953).

8. — Settlements.

Under this section and statutes, taxpayer suing to recover, on behalf of county, sheriffs' commissions for collecting taxes in excess of $5,000 per annum is not required to show that there was a person appointed by fiscal court with whom sheriffs could settle and that they had refused to do so, since clearly they could have settled with the fiscal court. Shipp v. Bradley, 210 Ky. 51, 275 S.W. 1, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 627 (Ky. 1925). See Shipp v. Rodes, 196 Ky. 523, 245 S.W. 157, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 565 (Ky. 1922).

Fiscal court acting in good faith may compromise and settle an action by taxpayer against former sheriff to recover excess collected above constitutional limit in salary and fees. Shipp use of Fayette County v. Rodes, 219 Ky. 349, 293 S.W. 543, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 348 (Ky. 1927).

9. — Taxable Property.

In suit to recover from sheriffs commissions and fees in excess of $5,000, it is unnecessary for plaintiff to file a list of taxable property, since suit only sought to require sheriffs to account for moneys actually collected. Shipp v. Bradley, 210 Ky. 51, 275 S.W. 1, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 627 (Ky. 1925). See Shipp v. Rodes, 196 Ky. 523, 245 S.W. 157, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 565 (Ky. 1922).

10. Amendments to Constitution.

Where proposed amendment to this section provided definite limitations to annual compensation of public officers or employees but words "or employee" did not appear in title of proposal and were not followed through in the text of the proposal, it was not necessary that they be included in the amendment question to be placed on the ballot. Smith v. Hatcher, 311 Ky. 386, 223 S.W.2d 182, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1044 (Ky. 1949).

The 1949 amendment to this section had the effect of suspending Const., §§ 161 and 235 insofar as they affected public officials then in office or elected at the election at which the amendments were adopted; therefore, as the term is the unit to which these sections apply, commissioner elected in 1951 and commissioner elected in 1947 and re-elected in 1951 were not entitled to increase in compensation made possible by 1952 amendment to law that provided for compensation of county commissioners serving on the fiscal court. Shamburger v. Duncan, 253 S.W.2d 388, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 1090 (Ky. 1952).

The 1949 amendment to this section applies to both fee officers and salaried officers. Cheshire v. Frankfort, 272 S.W.2d 37, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1076 (Ky. 1954).

When the 1949 amendment is considered as a whole, the intent becomes clear that the old $5,000 limit should remain in force until the General Assembly should authorize an increase within the new limits, at least with respect to officers in office at the time of adoption of the amendment or who were elected at the election at which the amendment was adopted. Cheshire v. Frankfort, 272 S.W.2d 37, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1076 (Ky. 1954).

Judicial notice was taken of the fact that an adjustment of compensation attaching to public office through an amendment or repeal of this section was an urgent requirement because economic conditions had reduced value of compensation provided for to point that qualified men and women without independent means could not afford to serve. Board of Education v. De Weese, 343 S.W.2d 598, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 116 (Ky. 1960).

11. City Attorneys.

A city attorney is a public officer and subject to this section. Carroll v. Fullerton, 215 Ky. 558, 286 S.W. 847, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 769 (Ky. 1926), overruled, Ward v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 436 S.W.2d 794, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 189 (Ky. 1968).

12. City Finance Officers.

Compensation in excess of $5,000 from the office of both director of finance of the city of Louisville and chief accountant and financial advisor of the city of Louisville municipal housing commission violates this section. Louisville v. German, 286 Ky. 477, 150 S.W.2d 931, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 1940).

13. City Managers.

This section applies to municipal officers. A city manager is a public officer within this section and statutory provision that city manager is not an officer is void; consequently, an ordinance fixing salary in excess of constitutional limit is unenforceable. Lexington v. Thompson, 250 Ky. 96, 61 S.W.2d 1092, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 655 (Ky. 1933).

14. Compensation.

In enacting Acts 1950, ch. 123, providing for compensation of certain public officers, the Legislature intended that both the number and the compensation of deputies should be fixed by the fiscal court before the first Monday in May of the election year, and, if not so fixed, they would be limited by KRS 64.720 to that of the preceding term. Funk v. Milliken, 317 S.W.2d 499, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 100 (Ky. 1958).

While fringe benefits are not salary or compensation within the meaning of those terms as found in Const., §§ 161, 235, and this section if the salary of a particular official were raised through the subterfuge of paying certain benefits for him not uniformly available to similarly situated officials, such benefits would constitute salary or compensation within the terms found in Const., §§ 161, 235, and this section. Caldwell County Fiscal Court v. Paris, 945 S.W.2d 952, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 49 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

The reference in the Constitution to compensation and salary mean the actual salary or fees paid to an officer. Caldwell County Fiscal Court v. Paris, 945 S.W.2d 952, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 49 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

15. — Cost of Living.

Where the law fixing the compensation of a public officer adheres to the limit set forth in the Constitution, an officer is not entitled to receive any more than that amount as a result of the increased cost of living. Meade County v. Neafus, 395 S.W.2d 573, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 149 (Ky. 1965). But see Matthews v. Allen, 360 S.W.2d 135, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1962).

16. — Purchasing Power.

The salary provisions of this section may be interpreted and periodically applied to all constitutional officers in terms which will equate current salaries with the purchasing power of the dollar in 1949 when this section was amended and, in the instance of the judiciary, other factors may also be considered in establishing the adequate compensation directed by Const., §§ 112 and 133 (repealed). Matthews v. Allen, 360 S.W.2d 135, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1962). But see Meade County v. Neafus, 395 S.W.2d 573, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 149 (Ky. 1965).

Where a fiscal court adjusted salaries of magistrates to a fixed $11,772 per annum, such action was not unconstitutional since this section allows salaries to be equated with the purchasing power of the dollar in 1949 and under KRS 64.527 and the "rubber dollar" theory, the current maximum salary would be approximately $18,000 and there was no showing of illegality. Hasty v. Shepherd, 620 S.W.2d 325, 1981 Ky. App. LEXIS 280 (Ky. Ct. App. 1981).

17. — Donations.

Fact that compensation is paid from donations to the city rather than from taxation is immaterial. Louisville v. German, 286 Ky. 477, 150 S.W.2d 931, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 1940).

18. — Excess.

Any compensation received by an officer over and above the limit prescribed herein must be for acts done outside of official duties and with which they have no affinity or connection. Alvey v. Brigham, 286 Ky. 610, 150 S.W.2d 935, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 1940).

19. — Expense Allowances.

There being no specific constitutional or statutory provision to the contrary, the allowance by the Legislature of expenses incurred by public officers in the discharge of their official duties is neither salary, compensation, nor an emolument of their office within the meaning of this section. Manning v. Sims, 308 Ky. 587, 213 S.W.2d 577, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 864 (Ky. 1948).

20. — Fees.

Officer is entitled to apply fees to his compensation for the year fees are paid and not for year in which they are earned. McCracken County v. Thompson's Ex'x, 268 Ky. 253, 104 S.W.2d 968, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 444 (Ky. 1937).

21. — Pensions.

Pensions to officers already paid $5,000 per annum for public or official services are prohibited by this section. Alvey v. Brigham, 286 Ky. 610, 150 S.W.2d 935, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 1940).

22. — Per Annum.

Per annum refers to year of service, not to year of payment. Alvey v. Brigham, 286 Ky. 610, 150 S.W.2d 935, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 1940).

23. — Separate Allowances.

The Legislature may provide for separate allowance of salaries to public officers for specific services but the aggregate allowance must not exceed constitutional limit. Robinson v. Elliott County Fiscal Court, 236 Ky. 63, 32 S.W.2d 554, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 680 (Ky. 1930).

24. — Source.

It is immaterial whether the compensation comes from one or several positions. Louisville v. German, 286 Ky. 477, 150 S.W.2d 931, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 1940).

This section relates to public funds, public moneys or moneys from public sources, whether derived from taxes, rents, fines, contracts or otherwise. Alvey v. Brigham, 286 Ky. 610, 150 S.W.2d 935, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 1940).

25. — Fringe Benefits.

Providing health insurance under a group policy covering county officials and employees does not constitute the payment of compensation or salary within the meaning of those terms as found in Const., §§ 161, 235 and this section. Caldwell County Fiscal Court v. Paris, 945 S.W.2d 952, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 49 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

26. County Attorneys.

The county and not the state is entitled to excess fees paid county attorneys, including commissions on judgments for fines and forfeitures. Commonwealth v. Coleman, 245 Ky. 673, 54 S.W.2d 42, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 662 (Ky. 1932). As to jailers, see Breathitt County v. Cockrell, 250 Ky. 743, 63 S.W.2d 920, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 764 (Ky. 1933).

Both salary and fees must be considered when applying this section and Const., §§ 161 and 235 to county attorneys. Dennis v. Rich, 434 S.W.2d 632, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 237 (Ky. 1968).

27. County Coroners.

County coroner is not entitled to recover statutory fees from city for year in excess of $5,000 maximum compensation, even though excess is to go to the county. Louisville v. Keaney, 267 Ky. 557, 102 S.W.2d 996, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 346 (Ky. 1937).

28. Creditors.

Under this section it is against public policy to subject the salary of a state officer to the claims of his creditors. Dickinson v. Johnson, 110 Ky. 236, 61 S.W. 267, 22 Ky. L. Rptr. 1686, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 78 (Ky. 1901).

29. Employees.

Under this section limitation on salaries of public officers did not apply to salaries of subordinate employees. Pardue v. Miller, 306 Ky. 110, 206 S.W.2d 75, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 953 (Ky. 1947). See Board of Education v. De Weese, 343 S.W.2d 598, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 116 (Ky. 1960).

Officers, as the word is used in this section and in Const., §§ 161 and 235, should be restricted to those officers directly named and designated in the Constitution and should not include employees not so designated. Board of Education v. De Weese, 343 S.W.2d 598, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 116 (Ky. 1960), overruling prior contrary decisions.

30. Employment.

Designation of position as "employment" will not be allowed to circumvent this section. Louisville v. German, 286 Ky. 477, 150 S.W.2d 931, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 1940).

31. Fiscal Courts.

Where a county officer presents an account to the fiscal court and the court believes that the officer has or will by the account, with prior receipts, exceed the constitutional limitation on his compensation, the fiscal court may require of him a full and complete showing of such receipts from all sources and the expenses of his office before allowing the account presented. Boyd County v. Boyd Fiscal Court, 247 Ky. 183, 56 S.W.2d 959, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 368 (Ky. 1933).

Fiscal courts, except of counties having a population of 75,000 or more, may pay sheriffs' $7,200 salaries from county treasury. Harlan v. Sawyers, 290 S.W.2d 488, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 327 (Ky. 1956).

32. House of Representatives.

Chief clerk of House of Representatives is a public officer within this section. Sanders v. Talbott, 255 Ky. 50, 72 S.W.2d 758, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 185 (Ky. 1934).

33. Independent Contractors.

This section does not restrict the compensation paid to independent contractors; attorneys employed by Department of Revenue (now Revenue Cabinet) to collect back taxes under contract and consultant engineer employed by public service commission under contract which left him free of all control by the commission were independent contractors. Talbott v. Public Service Com., 291 Ky. 109, 163 S.W.2d 33, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 174 (Ky. 1942), overruled, Pardue v. Miller, 306 Ky. 110, 206 S.W.2d 75, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 953 (Ky. 1947).

34. Jailers.

Jailer's compensation is limited to $5,000 after deducting all expenses from total receipts of office from every source. Holland v. Fayette County, 240 Ky. 37, 41 S.W.2d 651, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 344 (Ky. 1931).

The jailer of a county must report to the fiscal court all moneys received from any source by virtue of his office, including fees for keeping federal prisoners, and, there being no statutory provision, his accounting should be on an annual, not a four-year basis. Holland v. Fayette County, 240 Ky. 37, 41 S.W.2d 651, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 344 (Ky. 1931).

There being no statutory provision to the contrary, county, not state, is entitled to excess of jailer's fees over salary and expenditures. Holland v. Fayette County, 240 Ky. 37, 41 S.W.2d 651, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 344 (Ky. 1931).

Failure of jailer to account annually to fiscal court, as required by law, does not preclude his filing single accounting for his entire four-year term. Taylor v. Broughton, 254 Ky. 265, 71 S.W.2d 635, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 75 (Ky. 1934).

A jailer's compensation, within the meaning of this section, is the balance of whatever he retains for his own compensation after deducting payment to others for labor and expenses required for the proper performance of the duties and functions of his office. Wilson v. Ball, 323 S.W.2d 840, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 336 (Ky. 1959). See Bell Fiscal Court v. Helton, 258 Ky. 219, 79 S.W.2d 683, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 806 (Ky. 1935); Manning v. Sims, 308 Ky. 587, 213 S.W.2d 577, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 864 (Ky. 1948).

Services performed by county jailer under his contract with the county government as director of detention, namely the fingerprinting and photographing of prisoners, were not a part of his official duties as jailer, and he was not prohibited from entering into a contract with the county government for such nonofficial duties. Buchignani v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, 632 S.W.2d 465, 1982 Ky. App. LEXIS 212 (Ky. Ct. App. 1982).

35. Joint Offices.

Where more than one (1) office is held during the same year by an individual, he is entitled only to the maximum compensation permitted for the highest ranking office. Barker v. Barnes, 248 S.W.2d 901, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 765 (Ky. 1952).

The limit on the compensation of any public officer applies to the person, regardless of the number of offices he may hold. Funk v. Milliken, 317 S.W.2d 499, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 100 (Ky. 1958).

36. Joint Officers.

This section does not prevent two (2) officers who each hold office for part of year from together receiving more than the limitation. Whittenberg v. Louisville, 238 Ky. 117, 36 S.W.2d 853, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 187 (Ky. 1931).

37. Judges.

Judges of the Court of Appeals may by law be given salary raises during their terms of office under Const., §§ 112, 161, 235 and this section. Perkins v. Sims, 350 S.W.2d 715, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 131 (Ky. 1961).

38. Public Office.

To constitute a public office within the meaning of this section, thus subjecting the incumbent to the constitutional salary limitation, the office must comprise the following five indispensable elements: (1) It must be created by the Constitution or by law; (2) it must possess a delegation of a portion of the sovereign power of government to be exercised for the benefit of the public; (3) the powers conferred and the duties to be discharged must be defined, directly or impliedly, by the Legislature, or through legislative authority; (4) the duties must be performed independently and without control of a superior power, other than the law, unless they be those of an inferior or subordinate office, created or authorized by the Legislature, and by it placed under the general control of a superior officer or body; and (5) it must have some permanency and continuity and not be only temporary or occasional. Lexington v. Thompson, 250 Ky. 96, 61 S.W.2d 1092, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 655 (Ky. 1933). See Nichols v. Marks, 308 Ky. 863, 215 S.W.2d 1000, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 1063 (Ky. 1948); Reynolds v.

Board of Education, 311 Ky. 458, 224 S.W.2d 442, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1156 (Ky. 1949).

39. Public Officers.

Where independent initiative is exercised by an officeholder in performing his official duties, he is a public officer subject to the salary limitation of this section, although his functions are subject to general control by some higher authority, such as a board of education. Reynolds v. Board of Education, 311 Ky. 458, 224 S.W.2d 442, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1156 (Ky. 1949).

40. — Additions to Category.

The General Assembly did not exceed its legislative powers by impermissibly interpreting the Kentucky Constitution when it determined that sheriffs, county judges/executive, county clerks, and jailers who operate full service jails had duties coextensive with the Commonwealth and, added them to the category of public officers eligible to be compensated under this section's highest compensation level. Kentucky Sheriffs Ass'n v. Fischer, 986 S.W.2d 444, 1999 Ky. LEXIS 18 (Ky. 1999).

41. Schools.

Principals and supervisors employed by a board of education are employees, not public officers, and are not subject to constitutional salary limitation. Schranz v. Board of Education, 307 Ky. 590, 211 S.W.2d 861, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 801 (Ky. 1948).

School superintendent and assistant school superintendent for business affairs are subject to the constitutional limitation on salaries of public officers. Reynolds v. Board of Education, 311 Ky. 458, 224 S.W.2d 442, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1156 (Ky. 1949). But see Board of Education v. De Weese, 343 S.W.2d 598, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 116 (Ky. 1960).

A superintendent of schools is not an officer within the meaning of Const., §§ 161, 235 or this section, since the office of superintendent is a creature of statute and is not named in the Constitution. Board of Education v. De Weese, 343 S.W.2d 598, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 116 (Ky. 1960). But see Reynolds v. Board of Education, 311 Ky. 458, 224 S.W.2d 442, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1156 (Ky. 1949).

42. Sheriffs.

All amounts collected by sheriffs from whatever source, including tax collection commissions, in excess of $5,000 per annum plus the compensation paid or due sheriffs' deputies are due county and the state has no claim for excess commissions from collection of state revenue. Shipp v. Bradley, 210 Ky. 51, 275 S.W. 1, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 627 (Ky. 1925). See Shipp v. Rodes, 196 Ky. 523, 245 S.W. 157, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 565 (Ky. 1922).

Although sheriffs and their sureties may not be subject to suit for recovery of allowances made to sheriffs by fiscal court, they are chargeable with the aggregate thereof and sheriffs are entitled only to $5,000 in addition to compensation of necessary deputies. Shipp v. Bradley, 210 Ky. 51, 275 S.W. 1, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 627 (Ky. 1925). See Shipp v. Rodes, 196 Ky. 523, 245 S.W. 157, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 565 (Ky. 1922).

In determining if compensation of sheriffs exceeds constitutional limitation of $5,000, commission for collection of state revenues must be considered together with all other fees and commissions. Shipp v. Bradley, 210 Ky. 51, 275 S.W. 1, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 627 (Ky. 1925). See Shipp v. Rodes, 196 Ky. 523, 245 S.W. 157, 1922 Ky. LEXIS 565 (Ky. 1922).

Sheriff may be required by county to account for all moneys received by him as compensation, either for collection of revenues or by way of fees for performance of duties of his office, in excess of $5,000 and a fair compensation to a reasonable number of deputies and assistants in good faith employed in his office. Commonwealth use of Scott County v. Nunnelley, 211 Ky. 409, 277 S.W. 506, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 890 (Ky. 1925).

Since the Commonwealth is not entitled to any excess of the income of a sheriff over the constitutional limit, the state auditor is not entitled to know the total income from a sheriff's office under the authority of this section. Davis v. Walker, 212 Ky. 379, 279 S.W. 654, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 150 (Ky. 1926).

Outgoing sheriff, paid annual salary of $5,000 in one (1) year, was not entitled to compensation for his services in collecting taxes in following year in view of statutory provisions that income of outgoing sheriff arising from commissions for collection of taxes should be treated as part of income for preceding year. Petty v. Talbott, 256 Ky. 688, 76 S.W.2d 940, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 475 (Ky. 1934).

Sheriff paid only by fees out of which come his personal compensation, office expense and deputy hire must account to the fiscal court of the county only for that part of his personal compensation which exceeds the constitutional limit. Weber v. True, 304 Ky. 681, 202 S.W.2d 174, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 704 (Ky. 1947).

43. Statutes.

44. — Administrative Officers.

Law providing that the salary of a public officer shall be fixed by an administrative authority does not violate this section; it is not necessary for the Legislature to fix the amount of the salary of every public officer. Johnson v. Commonwealth, 291 Ky. 829, 165 S.W.2d 820, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 329 (Ky. 1942).

45. — Commonwealth Attorneys.

The maximum salary of $26,000 for Commonwealth Attorneys as set by KRS 64.510(2) (repealed) does not violate this section as some duties of such attorneys, pursuant to KRS 69.013, are coextensive with the Commonwealth and they are thus entitled to the $12,000 maximum of this section adjusted to reflect the change in purchasing power of the dollar since 1949 when this section was passed. Commonwealth ex rel. Hancock v. Davis, 521 S.W.2d 823, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 162 (Ky. 1975).

46. — Constables and Justices.

Law limiting constables and justices in certain counties to salaries less than $5,000 is constitutional, since the Constitution allows similar officers in other counties to receive salary of $5,000. Shaw v. Fox, 246 Ky. 342, 55 S.W.2d 11, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 761 (Ky. 1932).

47. — Fee Officers.

Action of a city council approving a fee officer's monthly settlements during calendar year, as a cumulative result of which he was able to retain more than $5,000 for the year, did not constitute specific action by the council increasing his compensation. Cheshire v. Frankfort, 272 S.W.2d 37, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1076 (Ky. 1954).

48. — Jailers.

To permit the jailers, under a law fixing their salary at not to exceed 75 per cent of the fees collected by them respectively and paid into the treasury, to appropriate in such case all the fees and compensation received for services rendered would evade this section of Constitution. Stone v. Pflanz, 99 Ky. 647, 36 S.W. 1128, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 489, 1896 Ky. LEXIS 123 (Ky. 1896). See Winston v. Stone, 102 Ky. 423, 43 S.W. 397, 19 Ky. L. Rptr. 1483, 1897 Ky. LEXIS 95 (Ky. 1897), overruled, Vaughn v. Knopf, 895 S.W.2d 566, 1995 Ky. LEXIS 49 (Ky. 1995).

49. — Judges.

Law providing that a stipend of $5,000 per annum be paid Court of Appeals justices after their retirement was unconstitutional under this section and Const., § 3. Talbott v. Thomas, 286 Ky. 786, 151 S.W.2d 1, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 277 (Ky. 1941).

KRS 64.500 (repealed) applied only to regular judges and not to special judges whose compensation was provided for and limited by KRS 23.290 (repealed), and county fiscal court could not legally pay out of the county treasury additional compensation to a special judge appointed to serve during illness of regular judge of the Circuit Court. Duncan v. Jefferson County Fiscal Court, 262 S.W.2d 674, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1113 (Ky. 1953).

KRS 26.650 to 26.665 (repealed) are not unconstitutional under this section, since the highest amount that can be paid a police judge is $4,800 and, when amount of pension of $2,400 provided by law is added to it, judge's entire compensation does not exceed $7,200. Maybury v. Coyne, 312 S.W.2d 455, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 225 (Ky. 1958).

Former law regarding expenses of Circuit Judges was broadly enough entitled to cover provision authorizing counties to compensate Circuit Judges annually for official expenses, and payments thereunder by a fiscal court did not violate this or other sections of the Constitution. Tierney v. Van Arsdale, 332 S.W.2d 546, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 158 (Ky. 1960).

50. — Schools.

Presumption obtained that Legislature fixed Superintendent of Public Instruction's salary at $4,000 with no intention to leave in effect a provision of law for payment of an additional $1,500 for performance of duties of special inspector and examiner of schools, in view of this section. Bell v. Talbott, 252 Ky. 721, 68 S.W.2d 36, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 848 (Ky. 1934).

51. Universities.

The limitations of this section do not apply to a professor of the University of Kentucky. Pardue v. Miller, 306 Ky. 110, 206 S.W.2d 75, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 953 (Ky. 1947).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The hospital administrator of the Allen County War Memorial Hospital is a county officer or employee, since he administers the affairs of the county-owned hospital. In either case this section limits the salary he may be paid. OAG 60-134.

The Governor is privileged, without reference to this section, to raise the salary of the commissioner of mental health to any amount which, in his opinion, is reasonably commensurate with the services rendered. OAG 61-594.

There is no limitation on the maximum compensation that a city may allow its city manager, regardless of whether he be classified as an officer or as an employee. OAG 61-1061.

Fees collected from independent school district, drainage board and other municipalities within counties are to be included with other official fees in fixing the limitation on salary of sheriff. OAG 62-56.

A county hospital administrator may receive an annual salary in excess of $7,200. OAG 62-258.

KRS 69.265 (repealed) was constitutional, since it dealt only with payment of expenses and did not constitute a change of salary during term or an increase of compensation to a point above the $7,200 maximum. OAG 63-34.

Increased compensation on the dollar-equation formula does not apply to public officers other than Circuit Judges. OAG 64-62.

The increase in compensation authorized by Acts 1964, ch. 109, for those constitutional officers designated in KRS 64.345 above the constitutional maximum is valid and constitutional. OAG 64-540.

The increase in compensation authorized by Acts 1964, ch. 109, for those constitutional officers designated in KRS 64.345 could not be granted during the officers' present terms without violating Const., § 161. OAG 64-540.

Pursuant to Acts 1964, ch. 109, deputies, assistants and other employees of the county are no longer limited insofar as compensation is concerned or any change therein during their tenure except when so restricted by law. OAG 64-554.

KRS 64.720 specifically authorizes a fiscal court to pay the constable a salary out of the county treasury not to exceed $7,200 pursuant to this section. OAG 65-71.

The county attorney's maximum income cannot rise above $7,200 in the absence of implementing legislative action. OAG 65-542, 65-618.

Under KRS 64.535, the Circuit Court clerks and county court clerks of the Commonwealth are entitled to a maximum compensation of up to $9,600 beginning with the year 1964, conditioned upon the availability of fees of those offices for that purpose. OAG 65-543.

Where a sheriff resigned one (1) month before the end of his term and a new sheriff was appointed to fill out the term, the new sheriff was entitled to retain the excess fees collected in that month not to exceed $9,600. OAG 66-170.

The fiscal court, in its sound discretion, can establish the compensation or salary of the trial commissioner, and such discretion is not subject to the constitutional limitations of this section because a trial commissioner is not an officer. OAG 67-356.

A city which has the home rule statutes has the authority to increase the compensation of elective officers during their term under the "rubber dollar" theory. OAG 68-572.

A deputy county court clerk can be paid by the county for work performed in connection with the sheriff's and treasurer's settlements if properly authorized by the fiscal court, although such compensation is in addition to the salary for duties performed in the county court clerk's office, and monetary restrictions of this section would not apply to the deputy, since a deputy county court clerk is not designated as such in the Constitution. OAG 70-65.

The fiscal court could implement a salary adjustment in the salary of the county judge subject to the maximum compensation of KRS 64.535 but it could not be retroactive. OAG 70-592.

A county clerk, in making his annual settlements with the county, must include in his income, as part of the receipts of his office, the salary paid to him for serving as clerk of the juvenile session of the county court which is a public and official service. OAG 71-147.

Where the clerk of the county court is being paid an additional salary as clerk of the juvenile court, that compensation must be added to all other compensation received for his public service in arriving at his maximum compensation under this section. OAG 71-147.

This section does not apply to county clerk deputies since they are not named in the Constitution. OAG 72-540.

This section would prohibit the secretary of state from receiving compensation for his membership on the state board of elections. OAG 72-639.

The salary limitations of this section do not apply to the office of city prosecutor. OAG 72-750.

Local legislative action to allow compensation in excess of the limit provided for local officers in this section must be preceded by an act of the General Assembly allowing such compensation above the constitutional limit but within the "rubber dollar" principle (OAG 72-680 modified to the extent of conflict). OAG 72-818.

As the office of mayor is a constitutional office under the provisions of § 160, the salary of such constitutional officers is fixed by this section at a maximum of $7,200 per annum and could only be changed by action of the Legislature. OAG 73-52.

Where the present county clerk plans to resign before November 1, 1973, and a deputy clerk will be appointed to serve out the remainder of the clerk's term ending the first Monday in January, 1974, the present clerk can retain the $12,600 he has earned which is the statutory limit and the successor clerk can retain all salary and fees earned during November and December 1973, not to exceed the statutory limit, as the compensation limitation of this section applies to the officer and not to the office so that successive holders of the same office during a single year are each held only to the salary and fees earned while they are in office, subject to the maximum. OAG 73-742.

The rubber dollar principle surmounts the constitutional inhibitions of this section, establishing a compensation level of $7,200 per year, as well as of Const., §§ 161 and 235, prohibiting a change in a constitutional officer's compensation during his term, where an adjustment is made by an express act of the General Assembly. OAG 74-314.

The fiscal court may in its discretion increase or decrease the salaries payable out of county funds of all the officers named in KRS 64.535, except justices of the peace or commissioners serving on the fiscal courts, as certified by the Kentucky Department of Commerce prior to the second Friday in February of each year, which increase or decrease is to be based on changes in the consumer price index for 1949. OAG 74-322.

Reimbursement of a county judge, by the county on order of the fiscal court, for life, health and accident insurance premiums paid by him for himself would be reimbursement of official expenses in the public interest and would not have to be calculated within the maximum authorized by KRS 64.535 as a permissible adjustment of the $7,200 per year level provided in this section. OAG 74-347.

There is no statutory or constitutional limit in the amount of compensation that a city prosecuting attorney can receive as he is not a constitutional officer. OAG 75-29.

In determining the maximum salary of the officers named in KRS 64.527, the Department of Commerce (now Commerce Cabinet) must equate the current consumer price index and the current salary ceilings with the value of the dollar as it existed in March, 1949 when this section was adopted. OAG 75-79.

Where a circuit clerk also is master commissioner his maximum salary from the fees of both offices is limited to the maximum salary allowed circuit clerks. OAG 75-626.

The "rubber dollar" theory would not be applicable to a city utility commission whose members are not constitutionally named officers. OAG 76-44.

Since members of a city water and sewer commission are appointed and not elected officers, there would be no legal objection to the city council increasing the compensation of the utility board members by amending the ordinance which established the commission. OAG 76-44.

The maximum compensation of circuit clerks is established by the Constitution and may not be exceeded regardless of the number of sources of public compensation. OAG 76-169.

Although the legislative intent was to include the justices of the peace under the general annual maximum compensation formula which computes a salary level by applying the change in the consumer price index to the 1949 base of $7,200, the fiscal courts, in voting on salaries for justices of the peace, should consider the justices' work schedules. OAG 76-220.

Where the fiscal court had not exhausted its salary fixing authority, the fiscal court, in its sound discretion, could enter an order adjusting the salary of an incumbent county judge upward to the maximum compensation provided for in this section. OAG 76-228.

The salaries of justices of the peace and other constitutional officers mentioned in KRS 64.527 can be raised during their term of office, since the salaries are merely being adjusted in purchasing power. OAG 76-252.

Until the Legislature acts to raise the compensation of the office of mayor of a fourth class city, the maximum salary for that office would be $7,200. OAG 76-320.

If the Legislature enacts legislation giving the circuit clerks duties coextensive with the Commonwealth, that would qualify the circuit clerks under the $12,000 monetary level. OAG 76-523.

The compensation limits set forth in this section of the Constitution are based on the purchasing power of the 1949 dollar and are therefore adjustable to its fluctuations, but a court could set aside such salaries if the evidence in a taxpayers' suit would show that the time spent by the magistrates on county business is such that payment of such salaries would be arbitrary under § 2 of the Constitution. OAG 78-426.

Under the rubber dollar theory the fiscal court at any time, in implementing KRS 64.527, can adjust the salaries of the justices of the peace upward, subject to the maximum rubber dollar amount payable. OAG 78-426.

This section of the Constitution and KRS 64.640 have no application to personal service contracts, and KRS 18.140 (now KRS 18A.115), as amended in 1978, expressly exempts persons employed in a professional or scientific capacity from the classified service. OAG 78-692.

To get constitutional officer's compensation in proper perspective, one must consider two (2) levels of compensation restriction: (1) the overall constitutional maximum based upon the adjustment of the dollar in terms of change in the consumer price index formula enunciated by the appellate court as applied to the monetary base levels set out in this section of the Constitution; and (2) the statutory maximum compensation which, of course, must not exceed the constitutional maximum. OAG 78-840.

For purposes of audit, under KRS 43.070, and for the purpose of determining the sheriff's aggregate rubber dollar income under this section, payments made by the Army Corps of Engineers to county sheriffs under contracts to provide law enforcement to designated civil works water resource projects are to financially assist the sheriffs to step up law enforcement activities in such projects during peak visitation periods, are impressed with a public fee character, accrue to the office, and count toward the aggregate rubber dollar limit for that year. OAG 79-454.

A $5.00 fee for accepting bail bonds after normal office hours does not belong to the jailer, personally, but must be included in the fees of his office. OAG 80-9.

For 1980, the maximum compensation permissible for constitutional officers who are in the $7,200 limit category under this section would be $23,184. OAG 80-74.

In terms of an advancing consumer price index, the year 1949 must necessarily be used as the base year in applying the salary adjustment formula for constitutional officers. OAG 80-74.

The $7,200 category applies to the county judge/executives, county clerks, sheriffs, justices of the peace, county commissioners, coroners, and jailers. OAG 80-74.

The $12,000 category mentioned in this section applies to the Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Commissioner of Agriculture, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Auditor of Public Accounts, and Clerk of the Supreme Court and to Commonwealth's Attorneys and County Attorneys. OAG 80-74.

Following the 1980 adjustment, the maximum compensation permissible for constitutional officers who are in the $12,000 limit category mentioned in this section would be $38,640. OAG 80-74.

Since the compensation for mayors of cities of the third class has not been legislated upon by the General Assembly, the incumbent is not entitled to a cost of living raise during his term and the maximum compensation that he can receive is $7,200. OAG 80-79.

Where a county jailer is also acting as a police dispatcher for the county sheriff's office, for which latter work he receives $2,500 per year, that amount for dispatcher is to be applied to his statutory limitation of $23,184 for 1980, since the rubber dollar maximum applies annually to the same person for "public services," whether such services are rendered in one position or more than one. OAG 80-269.

Where a fiscal court fixed the salary of the county attorney at $150 per month, commencing January 1, 1978, and after he took office in January, 1978, the fiscal court entered an order raising his salary to $600 per month thereby increasing his annual salary from $1,800 per year to $7,200 per year, there was no prohibited change in his compensation, as is prohibited by Const., § 161, since his compensation was merely adjusted to reflect the change in purchasing power of the dollar as reflected in the consumer price index. OAG 80-424.

A jailer who was receiving the maximum annual salary rate could not contract out services to the local government for payment since, if he was getting additional money from urban county government as compensation for any statutory duties, such extra money would violate this section and KRS 64.527, and the extra money was recoverable to the public treasury. OAG 80-525.

The constitutional restriction on salaries of officers relates strictly to public funds or public moneys. OAG 80-525.

The $7,200 monetary level of this section applies to county judges/executive, county clerks, sheriffs, justices of the peace, county commissioners, coroners and jailers, pursuant to KRS 64.527; the implementation of the indexed principle will depend upon the fiscal court setting salaries payable out of the county treasury and operation of the fee system for fee officers and, thus, the fee officer can apply fees earned by himself or herself, without any action on the part of fiscal court, up to the maximum payable for the particular year under the indexed system. OAG 82-80; 83-38; 84-54.

A county attorney's compensation as prosecutor and as civil attorney for the county must be added together to apply the rule of constitutional limitation of salary in this section. OAG 82-159.

While the maximum salary, as set forth in this section and indexed under the consumer price index concept, must apply to the same person for public services, regardless of whether such services are rendered in one position or more than one, the circuit clerk can accept a salary as law librarian, provided that the regular clerk's salary and the library salary in the aggregate do not exceed the rubber dollar maximum for the particular year. OAG 82-177.

Any "salary" paid to a jailer under KRS 67.130 in 1979 and 1980 must be considered in the total "statutory" compensation permitted the jailer for those years under the rubber dollar compensation. OAG 82-333.

Where a jailer was paid a salary for janitorial work in the courthouse, the "salary" would be an unconstitutional addition to his regular jailer's compensation, provided that regular jailer compensation was at the maximum rubber dollar amount permitted by KRS 64.527 and this section. OAG 82-333.

The rubber dollar cases reflect the constitutional principle that the dollar, as relates to constitutional officer compensation as outlined by maximum level in this section, is subject to purchasing power adjustment in terms of the evolving Consumer Price Index. The cases also make it clear that the actual application of the rubber dollar concept requires specific statutory implementation by the General Assembly. OAG 82-348.

Where magistrates' salaries on the first Monday in May in 1981 (election year) were set at $10,000 per magistrate, the fiscal court could authorize a salary to each magistrate, not to exceed $28,387 for the calendar year of 1982. However, since the magistrates on fiscal court have no executive duties, they should only be paid in terms of the work week they put in for the county. OAG 82-348.

The compensation which the county attorney could receive for performing his or her prosecutorial function in 1988 was $34,861. OAG 88-10.

The Governor's salary for 1988 was $68,364. OAG 88-10.

The maximum annual compensation for the Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Commissioner of Agriculture, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Auditor of Public Accounts and Clerk of the Supreme Court of this Commonwealth was $58,101. OAG 88-10.

The maximum annual compensation possible for the county attorney for 1988 was $58,101. OAG 88-10.

The maximum annual compensation possible for county judge/executives, justices of the peace, county commissioners, county clerks, sheriffs, jailers and coroners, mayors (except in cities of the first class), and city legislative body members in 1988 was $34,861. OAG 88-10.

The maximum annual compensation possible for full-time and part-time Commonwealth's Attorneys for 1988 was $58,101. OAG 88-10.

The maximum annual compensation possible for the mayor in a first class city in 1988 was $58,101. OAG 88-10.

If a city's legislative body chooses to make "rubber dollar" adjustments, it may do so at any time following publication of that year's "rubber dollar" changes. OAG 90-2.

The members of the Board of Aldermen for the City of Louisville may adjust their salaries by any percentage up to the maximum as calculated for that particular year. OAG 90-2.

Computations of the maximum annual compensation of state, county, and city constitutional officers are required to be annually computed by the second Friday in February using the "rubber dollar" theory adopted by the court in Matthews v. Allen, 360 S.W.2d 135, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1962) and Commonwealth v. Hesch, 395 S.W.2d 362, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 141 (Ky. 1965). OAG 90-17.

In relation to the compensation of a County Attorney for his or her prosecutorial duties current compensation for such duties is to be computed based upon the $7200 maximum established by this section resulting in maximum allowable compensation for prosecutorial duties in 1991 of $40,427. OAG 91-29.

In relation to the state prosecutorial duties of the County Attorney under KRS 15.725(2), such officer is to be compensated as provided in KRS 15.765, under a CPI formula using 1949 as the base year, in accordance with this section which provides for compensation of not more than $12,000 per annum and the Department of Local Government accurately computed the maximum annual compensation for the County Attorney as $67,378. OAG 91-29.

Where the Department of Local Government's computations in adjusting salaries of constitutional officers in relation to changes in the Consumer Price Index were based upon the court-established formula application of this section which sets forth maximum compensation levels for state and local governmental constitutional officers, the computations were accurate. OAG 91-29.

Because they are for services beyond the official services required of a county attorney, payments to county attorneys or their employees, from funds of Title IV-D of the United States Social Security Act, as reimbursement for salary costs pursuant to federal law, are not subject to this section. OAG 92-161.

Payments authorized under specific federal legislation, on a reimbursement basis, for salary costs of local officials associated with specific compliance with a contract with a state agency consistent with federal law, are payments for other than official services, and thus are not limited by this section. OAG 92-161.

For an opinion verifying the accuracy of computations to be used in adjusting salaries of constitutional officers in relation to changes in the Consumer Price Index, see OAG 93-21.

For the adjustments to salaries of constitutional officers in relation to changes in the Consumer Price Index salary adjustment computations and therefore, the maximum annual compensation allowable by law for such positions in 1994 see OAG 94-7.

While the Governor may issue executive orders pursuant to the powers granted in Const., §§ 76 to 81 or specifically delegated by the General Assembly, no known grant of power to the Governor authorizes him to declare public policy in contravention of policy established by the General Assembly; therefore, since KRS 64.527 makes a plain expression of public policy declaring that county clerks are subject to salary maximum applicable to "all other public officers" rather than the salary maximum applicable to "officers whose jurisdiction or duties are coextensive with the Commonwealth", executive order that declared that county clerks are officials whose duties are coextensive with the Commonwealth for the purposes of constitutional salary computations was of no effect. OAG 96-32.

1. Service of Summons and Other Papers.
2. Time for Perfecting Appeal.
3. Deposition.
4. Business Transactions.
5. Qualification of School Trustees.

1. Service of Summons and Other Papers.

Service of a summons, subpoena, notice, order of arrest, or injunction on July 4 is valid when the officer believes, or the affidavit of the plaintiff or some other person is made to the effect that affiant believes, that service cannot be made after that holiday. Paul v. Bruce & Co., 72 Ky. 317, 1872 Ky. LEXIS 53 (Ky. 1872).

2. Time for Perfecting Appeal.

If the last of the three (3) days allowed for an appeal to the Circuit Court falls on Columbus Day, the appeal period is extended for one day, and the appeal may be filed on the third juridical day, even though it is not the third calendar day. Black v. National Bank of Kentucky, 226 Ky. 152, 10 S.W.2d 629, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 45 (Ky. 1928).

If the last of the ten (10) days allowed for an appeal to the Court of Appeals in a primary election recount proceedings falls on Labor Day, the appeal period is not extended, and appeal may not be filed the following day. Hudnall v. Fleenor, 300 Ky. 497, 189 S.W.2d 724, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 585 (Ky. 1945).

Employee's petition seeking review of the denial of his application for disability retirement was properly denied as untimely because, pursuant to KRS 13B.140(1), the time period for filing the petition was 30 days, and, contrary to the employee's claim, Columbus Day, the final day of the period, was not a legal holiday for time computation purposes. Wilkins v. Ky. Ret. Sys. Bd. of Trs., 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 366 (Ky. Ct. App. Oct. 5, 2007), rev'd, 276 S.W.3d 812, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 13 (Ky. 2009).

A retiree's appeal was not untimely on the ground that although the deadline for filing the appeal fell on a legal holiday under KRS 2.110(1), the Circuit Court remained open on that day; the retiree was entitled to the extra day to file since Columbus Day was a legal holiday pursuant to KRS 2.110, and the word "may" in KRS 2.110(1) referred to and allowed, but did not mandate, all public offices to be closed on the listed holidays; the decision whether to close its offices on the holidays listed in KRS 2.110(1) was up to the Court of Justice, like any other public office, but its decision did not affect the day's status as a legal holiday. Wilkins v. Ky. Ret. Sys. Bd. of Trs., 276 S.W.3d 812, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 13 (Ky. 2009).

3. Deposition.

A deposition taken on Lincoln's Birthday is admissible in evidence, if both parties had an opportunity to participate in the taking of the deposition. Field v. Collins, 263 Ky. 474, 92 S.W.2d 793, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 207 (Ky. 1936).

4. Business Transactions.

Business transactions on Thanksgiving Day, not otherwise unlawful, are valid; except as to commercial paper, it is not to be treated as the Sabbath. National Mut. Ben. Ass'n v. Miller, 85 Ky. 88, 2 S.W. 900, 8 Ky. L. Rptr. 731, 1887 Ky. LEXIS 25 (Ky. 1887).

5. Qualification of School Trustees.

Where statute required school trustees to meet and qualify on first Monday in January after their election, qualification by trustees on Tuesday, January 2, because Monday, January 1, was holiday, was sufficient compliance. Jewett v. Matteson, 148 Ky. 820, 147 S.W. 924, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 551 (Ky. 1912).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

When the 31st of December falls on Sunday and the following day on which county officers are to take office for the ensuing term is a legal holiday, the county officers may be sworn in and execute bond when required on or before the first Monday in January, a legal holiday. OAG 61-886.

Where a city ordinance stated that the city's first occupational license tax year began September 1, 1968, it actually began on September 3, 1968, since September 1 fell on a Sunday and September 2 was Labor Day, a legal holiday. OAG 69-263.

A bank that has elected under KRS 287.195 (now repealed) to close on a day other than Saturday each week may, under KRS 287.197 (now repealed), if it remains open on February 12th (Lincoln's Birthday), close on its normal closing day, but these sections do not apply to a six-day workweek bank and, in accordance with subsection (2) of this section, in order to protect the legitimacy of its transactions as to officers and employes, if it remains open on February 12th, must close on the Saturday following February 12th. OAG 73-141.

Where the Governor created two holidays applicable to public offices as well as banks and trust companies, on December 24 and December 31, pursuant to his authority under subsection (1) of this section, he could not make the holidays optional under subsection (2) because the two subsections are mutually exclusive as applied to banks and trust companies. OFFICE OF EDUCATION ACCOUNTABILITY

7.410. Office of Education Accountability — Deputy director of LRC to administer — Duties of office — Relations with other entities — Annual research agenda — Confidentiality of testimony, work products, and records.

(1) It is the intent of the General Assembly to provide an efficient system of common schools which shall be operated without waste, duplication, mismanagement, and political influence. The system of schools shall have the goal of providing all students with at least the seven (7) capacities referred to in KRS 158.645.

(2)(a) An Office of Education Accountability is hereby created and shall be under the direction of the Legislative Research Commission and shall be advised and monitored by the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee.

(b) The Office of Education Accountability shall be administered by a deputy director appointed by the Legislative Research Commission upon recommendation of the director of the Legislative Research Commission. The deputy director shall have the qualifications set by the Commission. The salary of the deputy director shall be set by the Commission. The Commission shall have exclusive jurisdiction over the employment of personnel necessary to carry out the provisions of this section. The deputy director shall be subject to the direction of and report to the director of the Legislative Research Commission.

(c) The Office of Education Accountability shall have the following duties and responsibilities:

1. Monitor the elementary and secondary public education system, including actions taken and reports issued by the Kentucky Board of Education, the Education Professional Standards Board, the commissioner of education, the Department of Education, and local school districts. Upon and under the direction of the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee, the monitoring of the elementary and secondary public education system shall also include periodic reviews of local district and school-based decision making policies relating to the recruitment, interviewing, selection, evaluation, termination, or promotion of personnel. The office shall report any district or school when evidence demonstrates a pattern of exclusionary personnel practices relating to race or sex to the Kentucky Department of Education, which shall then independently investigate facts raised in or associated with the report. The results of the investigation conducted by the department shall be forwarded to the Kentucky Board of Education which shall conduct an investigative hearing on the matter.

2. Upon and under the direction of the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee, review the elementary and secondary public education finance system. The review shall include an analysis of the level of equity achieved by the funding system and whether adequate funds are available to all school districts and an analysis of the weights of various education program components developed by the Department of Education. The review may also include recommendations for the base per pupil funding for the Support Education Excellence in Kentucky Program and a statewide salary schedule, and studies of other finance issues identified by the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee.

3. Upon and under the direction of the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee, verify the accuracy of reports of school, district, and state performance by conducting, requesting, or upon approval of the Legislative Research Commission, contracting for periodic program and fiscal audits. Upon and under the direction of the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee, the Office of Education Accountability shall monitor and verify the accuracy of reports of the Department of Education and the Kentucky Board of Education, including but not limited to the annual fiscal conditions of grants, categorical programs, and other educational initiatives set forth by the General Assembly.

4. Investigate allegations of wrongdoing of any person or agency, including but not limited to waste, duplication, mismanagement, political influence, and illegal activity at the state, regional, or school district level; make appropriate referrals to other agencies with jurisdiction over those allegations; and make recommendations for legislative action to the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee. Upon acceptance by the subcommittee, recommendations for legislative action shall be forwarded to the Legislative Research Commission. The Office of Education Accountability shall submit to the subcommittee, for each of its regular meetings, a report that summarizes investigative activity initiated pursuant to this subparagraph. The subcommittee may consider each report as it determines and in its discretion. Each report, and the consideration thereof by the subcommittee, shall be exempt from the open records and open meetings requirements contained in KRS Chapter 61.

5. Upon and under the direction of the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee, conduct studies, analyze, verify, and validate the state assessment program through other external indicators of academic progress including but not limited to American College Test scores, Scholastic Assessment Test scores, National Assessment of Educational Progress scores, Preliminary Scholastic Assessment Test scores, Advanced Placement Program participation, standardized test scores, college remediation rates, retention and attendance rates, dropout rates, and additional available data on the efficiency of the system of schools and whether progress is being made toward attaining the goal of providing students with the seven (7) capacities as required by KRS 158.645.

6. Make periodic reports to the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee as directed by the subcommittee. Upon acceptance by the subcommittee, the reports shall be forwarded to the Legislative Research Commission.

7. Make periodic reports to the Legislative Research Commission as may be directed by the Commission.

8. Prepare an annual report, which shall consist of a summary of the status and results of the current year annual research agenda provided in paragraph (d) of this subsection, a summary of completed investigative activity conducted pursuant to subparagraph 4. of this paragraph, and other items of significance as determined by the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee. The annual report shall be submitted to the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee. Upon acceptance by the subcommittee, the annual report shall be submitted to the Governor, the Legislative Research Commission, and the Kentucky Board of Education.

(d) On or before December 1 of each calendar year, the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee shall adopt the annual research agenda for the Office of Education Accountability. The annual research agenda may include studies, research, and investigations considered to be significant by the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee. Staff of the Office of Education Accountability shall prepare a suggested list of study and research topics related to elementary and secondary public education for consideration by the Education Assessment and Accountability Review Subcommittee in the development of the annual research agenda. An adopted annual research agenda shall be amended to include any studies mandated by the next succeeding General Assembly for completion by the Office of Education Accountability.

(e) The Office of Education Accountability shall have access to all public records and information on oath as provided in KRS 7.110. The office shall also have access to otherwise confidential records, meetings, and hearings regarding local school district personnel matters. However, the office shall not disclose any information contained in or derived from the records, meetings, and hearings that would enable the discovery of the specific identification of any individual who is the focus or subject of the personnel matter.

(f) In compliance with KRS 48.800, 48.950, and 48.955, the Finance and Administration Cabinet and the Governor's Office for Policy and Management shall provide to the Office of Education Accountability access to all information and records, other than preliminary work papers, relating to allotment of funds, whether by usual allotment or by other means, to the Department of Education, local school districts, and to other recipients of funds for educational purposes.

(g) Any state agency receiving a complaint or information which, if accurate, may identify a violation of the Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990, 1990 Ky. Acts ch. 476, shall notify the office of the complaint or information.

(h) The Office of Education Accountability may contract for services as approved by the Legislative Research Commission pursuant to KRS 7.090(8).

(3) The provisions of KRS 61.878 or any other statute, including Acts of the 1992 Regular Session of the General Assembly to the contrary notwithstanding, the testimony of investigators, work products, and records of the Office of Education Accountability relating to duties and responsibilities under subsection (2) of this section shall be privileged and confidential during the course of an ongoing investigation or until authorized, released, or otherwise made public by the Office of Education Accountability and shall not be subject to discovery, disclosure, or production upon the order or subpoena of a court or other agency with subpoena power.

History.

Enact. Acts 1990, ch. 476, Pt. II, § 92, effective July 13, 1990; 1990, ch. 518, § 10, effective July 13, 1990; 1992, ch. 270, § 1, effective April 7, 1992; 1994, ch. 296, § 1, effective July 15, 1994; 1996, ch. 362, § 6, effective July 15, 1996; 2000, ch. 437, § 1, effective July 14, 2000; 2002, ch. 143, § 1, effective July 15, 2002; 2006, ch. 170, § 1, effective July 12, 2006; 2014, ch. 75, § 10, effective July 15, 2014.

Legislative Research Commission Notes.

(9/2/94). By letter of September 2, 1994, the Secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet, acting under KRS 48.500, advised the Reviser of Statutes of his determination “that no funds appropriated by the Executive Branch Appropriations Act for the 1995-96 biennium can be identified as having been appropriated for the purpose of implementing Sections 1 to 7 of House Bill No. 616, Chapter (296), Acts of the 1994 Regular Session of the General Assembly.” Accordingly, the amendment to this statute contained in 1994 Ky. Acts ch. 296 is void under sec. 3(8) of that Act and has not been codified into the statute.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Cited in:

Craig v. Kentucky State Bd. for Elementary & Secondary Educ., 902 S.W.2d 264, 1995 Ky. App. LEXIS 124 (Ky. Ct. App. 1995); Behanan v. Cobb, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 37 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

If there is school board opposition to school based decision making (SBDM) the SBDM council could seek assistance from the Office of Education Accountability and if they cannot assist the council, then legal action should be considered to force the school board to comply with the statute; however, that should not be necessary once the statute contains protections within it. OAG 91-24.

Based on the language of Ky. Const., § 183 and on case law interpreting this section, the General Assembly has authorization to create the Office of Education Accountability. OAG 91-222.

Superintendents and boards are subject to investigation by legislative agencies, but those agencies, in this case the Office of Education Accountability, may not take enforcement action against them. OAG 91-222.

The activities of the Office of Education Accountability do not violate the separation of powers set forth in Ky. Const., §§ 27 and 28. OAG 91-222.

The authority under which superintendents and boards must respond to questions raised in the course of investigation by the Office of Education Accountability is found in this section and KRS 6.905 et seq. OAG 91-222.

The discovery powers set forth in subsection (2)(d) (now (2)(e)) of this section are broad; however, they relate to the ability of the arm of the legislature to study the implementation of the Reform Act, and to insure that the General Assembly is successful in creating an “efficient system of common schools,” as mandated by Ky. Const., § 183. OAG 91-222.

While the Office of Education Accountability does not have the right to perform the executive functions of regulating and supervising administration of the day to day operations of school districts, the office may study and monitor the implementation of the Kentucky Education Reform Act. OAG 91-222.

Subsection (3) vests virtually unfettered discretion in the Office of Education Accountability to withhold records relating to its duties and responsibilities while an investigation is pending, and after it has concluded; the urgency and importance of this provision is further underscored by the fact that in 1992, the General Assembly elected to make it retroactive to July 13, 1990, and to include an emergency clause making it effective upon passage by the Governor; thus, a teacher’s request to have full access to records pertaining to a complaint filed against her was properly denied. OAG 98-ORD-149.

The Office of Education Accountability properly denied a request for access to intra-office memorandum and the identity of an informant, which related to the requester’s attempt to hack into or invade the agency’s computer system. OAG 99-ORD-96.

The Office of Education Accountability cannot prosecute a case to have an executive branch employee disciplined or removed for violation of subsection (9)(a). OAG 02-4.

7.420. Gathering information.

As a part of any investigation, study, monitoring, or evaluation pursuant to KRS 7.410, the Office of Education Accountability shall attempt to gather all relevant information before reaching conclusions or making public any findings. This shall include providing an opportunity for the subject school district, agency, or individual to provide responsive information.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Lethal Injection.

Kentucky Department of Corrections was required by Kentucky law to promulgate a regulation as to all portions of the lethal injection protocol, KRS 431.220, as the “private rights” of those individuals being executed by the Commonwealth were invariably affected by the manner in which the lethal injection was administered; the Department was not prohibited from adopting regulations to implement the death penalty through lethal injection simply because KRS 431.220 contained no express reference to the adoption of regulations. Bowling v. Ky. Dep’t of Corr., 301 S.W.3d 478, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 2009), writ denied, 336 S.W.3d 98, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 31 (Ky. 2011).

History.

Enact. Acts 1984, ch. 417, § 9, effective April 13, 1984.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Judicial Notice.

Where an administrative regulation of the Department of Public Safety requiring a life preserver to be furnished recited that it was promulgated pursuant to the authority of former KRS 325.320 which concerned itself with partnerships in the public accountant profession, the court would not be required, under former law providing for judicial notice, to take judicial notice of any administrative regulation not filed under the provisions of former law. (Decided under prior law) Christian Appalachian Project, Inc. v. Berry, 487 S.W.2d 951, 1972 Ky. LEXIS 102 (Ky. 1972).

Parole eligibility statistics are not a proper subject for judicial notice, are not admissible mitigating evidence, and do not negate the Commonwealth's evidence; therefore, the trial court did not err in finding that "the introduction of specific figures and numbers opens the door to evidence that the statute was not set up for." Abbott v. Commonwealth, 822 S.W.2d 417, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 1 (Ky. 1992).

13A.100. Matters which shall be prescribed by administrative regulation.

Subject to limitations in applicable statutes, any administrative body that is empowered to promulgate administrative regulations shall, by administrative regulation, prescribe, consistent with applicable statutes:

(1) Each statement of general applicability, policy, procedure, memorandum, or other form of action that implements; interprets; prescribes law or policy; describes the organization, procedure, or practice requirements of any administrative body; or affects private rights or procedures available to the public;

(2) The process for application for license, benefits available or other matters for which an application would be appropriate unless such process is prescribed by a statute;

(3) Fees, except for those exempted in paragraphs (a) to (j) of this subsection, to be charged by the administrative body if such fees are authorized by law and are not set by statute:

(a) State park room rates;

(b) Prices for food in restaurants at state facilities;

(c) Prices for goods at gift shops at state facilities;

(d) Prices for groceries and other items sold at state facilities;

(e) Prices charged for state publications;

(f) Prices charged for rides and amusement activities at state facilities;

(g) Admission fees to athletic and entertainment events at state facilities;

(h) Charges for swimming, skiing, horseback riding, and similar recreational activities at state facilities;

(i) Charges for boat and equipment rentals for recreational purposes at state facilities; and

(j) Admission fees charged for seminars and educational courses by state administrative bodies;

(4) The procedures to be utilized by the administrative body in the conduct of hearings by or for the administrative body unless such procedures are prescribed by a statute; and

(5) The disciplinary procedures within the jurisdiction of the administrative body unless such procedures are prescribed by statute.

History.

Enact. Acts 1984, ch. 417, § 10, effective April 13, 1984; 1990, ch. 516, § 16, effective July 13, 1990; 2016 ch. 82, § 6, effective July 15, 2016.

Legislative Research Commission Notes.

Acts 1984, ch. 419, effective July 13, 1984, provides:

"Section 1. It is the intent of the General Assembly that the amendment of Section 10 by the Free Conference Committee report to 1984 HB 334 applies only to fees which are governmental in nature charged by state agencies and not to fees and charges which are proprietary in nature.

Section 2. This resolution may be used by a court as an aid in the construction of 1984 HB 334."

1. Extent of Power to Adopt Regulations.

Administrative regulations which have been duly adopted and properly filed have the full effect of law; however, the power of an agency to adopt such regulations is limited to a direct implementation of administration of the functions and duties assigned to the administrative body by statute or executive order. (Decided under prior law) Kentucky Asso. of Chiropractors, Inc. v. Jefferson County Medical Soc., 549 S.W.2d 817, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 414 (Ky. 1977).

Kentucky Department of Corrections was required by Kentucky law to promulgate a regulation as to all portions of the lethal injection protocol, KRS 431.220, as the “private rights” of those individuals being executed by the Commonwealth were invariably affected by the manner in which the lethal injection was administered; the Department was not prohibited from adopting regulations to implement the death penalty through lethal injection simply because KRS 431.220 contained no express reference to the adoption of regulations. Bowling v. Ky. Dep’t of Corr., 301 S.W.3d 478, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 2009), writ denied, 336 S.W.3d 98, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 31 (Ky. 2011).

Kentucky Public Service Commission (Commission) was entitled to a writ of prohibition as to a trial court hearing an interlocutory appeal of the Commission’s order denying real parties in interest intervention in a rate-making case because (1) the parties had no such right, as the parties could only request intervention, (2) whether to grant intervention was solely within the Commission’s discretion, (3) ordering the Commission to grant intervention interfered with the Commission’s proceedings, exceeded the court’s jurisdiction, and did not meet the collateral order rule, (4) the rule of civil procedure on intervention did not apply, as the Commission’s regulation controlled, and (5) the court had no Declaratory Judgment Act jurisdiction, so the court’s orders were void ab initio. PSC of Ky. v. Shepherd, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 31 (Ky. Ct. App. Mar. 6, 2019), rev’d, 2020 Ky. Unpub. LEXIS 37 (Ky. May 28, 2020).

2. Unconstitutional Regulations.

Administrative regulation of the board of chiropractic examiners permitting chiropractors to utilize the services of persons authorized by law to perform analysis of patients by use of radiographs, blood analysis or other methods of examination is an attempt to grant authority which had previously been withheld and goes beyond the powers granted the board and the statutory definition of chiropractic, and, as such, is legislative in nature and in violation of the state Constitution. (Decided under prior law) Kentucky Asso. of Chiropractors, Inc. v. Jefferson County Medical Soc., 549 S.W.2d 817, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 414 (Ky. 1977).

3. Changing of Statutory Requirement Prohibited.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board cannot by the promulgation of a rule add to or take from requirement of statute it is administering. (Decided under prior law) Portwood v. Falls City Brewing Co., 318 S.W.2d 535, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1958).

4. Statutory Preemption.

Since Alcoholic Beverage Control Board cannot by promulgating a rule add to or take away from a statute it is administering, a regulation prohibiting a licensee in cities of the first and second classes to advertise brand name of a particular beverage upon signs outside of the premises was invalid as it is in conflict with former KRS 244.530. (Decided under prior law) Portwood v. Falls City Brewing Co., 318 S.W.2d 535, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1958).

Alcoholic Beverage Control Board could not adopt regulation prohibiting certain activities on the part of brewers and beer distributors where legislature had enacted statutes prohibiting similar activities on the part of distillers, rectifiers, vintners and retail licensees but had enacted nothing regarding brewers and beer distributors concerning such activities. (Decided under prior law) Oertel Brewing Co. v. Portwood, 320 S.W.2d 317, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 234 (Ky. 1959).

5. Statutory Effect.

Administrative regulations properly adopted and filed have the same effect as statutes or ordinances enacted directly by the legislative body from which the administrative agency derives its authority. (Decided under prior law) Rietze v. Williams, 458 S.W.2d 613, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 179 (Ky. 1970), overruled in part, Ctr. College v. Trzop, 127 S.W.3d 562, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 263 (Ky. 2003), overruled in part, Dutton v. McFarland, 199 S.W.3d 771, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 82 (Ky. Ct. App. 2006).

6. Reasonable Relation to Authorized Purpose.

The purpose of regulations issued under the authority of former law was limited to the implementation of the administration of the functions assigned to the agency issuing such regulations and, under former law and § 28 of the Kentucky Constitution, it was beyond the power of the Industrial Safety Board, in promulgating safety standards for the construction industry, to change the settled law of Kentucky by a regulation making the owner of premises liable to an employee of an independent contractor for injuries suffered while working on the premises and equally liable with the contractor for the enforcement of safety standards, since such regulation exceeded the permissible bounds of administrative implementation. (Decided under prior law) Courtney v. Island Creek Coal Co., 474 F.2d 468, 1973 U.S. App. LEXIS 11381 (6th Cir. Ky. 1973).

As a general rule administrative agencies are vested with a great deal of discretion in exercising their authority; however, rules and regulations must be reasonably adapted to carry out purpose for which they were authorized to be made. (Decided under prior law) Portwood v. Falls City Brewing Co., 318 S.W.2d 535, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1958).

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board regulation prohibiting the use of illuminated advertisement by retail liquor establishment where the illumination is an integral part of the sign was held to be invalid since the illumination of the sign bears little relation to the policing of the sale of malt beverages, for by the time member of public sees sign he has already entered the retail premises assumedly for the purpose of buying beer. (Decided under prior law) Portwood v. Falls City Brewing Co., 318 S.W.2d 535, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1958).

7. Class Action Testing Validity of Regulation.

Domestic brewers who furnished dispenser with signs and licensed retail beer dispenser who displayed signs were proper parties to class action to test validity of certain regulations of the alcoholic beverages by retail licensees regarding display of signs. (Decided under prior law) Portwood v. Falls City Brewing Co., 318 S.W.2d 535, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1958).

8. Invalid Regulations.

Where it was evident from the record that the sole basis for denial of caretaker benefits was section 4909 of the operation manual of the Bureau of Social Insurance and not a weighing of the need of and resources available to the claimant’s mother including resources available from the claimant, and where section 4909 was not promulgated as required by former KRS 13.085 et seq., it had no effect and therefore could not be used as an independent basis for denying benefits. (Decided under prior law) Vincent v. Conn, 593 S.W.2d 99, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 503 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

9. Rules of Board of Claims.

The Board of Claims is to prescribe its rules of administrative practice in the form of regulations, but the rules must be promulgated in accordance with law. (Decided under prior law) Department for Human Resources v. Redmon, 599 S.W.2d 474, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 322 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

10. Explanatory Regulations.

KRS 61.590(3), limiting the time allowed to change a payment option, was not vague or ambiguous; because KRS 61.590(3) was plainly written, an explanatory administrative regulation was unnecessary. A trial court's judgment affirming a determination that a retiree was not permitted to change his retirement payment option was proper because there was no evidence that the retirement systems was negligent or that information provided to retiree was erroneous. Lawson v. Ky. Ret. Sys., 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 200 (Ky. Ct. App. July 6, 2007, sub. op., 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 507 (Ky. Ct. App. July 6, 2007).

11. State of Emergency.

Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. ch. 13A does not Limit the Governor's authority to act Under the Constitution and Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. ch. 39A in the event of an emergency. Beshear v. Acree, 615 S.W.3d 780, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 405 (Ky. 2020).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Under KRS 61.840, the Personnel Board is not required to permit television coverage when it is hearing an appeal under KRS 18A.095 as a quasi-judicial body, but may do so if it adopts administrative regulations so permitting and stating restrictions and procedures for such coverage, pursuant to this section. Except as provided in KRS 131.131, and subject to limitations in applicable statutes, any administrative body that is empowered to promulgate administrative regulations may, consistent with applicable statutes, prescribe forms and tables for use by the administrative body and for the public in dealing with the administrative body unless the content of such form is prescribed by a statute. Forms that are required to be submitted by a regulated entity shall be included in an administrative regulation. Forms and tables that meet 13A.120. Promulgation of administrative regulations — Prohibitions concerning promulgations.

(1)(a) An administrative body may promulgate administrative regulations to implement a statute only when the act of the General Assembly creating or amending the statute specifically authorizes the promulgation of administrative regulations or administrative regulations are required by federal law, in which case administrative regulations shall be no more stringent than the federal law or regulations.

(b) An administrative body that promulgates an administrative regulation required by federal law or federal regulation shall comply with the provisions of this chapter.

(2) An administrative body shall not promulgate administrative regulations:

(a) When a statute prohibits the administrative body from promulgating administrative regulations;

(b) When the administrative body is not authorized by statute to promulgate administrative regulations;

(d) When the administrative body is not authorized by statute to regulate that particular matter;

(e) When a statute prescribes the same or similar procedure for the matter regulated;

(5) No administrative body, other than the Court of Justice, shall issue rules.

Analysis

1. Parallel Federal Act.
2. Statute Regulating Same Matter.
3. Regulations Required.
4. Regulations Not Required.

1. Parallel Federal Act.

Where a federal act and its regulations provide for a procedure by which an accused strip miner is given a formal hearing, with a full record, rights of examination, cross-examination, subpoenas, etc., and where from this full hearing there is an appeal to an administrative law judge and ultimately to the federal court system, by not providing a similar proceeding, the parallel Kentucky regulations are more stringent than the federal law and regulations, in violation of subsection (1) of this section, thus making former 405 KAR 7:090(4), which provided for a formal hearing only upon prepayment of assessed penalties, null, void and unenforceable. Franklin v. Natural Resources & Environmental Protection Cabinet, 799 S.W.2d 1, 1990 Ky. LEXIS 75 (Ky. 1990).

2. Statute Regulating Same Matter.

KRS Chapter 281A did not set forth a comprehensive scheme of regulating the same matter which was being regulated by an administrative agency in violation of this section, as the administrative regulation was more detailed, comprehensive and pertinent regarding school bus drivers than was the statute, which dealt with commercial driver's licenses. Cornette v. Commonwealth, 899 S.W.2d 502, 1995 Ky. App. LEXIS 108 (Ky. Ct. App. 1995).

Judgment of the trial court affirming the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Energy and Environment Cabinet's (Cabinet) imposition of restrictive conditions on all future mining in the area was reversed where 405 KAR 24:030 § 8(3) was contrary to law, KRS 350.610, and more stringent than the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977, 30 U.S.C.S. § 1201 et seq., thereby rendering it null, void and unenforceable; the Cabinet refused to make a finding of unsuitability yet imposed restrictive conditions consistent with an unsuitability determination. Laurel Mt. Res., LLC v. Commonwealth, 360 S.W.3d 791, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 34 (Ky. Ct. App. 2012).

Physician's discipline based on the suspension of the physician's license in another state was improper because the regulation applied by the Kentucky Board of Medical Licensure (KBML) invalidly exceeded the KBML's statutory authority, as the regulation required the KBML to impose the same discipline as that imposed by another state, while the statute granted the KBML discretion to determine the appropriate sanction. Urada v. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 24 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 22, 2019), review denied, ordered not published, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 275 (Ky. Aug. 21, 2019).

3. Regulations Required.

Kentucky Department of Corrections was required by Kentucky law to promulgate a regulation as to all portions of the lethal injection protocol, KRS 431.220, as the "private rights" of those individuals being executed by the Commonwealth were invariably affected by the manner in which the lethal injection was administered; the Department was not prohibited from adopting regulations to implement the death penalty through lethal injection simply because KRS 431.220 contained no express reference to the adoption of regulations. Bowling v. Ky. Dep't of Corr., 301 S.W.3d 478, 2009 Ky. LEXIS

291 (Ky. 2009), writ denied, 336 S.W.3d 98, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 31 (Ky. 2011).

4. Regulations Not Required.

KRS 13A.120(2)(d) and 17.175(6) did not require the Department of Juvenile Justice to promulgate any administrative regulations to include procedures for collection of DNA samples and the usage and integrity of the DNA database system. Instead, the Secretary of Justice was required to notify the Kentucky Reviser of Statutes of the date on which statutory sections were implemented under former KRS 17.177(3) (now repealed). Petitioner F v. Brown, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 42 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 22, 2008, sub. op., 2008 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 532 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 22, 2008)).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Neither the personnel commissioner nor the personnel board has authority to promulgate a regulation concerning nepotism. Likewise, in the absence of specific statutory authority given to a specific individual agency, such agency could not promulgate such a regulation nor adopt a policy regulating the subject under the prohibition of this section and KRS 13A.130. OAG 88-15.

The definition in 201 KAR 23:130(1) (now (2)), which limited the interpretation of philanthropic and nonprofit field service offices to only those agencies which operate on a national or regional basis, went beyond the statutory authority granted to the Board of Examiners of Social Work by the General Assembly. OAG 88-56.

To the extent that former 903 KAR 5:130 Section 2(5)(b) may be interpreted or applied to modify the time for securing judicial relief in the circuit court pursuant to KRS 341.450 then the regulation is null, void, and unenforceable. OAG 90-84.

While certain statutes exist that set residency or voting eligibility requirements for law enforcement officers, none exists for conservation officers, and without statutory authority, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources may not impose a residency requirement by policy. OAG 91-172.

Analysis

1. Purpose.
2. Construction With Other Law.
3. Reliance on Established Practice.
4. Internal Policy Void.
5. Parole.

1. Purpose.

This was simply a statute designed to enable the board to establish rules of procedure, not to publish regulations; therefore, minimum standards of practice adopted internally were not authorized by statute and could not be used as a basis to suspend surveyor. Kerr v. Kentucky State Bd. of Registration for Professional Engineers & Land Surveyors, 797 S.W.2d 714, 1990 Ky. App. LEXIS 155 (Ky. Ct. App. 1990).

A warden's memorandum to staff and inmates clarifying that canteen receipts for perishable items were to be retained for 60 days in order to avoid confiscation thereof was a reasonable "housekeeping" measure that did not alter the policies collected under 501 KAR 6:020, did not violate KRS 13A.130, and complied with both statutory and administrative law; the memorandum was reasonably related to penological objectives of minimizing hoarding, bartering, and gambling and was within the Department of Corrections authority pursuant to KRS 196.030(1)(a). Vestal v. Motley, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 286 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 17, 2007, sub. op., 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 161 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 17, 2007).

2. Construction With Other Law.

The Transportation Cabinet's Form TC94-30 regarding parental consent, made to further enforcement of KRS 159.051, and issued by memorandum, is not impermissible legislating in violation of KRS 13A.130. Codell v. D.F., 2001 Ky. App. LEXIS 71 (Ky. Ct. App. June 22, 2001).

3. Reliance on Established Practice.

Although this section prohibits an administrative body from modifying an administrative regulation by internal policy or another form of action, where the owner of a retail package liquor license had placed strong reliance on the ABC Board's interpretation of its own regulation, and had followed the established ABC Board practice of filing dormancy extension requests to keep his license in dormant status, it would be unfair and unjust to overrule the ABC Board's decision and rule that the owner had no license to transfer. Hagan v. Farris, 807 S.W.2d 488, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 37 (Ky. 1991).

Even though Kentucky did not recognize promises made by administrative agencies under KRS 13A.130, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) was entitled to rely on a commitment letter issued by the state cabinet because the focus was not on the state regulation itself pertaining to antidegradation rules but rather the process that the EPA used to approve the regulations. The EPA used the letter as an interpretation of the cabinet to help its understanding in conducting its approval process, which was not an arbitrary and capricious action. Ky. Waterways Alliance v. Johnson, 426 F. Supp. 2d 612, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 15689 (W.D. Ky. 2006), aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 540 F.3d 466, 2008 FED App. 0333P, 2008 U.S. App. LEXIS 18802 (6th Cir. Ky. 2008).

4. Internal Policy Void.

Kentucky Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction's (DHBC) internal policy was null and void because the DHBC's internal policy was to effectively presume that no one applying for a master plumber's license had any kind of criminal conviction, the DHBC ignored the requirement that the DHBC first make a determination that the convicted felon had been successfully rehabilitated, and an administrative agency could not have by its own internal policy or other form of action limited the effect of a statute. Fisher v. Commonwealth, 403 S.W.3d 69, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 88 (Ky. Ct. App. 2013).

5. Parole.

Kentucky Parole Board acted within its authority and within the bounds of its discretionary powers when it denied defendant's request for parole and ordered him to serve out the remainder of his sentence, as the Board's actions did not violate the Separation of Powers under Ky. Const. §§ 27 and 28 because the power to grant parole was a purely executive function pursuant to KRS 13A.130. Simmons v. Commonwealth, 232 S.W.3d 531, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 292 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Neither the personnel commissioner nor the personnel board has authority to promulgate a regulation concerning nepotism. Likewise, in the absence of specific statutory authority given to a specific individual agency, such agency could not promulgate such a regulation nor adopt a policy regulating the subject under the prohibition of KRS 13A.120 and this section. - (3) An administrative regulation in contemplation of a statute.

13A.180. Ordinary administrative regulation defined.

An ordinary administrative regulation is one that is promulgated in the normal manner by an administrative body and that does not require that it be placed in effect immediately.

History.

Enact. Acts 1984, ch. 417, § 18, effective April 13, 1984; 2016 ch. 82, § 11, effective July 15, 2016.

13A.190. Emergency administrative regulations.

(1) An emergency administrative regulation is an administrative regulation that:

- (a) An administrative body can clearly demonstrate, through documentary evidence submitted with the filing of the emergency administrative regulation, must be placed into effect immediately in order to:
 1. Meet an imminent threat to public health, safety, welfare, or the environment;
 2. Prevent an imminent loss of federal or state funds;
 3. Meet an imminent deadline for the promulgation of an administrative regulation that is established by state statute or federal law; or

4. Comply with an executive order issued under KRS Chapter 39A; and

(b)1. Is temporary in nature and will expire as provided in this section; or

2. Is temporary in nature and will be replaced by an ordinary administrative regulation as provided in this section.

For the purposes of this section, "imminent" means within two hundred seventy (270) days of the filing of the emergency administrative regulation.

(2) An agency's finding of an emergency pursuant to this section shall not be based on the agency's failure to timely process and file administrative regulations through the ordinary administrative regulation process.

(3) An emergency administrative regulation:

(a) Shall become effective and shall be considered as adopted upon filing;

(b) Shall be published in the Administrative Register in accordance with the publication deadline established in KRS 13A.050(3);

(c) Shall be subject to the public comment provisions established in KRS 13A.270 and 13A.280;

(d)1. May be reviewed at a subsequent meeting of a legislative committee after the filing of the emergency administrative regulation; and

2. May, by a vote of the majority of the legislative committee's membership as established by KRS 13A.020(4) and 13A.290(9), be found to be deficient, and the deficiency shall be reported to the Governor pursuant to KRS 13A.330(2); and

(e) May be amended:

1. By the promulgating administrative body after receiving public comments as established in KRS 13A.280. The amended after comments version shall:

a. Become effective upon filing; and

b. Not require a statement of emergency; or

2. At a legislative committee meeting as established in KRS 13A.320. The amendment shall be approved as established by KRS 13A.020(4) and KRS 13A.290(9). The amended version shall become effective upon adjournment of the meeting following the procedures established in KRS 13A.331.

(4)(a) Except as provided by paragraph (b) of this subsection, emergency administrative regulations shall expire two hundred seventy (270) days after the date of filing or when the same matter filed as an ordinary administrative regulation filed for review is adopted, whichever occurs first.

(b) If an administrative body extends the time for filing a statement of consideration for an ordinary administrative regulation as provided by KRS 13A.280(2)(b), an emergency administrative regulation shall remain in effect for two hundred seventy (270) days after the date of filing plus the number of days extended under the provisions of KRS 13A.280(2)(b) or when the same matter filed as an ordinary administrative regulation filed for review is adopted, whichever occurs first.

(c) Filing an emergency amended after comments administrative regulation shall not affect the expiration of an emergency regulation as established in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this subsection.

(5) Except as established in subsection (6) of this section, an emergency administrative regulation with the same number or title or governing the same subject matter shall not be filed for a period of two hundred seventy (270) days after it has been initially filed.

(6) If an emergency administrative regulation with the same number or title or governing the same subject matter as an emergency administrative regulation filed within the previous two hundred seventy (270) days is filed, it shall contain a detailed explanation of the manner in which it differs from the previously filed emergency administrative regulation. The detailed explanation shall be included in the statement of emergency required by subsection (7) of this section.

(7) Each emergency administrative regulation shall contain a statement of:

- (a) The nature of the emergency;
- (b) The reasons why an ordinary administrative regulation is not sufficient;
- (c) Whether or not the emergency administrative regulation will be replaced by an ordinary administrative regulation;
- (d) If the emergency administrative regulation will be replaced by an ordinary administrative regulation, the following statement: "The ordinary administrative regulation (is or is not) identical to this emergency administrative regulation.";
- (e) If the emergency administrative regulation will not be replaced by an ordinary administrative regulation, the reasons therefor; and
- (f) If applicable, the explanation required by subsection (6) of this section.

(8)(a) An administrative body shall attach the:

1. Statement of emergency required by subsection (7) of this section to the front of the original and each copy of a proposed emergency administrative regulation;
2. Public hearing and public comment period information required by KRS 13A.270(2), regulatory impact analysis, tiering statement, federal mandate comparison, fiscal note, summary of material incorporated by reference if applicable, and other forms or documents required by the provisions of this chapter to the back of the emergency administrative regulation; and
3. Documentary evidence submitted justifying the finding of an emergency in accordance with subsection (1) of this section to the back of the emergency regulation if it is:
 - a. No more than four (4) pages in length; and
 - b. Typewritten on white paper, size eight and one-half (8-1/2) by eleven (11) inches, and single-sided.

Larger volumes of documentary evidence shall be filed in a separate binder or on a CD-ROM or DVD disc.

(b) An administrative body shall file with the regulations compiler:

1. The original and five (5) copies of the emergency administrative regulation; and
2. At the same time as, or prior to, filing the paper version, an electronic version of the emergency administrative regulation and the attachments required by paragraph (a) of this subsection saved as a single document for each emergency administrative regulation in an electronic format approved by the regulations compiler.

(c) The original and four (4) copies of each emergency administrative regulation shall be stapled in the top left corner. The fifth copy of each emergency administrative regulation shall not be stapled. The original and the five (5) copies of each emergency administrative regulation shall be grouped together.

(9) The statement of emergency shall have a two (2) inch top margin. The number of the emergency administrative regulation shall be typed directly below the heading "Statement of Emergency." The number of the emergency administrative regulation shall be the same number as the ordinary administrative regulation followed by an "E."

(10) Each executive department emergency administrative regulation shall be signed by the head of the administrative body and countersigned by the Governor prior to filing with the Commission. These signatures shall be on the statement of emergency attached to the front of the emergency administrative regulation.

(11) If an emergency administrative regulation will be replaced by an ordinary administrative regulation, the ordinary administrative regulation shall be filed at the same time as the emergency administrative regulation that it will replace.

(12) If an ordinary administrative regulation that was filed to replace an emergency administrative regulation is withdrawn:

- (a) The emergency administrative regulation shall expire on the date the ordinary administrative regulation is withdrawn; and
- (b) The administrative body shall inform the regulations compiler of the reasons for withdrawal in writing.

(13)(a) If an emergency administrative regulation that was intended to be replaced by an ordinary administrative regulation is withdrawn, the emergency administrative regulation shall expire on the date it is withdrawn.

(b) If an emergency administrative regulation has been withdrawn, the ordinary administrative regulation that was filed with it shall not expire unless the administrative body informs the regulations compiler that the ordinary administrative regulation is also withdrawn.

(c) If an emergency administrative regulation is withdrawn, the administrative body shall inform the regulations compiler of the reasons for withdrawal in writing.

(14) The administrative regulations compiler shall notify all legislative committees of the number, title, and subject matter of all emergency administrative regulations and shall forward any additional information filed about the emergency administrative regulation requested by a legislative committee.

13A.200. Administrative regulation in contemplation of a statute — Procedure.

An administrative regulation in contemplation of a statute provides a means whereby an administrative body may promulgate and file an administrative regulation following the enactment of a statute authorizing or directing its promulgation by the General Assembly and its approval by the Governor or its becoming law without signature but before the effective date subject to the following:

(1) The administrative regulation may be filed any time after signature by the Governor or upon the act becoming law without the Governor's signature but prior to the act's effective date;

13A.210. Tiering of administrative regulations.

(1) When promulgating administrative regulations and reviewing existing ones, administrative bodies shall, whenever possible, tier their administrative regulations to reduce disproportionate impacts on certain classes of regulated entities, including government or small business, or both, and to avoid regulating entities that do not contribute significantly to the problem the administrative regulation was designed to address. The tiers, however, shall be based upon reasonable criteria and uniformly applied to an entire class. Administrative bodies shall use any number of tiers that will solve most efficiently and effectively the problem the administrative regulation addresses. A written statement shall be submitted to the Legislative Research Commission explaining why tiering was or was not used.

(2) Administrative bodies may use, but shall not be limited to, the following methods of tiering administrative regulations:

(a) Reduce or modify substantive regulatory requirements;

(e) Reduce the frequency of inspections;

(f) Provide exemptions from inspections and other compliance activities;

(g) Delay compliance timetables;

(h) Reduce, modify, or waive fines or other penalties for noncompliance; and

(i) Address and alleviate special problems of individuals and small businesses in complying with an administrative regulation.

(3) When tiering regulatory requirements, administrative bodies may use, but shall not be limited to, size and nonsize variables. Size variables include number of citizens, number of employees, level of operating revenues, level of assets, and market shares. Nonsize variables include degree of risk posed to humans, technological and economic ability to comply, geographic locations, and level of federal funding.

(4) When modifying tiers, administrative bodies shall monitor, but shall not be limited to, the following variables:

(a) Changing demographic characteristics;

(b) Changes in the composition of the workforce;

(c) Changes in the inflation rate requiring revisions of dollar-denominated tiers;

(d) Changes in market concentration and segmentation;

(e) Advances in technology; and

(f) Changes in legislation.

Legislative Research Commission Notes.

(2/2/2021). In codification, a correction has been made to subsection (5)(b) of this statute. 2021 Senate Bill 2, Section 12, which amended this statute, contained a reference in subsection (5)(b) to “Section 4(2) of this Act,” which would have been codified as “KRS 13A.190(2).” However, it is clear from the context and from consultation with the drafter that the reference was intended to read “Section 4(3) of this Act,” which would be codified as “KRS 13A.190(3).” Under the authority of KRS 7.136, the Reviser of Statutes has corrected this reference.

(6/27/2019). Under the authority of KRS 7.136(1), the Reviser of Statutes has modified the internal numbering of this statute from the way it appeared in 2019 Ky. Acts ch. 192, sec. 8.

(7/15/2016). During codification of 2016 Ky. Acts ch. 82, sec. 27, the Reviser of Statutes corrected a manifest clerical or typographical error in references in subsection (3)(c) and (d) of this statute to “subsection (6)(b)1.” and “subsection (6)(b)2.”, respectively, of Section 26 of that Act, which was KRS 13A.290. The correct references should have been to “subsection (6)(a)1.” and “subsection (6)(a)2.”, respectively, of KRS 13A.290 and are reflected that way in this statute.

13A.310. Repeal or permissive withdrawal of administrative regulation.

(1) Except as provided in KRS 13A.3102 and 13A.3104, an ordinary administrative regulation, once adopted, cannot be withdrawn but shall be repealed if it is desired that it no longer be effective.

(3)(a) An ordinary administrative regulation shall be repealed only by the promulgation of an administrative regulation that:

1. Is titled “Repeal of (state number of administrative regulation to be repealed)”;

3. Includes in the body of the administrative regulation, a citation to the number and title of the administrative regulation or regulations being repealed; and

(b)1. Except as provided in subparagraph 2. of this paragraph, on the effective date of an administrative regulation that repeals an administrative regulation, determined in accordance with KRS 13A.330 or 13A.331, the regulations compiler shall delete the repealed administrative regulation and the repealing administrative regulation from the Kentucky Administrative Regulations Service.

2. If the repealing administrative regulation specifies an effective date that is after the administrative regulation would become effective pursuant to KRS 13A.330 or 13A.331, the specified effective date shall be considered the effective date of the repealing administrative regulation. On the specified effective date, the regulations compiler shall delete the repealed administrative regulation and the repealing administrative regulation from the Kentucky Administrative Regulations Service.

(c) An administrative body may repeal more than one (1) administrative regulation in an administrative regulation promulgated pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection if the administrative regulations being repealed are contained in the same chapter of the Kentucky Administrative Regulations Service.

(4)(a) An ordinary administrative regulation may be withdrawn by the promulgating administrative body at any time prior to its adoption.

(b) An ordinary administrative regulation that has been found deficient may be withdrawn by the promulgating administrative body or by the Governor at any time prior to its adoption.

(c) Once an ordinary administrative regulation is withdrawn, it shall not be reinstated, except by repromulgation as a totally new matter.

(5)(a) An emergency administrative regulation may be withdrawn by the promulgating administrative body at any time prior to its expiration.

(b) An emergency administrative regulation that has been found deficient may be withdrawn by the promulgating administrative body or by the Governor at any time prior to its expiration.

Analysis

1. Discretion.
2. Hospital Disciplinary Proceedings.

1. Discretion.

Hearing officer pursuant to KRS 13B.005 et seq. had considerable discretion in admitting and excluding evidence, and, thus, a reviewing court would only reverse the hearing officers evidentiary rulings for an abuse of discretion. In a case involving the tenured teacher's termination of employment for having sexual contact with two students, the hearing officer was authorized to deny the tenured teacher's request to exclude evidence that the tenured teacher had been acquitted of criminal charges involving one of the students, as that evidence was both irrelevant and was excludable under KRE. 403 as potentially confusing to the administrative tribunal because the criminal trial had a different burden of proof than the administrative proceeding. Drummond v. Todd County Bd. of Educ., 349 S.W.3d 316, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 155 (Ky. Ct. App. 2011).

2. Hospital Disciplinary Proceedings.

In a case where a physician alleged that his administrative due process rights had been violated in relation to the termination of staff privileges, a hospital did not expressly or implicitly function as a state agency; therefore, the hospital's internal disciplinary proceedings were not subject to the requirements of this chapter. Sara v. St. Joseph Healthcare Sys., 480 S.W.3d 286, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 176 (Ky. Ct. App. 2015).

As used in this chapter, unless the context requires otherwise:

- (1) "Administrative agency" or "agency" means each state board, bureau, cabinet, commission, department, authority, officer, or other entity in the executive branch of state government authorized by law to conduct administrative hearings.
- (2) "Administrative hearing" or "hearing" means any type of formal adjudicatory proceeding conducted by an agency as required or permitted by statute or regulation to adjudicate the legal rights, duties, privileges, or immunities of a named person.
- (3) "Party" means:
 - (a) The named person whose legal rights, duties, privileges, or immunities are being adjudicated in the administrative hearing;
 - (b) Any other person who is duly granted intervention in an administrative hearing; and
 - (c) Any agency named as a party to the adjudicatory proceeding or entitled or permitted by the law being enforced to participate fully in the administrative hearing.
- (4) "Agency head" means the individual or collegial body in an agency that is responsible for entry of a final order.

(5) "Recommended order" means the whole or part of a preliminary hearing report to an agency head for the disposition of an administrative hearing.

(6) "Final order" means the whole or part of the final disposition of an administrative hearing, whenever made effective by an agency head, whether affirmative, negative, injunctive, declaratory, agreed, or imperative in form.

(7) "Hearing officer" means the individual, duly qualified and employed pursuant to this chapter, assigned by an agency head as presiding officer for an administrative hearing or the presiding member of the agency head.

(8) "Division" means the Division of Administrative Hearings in the Office of the Attorney General created pursuant to KRS 15.111.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Applicability.
2. "Final Order."

1. Applicability.

Even if the provisions of KRS 13B.140(1) and 13B.010(1) were applicable to the actions of a county board of education, the board waived any jurisdictional defect by not objecting until after the Circuit Court and the Court of Appeals decided the issues regarding a student's expulsion pursuant to KRS 158.150. M.K.J. v. Bourbon County Bd. of Educ., 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 286 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 29, 2008).

In a case where a physician alleged that his administrative due process rights had been violated in relation to the termination of staff privileges, a hospital did not expressly or implicitly function as a state agency; therefore, the hospital's internal disciplinary proceedings were not subject to the requirements of this chapter. Sara v. St. Joseph Healthcare Sys., 480 S.W.3d 286, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 176 (Ky. Ct. App. 2015).

2. "Final Order."

Where the Kentucky Alcoholic Beverage Control Board made a legal determination that it lacked jurisdiction to hear a liquor store owner's appeal of a city administrator's issuance of a liquor license to an applicant and dismissed the appeal, although no evidentiary hearing was held, the Board's order was a final order for purposes of KRS 13B.010(6). Bev. Warehouse, Inc. v. Commonwealth, 382 S.W.3d 34, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 211 (Ky. Ct. App. 2011).

Horse-racing stewards' decision to disqualify a horse was not a final order of an agency, and thus, it was not subject to judicial review because the process that the stewards undertook to make their decision was not an "administrative hearing," as that term was used in the statutory definition of "final order of an agency," and the stewards' call was not a "final order" as it was not "made effective by an agency head," as was necessary to issue a final administrative order. West v. Ky. Horse Racing Comm'n, 972 F.3d 881, 2020 FED App. 284P, 2020 U.S. App. LEXIS 27522 (6th Cir. Ky. 2020).

- (4) Any administrative hearing, or portion thereof, may be certified as exempt by the Attorney General based on the following criteria:
 - (a) The provisions of this chapter conflict with any provision of federal law or regulation with which the agency must comply, or with any federal law or regulation with which the agency must comply to permit the agency or persons within the Commonwealth to receive federal tax benefits or federal funds or other benefits;
 - (b) Conformity with the requirement of this chapter from which exemption is sought would be so unreasonable or so impractical as to deny due process because of undue delay in the conduct of administrative hearings; or
 - (c) The hearing procedures represent informal proceedings which are the preliminary stages or the review stages of a multilevel hearing process, if the provisions of this chapter or the provisions of a substantially equivalent hearing procedure exempted under subsection (3) of this section are applied at some level within the multilevel process.
- (5) The Attorney General shall not exempt an agency from any requirement of this chapter until the agency establishes alternative procedures by administrative regulation which, insofar as practical, shall be consistent with the intent and purpose of this chapter. The court shall not overturn a decision of the Attorney General unless the decision was arbitrary or capricious or contrary to law.

(6) Except to the extent precluded by another provision of law, a person may waive any procedural right conferred upon that person by this chapter.

(7) The provisions of KRS 13B.030(2)(b) shall not apply to administrative hearings held under KRS 11A.100 or 18A.095.

Analysis

1. Interpretation.
2. Application.
3. Fact-finding investigation exception.

1. Interpretation.

KRS 13B.020 contemplates a possible legal impasse by providing that KRS ch. 13B supersedes all other relevant statutes unless exempted. KRS 281.640 enjoys no such exemption, and, therefore, its provision must yield to KRS 13B.030, which allows a Kentucky Office of the Attorney General hearing officer to preside over a hearing from the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Transportation Cabinet, Department of Vehicle Regulation. Commonwealth v. Handi-Van, Inc., 358 S.W.3d 504, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 13 (Ky. Ct. App. 2012).

2. Application.

In a case where a physician alleged that his administrative due process rights had been violated in relation to the termination of staff privileges, a hospital did not expressly or implicitly function as a state agency; therefore, the hospital's internal disciplinary proceedings were not subject to the requirements of this chapter. Sara v. St. Joseph Healthcare Sys., 480 S.W.3d 286, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 176 (Ky. Ct. App. 2015).

Clearly, the State Evaluation Appeals Panel (SEAP) is a review panel possessing very limited statutorily defined functions, and no provision exists for a hearing officer, the presentation or cross-examination of witnesses or any of the traditional hallmarks of an administrative hearing. The SEAP merely reviews the actions of the LEAP to determine compliance with an approved evaluation plan and thereby provide accountability and encouragement for local districts to implement appropriate evaluation plans. The SEAP is not empowered to reinstate a teacher to a prior position or provide any other remedy apart from setting aside a defective evaluation. Therefore, the SEAP does not conduct administrative hearings and actions of the SEAP do not come within the purview of Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. ch. 13B. Geron v. Jefferson Cty. Bd. of Educ., 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 232 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 31, 2018).

3. Fact-finding investigation exception.

Circuit court properly upheld the Kentucky State Police Commissioner's transfer of a trooper from injured to limited duty status because the Commissioner was expressly authorized to do so based on "medical reports" and the Commissioner's decision was not subject to the due process requirements mentioned in the statute at issue inasmuch as it fell squarely within the fact-finding investigation exception. Wasson v. Ky. State Police, 542 S.W.3d 300, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 77 (Ky. Ct. App. 2018).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Application.

Unpublished decision: Prisoner disciplinary proceedings are exempt from the statutory scheme, but logic dictates that the concept apply in a similar fashion to prison disciplinary matters, for if ever there is a circumstance upon which the burden to create and maintain the record should fall upon the agency, it is this. Lawless v. Conover, 2016 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 885 (Ky. Ct. App. May 20, 2016), rev'd, superseded, 540 S.W.3d 766, 2017 Ky. LEXIS 451 (Ky. 2017).

13B.030. Powers of agency head — Hearing officers.

(1) An agency head may exercise all powers conferred on an agency relating to the conduct of administrative hearings, and he may delegate conferred powers to a hearing officer or a member of a collegial body that serves as an agency head, or he may delegate conferred powers to a hearing officer to conduct an administrative hearing before a hearing panel, reserving the authority to render a recommended order to that panel. An agency head may not, however, delegate the power to issue a final order unless specifically authorized by statute, or unless disqualified in accordance with KRS 13B.040(2).

(2)(a) In securing hearing officers as necessary to conduct administrative hearings under the jurisdiction of the agency, an agency may:

1. Employ hearing officers;
2. Contract with another agency for hearing officers; or
3. Contract with private attorneys through personal service contract.

(b) An agency may secure hearing officers pursuant to subsection (2)(a)3. of this section only if the Attorney General has first determined that the Attorney General's Office cannot provide the needed hearing officers to the agency. If the Attorney General determines that the Attorney General's Office can provide the needed hearing officers to the agency, the agency shall use the hearing officers provided by the Attorney General's Office. The expenses incurred by the Attorney General's Office in providing the hearing officers to the agency shall be paid to the Attorney General's Office by the agency in the following manner:

1. The amount to be paid by the agency to the Attorney General's Office shall be established by vouchers submitted by the Attorney General's Office to the agency which shall be promptly paid by the agency, at the beginning of, at the end of, or at any time during the provision of the hearing officers by the Attorney General's Office.

2. The expenses to be paid to the Attorney General's Office shall be calculated according to the amount of time spent by the salaried hearing officers of the Attorney General's Office in providing the services. The charge for time spent shall not exceed twenty-five percent (25%) more than the amount allowed for a sole practitioner under personal service contract. The Attorney General may require payment in advance of the provision of the requested services based on his calculation of the amount of time that will be spent by the salaried hearing officers of the Attorney General's Office in providing the services. The agency shall be reimbursed for any overpayment at the conclusion of the provision of services by the Attorney General's Office.

(3) A hearing officer shall possess and meet qualifications as the Personnel Cabinet and the employing agency, with the advice of the division, may find necessary to assure competency in the conduct of an administrative hearing. The qualifications in this subsection shall not, however, apply to a member of a board, commission, or other collegial body who may serve as a hearing officer in his capacity as a member of the collegial body.

(4) All hearing officers, including members of collegial bodies who serve as hearing officers, shall receive training necessary to prepare them to conduct a competent administrative hearing. The training shall pertain to the conduct of administrative hearings generally and to the applications of the provisions of this chapter, specifically. The division shall establish by administrative regulation minimum standards concerning the length of training, course content, and instructor qualifications. Required training shall not exceed eighteen (18) classroom hours for initial training and six (6) classroom hours per year for continuing training. Actual training may be conducted by an agency or any other organization, if the training program offered has been approved by the division as meeting minimum standards.

2. Recusal not Warranted.

Physician's argument that a hearing officer should have recused himself from a revocation proceeding was rejected where the hearing officer had not participated in any of the proceedings or investigations prior to overseeing the administrative hearing, the physician had not articulated how the hearing officer was biased against him, the hearing officer had not pecuniary interest in the proceeding's outcome, and the statutory scheme did not require the hearing officer to have a medical background or medical training in order to qualify as a hearing officer. *Moses v. 3. Bias.

There was no evidence of a hearing officer's existing bias because there was no evidence placed in the record by the employee that the hearing officer's former employment prejudiced her in favor of the county board of education; nor did the teacher allege that the hearing officer failed to receive the proper training. *Alvey v. OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors does not have authority under KRS 322.200 to delegate to a hearing officer the authority to conduct hearings. The statutory authority to delegate the power to preside over a hearing to a hearing officer set forth in KRS 13B.030(1) will take effect in 1996. After the effective date of Chapter 13B, the Board will have the authority to delegate the power to preside over disciplinary hearings to a hearing officer. OAG 94-68.

13B.040. Qualifications of hearing officer.

(1) A person who has served as an investigator or prosecutor in an administrative hearing or in its preadjudicative stage shall not serve as hearing officer or assist or advise a hearing officer in the same proceeding. This shall not be construed as preventing a person who has participated as a hearing officer in a determination of probable cause or other equivalent preliminary determination from serving as a hearing officer in the same proceeding.

(2)(a) A hearing officer, agency head, or member of an agency head who is serving as a hearing officer shall voluntarily disqualify himself and withdraw from any case in which he cannot afford a fair and impartial hearing or consideration. Any party may request the disqualification of a hearing officer, agency head, or member of the agency head by filing an affidavit, upon discovery of facts establishing grounds for a disqualification, stating the particular grounds upon which he claims that a fair and impartial hearing cannot be accorded. A request for the disqualification of a hearing officer shall be answered by the agency head within sixty (60) days of its filing. The request for disqualification and the disposition of the request shall be a part of the official record of the proceeding. Requests for disqualification of a hearing officer shall be determined by the agency head. Requests for disqualification of a hearing officer who is a member of the agency head shall be determined by the majority of the remaining members of the agency head.

(b) Grounds for disqualification of a hearing officer shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following:

1. Serving as an investigator or prosecutor in the proceeding or the preadjudicative stages of the proceeding;
2. Participating in an ex parte communication which would prejudice the proceedings;
3. Having a pecuniary interest in the outcome of the proceeding; or
4. Having a personal bias toward any party to a proceeding which would cause a prejudgment on the outcome of the proceeding.

13B.050. Notice of administrative hearing.

(1) In any administrative hearing, the agency shall conduct the hearing as soon as practicable and shall give notice of the hearing to the parties not less than twenty (20) days in advance of the date set for the hearing, unless otherwise required by federal law. An agency shall make reasonable effort to schedule a hearing on a date that is convenient to the parties involved.

(2) The notice required by subsection (1) of this section shall be served on the parties by certified mail, return receipt requested, sent to the last known address of the parties, or by personal service, with the exception of notices of Personnel Board hearings and all board orders which may be served by first-class mail. Service by certified mail shall be complete upon the date on which the agency receives the return receipt or the returned notice.

(3) The notice required by this section shall be in plain language and shall include:

(a) A statement of the date, time, place, and nature of the hearing;

(b) The name, official title, and mailing address of the hearing officer;

(c) The names, official titles, mailing addresses, and, if available, telephone numbers of all parties to the hearing, including the counsel or representative of the agency;

(d) A statement of the factual basis for the agency action along with a statement of issues involved, in sufficient detail to give the parties reasonable opportunity to prepare evidence and argument;

(e) A reference to the specific statutes and administrative regulations which relate to the issues involved and the procedure to be followed in the hearing;

(f) A statement advising the person of his right to legal counsel;

(g) A statement of the parties' right to examine, at least five (5) days prior to the hearing, a list of witnesses the parties expect to call at the hearing, any evidence to be used at the hearing and any exculpatory information in the agency's possession; and

(h) A statement advising that any party who fails to attend or participate as required at any stage of the administrative hearing process may be held in default under this chapter.

(4) If an agency decides not to conduct an administrative hearing in response to a petition, the agency shall notify the petitioner of its decision in writing, with a brief statement of the agency's reasons and any administrative review available to the petitioner.

(5) Subsections (1), (2), and (3) of this section shall not apply to notices issued under KRS 11A.080(4)(b) when a party fails to file an answer or otherwise fails to participate.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Substantial Evidence.

Energy and environment cabinet secretary's finding that farmers were the individuals with primary responsibility for farms' day-to-day operations was supported by substantial evidence; as there was much factual dispute and evidence presented, the trial court had to determine if the decision of the Energy and environment cabinet secretary was supported by substantial evidence, the trial court issued an opinion that was contrary to this standard, and the court disagreed with the trial court's holding in this regard. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

As substantial evidence supported the energy and environment cabinet secretary's finding that farmers were the individuals with primary responsibility for farms' day-to-day operations, reversal would have only been proper if the secretary incorrectly applied the law to the facts, but the court did not find that to be the case; the trial court imposed its own interpretation of the law instead of deferring to the cabinet's interpretation, the secretary's interpretation was reasonable and entitled to deference, and reversal of the trial court's decision was proper. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Mere fact that the legislature declined to adopt administrative regulations imposing per se integrator liability cannot in and of itself be interpreted to mean that an individual who is primarily responsible, as that term is defined by Kentucky law, cannot be required to sign as a co-permittee, if in fact such a finding is supported by substantial evidence. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Permits issues to farmers were no-discharge permits, and the energy and environment cabinet secretary's ruling on the issue was supported by substantial evidence and otherwise proper; the trial court found that permits ran afoul of KRS 224.10-100(5), (19), but the court could not agree with the trial court's finding that the statutes at issue required permit conditions that related to pathogens, and as the cabinet decided not to exercise its special condition authority, the court found no reason to disturb this. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Energy and environment cabinet's special condition authority was properly exercised and the secretary's decision was supported by substantial evidence, as experts were consulted, setbacks that were established were rationally related to the permit operations, and the setbacks were made according to the best professional judgment of the cabinet. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Trial court substituted its own preferred interpretation over that of the energy and environment cabinet secretary, even though the agency's interpretation was both reasonable and supported by substantial evidence; the court reversed. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

5. Deference.

Commonwealth of Kentucky, Energy and Environment Cabinet is required to impose a special permit condition only when, in the Cabinet's best professional judgment, a special permit condition was "necessary" to implement 401 Ky. Admin. Regs. 63:020, and the Cabinet's authority in this regard is highly discretionary, and, thus, entitled to great deference. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

8. Arbitrary review.

Court believes the authority of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Energy and Environment Cabinet to exercise its special condition authority to be almost entirely discretionary and, thus, not appropriately disturbed absent an action on the part of the Cabinet that is clearly arbitrary, and that was not the case here. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

13B.060. Petition for intervention.

(1) The hearing officer shall grant a petition for intervention if:

(a) The petitioner has a statutory right to initiate the proceeding in which he wishes to intervene; or

(b) The petitioner has an interest which is or may be adversely affected by the outcome of the proceeding.

(2) The hearing officer may grant intervention after consideration of the following factors and a determination that intervention is in the interests of justice:

(a) The nature of the issues;

(b) The adequacy of representation of the petitioner's interest which is provided by the existing parties to the proceeding;

(c) The ability of the petitioner to present relevant evidence and argument; and

(d) The effect of intervention on the agency's ability to implement its statutory mandate.

(3) Unless otherwise required by federal law, a petition for intervention shall be filed and copies mailed to all parties named in the notice of the hearing, at least fourteen (14) days before the hearing. The parties to the hearing shall have seven (7) days within which to file any response they may have to the petition to intervene. If a petitioner qualifies for intervention under subsection (2) of this section, the hearing officer may impose conditions upon the intervenor's participation in the proceedings, either at the time that intervention is granted or at any subsequent time. Conditions may include:

(a) Limiting the intervenor's participation to designated issues in which the intervenor has a particular interest demonstrated by the petition;

(b) Limiting the intervenor's use of discovery, cross-examination, and other procedures so as to promote the orderly and prompt conduct of the proceedings; and

(c) Requiring two (2) or more intervenors to combine their presentations of evidence and argument, cross-examination, discovery, and other participation in the proceedings.

(4) The hearing officer, at least three (3) days before the hearing, shall issue an order granting or denying each pending petition for intervention, specifying any conditions, and briefly stating the reasons for the order. The hearing officer shall promptly give notice of an order granting, denying, or modifying intervention to the petitioner for intervention and to all parties.

(1) A hearing officer may convene and conduct a prehearing conference upon reasonable notice to all parties to explore jurisdictional matters, mediation and settlement possibilities, preparation of stipulations, clarification of issues, rulings on witnesses, taking of evidence, issuance of subpoenas and orders, and other matters that will promote the orderly and prompt conduct of the hearing.

(2) Upon conclusion of a prehearing conference, the hearing officer shall issue a prehearing order incorporating all matters determined at the prehearing conference. If a prehearing conference is not held, the hearing officer may issue a prehearing order, based on the pleadings, to regulate the conduct of the hearing.

(3) Except to the extent precluded by another provision of law, mediation or informal settlement of matters that may make unnecessary more elaborate proceedings under this chapter is encouraged. Agencies that employ informal settlement procedures shall establish by administrative regulation the specific procedures to be used. This subsection shall not be construed, however, as requiring any party to settle a matter pursuant to informal procedures when the right to an administrative hearing is conferred.

course of the proceedings in a manner which will promote the orderly and prompt conduct of the hearing. When a prehearing order has been issued, the hearing officer shall regulate the hearing in conformity with the prehearing order.

(2) The hearing officer, at appropriate stages of the proceedings, shall give all parties full opportunity to file pleadings, motions, objections, and offers of settlement. The hearing officer, at appropriate stages of the proceedings, may give all parties full opportunity to file briefs, proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law, and proposed recommended or final orders. The original of all filings shall be mailed to the agency, and copies of any filed item shall be served on all parties and the hearing officer by mail or any other means permitted by law or prescribed by agency administrative regulation. The agency shall when it is received stamp the time and date upon a document.

(3) The hearing officer may issue subpoenas and discovery orders when requested by a party or on his own volition. When a subpoena is disobeyed, any party may apply to the Circuit Court of the judicial circuit in which the administrative hearing is held for an order requiring obedience. Failure to comply with an order of the court shall be cause for punishment as a contempt of the court.

(4) To the extent necessary for the full disclosure of all relevant facts and issues, the hearing officer shall afford all parties the opportunity to respond, present evidence and argument, conduct cross-examination, and submit rebuttal evidence, except as restricted by limited grant of intervention or a prehearing order.

(5) Any party to an administrative hearing may participate in person or be represented by counsel. In informal proceedings, a party may be represented by other professionals if appropriate and if permitted by the agency by administrative regulation.

(6) If a party properly served under KRS 13B.050 fails to attend or participate in a prehearing conference, hearing, or other stage of the administrative hearing process, or fails to comply with the orders of a hearing officer, the hearing officer may adjourn the proceedings and issue a default order granting or denying relief as appropriate, or may conduct the proceedings without the participation of the defaulting party, having due regard for the interests of justice and the orderly and prompt conduct of the proceedings. A default order shall be considered a recommended order and shall be processed as provided in KRS 13B.110.

(7) A hearing officer may conduct all or part of an administrative hearing, or a prehearing conference, by telephone, television, or other electronic means, if each party to the hearing has an opportunity to hear, and, if technically feasible, to see the entire proceeding as it occurs, and if each party agrees.

(8) An administrative hearing shall be open to the public unless specifically closed pursuant to a provision of law. If an administrative hearing is conducted by telephone, television, or other electronic means, and is not closed, public access shall be satisfied by giving the public an opportunity, at reasonable times, to hear or inspect the agency's record.

Analysis

1. Discretion of Court.
2. Discretion of Hearing Officer.

1. Discretion of Court.

Teacher's motion to reconsider denial of his request to reverse the administrative order of his termination was denied because KRS 13B.080 allowed state court judges to limit nature and scope of administrative hearings and KRS 13B.150 allowed a reviewing court to reverse a final order in part and remand for further proceedings. Furthermore, CR 60.02 did not apply to administrative proceedings. Dixon v. Clem, 419 F. Supp. 2d 947, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10890 (E.D. Ky. 2006).

2. Discretion of Hearing Officer.

Parties in an administrative hearing regarding the termination of tenured teacher's employment for having sexual contact with two students did not have an unlimited right to present evidence, but, under KRS 13B.080, had the right to present evidence to the extent necessary to fully disclose all relevant facts and issues, subject to the discretion of the hearing officer. The tenured teacher under that standard was permitted to present the tenured teacher's case and was not permitted certain requested telephonic testimony, as the Board that was opposing the tenured teacher did not agree to such testimony and, under KRS 13B.080(7) both parties had to agree for such evidence to be presented. Drummond v. Todd County Bd. of Educ., 349 S.W.3d 316, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 155 (Ky. Ct. App. 2011).

13B.090. Findings of fact — Evidence — Recording of hearing — Burdens of proof.

(1) In an administrative hearing, findings of fact shall be based exclusively on the evidence on the record. The hearing officer shall exclude evidence that is irrelevant, immaterial, unduly repetitious, or excludable on constitutional or statutory grounds or on the basis of evidentiary privilege recognized in the courts of this Commonwealth. Hearsay evidence may be admissible, if it is the type of evidence that reasonable and prudent persons would rely on in their daily affairs, but it shall not be sufficient in itself to support an agency's findings of facts unless it would be admissible over objections in civil actions.

(2) All testimony shall be made under oath or affirmation. Any part of the evidence may be received in written form if doing so will expedite the hearing without substantial prejudice to the interests of any party. The hearing officer may make a recommended order in an administrative hearing submitted in written form if the hearing officer determines there are no genuine issues of material fact in dispute and judgment is appropriate as a matter of law.

(3) Any party shall have the right to inspect, at least five (5) days prior to the hearing, a list of all witnesses every other party expects to call at the hearing, and the available documentary or tangible evidence relating to an administrative hearing either in person or by counsel. Copies of documentary evidence may be obtained upon the payment of a fee, except documents protected from disclosure by state or federal law. Nothing in this section shall be construed as giving a party the right to examine or copy the personal notes, observations, or conclusions of the agency staff, unless exculpatory in nature, nor shall it be construed as allowing access to the work product of counsel for the agency. Conditions for examining and copying agency records, fees to be charged, and other matters pertaining to access to these records shall be governed by KRS 61.870 to 61.884. To the extent required by due process, the hearing officer may order the inspection of any records excluded from the application of KRS 61.870 to 61.884 under KRS 61.878 that relate to an act, transaction, or event that is a subject of the hearing, and may order their inclusion in the record under seal.

(4) Objections to evidentiary offers may be made by any party and shall be noted in the record.

(5) The hearing officer may take official notice of facts which are not in dispute, or of generally-recognized technical or scientific facts within the agency's specialized knowledge. The hearing officer shall notify all parties, either before or during the hearing, or in preliminary reports or otherwise, of any facts so noticed and their source. All parties shall be given an opportunity to contest facts officially noticed.

(6) The agency shall cause all testimony, motions, and objections in a hearing to be accurately and completely recorded. Any person, upon request, may receive a copy of the recording or a copy of the transcript, if the hearing has been transcribed, at the discretion of the agency, unless the hearing is closed by law. The agency may prepare a transcript of a hearing or a portion of a hearing upon request but the party making the request shall be responsible for the transcription costs. The form of all requests and fees charged shall be consistent with KRS 61.870 to 61.884.

(7) In all administrative hearings, unless otherwise provided by statute or federal law, the party proposing the agency take action or grant a benefit has the burden to show the propriety of the agency action or entitlement to the benefit sought. The agency has the burden to show the propriety of a penalty imposed or the removal of a benefit previously granted. The party asserting an affirmative defense has the burden to establish that defense. The party with the burden of proof on any issue has the burden of going forward and the ultimate burden of persuasion as to that issue. The ultimate burden of persuasion in all administrative hearings is met by a preponderance of evidence in the record, except when a higher standard of proof is required by law. Failure to meet the burden of proof is grounds for a recommended order from the hearing officer.

History.

Enact. Acts 1994, ch. 382, § 9, effective July 15, 1996; 1996, ch. 318, § 9, effective July 15, 1996; 2018 ch. 188, § 4, effective July 14, 2018.

Analysis

1. In General.
2. Burden of Proof.
3. Procedure.

1. In General.

Consideration of three chapters from a medical textbook offered by the Kentucky Retirement System was proper as: (1) the disability claimant had ample opportunity to submit rebuttal evidence prior to the closing of the file, (2) KRS 13B.090(2) permitted the submission of evidence in written form, and (3) KRS 13B.090(1) permitted the admission of hearsay evidence. McManus v. Ky. Ret. Sys., 124 S.W.3d 454, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 339 (Ky. Ct. App. 2003).

Hearing officer did not improperly assign a disability claimant a burden to prove that the causation of his disability was other than his pre-existing diabetes as KRS 61.665 did not allocate the burden of proof, but specified that hearings were to be conducted in accordance with KRS ch. 13B, which in KRS 13B.090 placed the burden of proof on the claimant. McManus v. Ky. Ret. Sys., 124 S.W.3d 454, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 339 (Ky. Ct. App. 2003).

Hearing officer improperly delegated his authority when he adopted almost verbatim the proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law of the Kentucky Cabinet of Health and Family Services in a Medicaid recoupment appeal. Although the hearing officer was not subject to CR 52.01, the same basic principle applied that it was inappropriate for an administrative hearing officers to delegate such an important part of his authority to a party in a matter before him. Commonwealth v. EPI Corp., 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 114 (Ky. Ct. App. Apr. 14, 2006), aff'd, 2008 Ky. Unpub. LEXIS 33 (Ky. Dec. 18, 2008).

Where the Kentucky Retirement System denied a county employee's application for disability retirement benefits, reversal was warranted because it was unclear from the record when the statements of the government's physicians were submitted and if the employee was given the statutory right to inspect and respond to them. Claxon v. Ky. Ret. Sys., 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 25 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 1, 2008), vacated, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 172 (Ky. June 17, 2009).

2. Burden of Proof.

810 KAR 1:018, § 3(3)(a) creates a presumption a trainer has to rebut, and does not change the burden of proof in 810 KAR 1:018, § 3(3), or even KRS 13B.090(7); the trainer responsibility rule was valid, and where the trainer did not show that he was not negligent and that he exercised a high degree of care in safeguarding a horse from tampering, his suspension was proper even though it was the owner who placed a banned drug in the horse's feed, and not the trainer, who had no knowledge of the owner's actions. Deaton v. Ky. Horse Racing Auth., 172 S.W.3d 803, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 348 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004).

Fire district chiefs had the burden of proving that they were entitled to time-and-a-half overtime pay pursuant to KRS 337.285 because proof that a claimant was an employee was part of their prima facie case for entitlement to overtime pay, not an affirmative defense for which the city employer bore the burden of proof. City of Louisville, Div. of Fire v. Fire Serv. Managers Ass'n by & Through Kaelin, 212 S.W.3d 89, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 296 (Ky. 2006).

Trial court had to determine whether the combined effects of the employee's impairments rendered him unable to return to his former position or like positions, and the appellate court found that KRS 61.600(3)(d) referred to medically and psychiatrically diagnosable maladies only; a claimant bore the burden to come forward with some evidence that his condition did not preexist his service with the Commonwealth, and upon such a threshold showing, the burden of going forward shifted back to the Kentucky Retirement Systems, and smoking could not be considered a preexisting condition. West v. Ky. Ret. Sys., 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 97 (Ky. Ct. App. May 28, 2010).

Under KRS 61.600, a claimant bears the burden to come forward with some evidence that his condition did not preexist his service with the Commonwealth, and, upon such a threshold showing, the burden of going forward shifts back to the retirement systems. While the ultimate burden of persuasion is not moved from the party upon which it was originally cast (the claimant), the systems must come forward with some evidence in rebuttal where a claimant makes a threshold showing that his or her condition was not preexisting, and, while the fact-finder is free to accept or reject any evidence it chooses, it is not free to reject uncontested evidence; therefore, the fact-finder was not free to reject the un rebutted testimony of a doctor relating to the fact that it was highly unlikely that an employee had experienced chronic obstructive pulmonary disease on the year of his re-employment, despite his smoking. West v. Ky. Ret. Sys., 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 125 (Ky. Ct. App. July 15, 2011, sub. op.), 2011 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1002 (Ky. Ct. App. July 15, 2011).

Under KRS 13B.090(7), a claimant bore the burden of proof in demonstrating that she was entitled to disability retirement benefits. Ky. Ret. Sys. v. Lowe, 343 S.W.3d 642, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 162 (Ky. Ct. App. 2011).

Employee had to satisfy his burden of proving that his COPD did not pre-exist his membership in the Kentucky Retirement Systems, KRS 13B.090, 61.600, and the hearing officer's conclusion that the employee's COPD was a pre-existing condition was reasonable; the hearing officer did not consider the combined effect of the employee's impairments and addressed all medical records presented. Ky. Ret. Sys. v. West, 413 S.W.3d 578, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 374 (Ky. 2013).

Circuit court properly affirmed the Kentucky Retirement Systems' Board of Trustees' denial of a former employee's application for disability retirement benefits because the employee's argument on appeal impermissibly shifted her burden of proof to the Board, the persuasive effect of the evidence submitted by the employee was undermined by a doctor's independent psychological examination of the employee, which suggested that she might be feigning or malingering her symptoms, and there was a lack of objective medical evidence to support that any of her conditions were disabling. Bartrum v. Ky. Ret. Sys., 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 17 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 20, 2017, sub. op.), 2017 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 956 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 20, 2017).

Cabinet had the burden to show it was entitled to recoupment as the language of 907 Ky. Admin. Regs. 1:671, § 9(14), and Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 13B.090(7) was clear and unambiguous, and subject to only one reasonable interpretation, i.e., that the agency had the burden of proof to recover benefits paid, even when subject to an audit. Commonwealth v. Loving Care, Inc., 590 S.W.3d 824, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 202 (Ky. Ct. App. 2019).

Department for Community Based Services, Cabinet for Health and Family Services failed to prove its allegation of neglect by appellee by showing that it was more likely than not that appellee failed to provide a child adequate supervision necessary for the child's well-being in the afterschool program as the only evidence presented by the Cabinet that the boys touched each other sexually was unreliable and inconsistent hearsay; and no witness testified that the touching was ever reported to appellee. Dep't for Cmty. Based Servs., Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. Baker, 613 S.W.3d 1, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 459 (Ky. 2020).

Circuit court erred ruling that the Kentucky Retirement Systems bore the burden of proof, as it had to be borne by the county sheriff's office, the employer; the assessment of actuarial costs to the sheriff's office was not properly characterized as a penalty because the assessment was not a punishment for any wrong, breach, violation of law, or some other general infringement. Ky. Ret. Sys. v. Jefferson Cty. Sheriff's Office, 2021 Ky. LEXIS 157 (Ky. June 17, 2021).

Burden of proof was properly assigned to a city because the Kentucky Retirement Systems's assessment was not a penalty, and the city was not deprived of a benefit previously granted by the Retirement Systems; assigning the burden of proof to the city made practical sense because it was in the best position to gather evidence pertaining to an employee or a purported promotion. City of Villa Hills v. Ky. Ret. Sys., 2021 Ky. LEXIS 301 (Ky. Aug. 26, 2021).

3. Procedure.

A trial court could not make a determination that equitable estoppel applied while reviewing the Board's decision about whether the retiree's benefits were properly reduced. The hearing officer had to make such a finding in the first instance, pursuant to KRS 13B.090(1) and KRS 13B.110(1), which the Board was then to review pursuant to KRS 13B.120(2) and (3), followed by the trial court's review and, then, review by the appellate court under KRS 13B.150(2). Bd. of Trs. v. Grant, 257 S.W.3d 591, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 194 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Court of appeals erred in affirming the denial of disability retirement benefits because the hearing officer's original recommendation correctly found the post-employment medical proof, alone, established the employee's disabling Hereditary Hemorrhagic Telangiectasia remained asymptomatic and reasonably undiscoverable; the employee's affidavit and testimony, along with a reasoned reading of his medical records, was sufficient to allow the hearing officer to make an informed determination. Elder v. Ky. Ret. Sys., 617 S.W.3d 310, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 2020).

13B.100. Prohibited communications.

(1) Unless required for the disposition of ex parte matters specifically authorized by statute, a hearing officer shall not communicate off the record with any party to the hearing or any other person who has a direct or indirect interest in the outcome of the hearing, concerning any substantive issue, while the proceeding is pending.

(2) The prohibition stated in subsection (1) shall not apply to:

(a) Communication with other agency staff, if the communication is not an ex parte communication received by staff; and

(b) Communication among members of a collegial body or panel which by law is serving as a hearing officer.

(3) If an ex parte communication occurs, the hearing officer shall note the occurrence for the record, and he shall place in the record a copy of the communication, if it was written, or a memorandum of the substance of the communication, if it was oral.

History.

Enact. Acts 1994, ch. 382, § 10, effective July 15, 1996.

13B.110. Recommended order.

(1) Except when a shorter time period is provided by law, the hearing officer shall complete and submit to the agency head, no later than sixty (60) days after receiving a copy of the official record of the proceeding, a written recommended order which shall include his findings of fact, conclusion of law, and recommended disposition of the hearing, including recommended penalties, if any. The recommended order shall also include a statement advising parties fully of their exception and appeal rights.

(2) If an extension of time is needed by the hearing officer to complete and submit his recommended order to the agency head, the hearing officer shall show good cause to the agency head, in writing, and based upon substantial proof, that an extension of time is needed.

(3) If the agency head, after a showing of good cause, grants the hearing officer an extension of time:

(a) The extension shall not exceed thirty (30) days from the date the extension was granted;

(b) The statement granting the extension shall be included in the record of the hearing; and

(c) Notice of the extension shall be sent to all parties.

(4) A copy of the hearing officer's recommended order shall also be sent to each party in the hearing and each party shall have fifteen (15) days from the date the recommended order is mailed within which to file exceptions to the recommendations with the agency head. Transmittal of a recommended order may be sent by regular mail to the last known address of the party.

(5) The provisions of this section shall not apply in an administrative hearing where the hearing officer conducts the hearing in the presence of the agency head who renders a decision without the recommendation of the hearing officer.

Analysis

1. Service of Notice.
2. Exhaustion of Remedies.
3. Timeliness of Order.
4. Timeliness of Exceptions.
5. Requirements.

1. Service of Notice.

Service of notice upon a party's counsel complies with the mandate of subsection (4) of this section. Flint v. Executive Branch Ethics Comm'n, 981 S.W.2d 132, 1998 Ky. App. LEXIS 131 (Ky. Ct. App. 1998).

2. Exhaustion of Remedies.

The filing of exceptions under a Chapter 13B administrative proceeding is not a prerequisite to obtaining administrative review of a hearing officer's recommended order. When a party fails to file exceptions, the issues the party can raise on judicial review under KRS 13B.140 are limited to those findings and conclusions contained in the agency head's final order that differ from those contained in the hearing officer's recommended order. Rapier v. Philpot, 130 S.W.3d 560, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 2004).

3. Timeliness of Order.

Hearing officer clearly failed to comply with the timeliness requirement of KRS 13B.110(3) when he took more than eight months to render a recommended order after the submission for decision of a Medicaid recoupment appeal. Commonwealth v. EPI Corp., 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 114 (Ky. Ct. App. Apr. 14, 2006), aff'd, 2008 Ky. Unpub. LEXIS 33 (Ky. Dec. 18, 2008).

4. Timeliness of Exceptions.

The language contained in KRS 13B.110(4) is unequivocal and requires that exceptions be filed within fifteen (15) days from the date the recommended order is mailed. The substantial compliance doctrine under CR 73.02 is not applicable to extend the time, nor is CR 6.05 applicable to agency proceedings. Commonwealth v. Copper Care, Inc., 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 136 (Ky. Ct. App. May 2, 2008).

A trial court could not make a determination that equitable estoppel applied while reviewing the Board's decision about whether the retiree's benefits were properly reduced. The hearing officer had to make such a finding in the first instance, pursuant to KRS 13B.090(1) and KRS 13B.110(1), which the Board was then to review pursuant to KRS 13B.120(2) and (3), followed by the trial court's review and, then, review by the appellate court under KRS 13B.150(2). Bd. of Trs. v. Grant, 257 S.W.3d 591, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 194 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

5. Requirements.

Hearing officer erred in failing to recommend a specific penalty for the physician where the legislative history indicated that Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 13B.110(1) required the inclusion of a recommended penalty. Strauss v. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 175 (Ky. Ct. App. May 12, 2017), rev'd, 558 S.W.3d 443, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 273 (Ky. 2018).

Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 13B.110(1) allows a hearing officer to recommend a penalty but it does not require him or her to do so. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure v. Strauss, 558 S.W.3d 443, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 273 (Ky. 2018), cert. denied, 139 S. Ct. 1354, 203 L. Ed. 2d 590, 2019 U.S. LEXIS 1747 (U.S. 2019).

13B.120. Final order.

(1) In making the final order, the agency head shall consider the record including the recommended order and any exceptions duly filed to a recommended order.

(2) The agency head may accept the recommended order of the hearing officer and adopt it as the agency's final order, or it may reject or modify, in whole or in part, the recommended order, or it may remand the matter, in whole or in part, to the hearing officer for further proceedings as appropriate.

(3) The final order in an administrative hearing shall be in writing and stated in the record. If the final order differs from the recommended order, it shall include separate statements of findings of fact and conclusions of law. The final order shall also include the effective date of the order and a statement advising parties fully of available appeal rights.

(4) Except as otherwise required by federal law, the agency head shall render a final order in an administrative hearing within ninety (90) days after:

(a) The receipt of the official record of the hearing in which there was no hearing officer submitting a recommended order under KRS 13B.110; or

(b) The hearing officer submits a recommended order to the agency head, unless the matter is remanded to the hearing officer for further proceedings.

(5) Unless waived by the party, a copy of the final order shall be transmitted to each party or to his attorney of record in the same manner as provided in KRS 13B.050.

(6) This section shall not apply to disposition pursuant to KRS 13B.070(3).

(7) If, pursuant to statute, an agency may review the final order of another agency, the review is deemed to be a continuous proceeding as if before a single agency. The final order of the first agency is treated as a recommended order and the second agency functions as though it were reviewing a recommended order in accordance with this section.

History.

Enact. Acts 1994, ch. 382, § 12, effective July 15, 1996; 1996, ch. 318, § 11, effective July 15, 1996.

Analysis

1. Exhaustion of Remedies.
2. Procedure.
3. Notice of Rights.
4. Construction.

1. Exhaustion of Remedies.

The filing of exceptions under a Chapter 13B administrative proceeding is not a prerequisite to obtaining administrative review of a hearing officer's recommended order. When a party fails to file exceptions, the issues the party can raise on judicial review under KRS 13B.140 are limited to those findings and conclusions contained in the agency head's final order that differ from those contained in the hearing officer's recommended order. Rapier v. Philpot, 130 S.W.3d 560, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 2004).

2. Procedure.

A trial court could not make a determination that equitable estoppel applied while reviewing the Board's decision about whether the retiree's benefits were properly reduced. The hearing officer had to make such a finding in the first instance, pursuant to KRS 13B.090(1) and KRS 13B.110(1), which the Board was then to review pursuant to KRS 13B.120(2) and (3), followed by the trial court's review and, then, review by the appellate court under KRS 13B.150(2). Bd. of Trs. v. Grant, 257 S.W.3d 591, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 194 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Circuit court properly set aside a final order by the secretary of the Cabinet for Health and Family Service because the Cabinet acted in excess of its statutory authority by freezing a mental health provider's reimbursement rates for seven years without reference to its actual costs and failed to set forth sufficient findings to explain the deviation from the hearing officer's recommended findings concerning the amount which the provider was owed. Commonwealth v. RiverValley Behavioral Health, 465 S.W.3d 460, 2014 Ky. App. LEXIS 148 (Ky. Ct. App. 2014).

Under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 13B.120, the Kentucky Board of Medical Licensure is to consider the record, including the hearing officer's recommended order, any witness or expert testimony, exceptions filed by the parties, and the original grievances initiating the investigation, and determine whether substantial evidence supports revoking a physician's medical license. Moses v. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 13 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 12, 2016), review denied, ordered not published, 2016 Ky. LEXIS 474 (Ky. Sept. 15, 2016).

Physician's argument that the Kentucky Board of Medical Licensure did not consider the record in revoking his license was rejected where he had not articulated how any evidence in the record contradicted the hearing officer's findings or the evidence presented at the administrative hearing. Moses v. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 13 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 12, 2016), review denied, ordered not published, 2016 Ky. LEXIS 474 (Ky. Sept. 15, 2016).

Kentucky Board of Medical Licensure violated Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 13B.120(1) in imposing a probationary period on a physician where the statute required the Board to review, at a minimum, the hearing officer's recommended order, the exceptions filed by the parties, and the evidence relied on by the hearing officer, and the Board had failed to review or consider the record before making its final order. Strauss v. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 175 (Ky. Ct. App. May 12, 2017), rev'd, 558 S.W.3d 443, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 273 (Ky. 2018).

Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 13B.120(1) requires the Kentucky Board of Medical Licensure to consider the record, including the recommended order and exceptions, but it does not require the Board to review the proceedings in their entirety before issuing a final order. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure v. Strauss, 558 S.W.3d 443, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 273 (Ky. 2018), cert. denied, 139 S. Ct. 1354, 203 L. Ed. 2d 590, 2019 U.S. LEXIS 1747 (U.S. 2019).

Plain reading of the statute simply does not support the proposition that the Kentucky Board of Medical Licensure must review the entire hearing and exhibits. Instead, it requires the Board to think carefully and to take into account the record including the recommended order and the exceptions, leaving to the Board the discretion as to what other parts of the record, if any, need to be examined. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure v. Strauss, 558 S.W.3d 443, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 273 (Ky. 2018), cert. denied, 139 S. Ct. 1354, 203 L. Ed. 2d 590, 2019 U.S. LEXIS 1747 (U.S. 2019).

3. Notice of Rights.

Reversal was required where intermediate court's decision rested on premise that the agency's final order failed to advise claimant of his right to file exceptions. Neither logic nor the applicable statute, KRS 13B.120(3), required the final order to advise parties to a recommended order of their right to file exceptions. Furthermore, the hearing officer's recommended order in the case fully complied with the requirements of KRS 13B.110(1). Rapier v. Philpot, 130 S.W.3d 560, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 2004).

4. Construction.

Plain meaning of Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 13B.120(1) indicates that the legislature intended for the Kentucky Board of Medical Licensure to consider the record, including the hearing officer's recommended order; any testimony presented by witnesses or experts, as well as the exceptions filed by the parties and the original grievances which initiated the investigation; and make a determination as to whether substantial evidence supports revoking a physician's medical license. Strauss v. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 175 (Ky. Ct. App. May 12, 2017), rev'd, 558 S.W.3d 443, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 273 (Ky. 2018).

Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 13B.120(1) requires the Kentucky Board of Medical Licensure to review, at a minimum, the hearing officer's recommended order, the exceptions filed by the parties, and the evidence relied on by the hearing officer. Strauss v. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 175 (Ky. Ct. App. May 12, 2017), rev'd, 558 S.W.3d 443, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 273 (Ky. 2018).

13B.125. Emergency action — Hearing — Appeal.

(1) An agency may take emergency action affecting the legal rights, duties, privileges or immunities of named persons without a hearing only if duly authorized by statute to so act. If an agency takes emergency action, the agency shall conduct an emergency hearing in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(2) An agency head or an official of an agency duly authorized by law to summarily act in emergency situations may issue an emergency order to stop, prevent, or avoid an immediate danger to the public health, safety, or welfare. The emergency order shall contain findings of fact and conclusions of law upon which the agency bases the emergency order. The agency shall give notice of the emergency order to all affected parties as is practicable under the circumstances, and notice shall be served in the same manner as provided in KRS 13B.050(2). The emergency order is effective when received by the affected party or his representative.

(3) Any person required to comply with an emergency order issued under subsection (2) of this section may request an emergency hearing to determine the propriety of the order. The agency shall conduct an emergency hearing within ten (10) working days of the request for hearing. The agency shall give all affected parties reasonable notice of the hearing and to the extent practicable shall conduct the hearing in conformity with this chapter. The hearing on the emergency order may be conducted by a hearing officer qualified in accordance with KRS 13B.040. Within five (5) working days of completion of the hearing, the agency or hearing officer shall render a written decision affirming, modifying, or revoking the emergency order. The emergency order shall be affirmed if there is substantial evidence of a violation of law which constitutes an immediate danger to the public health, safety, or welfare.

(4) The decision rendered under subsection (3) of this section shall be a final order of the agency on the matter, and any party aggrieved by the decision may appeal to Circuit Court in the same manner as provided in KRS 13B.140.

13B.140. Judicial review of final order.

(1) Except as provided in KRS 452.005, all final orders of an agency shall be subject to judicial review in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. A party shall institute an appeal by filing a petition in the Circuit Court of venue, as provided in the agency's enabling statutes, within thirty (30) days after the final order of the agency is mailed or delivered by personal service. If venue for appeal is not stated in the enabling statutes, a party may appeal to Franklin Circuit Court or the Circuit Court of the county in which the appealing party resides or operates a place of business. Copies of the petition shall be served by the petitioner upon the agency and all parties of record. The petition shall include the names and addresses of all parties to the proceeding and the agency involved, and a statement of the grounds on which the review is requested. The petition shall be accompanied by a copy of the final order.

(2) A party may file a petition for judicial review only after the party has exhausted all administrative remedies available within the agency whose action is being challenged, and within any other agency authorized to exercise administrative review.

(3) Within twenty (20) days after the service of the petition, or within further time allowed by the court, the agency shall transmit to the reviewing court the original or a certified copy of the official record of the proceeding under review. By stipulation of all parties to the review proceedings, the record may be shortened. The court may require or permit subsequent correction or additions to the official record. If the court requests a transcript of proceedings that have not been transcribed, the cost of the transcription shall be paid by the party initiating the appeal, unless otherwise agreed to by all parties.

(4) A petition for judicial review shall not automatically stay a final order pending the outcome of the review, unless:

- (a) An automatic stay is provided by statute upon appeal or at any point in the administrative proceedings;
- (b) A stay is permitted by the agency and granted upon request; or
- (c) A stay is ordered by the Circuit Court of jurisdiction upon petition.

Analysis

1. Applicability.
2. Exhaustion of Remedies.
3. Petition Requirements.
4. Venue.
5. Timely Filing.
6. Administrative Record.

1. Applicability.

While procedurally the right to appellate review pursuant to KRS 13B.140 of a non-licensee who had been aggrieved by the imposition of administrative fines is plausible, it is more likely that the Legislature confined the right to appellate review to those situations pertaining to the refusal, revocation, or suspension of licenses simply because it did not envision persons not licensed, not applicants for licenses, or aggrieved by the issuance or non-issuance of licenses, to be within the scope of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board's jurisdictional reach. Ky. Licensed Bev. Ass'n v. Louisville-Jefferson County Metro Gov't, 127 S.W.3d 647, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 39 (Ky. 2004).

Policy of the Supreme Court of Kentucky was not to contest the propriety of legislation in the area of governance of the Kentucky Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) to which the court could have acceded through a wholesome comity; pursuant to KRS 13B.140, an appeal of an AOC personnel action was properly filed in the Circuit Court. Jones v. Commonwealth, 171 S.W.3d 53, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 233 (Ky. 2005).

Circuit Court erred in granting summary judgment against a golf cart manufacturer and a taxpayer on standing grounds, as the manufacturer, as a disappointed bid contractor, had standing to challenge the State of Kentucky Finance and Administration Cabinet's decision awarding a government contract to a competitive bidder on the grounds that it was arbitrary and capricious; further, the taxpayer had standing to challenge a bid contract award where there was proof of arbitrariness or capriciousness, and under the general rule that taxpayers had standing to sue where they have suffered a distinct injury. Yamaha Motor Mfg. Corp. of Am. v. Commonwealth, 2005 Ky. App. LEXIS 239 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 10, 2005), aff'd, 237 S.W.3d 203, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 203 (Ky. 2007).

Since KRS 103.195 et seq., creating the Kentucky Private Activity Bond Allocation Committee, does not provide either for administrative review or for an appeal from Committee rulings, the general administrative appeal statute, KRS 13B.140, governs, and that statute imposes a 30-day limitations period for appeals to a court from final administrative rulings. Bear Creek Capital, LLC v. Toebben, Ltd., 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 135 (Ky. Ct. App. May 4, 2007, sub. op.), 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 309 (Ky. Ct. App. May 4, 2007).

Even if the provisions of KRS 13B.140(1) and 13B.010(1) were applicable to the actions of a county board of education, the board waived any jurisdictional defect by not objecting until after the Circuit Court and the Court of Appeals decided the issues regarding a student's expulsion pursuant to KRS 158.150. M.K.J. v. Bourbon County Bd. of Educ., 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 286 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 29, 2008).

While a circuit court lacked jurisdiction to review the authority of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Kentucky to perform certain administrative actions, it had jurisdiction to review Administrative Office of the Courts personnel actions, whether ordered by the Chief Justice directly or by delegation, to the extent permitted by KRS 13B.140. Travis v. Admin. Office of the Courts, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 163 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 23, 2011), review denied, ordered not published, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 428 (Ky. May 16, 2012).

2. Exhaustion of Remedies.

Because the former deputy liquidator did not exhaust the administrative remedies, the trial court lacked jurisdiction to grant summary judgment. Exec. Branch Ethics Comm'n v. Stephens, 92 S.W.3d 69, 2002 Ky. LEXIS 200 (Ky. 2002).

Corporation appealing from unfavorable ruling in the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals complied with the requirements of KRS 13B.140(1) by naming the board in its petition and serving the board with a copy of its petition when the corporation appealed to the Circuit Court. Revenue Cabinet v. LWD, Inc., 2002 Ky. App. LEXIS 503 (Ky. Ct. App. Mar. 15, 2002), aff'd, 136 S.W.3d 472, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 145 (Ky. 2004).

Retiree's declaratory judgment action was dismissed because the highest court held that the retiree was required by KRS 61.645 to exhaust KRS ch. 13B administrative remedies before she could appeal a final order of the Kentucky Employees Retirement Systems based upon the constitutionality of 105 KAR 1:210 that a hearing officer had held was to be applied or based upon her argument that § 1:210 as it was going to be applied was in conflict with KRS 61.665(2)(e). Ky. Ret. Sys. v. Lewis, 163 S.W.3d 1, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 85 (Ky. 2005), modified, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 190 (Ky. June 16, 2005).

Because it was apparent that a party was challenging the facial constitutionality of a regulation, the party's failure to exhaust administrative remedies did not bar it from seeking judicial review. St. Luke Hosps., Inc. v. Commonwealth, 254 S.W.3d 830, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 146 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Although the adult citizen sought a declaration pursuant to KRS 418.040 that the statutes and regulations allowing the adult citizen to be investigated based on an unidentified hotline caller's claim that the adult citizen had sexually abused a minor were unconstitutional, and assertions that the statutes and regulations were unconstitutional could avoid the normal KRS 13B.140(2) exhaustion-of-administrative-remedies requirement, that did not mean the adult citizen's contention was ripe for review. Indeed, the state supreme court found that in its discretion pursuant to KRS 418.065 it could find that review of the trial and appellate court's judgment finding the statutes and regulations were constitutional were not ripe for review and order further proceedings, as the administrative proceedings had not even been concluded. W.B. v. Commonwealth, 388 S.W.3d 108, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 200 (Ky. 2012).

3. Petition Requirements.

Trial court properly denied the Kentucky Revenue Cabinet's motion to dismiss the corporations' appeal of the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals' denial of an occasional sale exemption to their leasing activities, for the alleged failure to name an indispensable party; the corporations' petition of appeal named the Board twice, and included the Board's address, which strictly complied with KRS 13B.140(1), and a copy of the petition was served on the Board. LWD Equip., Inc. v. Revenue Cabinet, 136 S.W.3d 472, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 145 (Ky. 2004).

The Full Faith and Credit Doctrine of 28 USCS § 1738 precluded plaintiffs' Title VII claims against the Cabinet for Health and Family Services based on the doctrine of res judicata because plaintiff had previously raised the same issues against the Cabinet in state court and the claims were dismissed based on her failure to comply with the time requirements of KRS 13B.140. Njoku v. Kentucky, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 30215 (E.D. Ky. Apr. 24, 2007).

Trial court did not err in dismissing the agency review on the grounds that the applicant who filed an appeal of the Cabinet's hiring decision to the personnel board was not served with process as required by KRS 13B.140(1), and the trial court did not find that the applicant's counsel waived personal service on the applicant's behalf; the trial court did not make any findings on the issue of waiver of service of process but limited its findings to the applicant's personal service and omitted address. Transp. Cabinet v. Caudill, 278 S.W.3d 643, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 32 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009), limited, Almcare v. Commonwealth, 2020 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 776 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 4, 2020).

Trial court did not err in dismissing the review of the agency's appeal on the grounds that the applicant who filed an appeal of the Cabinet's hiring decision was not served with process as required by KRS 13B.140(1); the applicant did not take affirmative steps to subject himself to the trial court's jurisdiction; the notice of affidavit and affidavit were filed by the applicant's counsel and indicated that he did not waive or accept service on the applicant's behalf. Transp. Cabinet v. Caudill, 278 S.W.3d 643, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 32 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009), limited, Almcare v. Commonwealth, 2020 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 776 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 4, 2020).

Although the failure to list an address of a party of record on a petition was not necessarily fatal, because the applicant who challenged the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet's appointment of a private sector employee as superintendent with the Cabinet was never personally served, even after the error was discovered, the failure to serve the applicant the petition was fatal to the appeal. Transp. Cabinet v. Caudill, 278 S.W.3d 643, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 32 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009), limited, Almcare v. Commonwealth, 2020 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 776 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 4, 2020).

Even though the statute does not mention summonses, the summons requirement set forth in the civil rules is not inconsistent with the statutory procedures and is required to commence an action in the circuit court. Ky. Horse Racing Comm'n v. Motion, 592 S.W.3d 739, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 49 (Ky. Ct. App. 2019).

4. Venue.

County where one of an operator's long-term care facilities was located was the proper venue in an appeal by the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services from a judgment against it in a Medicaid recoupment proceeding because the Cabinet's enabling statutes did not contain a statement regarding venue and because, absent compelling or unusual circumstances, a court is duty bound to hear cases within its vested jurisdiction. Commonwealth v. EPI Corp., 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 114 (Ky. Ct. App. Apr. 14, 2006), aff'd, 2008 Ky. Unpub. LEXIS 33 (Ky. Dec. 18, 2008).

5. Timely Filing.

A retiree's appeal was not untimely on the ground that although the deadline for filing the appeal fell on a legal holiday under KRS 2.110(1), the Circuit Court remained open on that day; the retiree was entitled to the extra day to file since Columbus Day was a legal holiday pursuant to KRS 2.110. When the deadline for filing a legal document falls on a "legal holiday" as designated by KRS 2.110, but the courthouse remains open that day, the petitioner receives an extra day to file, even though the courthouse remains open on a legal holiday. Wilkins v. Ky. Ret. Sys. Bd. of Trs., 276 S.W.3d 812, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 13 (Ky. 2009).

Circuit court had jurisdiction to hear an appeal by a horse trainer and owner (the appellees) because they filed their petition for appeal before the 30-day deadline and, even though they did not serve a summons on the Attorney General, they commenced the action in good faith, there was no evidence of deceit, and when the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission moved to dismiss the appeal, the appellees corrected the error within 14 days. Ky. Horse Racing Comm'n v. Motion, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 314 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 21, 2018).

Circuit court correctly allowed a case to proceed because the case was commenced in good faith since a trainer and an owner gave copies of their appeal to the Attorney General and to agents of the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission within the 30-day timeframe and had summonses issued; they intended to properly commence the action and believed a summons was not necessary, and that belief was reasonable based on the wording of the statute and the lack of published case law on the issue. Ky. Horse Racing Comm'n v. Motion, 592 S.W.3d 739, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 49 (Ky. Ct. App. 2019).

Order dismissing a student's petition challenging the failure to designate him as a student with a disability was upheld because it was untimely and none of the three reasons for the late filing justified proceeding to the merits of the petition. J.M. v. Oldham County Bd. of Educ., 647 S.W.3d 279, 2022 Ky. App. LEXIS 57 (Ky. Ct. App. 2022).

6. Administrative Record.

The personnel board's failure to send the original or a copy of the administrative record to the trial court did not necessitate the reversal of the trial court's order; because the Board's failure to send the complete administrative record to the trial court did not prejudice the Cabinet's case, the error was harmless. Transp. Cabinet v. Caudill, 278 S.W.3d 643, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 32 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009), limited, Almcare v. Commonwealth, 2020 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 776 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 4, 2020).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Petition Requirements.

Unpublished decision: Circuit Court erred in denying the Cabinet for Health and Family Services' motion to dismiss a Medicaid enrollee's appeal for lack of standing because the enrollee's authorized agents also proceeded on behalf of a hospital, the exhibits attached to the petition provided enough information to comply with the statutory requirements, and the Cabinet's sovereign immunity was waived by the Medical Service Provider Agreement between the Cabinet and the managed care organization and the statute for contract actions against the Commonwealth. Commonwealth v. Sexton, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 151 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 2, 2016, sub. op., 2016 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 888 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 2, 2016)).

(1) Except as provided in KRS 452.005, review of a final order shall be conducted by the court without a jury and shall be confined to the record, unless there is fraud or misconduct involving a party engaged in administration of this chapter. The court, upon request, may hear oral argument and receive written briefs. Challenges to the constitutionality of a final order shall be reviewed in accordance with KRS 452.005.

(2) The court shall not substitute its judgment for that of the agency as to the weight of the evidence on questions of fact. The court may affirm the final order or it may reverse the final order, in whole or in part, and remand the case for further proceedings if it finds the agency's final order is:

- (a) In violation of constitutional or statutory provisions;
- (b) In excess of the statutory authority of the agency;
- (c) Without support of substantial evidence on the whole record;
- (d) Arbitrary, capricious, or characterized by abuse of discretion;
- (e) Based on an ex parte communication which substantially prejudiced the rights of any party and likely affected the outcome of the hearing;
- (f) Prejudiced by a failure of the person conducting a proceeding to be disqualified pursuant to KRS 13B.040(2); or
- (g) Deficient as otherwise provided by law.

1. Substantial Evidence.

Kentucky Horse Racing Authority (KHRA) did not act arbitrarily in denying an applicant's request for a horse racing license where: (1) the proposed track could have a detrimental impact on Kentucky Off-Track Betting System sites, (2) an ad hoc committee of the KHRA found that four tracks had failed, one was in financial trouble, and one project had been approved but was never completed, and (3) while the applicant presented corporate disclosure forms that included supporting data and expert analysis concerning the costs and feasibility of the project, those who spoke in opposition to the application were not required to submit like evidence. S. Bluegrass Racing, LLC v. Ky. Horse Racing Auth., 136 S.W.3d 49, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 141 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004).

Determination rendered by the Kentucky Retirement System that an employee's purchase of non-qualified service time had to be based on the full actuarial cost as determined by the system was correct; but, it both factually and legally erred in basing the purchase cost upon a full-time annual salary when the employee was employed as a permanent part-time, and not a full-time, employee. Ky. Ret. Sys. v. Heavrin, 172 S.W.3d 808, 2005 Ky. App. LEXIS 24 (Ky. Ct. App. 2005).

Because there was no evidence that a church intended to use its property for investment purposes or to construct anything other than a church, a Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals order denying tax exempt status to a portion of the property was without substantial evidence on the whole record. St. Andrew Orthodox Church, Inc. v. Thompson, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 260 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 10, 2007, sub. op., 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 523 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 10, 2007)).

Substantial evidence supported the determination of the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals that parts and supplies provided by a taxpayer to customers under maintenance agreements for office equipment constituted a retail sale pursuant to KRS 139.100 (now repealed) and KRS 139.120(1) (now repealed), such that sales tax was to be charged to the customers under KRS 139.200 rather than having a use tax charged to the taxpayer under former KRS 139.190. Fin. & Admin. Cabinet v. Duplicator Sales & Serv., 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 287 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 17, 2007, sub. op., 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 478 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 17, 2007)).

The Kentucky Alcoholic Beverage Control Board did not abuse its discretion in granting a retail drink license to a business by interpreting former KRS 241.075 as meaning that the required measurement under the statute must be via the shortest route of ordinary pedestrian travel that was both lawful and safe. Louisville/Jefferson County Metro Gov't v. TDC Group, LLC, 283 S.W.3d 657, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 28 (Ky. 2009).

Energy and environment cabinet secretary's finding that farmers were the individuals with primary responsibility for farms' day-to-day operations was supported by substantial evidence; as there was much factual dispute and evidence presented, the trial court had to determine if the decision of the Energy and environment cabinet secretary was supported by substantial evidence, the trial court issued an opinion that was contrary to this standard, and the court disagreed with the trial court's holding in this regard. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

As substantial evidence supported the energy and environment cabinet secretary's finding that farmers were the individuals with primary responsibility for farms' day-to-day operations, reversal would have only been proper if the secretary incorrectly applied the law to the facts, but the court did not find that to be the case; the trial court imposed its own interpretation of the law instead of deferring to the cabinet's interpretation, the secretary's interpretation was reasonable and entitled to deference, and reversal of the trial court's decision was proper. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Mere fact that the legislature declined to adopt administrative regulations imposing per se integrator liability cannot in and of itself be interpreted to mean that an individual who is primarily responsible, as that term is defined by Kentucky law, cannot be required to sign as a co-permittee, if in fact such a finding is supported by substantial evidence. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Permits issues to farmers were no-discharge permits, and the energy and environment cabinet secretary's ruling on the issue was supported by substantial evidence and otherwise proper; the trial court found that permits ran afoul of KRS 224.10-100(5), (19), but the court could not agree with the trial court's finding that the statutes at issue required permit conditions that related to pathogens, and as the cabinet decided not to exercise its special condition authority, the court found no reason to disturb this. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Energy and environment cabinet's special condition authority was properly exercised and the secretary's decision was supported by substantial evidence, as experts were consulted, setbacks that were established were rationally related to the permit operations, and the setbacks were made according to the best professional judgment of the cabinet. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Trial court substituted its own preferred interpretation over that of the energy and environment cabinet secretary, even though the agency's interpretation was both reasonable and supported by substantial evidence; the court reversed. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Court applied the standards of review, including substantial evidence under KRS 13B.150(2), to the issues raised by the parties. Adams v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 190 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012, sub. op., 2012 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1058 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012)).

Finding that appellants were the ones with primary responsibility for farm day-to-day operations was supported by substantial evidence, and the secretary's interpretation of the regulation was reasonable and required to be afforded deference; as the trial court imposed its own interpretation of the law instead of deferring to the cabinet's interpretation, reversal of the trial court was appropriate. Adams v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 190 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012, sub. op., 2012 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1058 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012)).

As there was much factual dispute and much evidence presented, it was the trial court's duty to determine if the secretary's opinion was supported by substantial evidence, and the court disagreed with the finding that another farm had primary responsibility. Adams v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 190 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012, sub. op., 2012 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1058 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012)).

Mere fact that the legislature declined to adopt administrative regulations imposing per se integrator liability cannot in and of itself be interpreted to mean that an individual who is primarily responsible, as that term is defined by Kentucky law, cannot be required to sign as a co-permittee, if in fact such a finding is supported by substantial evidence. Adams v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 190 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012, sub. op., 2012 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1058 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012)).

Permits were no-discharge permits, and thus a discharge could not be assumed, the secretary's rulings was supported by substantial evidence, and the court found no reason to disturb the decision of the Kentucky Energy and Environment Cabinet Division of Water not to exercise its special condition authority. Adams v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 190 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012, sub. op., 2012 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1058 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012)).

Special condition authority of the Kentucky Energy and Environment Cabinet Division of Water is entirely discretionary, that authority was properly exercised in this case, and the secretary's decision was supported by substantial evidence, as experts were consulted, and the setbacks established were rationally related to permit operations. Adams v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 190 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012, sub. op., 2012 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1058 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012)).

Substantial evidence supported the Kentucky Retirement Systems Board of Trustee's decision denying the former employee's application for disability benefits because two physicians, a vocational consultant, and an exercise physiologist provided credible and convincing evidence that the employee was capable of performing medium-duty work, and the employee's proof and his physicians' evidence was not so compelling that no reasonable person could fail to be persuaded by it. Ky. Ret. Sys. v. Ashcraft, 559 S.W.3d 812, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 442 (Ky. 2018).

Even in those cases where the applicant has failed to meet his or her burden of proof, a reviewing court should first consider whether substantial evidence supports the Kentucky Retirement Systems' Board of Trustee's decision; if there is not substantial evidence, reversal is appropriate. If there is substantial evidence, the court must further consider whether the applicant's proof was so compelling that no reasonable person could have failed to be persuaded. Ky. Ret. Sys. v. Ashcraft, 559 S.W.3d 812, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 442 (Ky. 2018).

2. Review Proper.

Kentucky Horse Racing Authority (KHRA) disqualified a harness horse as the winner of two (2) races due to the presence of flunixin in its urine. The Circuit Court properly affirmed this decision because (1) the KHRA's finding was not arbitrary and capricious, as it was supported by substantial evidence; (2) it was unnecessary to establish a perfect chain of custody and the evidence showed there was no tampering with the urine samples; (3) the "trainer responsibility rule" (811 KAR 1:090) was constitutional; (4) there was no double jeopardy violation, since the action was civil in nature; (5) 811 KAR 1:090, § 4(1), which outlawed flunixin for harness horses but not thoroughbreds, did not violate equal protection principles. Allen v. Ky. Horse Racing Auth., 136 S.W.3d 54, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 138 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004).

Psychologist had no support for his contention that the court erred by failing to conduct a jury trial in regard to the psychologist's challenge of his license suspension as a judicial review of an administrative proceeding did not involve the fact finding function which was an inherent function of an initial administrative or trial court proceeding. Maggard v. Commonwealth, 2005 Ky. App. LEXIS 245 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 18, 2005), aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 282 S.W.3d 301, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 237 (Ky. 2008).

Teacher's motion to reconsider denial of his request to reverse the administrative order of his termination was denied because KRS 13B.080 allowed state court judges to limit nature and scope of administrative hearings and KRS 13B.150 allowed a reviewing court to reverse a final order in part and remand for further proceedings. Furthermore, CR 60.02 did not apply to administrative proceedings. Dixon v. Clem, 419 F. Supp. 2d 947, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10890 (E.D. Ky. 2006).

Circuit Court acted within its appropriate role as a reviewing court in reversing in part the decision of the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals (KBTA) as the Circuit Court placed a different interpretation on the constitutional provision at issue, which was permitted under KRS 13B.150(2)(a). Additionally, the trial court held that the KBTA's decision was without support of substantial evidence on the whole record, which was permitted under § 13B.150(2)(c). Freeman v. St. Andrew Orthodox Church, Inc., 294 S.W.3d 425, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 2009).

3. Procedure.

While a psychologist was not entitled to a jury trial on his claims of fraud and misconduct by the Kentucky State Board of Examiners of Psychology under KRS 13B.150(1) in proceedings that resulted in the suspension of his license, he was entitled to discovery on those claims as the particularity requirement in CR 9.02 did not apply on judicial review of an administrative action. Maggard v. Commonwealth, 282 S.W.3d 301, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 237 (Ky. 2008).

A trial court could not make a determination that equitable estoppel applied while reviewing the Board's decision about whether the retiree's benefits were properly reduced. The hearing officer had to make such a finding in the first instance, pursuant to KRS 13B.090(1) and KRS 13B.110(1), which the Board was then to review pursuant to KRS 13B.120(2) and (3), followed by the trial court's review and, then, review by the appellate court under KRS 13B.150(2). Bd. of Trs. v. Grant, 257 S.W.3d 591, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 194 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Kentucky Court of Appeals erred in determining that the opinions of treating physicians were entitled to more weight than the opinions of non-examining physicians; pursuant to KRS 13B.150(2), the Court of Appeals was without authority to adopt and apply the treating physician rule in an administrative hearing regarding disability retirement benefits. Ky. Ret. Sys. v. Bowns, 281 S.W.3d 776, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 49 (Ky. 2009).

Under the McManus standard, a court cannot substitute its judgment on those contested issues of fact but if the appealing party has not met his burden of proof with the fact-finder, the court can properly, indeed must, consider whether that party's proof was so compelling that no reasonable person could have failed to be persuaded. If this high standard is met, so is this section which allows for reversal when a final order is arbitrary, capricious, or characterized by an abuse of discretion. Ky. Ret. Sys. v. Ashcraft, 559 S.W.3d 812, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 442 (Ky. 2018).

4. Credibility Determinations.

The Circuit Court erred in holding that the possible drug use and psychological history of the complainant, who alleged sexual misconduct against the doctor, created a substantial question as to her credibility and erred in disregarding, under KRS 13B.150(2), the hearing officer's credibility determination. The mere fact that a complainant may have been using prescription medication at the time of the incident did not amount to a substantial possibility of the doctor winning on the merits, as required under Kentucky law. Norsworthy v. Ky. Bd. of Med. Licensure, 330 S.W.3d 58, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 94 (Ky. 2009).

5. Deference.

Commonwealth of Kentucky, Energy and Environment Cabinet is required to impose a special permit condition only when, in the Cabinet's best professional judgment, a special permit condition was "necessary" to implement 401 Ky. Admin. Regs. 63:020, and the Cabinet's authority in this regard is highly discretionary, and, thus, entitled to great deference. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Authority of Kentucky Energy and Environment Cabinet Division of Water to impose special permit conditions is highly discretionary and, thus, entitled to great deference. Adams v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 190 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012, sub. op., 2012 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1058 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012)).

Circuit court had to exercise its authority to review the Tribunal's order and to reject it if, among other things, its decision was in violation of constitutional or statutory provisions, KRS 13B.150(2)(a), including an improper application of the statutory term "conduct unbecoming a teacher;" an additional adjudicative hearing was not appropriate or necessary as there was nothing for the Tribunal to adjudicate. Bd. of Educ. v. Hurley-Richards, 396 S.W.3d 879, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2013).

McManus standard to review the denial of a disability retirement application met statutory standards because (1) the standard first decided if substantial evidence supported the denial, and, if so, whether the applicant's evidence was so compelling that no reasonable person could fail to be persuaded, and (2) it was inappropriate to re-apply the preponderance standard on judicial review, given the deference to which an administrative determination was entitled. Bradley v. Ky. Ret. Sys., 567 S.W.3d 114, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 446 (Ky. 2018).

6. Arbitrary Review.

Court believes the authority of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Energy and Environment Cabinet to exercise its special condition authority to be almost entirely discretionary and, thus, not appropriately disturbed absent an action on the part of the Cabinet that is clearly arbitrary, and that was not the case here. Commonwealth v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 189 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012).

Court believes the authority of the Kentucky Energy and Environment Cabinet Division of Water to exercise its special condition authority under 401 KAR 5:005 to be almost entirely discretionary and, thus, not appropriately disturbed absent an action on the part of the Cabinet that is clearly arbitrary, and that was not the case here. Adams v. Sharp, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 190 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012, sub. op., 2012 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1058 (Ky. Ct. App. May 25, 2012)).

Circuit court's order affirming the start date for the claimant's Medicaid benefits was reversed where the Cabinet for Health and Family Services conceded that it failed to acknowledge her appeal in writing, the claimant had no opportunity to file a brief or submit new and additional proof, and thus, a reversal was warranted under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 13B.150(2)(a). Marcum v. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs., 496 S.W.3d 480, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 123 (Ky. Ct. App. 2016).

7. Fraud.

This section does not create an express or overwhelmingly implied waiver of sovereign immunity for fraud claims, nor does it allow a party to separately recover damages for fraud. Therefore, in an action relating to Medicaid reimbursement, this section allowed a hospital to present evidence of extrinsic fraud as part of its statutory appeal from a final order from the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services, but the hospital could not have asserted an independent claim for damages arising out of that alleged fraud. Commonwealth v. Samaritan Alliance, LLC, 439 S.W.3d 757, 2014 Ky. App. LEXIS 27 (Ky. Ct. App. 2014).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Due process.

Statutory scheme regarding the certification of a law enforcement officer and revocation of that certification, under

KRS 15.380 et seq., when the officer's employment was terminated for certain reasons, clearly envisioned that an officer would obtain his due process rights regarding his certification through the employment termination process. Pangallo v. Ky. Law Enforcement Council, 106 S.W.3d 474, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 102 (Ky. Ct. App. 2003).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A county detective employed by a county that does not contain a consolidated local government does not have arrest powers; may, but is not required to be, sworn in and wear a badge; and, if an off-duty police officer, retains arrest powers consistent with the law. OAG 13-008, 2013 Ky. AG LEXIS 126.

15.382. Minimum qualifications for certification.

A person certified after December 1, 1998, under KRS 15.380 to 15.404 or qualified under the requirements set forth in KRS 15.440(1)(d)6. shall, at the time of becoming certified, meet the following minimum qualifications:

- (1) Be a citizen of the United States;
- (2) Be at least twenty-one (21) years of age;

 - (b) Possess a High School Equivalency Diploma;
- (4) Possess a valid license to operate a motor vehicle;
- (5) Be fingerprinted for a criminal background check;
- (6) Not have been convicted of any felony; a misdemeanor under KRS 510.120, 510.130, or 510.140; a second or subsequent offense under KRS 510.148; or a criminal attempt, conspiracy, facilitation, or solicitation to commit any degree of rape, sodomy, sexual abuse, or sexual misconduct;

However, if the employing agency has its own validated job task analysis, the person shall pass the medical examination, appropriate to the agency's job task analysis, of the employing agency. All agencies shall certify passing medical examination results to the council, which shall accept them as complying with KRS 15.310 to 15.510;
- (11) Have passed a drug screening test administered or approved by the council by administrative regulation. A person shall be deemed to have passed a drug screening test if the results of the test are negative for the use of an illegal controlled substance or prescription drug abuse. Any agency that administers its own test that meets or exceeds this standard shall certify passing test results to the council, which shall accept them as complying with KRS 15.310 to 15.510;

(12) Have undergone a background investigation established or approved by the council by administrative regulation to determine suitability for the position of a peace officer. If the employing agency has established its own background investigation that meets or exceeds the standards of the council, as set forth by administrative regulation, the agency shall conduct the background investigation and shall certify background investigation results to the council, which shall accept them as complying with KRS 15.310 to 15.510;

(14) Not have had certification as a peace officer permanently revoked in another state;

(15) Have taken a psychological suitability screening administered or approved by the council by administrative regulation to determine the person's suitability to perform peace officer duties as determined by a council validated job task analysis. However, if the employing agency has its own validated job task analysis, the person shall take that agency's psychological examination, appropriate to the agency's job task analysis. All agencies shall certify psychological examination results to the council, which shall accept them as complying with KRS 15.310 to 15.510;

(17) Have taken a polygraph examination administered or approved by the council by administrative regulation to determine his suitability to perform peace officer duties. Any agency that administers its own polygraph examination as approved by the council shall certify the results that indicate whether a person is suitable for employment as a peace officer to the council, which shall accept them as complying with KRS 15.310 to 15.510.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. National Guard.

Discharge from the National Guard under other than honorable circumstances would prevent someone from becoming certified as a law enforcement officer, KRS 15.382(9), but the same discharge received by a certified officer did not affect that officer's certification as long as he remained employed. Pangallo v. Ky. Law Enforcement Council, 106 S.W.3d 474, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 102 (Ky. Ct. App. 2003).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

A city police department did not violate the Open Records Act in denying a request to inspect all documentation and records related to the requester's application for the position of police recruit since KRS 15.400(3) prohibits disclosure of specifically described information obtained in the application/certification process to peace officers, unsuccessful applicants who wished to become peace officers, and third parties; the prohibition is, by its own terms, mandatory, and extends not only to background investigations, but also to psychological examinations and polygraph examinations administered pursuant to KRS 15.400(2) and this section. OAG 00-ORD-118.

An applicant for certification as a police officer who has a diploma from a private high school that is not certified by the Kentucky Department of Education may still be certified if that private high school complies with all applicable private secondary school provisions. An agency must either follow its precedents or provide a reasoned analysis for its departure from them. A police agency is liable under KRS § 15.396 for employing a police officer whose certification is subsequently revoked only from the time that the police agency becomes aware that the officer's certification has been revoked. OAG 2015-06.

15.383. Marksmanship qualification for certified peace officers.

(1) In order to maintain his or her certification as a peace officer, each certified peace officer shall annually meet the marksmanship qualification requirement for a retired peace officer as specified in KRS 237.140. Each law enforcement agency or other employing agency whose officers are required to meet the requirements of this subsection shall retain a record of each of its officers having met the annual marksmanship qualification. These records shall be made available upon request to the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council and to the Justice and Public Safety Cabinet in order to carry out its responsibilities under KRS 15.330 and 15.450.

(2) Any law enforcement or other agency employing a certified peace officer may require the certified peace officer to meet a marksmanship qualification requirement which is in excess of that specified in KRS 237.140. Failure of a certified peace officer to meet the increased marksmanship qualification requirement specified by his or her employing or appointing agency shall not affect the certification of the officer, but may subject the officer to discipline by the agency, including suspension or dismissal of the officer from the agency.

15.384. Cost of council administered tests — Waiver.

(2) An agency may, at its own expense, administer its own physical agility, polygraph, psychological, medical, and drug screen tests, as well as additional tests.

History.

Enact. Acts 1998, ch. 606, § 101, effective December 1, 1998.

15.386. Certification categories — Required courses — Status of certification.

The following certification categories shall exist:

(1) "Precertification status" means that the officer is currently employed or appointed by an agency and meets or exceeds all those minimum qualifications set forth in KRS 15.382, but has not successfully completed a basic training course, except those peace officers covered by KRS 15.400. Upon the council's verification that the minimum qualifications have been met, the officer shall have full peace officer powers as authorized under the statute under which he or she was appointed or employed. If an officer fails to successfully complete a basic training course within one (1) year of employment, his or her enforcement powers shall automatically terminate, unless that officer is actively enrolled and participating in a basic training course or, after having begun a basic training course, is on an approved extension of time due to injury or extenuating circumstances;

(2) "Certification status" means that unless the certification is in revoked status or inactive status, the officer is currently employed or appointed by an agency and has met all training requirements. The officer shall have full peace officer powers as authorized under the statute under which he or she was appointed or employed;

(3)(a) "Inactive status" means that unless the certification is in revoked status:

2. The person is on military active duty for a period exceeding three hundred sixty-five (365) days.

(b) The person may remain on inactive status. A person who is on inactive status and who returns to a peace officer position shall have certification status restored if he or she meets the requirements of KRS 15.400(1) or (2) or has successfully completed a basic training course approved and recognized by the council, has not committed an act for which his or her certified status may be revoked pursuant to KRS 15.391 and successfully completes in-service training as prescribed by the council, as follows:

1. If the person has been on inactive status for a period of less than three (3) years, and the person was not in training deficiency status at the time of separation, he or she shall complete:
 - a. The twenty-four (24) hour legal update Penal Code course;
 - b. The sixteen (16) hour legal update constitutional procedure course; and

 - a. The twenty-four (24) hour legal update Penal Code course;
 - b. The sixteen (16) hour legal update constitutional procedure course;
 - c. The mandatory training course approved by the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council, pursuant to KRS 15.334, for the year in which he or she returns to certification status; and
 - d. One (1) of the following forty (40) hour courses which is most appropriate for the officer's duty assignment:
 - i. Basic officer skills;
 - ii. Orientation for new police chiefs; or

 2. Possess a valid license to operate a motor vehicle;
 3. Be fingerprinted for a criminal background check;
 4. Not have been convicted of any felony; a misdemeanor under KRS 510.120, 510.130, or 510.140; a second or subsequent offense under KRS 510.148; or a criminal attempt, conspiracy, facilitation, or solicitation to commit any degree of rape, sodomy, sexual abuse, or sexual misconduct;
 5. Not be prohibited by federal or state law from possessing a firearm;
 6. Have received and read the Kentucky Law Enforcement Officers Code of Ethics as established by the council;
 7. Have not received a dishonorable discharge, bad conduct discharge, or general discharge under other than honorable conditions, if having served in any branch of the Armed Forces of the United States;
 8. Have been interviewed by the employing agency; and
 9. Not have had certification as a peace officer permanently revoked in another state;
- (4) "Training deficiency status" means that unless the certification is in revoked status or inactive status, the officer is currently employed or appointed by an agency and has failed to meet all in-service training requirements. The design of a certificate may be changed periodically. When a new certificate is produced, it shall be distributed free of charge to each currently certified peace officer.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Revocation.

When a police officer allegedly falsified information to maintain his law enforcement certification, but was allowed to resign from his employment for "personal reasons," the law enforcement council responsible for certifying police officers could not revoke the officer's certification based on the alleged falsification of information without giving the officer minimal due process rights to challenge the falsification allegation. Pangallo v. Ky. Law Enforcement Council, 106 S.W.3d 474, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 102 (Ky. Ct. App. 2003).

KRS 15.386(4) (now (5)) did not authorize the revocation of a police officer's certification merely for a resignation for personal reasons. Pangallo v. Ky. Law Enforcement Council, 106 S.W.3d 474, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 102 (Ky. Ct. App. 2003).

15.388. Report on certification status for newly employed peace officer or court security officer — Training of person in precertification status — Issuance or denial — Right of appeal — Transfer.

(1) Within five (5) working days of employment or appointment, the chief executive officer of the employing agency, or his designee, shall file a report with the council certifying that the newly employed officer is certified or meets or exceeds the precertification qualifications of KRS 15.382 for peace officers or KRS 15.3971 for court security officers.

(2) If the person is certified, the council shall continue certified status.

(3) If the person is on inactive status, the council shall upgrade to certified status unless the certification is revoked or denied as provided by KRS 15.380 to 15.404.

(4) If the person is not certified and not on inactive status, but has successfully completed an applicable basic training course or received a basic training credit under KRS 15.440(1)(d)6. approved and recognized by the council, the council shall designate the person as being in certified status unless the certification is revoked or denied as provided by KRS 15.380 to 15.404.

(5) If the person is not certified and not on inactive status, and has not successfully completed an applicable basic training course approved and recognized by the council, the council shall designate the person as being in precertification status.

(6) A person who is in precertification status shall, upon successful completion of the required basic training, be certified unless he has committed an act that would result in revocation of his certificate in which case he shall be denied certification.

(7) A person who is denied certified status under this section shall have the same right of appeal as a person who has been revoked under KRS 15.380 to 15.404.

(8) If the certified peace officer has successfully completed the basic training required by KRS 15.404 and transfers from a peace officer or court security officer position from a current employer to a peace officer position for another employer, and both employers have, at least ten (10) working days prior to the effective date of the transfer, notified the council in writing of the transfer, the council shall maintain the officer in certified status.

(9) If the certified court security officer has successfully completed the basic training required by KRS 15.3975 and transfers from a court security officer position from a current employer to a court security officer position for another employer, and both employers have, at least ten (10) working days prior to the effective date of the transfer, notified the council in writing of the transfer, the council shall maintain the officer in certified status.

(10) A certified court security officer who has met the requirements of KRS 15.3971 shall not transfer from a court security officer position to a peace officer position unless the certified court security officer meets all the requirements of a certified peace officer under KRS 15.382 and 15.404(1). If the certified court security officer has met the minimum qualifications of KRS 15.382, successfully completed the basic training required for certified peace officers under KRS 15.404(1), and transfers from a court security officer position from a current employer to a peace officer position for another employer, and both employers have, at least ten (10) working days prior to the effective date of the transfer, notified the council in writing of the transfer, the council shall maintain the officer in certified status.

(c) “General employment policy” means a rule, regulation, policy, or procedure commonly applicable to the general workforce or civilian employees that is not unique to law enforcement activities or the exercise of peace officer authority, regardless of whether the rule, regulation, policy, or procedure exists or appears in a manual or handbook that is solely applicable to a law enforcement department or agency within the unit of government employing the officer;

(d) “Investigating agency” means an agency that investigates the use of force by peace officers, including but not limited to the employing agency;

(e) “Professional malfeasance” means engaging in an act in one’s professional capacity as a peace officer that violates a federal, state, or local law or regulation, or any act that involves the following:

1. The unjustified use of excessive or deadly force, as determined by an investigating agency;

2. Any intentional action by a peace officer that interferes with or alters the fair administration of justice, including but not limited to tampering with evidence, giving of false testimony, or the intentional disclosure of confidential information in a manner that compromises the integrity of an official investigation; or

3. Engaging in a sexual relationship with an individual the peace officer knows or should have known is a victim, witness, defendant, or informant in an ongoing criminal investigation in which the peace officer is directly involved;

(f) “Professional nonfeasance” means a failure to perform one’s professional duty as a peace officer through omission or inaction that violates a federal, state, or local law or regulation, or any failure to act that involves the following:

2. A local rule, regulation, policy, or procedure adopted by ordinance, order, or resolution, or other official action by an agency. However, "regulation" does not mean a general employment policy.

(2)(a) The certification of a peace officer shall be deemed automatically revoked by the council by operation of the law for one (1) or more of the following:

1. Certification that was the result of an administrative error;

2. Plea of guilty to, conviction of, or entering of an Alford plea to:

a. Any state or federal felony;

b. A misdemeanor under KRS 510.120, 510.130, or 510.140; a second or subsequent offense under KRS 510.148; or a criminal attempt, conspiracy, facilitation, or solicitation to commit any degree of rape, sodomy, sexual abuse, or sexual misconduct;

c. Any criminal offense committed in another state that would constitute a felony if committed in this state; or

3. Prohibition by federal or state law from possessing a firearm;

4. Receipt of a dishonorable discharge or bad conduct discharge from any branch of the Armed Forces of the United States; or

5. Willful falsification of information to obtain or maintain certification.

(b)1. A peace officer whose certification is revoked pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subsection may file an appeal at any time with the council. If an appeal is filed, the council shall conduct an administrative hearing pursuant to KRS Chapter 13B to consider the reinstatement of the peace officer's certification if the revocation was made in error or the condition requiring revocation was removed or remedied.

2. The council may impose any reasonable condition upon the reinstatement of the certification it may deem warranted under the facts of the appeal.

3. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the council may subpoena or request a court to subpoena records that are necessary to provide evidence that will permit the council to evaluate whether the cause for revocation has been remedied or removed. Any confidential or medical information received by the council under this subparagraph shall retain its confidential character.

4. The reversal or any other type of invalidation of a conviction by an appellate court shall constitute the removal or remedy of a condition requiring revocation. However, an expungement of a felony offense shall not be considered a removal or remedy that constitutes grounds for the reinstatement of the peace officer's certification under this paragraph.

5. A final order issued by the council denying reinstatement of certification may be appealed pursuant to the provisions of KRS 13B.140.

(3)(a) The certification of a peace officer may be revoked by the council for one (1) or more of the following:

e. Physical violence;

f. Sexual abuse; or

g. Crimes against a minor or a family or household member;

4. Receipt of general discharge under other than honorable conditions from any branch of the Armed Forces of the United States that results in the termination of the peace officer from his or her agency; or

5. Resignation or retirement of the peace officer while he or she is under criminal investigation or administrative investigation for professional malfeasance or professional nonfeasance that, in the judgment of the agency that employed the peace officer, would have likely resulted in the termination of that peace officer had the facts leading to the investigation been substantiated prior to his or her resignation or retirement.

(b) The council shall review reports of events described in paragraph (a) of this subsection to determine whether the event warrants the initiation of proceedings by the council to revoke a peace officer's certification. If the council determines to initiate proceedings to revoke a peace officer's certification under this subsection, the administrative hearing shall be conducted pursuant to KRS Chapter 13B. A final order by the council revoking certification may be appealed pursuant to the provisions of KRS 13B.140.

(4)(a) An agency:

1. That has knowledge of a peace officer in its employment who meets any of the revocation conditions outlined in subsection (2) of this section shall report that condition to the council within fifteen (15) days of gaining knowledge;

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

An applicant for certification as a police officer who has a diploma from a private high school that is not certified by the Kentucky Department of Education may still be certified if that private high school complies with all applicable private secondary school provisions. An agency must either follow its precedents or provide a reasoned analysis for its departure from them. A police agency is liable under KRS § 15.396 for employing a police officer whose certification is subsequently revoked only from the time that the police agency becomes aware that the officer's certification has been revoked. (c) A person returning from inactive to active certification as a court security officer after June 26, 2007, under KRS 15.380 to 15.404 shall meet the following minimum qualifications:

1. Be a citizen of the United States;

2. Possess a valid license to operate a motor vehicle;

3. Be fingerprinted for a criminal background check;

5. Not be prohibited by federal or state law from possessing a firearm;

(1) The effective date of KRS 15.380 to 15.404 shall be December 1, 1998. All peace officers employed as of December 1, 1998, shall be deemed to have met all the requirements of KRS 15.380 to 15.404 and shall be granted certified status as long as they:

(a) Remain in continuous employment of the agency by which they were employed as of December 1, 1998, and are employed within one hundred (100) days by another law enforcement agency subject to the provisions of KRS 15.380 to 15.404;

(b) Retired from employment with certified status on or after July 1, 2008, and are reemployed no later than one hundred (100) days from March 15, 2011, by a law enforcement agency subject to KRS 15.380 to 15.404; or

(c) Have successfully completed an approved basic training course approved and recognized by the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council pursuant to KRS 15.440(1)(d) when seeking employment with another law enforcement agency.

(2) Any peace officers employed after December 1, 1998, shall comply with all minimum standards specified in KRS 15.380 to 15.404 or comply with the requirements set forth in KRS 15.440(1)(d)6. Persons newly employed or appointed after December 1, 1998, shall have one (1) year within which to gain certified status or they shall lose their law enforcement powers.

(3) The Open Records Act notwithstanding, the person’s home address, telephone number, date of birth, Social Security number, background investigation, medical examination, psychological examination, and polygraph examination conducted for any person seeking certification pursuant to KRS 15.380 to 15.404 shall not be subject to disclosure.

Legislative Research Commission Notes.

(6/26/2007). The amendment to this section in 2007 Ky. Acts ch. 76, sec. 1, effective June 26, 2007, is retroactive to July 1, 2004. See 2007 Ky. Acts ch. 76, sec. 5.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A city police department did not violate the Open Records Act in denying a request to inspect all documentation and records related to the requester's application for the position of police recruit since subsection (3) prohibits disclosure of specifically described information obtained in the application/certification process to peace officers, unsuccessful applicants who wished to become peace officers, and third parties; the prohibition is, by its own terms, mandatory, and extends not only to background investigations, but also to psychological examinations and polygraph examinations administered pursuant to subsection (2) and KRS 15.382. OAG 00-ORD-118.

Because the confidentiality provision codified at KRS 15.400(3) does not extend by its express terms to pre-December 1, 1998, psychological examination records, and because the requester was employed in 1992, KRS 15.400(3) does not apply to psychological records in the City's custody that relate to the requester. The requester is entitled to inspect and receive copies of her psychological records under authority of KRS 61.878(3). OAG 03-ORD-43.

15.402. Additional requirements by employing agency.

No provisions of KRS 15.380 to 15.404 shall preclude an appointing or employing agency from having requirements that are in excess of or in addition to any requirements specified by KRS 15.380 to 15.404 or an administrative regulation promulgated under KRS 15.380 to 15.404.

History.

(b) In the event of extenuating circumstances beyond the control of an officer that prevent the officer from completing basic training within one (1) year, the commissioner of the department or his or her designee may grant the officer an extension of time, not to exceed one hundred eighty (180) days, in which to complete the training.

(c) Any peace officer who fails to successfully complete basic training within the specified time periods, including extensions, shall lose his or her law enforcement powers and his or her precertification status shall lapse. Further, the peace officer shall be prohibited from serving as a peace officer for a period of one (1) year from the date that his or her precertification lapses.

(2)(a) All peace officers with active certification status shall successfully complete forty (40) hours of annual in-service training that has been certified or recognized by the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council, that is appropriate to the officer's rank and responsibility and the size and location of his department.

(b) In the event of extenuating circumstances beyond the control of an officer that prevent the officer from completing the in-service training within one (1) year, the commissioner of the department or his or her designee may grant the officer an extension of time, not to exceed one hundred eighty (180) days, in which to complete the training. If the officer is unable to complete the in-service training due to injury or illness that prevents him or her from working as a peace officer, the one hundred eighty (180) day extension shall begin on the date that the officer returns to work.

(c) Any peace officer who fails to successfully complete in-service training within the specified time periods, including extensions, shall lose his or her law enforcement powers and his or her certification status shall be changed to training deficiency status.

(d) When a peace officer is deficient in required training, the commissioner of the department or his or her designee shall notify the council, which shall notify the peace officer and his or her agency.

(e) The requirements of this subsection shall be waived for the period of time that a peace officer is serving on active duty in the United States Armed Forces.

(f) This waiver shall be retroactive for peace officers from the date of September 11, 2001.

(3) An officer who has lost his or her law enforcement powers due solely to his or her failure to meet the in-service training requirements of this section may regain his or her certification status and law enforcement powers upon successful completion of the training deficiency.

Analysis

1. Purpose.
2. Applicability.

1. Purpose.

KRS 17.495 (now KRS 17.545) is not codified within the Kentucky Sexual Offender Registration Act (Act), KRS 17.500 et seq.; however, KRS 17.495 (now KRS 17.545) directly references the Act, was implemented in conjunction with the 2000 amendments to the Act, and is clearly intended to operate in coordination with, and to advance the objectives of, the Act. Thorpe v. Commonwealth, 2003 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1016 (Ky. Ct. App. Apr. 11, 2003).

2. Applicability.

Requiring defendant to register as a sex offender for a term of 10 years was not an ex post facto application of the Kentucky Sexual Offender Registration Act (Act), KRS 17.500 et seq., although registration was not required for second-degree sexual abuse under the 1994 version of the statute in effect at the time of his offenses; this section is not an ex post facto law because it applies only to those on probation and parole, imposes no conditions that could not have been imposed on such persons before its enactment, does not extend a defendant's time behind bars, and is reasonably related to nonpunitive goals. Thorpe v. Commonwealth, 2003 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1016 (Ky. Ct. App. Apr. 11, 2003).

Although the General Assembly did not intend KRS 17.545 to be punitive, the residency restrictions were so punitive as to negate any intention to deem them civil; therefore, the statute may not be applied to defendant, who committed his crime prior to the effective date, as to do so violated U.S. Const. art. I, § 10 and Ky. Const. § 19(1). Commonwealth v. Baker, 295 S.W.3d 437, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 233 (Ky. 2009), cert. denied, 559 U.S. 992, 130 S. Ct. 1738, 176 L. Ed. 2d 213, 2010 U.S. LEXIS 2267 (U.S. 2010).

Circuit court did not err in imposing statutory residency restrictions on defendant upon his conviction for kidnapping as kidnapping was explicitly included in KRS 17.500(3)(a)(1) in the definition of a “criminal offense against a victim who is a minor,” if the victim was under the age of eighteen, and defendant was clearly a “registrant” subject to lifetime registration pursuant to KRS 17.520(2)(a)(1) and 17.545. Ladriere v. Commonwealth, 329 S.W.3d 278, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 259 (Ky. 2010).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

While applying KRS §17.545(2) retroactively implicates and necessitates an analysis of the ex post facto clauses of the United States and Kentucky Constitutions, the relevant portion of the statute is not punitive and therefore does not violate the ex post facto clauses. OAG 2015-03.

(h) Each entity participating in the state-sponsored health insurance program shall provide an amount at least equal to the state contribution rate for the employer portion of the health insurance premium. For any participating entity that used the state payroll system, the employer contribution amount shall be equal to but not greater than the state contribution rate.

(3) The premiums may be paid by the policyholder:

(b) Wholly from funds contributed by any department, board, agency, public postsecondary education institution, or branch of state, city, urban-county, charter county, county, or consolidated local government; or

(c) Partly from each, except that any premium due for health care coverage or dental coverage, if any, in excess of the premium amount contributed by any department, board, agency, postsecondary education institution, or branch of state, city, urban-county, charter county, county, or consolidated local government for any other health care coverage shall be paid by the employee.

(4) If an employee moves his or her place of residence or employment out of the service area of an insurer offering a managed health care plan, under which he or she has elected coverage, into either the service area of another managed health care plan or into an area of the Commonwealth not within a managed health care plan service area, the employee shall be given an option, at the time of the move or transfer, to change his or her coverage to another health benefit plan.

(5) No payment of premium by any department, board, agency, public postsecondary educational institution, or branch of state, city, urban-county, charter county, county, or consolidated local government shall constitute compensation to an insured employee for the purposes of any statute fixing or limiting the compensation of such an employee. (7) Group rates under this section shall be made available to the disabled child of an employee regardless of the child's age if the entire premium for the disabled child's coverage is paid by the state employee. A child shall be considered disabled if he or she has been determined to be eligible for federal Social Security disability benefits.

(8) The health care contract or contracts for employees shall be entered into for a period of not less than one (1) year.

(9) The secretary shall appoint thirty-two (32) persons to an Advisory Committee of State Health Insurance Subscribers to advise the secretary or the secretary's designee regarding the state-sponsored health insurance program for employees. The secretary shall appoint, from a list of names submitted by appointing authorities, members representing school districts from each of the seven (7) Supreme Court districts, members representing state government from each of the seven (7) Supreme Court districts, two (2) members representing retirees under age sixty-five (65), one (1) member representing local health departments, two (2) members representing the Kentucky Teachers' Retirement System, and three (3) members at large. The advisory committee shall be appointed in January of each year and shall meet quarterly.

(10) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the policy or policies provided to employees pursuant to this section shall not provide coverage for obtaining or performing an abortion, nor shall any state funds be used for the purpose of obtaining or performing an abortion on behalf of employees or their dependents.

(11) Interruption of an established treatment regime with maintenance drugs shall be grounds for an insured to appeal a formulary change through the established appeal procedures approved by the Department of Insurance, if the physician supervising the treatment certifies that the change is not in the best interests of the patient.

(12) Any employee who is eligible for and elects to participate in the state health insurance program as a retiree, or the spouse or beneficiary of a retiree, under any one (1) of the state-sponsored retirement systems shall not be eligible to receive the state health insurance contribution toward health care coverage as a result of any other employment for which there is a public employer contribution. This does not preclude a retiree and an active employee spouse from using both contributions to the extent needed for purchase of one (1) state sponsored health insurance policy for that plan year.

(13)(a) The policies of health insurance coverage procured under subsection (2) of this section shall include a mail-order drug option for maintenance drugs for state employees. Maintenance drugs may be dispensed by mail order in accordance with Kentucky law.

(b) A health insurer shall not discriminate against any retail pharmacy located within the geographic coverage area of the health benefit plan and that meets the terms and conditions for participation established by the insurer, including price, dispensing fee, and copay requirements of a mail-order option. The retail pharmacy shall not be required to dispense by mail.

(14) The policy or policies provided to state employees or their dependents pursuant to this section shall provide coverage for obtaining a hearing aid and acquiring hearing aid-related services for insured individuals under eighteen (18) years of age, subject to a cap of one thousand four hundred dollars ($1,400) every thirty-six (36) months pursuant to KRS 304.17A-132.

(15) Any policy provided to state employees or their dependents pursuant to this section shall provide coverage for the diagnosis and treatment of autism spectrum disorders consistent with KRS 304.17A-142.

(17) If a state employee's residence and place of employment are in the same county, and if the hospital located within that county does not offer surgical services, intensive care services, obstetrical services, level II neonatal services, diagnostic cardiac catheterization services, and magnetic resonance imaging services, the employee may select a plan available in a contiguous county that does provide those services, and the state contribution for the plan shall be the amount available in the county where the plan selected is located.

(18) If a state employee's residence and place of employment are each located in counties in which the hospitals do not offer surgical services, intensive care services, obstetrical services, level II neonatal services, diagnostic cardiac catheterization services, and magnetic resonance imaging services, the employee may select a plan available in a county contiguous to the county of residence that does provide those services, and the state contribution for the plan shall be the amount available in the county where the plan selected is located.

(19) The Personnel Cabinet is encouraged to study whether it is fair and reasonable and in the best interests of the state group to allow any carrier bidding to offer health care coverage under this section to submit bids that may vary county by county or by larger geographic areas.

(20) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the bid for proposals for health insurance coverage for calendar year 2004 shall include a bid scenario that reflects the statewide rating structure provided in calendar year 2003 and a bid scenario that allows for a regional rating structure that allows carriers to submit bids that may vary by region for a given product offering as described in this subsection:

(a) The regional rating bid scenario shall not include a request for bid on a statewide option;

(b) The Personnel Cabinet shall divide the state into geographical regions which shall be the same as the partnership regions designated by the Department for Medicaid Services for purposes of the Kentucky Health Care Partnership Program established pursuant to 907 KAR 1:705;

(d) If the Personnel Cabinet accepts a carrier's bid, the cabinet shall award the carrier all of the counties included in its bid within the region. If the Personnel Cabinet deems the bids submitted in accordance with this subsection to be in the best interests of state employees in a region, the cabinet may award the contract for that region to no more than two (2) carriers; and

(e) Nothing in this subsection shall prohibit the Personnel Cabinet from including other requirements or criteria in the request for proposal.

(21) Any fully insured health benefit plan or self-insured plan issued or renewed on or after July 12, 2006, to public employees pursuant to this section which provides coverage for services rendered by a physician or osteopath duly licensed under KRS Chapter 311 that are within the scope of practice of an optometrist duly licensed under the provisions of KRS Chapter 320 shall provide the same payment of coverage to optometrists as allowed for those services rendered by physicians or osteopaths.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Minimum Insurance Standards.

Where the class members were recipients of a state retirement allowance and had a stake in the controversy over what group health insurance must be offered, they had standing to sue the Board of Trustees of the Kentucky Retirement Systems; because genuine issues of material fact existed as to whether the benefits provided for the time period covered by the complaint comported with the minimum requirements set forth in KRS 18A.225(2)(a), the Board was not entitled to summary judgment. Kurtsinger v. Bd. of Trs. of Ky. Ret. Sys., 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 261 (Ky. Ct. App. Apr. 30, 2004).

the state retirement system, he does not qualify for state group health insurance and does not qualify for state life insurance. OAG 85-26.

Any modifications or amendments to a competitively bid contract must be made by the Executive Branch pursuant to KRS Chapter 45A, unless such requirements are superseded by suspension of the procurement statutes by the General Assembly or declaration of a state of emergency by the Governor. Termination of a contract for convenience has as its central purpose the avoidance of payment of future anticipated profits by the Commonwealth. Termination of a contract for cause may be appropriate where a contract fails to meet the minimum standards imposed by statute. OAG 2004-09.

(d) The term "managed care plan" for the purposes of this section means a managed care plan as defined in KRS 304.17A-500.

(2)(a) The secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet, upon the recommendation of the secretary of the Personnel Cabinet, shall procure, in compliance with the provisions of KRS 45A.080, 45A.085, and 45A.090, from one (1) or more insurers authorized to do business in this state, a group health benefit plan that may include but not be limited to health maintenance organization (HMO), preferred provider organization (PPO), point of service (POS), and exclusive provider organization (EPO) benefit plans encompassing all or any class or classes of employees. With the exception of employers governed by the provisions of KRS Chapters 16, 18A, and 151B, all employers of any class of employees or former employees shall enter into a contract with the Personnel Cabinet prior to including that group in the state health insurance group. The contracts shall include but not be limited to designating the entity responsible for filing any federal forms, adoption of policies required for proper plan administration, acceptance of the contractual provisions with health insurance carriers or third-party administrators, and adoption of the payment and reimbursement methods necessary for efficient administration of the health insurance program. Health insurance coverage provided to state employees under this section shall, at a minimum, contain the same benefits as provided under Kentucky Kare Standard as of January 1, 1994, and shall include a mail-order drug option as provided in subsection (13) of this section. All employees and other persons for whom the health care coverage is provided or made available shall annually be given an option to elect health care coverage through a self-funded plan offered by the Commonwealth or, if a self-funded plan is not available, from a list of coverage options determined by the competitive bid process under the provisions of KRS 45A.080, 45A.085, and 45A.090 and made available during annual open enrollment.

(b) The policy or policies shall be approved by the commissioner of insurance and may contain the provisions the commissioner of insurance approves, whether or not otherwise permitted by the insurance laws.

(c) Any carrier bidding to offer health care coverage to employees shall agree to provide coverage to all members of the state group, including active employees and retirees and their eligible covered dependents and beneficiaries, within the county or counties specified in its bid. Except as provided in subsection (20) of this section, any carrier bidding to offer health care coverage to employees shall also agree to rate all employees as a single entity, except for those retirees whose former employers insure their active employees outside the state-sponsored health insurance program and as otherwise provided in KRS 61.702(2)(b)3.b. and 78.5536(2)(b)3.b.

(d) Any carrier bidding to offer health care coverage to employees shall agree to provide enrollment, claims, and utilization data to the Commonwealth in a format specified by the Personnel Cabinet with the understanding that the data shall be owned by the Commonwealth; to provide data in an electronic form and within a time frame specified by the Personnel Cabinet; and to be subject to penalties for noncompliance with data reporting requirements as specified by the Personnel Cabinet. The Personnel Cabinet shall take strict precautions to protect the confidentiality of each individual employee; however, confidentiality assertions shall not relieve a carrier from the requirement of providing stipulated data to the Commonwealth.

(e) The Personnel Cabinet shall develop the necessary techniques and capabilities for timely analysis of data received from carriers and, to the extent possible, provide in the request-for-proposal specifics relating to data requirements, electronic reporting, and penalties for noncompliance. The Commonwealth shall own the enrollment, claims, and utilization data provided by each carrier and shall develop methods to protect the confidentiality of the individual. The Personnel Cabinet shall include in the October annual report submitted pursuant to the provisions of KRS 18A.226 to the Governor, the General Assembly, and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, an analysis of the financial stability of the program, which shall include but not be limited to loss ratios, methods of risk adjustment, measurements of carrier quality of service, prescription coverage and cost management, and statutorily required mandates. If state self-insurance was available as a carrier option, the report also shall provide a detailed financial analysis of the self-insurance fund including but not limited to loss ratios, reserves, and reinsurance agreements.

(f) If any agency participating in the state-sponsored employee health insurance program for its active employees terminates participation and there is a state appropriation for the employer's contribution for active employees' health insurance coverage, then neither the agency nor the employees shall receive the state-funded contribution after termination from the state-sponsored employee health insurance program.

(g) Any funds in flexible spending accounts that remain after all reimbursements have been processed shall be transferred to the credit of the state-sponsored health insurance plan's appropriation account.

(h) Each entity participating in the state-sponsored health insurance program shall provide an amount at least equal to the state contribution rate for the employer portion of the health insurance premium. For any participating entity that used the state payroll system, the employer contribution amount shall be equal to but not greater than the state contribution rate.

(3) The premiums may be paid by the policyholder:

(a) Wholly from funds contributed by the employee, by payroll deduction or otherwise;

(b) Wholly from funds contributed by any department, board, agency, public postsecondary education institution, or branch of state, city, urban-county, charter county, county, or consolidated local government; or

(c) Partly from each, except that any premium due for health care coverage or dental coverage, if any, in excess of the premium amount contributed by any department, board, agency, postsecondary education institution, or branch of state, city, urban-county, charter county, county, or consolidated local government for any other health care coverage shall be paid by the employee.

(4) If an employee moves his or her place of residence or employment out of the service area of an insurer offering a managed health care plan, under which he or she has elected coverage, into either the service area of another managed health care plan or into an area of the Commonwealth not within a managed health care plan service area, the employee shall be given an option, at the time of the move or transfer, to change his or her coverage to another health benefit plan.

(5) No payment of premium by any department, board, agency, public postsecondary educational institution, or branch of state, city, urban-county, charter county, county, or consolidated local government shall constitute compensation to an insured employee for the purposes of any statute fixing or limiting the compensation of such an employee. Any premium or other expense incurred by any department, board, agency, public postsecondary educational institution, or branch of state, city, urban-county, charter county, county, or consolidated local government shall be considered a proper cost of administration.

(6) The policy or policies may contain the provisions with respect to the class or classes of employees covered, amounts of insurance or coverage for designated classes or groups of employees, policy options, terms of eligibility, and continuation of insurance or coverage after retirement.

(7) Group rates under this section shall be made available to the disabled child of an employee regardless of the child's age if the entire premium for the disabled child's coverage is paid by the state employee. A child shall be considered disabled if he or she has been determined to be eligible for federal Social Security disability benefits.

(8) The health care contract or contracts for employees shall be entered into for a period of not less than one (1) year.

(9) The secretary shall appoint thirty-two (32) persons to an Advisory Committee of State Health Insurance Subscribers to advise the secretary or the secretary's designee regarding the state-sponsored health insurance program for employees. The secretary shall appoint, from a list of names submitted by appointing authorities, members representing school districts from each of the seven (7) Supreme Court districts, members representing state government from each of the seven (7) Supreme Court districts, two (2) members representing retirees under age sixty-five (65), one (1) member representing local health departments, two (2) members representing the Kentucky Teachers' Retirement System, and three (3) members at large. The secretary shall also appoint two (2) members from a list of five (5) names submitted by the Kentucky Education Association, two (2) members from a list of five (5) names submitted by the largest state employee organization of nonschool state employees, two (2) members from a list of five (5) names submitted by the Kentucky Association of Counties, two (2) members from a list of five (5) names submitted by the Kentucky League of Cities, and two (2) members from a list of names consisting of five (5) names submitted by each state employee organization that has two thousand (2,000) or more members on state payroll deduction. The advisory committee shall be appointed in January of each year and shall meet quarterly.

(10) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the policy or policies provided to employees pursuant to this section shall not provide coverage for obtaining or performing an abortion, nor shall any state funds be used for the purpose of obtaining or performing an abortion on behalf of employees or their dependents.

(11) Interruption of an established treatment regime with maintenance drugs shall be grounds for an insured to appeal a formulary change through the established appeal procedures approved by the Department of Insurance, if the physician supervising the treatment certifies that the change is not in the best interests of the patient.

(12) Any employee who is eligible for and elects to participate in the state health insurance program as a retiree, or the spouse or beneficiary of a retiree, under any one (1) of the state-sponsored retirement systems shall not be eligible to receive the state health insurance contribution toward health care coverage as a result of any other employment for which there is a public employer contribution. This does not preclude a retiree and an active employee spouse from using both contributions to the extent needed for purchase of one (1) state sponsored health insurance policy for that plan year.

(13)(a) The policies of health insurance coverage procured under subsection (2) of this section shall include a mail-order drug option for maintenance drugs for state employees. Maintenance drugs may be dispensed by mail order in accordance with Kentucky law.

(b) A health insurer shall not discriminate against any retail pharmacy located within the geographic coverage area of the health benefit plan and that meets the terms and conditions for participation established by the insurer, including price, dispensing fee, and copay requirements of a mail-order option. The retail pharmacy shall not be required to dispense by mail.

(c) The mail-order option shall not permit the dispensing of a controlled substance classified in Schedule II.

(14) The policy or policies provided to state employees or their dependents pursuant to this section shall provide coverage for obtaining a hearing aid and acquiring hearing aid-related services for insured individuals under eighteen (18) years of age, subject to a cap of one thousand four hundred dollars ($1,400) every thirty-six (36) months pursuant to KRS 304.17A-132.

(15) Any policy provided to state employees or their dependents pursuant to this section shall provide coverage for the diagnosis and treatment of autism spectrum disorders consistent with KRS 304.17A-142.

(16) Any policy provided to state employees or their dependents pursuant to this section shall provide coverage for obtaining amino acid-based elemental formula pursuant to KRS 304.17A-258.

(17) If a state employee's residence and place of employment are in the same county, and if the hospital located within that county does not offer surgical services, intensive care services, obstetrical services, level II neonatal services, diagnostic cardiac catheterization services, and magnetic resonance imaging services, the employee may select a plan available in a contiguous county that does provide those services, and the state contribution for the plan shall be the amount available in the county where the plan selected is located.

(18) If a state employee's residence and place of employment are each located in counties in which the hospitals do not offer surgical services, intensive care services, obstetrical services, level II neonatal services, diagnostic cardiac catheterization services, and magnetic resonance imaging services, the employee may select a plan available in a county contiguous to the county of residence that does provide those services, and the state contribution for the plan shall be the amount available in the county where the plan selected is located.

(19) The Personnel Cabinet is encouraged to study whether it is fair and reasonable and in the best interests of the state group to allow any carrier bidding to offer health care coverage under this section to submit bids that may vary county by county or by larger geographic areas.

(20) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the bid for proposals for health insurance coverage for calendar year 2004 shall include a bid scenario that reflects the statewide rating structure provided in calendar year 2003 and a bid scenario that allows for a regional rating structure that allows carriers to submit bids that may vary by region for a given product offering as described in this subsection:

(a) The regional rating bid scenario shall not include a request for bid on a statewide option;

(b) The Personnel Cabinet shall divide the state into geographical regions which shall be the same as the partnership regions designated by the Department for Medicaid Services for purposes of the Kentucky Health Care Partnership Program established pursuant to 907 KAR 1:705;

(c) The request for proposal shall require a carrier's bid to include every county within the region or regions for which the bid is submitted and include but not be restricted to a preferred provider organization (PPO) option;

(d) If the Personnel Cabinet accepts a carrier's bid, the cabinet shall award the carrier all of the counties included in its bid within the region. If the Personnel Cabinet deems the bids submitted in accordance with this subsection to be in the best interests of state employees in a region, the cabinet may award the contract for that region to no more than two (2) carriers; and

MILITARY BURIAL HONOR GUARDS

36.390. Legislative findings on military burial honors — Authority to promulgate administrative regulations.

- (1) The Commonwealth of Kentucky recognizes the need to provide for honorable burials for Kentuckians who have served their state and nation in the Armed Forces. Historically these burial services have been conducted by the active military units in Kentucky, the Kentucky National Guard, the military reserves, and the veterans’ service organizations. However, increasing death rates, declining military resources, and an aging membership of veterans’ service organizations present the need for new initiatives in support of military burial honors.

(3) The Department of Military Affairs, in consultation with and as a supplement to the Department of Defense, active United States military commands in Kentucky, the Department of Veterans’ Affairs, the military reserves, and veterans service organizations, shall implement and administer the provisions of KRS 36.390 to 36.396 through the promulgation of administrative regulations. NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Stay.

Pursuant to the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act, which applied to members of the Kentucky National Guard, a trial court was prohibited from conducting a hearing on a motion to temporarily modify primary residential custody of a son while his father was deployed to Afghanistan with the Air Force National Guard because the father complied with the requirements for a stay. The injury in the case was real and irreparable because the son was being relocated during the school year to a distant state, and the father was unable to appear and oppose the mother's motion while serving his country. Wood v. Woeste, 461 S.W.3d 778, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 2015).

(1)(a) Before any bank shall be named as a state depository to receive public funds, it shall either pledge or provide to the State Treasurer collateral having an aggregate current face value or current quoted market value at least equal to the deposits as of the last business day of each quarter in which funds are so deposited or provide to the State Treasurer a surety bond or surety bonds in favor of the State Treasurer in an amount at least equal to the deposits, as of the last business day of each quarter in which funds are deposited; provided, however, that amounts insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation need not be so collateralized. The president or an executive officer of each state depository shall submit to the Treasurer and the State Investment Commission a statement subscribed and sworn to by the president or executive officer showing:

1. The face value or current quoted market value of the securities or other obligations pledged as collateral; and

2. The value of surety bonds provided as of the time such surety bonds are provided as collateral.

The aggregate valuation of all pledged or provided collateral shall be reported to the State Treasurer and State Investment Commission by the state depository within ten (10) days of the close of each quarter after the date of deposit. Such value with respect to pledged collateral other than surety bonds shall be as of the end of the quarter or the preceding business day and, as to surety bonds, the market values shall be obtained from a reputable bond-pricing service. The State Treasurer and Governor may from time to time call for additional collateral to adequately secure the deposits as aggregate face or current market values may require, if the value of collateral is not compliant with state law as of the report date.

(b) No deposit of state funds shall collectively exceed at any time the state depository's sum of capital, reserves, undivided profits and surplus or ten percent (10%) of the total deposits of the state depository, whichever is less. problems of significance is minimal or not of a serious or long-term nature. The value of the state deposit will be determined at the end of the business day of deposit and as of the end of business on the last day of each quarter that funds are so deposited.

(b) Valuation of all pledged or provided collateral shall be reported to the State Treasurer and the State Investment Commission within ten (10) days of the close of each quarter after the date of deposit.

(c) State depositories designated as qualified for reduced pledging shall be so recorded in the executive journal.

(d) The State Investment Commission shall determine eligibility for the reduced pledging option based on totally objective and quantifiable measures of financial intermediary performance. The information for such eligibility shall be obtained from publicly available documents. The State Investment Commission shall promulgate the particular criteria of eligibility by regulations issued pursuant to KRS Chapter 13A.

(3) State depositories which do not qualify or do not choose to qualify under subsection (1) or (2) of this section shall not receive state deposits in excess of amounts that are insured by an instrumentality of the United States.

Analysis

1. Purpose.
2. Securities Pledged.
3. Insolvency of Depository.

1. Purpose.

This section is for the protection of the state, and where a bond to protect state deposits is renewed the obligors on the first bond are not relieved from liability. State Nat'l Bank v. Commonwealth, 129 Ky. 637, 112 S.W. 678, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 202 (Ky. 1908).

2. Securities Pledged.

Where by charter or statute a bank must secure a deposit of public funds, the security given by the bank must be such as it can obtain by personal indorsement, or in some other way that does not involve the pledging of assets. Commercial Banking & Trust Co. v. Citizens' Trust & Guaranty Co., 153 Ky. 566, 156 S.W. 160, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 901 (Ky. 1913).

3. Insolvency of Depository.

Commonwealth is not entitled to a right of preference in distribution of the assets of an insolvent bank because the funds were public funds. Denny v. Thompson, 236 Ky. 714, 33 S.W.2d 670, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 819 (Ky. 1930).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Applicable Kentucky administrative regulations could be amended to lawfully provide that obligations of a Federal Farm Credit Bank, the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Bank could be used as collateral as security for the depository bond mentioned in KRS 160.570, since subdivision (a) of this section permits as collateral obligations or securities issued or guaranteed by any federal governmental agency. (f) Securities issued by a state or local government, or any instrumentality or agency thereof, in the United States, and rated in one (1) of the three (3) highest long-term categories by a nationally recognized statistical rating organization;

(g) United States denominated corporate, Yankee, and Eurodollar securities, excluding corporate stocks, issued by foreign and domestic issuers, including sovereign and supranational governments, rated in one (1) of the three (3) highest long-term categories by a nationally recognized statistical rating organization;

(h) Asset-backed securities rated in the highest category by a nationally recognized statistical rating organization;

(i) Shares of mutual funds, each of which shall have the following characteristics:

1. The mutual fund shall be an open-end diversified investment company registered under Federal Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended;

2. The management company of the investment company shall have been in operation for at least five (5) years;

3. The mutual fund shall be rated in the highest category by a nationally recognized statistical rating organization;

4. All of the securities in the mutual fund shall be eligible investments pursuant to this section; and

(j) State and local delinquent property tax claims which upon purchase shall become certificates of delinquency secured by interests in real property not to exceed twenty-five million dollars ($25,000,000) in the aggregate. For any certificates of delinquency that have been exonerated pursuant to KRS 132.220(5), the Department of Revenue shall offset the loss suffered by the Finance and Administration Cabinet against subsequent local distributions to the affected taxing districts as shown on the certificate of delinquency.

(10) The State Investment Commission shall promulgate administrative regulations for the investment and reinvestment of state funds in shares of mutual funds, and the regulations shall specify:

(a) The long and short term goals of any investment;

(b) The specification of moneys to be invested;

(c) The amount of funds which may be invested per instrument;

(d) The qualifications of instruments; and

(e) The acceptable maturity of investments.

(11) Any investment in obligations and securities pursuant to subsection (9) of this section shall satisfy this section if these obligations are subject to repurchase agreements, provided that delivery of these obligations is taken either directly or through an authorized custodian.

(12)(a) Income earned from investments made pursuant to this section shall accrue to the credit of the investment income account of the general fund, except that interest from investments of excess cash in the road fund shall be credited to the surplus account of the road fund and interest from investments of excess cash in the game and fish fund shall be credited to the game and fish fund, interest earned from investments of imprest cash funds and funds in the trust and revolving fund for each state public university shall be credited to the appropriate institutional account, and interest earned from the investment of funds accumulated solely by means of contributions and gifts shall not be diverted to any purpose other than that stipulated by the donor, when the donor shall have designated the use to which the interest shall be placed.

(b) Except as otherwise provided by law, or by the obligations and covenants contained in resolutions and trust indentures adopted or entered into for state bond issues, interest earned from the investment of moneys appropriated to the capital construction accounts, trust and agency accounts, and trust and agency revolving accounts shall accrue to the capital construction investment income account.

(c) If there is a revenue shortfall, as defined in KRS 48.010, of five percent (5%) or less, the secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet, upon the recommendation of the state budget director, may direct the transfer of excess unappropriated capital construction investment income to the general fund investment income account. The amount of the transfer shall not exceed the amount of the shortfall in general fund revenues.

(d) If the capital construction investment income is less than that amount appropriated by the General Assembly, the secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet may, upon recommendation of the state budget director, direct the transfer of excess unappropriated general fund investment income to the capital construction investment income account. The transfer of general fund investment income revenues to the capital construction investment income account shall be made only when the actual general fund revenues are in excess of the enacted estimates under KRS 48.120 and shall be limited to the amount of the excess general fund revenues. The amount of the transfer shall not exceed the amount of the shortfall in the capital construction fund revenues.

(13) The authority granted by this section to the State Investment Commission shall not extend to any funds that are specifically provided by law to be invested by some other officer or agency of the state government.

(14) The authority granted by this section to the State Investment Commission shall only be exercised pursuant to the administrative regulations mandated by KRS 42.525.

(15) Each member of the State Investment Commission shall post bond for his or her acts or omissions as a member thereof identical in amount and kind to that posted by the State Treasurer.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Constitutionality.

The power to appoint members of boards and agencies within the executive department of government is an essentially executive power which cannot be exercised by any member of the legislative department; accordingly, the former provisions in this section by which the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President Pro Tem of the Senate were authorized to make appointments to the State Investment Commission were an invalid unconstitutional incursion by the General Assembly, or its designees, into the separation of powers doctrine. Legislative Research Com. by Prather v. Brown, 664 S.W.2d 907, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 300 (Ky. 1984) (Decision prior to 1984 amendment).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Interest earned on investments of funds for the tobacco research-trust fund must accrue to the credit of the general expenditure fund. OAG 70-495.

The investment authority rests with the state investment commission. OAG 70-495.

Since this section requires that interest accruing on any state funds be placed in the general fund of the State Treasury, the interest on the area development fund could not be paid to the area development districts. OAG 77-481.

The State Investment Commission may, under the implied authority of this section, upon the establishment of a basic policy (voted on by a majority of the commission) to be applied under the specific major categories of investment permitted in the statute, have the legal authority to delegate the day-to-day administration of investments to a qualified committee or employee of state government, and by such a policy under the statute, the commission would not thereby be delegating its basic power of discretion or judgment, since by the established policy it would be specifically retaining its discretionary authority. OAG 78-542.

Interest on funds deposited on behalf of the department of fish and wildlife resources should be credited on a pro rata basis to the game and fish fund to be used to carry out the purposes of KRS Chapter 150 as directed by KRS 150.150. OAG 78-761.

Under subsection (3), now subsection (10), of this section interest earned from investment of coal severance economic aid fund grant money shall accrue to the credit of the state's general expenditure fund. OAG 79-630.

Interest earned from investments of excess cash involving any fund of the state, and not excepted by subsection (4) of this section accrues to the credit of the general fund, except in the cases of the use of road fund and the game and fish fund; accordingly, the State Investment Commission may invest "excess cash" in the Transportation Fund, the Capital Construction Fund, the Agency Receipt Fund, the Trust and Revolving Fund, the Special Deposit Trust Fund, the Bond Redemption and Interest Fund, and the Bond Turnpike Authority Fund, in the form of term repurchase agreements. OAG 82-29.

The State Investment Commission has the authority under KRS 41.380(2)(see now KRS 42.500) and KRS 386.020(1)(l) to invest "excess cash" in term repurchase agreements involving United States Treasury Bills since such agreements, in reality, involve the state's purchase of United States Treasury Bills from a financial institution with an agreement that the financial institution will repurchase the Treasury Bills at some definite future date, not to exceed one year from date of investment. OAG 82-29.

Purchases under subsection (2) of KRS 41.380 (now subsection (8) of this section) may include "repurchase agreements," involving United States Treasury Bills which would involve the state's purchase of the United States Treasury Bills from a financial institution with an agreement that the financial institution would repurchase the Treasury Bills at some definite, future date, not to exceed one year from date of investment; however, such investments must be carefully tailored to meet precisely normal payment schedules of state obligations. OAG 82-209.

Since proposed "reverse repurchase agreements," by which the state would sell an investment that it held (such as Treasury Bills) for a specified number of days with the condition that the state repurchase the security at the end of that time, contemplated the use of "excess" funds (in excess of that amount required to meet current state expenditures under normal payment schedules) within the time limits of KRS 41.380(2) (now subsection (8) of this section), such agreements would be valid and permissible on the part of the State Investment Commission. OAG 82-209.

The authority to engage in "reverse repurchase agreements" is implicit in the express power of investment. OAG 82-209.

The obvious purpose of KRS 386.020 and 41.380 (now this section) is to derive the maximum possible under marketing conditions from the investment of state money. OAG 82-209.

Though the term "reverse repurchase agreement" is not found in that total terminology in the statutes, the language of KRS 41.380 (now this section) and 386.020(1)(l) is broad enough to cover this temporary sale of the securities, since the temporary sale does not negate the basic "investment" posture of the Commission in holding the securities involved in this procedure. OAG 82-209.

This section may be interpreted to allow the State Investment Commission to invest in mutual funds that invest solely in U.S. government securities, including securities subject to repurchase agreements. OAG 90-20.

In view of the fact that the Council for Education Technology has the duty to invest funds appropriated for education technology, the State Investment Commission would not have authority under this section to invest those same funds. OAG 91-39.

The Office of Financial Management and Economic Analysis' (OFMEA) lending of the Workers' Compensation Funding Commission's securities constitutes a violation of KRS 342.1227 based on the statutory authority for OFMEA to invest funds in repurchase agreements combined with the separate accounting and full collateralization of the Commission funds. OAG 93-13.

DISPLAY OF HISTORIC ARTIFACTS, MONUMENTS, SYMBOLS, AND TEXTS

42.705. Legislative findings and declarations — Display of historic religious and non- religious artifacts, monuments, sym- bols, and texts in public buildings and on public property owned by the Commonwealth.

The General Assembly hereby finds and declares as follows:

(1) The Commonwealth's public buildings and their surrounding grounds provide Kentucky's citizens and others a place at which they may conduct public business, visit and interact with government officials, and learn about the Commonwealth's history and government;

(2) The Commonwealth's public buildings and public properties are themselves important symbols of Kentucky's history;

(3) Whether it be former battlegrounds, Native American sites, parks, recreation areas, historic government sites, homes of famous Kentuckians, or any other site of interest, without historic artifacts, monuments, symbols, and texts on the properties and in the buildings, most persons would not even know of the significance of the site or building;

(4) Kentucky is justly proud of its history, as the past is the prologue to how we live today, how our government functions, and what things we hold to be important to us;

(5) It is not in Kentucky's best interest to hide its heritage or traditions, or the beliefs or deeply held opinions of its citizens;

(6) It is in Kentucky's best interest that its public buildings and public properties reflect the Commonwealth's rich history by exhibiting items of significance to Kentucky's civic and cultural development;

(7) The display of historic artifacts, monuments, symbols, and texts in and on the grounds of Kentucky's public buildings and public properties promotes its citizens' awareness of their common history and an appreciation of the persons and events contributing to that history;

(8) The free exercise of religion, as well as the right to have no religion, is a right guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Kentucky;

(9) The right of the people to express themselves is enshrined in the freedom of speech guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Kentucky;

(10) While the authors of the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Kentucky were guaranteeing the free exercise of religion and prohibiting the establishment of a state-sponsored religion, these same authors and the public officials of that date publicly and regularly proclaimed a belief in a supreme being, prayed openly, and placed religious-based statements and symbols in and on their public buildings and properties, and that tradition has continued unbroken to this day;

(11) The free exercise of religion, in all of its myriad expressions, is a significant component of Kentucky's historical heritage and may be acknowledged as such;

(12) Historic artifacts, monuments, symbols, and texts, including but not limited to religious materials, may be displayed in Kentucky's public schools, within the framework of applicable legal precedents, if they are displayed in connection with a course of study that is academic, balanced, objective, and not devotional in nature, and that neither favors nor disfavors religion generally or any particular religious belief; and

(13) Historic artifacts, monuments, symbols, and texts, including but not limited to religious materials, may be displayed in Kentucky's public buildings and on Kentucky's public properties if they are displayed in a:

(a) Balanced, objective, and not solely religious manner;

(b) Manner that neither favors nor disfavors religion generally;

(c) Manner that neither favors nor disfavors any religious belief; and

(d) Manner which promotes the display of Kentucky's historic, cultural, political, and general heritage and achievements.

Analysis

1. Authorized Claim.
2. Secretary.

3. Executive Mansion Tour.

1. Authorized Claim.

The Department of Finance (now Finance and Administration Cabinet) had no authority to disapprove a claim specifically authorized by legislative resolution. Pennington v. Shannon, 270 Ky. 142, 109 S.W.2d 389, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 37 (Ky. 1937) (decided under prior law).

2. Secretary.

The duties of the Commissioner of Finance (now Secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet) that involved expenditure of public money embraced more than that of an accounting officer and he had some discretion in passing on the propriety and justification of proposed expenditures. However, he was entitled to rely upon a requisition for a proposed expenditure made by a department head, as a representation that the expenditure was proper and legitimate, and he was not liable for approving such a requisition if the purpose was within the scope of the appropriation for the department and was within the unexpended balance to the credit of the department. On the other hand, he might have disapproved the requisition if in his judgment the proposed expenditure was not legitimate or proper, or was excessive. Reeves v. Talbott, 289 Ky. 581, 159 S.W.2d 51, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 37 (Ky. 1941) (decided under prior law).

3. Executive Mansion Tour.

The authority of the Cabinet to issue permits to nonprofit organizations to conduct fund-raising tours of the executive mansion's private quarters is implicitly vested in the Cabinet via KRS Chapters 42, 45, and 56, and in specific terms, KRS 56.463(4)(a). Commonwealth ex rel. Beshear v. Brown, 672 S.W.2d 675, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 602 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

When the Governor and the Finance and Administration Cabinet agree that the private quarters of the executive mansion be opened to fund-raising tours for the general public conducted by a nonprofit organization and a permit is issued to such effect, their actions are within the statutory grant of authority of KRS 11.020 and KRS Chapters 42, 45, and 56. Commonwealth ex rel. Beshear v. Brown, 672 S.W.2d 675, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 602 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

KENTUCKY MODEL PROCUREMENT CODE

45A.300. Cooperative purchasing.

(1) Any public purchasing unit may either participate in, sponsor, conduct, or administer a cooperative purchasing agreement for the acquisition of any supplies, services, or construction with any other public purchasing unit or foreign purchasing activity, in accordance with an agreement entered into between the participants. This cooperative purchasing may include, but is not limited to, joint contracts between public purchasing units and access by local public purchasing units to open-ended state public purchasing unit contracts.

(2) Nothing in this code shall limit any public purchasing unit from selling to, acquiring from, or using any property belonging to another public purchasing unit or foreign purchasing activity independent of the requirements of KRS 45A.070 to 45A.180.

(3) Nothing in this code shall limit or restrict any public purchasing unit from entering into an agreement, independent of the requirements of KRS 45A.045(5) and KRS 45A.070 to 45A.165, with any other public purchasing unit or foreign purchasing activity for the cooperative use of supplies or services.

(4) Any public purchasing unit may enter into an agreement for the joint or common use of warehousing facilities or the lease or common use of capital equipment or facilities with any other public purchasing unit or a foreign purchasing activity subject to the terms as may be agreed upon between the parties.

(5) Nothing in this code shall limit or restrict the ability of local school districts to acquire supplies outside of the public purchasing agreements when the supplies and equipment meeting the same specifications as the contract items are available at a lower price elsewhere and the purchase does not exceed two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500).

(6) Nothing in this code shall limit any public purchasing unit from receiving notice of or accepting a price reduction on supplies or equipment when the supplies or equipment are being offered by the vendor with whom a price agreement has been made; the supplies or equipment are being offered in accordance with all terms and conditions that are specified in the price agreement, except those relating to price; and the price reduction is offered to all of the participants in the price agreement. Public purchasing units may accept special price reductions under this subsection even if the reduced price requires the purchase of a specified quantity of units different from the quantity stated in the original price agreement. Price reductions under this subsection shall not be considered to permanently alter the price of the supplies or equipment under the price agreement with the Commonwealth, except where the price reductions are to be made permanent under the express terms of the price agreement and where the purchasing agency which solicited the price agreement determines that the enforcement of those terms serves the best interest of the Commonwealth.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 60, effective January 1, 1980; 1990, ch. 496, § 28, effective July 13, 1990; 1996, ch. 89, § 1, effective July 15, 1996; 1997 (1st Ex. Sess.), ch. 4, § 31, effective May 30, 1997; 2003, ch. 98, § 21, effective June 24, 2003.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Based on the provisions of the Model Procurement Code, the Bureau (now Department) for the Blind may proceed with its plans for the bureau of rehabilitation services (BRS) to purchase short-term evaluation and adjustment services from the Bureau (now Department) for the Blind for disabled individuals eligible under the BRS program, even though such individuals may not be blind or visually impaired. OAG 82-293.

The intent of the General Assembly was to provide for the maximum cooperation between state agencies in order to facilitate the achievement of the purposes for which these agencies were created. OAG 82-293.

45A.335. Definitions for terms used in KRS 45A.330 to 45A.340.

As used in KRS 45A.330 to 45A.340 except as may be otherwise indicated by the context:

(1) "Agency" means any of the departments of the state government, and any division, board, bureau, commission or other instrumentality within such department and any independent state authority, commission, instrumentality or agency, but it does not include a school district or other political subdivision nor an authority, commission, instrumentality or agency created pursuant to compact or agreement between or among the state of Kentucky and another state or states;

(2) "Officer or employee" means a member of the boards of trustees, or regents of a state university, except faculty and student members, and a person holding an office, position or employment in an agency, but it does not include other persons who serve without salary and it does not include members or employees of school boards or district boards of education or faculty or staff of state institutions of higher learning or, as used in KRS 45A.340(5), citizen members of boards, commissions or independent state authorities who may receive per diem allowances for attendance at meetings of the boards, commissions or authorities on which they serve;

(3) "Compensation" means any money, thing of value, or financial benefit conferred in return for services rendered or to be rendered, but it does not include the salary or other payment provided by law or appropriation for services rendered in a public office, position or employment.

History.

Repealed and reenacted Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 67, effective January 1, 1979; 1978, ch. 392, § 2, effective June 17, 1978; 1980, ch. 250, § 7, effective April 9, 1980; 1982, ch. 282, § 3, effective April 2, 1982.

Compiler's Notes.

This section (Enact. Acts 1960, ch. 181, § 2; 1970, ch. 163, § 1) was formerly compiled as KRS 61.094 and was repealed and reenacted as this section by Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 67, effective January 1, 1979.

Legislative Research Commission Note.

Pursuant to 1982 Acts Ch. 282, Section 5, this section became effective on April 2, 1982. However, the reason stated therein for the emergency pertains only to Section 3 of the Act and therefore may not be in compliance with Ky. Const., § 55, which requires a reason for the emergency.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Since the Governor is defined as a department of state government, he is covered under the terms of KRS 61.092 to 61.096 (now KRS 45A.330 to 45A.340) OAG 60-242.

Although KRS 45A.340 prohibits a member of the General Assembly from being a state employee, this section excludes employees of school boards or district boards of education as officers or employees of the state, so a schoolteacher may serve in the State Legislature. OAG 73-99.

The emergency clause of Acts 1982, ch. 282 related solely to § 3 of the act which amended this section to exclude members of state boards and commissions from the term "officer or employee," as used in the conflict of interest statute, KRS 45A.340(5); it not only did not relate to the other sections of the bill, which were separable, but it gave no reason to justify that an emergency existed with respect to these sections. In view of the fact that Ky. Const., § 55 requires an act to express in plain language what the emergency is in order for it to be effective only § 3 became effective on April 2, 1982, upon the passage of the act and approval of the Governor, and the remaining sections of the act became effective as ordinary legislation on July 15, 1982. OAG 82-308.

An employee of a local board of health is not an employee of a state agency as that term is used in KRS 45A.340. OAG 82-338.

Faculty or staff of the state universities are not to be included within the definition of "officer or employee" in subdivision (2) of this section and are likewise excluded from the prohibitions set out in KRS 45A.340 deemed to create conflicts of interest for public officers and employees. Accordingly, no conflict of interest was created where a University of Kentucky faculty member was also a shareholder and director of an architectural firm which occasionally contracted with the University. OAG 82-406.

KRS 446.120, concerning statutory construction, requires the reading of the word "to" in this section to mean in effect

"through" so that this section actually defines terms used in KRS 45A.330 through 45A.340. OAG 82-406.

An "officer or employee" as defined in this section and as used in KRS 45A.340 does not include an attorney under a personal service contract to the Motor Vehicle Commission. OAG 84-174.

The full or part owner of a livestock market cannot legally appoint himself or herself as the official market veterinarian for his or her own livestock market. OAG 87-47.

45A.340. Conflicts of interest of public officers and employees.

(1) No officer or employee of the General Assembly, or officer or employee of an agency as defined in KRS 45A.335, shall knowingly receive or agree to receive, directly or indirectly, compensation for any services to be rendered, either by himself or another, in negotiations with the state or an agency for the purchase by the state or an agency of an interest in real property. This section shall not apply to appearances before any court, except that negotiations shall be prohibited as aforesaid at any time.

(2) No officer or employee of an agency or member of a state board or commission, may be in any manner interested, either directly or indirectly, in his own name or in the name of any other person, association, trust, or corporation, in any contract for the performance of any work in the making or letting or administration of which such officer or employee may be called upon to act or vote. No such officer or employee may represent, either as agent or otherwise, any person, association, trust, or corporation, with respect to any application or bid for any contract or work in regard to which such officer or employee may be called upon to act or vote. Nor may any such officer or employee take, solicit, or receive, either directly or indirectly, any money or other thing of value as a gift or bribe or means of influencing his vote or action in his official character. Any contract made and procured in violation hereof is void. For the purposes of this section the holding of less than five percent (5%) of the stock of a corporation is not considered an interest.

(3) No officer or employee of the General Assembly or officer or employee of any agency shall, for compensation, appear before an agency as an expert witness.

(4) No officer or employee of the General Assembly, or officer or employee of any agency, shall act as officer or agent for the Commonwealth or any agency in the transaction of any business with himself, or with any corporation, company, association, or firm in which he or his spouse has any interest greater than five percent (5%) of the total value thereof.

(5) No officer or employee of an agency or appointee shall knowingly himself or by his partners or through any corporation which he controls or in which he owns or controls more than ten percent (10%) of the stock, or by any other person for his use or benefit or on his account, undertake, execute, hold, or enjoy, in whole or in part, any contract, agreement, sale, or purchase of the value of twenty-five dollars ($25) or more, made, entered into, awarded or granted by any agency, unless said contract, agreement, sale or purchase:

(a) Was made or let after public notice and competitive bidding; or

(b) Results from the sale of a craft item to a state park if the employee is an interim state park employee designated as a craftsman under KRS 148.257.

(6) No officer, employee, or appointee of an agency, including persons who serve without salary or other payment for their services, shall knowingly receive or agree to receive, directly or indirectly, compensation for any services rendered or to be rendered, either by himself or another, in any cause, proceeding, application, or other matter which is before said agency or before the department of state government in which said agency functions.

(7) No member of a board of trustees or regents shall have an interest in any contract with a state university unless such contract shall have been subjected to competitive bidding in compliance with KRS Chapter 45A, unless such trustee or regent shall have been the lowest bidder and unless such trustee or regent shall have first notified in writing the remaining members of the board, and to the newspaper having the largest circulation in the county in which the state university is located, of his intention to bid on such contract.

(8) No officer, employee, or appointee of an agency, including persons who serve without salary or other payment for their services, may participate in the procurement of a contract under this chapter that relates to his or her prior employment until at least one (1) year has passed since his or her termination with that employer.

History.

Amend. and reenacted Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 68, effective January 1, 1979; 1990, ch. 496, § 29, effective July 13, 1990; 2006, ch. 68, § 2, effective July 12, 2006; 2022 ch. 150, § 4, effective July 14, 2022.

Compiler's Notes.

This section (Enact. Acts 1960, ch. 181, §§ 3 to 9; 1974, ch. 261, § 2; 1976, ch. 206, § 29; 1976, ch. 262, § 17) was formerly compiled as KRS 61.096 and was amended and reenacted as this section by Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 68, effective January 1, 1979.

Legislative Research Commission Note.

(7/14/92). The text of subsection (7) of this statute was enacted by 1978 Ky. Acts ch. 392, sec. 2, as subsection (4) of the former KRS 61.094, which was reenacted as KRS 45A.335 by 1978 Ky. Acts ch. 110, sec. 67. In codifying the amendment to KRS 45A.335 in 1982 Ky. Acts ch. 282, sec. 3, the Revisor of Statutes acting under KRS 7.136(1) renumbered the former KRS 45A.335(4) as KRS 45A.340(7).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Lieutenant Governor, by virtue of his membership on the Legislative Research Commission, is included under KRS 61.092 to 61.096 (now KRS 45A.330 to 45A.340). OAG 60-242.

The officers and employees of the Governor's department would be included under the terms of KRS 61.092 to 61.096 (now KRS 45A.330 to 45A.340). OAG 60-242.

Membership in the house of representatives and on the Education Commission would be incompatible by reason of the fact that service on the Education Commission would constitute an appointment to an office in a state agency for which compensation is provided. OAG 60-539.

There was no conflict of interests where a state employee presented a bill for acting as a court reporter and taking and transcribing hearings for the sole use of her department when such work was done outside of the employee's salaried hours. OAG 61-845.

There was no conflict of interest where an officer of a corporation submitting a competitive bid for a state contract was also a state employee in another department. OAG 63-1027.

This statute clearly prohibits a member of the General Assembly from accepting any appointment as an officer or employee of the Kentucky Real Estate Commission. In addition, the two positions would be incompatible under Ky. Const., §§ 27 and 28 to the effect that no person exercising duties under one of the departments of government shall at the same time exercise a power properly belonging to either of the others. OAG 68-43.

A prohibited conflict of interest exists where the State Department of Libraries (now Department for Libraries and Archives) employs a female librarian who is charged by the Department with the selection of children's books whose husband is a book publisher's representative. OAG 68-444.

There is no conflict of interest where a member on the Council on Public Higher Education (now Council on Higher Education) is an owner of a company selling printing, office supplies and furniture to several of the state's higher educational institutions but, should a matter of business be introduced for consideration by the council which involves directly or indirectly the financial interest of such company, the owner-member should as a matter of record declare such interest, refrain from deliberations and discussions designed to influence the voting, and abstain from voting. OAG 69-46.

A state representative may legally sell land to a county without violating this statute which relates to the state or its agencies. OAG 69-48.

There appears to be no violation of KRS 61.096 (now this section) for the Commissioner of the Department of Public Information, as a private person, to engage in the real estate business and to operate a public relations agency, so long as he refrains from dealing in any way with a state agency through the referred to business interests. OAG 69-444.

It is a violation of the terms of this statute for a person to serve as chairman of the Kentucky Public Service Commission while he is a partner in a certified public accounting partnership that performs an annual audit of a state university and/or the Kentucky state auditor's office. OAG 70-55.

Members of the State Board of Examiners and registration of architects are officers of a state agency and are, as a consequence, subject to the provisions of this statute. OAG 70-128.

The conflict of interests provisions did not apply to a situation where a grant was made to the state theater by way of a personal service contract where one of the members of the Arts Commission was involved in the theater but did not vote, since the contract was essentially a grant. OAG 70-480.

There was no conflict of interests where a member of the board of regents of a state university, serving without compensation, was awarded a contract with another unrelated state agency. OAG 70-693.

The offices of assistant Commonwealth attorney and state representative are incompatible. OAG 71-24.

A candidate for state office who is a coowner or substantial stockholder in a firm doing business with or contracted to the commonwealth for the construction of highways could not take office without violating the Conflict of Interest Act. OAG 71-68.

Where the Lieutenant Governor, while serving as a member of the turnpike authority of Kentucky by requirement, voted in favor of a turnpike project and his family business subsequently received the fee for selling the performance bond to cover the lowest bidder, the Lieutenant Governor did not violate subsection (6) or (7) (now subsections (5) and (6)) of this section. OAG 71-224.

Under subsection (6) (now subsection (5)) of this section, part-time parole officer for the State Department of Corrections (now Corrections Cabinet) could not contract with the Kentucky Department of Highways as a title examiner, since such an arrangement would constitute a conflict of interest. OAG 72-144.

An attorney who is a member of a law firm representing clients in matters before the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals and the Department of Revenue (now Revenue Cabinet) could not be a member of the Board. OAG 72-188.

A faculty member of the University of Louisville may not serve at the same time as a member of the state legislature. OAG 72-442.

A person who is a full or part-time teacher at the university could become a candidate for the office of state representative but could not serve as a member of the state Legislature and continue his position with the university. OAG 72-827.

A member of the General Assembly may not at the same time hold a teaching job at a college which is part of the University of Kentucky community college system. OAG 73-8.

As community mental health boards are eligible for membership in the Kentucky employees' retirement system under KRS 61.510, board members and employees are state officers and employees for all purposes; therefore an officer or employee of the board could not at the same time serve as a member of the State Legislature but such prohibitions would not affect the officer's or employee's right to become a candidate for the State Legislature. OAG 73-94.

A contracting company whose president has been elected a state representative is prohibited from contracting with the state or any of its agencies only if the contract was not let by competitive bidding but such prohibition does not apply to contracts awarded as a result of competitive bidding. OAG 73-760.

Any contract entered into by an appointee or a member of a regional health board and/or board of health whereby he obtains any profits from the connected service center is prohibited by subsection (6) of this section unless approved under KRS 45.360 (now repealed) by the Executive Department for Finance and Administration (now Finance and Administration Cabinet). OAG 74-700.

There is no impropriety in paying a per diem to three state employees for their attendance at meetings of the board for licensing hearing aid dealers as there is no constitutional or statutory incompatibility between the occupations of these people and their board membership as the per diem represents a payment for work or duties not job associated and, as most of the meetings fall on Saturdays, they fall without the normal work week and are truly additional hours of service given by the members to the Commonwealth. OAG 75-39.

In the absence of a per se violation of the conflict of interests provisions under this section, there is no conflict of interests where a railroad commissioner continues to sell fuel products to a common carrier after taking office on the Railroad Commission, but the question of whether the opportunity for self-interest is more than a mere remote possibility is ultimately for the courts to decide. OAG 75-702.

There is no conflict of interests where a railroad commissioner continues to supply gasoline to the State Highway Department after taking office on the Railroad Commission, if the contract with the highway department is let on a competitive bid basis. OAG 75-702.

The employment by the office of judicial planning of a member of the Kentucky Crime Commission, an agency which approves a portion of its funding, does not represent either a statutory or common-law conflict of interest provided that the employee disqualifies himself from any situations where one position interferes or is subject to the supervision of the other. OAG 76-132.

A member of the General Assembly who is a co-sponsor of a proposed apartment development would not be precluded from seeking a construction loan for such development from the Kentucky Housing Corporation since the 1976 amendment by § 17 of Chapter 262 removed the reference to "member of the legislature" from subsection (5) (formerly subsection (6)) of KRS 61.096 (now this section) and since the situation involves a loan application with a political subdivision of the Commonwealth and is not covered in KRS Chapter 45 dealing with state contracts. OAG 76-437.

This section was amended twice in 1976 by Chapter 206 approved by the Governor on March 29, 1976 and by Chapter 262 approved by the governor on March 30, 1976 and since where two acts passed at the same session are repugnant to each other and cannot be executed without one offending the other the last one enacted is the later expression of the legislative will and must prevail; therefore Chapter 262, § 17 as it amends KRS 61.096 (amended and reenacted as this section by Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 68, effective January 1, 1979) prevails. OAG 76-437.

There would be no conflict of interest where a doctor who was the director of a Kentucky state biological laboratory established and operated a private biological supply business as long as the business was completely separate from his duties with the state and no business was transacted with the state. OAG 76-486.

Inasmuch as this section requires that an employee actually carry out an act that is incompatible with his employment responsibilities in order to be in a conflict of interest situation, the mere fact that property leased by a reclamation inspector to a coal company is located in the county in which he inspects an assigned number of coal companies does not show a violation. OAG 76-680.

There is nothing under the state conflict of interest act, particularly this section or KRS 61.190 (now repealed) that would prohibit a person who is chairman of the State Personnel Board from accepting a federal grant pursuant to an application made to the Kentucky heritage commission for a historical grant to restore certain property located in a historical zone. OAG 77-41.

Membership on the Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission would not prohibit the proprietor of a consulting engineering firm from executing contracts with any other state agency. OAG 77-620.

No conflict of interest exists in the simultaneous holding of membership on the Real Estate Commission and acting as principal officer of an independent commercial real estate school, provided no contractual interest exists between either the member or the school and the Commission. OAG 79-218.

Nothing in the Constitution or laws of the Commonwealth prevents a contract between a state agency and a corporation whose vice-president is a member of the General Assembly where the legislator neither owns nor controls the corporation nor more than five percent of its stock. OAG 79-421.

An Eastern Kentucky University professor who holds a consultant's license from the Kentucky Department of Insurance, is a member of the Kentucky Insurance Regulatory Board and is a chairholder for insurance studies at Eastern Kentucky University may enter into a personal service contract with the Department of Insurance to revise study manuals for use by applicants for insurance agents' licenses. OAG 80-5.

Former KRS 45A.335(4) (now subsection (7) of this section) is applicable only to contracts executed during the board member's tenure and no conflict of interest exists where the contracts were executed prior to the board member becoming a member of the board of trustees or regents. OAG 80-379.

An employee of a local board of health is not an employee of a state agency as that term is used in this section. OAG 82-338.

Faculty or staff of the state universities are not to be included within the definition of "officer or employee" in KRS 45A.335(2) and are likewise excluded from the prohibitions set out in this section deemed to create conflicts of interest for public officers and employees. Accordingly, no conflict of interest was created where a University of Kentucky faculty member was also a shareholder and director of an architectural firm which occasionally contracted with the University. OAG 82-406.

KRS 446.120, concerning statutory construction, requires the reading of the word "to" in KRS 45A.335 to mean in effect "through" so that KRS 45A.335 actually defines terms used in KRS 45A.330 through 45A.340. OAG 82-406.

This section was not applicable where an official of the Division of Licensing and Regulation of the Cabinet for Human Resources was married to an administrator of an intermediate care facility since this section only applies to matters of procurement and the division is not involved in the awarding of any type of contract to an intermediate care facility. OAG 83-33.

The State Personnel Board could select an assistant Commonwealth attorney to serve as general counsel and hearing officer for the Board without first seeking competitive bidding for the professional services; further, such employment would not involve the attorney in a conflict of interest nor incompatibility of offices. OAG 83-138.

An "officer or employee" as defined in KRS 45A.335 and as used in this section does not include an attorney under a personal service contract to the Motor Vehicle Commission. OAG 84-174.

There is no statutory conflict of interest for an attorney under a personal service contract to the Motor Vehicle Commission to also represent an automobile dealers trade association. OAG 84-174.

The full or part owner of a livestock market cannot legally appoint himself or herself as the official market veterinarian for his or her own livestock market. OAG 87-47.

If the governor owned a controlling interest in a bookstore, any possible sales or agreements by the bookstore to or with any commonwealth agency would have to be on a competitive bidding basis as required by subsection (5) of this section and KRS 45A.080. OAG 87-65.

Subsection (2) of this section would prohibit the governor and chairman of the Property and Buildings Commission from being interested in the making or administration of a contract for the management of the parking structure as to which he may be called upon to act or vote. OAG 87-65.

The Governor's interest in the administration of the management agreement for the conference center in the hotel and his positions as chairman of the authority and chairman of the Property and Buildings Commission would make a violation of subsection (2) of this section unavoidable. OAG 87-65.

This section, Ky. Const., § 173, KRS 61.190 (now repealed), and the common law rules that apply to conflicts of interest are applicable to anyone holding the office of Governor. OAG 87-65.

Where the Governor owned a controlling interest in a hotel and the state was the primary user of the hotel, the use of the facilities by commonwealth employees and agencies would exceed $25 each and would not involve competitive bidding; therefore, these transactions would involve an illegal conflict of interest in violation of subsection (5) of this section and KRS 45A.080. OAG 87-65.

The Kentucky High School Athletic Association may purchase property from an entity in which the governor is a general partner, without violating this section. OAG 90-27.

Attorney General opined that no statutory conflict of interest exists under this section and KRS 160.180 between the positions of member of the State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education and executive director of the Lincoln Foundation; but it was not possible for the Attorney General to provide a general ruling as to whether a potential conflict of interest may exist at common law. OAG 91-226.

(1) Any local public agency may adopt the provisions of KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460. No other statutes governing purchasing shall apply to a local public agency upon adoption of these provisions.

(2) After July 15, 1994, any contract entered into by a local public agency, whether under KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460 or any other authority, shall require the contractor and all subcontractors performing work under the contract to:

(a) Reveal any final determination of a violation by the contractor or subcontractor within the previous five (5) year period pursuant to KRS Chapters 136, 139, 141, 337, 338, 341, and 342 that apply to the contractor or subcontractor; and

(b) Be in continuous compliance with the provisions of KRS Chapters 136, 139, 141, 337, 338, 341, and 342 that apply to the contractor or subcontractor for the duration of the contract.

(3) A contractor's failure to reveal a final determination of a violation by the contractor of KRS Chapters 136, 139, 141, 337, 338, 341, and 342 or to comply with these statutes for the duration of the contract shall be grounds for the local public agency's:

(a) Cancellation of the contract; and

(b) Disqualification of the contractor from eligibility for future contracts awarded by the local public agency for a period of two (2) years.

(4) A subcontractor's failure to reveal a final determination of a violation by the subcontractor of KRS Chapters 136, 139, 141, 337, 338, 341, and 342 or to comply with these statutes for the duration of the contract shall be grounds for the local public agency's disqualification of the subcontractor from eligibility for future contracts for a period of two (2) years.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Applicability.

The Kentucky Model Procurement Code (MPC), KRS 45A.010 to 45A.990, was not applicable to a county riverport authority where neither the county, nor the authority, had adopted the provisions of the MPC as required by this section. E.M. Bailey Distributing Co. v. Conagra, Inc., 676 S.W.2d 770, 1984 Ky. LEXIS 235 (Ky. 1984).

Where a city and its utility commission never adopted Kentucky's Model Procurement Code (KMPC), but the commission entered into a grant agreement providing that it would construct a new water tank consistent with the KMPC, the language of the grant agreement did not bring the project within the scope of the KMPC, and a rejected contractor with the lowest bid lacked standing to assert a violation of the KMPC because it was not a party to the grant agreement. Laurel Constr. Co. v. Paintsville Util. Comm'n, 336 S.W.3d 903, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 40 (Ky. Ct. App. 2010).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Where the General Assembly in the 1980 session enacted Senate Bill 163 (ch. 250), which created this section and made the Model Procurement Code coverage optional for local public agencies, and at the same session they amended KRS 45A.350 (now repealed) by Senate Bill 368 (ch. 293), which section states that the Model Procurement Code mandatorily applies to all local public agencies, Senate Bill 163 is controlling because it deals minutely with specific and detailed legislation regarding public procurement, as contrasted with the general and broad brush policy expressed in Senate Bill 368 about prison-made goods, and because Senate Bill 163 contained an emergency clause, and Senate Bill 368 did not. It is presumed that the General Assembly intended the act with the emergency clause to prevail; thus the adoption of the Model Procurement Code by any local public agency is optional. OAG 80-279 (opinion prior to repeal of KRS 45A.350 in 1984).

A volunteer fire protection district, established under KRS Chapter 75, is a "local public agency," as defined in KRS 45A.345(9), since it is a "special district" and a "political subdivision", thus the volunteer fire department district would come under the Model Procurement Code (KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460), provided that the district so chooses to come under the code. OAG 80-301.

Acts 1982, ch. 282, which amended KRS 45A.080, 45A.100, 45A.335, had no effect upon fiscal courts which had adopted KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460. OAG 82-324.

Any fiscal court adopting KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460 may, under KRS 45A.385, effect purchases not exceeding $5,000 (now $7,500) without formal bidding procedures, while those fiscal courts, under current law, which have not adopted such sections, are governed by KRS 424.260. OAG 82-324.

Where a riverport authority, created pursuant to KRS 65.510 et seq., has chosen to not adopt provisions of the Model Procurement Code under this section, such riverport authority automatically comes under the mandatory terms of the bidding statute, KRS 424.260. OAG 84-297 (modifying OAG 80-71).

KRS 45A.420(2) allows a public agency to contract, without bidding, with a vendor who is on the current state contract list but is offering the agency a price lower than on the state price list, provided the local agency has adopted the provisions of KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460 as authorized under this section. OAG 90-75.

The Model Procurement Code did not apply to a mayor's development contract with a company where the metro council had previously taken action to declare the project that was the subject of the contract as a "signature project" under former KRS 65.7075 [repealed, reenacted and amended as KRS 154.30-050] and identified the company with which the mayor contracted as the developer of the project. The Metro Council effectively placed the Development Agreement outside the scope of the Model Procurement Code. OAG 09-007.

A local public agency that has not adopted the Model Procurement Code is not required to follow competitive bidding procedures for insurance, and may contract with an insurance broker to solicit and receive bids for insurance, although competitive bidding remains preferred. A local public agency that has adopted the Model Procurement Code must follow all applicable provisions in seeking contracts with insurance brokers. OAG 13-006.

Items the need for which could not reasonably be established in advance or which were unavailable because of a failure of delivery need not be included in the aggregate amount.

(2) "Capital cost avoidance" means moneys expended by a local public agency to pay for an energy conservation measure identified as a permanent equipment replacement and whose cost has been discounted by any additional energy and operation savings generated from other energy conservation measures identified in the guaranteed energy savings contract, except that for school districts capital cost avoidance shall also mean moneys expended by the district from one (1) or more of the following sources:

(a) General fund;

(b) Capital outlay allotment under KRS 157.420; and

(c) State and local funds from the Facilities Support Program of Kentucky under KRS 157.440.

(b) Is either published or otherwise available for inspection by customers; and

(c) States prices at which sales are currently or were last made to a significant number of buyers constituting the general buying public for that item.

(8) "Evaluated bid price" means the dollar amount of a bid after bid price adjustments are made pursuant to objective measurable criteria, set forth in the invitation for bids, which affect the economy and effectiveness in the operation or use of the product, such as reliability, maintainability, useful life, residual value, and time of delivery, performance, or completion.

(9) "Invitation for bids" means all documents, whether attached or incorporated by reference, utilized for soliciting bids in accordance with the procedures set forth in KRS 45A.365.

(10) "The legislative body or governing board" means a council, commission, or other legislative body of a city, consolidated local government, or urban-county; a county fiscal court; board of education of a county or independent school district; board of directors of an area development district or special district; or board of any other local public agency.

(11) "Local public agency" means a city, county, urban-county, consolidated local government, school district, special district, or an agency formed by a combination of such agencies under KRS Chapter 79, or any department, board, commission, authority, office, or other sub-unit of a political subdivision which shall include the offices of the county clerk, county sheriff, county attorney, coroner, and jailer.

(17) "Procurement" means the purchasing, buying, renting, leasing, or otherwise obtaining any supplies, services, or construction. (18) "Request for proposals" means all documents, whether attached or incorporated by reference, utilized for soliciting proposals in accordance with the procedures set forth in KRS 45A.370, 45A.375, 45A.380, or 45A.385.

(19) "Responsible bidder or offeror" means a person who has the capability in all respects to perform fully the contract requirements, and the integrity and reliability which will assure good faith performance.

(20) "Responsive bidder" means a person who has submitted a bid under KRS 45A.365 which conforms in all material respects to the invitation for bids, so that all bidders may stand on equal footing with respect to the method and timeliness of submission and as to the substance of any resulting contract.

(21) "Reverse auction" means a real-time, structured bidding process, usually lasting less than one (1) hour, and taking place during a previously scheduled time and Internet location, during which multiple bidders, anonymous to each other, submit revised, lower bids to provide the solicited good or leased space.

(22) "Services" means the rendering, by a contractor, of its time and effort rather than the furnishing of a specific end product other than reports which are merely incidental to the required performance of service. It does not include labor contracts with employees of local public agencies.

(a) Insulation of the building structure or systems within the building;

(b) Storm windows or doors, caulking or weatherstripping, multiglazed windows or doors, heat absorbing or heat reflective glazed and coated window or door systems, additional glazing, reductions in glass area, or other window and door system modifications that reduce energy consumption;

(c) Automated or computerized energy control systems;

(d) Heating, ventilating, or air conditioning system modifications or replacements;

(e) Replacement or modification of lighting fixtures to increase the energy efficiency of the lighting system without increasing the overall illumination of a facility, unless an increase in illumination is necessary to conform to the applicable state or local building code for the lighting system after the proposed modifications are made;

(f) Energy recovery systems;

(g) Cogeneration systems that produce steam or forms of energy such as heat, as well as electricity, for use primarily within a building or complex of buildings;

(h) Energy, water, or wastewater conservation measures that provide long-term operating cost reductions or billable revenue increases;

(i) Any life safety measures that provide long-term operating cost reductions;

(j) Water and wastewater conservation measures, including plumbing fixtures and infrastructure;

(k) Equipment upgrades that improve the accuracy of billable revenue generating systems; or

(l) Automated, electronic, or remotely controlled systems or measures that reduce direct personnel costs.

(28) “Guaranteed energy savings contract” means a contract for the evaluation and recommendation of energy, water, and wastewater conservation measures and for implementation of one (1) or more of those measures. The contract shall provide that all payments, except obligations on termination of the contract before its expiration, are to be made over time and the savings are guaranteed to the extent necessary to make payments for the cost of the design, installation, and maintenance of energy, water, and wastewater conservation measures.

(29) “Qualified provider” means a person or business experienced in the design, implementation, and installation of energy, water, and wastewater conservation measures and is determined to be qualified by the local public agency. The qualified provider shall be responsible for and shall provide the local public agency with the following information regarding guaranteed energy, water, and wastewater savings contracts:

(a) Project design and specifications;

(b) Construction management;

(c) Construction;

(d) Commissioning;

(e) On-going services as required;

(f) Measurement and verification of savings for guaranteed energy, water, and wastewater savings contracts; and

(g) Annual reconciliation statements as provided in KRS 45A.352(8).

Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 70, effective January 1, 1980; 1980, ch. 250, § 8, effective April 9, 1980; 1994, ch. 491, § 3, effective July 15, 1994; 1996, ch. 203, § 2, effective July 15, 1996; 1998, ch. 120, § 12, effective July 15, 1998; 1998, ch. 375, § 2, effective July 15, 1998; 2002, ch. 346, § 12, effective July 15, 2002; 2005, ch. 163, § 1, effective June 20, 2005; 2010, ch. 63, § 6, effective July 15, 2010.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. “May” Defined.

KRS 45A.425 does not make it mandatory that the agency follow the other sections of Chapter 45A in disposing or selling of its property, since it provides that it “may” sell in accordance with the code and, by virtue of subdivision (10) of this section, “may” means permissive. Ohio River Conversions, Inc. v. Owensboro, 663 S.W.2d 759, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 444 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A city electric plant board, operating under KRS 96.550 to 96.900, is a board or agency of that city, itself a subdivision of the state. OAG 79-618.

The definition of “local public agency” in subsection (9) of this section clearly includes any agency of a city and its boards or commissions. OAG 79-618.

The electric plant board of the city of Paducah, operating under KRS 96.550 to 96.900, is required to abide by the terms of the Kentucky Model Procurement Code. OAG 79-618. But see OAG 80-279.

A fire protection district is a special district within the definition of a local public agency in subdivision (9) of this section; therefore, the model procurement code, KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460, applies to fire protection districts. OAG 79-647; 80-12. But see OAG 80-279.

The Kentucky Model Procurement Code is sufficiently flexible to permit the designation of more than one specific individual as a procurement or purchasing agent or officer. OAG 80-21.

The Kentucky Model Procurement Act, which became effective for local public agencies as of January 1, 1980, applies to the purchasing procedures of a municipally owned electric distribution system operating under the Little TVA Act. OAG 80-63. But see OAG 80-279.

As of January 1, 1980, riverport authorities must look to the applicable provisions of the Kentucky Model Procurement Code in connection with their procurement programs. OAG 80-71.

The term “authority,” as used in this section, includes a riverport authority. OAG 80-71.

The Model Procurement Code, KRS Chapter 45A, does not govern any transaction unless there will be an expenditure of a local public agency’s funds for either services, supplies or construction; where no school funds, either general account or activity account, are expended in the purchasing of graduation rings, graduation invitations or caps and gowns, the provisions of the Model Procurement Code have no application. OAG 80-108.

A local air board is a local public agency as defined in subsection (9) of this section, subject to those sections of the Kentucky Model Procurement Code dealing with procurement by a local public agency, KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460; if the air board is the lessor, the code does not have to be applied but if the air board is the lessee, the code does apply and must be utilized. OAG 80-117. But see OAG 80-279.

Under the literal language of subsection (9) of this section, a county hospital commission is a local public agency, since it is a commission and subunit of a political subdivision, i.e., of a county. OAG 80-128.

Where a city has established a separate independent agency to administer the Urban Renewal Act pursuant to KRS 99.350, that urban renewal agency would constitute a “local public agency” as defined in subsection (9) of this section and, therefore, the agency would have to follow the requirements of the Model Procurement Code. OAG 80-169.

The enumerated county constitutional officers listed as subunits of a county in subsection (8) (now subsection (9)) of this section must generally integrate their procurement contracts with the fiscal court’s procurement program. OAG 80-180.

A volunteer fire protection district, established under KRS Chapter 75, is a “local public agency,” as defined in subsection (9) of this section since it is a “special district” and a “political subdivision”, thus the volunteer fire department district would come under the Model Procurement Code (KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460), provided that the district so chooses to come under the code. OAG 80-301.

A county metropolitan server district may, whether operating under KRS 424.260, the bidding statute, or this section, the model procurement code, adopt a “Buy American” clause, which requires a contractor or supplier to furnish only goods manufactured in America, as a standard procurement policy, included in all purchasing contracts and bid specifications. OAG 81-34.

Where a fiscal court has specifically adopted the Kentucky Model Procurement Code under KRS 45A.350 (now repealed) it must under subdivision (23) of this section purchase insurance under a competitive bidding system, even though KRS 424.260 excepts professional services such as insurance from competitive bidding. OAG 81-109.

A statutory requirement of advertisement for bids is “jurisdictional,” and a fiscal court is without power to enter into a contract without such advertisement, where the purchase requires bidding. Further, a party deals with a public agency at its peril if it contracts with one and fails to inquire into the power of the agency to execute it. OAG 82-125.

The matter of letting out for bids the gasoline and oil needed for the county road department is left to the good business judgment of the fiscal court in terms of the period of consumption, price fluctuations, availability of the commodity for a definite period, etc. However, a fiscal court should not deliberately buy the needed commodities in “dribbles and dabs” merely to circumvent advertised bidding. OAG 82-125.

The number of months’ supply of any needed commodity which must be considered for bidding purposes is a matter, because of its nature, that must be left to the sound administrative discretion of the fiscal court. OAG 82-125.

The three important benefits of the bidding process are: (a) an offering to the public, (b) an opportunity for competition and (c) a basis for an exact comparison of bids. OAG 82-125.

Where a county is under KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460, KRS 45A.365, relating to the major policy of competitive sealed bidding, would apply to purchase of its gasoline, petroleum, and other supplies used by the county road department, except as otherwise provided by KRS 45A.370 to 45A.385. OAG 82-125.

If a school district has chosen to operate under the Model Procurement Code, competitive bidding for general liability insurance on buildings and vehicles, etc., is required absent a legitimate, written determination by the local public agency to the contrary; this conclusion is based on the fact that in subdivision (23) of this section, the term “supplies” is defined to include insurance, and that KRS 45A.380(10) authorizes an exemption from competitive bidding by written determination if the “contract is for group life insurance, group health and accident insurance, group professional liability insurance, workers’ compensation insurance, and unemployment insurance,” an exemption which does not include general liability insurance. OAG 82-170.

There is no conflict between KRS 424.260 and the Model Procurement Code, KRS Ch. 45A, concerning the necessity of school boards taking competitive bids for general liability insurance, since local school districts, as local public agencies, have a choice as to whether to operate with respect to their procurement needs under either the local Model Procurement Code or KRS 424.260. OAG 82-170.

Acts 1982, ch. 282, which amended KRS 45A.080, 45A.100 and 45A.335, had no effect upon fiscal courts which had adopted KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460. OAG 82-324.

Any fiscal court adopting KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460 may, under KRS 45A.385, effect purchases not exceeding $5,000 (now $7,500) without formal bidding procedures, while those fiscal courts, under current law, which have not adopted such sections, are governed by KRS 424.260. OAG 82-324.

The county sheriff is not required to follow the purchasing procedures of the urban county government and may or may not adopt KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460 of the Model Procurement Code. OAG 83-249.

Should a fee officer have to purchase items of equipment or personal property that are not consumable but will have a reasonable life span, such as motor vehicles, the title would be taken in the name of the county and the purchases would be subject to the county’s handling of the purchases and applicable provisions relating to bidding law under KRS 424.260 or KRS Chapter 45A (where the fiscal court has adopted the provisions of KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460). Where the county clerk or sheriff has adopted KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460, such officer could handle the purchase under the applicable bidding law in KRS Chapter 45A, but only with the approval of the fiscal court; and the title to the nonconsumable property or property of any reasonable life span would be in the name of the county. OAG 83-448.

Even though a riverport authority is created jointly by a city and county, the created authority is still a body politic and corporate, it is still a special district and, thus, the district, i.e., the riverport authority, is subject to the bidding principle under KRS 424.260, or the Model Procurement Code if adopted by the authority. OAG 84-196.

The bidding statute, KRS 424.260, applies to a riverport authority created pursuant to KRS 65.510 et seq., unless the authority has specifically adopted the Model Procurement Code (KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460), in which latter case the Model Procurement Code, with its bidding requirements, applies to the riverport authority. OAG 84-196.

A fire protection district is a local public agency under subsection (9) of this section. OAG 85-65.

KRS 45A.420(2) allows a public agency to contract, without bidding, with a vendor who is on the current state contract list but is offering the agency a price lower than on the state price list, provided the local agency has adopted the provisions of this section through KRS 45A.460 as authorized under KRS 45A.343. OAG 90-75.

The Model Procurement Code allows local public agencies to be flexible in order to take advantage of discounts or cost savings available by means of noncompetitive negotiations if competitive negotiations would not yield greater savings in a given circumstance. OAG 90-75.

The requirements of KRS 45A.380 concerning “noncompetitive negotiation,” as that term is defined by subdivision (12) of this section, allow a local public agency to enter into contracts by noncompetitive negotiations and without bidding, if it simply makes a written determination that competitive negotiation is not feasible and the contract is for a sale of supplies at reduced prices that will afford a purchase at savings to the local public agency. OAG 90-75.

The term “negotiating” used in KRS 45A.420(2) was intended to be the same term of art as defined by subdivision (11) of this section. OAG 90-75.

The Model Procurement Code did not apply to a mayor’s development contract with a company where the metro council had previously taken action to declare the project that was the subject of the contract as a “signature project” under former KRS 65.7075 [repealed, reenacted and amended as KRS 154.30-050] and identified the company with which the mayor contracted as the developer of the project. The Metro Council effectively placed the Development Agreement outside the scope of the Model Procurement Code. OAG 09-007.

A local public agency that has not adopted the Model Procurement Code is not required to follow competitive bidding procedures for insurance, and may contract with an insurance broker to solicit and receive bids for insurance, although competitive bidding remains preferred. A local public agency that has adopted the Model Procurement Code must follow all applicable provisions in seeking contracts with insurance brokers. OAG 13-006.

45A.351. Declaration of public policy on preservation of Commonwealth’s natural resources through energy efficiency.

Recognizing the need in the Commonwealth to preserve to the greatest extent possible natural resources within the Commonwealth which produce energy for the citizens, businesses, schools, and governments within the Commonwealth, it shall be the policy of the Commonwealth to preserve these natural resources by maximizing the use of energy efficiency measures in the construction, renovation, and maintenance of buildings owned by local public agencies and to encourage local public agencies to incorporate cost-effective energy efficiency measures into their buildings.

History.

Enact. Acts 1996, ch. 203, § 1, effective July 15, 1996.

45A.352. Guaranteed energy savings contracts involving local public agencies.

(1) A local public agency may enter into a guaranteed energy savings contract for innovative solutions for energy conservation measures. The local public agency shall submit a request for proposals. The request for proposals for competitive procurement of guaranteed energy savings contracts shall include the following:

- (a) The name and address of the governmental unit;
- (b) The name, address, title, and phone number of a contact person;
- (c) Notice indicating that the local public agency is requesting qualified providers to propose energy conservation measures through a guaranteed energy savings contract;
- (d) The following evaluation criteria for assessing the proposals:
 1. Construction management capabilities;
 2. Technical approach to facilities included;
 3. Financial attributes, as defined by total cost of contract and guaranteed savings and provider's financial strength demonstrating ability to fulfill the guarantee term; and
 4. Provider's capability, personnel, track record, and demonstrated ability to accomplish the contract;
- (e) The date, time, and place where proposals must be received;
- (f) Any other stipulations and clarifications the local public agency may require; and
- (g) An overview prepared by the local public agency stating goals or objectives specific to facility needs to be considered by the qualified providers who are responding to the request. Detailed scope of construction is not required.

(2) Respondents to the request for proposal shall provide the following:

- (a) A detailed list of the proposed energy conservation measures and the guaranteed savings which shall be supported with calculations. Any guaranteed energy and operational savings shall be determined by using one of the measurement and verification methodologies listed in the United States Department of Energy's "Measurement and Verification Guideline for Federal Energy Projects" or in the "North American Energy Measurement and Verification Protocol." If due to existing data limitations or the nonconformance of specific project characteristics, none of the methods listed in either the United States Department of Energy's "Measurement and Verification Guideline for Federal Energy Projects" or in the "North American Energy Measurement and Verification Protocol" is sufficient for measuring guaranteed savings, the qualified provider shall develop an alternate method that is compatible with one (1) of the two (2);

(b) The estimated cost of the proposed energy conservation measures including engineering, construction, commissioning, measurement and verification, annual reconciliation statements, and required on-going services; and

(c) Proposed method and costs of financing.

(3) The value for total cost of the contract minus the calculated savings from the energy conservation measures listed in the qualified provider's proposal, shall be within fifteen percent (15%) of the value for the total cost of the contract minus the calculated savings after the final contract has been negotiated. If the difference between the proposed and the final contract is not within fifteen percent (15%) and the local public agency and the qualified provider are unable to renegotiate the final contract to reconcile the difference between the proposed and final contract values, then the local public agency may:

(a) Stop negotiations with the current qualified provider; and

(b) Select an alternate provider.

(4) The local public agency may, as a component of the request for proposal, solicit and negotiate additional maintenance services for the affected proposed energy conservation measures. Additional services shall be subject to budget appropriations on an annual basis and may be discontinued at any time over the guarantee period with no negative impact to the guaranteed savings contract.

(5) The local public agency shall utilize the request for proposal process to enter into a guaranteed energy savings contract. The local public agency may, at its discretion, utilize a request for qualifications, provided that the local public agency solicits qualification statements from multiple potentially qualified providers. The local public agency shall use the qualification statements to select no fewer than two (2) providers and each provider shall then be subject to the request-for-proposal requirement provided in subsections (1) to (4) of this section.

(6) The local public agency shall select the provider best qualified to meet its needs. The local public agency shall provide public notice of the meeting at which it proposes to award a guaranteed energy savings contract, the name of the parties to the proposed contract, and the purpose of the contract. The public notice shall be made at least ten (10) days prior to the meeting. After reviewing the proposals, a local public agency may enter into a guaranteed energy savings contract with a qualified provider if it finds that the amount it would spend on the energy conservation measures recommended in the proposal would not exceed the amount to be saved in either energy or operational costs plus capital cost avoidance within the term of the contract from the date of installation, if the recommendations in the proposal are followed.

(7) The guaranteed energy savings contract shall include a written guarantee of the qualified provider that either the energy or operational costs savings plus capital cost avoidance will meet or exceed the costs of the energy conservation measures within the term of the contract. The qualified provider shall, on an annual basis, reimburse the local public agency for any shortfall in guaranteed energy savings projected in the contract. A qualified provider shall provide a sufficient bond to the local public agency for the installation and the faithful performance of all the measures included in the contract. The guaranteed energy savings contract may provide for payments over a period of time, not to exceed the term of the contract.

(8) The qualified provider shall provide the local public agency with an annual reconciliation statement. The statement shall disclose any shortfalls or surplus between guaranteed energy and operational savings specified in the guaranteed energy savings contract and actual energy and operational savings incurred during a given guarantee year. The guarantee year shall consist of a twelve (12) month term commencing from the time that the energy conservation measures became fully operational. The qualified provider shall pay the local public agency any short fall in the guaranteed energy and operation savings within thirty (30) days after the total year savings have been determined. If there is a surplus in the actual guaranteed energy and operational savings in a given year, that surplus savings may be carried forward and applied against any possible savings shortfall in the following guarantee year, except that the surplus carried forward is limited to a period not to exceed one (1) year. If the qualified provider pays the local public agency for a short fall in energy or operational savings incurred during a given guarantee year and there is a surplus in energy or operational savings in future guarantee years, the qualified provider shall bill the local public agency for an amount not to exceed the amount of the short fall in the given guarantee year.

(9) The use of capital cost avoidance shall be subject to the following restrictions:

(a) The amount expended shall not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the project cost; and

(b) Capital cost avoidance shall be restricted to payment for permanent equipment replacement as follows:

1. Storm windows or doors, multiglazed windows or doors, additional glazing, and reduction in glass area;

2. Replacement of heating, ventilating, or air conditioning major components or systems;

3. New lighting fixtures where required to achieve Illuminating Engineering Society of North America (IES) standards, provided the existing light fixtures shall have been determined to be obsolete and incapable of achieving IES standards; and

4. Life safety system replacements or upgrades which shall have been determined to be necessary to conform with existing state and local codes and standards.

(10) The commissioner of education shall review, and approve or disapprove projects from local school districts relating to energy conservation measures under a guaranteed energy savings contract, on the basis of the following guidelines:

(a) The project design's compliance with technical, health, and safety standards as required by administrative regulation;

(b) The availability of general funds, capital outlay allotments under KRS 157.420 or local and state funds from the Facilities Support Program of Kentucky as provided by KRS 157.440, for projects that will use capital cost avoidance;

(c) The appropriate use of capital outlay allotments under KRS 157.420, local and state funds from the Facilities Support Program of Kentucky as provided by KRS 157.440, for projects using capital cost avoidance, based on the project's compliance with the district's approved facility plan;

(d) The funding capability of the school district; and

(e) The financing mechanism and proper financing documentation.

(11) The request for proposal as provided in subsections (1) to (4) of this section shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements set out in KRS 162.070, and shall not be subject to an award determination based on the lowest competitive bid or a separate bidding process for each energy conservation measure listed in the proposal.

(12) A guaranteed energy savings contract that does not involve construction or the installation of physical improvements shall not require the approval of the commissioner of education and shall not be subject to other requirements of this section.

45A.353. Extension of guaranteed energy savings contract — Documentation of savings — Lease-purchase agreements — Exemption from debt limitations.

(1) Guaranteed energy savings contracts may extend beyond the fiscal year in which they become effective. The local public agency shall include in its annual budget and appropriations act, for each subsequent fiscal year, any accounts payable under guaranteed energy savings contracts during the fiscal year.

(2) The local public agency shall document the operational and energy cost savings and capital cost avoidance specified in the guaranteed energy savings contract and designate and appropriate that amount for an annual payment of the contract. If the annual energy and operational savings are less than projected under the guaranteed savings contract, the qualified provider shall pay the difference as provided for in KRS 45A.352.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, a local public agency may finance the installation of energy conservation measures for its buildings through a lease-purchase agreement, bonds, or whichever brings the most economic value to the local public agency, subject to the local public agency's compliance with all other laws regarding approval of plans for additions, alterations, or renovations of its buildings.

(4) The component which is guaranteed as energy savings and as operational savings shall be exempt from current or future debt limitations, except that capital cost avoidance, as defined in KRS 45A.345, shall be limited to current or future debt limitations.

45A.355. Determinations — Finality.

(1) Every determination required by this code shall be in writing and based upon written findings of the public official making the determination. These determinations and written findings shall be retained in the official contract file.

(2) The determinations required by KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460 shall be final and conclusive unless they are clearly erroneous, arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 72, effective January 1, 1980.

45A.360. Administrative regulations.

(1) A local public agency may adopt regulations, not inconsistent with KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460, governing the following:

- (a) Conditions and procedures for delegations of purchasing authority;
- (b) Prequalification, suspension, debarment, and reinstatement of prospective bidders;
- (c) Modification and termination of contracts;
- (d) Conditions and procedures for the purchase of perishables and items for resale;
- (e) Conditions, including emergencies, and procedures under which purchases may be made by means other than competitive sealed bids;
- (f) Rejection of bids, consideration of alternate bids, and waiver of informalities in offers;
- (g) Confidentiality of technical data and trade secrets information submitted by actual and prospective bidders or offerors;
- (h) Partial, progressive, and multiple awards;
- (i) Supervision of store rooms and inventories, including determination of appropriate stock levels and the management, transfer, sale, or other disposal of government-owned property;
- (j) Definitions and classes of contractual services and procedures for acquiring them;
- (k) Procedures for the verification and auditing of local public agency procurement records;
- (l) Annual reports from those vested with purchasing authority as may be deemed advisable in order to insure that the requirements of this chapter are complied with; and
- (m) Such other regulations as may be deemed advisable to carry out the purposes of KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460 or otherwise fulfill the local public agency's procurement responsibilities.

(2) All local public agency ordinances and regulations pertaining to procurement, whether promulgated under KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460 or otherwise, shall be maintained by the local public agency and shall be available to the public upon request at a cost not to exceed the cost of reproduction.

(3) Local school districts may adopt policies, not inconsistent with KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460, governing the conditions and procedures under which purchases of supplies may be made elsewhere. These policies shall include a provision that supplies purchased under this section shall meet any applicable contract specifications and not exceed two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A local public agency is not required to maintain a list of prequalified responsible prospective bidders. OAG 80-21.

If action is taken pursuant to subdivision (1)(k) of this section, it must be done by the local public agency pursuant to regulations enacted by that particular agency. OAG 80-21.

If a local board of education adopts the provisions of the Model Procurement Code applicable to the state and also adopts a regulation similar to that which has been promulgated by the Department of Finance (now Finance and Administration Cabinet) relating to noncompetitive negotiations, then items for resale such as caps and gowns and graduation invitations may be handled through noncompetitive negotiation. OAG 80-108.

A county hospital commission may adopt regulations and establish small purchase procedures pursuant to KRS 45A.385, but, since the fiscal court cannot delegate its overall fiscal control of the county hospital, such regulations and procedures would be subject to fiscal court approval. OAG 80-128.

Since a county hospital commission is not an autonomous unit of government and is subject to the direct and overall fiscal and financial supervision of the fiscal court, proper regulations and small purchase procedures adopted by fiscal court for the general county operations could be made applicable to the county hospital, and in that way duplication of effort could be avoided and the county would be on a unified system. OAG 80-128.

45A.365. Competitive sealed bidding.

(1) All contracts or purchases shall be awarded by competitive sealed bidding, which may include the use of a reverse auction, except as otherwise provided by KRS 45A.370 to 45A.385 and for the purchase of wholesale electric power by municipal utilities as provided in KRS 96.901(1).

(2) The invitation for bids shall state that the award shall be made on the basis of the lowest bid price or the lowest evaluated bid price. If the latter is used, the objective measurable criteria to be utilized shall be set forth in the invitation for bids. The invitation for bids shall include the reciprocal preference for resident bidders described in KRS 45A.494.

(3) Adequate public notice of the invitation for bids and any reverse auction shall be given prior to the date set forth for the opening of bids. The notice may include posting on the Internet or publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the local jurisdiction at least seven (7) days before the date set for the opening of the bids and any reverse auction. Nothing in this section shall prohibit additional notice, posting, or publication, nor shall additional notification, posting, or publication extend the required notice period. The public notice shall include the time and place the bids will be opened and the time and place where the specifications may be obtained.

(4) The bids shall be opened publicly or entered through a reverse auction at the time and place designated in the invitation for bids. Each written or reverse auction bid, together with the name of the bidder, shall be recorded and be open to public inspection. Electronic bid opening and posting of the required information for public viewing shall satisfy the requirements of this subsection.

(5) A contract shall be awarded with reasonable promptness by written notice to the responsive and responsible bidder whose bid is either the lowest bid price or the lowest evaluated bid price after the application of any reciprocal preference for resident bidders required by KRS 45A.494.

(6) The local public agency may allow the withdrawal of a bid where there is a patent error on the face of the bid document, or where the bidder presents sufficient evidence, substantiated by bid worksheets, that the bid was based upon an error in the formulation of the bid price.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 74, effective January 1, 1980; 1998, ch. 120, § 13, effective July 15, 1998; 2000, ch. 510, § 2, effective July 14, 2000; 2010, ch. 63, § 7, effective July 15, 2010; 2010, ch. 162, § 12, effective July 15, 2010; 2013, ch. 44, § 2, effective June 25, 2013.

Analysis

1. Low Bid.
2. Unsuccessful Bidder.

1. Low Bid.

City properly exercised its discretion for the benefit of its citizens by accepting a lower bid for purchase of city-owned boat dock in order to insure the retention of the facility in the city for the use of its boating residents. Ohio River Conversions, Inc. v. Owensboro, 663 S.W.2d 759, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 444 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

2. Unsuccessful Bidder.

An unsuccessful bidder, who was neither a resident nor a taxpayer of city, had no standing to request the judicial award of contract or seek damages from the municipality. Ohio River Conversions, Inc. v. Owensboro, 663 S.W.2d 759, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 444 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

Laurel Constr. Co. v. Paintsville Util. Comm'n, 336 S.W.3d 903, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 40 (Ky. Ct. App. 2010).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Where an original price contract on printing equipment and supplies to be used by the state was established with a company after invitations to bid were sent out, and then that contract was converted into a lease-purchase agreement without further bidding, the lease-purchase agreement was not validly executed since the original bidders were not given an opportunity to bid on the conversion conditions, and the piggybacking of another company's equipment, by the contracting supplier, into and onto the lease-purchase agreement was illegal. OAG 80-189.

A county fiscal court, which plans to renovate a building to be used as the county court facility, may not restrict and apply the invitations to bid only to general contractors with home offices in that county, since the Model Procurement Code applies to fiscal courts and there is nothing in the applicable sections of KRS Chapter 45A that would support such a restriction. OAG 80-215.

The whole thrust of the Model Procurement Code is to encourage and insist that local public agencies purchase services and supplies, which include personal property, only after competitive sealed bidding unless good reason is shown why competitive sealed bidding is inappropriate, and where through no fault of the city, the low bidder to whom the contract was awarded after the bids had been opened soon thereafter gave notice of their inability to perform at all under the contract due to the bankruptcy of the manufacturer of the buses relied on by the successful bidder, the circumstances of this situation warranted the accepting of the second low bid. OAG 80-559.

If the fiscal court reasonably determines that competition in property insurance is actually competitive in an area, then the entire insurance package should be let out under this section which provides for competitive sealed bidding. OAG 81-109.

A statutory requirement of advertisement for bids is "jurisdictional," and a fiscal court is without power to enter into a contract without such advertisement, where the purchase requires bidding. Further, a party deals with a public agency at its peril if it contracts with one and fails to inquire into the power of the agency to execute it. OAG 82-125.

The matter of letting out for bids the gasoline and oil needed for the county road department is left to the good business judgment of the fiscal court in terms of the period of consumption, price fluctuations, availability of the commodity for a definite period, etc. However, a fiscal court should not deliberately buy the needed commodities in "dribbles and dabs" merely to circumvent advertised bidding. OAG 82-125.

The three important benefits of the bidding process are: (a) an offering to the public, (b) an opportunity for competition and (c) a basis for an exact comparison of bids. OAG 82-125.

Where a county is operating under KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460, this section, relating to the major policy of competitive sealed bidding, would apply to purchase of its gasoline, petroleum, and other supplies used by the county road department, except as otherwise provided by KRS 45A.370 to 45A.385. OAG 82-125.

For a city soliciting insurance proposals to limit its list of bidders to those insurance agencies having major offices within the boundaries of the city limits would violate the purpose and intent of requiring competitive bidding under the Model Procurement Code or, for that matter, any other statute that requires competitive bidding. OAG 82-337.

The purpose of requiring bids is to invite competition and guard against favoritism, extravagance, fraud and corruption and to secure the best possible work at the least price that is prescribed. OAG 82-337.

Where competitive bids are required, all persons desiring to bid must be afforded the opportunity to do so. OAG 82-337.

Should two newspapers in a county come up with an identical figure for circulation in their published statements of ownership, then the fiscal court could request the two newspapers to submit affidavits as to the circulation; in the event the affidavits contain identical figures of circulation, the courts would be asked to resolve the question of which newspaper has the largest circulation. OAG 83-247.

A fiscal court resolution requiring that tiles and tires be purchased from the cheapest places in the county is in restrictive conflict with KRS 424.260 and subsection (5) of this section and is invalid. OAG 83-258.

No county fee officer can engage in a bidding contract of purchase of supplies or equipment, i.e., binding on the county, where the money for the purchase is to come directly out of the county treasury; the fiscal court is the authority in contracting for county supplies or equipment, payable out of the county treasury. OAG 83-448.

Where a city commission authorized private companies to bid for a contract to provide fire protection for the city and replace the present city fire department, as documentary material retained by a public agency, the bid invitation, correspondence pertaining to the bids, and the bids themselves were public records subject to the Open Records Law. Unless exempted by the provisions of KRS 61.878, these records are open to public inspection once the bids are publicly opened. OAG 84-284.

A local public agency that has not adopted the Model Procurement Code is not required to follow competitive bidding procedures for insurance, and may contract with an insurance broker to solicit and receive bids for insurance, although competitive bidding remains preferred. A local public agency that has adopted the Model Procurement Code must follow all applicable provisions in seeking contracts with insurance brokers. OAG 13-006.

45A.370. Competitive negotiation.

(1) A local public agency may contract or purchase through competitive negotiation, which may include a reverse auction, upon a written finding that:

(a) Specifications cannot be made sufficiently specific to permit award on the basis of either the lowest bid price or the lowest evaluated bid price, including, but not limited to, contracts for experimental or developmental research work, or highly complex equipment which requires technical discussions, and other nonstandard supplies, services, or construction; or

(b) Sealed bidding is inappropriate because the available sources of supply are limited, the time and place of performance cannot be determined in advance, the price is regulated by law, or a fixed price contract is not applicable; or

(c) The bid prices received through sealed bidding are unresponsive or unreasonable as to all or part of the requirements, or are identical or appear to have been the result of collusion; provided each responsible bidder is notified of the intention to negotiate and is given a reasonable opportunity to negotiate, and the negotiated price is lower than the lowest rejected bid by any responsible bidder.

(2) Proposals shall be solicited through public notice pursuant to KRS 45A.365(3) or any other means which can be demonstrated to notify an adequate number of qualified sources to permit reasonable competition consistent with the nature and requirement of the procurement. The request for proposals shall indicate the factors to be considered in the evaluation, including the reciprocal preference for resident bidders required by KRS 45A.494, and the relative importance of each factor, and the procedures to be followed if a reverse auction is used in the procurement.

(3) Written or oral discussions shall be conducted with all responsible offerors who submit proposals determined in writing to be reasonably susceptible of being selected for award. Discussions shall not disclose any information derived from proposals submitted by competing offerors. Discussions need not be conducted:

(a) With respect to prices, where such prices are fixed by law, regulation, or reverse auction, except that consideration shall be given to competitive terms and conditions; or

(b) Where time of delivery or performance will not permit discussions; or

(c) Where it can be clearly demonstrated and documented from the existence of adequate competition or accurate prior cost experience with that particular supply, service, or construction item that acceptance of an initial offer without discussion would result in fair and reasonable prices and the request for proposal notifies all offerors of the possibility that award may be made on the basis of initial offers.

(4) If discussions pertaining to the revision of the specifications or quantities are held with any potential offeror, all other potential offerors shall be afforded an opportunity to take part in such discussions. A request for proposals based on revised specifications or quantities shall be issued as promptly as possible, shall provide for an expeditious response to the revised requirements and shall be awarded upon the basis of the lowest bid price or lowest evaluated bid price after application of the reciprocal preference for resident bidders required by KRS 45A.494 submitted by any responsive and responsible offeror. No discussion shall be conducted with offerors after submission of revised proposals except for a compelling reason as determined in writing by the local public agency. The request for proposals shall state that an award is to be made without discussion except as herein provided.

(5) Award shall be made to the responsible offeror whose proposal is determined in writing to be the most advantageous to the local public agency based upon the evaluation factors set forth in the request for proposals and the reciprocal preference for resident bidders required by KRS 45A.494.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Where a small town water company cannot accurately predict the amount of chemicals it will need, has limited storage space to store chemicals that deteriorate somewhat in storage and that are somewhat unstable in nature, and has a history of purchasing chemicals in small quantities, indicating that such a practice was not just recently instituted to avoid the requirements of the Model Procurement Code, each purchase of these types of chemicals is a legally and factually separate transaction which, if under $2,500, is not subject to the bidding requirements of the Model Procurement Code and may be handled as a small purchase if small purchase procedures have been adopted pursuant to KRS 45A.385. OAG 80-125.

A local public agency that has not adopted the Model Procurement Code is not required to follow competitive bidding procedures for insurance, and may contract with an insurance broker to solicit and receive bids for insurance, although competitive bidding remains preferred. A local public agency that has adopted the Model Procurement Code must follow all applicable provisions in seeking contracts with insurance brokers. OAG 13-006.

45A.375. Negotiations after competitive sealed bidding when all bids exceed available funds — Action when no bids received.

(1) In the event that all bids submitted pursuant to competitive sealed bidding under KRS 45A.365 result in bid prices in excess of the funds available for the purchase, and the local public agency determines in writing:

(a) That there are no additional funds then available from any source so as to permit an award to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder; and

(b) The best interest of the local public agency will not permit the delay attendant to a resolicitation under revised specifications or revised quantities under competitive sealed bidding as provided in KRS 45A.365; then a negotiated award may be made as set forth in subsections (2) or (3) of this section.

(2) Where there is more than one (1) bidder, competitive negotiations pursuant to KRS 45A.370 shall be conducted with the three (3) (two (2) if there are only two (2)) bidders determined in writing by the local public agency to be the lowest responsive and responsible bidders to the competitive sealed bid invitation after application of the reciprocal preference for resident bidders required in KRS 45A.494. Such competitive negotiations shall be conducted under the following restrictions:

(a) If discussions pertaining to the revision of the specifications or quantities are held with any potential offeror, all other potential offerors shall be afforded an opportunity to take part in such discussions; and

(b) A request for proposals, based upon revised specifications or quantities, shall be issued as promptly as possible, shall provide for an expeditious response to the revised requirements, and shall be awarded upon the basis of the lowest bid price or lowest evaluated bid price submitted by any responsive and responsible offeror after application of the reciprocal preference for resident bidders required in KRS 45A.494. No discussion shall be conducted with offerors after submission of proposals except for a compelling reason as determined in writing by the local public agency. The request for proposals shall state that award is to be made without discussions except as herein provided.

(3) Where, after competitive sealed bidding, it is determined in writing that there is only one (1) responsive and responsible bidder, a noncompetitive negotiated award may be made with such bidder in accordance with KRS 45A.380.

(4) Where, after invitation for bids has been made in accordance with KRS 45A.365 and no bids have been received from responsive and responsible bidders, the local public agency may proceed to acquire the supplies, services, or construction by noncompetitive negotiations in accordance with KRS 45A.380.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 76, effective January 1, 1980; 1980, ch. 250, § 11, effective April 9, 1980; 2010, ch. 162, § 14, effective July 15, 2010.

45A.380. Noncompetitive negotiation.

A local public agency may contract or purchase through noncompetitive negotiation only when a written determination is made that competition is not feasible and it is further determined in writing by a designee of the local public agency that:

(1) An emergency exists which will cause public harm as a result of the delay in competitive procedures;

(2) There is a single source within a reasonable geographical area of the product or service to be procured;

(3) The contract is for the services of a licensed professional, such as attorney, physician, psychiatrist, psychologist, certified public accountant, registered nurse, or educational specialist; a technician such as a plumber, electrician, carpenter, or mechanic; or an artist such as a sculptor, aesthetic painter, or musician, provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to architects or engineers providing construction management services rather than professional architect or engineer services;

(4) The contract is for the purchase of perishable foods, such as meat, fish, poultry, egg products, fresh vegetables, and fresh fruits;

(5) The contract is for replacement parts where the need cannot be reasonably anticipated and stockpiling is not feasible;

(6) The contract is for proprietary items for resale;

(7) In school districts the contract relates to an enterprise in which the buying or selling by students is a part of the educational experience;

(8) The contract or purchase is for expenditures made on authorized trips outside of the boundaries of the local public agency;

(9) The contract is for the purchase of supplies which are sold at public auction or by receiving sealed bids;

(10) The contract is for group life insurance, group health and accident insurance, group professional liability insurance, worker's compensation insurance, and unemployment insurance;

(11) The contract is for a sale of supplies at reduced prices that will afford a purchase at savings to the local public agency; or

(12) The contract is with a private real estate developer and contains a requirement:

(a) That the developer increase the size or otherwise improve the collection capacity of the sanitary sewer or storm water pipe serving the affected private real estate development; and

(b) That the local public agency pay only the proportional cost of increasing the size, or otherwise improving the collection capacity, of the sanitary sewer or storm water pipe over the original collection capacity.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The position of constructing manager over a construction project does not constitute professional services exemption from competitive bidding under subsection (1)(c) (now subdivision (3)) of this section. OAG 79-501.

Where a small town water company cannot accurately predict the amount of chemicals it will need, has limited storage space to store chemicals that deteriorate somewhat in storage and that are somewhat unstable in nature, and has a history of purchasing chemicals in small quantities, indicating that such a practice was not just recently instituted to avoid the requirements of the Model Procurement Code, each purchase of these types of chemicals is a legally and factually separate transaction which, if under $2,500, is not subject to the bidding requirements of the Model Procurement Code and may be handled as a small purchase if small purchase procedures have been adopted pursuant to KRS 45A.385. OAG 80-125.

Computer billing services may be procured by a county clerk for preparing tax bills by applying the noncompetitive negotiation provisions of subdivision (1) of this section, if the county clerk makes a written determination that competition is not feasible, and that an emergency exists which will cause public harm as a result of the delay in competitive procedures, and the fiscal court enters an order confirming the county clerk's written determinations. OAG 80-299.

If a county has adopted the Model Procurement Code, the fiscal court may procure a private accounting or C.P.A. firm to audit the county's funds (involving county budget and treasury) by way of noncompetitive negotiation. OAG 80-624.

If the fiscal court reasonably determines that competition in property insurance is not feasible, then the fiscal court may procure the property insurance by noncompetitive negotiation under this section. OAG 81-109.

Where a county fiscal court advertised for sealed bids for treated bridge lumber, but received only one nonresponsive bid, and the fiscal court then entered an order authorizing the county to purchase such lumber by noncompetitive negotiations, but no written determination was made that competition was not feasible or that any one of the other conditions described in this section was prevalent, there was nothing to indicate an emergency existed or that there was only a single source for bridge lumber and posts and none of the other conditions set out in subsections (1) through (11) of this section would seem to be even remotely applicable, the situation relative to the bridge lumber and posts was not subject to being handled by noncompetitive negotiation. OAG 82-65.

If a school district has chosen to operate under the Model Procurement Code, competitive bidding for general liability insurance on buildings and vehicles, etc., is required absent a legitimate, written determination by the local public agency to the contrary; this conclusion is based on the fact that in KRS 45A.345(23) the term "supplies" is defined to include insurance and that subdivision (10) of this section authorizes an exemption from competitive bidding by written determination if the "contract is for group life insurance, group health and accident insurance, group professional liability insurance, workers' compensation insurance, and unemployment insurance," an exemption which does not include general liability insurance. OAG 82-170.

Insofar as the Model Procurement Code is concerned, this section specifically lists those contracts that are professional in nature and excepted from competitive bidding, and the exception does not include insurance contracts with the exception of those contracts for group life insurance, group health and accident insurance, group professional liability insurance, workers' compensation insurance and unemployment insurance. OAG 82-337.

Under KRS 424.260 a cafeteria plan of insurance coverage for school teachers need not be bid; under the Model Procurement Code the contract may be noncompetitively negotiated. OAG 83-151.

The Model Procurement Code allows local public agencies to be flexible in order to take advantage of discounts or cost savings available by means of noncompetitive negotiations if competitive negotiations would not yield greater savings in a given circumstance. OAG 90-75.

The requirements of this section concerning "noncompetitive negotiation," as that term is defined by KRS 45A.345(12), allows a local public agency to enter into contracts by noncompetitive negotiations and without bidding, if it simply makes a written determination that competitive negotiation is not feasible and the contract is for a sale of supplies at reduced prices that will afford a purchase at savings to the local public agency. OAG 90-75.

A local public agency that has not adopted the Model Procurement Code is not required to follow competitive bidding procedures for insurance, and may contract with an insurance broker to solicit and receive bids for insurance, although competitive bidding remains preferred. A local public agency that has adopted the Model Procurement Code must follow all applicable provisions in seeking contracts with insurance brokers. OAG 13-006.

45A.385. Small purchases by local public agencies.

The local public agency may use small purchase procedures for any contract for which a determination is made that the aggregate amount of the contract does not exceed thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) if small purchase procedures are in writing and available to the public.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 78, effective January 1, 1980; 1980, ch. 250, § 13, effective April 9, 1980; 1984, ch. 6, § 2, effective July 13, 1984; 1990, ch. 95, § 2, effective July 13, 1990; 2002, ch. 192, § 1, effective July 15, 2002; 2019 ch. 79, § 1, effective June 27, 2019.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

This section and KRS 424.260 as amended in 1978 are pari materia and both are to be given effect by construing the $2,500 limitation to be an oversight by the Legislature that it was increasing the limitation of KRS 424.260 to $5,000 (since amended to $20,000). OAG 78-357.

The provisions of this section must govern over KRS 424.260, as amended since the procurement code is a detailed, comprehensive and specific kind of legislation as contrasted with the short, skeletal and general legal notices law, KRS 424.260. OAG 79-429; OAG 79-447.

The provision in KRS 80.130, requiring bids for the construction of a low-cost housing project exceeding $2,000, has, in effect, been repealed by the provisions of this section relating to small purchases. OAG 80-21.

There is no prohibition against any particular vendor entering into one or more small purchase contracts with a local public agency, assuming that all statutory requirements are satisfied, including the provision that the items and services normally supplied as a unit are not artificially divided just for the purpose of utilizing the small purchase procedures. OAG 80-21.

Where a small town water company cannot accurately predict the amount of chemicals it will need, has limited storage space to store chemicals that deteriorate somewhat in storage and that are somewhat unstable in nature, and has a history of purchasing chemicals in small quantities, indicating that such a practice was not just recently instituted to avoid the requirements of the Model Procurement Code, each purchase of these types of chemicals is a legally and factually separate transaction which, if under $2,500 (now $20,000), is not subject to the bidding requirements of the Model Procurement Code and may be handled as a small purchase if small purchase procedures have been adopted pursuant to this section. OAG 80-125.

A county hospital commission may adopt regulations pursuant to KRS 45A.360, and establish small purchase procedures pursuant to this section, but, since the fiscal court cannot delegate its overall fiscal control of the county hospital, such regulations and procedures would be subject to fiscal court approval. OAG 80-128.

Since a county hospital commission is not an autonomous unit of government and is subject to the direct and overall fiscal and financial supervision of the fiscal court, proper regulations and small purchase procedures adopted by fiscal court for the general county operations could be made applicable to the county hospital, and in that way duplication of effort could be avoided and the county would be on a unified system. OAG 80-128.

Any fiscal court adopting KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460 may, under this section, effect purchases not exceeding $5,000 (now $20,000) without formal bidding procedures, while those fiscal courts, under current law, which have not adopted such sections, are governed by KRS 424.260. OAG 82-324.

If the reconstructing or paving of separate county road segments could involve unified specifications and work performance of such nature that bids on the total number of projects as a total package could be obtained, the total work should be let under advertisement for bids, pursuant to KRS 424.260 or KRS Ch. 45A, whichever is applicable to the county; however, if the fiscal court determines upon investigation that lump sum bids upon the total projects cannot be obtained from the road construction trade, then the various road segments should be treated as legally and factually separate and bidding would be necessary for any of the projects if they exceed for a single project the sum of $5,000 (if the Model Procurement Code applies in the county) or exceeds $7,500 (now $20,000) (if KRS 424.260 applies in the county). OAG 83-316.

A local public agency that has not adopted the Model Procurement Code is not required to follow competitive bidding procedures for insurance, and may contract with an insurance broker to solicit and receive bids for insurance, although competitive bidding remains preferred. A local public agency that has adopted the Model Procurement Code must follow all applicable provisions in seeking contracts with insurance brokers. OAG 13-006.

45A.390. Cancellation.

An invitation for bid, a request for proposal or other solicitation may be canceled, or all bids or proposals may be rejected, if it is determined in writing that such action is in the best interest of the local public agency.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 79, effective January 1, 1980.

45A.395. Determination of responsibility — Right of nondisclosure.

(1) A written determination of responsibility of a bidder or offeror shall be made, based on a reasonable inquiry conducted by the local public agency. The unreasonable failure of a bidder or offeror to promptly supply information upon request may be grounds for a determination of nonresponsibility of such bidder or offeror.

(2) A written determination of responsibility of a bidder or offeror shall not be made until the bidder or offeror provides the local public agency with a sworn statement made under penalty of perjury that he has not knowingly violated any provision of the campaign finance laws of the Commonwealth and that the award of a contract to the bidder or offeror will not violate any provision of the campaign finance laws of the Commonwealth. "Knowingly" means, with respect to conduct or to a circumstance described by a statute defining an offense, that a person is aware or should have been aware that his conduct is of that nature or that the circumstance exists.

(3) Except as otherwise provided by law, information furnished by a bidder or offeror pursuant to this section may not be disclosed outside of the local public agency without prior written consent of the bidder or offeror.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 80, effective January 1, 1980; 1992, ch. 288, § 19, effective July 14, 1992.

45A.400. Prequalification of bidders and offerors.

Suppliers may be prequalified as responsible prospective contractors for particular types of supplies, services, and construction. No supplier shall be prequalified as a responsible prospective contractor until the supplier provides the local public agency with a sworn statement made under penalty of perjury that he has not knowingly violated any provision of the campaign finance laws of the Commonwealth and that the award of a contract to the supplier will not violate any provision of the campaign finance laws of the Commonwealth. "Knowingly" means, with respect to conduct or to a circumstance described by a statute defining an offense, that a person is aware or should have been aware that his conduct is of that nature or that the circumstance exists. Solicitation mailing lists of potential contractors of such supplies, services, and construction shall include, but shall not be limited to, such prequalified prospective contractors. Prequalification shall not foreclose a written determination:

(1) Between the time of bid opening or receipt of offers in the making of an award that a prequalified prospective contractor is not responsible; or

(2) That a prospective contractor who is not prequalified at the time of bid opening or receipt of offers is responsible.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 81, effective January 1, 1980; 1992, ch. 288, § 20, effective July 14, 1992.

45A.405. Cost or pricing data.

(1) A contractor shall submit cost or pricing data and shall certify that, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the cost or pricing data submitted was accurate, complete, and current as of a mutually determined specified date prior to the date of:

(a) Pricing of any negotiated contract where the total contract price is expected to exceed fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), or such lesser amount as may be prescribed by the local public agency; or

(b) Pricing of any change order or contract modification which is expected to exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), or such lesser amount as may be prescribed by the local public agency.

(2) Any contract, change, or modification thereto under which a certificate is required shall contain a provision that the price to the local public agency, including profit or fee, shall be adjusted to exclude any significant sums by which the local public agency finds that such price was increased because the contractor-furnished cost or pricing data which, as of the date agreed upon between the parties, was inaccurate, incomplete, or not current.

(3) The requirement of this section need not be applied to contracts where the price negotiated is based on adequate price competition, established catalogue or market prices of commercial items sold in substantial quantities to the general public, prices set by law or regulation, or in exceptional cases where it is determined in writing that the requirements of this section may be waived, and the reasons for such waiver are enumerated in the determination.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 82, effective January 1, 1980.

45A.410. Inspection of contractor's place of business — Audit of records.

(1) The local public agency may inspect the plant or place of business of a contractor or any subcontractor under any contract awarded or to be awarded by the local public agency.

(2) The local public agency may audit the books and records of any person who has submitted cost or pricing data under KRS 45A.405, at any time until the period of record retention as set forth in subsection (3) of this section shall have expired. The right to audit hereunder shall only extend to those books and records reasonably connected with cost or pricing data submitted under KRS 45A.420, and such books and records shall be maintained by the contractor or subcontractor for the period specified in subsection (3) of this section.

(3) The local public agency shall be entitled to audit the books and records of a contractor or any subcontractor under any negotiated contract or subcontract other than a firm fixed-price type contract, provided, however, that this subparagraph shall not limit the right to audit as set forth in subsection (2) of this section. Such books and records shall be maintained by the contractor for a period of five (5) years from the date of final payment under the prime contract and by the subcontractor for a period of five (5) years from the date of final payment under the subcontract.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 83, effective January 1, 1980.

45A.415. Specifications — Items considered equal may be furnished — Proprietary products.

(1) The local public agency shall use specifications which assure the maximum practicable competition to meet the agency's needs.

(2) Local public agencies shall ensure that every invitation for bids or request for proposals provides that an item equal to that named or described in the specifications may be furnished. The specifications may identify a sole brand in cases where, in the written opinion of the chief procurement officer, documented unique and valid conditions require compatibility, continuity, or conformity with established standards. An item shall be considered equal to the item named or described if, in the opinion of the owner and the design professional responsible for the specifications:

(a) It is at least equal in quality, durability, strength, design, and other criteria deemed appropriate;

(b) It will perform at least equally the function imposed by the general design for the public work being contracted for or the material being purchased; and

(c) It conforms substantially to the detailed requirements for the item in the specifications.

(3) A specification which describes a product which is proprietary to one (1) company may be used only when no other kind of specification is reasonably available to describe requirements.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 84, effective January 1, 1980; 2008, ch. 47, § 3, effective July 15, 2008.

45A.420. Cooperative purchasing — Price agreements with Commonwealth.

(1) Any local public agency may enter into an agreement for cooperative purchasing with any other local public agency. When the contracting local public agency contracts for supplies, services or construction pursuant to KRS 45A.365, 45A.370, 45A.375, or 45A.380, all other parties to the agreement shall be deemed to have complied with the provisions of those sections.

(2) Nothing in KRS 45A.345 to 45A.990 shall deprive a local public agency from negotiating with vendors for supplies where such supplies are the subject of a price agreement with the Commonwealth of Kentucky provided, however, that no contract executed under this section would authorize a price higher than is contained in the price agreement with the Commonwealth of Kentucky for such specific supplies.

(3) Nothing in KRS 45A.345 to 45A.990 shall deprive a local school district from acquiring supplies outside of price agreements with the Commonwealth of Kentucky if the supplies meet the same specifications as the contract items and the supplies are purchased at a lower price than is contained in the price agreement with the Commonwealth of Kentucky for such specific supplies and the purchase does not exceed two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500).

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 85, effective January 1, 1980; 1980, ch. 250, § 14, effective April 9, 1980; 1996, ch. 89, § 3, effective July 15, 1996.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A plain reading of subsection (2) of this section shows that the General Assembly intended for this section to be an exception to the usual bidding requirements. OAG 90-75.

Construing subsection (2) of this section as an exception to the usual bidding requirements is not contrary to the underlying policies of the code. OAG 90-75.

It is likely that the General Assembly intended to give local public agencies the same right to negotiate contracts with vendors offering supplies on the state price agreement list that it previously gave to the Finance and Administration Cabinet when negotiating with vendors offering goods on the general service administration price agreement list. OAG 90-75.

Subsection (2) of this section allows a public agency to contract, without bidding, with a vendor who is on the current state contract list but is offering the agency a price lower than on the state price list, provided the local agency has adopted the provisions of KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460 as authorized under KRS 45A.343. OAG 90-75.

The Model Procurement Code allows local public agencies to be flexible in order to take advantage of discounts or cost savings available by means of noncompetitive negotiations if competitive negotiations would not yield greater savings in a given circumstance. OAG 90-75.

The plain language of this section supports the view that a local public agency may, without bidding, negotiate with a vendor willing to offer that agency a contract on specific supplies which are the subject of a state price agreement, at a lower cost than on the list. OAG 90-75.

The term “negotiating” used in subsection (2) of this section was intended to be the same term of art as defined by KRS 45A.345(11). OAG 90-75.

45A.425. Surplus or excess property.

(1) A local public agency may sell or otherwise dispose of any personal property which is not needed or has become unsuitable for public use, or which would be suitable, consistent with the public interest, for some other use.

(2) A written determination as to need of suitability of any personal property of the local public agency shall be made; and such determination shall fully describe the personal property; its intended use at the time of acquisition; the reasons why it is in the public interest to dispose of the item; and the method of disposition to be used.

(3) Surplus or excess personal property as described in this section may be transferred, with or without compensation, to another governmental agency; or it may be sold at public auction or by sealed bids in accordance with KRS 45A.365.

(4) In the event that a local public agency receives no bids for surplus or excess personal property, either at public auction or by sealed bid, such property may be disposed of, consistent with the public interest, in any manner deemed appropriate by the local public agency. In such instances, a written description of the property, the method of disposal, and the amount of compensation, if any, shall be made. Any compensation resulting from the disposal of surplus or excess personal property shall be transferred to the general fund of the local public agency.

(5) A local board of education may dispose of its surplus technology in accordance with KRS 160.335.

(6) As an alternative procedure to that set out in this section, a county may dispose of personal property pursuant to KRS 67.0802.

(7) Notwithstanding subsections (1) to (4) of this section, a city, urban-county government, or consolidated local government that has adopted KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460 may dispose of surplus property using the procedures in KRS 82.083.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Sale of Property.

2. —Procedure.

This section does not make it mandatory that the agency follow the other sections of Chapter 45A in disposing or selling of its property, since it provides that it “may” sell in accordance with the code and, by virtue of KRS 45A.345(10), “may” means permissive. Ohio River Conversions, Inc. v. Owensboro, 663 S.W.2d 759, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 444 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

45A.430. Bid bonds.

(1) Bidder security shall be required for all competitive sealed bidding for construction contracts when the price is estimated by the local public agency to exceed one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000). Bidder’s security shall be a bond provided by a surety company authorized to do business in this Commonwealth, or the equivalent in cash, in a form satisfactory to the local public agency. Nothing herein prevents the requirement of such bonds on construction contracts under one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) when the circumstances warrant.

(2) Bidder’s security shall be in an amount equal to at least five percent (5%) of the amount of the bid.

(3) When the invitation for bids requires that bidder security be provided, noncompliance requires that the bid be rejected, provided, however, that the local public agency may set forth by regulation exceptions to this requirement in the event of substantial compliance.

(4) After the bids are opened, they shall be irrevocable for the period specified in the invitation for bids, provided that, if a bidder is permitted to withdraw his bid before award because of a mistake in the bid as allowed by law or regulation, no action shall be had against the bidder or the bidder’s security.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 87, effective January 1, 1980; 2019 ch. 79, § 2, effective June 27, 2019.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Waiver of Irregularity.

Where a regulation promulgated by a metropolitan sewer district (MSD) under subsection (3) of this section provided that the MSD could waive any informality or irregularity in bids, and at the bid opening it was discovered that the lowest bidder had submitted a bid bond for five percent, instead of the ten percent amount which the MSD had required in its invitation for bids, the MSD properly and with authority waived the bid bond discrepancy especially in light of the fact that the lowest bidder immediately rectified the mistake by providing a ten percent bid bond. Shannon H. Holloway Constr. Co. v. Louisville & Jefferson County Metropolitan Sewer Dist., 674 S.W.2d 523, 1983 Ky. App. LEXIS 403 (Ky. Ct. App. 1983).

45A.435. Contract performance and payment bonds.

(1) When a construction contract is awarded in an amount in excess of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), the following bonds shall be furnished to the local public agency, and shall become binding on the parties upon the award of the contract:

(a) A performance bond satisfactory to the local public agency executed by a surety company authorized to do business in this Commonwealth, or otherwise supplied, satisfactory to the local public agency, in an amount equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price as it may be increased; and

(b) A payment bond satisfactory to the local public agency, executed by a surety company authorized to do business in this Commonwealth, or otherwise supplied, satisfactory to the local public agency, for the protection of all persons supplying labor and material to the contractor or his subcontractors for the performance of the work provided for in the contract. The bond shall be in an amount equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the original contract price.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the authority of the local public agency to require a performance bond or other security in addition to those bonds, or in circumstances other than specified in subsection (1) of this section, including, but not limited to, bonds for the payment of taxes and unemployment insurance premiums.

(1) The local public agency may promulgate by regulation the form of the bonds required by KRS 45A.430 and 45A.435, or it may adopt the form established by the state under KRS 45A.180 to 45A.200.

(2) The local public agency shall furnish a certified copy of a bond to any person who requests such and pays the reasonable fee for that copy. The copy shall be prima facie evidence of the contents, execution, and delivery of the original.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 89, effective January 1, 1980; 1992, ch. 55, § 10, effective July 14, 1992.

45A.445. Definitions for terms used in KRS 45A.445 to 45A.460.

As used in KRS 45A.445 to 45A.460, unless the context indicates otherwise:

(1) "Conspicuously" shall mean written in such special or distinctive format, print, or manner that a reasonable person against whom it is to operate ought to have noticed it.

(2) "Confidential information" shall mean any information which is available to an employee only because of his status as an employee of the local public agency and is not a matter of public knowledge or available to the public on request.

(3) "Debarment" shall mean the disqualification of a person to receive invitations for bids or requests for proposals, or the award of a contract by the local public agency for a specified period of time.

(4) "Financial interest" shall mean:

(a) Ownership of any interest or involvement in any relationship from which, or as a result of which, a person has, within the past three (3) years, received or is presently or in the future entitled to receive more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) per year, or its equivalent; or

(b) Ownership of more than a ten percent (10%) interest in any business; or

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Operation of Business on Public Property.

A county jailer who operated a commissary within the detention center, the existence of which contributed both to the security of the detention center and to the benefit of the county as a whole in terms of its cost effectiveness, and who received an amount of profit from the commissary which was neither unreasonable nor excessive, nevertheless violated Ky. Const., § 173, as the commissary was operated by a public employe on public property, and the trial court acted correctly in ruling that the jailer was prohibited from operating such commissary for profit, but erred in awarding a monetary judgment against him, as he relied on the advice of his own counsel, the county attorney, the Attorney General of Kentucky, as well as the advice and acquiescence of the county government officials, to his detriment, so that such officials were estopped from seeking any monetary damages from him. Buchignani v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, 632 S.W.2d 465, 1982 Ky. App. LEXIS 212 (Ky. Ct. App. 1982).

45A.455. Conflict of interest — Gratuities and kickbacks — Use of confidential information.

(1) It shall be a breach of ethical standards for any employee with procurement authority to participate directly in any proceeding or application; request for ruling or other determination; claim or controversy; or other particular matter pertaining to any contract, or subcontract, and any solicitation or proposal therefor, in which to his knowledge:

(a) He, or any member of his immediate family has a financial interest therein; or

(b) A business or organization in which he or any member of his immediate family has a financial interest as an officer, director, trustee, partner, or employee, is a party; or

(c) Any other person, business, or organization with whom he or any member of his immediate family is negotiating or has an arrangement concerning prospective employment is a party. Direct or indirect participation shall include but not be limited to involvement through decision, approval, disapproval, recommendation, preparation of any part of a purchase request, influencing the content of any specification or purchase standard, rendering of advice, investigation, auditing, or in any other advisory capacity.

(2) It shall be a breach of ethical standards for any person to offer, give, or agree to give any employee or former employee, or for any employee or former employee to solicit, demand, accept, or agree to accept from another person, a gratuity or an offer of employment, in connection with any decision, approval, disapproval, recommendation, preparation of any part of a purchase request, influencing the content of any specification or purchase standard, rendering of advice, investigation, auditing, or in any other advisory capacity in any proceeding or application, request for ruling or other determination, claim or controversy, or other particular matter, pertaining to any contract or subcontract and any solicitation or proposal therefor.

(3) It is a breach of ethical standards for any payment, gratuity, or offer of employment to be made by or on behalf of a subcontractor under a contract to the prime contractor or higher tier subcontractor or any person associated therewith, as an inducement for the award of a subcontract or order.

(4) The prohibition against conflicts of interest and gratuities and kickbacks shall be conspicuously set forth in every local public agency written contract and solicitation therefor.

(5) It shall be a breach of ethical standards for any public employee or former employee knowingly to use confidential information for his actual or anticipated personal gain, or the actual or anticipated personal gain of any other person.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 92, effective January 1, 1980; 1980, ch. 250, § 16, effective April 9, 1980.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Subsection (1) of this section prohibits involvement in the procurement function by a school employee relative to any item sold to the school by a supply firm with which an immediate family member is involved, presently or prospectively, but this prohibition only acts to restrain the particular employee, not the entire school district employing him; thus, if the employee is not so involved, the district is free to purchase from such a firm. OAG 80-32.

Subsection (1) of this section prohibits a fire department member's fencing firm from contracting with the city, since he is an employee of the city, regardless of the fact that the contract may be awarded on a bid basis. OAG 80-133.

This section had no application in 1980 to a rock sale to a county, which took place in 1976, by the father of an individual who became the county attorney in 1978, where the county attorney had no direct or indirect financial interest in that transaction within the three years prior to the effective date, January 1, 1980, of this conflict of interest statute. OAG 80-176.

The chairperson of the city board of trustees would have to refrain from participating and voting on the granting of a rental contract for the use of a recreational room in a municipal building entered into with the daughter or sister of the chairperson, because such action would be considered as against public policy; also, the chairperson could not participate directly or indirectly in the granting of such a contract by the city involving a member of his immediate family in view of this section pertaining to the Model Procurement Act. OAG 80-198.

It is an impermissible conflict of interest and against public policy for a trustee of a sixth-class city to participate as a member of the board in the awarding of the city's insurance contract to his son, an insurance agent, even though his son is the only insurance agent in the city and despite the fact that the contract was awarded at the same rate as earlier contracts had been awarded before the trustee took office. OAG 80-293.

Public policy dictates that the deputy county judge/executive must avoid participating, directly or indirectly, in any proceeding involving a county contract with her spouse. OAG 80-296.

The Model Procurement Code would not prohibit an assistant school principal from submitting a competitive bid to the school board for services as a professional auctioneer. OAG 80-605.

Where husband was a city fireman and wife was sole owner of a small printing shop, which had been doing printing business for the city, there was no legal objection, based on conflict of interest statutes, to the wife continuing to contract with the city for printing services. OAG 83-96.

Since a city fireman lacks procurement authority, he or a member of his immediate family could contract with the city without violating this section. OAG 83-96.

Where husband was a city fireman and wife was sole owner of a small printing shop, which had been doing printing business for the city, there was no legal objection, based on conflict of interest statutes, to the wife continuing to contract with the city for printing services. OAG 83-96.

45A.460. Recovery of value of anything transferred or received in breach of ethical standards.

(1) The value of anything transferred or received in breach of the ethical standards of KRS 45A.345 to 45A.990 or regulations or rules issued thereunder by an employee or a nonemployee may be recovered from both the employee and the nonemployee.

(2) Upon a showing that a subcontractor made a kickback to a prime contractor or a higher tier subcontractor in connection with the award of a subcontract or order thereunder, it shall be conclusively presumed that the amount thereof was included in the price of the subcontract or order and ultimately borne by the local public agency and will be recoverable hereunder from the recipient. In addition, said value may also be recovered from the subcontractor making such kickbacks. Recovery from one (1) offending party shall not preclude recovery against other offending parties.

History.

Enact. Acts 1978, ch. 110, § 93, effective January 1, 1980.

45A.465. Definitions for KRS 45A.470.

As used in KRS 45A.470, the words:

(1) "Other individuals with severe disabilities" means an individual or class of individuals with a disability, other than blindness, that constitutes an obstacle to new or continued normal employment.

(2) "Products" means programs, books, tapes, records, processes, packaging, modification, supplies, food, clothing, materials, commodities, equipment of all kinds, and any other article of commerce originally manufactured or assembled or purchased for resale by a qualified nonprofit agency.

(3) "Qualified nonprofit agency for individuals with severe disabilities" means an organization that:

(a) Is organized and operated in the interest of individuals with severe disabilities; and

(b) Complies with any applicable occupational health and safety law of the United States and the Commonwealth; and

(c) In the manufacture or provision of products or services listed or purchased under KRS 45A.470, during the fiscal year employs individuals with severe disabilities for not less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the man hours of direct labor required for the manufacture or provision of the products or services; and

(d) Is registered and in good standing as a nonprofit organization with the Secretary of State.

(4) "Services" means contractual services; rental services of all kinds; professional, technical, or artistic services; and other personal performance of work by officers, employees, or beneficiaries of a nonprofit agency.

(5) "State agency" means those spending agencies subject to the state purchasing requirements of this code and any regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

Cnty. Servs. Project, Inc. v. BAWAC Cleaning Servs., 226 S.W.3d 852, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 162 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Entities which are nonprofit agencies for the severely handicapped would need to be approved by the purchasing division as meeting the definition of subdivisions (3)(a) to (3)(d) of this section; they can then bid on contracts seeking products or services such entities produce. If their bids fall anywhere in the current price range and meet the necessary specifications and such entities can produce sufficient amounts of products needed, the purchasing division should choose such products, even if they are not the lowest bid price. OAG 84-134.

45A.470. Preference to be given by governmental bodies and political subdivisions in purchasing commodities or services — List of commodities and services — Price range — Negotiation for identical products and services.

(1) Notwithstanding any provision of this chapter to the contrary, all governmental bodies and political subdivisions of this state shall, when purchasing commodities or services, give first preference to the products made by the Department of Corrections, Division of Prison Industries, as required by KRS 197.210. Second preference shall be given to any products produced by Kentucky Industries for the Blind, Incorporated, or any other nonprofit corporation that furthers the purposes of KRS Chapter 163, and agencies of individuals with severe disabilities as described in KRS 45A.465.

(2) The Finance and Administration Cabinet shall make a list of commodities and services provided by these agencies and organizations available to all governmental bodies and political subdivisions. The list shall identify in detail the commodity or service the agency or organization may supply and the price.

(3) The Finance and Administration Cabinet shall annually determine the current price range for the commodities and services offered from its experience in purchasing these commodities or services on the open market. The prices quoted by these agencies or organizations shall not exceed the current price range.

(4) The Office of Vocational Rehabilitation within the Education and Labor Cabinet and qualified agencies for individuals with severe disabilities shall annually cause to be made available to the Finance and Administration Cabinet, lists of the products or services available.

(5) If two (2) or more of the agencies or qualified nonprofit organizations wish to supply identical commodities or services, the Finance and Administration Cabinet shall conduct negotiations with the parties to determine which shall be awarded the contract. The decision of the Finance and Administration Cabinet shall be based upon quality of the commodity or service and the ability of the respective agencies to supply the commodity or service within the requested delivery time.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Applicability.

Even if the KRS 45A.470(5) negotiation requirement is applicable to competitive sealed bids, the Cabinet correctly concluded that negotiations were not required because the losing bidder failed to offer the service at a price comparable to that offered by the winning bidder, and summary judgment for the Cabinet and the winning bidder in the corporation's case challenging the contract award was correct. Cnty. Servs. Project, Inc. v. BAWAC Cleaning Servs., 226 S.W.3d 852, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 162 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

In order to ascertain the legislative intent behind this section ordinary meanings should be applied to the terms “preference” and “price range.” OAG 83-44.

The word “preference” in subsection (1) of this section means that Kentucky must give second chance to the Kentucky Industries for the Blind and other agencies for the handicapped, as designated in Acts 1982, ch. 170, to sell their products if the products made by the Department of Corrections (now Corrections Cabinet), Division of Prison Industries do not fall within the stated price ranges mentioned in subsection (3) of this section; in subsection (3), the term “price range” means the level of cost of services and products on today's open market. OAG 83-44.

Entities which are nonprofit agencies for the severely handicapped would need to be approved by the purchasing division as meeting the definition of KRS 45A.465(3)(a) to (3)(d); they can then bid on contracts seeking products or services such entities produce. If their bids fall anywhere in the current price range and meet the necessary specifications and such entities can produce sufficient amounts of products needed, the purchasing division should choose such products, even if they are not the lowest bid price. OAG 84-134.

Products of the Prison Industries and Bureau for the Blind (now Department for the Blind) can be purchased by state agencies without bidding where their prices fall within the current price range of other producers. OAG 84-134.

45A.480. Compliance with workers' compensation insurance and unemployment insurance laws required — Foreign entity to obtain certificate of authority — Penalty.

(1)(a) No state contract for building, construction, reconstruction, renovation, demolition, or maintenance, or for any activity related to building, construction, reconstruction, renovation, demolition, or maintenance shall be awarded by any agency, department, or office of the Commonwealth of Kentucky or any political subdivision of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to any person until that person assures, by affidavit, that all contractors and subcontractors employed, or that will be employed, under the provisions of the contract shall be in compliance with Kentucky requirements for workers' compensation insurance according to KRS Chapter 342 and unemployment insurance according to KRS Chapter 341.

(b) An agency, department, office, or political subdivision of the Commonwealth of Kentucky shall not award a state contract to a person that is a foreign entity unless that foreign entity, on the records of the Secretary of State, holds a certificate of authority or a statement of foreign qualification.

(2) Any person who fails to comply with the requirements of subsection (1) of this section during the term of the state contract, upon such finding by a court of competent jurisdiction, shall be fined an amount not to exceed four thousand dollars ($4,000), or an amount equal to the sum of uninsured and unsatisfied claims brought under the provisions of KRS Chapter 342 and unemployment insurance claims for which no wages were reported as required by KRS Chapter 341, whichever is greater.

(3) The penalty imposed in subsection (2) of this section shall be enforced by the county attorney for the county in which the violation occurred.

(1) Any state contract awarded under KRS Chapter 45A, 175, 176, 177, or 180 after July 15, 1994, shall require the contractor and all subcontractors performing work under the contract to:

(a) Cancellation of the contract; and

(b) Disqualification of the contractor from eligibility for future state contracts for a period of two (2) years.

(3) A subcontractor's failure to reveal a final determination of a violation by the subcontractor of KRS Chapters 136, 139, 141, 337, 338, 341, and 342 or to comply with these statutes for the duration of the contract shall be grounds for the Commonwealth's disqualification of the subcontractor from eligibility for future state contracts for a period of two (2) years.

(a) Require or give preference to a bidder, offeror, or contractor in any contractor tier to enter into or adhere to an agreement with a labor organization relating to the public works contract or any other public works project; or

(b) Prohibit a bidder, offeror, or contractor in any contractor tier from entering into or adhering to an agreement with a labor organization relating to the public works project or any other public works project.

(3) This section does not do any of the following:

(a) Prohibit a public agency from awarding a contract, grant, tax abatement, or tax credit to a private owner, bidder, or contractor in any contractor tier who is party to an agreement with a labor organization if being or becoming a party or adhering to an agreement with a labor organization is not a condition for award of the contract, grant, tax abatement, or tax credit;

(2) A resident bidder is an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity that, on the date the contract is first advertised or announced as available for bidding:

(3) Upon implementation, all agencies of the Commonwealth of Kentucky shall obtain all available communications services under contracts executed pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, except as provided under subsection (4) of this section.

(4) The secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet may grant exceptions to the mandatory use of the information highway upon good cause shown.

In addition, nonprofit schools providing elementary or secondary education and nonprofit health care organizations shall be allowed to have access and use the contract on the same terms as agencies of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. “Nonprofit schools” and “nonprofit health care organizations” mean those schools and health care organizations which have been granted tax-exempt status under the United States Internal Revenue Code.

(1) Regardless of any provision of law to the contrary, the jurisdiction of the Board of Claims is exclusive, and a single claim for the recovery of money or a single award of money shall not exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000), exclusive of interest and costs. However, if a single act of negligence results in multiple claims, the total award may not exceed four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000), to be equitably divided among the claimants, but in no case may any claimant individually receive more than two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Suit for Sale of Land.
2. Tax Exempt Status.

1. Suit for Sale of Land.

By virtue of this section, an action against the State Park Commission (now Department of Parks), by a person owning a tract jointly with it, for a sale of the tract and division of the proceeds, was an action against the state and could not be maintained. However, an action for damages could be maintained, the state having waived its immunity in such cases. Kentucky State Park Com. v. Wilder, 256 Ky. 313, 76 S.W.2d 4, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 401 (Ky. 1934).

2. Tax Exempt Status.

The fact that the Commonwealth of Kentucky is not a named grantee in the deed to the state bar center building does not prevent the property from being public property and does not deprive the property of a tax exempt status. Travis v. Landrum, 607 S.W.2d 124, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 373 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

The Kentucky Bar Center building located in Frankfort, Kentucky, is public property and therefore exempt from the levy of ad valorem taxes. Travis v. Landrum, 607 S.W.2d 124, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 373 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Construction.

1. Constitutionality.

The State Property and Buildings Commission was not acting arbitrarily or without rules to govern it where the State Property and Buildings Commission Act was comprehensive and complete regarding the power and authority of the commission to issue and sell revenue bonds and the commission was definitely circumscribed in the manner and procedure with respect thereto. Preston v. Clements, 313 Ky. 479, 232 S.W.2d 85, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 902 (Ky. 1950).

2. Construction.

Since an act may have a single general subject expressed in the title and may contain many provisions providing they are not inconsistent with or foreign to the subject, the State Property and Buildings Commission Act (KRS 56.440 to 56.550) does not contain inconsistencies in violation of Ky. Const., § 51 requiring the subject of the act to be expressed in its title and not to relate to more than one subject. Preston v. Clements, 313 Ky. 479, 232 S.W.2d 85, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 902 (Ky. 1950).

KRS 56.440 to 56.550, setting up the State Property and Buildings Commission provides an adequate standard by which the commission is to govern its actions in determining the necessity for the construction of buildings for the use and occupancy of the Commonwealth, its departments and agencies, and for the issuance of revenue bonds to construct same and the act on its face is not invalid although possibly far-reaching. Preston v. Clements, 313 Ky. 479, 232 S.W.2d 85, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 902 (Ky. 1950).

(1) There is recognized, as an independent agency of the state within the meaning of KRS Chapter 12, and as a constituted authority of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, a state and a sovereign entity within the meaning of regulations of the United States Department of the Treasury, Internal Revenue Service, a State Property and Buildings Commission composed of the Governor, who shall be chairman thereof, the Lieutenant Governor who shall be vice chairman of the commission, the Attorney General, the secretary of the Cabinet for Economic Development, the executive director of the Office of the Controller, the state budget director, and the secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet, or their alternates as authorized in subsection (5) of this section.

As an additional and alternative method for the issuance of revenue bonds under the provisions of this chapter, upon application of any state agency and approval by the commission, the commission acting for and on behalf of said state agency may issue revenue bonds in its own name, in accordance with the terms and provisions of KRS Chapter 58, secured by and payable solely from all or any part of the revenues of the state agency as may be specified and provided in the approved application. Any covenants and undertakings of the state agency in the approved application with regard to the production of revenues and the use, application, or disposition thereof may be enforced by the holders of any of the revenue bonds or by any trustee for such bondholders. The issuance of any revenue bonds for the state or any of its agencies by or on behalf of the Kentucky Econom Development Finance Authority and the issuance of any revenue bonds for economic development projects authorized by Acts 1980, Ch. 109, shall require the prior approval of the State Property and Buildings Commission. In issuing bonds under its own name, or in approving issuance of bonds by other state agencies, the commission shall be deemed to be acting for the state government of the Commonwealth of Kentucky as one (1) unit within the meaning of the regulations of the United States Department of the Treasury, Internal Revenue Service, and it shall be limited to the issuance of bonds to accomplish the public purposes of that unit.

(5)(a) Each member of the commission may designate, by an instrument in writing over his signature and filed with the secretary as a public record of the commission, an alternate with full authority to attend in the absence of the appointing member for any reason, any properly convened meeting of the commission and to participate in the consideration of, and voting upon, business and transactions of the commission. Any designation of an alternate may, in the discretion of the appointing member, be limited upon the face of the appointing instrument, to be effective only for a designated meeting or only for specified business; or the same may be shown on the face of the appointing instrument to be on a continuing basis (but in no case for a period of more than four (4) years), whenever the appointing member is unable to attend, but always subject to revocation by the appointing member in an instrument of like formality, similarly filed with the secretary as a public record of the commission. Any party transacting business with the commission, or materially affected thereby, shall be entitled to accept and rely upon a joint certificate of the secretary of the commission and any member of the commission concerning the designation of any alternate, the time of designation, the scope thereof, and if of a continuing nature, whether the same has been revoked, and when; and the joint certificate shall be made and delivered to any such party within a reasonable time after written request is made therefor with acceptable identification of the business or transaction referred, and of the requesting party's interest therein. Each alternate shall be a person on the staff of the appointing member, or in the employ of his agency or department of the government of the Commonwealth, as the case may be.

(b) Any four (4) members of the commission, or their alternates authorized under paragraph (a) of this subsection, shall constitute a quorum and shall by majority vote be authorized to transact any and all business of the commission.

(c) The State Property and Buildings Commission is reconstituted as of October 1, 1976, with the powers herein provided.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Applicability.
2. Revenue Bonds.

1. Applicability.

Acts 1960, ch. 128 (now repealed) relating to acquisition and use of voting machines and the method of financing them which act was enrolled March 15, 1960 and signed by the governor March 25, 1960 and which declared an emergency took effect immediately and was an authorized exception to this section (Acts 1960, ch. 68, Art. XIII) which was enrolled March 17, 1960 and signed by the Governor on the same day effective July 1, 1960 since there is not such a conflict between the two that effect cannot be given to both and which would sanction repeal. State Property & Bldg. Com. v. Hays, 346 S.W.2d 3, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 277 (Ky. 1961).

2. Revenue Bonds.

It is not within the court's jurisdiction to determine if sufficient funds are available to complete a building as this is a matter for the State Property and Buildings Commission and the purchasers of the revenue bonds. Preston v. Clements, 313 Ky. 479, 232 S.W.2d 85, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 902 (Ky. 1950).

It is not within the court's jurisdiction to declare that a proposed plan will produce sufficient funds to retire revenue bonds issued under this section at their respective maturities and to pay interest coupons attached as this is a matter for the purchasers of the bonds to consider before they bid for the purchase of the bonds. Preston v. Clements, 313 Ky. 479, 232 S.W.2d 85, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 902 (Ky. 1950).

It is not within the province of the court to determine whether or not bonds can be fully executed and tendered within a given time. Preston v. Clements, 313 Ky. 479, 232 S.W.2d 85, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 902 (Ky. 1950).

The State Property and Buildings Commission may issue revenue bonds for the construction of a building project and the improvement of real estate owned by the Commonwealth. Preston v. Clements, 313 Ky. 479, 232 S.W.2d 85, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 902 (Ky. 1950).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

In a business meeting the chairman of the commission may second a motion of another member. OAG 69-83.

Under KRS 58.050 and 56.872(2) the costs of issuing bonds, inclusive of bond discount, capitalized interest, and a debt service reserve, are in fact and as a matter of law proper "costs of issuance" of such bonds, to be added to the authorized level of a revenue bond financed project (which construction project costs are delineated in capital construction sections of the biennial appropriations and budget report) in arriving at the authorized financing of such project. The power to include such financing costs in the total bond package is an implied power of the State Property and Buildings Commission in issuing revenue bonds under subsection (4) of this section; this implied power is clearly and inevitably necessary in order that the commission may carry out its express power of issuing revenue bonds. OAG 82-583.

56.495. Kentucky university and college projects.

The boards of regents of the respective state universities and the Kentucky Community and Technical College System and the board of trustees of the University of Kentucky may issue, under the provisions of KRS 162.340 to 162.380, consolidated educational building revenue bonds or housing bonds, provided that prior to seeking the final approval required by KRS 56.491, the board of the state university or the Kentucky Community and Technical College System shall submit to the commission, through the cabinet, a request for approval of the project before any financial commitment of any sort may be made in connection therewith, including employment of architects, engineers, fiscal agents, or attorneys. The request shall include a general description of the project and its need, use, location, approximate size, and such other information as the cabinet may require. After approval by the commission, the cabinet shall appoint fiscal agents, bond counsel, and architects and engineers as may be required to make plans and specifications or financial arrangements for the project.

History.

56.513. Interim financing — Revenue bond anticipation notes — Loan agreements — Tax status.

(1) When the State Property and Buildings Commission makes a determination, in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, that one (1) or more building projects or industrial development projects will be financed by the issuance of revenue bonds, then in anticipation of such financing the commission may borrow money to provide interim financing therefor and issue in evidence thereof its revenue bond anticipation notes, bearing interest at a rate or rates not exceeding the maximum rate permitted for the issuance of such bonds. Such interim financing may be entered into for the commission's own projects, for those of the University of Kentucky and the state colleges or universities or for any other agency of the Commonwealth where approval by the commission is required regarding the issuance of revenue bonds of such an agency. In instances where the revenue bonds involved are to be issued by other agencies, such agencies, with the prior approval of the commission, may borrow money in the same manner and for the same purpose and issue in evidence thereof their own revenue bond anticipation notes, according to rules and regulations promulgated by the commission.

(2) The commission shall solicit proposals for such interim financing from at least three (3) responsible lenders, and shall select in its discretion the best of such proposals consistent with sound financial practices. A selection may be made even though less than three (3) proposals are received. The term of any such revenue bond anticipation note shall not exceed five (5) years; and the same may be renewed, if necessary.

(3) Each revenue bond anticipation note may include prepayment provisions which will allow the commission or other borrowing agency to prepay the loan after giving reasonable notice to the lender; shall identify the revenue bond issue from the proceeds of which the note or notes and any interest thereon are to be paid; and shall include a statement that the note is being issued in anticipation of the identified revenue bond issue, and that neither the note, nor the interest thereon, shall constitute or evidence an indebtedness of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. Each such note and the interest thereon (to any extent not previously paid from other sources) shall be paid from the proceeds of the identified revenue bond issue, when such proceeds have been received and are available.

(4) Instead of borrowing money and issuing revenue bond anticipation notes in the full amount necessary for construction contract purposes, the commission (or such agencies with the prior approval of the commission and according to its rules and regulations), may enter into loan agreements with one (1) or more lenders (determined by the commission to be responsible) according to the terms of which it may be agreed:

(a) That the lender will continuously make available to the borrowing agency a stated maximum amount of money for a stated period of time;

(b) That the borrowing agency may demand and obtain cash advances against such commitment from time to time upon reasonable and agreed notice, and upon issuing in evidence of each advance a bond anticipation note which will bear an agreed rate of interest, not exceeding the maximum rate permitted for the issuance of the proposed bonds; and

(c) That in consideration of the making of such loan agreement the borrowing agency will pay to the lender or lenders a commitment fee determined by the commission to be reasonable according to financial conditions existing at the time the loan agreement is made.

Such loan agreements may be recorded as receivables upon the books of account of the commission, the secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet, or other borrowing agency, and construction contracts may be awarded against the same to the amount of money which the lender contractually agrees to make available to the borrowing agency, the same as in the case of loan agreements made with departments or agencies of the United States government.

(5) Each revenue bond anticipation note issued according to this section, and the receipt of interest thereon, shall be exempt from all taxation by the Commonwealth and all of its subdivisions, municipalities, and taxing authorities; and this may be stated as a representation in the text of each such revenue bond anticipation note.

(6) The State Property and Building Commission and other state agencies authorized to issue revenue bond anticipation notes under the terms of this section may, as an alternative and if authorized to do so by the governing body of such commission or agency, adopt the procedures for interim financing established for counties, cities, and other municipal corporations, or their agencies, by KRS 58.150.

56.520. Revenue bonds — Investment of proceeds of authorized bonds.

(1) The commission may issue and sell revenue or other authorized bonds, in carrying out the provisions of this chapter, in denominations and amounts, as is deemed to be for the best interest of the Commonwealth, for any of the following purposes:

(a) To acquire real estate for state governmental use;

(b) To pay all or any part of the expense or cost of or incidental to a building project for state governmental use;

(c) To defray the cost of plans, specifications, blueprints, architectural fees, and other expenses authorized to be incurred for state governmental use.

(2) The payment of bonds issued, together with the interest thereon, may be secured by a pledge and a first lien on all of the receipts and revenue derived, or to be derived, from the rental or operation of the property involved. Neither the payment of any bond, nor the interest thereon issued under the authority of this chapter, shall constitute an indebtedness of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, nor shall any bond or interest thereon be payable out of any fund except funds derived from rentals or other revenues derived from the operation of the properties or from revenues as are available for the purpose by law.

(3) All competitive bids for the sale of revenue bonds shall be opened and read publicly by the secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet or the secretary's representative at a designated place, day, and hour, all of which shall be indicated in the notice made relative thereto.

(4) If the commission issues and sells bonds for a building project as authorized by this chapter, insurance, including fire and windstorm, casualty, catastrophe, use and occupancy, and such other insurance as the commission may deem advisable, shall be carried in connection with the building project, and it may so obligate and bind itself in a trust indenture securing the payment of the bonds. Any insurance shall be paid for out of funds available for the project.

(5) The commission may invest proceeds from the sale of its revenue or other authorized bonds in financial instruments and investments as provided in KRS 42.500 for the State Investment Commission.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Exemption from Taxation.

1. Constitutionality.

Where bondholders may look only to such funds as may be derived from rentals or operation of a building and under the proposal there is no created tax burden or obligation of the state to appropriate or pay the indebtedness or to be looked to as security, the bonds issued by State Property and Buildings Commission to erect capitol annex office building do not constitute an indebtedness of the state within any constitutional provision or inhibition. Preston v. Clements, 313 Ky. 479, 232 S.W.2d 85, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 902 (Ky. 1950).

2. Exemption from Taxation.

Revenue bonds and the coupons attached thereto issued by the State Property and Buildings Commission payable only from rentals collected for the occupancy of state capitol annex office building are exempt from all state, county, school and municipal taxes, including state income tax. Preston v. Clements, 313 Ky. 479, 232 S.W.2d 85, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 902 (Ky. 1950).

58.150. Revenue bond anticipation notes.

(1) When the governing body of any county, city, or other municipal corporation, or agency thereof, shall make a determination that, in accordance with the provisions of any section of the statutes authorizing it to issue revenue bonds, assessment bonds, or mortgage bonds to finance any project, it will finance a project by the issuance of bonds, then in anticipation of financing, the governing body may provide for the interim financing of a project by the sale and issuance of revenue bond, assessment bond, or mortgage bond anticipation notes, as the case may be, bearing interest at a rate or rates not exceeding the maximum rate permitted for the issuance of the bonds so anticipated, and payable within a specified period of time only from the proceeds of the bonds, when issued, or from the revenues or income of the project as may be available prior to or at maturity of the notes; provided that the initial term of the notes shall not be in excess of five (5) years from the date of issuance. The term “revenue bond” means bonds, notes, or other obligations for the payment of money issued by the state, any county, municipality, or other public district or authority except a school district, or any corporation or other corporate body acting as an instrumentality of the unit, and payable from a special fund into which some or all of the revenues of a public project have been or will be paid. “Assessment bond” means bonds, notes, or other obligations for the payment of money issued by any one (1) or more of the same issuing authorities payable from a special fund into which assessments levied on properties for benefits conferred have been or will be paid in accordance with law. “Mortgage bond” means revenue bonds which are secured by a mortgage deed of trust. A school district shall not be excluded from these definitions if it is authorized by the Kentucky Board of Education, by general or special authorization, to proceed under the authority of this section or KRS 56.513 through the agency of the appropriate city or county.

(2) The notes authorized herein shall be sold in the same manner as the bonds in anticipation of which they are issued.

(3) Each bond anticipation note may include prepayment provisions which will allow the issuing authority to prepay the note after giving reasonable notice to the holder; shall identify the bond issue from the proceeds of which the note or notes and any interest thereon are to be paid; and shall include a statement that the note is being issued in anticipation of the identified bond issue, and that neither the note, nor the interest, shall constitute or evidence an indebtedness of the issuing authority. Each note and the interest, to the extent not previously paid from other sources, shall be paid from the proceeds of the identified bond issue, when the proceeds have been received and are available; provided, however, that payment from the revenues of the project, for the financing of which the bonds will eventually be issued, shall be permitted, and provision shall be made for payment of that portion of the principal of any note issue which represents the principal of the proposed bonds scheduled to mature on or prior to the maturity of the notes.

(4) The notes authorized herein may be issued in a principal amount sufficient to include all interest due on the notes at or prior to maturity, if the notes shall be issued for a term of three (3) years or less, and the notes may be sold at a discount representing the interest due to the purchaser during the term.

(5) When, prior to the maturity of any notes issued under the authority of this section or KRS 56.513, the governing body of the issuing authority shall make a determination that by reason of construction delays, changes in plans, uncertainties in the bond market, or other causes justifying delay in the final offering of the bond issue, the bond issue should not immediately be offered, renewal notes may be issued subject to the same limitations contained in this section or KRS 56.513 relative to the original issue of notes, and the proceeds of the sale of the renewal notes shall be applied to the payment of the principal of the notes originally issued, or any prior issue of renewal notes, or to the payment of interest due or to become due on the notes or renewal notes; provided, however, that the interest, including discount, if any, payable from the proceeds of notes or renewal notes shall not exceed an amount equal to three (3) years' interest from the date of the original notes at the rate per annum established for the original notes.

(6) Counties, cities, and other municipal corporations, or agencies, in the discretion of the governing body in each case, may, as an alternative to this section and for interim financing purposes, solicit proposals, issue bond anticipation notes, and make commitment agreements in the same manner as provided for the State Property and Buildings Commission by KRS 56.513; provided, however, that in the case of notes issued on behalf of a school district, general or special approval of the Kentucky Board of Education shall be required in substitution for the approval of the State Property and Buildings Commission; and provided further, that the approval of the State Property and Buildings Commission will not be required for any issue of a county, city, or other municipal corporation, or any agency, and references to the commission shall be interpreted to be references to the governing body of the issuing authority.

(7) Nothing herein shall be deemed to invalidate any bond anticipation notes sold or issued under general statutes prior to the adoption of this section and KRS 56.513.

(8) Each bond anticipation note issued according to this section or KRS 56.513, and the receipt of interest on the note, shall be exempt from all taxation by the Commonwealth and all of its subdivisions, municipalities, and taxing authorities; and this may be stated as a representation in the text of each bond anticipation note.

Enact. Acts 1980, ch. 273, § 1, effective April 9, 1980.

INTEREST RATES ON PUBLIC BONDS

58.410. Definitions for KRS 58.410 to 58.440.

(1) As used in KRS 58.410 to 58.440, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) "Public body" means the Commonwealth, its political subdivisions, its municipalities, its school and other taxing districts, its nontaxing public bodies and institutions, and any and all agencies and instrumentalities thereof, whether such agencies or instrumentalities be now existing or hereafter created and established under and pursuant to specific statutory authority, or whether such agencies or instrumentalities be now existing or hereafter organized, established, and caused to exist as nonprofit corporations under applicable general laws, having performance as such agencies or instrumentalities as their sole corporate purposes;

(b) "Public obligation" means bonds, notes, warrants, or other obligations of any public body;

(c) "Rate of interest" means both the coupon or stated interest rate applicable to any public obligation, and the effective interest rate or interest cost percentage, computed upon the basis of the coupon or stated interest rate or rates and the price actually to be received by the issuing public body; provided, however, KRS 58.410 to 58.440 is not intended, and shall not be construed, to amend, alter, or repeal any existing law requiring that certain public obligations be sold at not less than the face amount thereof.

(2) KRS 58.410 to 58.440 does not relate to or affect borrowing by any person or corporation except such as are within the definition of "public body" as set forth in this section.

History.

Enact. Acts 1970, ch. 24, § 1; repealed and reenact., Acts 1990, ch. 476, Pt. V, § 291, effective July 13, 1990.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A county or group of counties operating under an interlocal agreement and issuing revenue bonds which are "public obligations" under subsection (1)(b) to this section would be subject to the interest rate provisions of KRS 58.430 which repealed the provisions of subsection (3) of KRS 65.270 upon its enactment. OAG 81-346.

58.420. Public policy as to bond interest rates.

It is hereby determined and declared to be the public policy of the Commonwealth that interest rates payable by public bodies upon public obligations be such as to be competitive with those rates which are permitted by other states, in order that necessary public projects may be financed and may be undertaken in the interest of the public health, safety, and general welfare.

History.

Enact. Acts 1970, ch. 24, § 2; repealed and reenact., Acts 1990, ch. 476, Pt. V, § 292, effective July 13, 1990.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Chapters 103 and 58 separately, and when considered in pari materia, provide for variable interest rate bonds. OAG 85-103.

58.430. Removal of interest rate limits.

From and after March 9, 1970, notwithstanding any other acts or laws of other import which may presently prevail, wherever the same may be found in the Kentucky Revised Statutes as of such date, it shall be lawful for public bodies to establish, agree, and bind themselves to pay interest upon their public obligations at any rate or rates which may be determined upon by the governing bodies of the respective public bodies which are the issuers thereof; but subject, nevertheless, to such approvals as may now or hereafter be applicable thereto according to law.

History.

Enact. Acts 1970, ch. 24, § 3; repealed and reenact., Acts 1990, ch. 476, Pt. V, § 293, effective July 13, 1990.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

This section, by its express language, repealed the interest ceiling provisions of KRS 178.170. OAG 71-493.

This section does not implicitly repeal or in any way modify the maximum interest rate a school district may pay on money borrowed in anticipation of taxes. OAG 80-571.

A county or group of counties operating under an interlocal agreement and issuing revenue bonds which are "public obligations" under subsection (1)(b) of KRS 58.410 would be subject to the interest rate provisions of this section which repealed the provisions of subsection (3) of KRS 65.270 upon its enactment. OAG 81-346.

Since KRS 96A.120(3) provides that a mass transit authority may use the procedures set forth in KRS 58.010 to 58.170, subject to any interest rate limitations which may be applicable thereto as provided by law, and since, as between KRS 58.170 and 96A.120, the specific governs over the general, anticipatory notes issued by transit authority fall within the provisions of this section and are not subject to the interest limitations of KRS 58.170. OAG 83-152.

KRS 103.200 and 103.220 in no explicit language establish pollution projects as the sole category of projects subject to a variable rate of interest and the pertinent statutes amended by Acts 1984, Ch. 122 in no way prohibit the application of the variable rate to projects other than pollution control projects; they merely emphasize pollution control projects, but not to the detriment of other kinds of projects falling within the broad range of KRS 103.200 to 103.285. Moreover, this section is a specific statute dealing only with interest rates on public bonds and is so flexibly worded as to support variable rate structures in the issuance of public bonds and even if the sections in KRS Ch. 103 amended by Acts 1984, Ch. 122 (KRS 103.200, 103.210, 103.2101, 103.220 — 103.240, 103.280) were to be said to be in some conflict with the provisions of this section, the specific statute, this section, should control over the provisions of KRS Ch. 103. OAG 84-257.

By its express language, this section repealed the maximum rate found in KRS 220.390, 220.400 and KRS 220.370; the purpose of this section was to permit public bodies to meet prevailing interest rate competition. OAG 84-360.

Under KRS 103.200(2), variable rate bonds do not apply only to pollution control facilities bonds; thus, the Kentucky Development Finance Authority may lawfully issue variable rate bonds with Put and Remarketing features in a proposed Internal Revenue Bond issue for the financing of the construction and equipping of airport facilities, under KRS 103.200 to 103.285, as amended by Chapter 122, 1984, Session, and this section. OAG 84-377.

This section, as a specific statute on public bond interest rates, clearly authorizes the insurers of the bonds to bind themselves to pay interest at "any rate or rates which may be determined by the governing body" issuing the bonds; the term "at any rate or rates," as used in this section, is sufficiently broad to encompass variable rates arrived at under agreement. OAG 85-103.

Chapters 103 and 58 separately, and when considered in pari materia, provide for variable interest rate bonds. OAG 85-103.

58.440. Refinancing at higher rate than that of original issue.

If any public body shall determine:

(1) That financing of a public project may be accomplished to the best advantage in the public interest only by combining the same with refinancing of previously issued and outstanding public obligations at a rate or rates of interest higher than the rate or rates otherwise applicable thereto;

(2) That refinancing of a public project at a higher interest rate or rates is necessary in order to prevent or anticipate default in payment of interest or principal of public obligations with regard thereto; or

(3) That any combination of the circumstances described in subsection (1) or (2) of this section exists; then such refinancing is recognized to be lawful; provided, however, that prior to any such refinancing at a higher rate or rates of interest, the issuing public body shall make and spread at large upon its public records its determination that such action is necessary or desirable in the public interest, and its reasons therefor.

History.

Enact. Acts 1970, ch. 24, § 4; repealed and reenact., Acts 1990, ch. 476, Pt. V, § 294, effective July 13, 1990.

ENERGY CONSERVATION IMPROVEMENTS

(2) “Energy conservation measure” means a facility alteration designed to reduce energy consumption or operating costs, and may include one (1) or more of the following:

(a) Insulation of building structure or systems within buildings;

(f) Energy recovery systems;

(g) Cogeneration systems that produce steam or forms of energy such as heat as well as electricity for use primarily within a building or complex of buildings;

(h) Energy conservation measures that provide long-term operating cost reductions; or

(i) Any life safety measures that provide long-term operating cost reductions;

(3) “Local public agency” means a city, county, charter county, urban-county, school district, special district, or an agency formed by a combination of these agencies under KRS Chapter 79;

(4) “Capital cost avoidance” has the same definition as in KRS 45A.345; and

(5) “Guaranteed energy savings contract” has the same definition as in KRS 45A.345.

History.

Enact. Acts 1996, ch. 213, § 1, effective July 15, 1996; 1998, ch. 375, § 6, effective July 15, 1998; 2010, ch. 63, § 13, effective July 15, 2010.

Legislative Research Commission Note.

(7/12/2006). In subsection (5) of this statute, the Reviser of Statutes has changed a reference to “KRS 45A.345(26)” to read “KRS 45A.345(27),” in order to correct an error resulting from the renumbering of subsections in 1998 Ky. Acts ch. 120, sec. 12, and ch. 375, sec. 2. See KRS 7.136(1)(e) and (h).

58.605. Energy conservation revenue bonds for energy conservation measures — Procedure.

(1) Subject to the reporting and approval requirements in KRS 45A.352, 45A.353, and 58.610, any local public agency may issue energy conservation revenue bonds to pay for the cost of energy conservation measures under guaranteed energy savings contracts for the purpose of reducing the cost of energy to buildings owned or operated by the local public agency by making energy-saving improvements to these buildings.

(2) A local public agency, or an agency acting on its behalf, may issue energy conservation revenue bonds to finance the energy conservation measures under guaranteed energy savings contracts, with the following limitations:

(a) Any energy conservation measure, financed through bonds, shall comply with the provisions set forth in KRS 45A.345, 45A.352, and 45A.353;

(b) The term of the bonds shall run coterminous with the term of guaranteed energy savings contract;

(c) A local public agency shall not enter into a guaranteed energy savings contract where the total cost of the energy conservation measures exceeds the cost of the energy savings plus the operational costs plus the capital cost avoidance that is estimated for the term of the guaranteed energy savings contract commencing from the date of the energy conservation measure’s installation; and

(d) The use of capital cost avoidance shall be subject to the following restrictions:

1. The amount expended shall not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the project cost; and

2. Capital cost avoidance shall be restricted to payment for permanent equipment replacement as follows:

a. Storm windows or doors, multiglazed windows or doors, additional glazing, and reduction in glass area;

b. Replacement of heating, ventilating, or air conditioning major components or systems;

c. New lighting fixtures where required to achieve Illuminating Engineering Society of North America (IES) standards, provided the existing light fixtures shall have been determined to be obsolete and incapable of achieving IES standards; and

d. Life safety system replacements or upgrades which shall have been determined to be necessary to conform with existing state and local codes and standards.

(3) Energy conservation revenue bonds shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of KRS 58.010 to 58.140 and shall be sold at a competitive sale preceded by adequate public notice and shall bear interest at an interest rate or rates determined by the local public agency at the time of the sale.

58.610. Issuance by school districts, county and city government, or special district — Special procedure.

(1) Energy conservation revenue bonds authorized under KRS 58.600 to 58.610 issued by or on behalf of a school district shall be approved or disapproved by the chief state school officer based on consideration of the following criteria:

- (a) Funding capability of the school;
- (b) The availability of general fund, capital outlay allotment under KRS 157.420, or state and local funds from the Facility Support Program of Kentucky under KRS 157.440, that are to be contributed by the school district as capital cost avoidance; and
- (c) Proper bond documentation.

(2) Guaranteed energy savings and guaranteed operational savings of a guaranteed energy savings contract shall be exempt from current or future debt limitations, except that capital cost avoidance, as defined in KRS 58.600, shall not be exempt from current or future debt limitations.

(3) No energy conservation revenue bonds authorized under KRS 58.600 to 58.610 shall be issued by or on behalf of a county, urban-county government, charter county government, city, or special district without the prior approval of the state local debt officer, except that this approval shall not be required if the principal amount of energy conservation revenue bonds is less than five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000).

(4) Any issuance of energy conservation revenue bonds shall be reported to the state local debt officer.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Construction.
2. Commission.
3. — Issuance.
4. — — Refusal.
5. — — Enforcement.
6. Contest over Office.

1. Construction.

Provision of this section that police judges shall be commissioned by the Governor did not give the Governor power to fill vacancies in the office or repeal statute providing that vacancies in any city office shall be filled by the city council. Dillon v. Stubbs, 267 Ky. 17, 100 S.W.2d 823, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 266 (Ky. 1937).

The mere fact that under this section the Governor issues commissions to police judges does not of itself vest in him exclusive power of appointment to fill vacancies and appointing power for office of police judge of city of the second class rested in the mayor and not the Governor even though the city had a city manager, and not a councilmanic, form of government. Heringer v. Rolf, 287 S.W.2d 149, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 442 (Ky. 1956).

2. Commission.

Appointment of police judge of a sixth-class city by the council, when that authority was vested in the Governor, gave him no right to a commission. Willson v. Hahn, 131 Ky. 439, 115 S.W. 231, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 31 (Ky. 1909).

An appointee to fill a vacancy may be commissioned by the Governor although appointed by another officer or agency. Frost v. Johnston, 262 Ky. 592, 90 S.W.2d 1045, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 82 (Ky. 1936).

3. — Issuance.

It is the duty of the Governor to issue a commission to a police judge of a city of the fourth class properly appointed or elected. Traynor v. Beckham, 116 Ky. 13, 74 S.W. 1105, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 167 (Ky. Ct. App. 1903); Jarvis v. Stanley, 176 Ky. 630, 197 S.W. 183, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 94 (Ky. 1917).

4. — — Refusal.

Possession of commission is not prerequisite to action to recover office, where officer required to issue same has refused to do so. Toney v. Harris, 85 Ky. 453, 3 S.W. 614, 9 Ky. L. Rptr. 36, 1887 Ky. LEXIS 62 (Ky. 1887).

Governor may refuse to commission person presenting certificate of election only when election has been held void in a contest proceeding. McCreary v. Williams, 153 Ky. 49, 154 S.W. 417, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 779 (Ky. 1913).

5. — — Enforcement.

A justice of the peace appointed and commissioned by the Governor may by mandamus enforce his right to execute bond and qualify. Daugherty v. Arnold, 110 Ky. 1, 60 S.W. 865, 22 Ky. L. Rptr. 1504, 1901 Ky. LEXIS 54 (Ky. 1901).

Issuance of a commission is a ministerial act enforceable against the Governor by mandamus. Traynor v. Beckham, 116 Ky. 13, 74 S.W. 1105, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 167 (Ky. Ct. App. 1903). See McCreary v. Williams, 153 Ky. 49, 154 S.W. 417, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 779 (Ky. 1913); Jarvis v. Stanley, 176 Ky. 630, 197 S.W. 183, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 94 (Ky. 1917).

6. Contest over Office.

In contest over office, plaintiff may sue although not holding a commission. Mullins v. Jones, 290 Ky. 796, 162 S.W.2d 761, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 488 (Ky. 1942).

61.080. Incompatible offices.

(1) No person shall, at the same time, be a state officer, a deputy state officer, or a member of the General Assembly, and an officer of any county, city, consolidated local government, or other municipality, or an employee thereof.

(2) The offices of justice of the peace, county judge/executive, surveyor, sheriff, deputy sheriff, coroner, constable, jailer, and clerk or deputy clerk of a court, shall be incompatible, the one (1) with any of the others. The office of county judge/executive and county school superintendent are incompatible.

(3) No person shall, at the same time, fill a county office and a municipal office. Notwithstanding the fact that consolidated local governments have both municipal and county powers, persons who hold the office of mayor or legislative council member of a consolidated local government shall not thereby be deemed to hold both a county office and a municipal office. Officers of consolidated local governments shall not, at the same time, fill any other county or municipal office.

(4) No person shall, at the same time, fill two (2) municipal offices, either in the same or different municipalities.

(5) No person shall, at the same time, fill any two (2) appointed offices of special purpose governmental entities, as defined in KRS 65A.010, that each have the authority to levy taxes.

(6) No person shall, at the same time, fill any state office and an appointed office of a special purpose governmental entity that has the authority to levy taxes, unless a state statute specifically requires a person holding a state office to serve in an appointed office of a special purpose governmental entity that has the authority to levy taxes.

1. Construction.

Subsections (1) to (4) of this section do not list all instances of incompatibility. Knuckles v. Board of Education, 272 Ky. 431, 114 S.W.2d 511, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 138 (Ky. 1938).

This section is the construction placed by the General Assembly on Ky. Const., § 165. O'Mara v. Mt. Vernon, 299 Ky. 401, 185 S.W.2d 675, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 436 (Ky. 1945).

2. Determination.

Power in incumbent of one office to appoint and remove the incumbent of the other creates incompatibility. Hermann v. Lampe, 175 Ky. 109, 194 S.W. 122, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 306 (Ky. 1917); Knuckles v. Board of Education, 272 Ky. 431, 114 S.W.2d 511, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 138 (Ky. 1938).

Offices are incompatible when it is physically impossible to perform all the duties of both offices with care and ability, and when their relation induces a presumption that they cannot be executed with impartiality and honesty. Hermann v. Lampe, 175 Ky. 109, 194 S.W. 122, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 306 (Ky. 1917).

There is no incompatibility of office except as prescribed by the Constitution or laws enacted pursuant thereto, or in cases where there is incompatibility of duties in the different positions. Coleman v. Hurst, 226 Ky. 501, 11 S.W.2d 133, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1928); Talbott v. Park, 256 Ky. 534, 76 S.W.2d 600, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 440 (Ky. 1934).

The Constitution does not prohibit the same person holding more than one state office, unless the two (2) are incompatible in fact. Coleman v. Hurst, 226 Ky. 501, 11 S.W.2d 133, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1928); Talbott v. Park, 256 Ky. 534, 76 S.W.2d 600, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 440 (Ky. 1934); Polley v. Fortenberry, 268 Ky. 369, 105 S.W.2d 143, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 475 (Ky. 1937).

Aside from any specific constitutional or statutory prohibitions, incompatibility depends on the character and relation of the offices and not on the matter of physical inability to discharge the duties of both of them. The question is whether one office is subordinated to the other, or the performance of one interferes with the performance of the duties of the other, or whether the functions of the two (2) are inherently inconsistent or repugnant, or whether the occupancy of both offices is detrimental to the public interest. Barkley v. Stockdell, 252 Ky. 1, 66 S.W.2d 43, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 997 (Ky. 1933); Polley v. Fortenberry, 268 Ky. 369, 105 S.W.2d 143, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 475 (Ky. 1937).

Incompatibility exists when the duties of the offices are inconsistent, and where the nature and duties of same are such as to render it improper from consideration of public policy for one incumbent to retain both. Knuckles v. Board of Education, 272 Ky. 431, 114 S.W.2d 511, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 138 (Ky. 1938).

An important test of incompatibility is whether one office is subordinate to, or subject to supervision by, the other, or where contrariety or antagonism would result by the discharge by one person of the duties of both offices. Knuckles v. Board of Education, 272 Ky. 431, 114 S.W.2d 511, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 138 (Ky. 1938).

Appellee's dual status as a magistrate and police officer did not violate the statute; there could not be a violation of the statute since appellee was not a municipal officer, and the county attorney had not shown a sufficient nexus between appellee the police officer and appellee the magistrate for the court to find the positions to be irredeemably incompatible. Clark Cty. Atty. v. Thompson, 617 S.W.3d 427, 2021 Ky. App. LEXIS 2 (Ky. Ct. App. 2021).

3. State Offices with County and Municipal Offices.

A master commissioner is not a state officer or deputy state officer. Goodloe v. Fox, 96 Ky. 627, 29 S.W. 433, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 653, 1895 Ky. LEXIS 120 (Ky. 1895).

Member of board of bar commissioners is not a state officer and is not ineligible to act as Commonwealth's Attorney. Talbott v. Park, 256 Ky. 534, 76 S.W.2d 600, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 440 (Ky. 1934).

The members of the board of commissioners of the state bar are not officers within the meaning of Ky. Const., § 165, this section and KRS 61.090 since the board acts merely in an administrative capacity and as an agency of the Court of Appeals, clothed, under its rules, with power to make investigations and return to the Court of Appeals its findings.

Dreidel v. Louisville, 268 Ky. 659, 105 S.W.2d 807, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 510 (Ky. 1937).

The office of special circuit judge is not incompatible with the office of member of the General Assembly. O'Mara v. Mt. Vernon, 299 Ky. 401, 185 S.W.2d 675, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 436 (Ky. 1945).

Even if acceptance of office as member of General Assembly, by a person holding the office of special circuit judge, vacated the latter office on the ground of incompatibility, defendant in civil suit against whom judgment was rendered by special judge could not complain where special judge was qualified and eligible at the time he began the trial, and no objection was raised by defendant until after judgment had been rendered. O'Mara v. Mt. Vernon, 299 Ky. 401, 185 S.W.2d 675, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 436 (Ky. 1945).

Under a permissible construction of the terms of Ky. Const., § 165, this section and KRS 61.090, the office of Senator and deputy sheriff are incompatible and the acceptance of the second office vacates the first but where, being faced with the question, the Senate adopted a resolution recognizing the deputy sheriff as a duly qualified Senator the adoption did not constitute such a clear violation of the Constitution that the courts should rectify the error and the deputy sheriff is entitled to the compensation and allowances withheld by the state treasurer but the judiciary must assume the Senate in good faith will not knowingly permit violations of other constitutional provisions. Raney v. Stovall, 361 S.W.2d 518, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 246 (Ky. 1962).

4. Two County Offices.

Offices of special tax collector and county judge (now county judge/executive) are incompatible. Barkley v. Stockdell, 252 Ky. 1, 66 S.W.2d 43, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 997 (Ky. 1933).

Offices of special tax collector and jailer are incompatible. Nichols v. Land, 288 Ky. 693, 157 S.W.2d 303, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 192 (Ky. 1941).

Offices of special tax collector and sheriff are not incompatible. Nichols v. Land, 288 Ky. 693, 157 S.W.2d 303, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 192 (Ky. 1941). See Barkley v. Stockdell, 252 Ky. 1, 66 S.W.2d 43, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 997 (Ky. 1933).

There is no constitutional or statutory incompatibility under this section unless the office of member of the county board of election commissioners is in law a local office as distinguished from a state office and it is unnecessary to pass on this question where it is clear that the office of county school board member and county election commissioner are functionally incompatible in that occupancy of both offices by the same person is detrimental to the public interest. Adams v. Commonwealth, 268 S.W.2d 930, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 931 (Ky. 1954).

There is no incompatibility in the offices of regular and special judge insofar as it concerns the incompatibility of duties or the character and relationship of offices or as being in conflict with Ky. Const., §§ 165 or 237 or with this section. Hancock v. Queenan, 294 S.W.2d 92, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 117 (Ky. 1956).

5. County Offices with Municipal Offices.

Offices of city councilman and member of county board of health are incompatible. Vickers v. Sory, 102 S.W. 272, 31 Ky. L. Rptr. 277 (1907).

That a constable is also a city employee does not violate this section. Walling v. Commonwealth, 260 Ky. 178, 84 S.W.2d 10, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 425 (Ky. 1935).

A member of county board of health who became a city trustee did not automatically forfeit and vacate her board membership, and, at the very least, she was a de facto member and was entitled to perform her duties while in possession of the office. Trimble County Fiscal Court v. Trimble County Bd.

of Health, 587 S.W.2d 276, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 469 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

A deputy circuit clerk is clearly a "deputy (state) officer" and is, thus, precluded from simultaneously serving as an officer of a city. Court of Justice v. Oney, 34 S.W.3d 814, 2000 Ky. App. LEXIS 96 (Ky. Ct. App. 2000).

6. Two Municipal Offices.

Offices of clerk and assessor in the same city are incompatible. Blades v. Falmouth, 124 Ky. 259, 98 S.W. 1017, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 420, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 179 (Ky. 1907).

Offices of school trustee and postmaster are incompatible. Johnson v. Sanders, 131 Ky. 537, 115 S.W. 772, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 54 (Ky. 1909).

Offices of city councilman and city treasurer in the same city are incompatible. Taylor v. Johnson, 148 Ky. 649, 147 S.W. 375, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 506 (Ky. 1912).

Offices of city commissioner in one city and statutory city engineer in another city are incompatible. Commonwealth ex rel. Steller v. Livingston, 171 Ky. 52, 186 S.W. 916, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 298 (Ky. 1916).

Whether office of city commissioner and employment as civil engineer in another city are incompatible in question of fact. Hermann v. Lampe, 175 Ky. 109, 194 S.W. 122, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 306 (Ky. 1917).

7. School Offices and Employees.

Offices of school trustee and school teacher are incompatible. Ferguson v. True, 66 Ky. 255, 1867 Ky. LEXIS 179 (Ky. 1867).

School officials are state officers. Hoskins v. Ramsey, 197 Ky. 465, 247 S.W. 371, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 663 (Ky. 1923); Commonwealth v. Louisville Nat'l Bank, 220 Ky. 89, 294 S.W. 815, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 478 (Ky. 1927); Fidelity & Deposit Co. v. Christian County Board of Education, 228 Ky. 362, 15 S.W.2d 287, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 572 (Ky. 1929); Commonwealth ex rel. Baxter v. LEXIS 428 (Ky. 1934); Board of Trustees v. Renfroe, 259 Ky. 644, 83 S.W.2d 27, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 370 (Ky. 1935); Polley v. Fortenberry, 268 Ky. 369, 105 S.W.2d 143, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 475 (Ky. 1937).

Offices of graded school board member and city trustee are incompatible. Middleton v. Middleton, 239 Ky. 759, 40 S.W.2d 311, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 847 (Ky. 1931).

Office of school board member is not incompatible with position of highway maintenance supervisor. Polley v. Fortenberry, 268 Ky. 369, 105 S.W.2d 143, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 475 (Ky. 1937).

The offices of assistant county school superintendent and teacher or principal of a county school in the same county are incompatible. Knuckles v. Board of Education, 272 Ky. 431, 114 S.W.2d 511, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 138 (Ky. 1938).

Where same person was appointed county superintendent of schools in two (2) counties, he could, before commencement of terms, resign one appointment; incompatibility of appointments would not be ground for rescinding either appointment before commencement of term. Chestnut v. Reynolds, 291 Ky. 231, 163 S.W.2d 456, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 201 (Ky. 1942).

Kentucky Revised Statute 164.130 (now repealed) as enacted by the Legislature permitted the Governor to make appointments to the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky. There was no limitation in that statute which prohibited the Governor from being a board member or from appointing himself; the Legislature made no exception to the qualified persons whom the Governor could appoint to the at large seats on the Board of Trustees. It would seem apparent that the General Assembly did not intend any such exception to be applicable to the Governor because the Legislature had enacted other statutes to prohibit certain office holders from holding a second office. Commonwealth v. Wilkinson, 828 S.W.2d 610, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 111 (Ky. 1992), overruled in part, Commonwealth ex rel. Conway v. Thompson, 300 S.W.3d 152, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 2009).

8. Hospital Board Membership.

A member of the hospital board was not a city or county officer or employee thereof within the meanings of this section, KRS 160.180(1)(d) (now (2)(f)), or Ky. Const., § 165. Commonwealth ex rel. Hancock v. Bowling, 562 S.W.2d 310, 1978 Ky. LEXIS 323 (Ky. 1978).

9. Withdrawal of Nomination Required.

Once a candidate has filed papers seeking nomination for public office, that candidate cannot then file papers seeking nomination or election to an incompatible office unless the candidate has first withdrawn his nomination in accordance with KRS 118.212. Klein v. Doll, 777 S.W.2d 602, 1989 Ky. App. LEXIS 164 (Ky. Ct. App. 1989).
