The automotive machine shop’s use of the term “engineering” in its corporate name did not violate this section, where there was no evidence that anyone had been given the impression that the shop was engaged in the profession of engineering, and there was no proof that anyone had come to the business seeking engineering services or that any complaints had been asserted by consumers. Kentucky State Bd. of Registration for Professional Engineers & Land Surveyors v. Performance Engineering, Inc., 758 S.W.2d 48, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 141 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

4. Limitations.

Factual issues as to whether any licensed engineer oversaw or delegated the allegedly negligent work of a non-engineer under KRS 322.020(1), 322.030 and whether the company held itself out as an engineering firm precluded summary judgment on the professional services statute of limitations under KRS 413.243, 413.245. ISP Chems. LLC v. Dutchland, Inc., 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 7675 (W.D. Ky. Jan. 25, 2011).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A county surveyor need not be licensed as a land surveyor pursuant to this chapter, as it is a constitutionally created office and licensing requirements applicable to other land surveyors are not applicable to the county surveyor in the absence of a constitutional provision to that effect and, as a license is not required, the legislature cannot impose such a requirement. OAG 73-763.

If a county surveyor engages in a private surveying project and he is not a licensed surveyor under this chapter, and he does not fall within any of the exceptions to this law under KRS 322.450, then he would be proceeding illegally. OAG 74-284.

This section is violated when a person or corporation which is performing engineering services described or defined in subdivisions (4) and (5) (now subdivisions (3) and (4)) of KRS 322.010 under a name which includes the term “engineering company” where neither the owner nor any other person connected with that particular business is licensed as a professional engineer. OAG 81-356.

It is not a violation of this section for a person or a corporation performing engineering services of the type described and defined in subdivisions (4) and (5) (now subdivisions (3) and (4)) of KRS 322.010 to use a business name which includes the phrase “engineering company” where the owner is engaged in the business, although not licensed as a professional engineer, and has licensed engineer associates or employees who are also engaged in the business on a substantially full-time basis; there is no violation if at least some members are licensed professional engineers and if the engineering services are performed by licensed professional engineers in their own names. OAG 81-356.

History.

73-1: amend. Acts 1960, ch. 218, § 2.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Purpose.
2. Contracts.

1. Purpose.

The purpose of this chapter is to safeguard life, health and property and to promote public welfare, and for that reason an unlicensed architect cannot enforce a contract for services as an architect. Board of Education v. Elliott, 276 Ky. 790, 125 S.W.2d 733, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 598 (Ky. 1939).

2. Contracts.

Where an act requiring a license to engage in an occupation is intended as a police measure, a contract without a license is void, but where the license is for revenue purposes, the contract is usually not void. Board of Education v. Elliott, 276 Ky. 790, 125 S.W.2d 733, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 598 (Ky. 1939).

(c) Any building classified by use group other than those listed under KRS 323.033 so long as the services or seal of an architect or engineer as applicable is not required for such other use group under the Uniform State Building Code pursuant to KRS 198B.050 or;

(d) Any structure not classified as a building by KRS 323.010(4).

(2) Provisions of this chapter shall not apply to:

(a) Any individual, partnership, or firm acting solely as a consultant to an architect licensed in the Commonwealth;

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The import of KRS 334.200(2) is that no so-called hearing center, hospital, etc., can employ a licensed hearing aid dealer solely for the purpose of engaging in the fitting or sale of hearing aids for profit; a licensed audiologist cannot sell or fit hearing aids, and his practice is limited by subsection (7) (now (6)) of this section, by which he can only make "hearing aid recommendations and evaluation." OAG 85-27.

To be eligible for Medicaid reimbursement for speech pathology services under federal regulations, a provider must either be or work under the direction of a speech pathologist. A speech pathologist under federal regulations must have American Speech and Hearing Association certification or its equivalent or have a master's degree in speech-language pathology and be in the process of acquiring the necessary work experience for such certification. The application of this standard to persons certified by the Education Professional Standards Board must be determined on a case-by-case basis. OAG 2008-04.

NOTES TO DECISIONS1. Deceptive Practices.

Private trade organization engaged in scheme of certifying people as “certified hearing aid audiologist” knew or should have known that customers would be deceived by use of this term in reference to people who had not met the statutory requirements for audiologist, and thus violated the Consumer Protection Act by the use of false, misleading and deceptive practices. National Hearing Aid Soc. v. Commonwealth, 551 S.W.2d 247, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 716 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Speech pathologists and audiologists employed at comprehensive care centers operated by the various regional mental health-mental retardation boards must be licensed pursuant to this section as they are not state employees entitled to exemption under KRS 334A.040(3)(b). OAG 74-384.

No person who applies for renewal, whose license has expired, shall be required to submit to any examination as a condition to renewal, if the renewal application is made within five (5) years from the date of expiration.

(2) A suspended license is subject to expiration and shall be renewed as provided in this chapter, but the renewal shall not entitle the licensee, while the license remains suspended and until it is reinstated, to engage in the licensed activity, or in any other activity or conduct in violation of the order of judgment by which the license was suspended. A license revoked on disciplinary grounds shall be subject to expiration as provided in this chapter, but it shall not be renewed. If it is reinstated after its expiration, the licensee, as a condition of reinstatement, shall pay a reinstatement fee in an amount equal to the renewal fee in effect on the last preceding regular renewal date before the date on which it is reinstated, plus the delinquency fee, if any, accrued at the time of its revocation.

Legislative Research Commission Notes.

(3/25/19). 2019 Ky. Acts ch. 67, sec. 1, amended KRS 95A.210 to add new subsections and to change the internal numbering of others. KRS 337.010(1) cites KRS 95A.210(5) and 95A.210(6). It is clear from the context that in this section KRS 95A.210(5) should have been changed to KRS 95A.210(8) to conform, and that KRS 95A.210(6) should have been changed to KRS 95A.210(9) to conform. These errors have been corrected in codification under the authority of KRS 7.136.

1. Public Authority.

Where the hospital on which renovation work was to be done, was owned by the county, was built on property owned by the county, and was run on a day-to-day basis by a nonprofit corporation whose board of directors was appointed by and served at the pleasure of the county fiscal court, the nonprofit corporation was merely an alter ego of the county fiscal court and therefore constituted a public authority which was required to pay the prevailing wage rates on the renovation project. Hardin Memorial Hospital, Inc. v. Land, 645 S.W.2d 711, 1983 Ky. App. LEXIS 277 (Ky. Ct. App. 1983).

2. Public Works.

Although a municipal water company was wholly owned by the city, its managing board was appointed by the mayor and elected officials of the city, and it paid no income taxes or property taxes and it furnished water to the city free of charge, the water company was not a “city” within the meaning of subdivision (3)(e) of this section; therefore, the water company was not exempt from paying the prevailing wage rates. Louisville Water Co. v. Wells, 664 S.W.2d 525, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 464 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

Where the jail construction moneys were not derived from any Commonwealth appropriation or Commonwealth trust or agency account, revenue generated by the sale of bonds by the Local Correctional Facilities construction Authority to construct detention facilities were not Commonwealth funds, thus eliminating the application of the prevailing wage law to the construction contract pursuant to subdivision (3)(e) of this section. Wells v. Kentucky Local Correctional Facilities Constr. Authority, 730 S.W.2d 951, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 499 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

3. Medical Director.

A medical director of a medical health plan was not excepted from recovery under KRS 337.385 because he was “employed in a bona fide executive, administrative, supervisory or professional capacity,” under subdivision (2) of this section because the context “required otherwise;” it is just as unlawful to fail to pay or to withhold a part of the salary of an executive, administrative, supervisory or professional employee as it would be to do so in the case of any other type of employee. Healthcare of Louisville v. Kiesel, 715 S.W.2d 246, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1214 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

4. Sovereign Immunity.

Where county employees alleged that the county violated the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 USCS § 201 et seq., and the Kentucky Wages and Hours Act, KRS ch. 337, their state law claims were barred by sovereign immunity, which was not waived by KRS 337.010(2)(a)(9). Crawford v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Gov’t, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2567 (E.D. Ky. Jan. 9, 2007).

5. Recoupment of Commissions.

Judgment ordering an employer to return recouped commissions to its employees was improper because, although the possibility that the commissions could later have been recouped under certain circumstances did not transform them into advances, the employees had agreed that the commissions would be debited if an account stopped paying within a 12 month period; the wages agreed upon included this charge back provision. Therefore, the recoupment was not of wages “agreed upon,” and did not violate KRS 337.060. AT&T Corp. v. Fowler, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 339 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 14, 2007, sub. op.), 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 209 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 14, 2007).

6. Preemption of Contract Claims.

In the absence of any Kentucky decision indicating that the Kentucky Wages and Hours Act, KRS 337.010 et seq., preempted contract claims, the court was reluctant to predict that such a significant restriction upon the common law of contract was in the offing. Dodd v. Dyke Indus., 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 34786 (W.D. Ky. Apr. 25, 2008).

7. Employees.

Defendant was entitled to partial summary judgment on plaintiffs’ claims for overtime wages under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C.S. § 207, and the Kentucky Wages and Hours Act (KWHHA), KRS 337.285(1), because plaintiffs were employed in a “bona fide administrative capacity,” and fell within the overtime wage exemption of 29 U.S.C.S. § 213(a)(1), and outside of the scope of “employee” under KRS 337.010(2)(a)(2). Because it appeared that the protections of KRS 337.385(1) and 337.055 might not apply to plaintiffs because they fell outside of the scope of “employee” as defined in the KWHHA, the court reserved ruling on plaintiffs’ claims for unpaid wages and liquidated damages under KRS 337.385(1) and 337.055 and requested briefing on the issue. Fox v. Lovas, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 27908 (W.D. Ky. Mar. 1, 2012).

Store managers were properly considered supervisors under KRS 337.010(2) and 803 Ky. Admin. Regs. 1:070 § 5 where they regularly and customarily set employees’ schedules, ensured that employees unloaded weekly truck shipments, directed at least four half-time employees, their most important duties were ensuring that the retail store ran smoothly and that company policies were followed, and they were relatively free from direct personal supervision. Barker v. Family Dollar, Inc., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 153331 (W.D. Ky. Oct. 25, 2012).

Trial court did not err in denying the employee’s motion for a directed verdict where there was conflicting testimony as to the qualifications and knowledge needed, and thus, the issue of whether he was a bona fide professional was properly before the jury. Hunziker v. AAPPTec, LLC, 603 S.W.3d 277, 2020 Ky. App. LEXIS 49 (Ky. Ct. App. 2020).

8. Payment of “Earned Bonuses.”

Employee’s wage payment claim was properly dismissed because the employer had paid the employees all monies owed to him as of the date his employment terminated, the employee’s claims for short-term and long-term incentive compensation and vacation and holiday pay failed, and because the employee’s temporary-living-expenses claim was connected to his relocation, not his continued employment, it did not fall within the meaning of “wages.” Vogel v. E.D. Bullard Co., 597 Fed. Appx. 817, 2014 FED App. 0949N, 2014 U.S. App. LEXIS 24665 (6th Cir. Ky. 2014).

9. Judicial estoppel.

Partial summary judgment was denied to two employers in several employees' claims under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C.S. § 201 et seq., and the Kentucky Wages and Hours Act, KRS 337.010 et seq., because a failure to identify the claims in bankruptcy filings did not mean that they were precluded by judicial estoppel. Two employees could not have been charged with having known of their claims at the time they filed for bankruptcy, and a third employee's swift amendment of his bankruptcy filings worked in his favor. Finney v. Free Enter. Sys., 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 33858 (W.D. Ky. Mar. 29, 2011).

10. Municipal Corporations.

Both cities and counties were subject to the wage and hour requirements of Kentucky law, including the pay that local firefighters received as part of an incentive to upgrade their training. Municipal corporations were included under that law and did not have immunity from it since the definition of "employer" found in KRS 337.010(1)(d) expressly included corporations and a municipal corporation was a corporation. Madison County Fiscal Court v. Ky. Labor Cabinet, 352 S.W.3d 572, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 114 (Ky. 2011).

Case was remanded because plaintiffs' state law claims were not preempted by § 301 of the Labor Management Relations Act of 1947 because their claims were based solely on rights created by state law under KRS 336.700(2), 337 and did not require substantial interpretation of the collective bargaining agreement. Defendants' removal was also procedurally defective because the removal was untimely under 28 U.S.C.S. § 1446(b), and defendants waived the right to removal by affirmatively seeking relief in state court. Hughes v. UPS Supply Chain Solutions, Inc., 815 F. Supp. 2d 993, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 112770 (W.D. Ky. 2011).

11. Employer.

Plain language of Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 337.010(1)(d) supported the employee's position that an LLC member was an employer for purposes of the Kentucky Wages and Hours Act, Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 337.010 et seq. A remand was warranted as the trial court did not consider the language of the statute, and a conflict with LLC law was not a valid reason to grant a directed verdict in favor of the LLC member. Hunziker v. AAPPTec, LLC, 603 S.W.3d 277, 2020 Ky. App. LEXIS 49 (Ky. Ct. App. 2020).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Employees.
2. Payment of "earned bonuses".
7. Employees.

1. Employees.

Unpublished decision: In a given case, an otherwise exempt employee can recover under KRS 337.385 notwithstanding the limitations stated in KRS 337.010 if the context requires otherwise, but there was no evidence of a unique context that warranted an exception from the statutory provisions in the case of a professional electrical engineer who, in performing his tasks as a corporate quality manager, used his engineering skills, his analytic skills and considerable independent judgment to succeed in his work. He supervised others and made employment decisions. Whitewood v. Robert Bosch Tool Corp., 323 Fed. Appx. 397, 2009 FED App. 0227N, 2009 U.S. App. LEXIS 6227 (6th Cir. Ky. 2009).

2. Payment of "earned bonuses".

Unpublished decision: Where plaintiff former employee sued defendant former employer alleging a failure to pay an earned bonus under KRS 337.055, while the term "wages" included "earned bonuses" within its definition under KRS 337.010(1)(c), because the bonus plan awarded bonuses if the company reached certain target levels of performance, which referred to the employer's performance during each fiscal year, and the employee had worked for only four months of the fiscal year, and the employer offered evidence that it did not award, and had never awarded, pro rata bonuses, summary judgment in favor of the employer was affirmed. Guagenti v. James N. Gray Co., 105 Fed. Appx. 717, 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 14350 (6th Cir. Ky. 2004).

7. Employees.

Unpublished decision: On an employee's claim that his employer violated Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 337.385 when it failed to pay him severance and benefits, the employee did not identify context and equities of his particular case which would overcome this statute's exclusion of individuals employed in a bona fide executive, administrative, supervisory, or professional capacity. Because the employee failed to show that the "context required otherwise," the district court did not err in granting the employer summary judgment on this claim. Hackney v. Lincoln Nat'l Fire Ins. Co., 657 Fed. Appx. 563, 2016 FED App. 0592N, 2016 U.S. App. LEXIS 19989 (6th Cir. Ky. 2016).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A water commission of a county would be governed by the terms of KRS Chapter 337. OAG 65-312.

Minimum wage and maximum hour provisions do not apply to county jail deputies. OAG 67-333.

If the federal government has not set a prevailing wage on a project, the Kentucky prevailing wage would apply. Common sense does not allow the conclusion that the General Assembly would establish these elaborate procedures and safeguards to insure a fair wage for laborers and mechanics and then disregard this idea simply because federal funds are involved. OAG 68-362.

Since the contract between the public authority and the contractor provides that if the Kentucky prevailing wage rate is higher than the federal government's, the Kentucky rate will be paid, and the Department of Labor is given the duty of administering and enforcing KRS 337.510 to 337.550 by the statute, the Department of Labor has jurisdiction to enforce a contract that agrees to adopt the provisions of KRS 337.510 to 337.550 rather than the lower federal prevailing rate. OAG 68-362.

Since they do not perform work which aids in enhancing or completing the actual construction of a project, night watchmen and guards employed by a contractor engaged in public works projects are not included under provisions of the prevailing wage law. OAG 73-429.

Since the federal basic minimum wage is higher than the state minimum wage under KRS 337.275, the federal law applies to state and local employees, but since the state law has a lower workweek before overtime provisions apply to state and local employees, including policemen, firemen, and security officers under KRS 337.285, the state law as to overtime is applicable and, pursuant to KRS 337.050, state and local employees who work seven (7) days in any one (1) work week must be paid time and a half for the seventh day. OAG 74-532.

The Kentucky Minimum Wage Law covers all state and local governmental agencies regardless of the number of employees as there is no exclusion in the law for governmental units employing less than a certain number of people. OAG 74-559.

This law does not apply to volunteer firemen as they are not considered employees. OAG 74-559.

If a fire chief is paid a salary and supervises no employee, he must be paid the state or federal minimum wage, whichever is higher, unless he meets the criteria of an executive, administrative, supervisory or professional category under subdivision (2)(c)(ii) (now subdivision (2)(a) 2.) of this section, in which case he would not have to be paid overtime. OAG 74-559.

If a city chief of police on 24-hour call seven (7) days a week and receiving $400 per month plus the use of a city apartment meets the definition of an executive, administrative, supervisory or professional employee under subdivision (2)(c)(ii) (now subdivision (2)(a)2.) of this section, he should be excluded from the Kentucky minimum wage law, and by implication from the overtime provisions, but if he does not meet the definition, then he must be paid minimum wages and be covered for overtime. OAG 74-602.

All automobile dealerships which do $95,000 gross annual sales, exclusive of excise taxes, are covered under the state minimum wage law. Automobile salesmen are excluded both from the state minimum wage and the overtime section of the law. Parts managers are covered by the minimum wage but are excluded from the overtime provisions, and mechanics are neither excluded from the minimum wage nor the overtime provisions and must be paid time and a half their regular rate of pay for all hours worked in excess of forty hours per workweek. OAG 74-777.

Tobacco workers employed not by farmers but by warehousemen and engaged in stripping, grading, buying, stemming, sorting, redrying, packing and storing tobacco are not "employed in agriculture" within the exemption provision of subdivision (2)(c)(i) (now subdivision (2)(a)2.) of this section and are entitled to the minimum wage and overtime provisions of KRS 337.275 and 337.285. OAG 75-55.

An election officer is not an "employee" pursuant to subdivision (2)(c) (now subdivision (2)(a)) of this section and therefore is not subject to KRS 337.275 which would require payment of a minimum wage. OAG 75-664.

Part-time deputy marshals of a city are entitled to the state minimum wage as there is no exclusion for part-time employees. OAG 75-692.

A police officer's hourly wage rate and what he receives through the city's participation in the K.L.E.F.P.F. program must both be included in the officer's total compensation in order to arrive at a rate upon which overtime compensation can be computed. OAG 76-361.

Although the Council of State Governments is exempt from taxes of Kentucky, the Council is not exempt from the Kentucky minimum wage law and employees who do not fall in exempt categories would be subject to Kentucky's minimum wage and overtime provisions. OAG 76-530.

The Elizabethtown Public Properties Holding Company, Inc. does not fall within the definition of public authority as that term is defined in subsection (3)(d) of this section and any construction performed under its jurisdiction is not required to meet the requirements of the prevailing wage law. OAG 76-638.

Housemothers and housefathers in dormitories or homes operated by an alternative residential program and owned by the local school board would not be exempt from state minimum and overtime wages as domestic servants or babysitters in the private home of the employer. OAG 77-782.

In order for the Preservation Alliance of Louisville and Jefferson County to be involved in prevailing wage work, it must act as an agency and instrumentality of the government and the construction must be of public building facilities; in the activity of restoring private homes to private individuals, there is no construction of public building facilities essential to the definition of "public authority." OAG 78-604.

A companion to a sick and elderly person need not be the employee of the sick and elderly person, but must actually live in the same domicile that the sick and elderly person resides in; merely staying 24 hours with that person will not constitute "living in." OAG 78-699.

If X company hires the babysitter, pays the wages and receives a fee from the homeowner (which is greater than the employee's wages), decides what hours the employee works, and how much he is paid, X company is the employer, and the employee does not babysit in the employer's home but in the home of the employer's client or customer, then the exclusion for babysitters does not apply; if X company is merely a broker, a properly licensed private employment agency who merely refers babysitters to employing homeowners, has no control over wages or hours worked, nor pays the employee, the exclusion can apply to the wages of the employee because there the employer is the householder. OAG 78-699.

In the case of a babysitter, the exclusion to the general requirement of payment of minimum wages or overtime pay is allowable only where the babysitter is employed in the home of the employer and if the employer is the supplying company and not the person for whom the babysitter sits, no exclusion is permitted. OAG 78-699.

There is no legal distinction under the wording of the statute between an individual third party who hires the companion to the sick or elderly or a corporation who furnishes such companion, even though the companion is the employee of the corporation, rather than an employee of the sick and elderly person. OAG 78-699.

The minimum wage law does not affect teachers and other certified school personnel since they are exempted as "professional" employees. OAG 79-337.

Where a prospective babysitter for handicapped children is placed in training by the council for retarded citizens before inclusion on the council's registry, that would constitute a student-teacher situation not an employment situation, and such a training period would not constitute employment subject to the state minimum wage law. OAG 80-196.

Where babysitting takes place in the babysitter's home rather than the employer's, the exclusion in subdivision (2)(a)(vii) (now subdivision (2)(a)7.) of this section does not apply; however, the babysitter becomes an independent contractor of a business and falls under the retail service situation so that as long as the babysitter does not have gross sales of $95,000 per year, the babysitter would not have to be paid the state minimum wage. OAG 80-196.

The term "employer" applied in KRS 337.060 includes all employers in Kentucky, as encompassed in this section rather than being limited to employers covered by state or federal minimum wage laws. OAG 81-14.

Police officers, including the chief of police, are considered employees under the wage and hour law, particularly subdivision (2)(a)(ii) (now subdivision (2)(a)2.) of this section; however, the fact that these officers are considered "employees" insofar as the wage and hour law is concerned does not mean that they are to be considered for all other purposes, municipal employees rather than officers. OAG 81-48.

Moneys paid to firemen under the Professional Fire Fighters Foundation Program Fund on a regular basis as incentive pay are "wages" under this section since it is an advantage agreed upon by the employee or employer as an established policy; accordingly, these moneys would be part of his regular base pay and utilized in determining the amount of his overtime pay when he works over 40 hours per week. OAG 81-260.

The manufacture of products by prisoners in a private production center on the prison grounds would not constitute public works or public construction within the meaning of subsection (3) of this section which would entitle the prisoners to the prevailing wage pursuant to KRS 337.505. OAG 81-411.

Deputy sheriffs are subject to time and a half for employment in excess of 40 hours. OAG 82-118.

This section does not exclude county employees. OAG 82-118.

Acts 1982, ch. 54, amending KRS 337.505, 337.520, 337.530, and this section, relating to prevailing wages, is applicable to construction projects carried on by the Kentucky Local Correctional Facilities Construction Authority. OAG 82-314.

The prevailing wage law in effect on the date of advertisement is the applicable law for that project and governmental entity. OAG 82-368.

Any attempt to avoid the prevailing wage provisions in building a facility (not a learning building) by simply including it in a learning building project, would violate the prevailing wage law. OAG 82-480.

By the plain language of subdivision (3)(e) of this section defining "public works," source of funds is not germane to the determination of whether buildings constructed as institutions of learning are exempt so long as the public works construction project is for a learning building. OAG 82-480.

Under the 1982 amendments of the definitions of "construction" and "public works," prevailing wages need not be paid on a public works construction project that will cost less than $250,000; with a public works construction project in the form of buildings to be used as institutions of learning, irrespective of costs and irrespective of source of funds utilized, prevailing wages need not be paid. With a public works construction project, other than for buildings to be used as institutions of learning, in an amount exceeding $250,000, prevailing wages need be paid only if 50 percent or more of the project is being financed with state funds. OAG 82-480.

Under the 1982 amendments to this section, "buildings constructed as institutions of learning" are excluded from the definition of "public works" with the result being that prevailing wages need not be paid in constructing such buildings; such buildings could include adjunct facilities when such adjunct facilities are all a part of the "learning building" project and are all a part of one (1) contract. The General Assembly did not intend that support facilities such as sewers, sewage disposal plants, access roads and the like necessary for the complete utilization of the learning buildings are to be treated differently than the learning building structure itself. OAG 82-480.

Since a county housing authority is a separate governmental entity and not part of a county itself, it is not exempted under subsection (3)(e) of this section and is required to pay the prevailing wage. Further, KRS 80.500 still requires the payment of minimum wages in contracts. OAG 82-560.

The jailer is the "employer" of the jail matron under subsection (1)(d) of this section, since he employs the "employees," who are the jail deputies, including the matron; county deputies to constitutional officers, including jailer deputies, are not listed in the exceptions to the definition of "employee," for purpose of the wages and hours law, provided under subsection (2)(a) of this section. OAG 82-625.

If a county jailer employs a matron who is of no relation to the jailer, he must carefully determine whether the time in excess of a 40 hour week is "actually necessary"; where the overtime is not shown to be actually necessary in the exercise of the deputy's or matron's public function, such overtime would not be valid against the "jail" budget or the general county budget. Where overtime is not shown to be in the "public good," this is equivalent to saying that the extra time is not necessary. OAG 82-625.

KRS 337.285, providing for time and a half for employment in excess of 40 hours, applies to the jailer as employer and the jail matron as an employee of the jailer; however, if the jail matron is the wife of the jailer, then under subdivision (2)(a)(vi) (now subdivision (2)(a) 6.) of this section, such a spouse of the employer would be exempt from the operation of KRS Chapter 337 since, under that subsection a spouse of the employer is expressly exempt. OAG 82-625.

The determination of whether overtime is actually necessary is a responsibility of the jailer and lies within his sound discretion. OAG 82-626.

The jailer should authorize work in excess of 40 hours (per week) only where necessary; where it is shown that a jailer is guilty of mismanagement in authorizing an "overtime situation," he would be personally liable, and liable on his bond for the payment of the overtime to the deputy or matron and the claim would not be payable from the jail fund or county treasury. Where the overtime is necessary, the claim for overtime must now be paid from the jail fund, or from the county treasury generally, where there are no jail budget funds to pay it. OAG 82-626.

A deputy jailer and matron are public officers, generally, as well as being employees under KRS Chapter 337. OAG 82-626.

Even prior to the effective date of Acts 1982, c. 385, the jailer was the "employer" and the deputy jailer was the "employee" under subsection (1)(d) and (e) of this section; the deputy jailer is not exempt from KRS Chapter 337, unless the deputy jailer (matron) was the wife, child or other member of the jailer's immediate family. OAG 82-626.

The term "state funds" as formerly used in subdivision (3)(e) of this section includes any funds which come from the state treasury even though the moneys may be earmarked by statute for a particular agency, state or county; if a local project has received a 50% or more contribution from the state treasury for construction of a prevailing wage project, the prevailing wage law is applicable. OAG 83-374.

Where employer initiated a pay system wherein all payroll checks are directly deposited in a local banking institution without the express permission of the involved employees and monthly service charges were assessed by the bank in the event the employee/depositor failed to maintain a certain minimum balance such plan would violate subdivision (1)(c) of this section, KRS 337.020, and 337.060 because the employee would be required to pay a fee to the bank should he wish to withdraw his entire balance as such withdrawal would give him less than the required minimum balance at the end of the month. The present plan was illegal, because the employee was not receiving his full pay, but must pay a charge to the bank in order to obtain his entire pay for the affected pay period. OAG 83-459.

County constitutional officers with deputies have the authority to authorize their deputies to work in excess of a 40-hour workweek, where it is reasonably necessary to carry out the statutory duties of the constitutional officer. OAG 84-183.

The actual determination of whether overtime work is necessary rests with the employer, i.e., the constitutional officer who appointed the deputy and who pays the deputy's salary out of the fees of his office. OAG 84-183.

The fiscal court has no authority to require its approval for overtime work of deputies of local constitutional officers where the deputy's salary is paid out of the sheriff's fees. OAG 84-183.

In the event that the salary of the deputy sheriff is paid out of the county treasury, the fiscal court would not become the "employer" under KRS Chapter 337, but it would have the authority to approve or disapprove of overtime payment of such deputy, where the overtime pay is to come out of the county treasury; the fiscal court, under its powers given in KRS 67.080, would have the authority, in passing on such expenditure from the county treasury, to use its sound judgment as to whether the overtime was lawfully authorized by the sheriff. The employer in this situation is the constitutional officer, i.e., the sheriff, who is the actual employer under subdivision (1)(d) of this section; the actual employer, as such, hires, fires, and directs the deputy in his statutory duties. OAG 84-183.

For purposes of the Prevailing Wage Law, the Lexington-Fayette Urban County Airport Board was not excluded or exempted from the payment of prevailing wages pursuant to subdivision (3)(e) of this section, because it was not a city, not a county, and not an urban county government. OAG 86-73.

In order to comply with Kentucky's prevailing wage laws, the estimated cost of a public construction project must be determined by the notification of the project's estimated cost submitted by the public authority to the Department of Workplace Standards. OAG 10-008, 2010 Ky. AG LEXIS 213.

EMPLOYMENT AND VOLUNTEER FIREFIGHTING

337.100. Volunteer firefighter, rescue squad member, emergency medical technician, peace officer, or emergency management agency member absent from employment due to emergency or injury incurred in the line of duty.

(1) No employer shall terminate an employee who is a volunteer firefighter, rescue squad member, emergency medical technician, peace officer, or a member of an emergency management agency because that employee, when acting as a volunteer firefighter, rescue squad member, emergency medical technician, peace officer, or a member of an emergency management agency, is absent or late to the employee's employment in order to respond to an emergency prior to the time the employee is to report to his or her place of employment.

(2) No employer shall terminate an employee who is a volunteer firefighter, rescue squad member, emergency medical technician, peace officer, or a member of an emergency management agency because that employee, when acting as a volunteer firefighter, rescue squad member, emergency medical technician, peace officer, or a member of an emergency management agency, takes leave following a critical incident pursuant to KRS 15.518 and 95A.292.

(3) An employer may charge any time that an employee who is a volunteer firefighter, rescue squad member, emergency medical technician, peace officer, or a member of an emergency management agency loses from employment because of the employee's response to an emergency against the employee's regular pay.

(4) An employer may request an employee who loses time from the employee's employment to respond to an emergency to provide the employer with a written statement from the supervisor or acting supervisor of the volunteer fire department, rescue squad, emergency medical services agency, law enforcement agency, or the director of the emergency management agency stating that the employee responded to an emergency and listing the time and date of the emergency.

(5) No employer shall terminate an employee who is a volunteer firefighter, rescue squad member, emergency medical technician, peace officer, or member of an emergency management agency who is absent for a period of no more than twelve (12) months from the employee's employment because of injuries incurred in the line of duty. The volunteer firefighter, rescue squad member, emergency medical technician, peace officer, or member of an emergency management agency shall provide, at the request of his or her employer:

(a) A written statement from the supervisor, acting supervisor, or director of the volunteer fire department, rescue squad, emergency medical services agency, law enforcement agency, or emergency management agency under whose command the employee was on active duty and on assignment with that fire department, rescue squad, emergency medical services agency, law enforcement agency, or emergency management agency when the injury occurred; and

(b) A written statement from at least one (1) licensed and practicing physician stating that the volunteer firefighter, rescue squad member, emergency medical technician, peace officer, or member of an emergency management agency is injured and a date for the employee's return to work.

(6) Any employee that is terminated in violation of the provisions of this section may bring a civil action against his or her employer. The employee may seek reinstatement to the employee's former position, payment of back wages, reinstatement of fringe benefits, and where seniority rights are granted, the reinstatement of seniority rights. In order to recover, the employee shall file this action within one (1) year of the date of the violation of this section.

WAGES AND HOURS

337.275. Minimum wage.

(1) Except as may otherwise be provided by this chapter, every employer shall pay to each of his employees wages at a rate of not less than five dollars and eighty-five cents ($5.85) an hour beginning on June 26, 2007, not less than six dollars and fifty-five cents ($6.55) an hour beginning July 1, 2008, and not less than seven dollars and twenty-five cents ($7.25) an hour beginning July 1, 2009. If the federal minimum hourly wage as prescribed by 29 U.S.C. sec. 206(a)(1) is increased in excess of the minimum hourly wage in effect under this subsection, the minimum hourly wage under this subsection shall be increased to the same amount, effective on the same date as the federal minimum hourly wage rate. If the state minimum hourly wage is increased to the federal minimum hourly rate prescribed in 29 U.S.C. sec. 206(a)(1) and shall not include other wage rates or conditions, exclusions, or exceptions to the federal minimum hourly wage rate. In addition, the increase to the federal minimum hourly wage rate does not extend or modify the scope or coverage of the minimum wage rate required under this chapter.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, for any employee engaged in an occupation in which he customarily and regularly receives more than thirty dollars ($30) per month in tips from patrons or others, the employer may pay as a minimum not less than the hourly wage rate required to be paid a tipped employee under the federal minimum hourly wage law as prescribed by 29 U.S.C. sec. 203. The employer shall establish by his records that for each week where credit is taken, when adding tips received to wages paid, not less than the minimum rate prescribed in 29 U.S.C. sec. 203 was received by the employee. No employer shall use all or part of any tips or gratuities received by employees toward the payment of the statutory minimum hourly wage as required by 29 U.S.C. sec. 203. Nothing, however, shall prevent employees from entering into an agreement to divide tips or gratuities among themselves.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Application.

1. Constitutionality.

The requirement under this section that municipalities pay their fire fighters a minimum wage did not per se constitute the exercise of absolute or arbitrary power over the municipalities in violation of Const., § 2. Kentucky Municipal League v. Commonwealth, 530 S.W.2d 198, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 48 (Ky. 1975).

2. Application.

Though the provision for minimum wages was invalid as to municipal employees who are engaged in work of purely local concern, under the theory of severability the provision remained applicable to fire fighters engaged in work of statewide concern. Kentucky Municipal League v. Commonwealth, 530 S.W.2d 198, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 48 (Ky. 1975).

Former employers' motion for reconsideration of court's class certification decision on former employees' wage and hour claims was denied because (1) court thoroughly addressed class certification requirements in original memorandum opinion and order and would not revisit those decisions; (2) if employees proved employers' liability, they would be able to demonstrate that their damages stemmed from employers' actions that created legal liability; (3) presence of individualized damages could not defeat class certification; and (4) evidence demonstrated that class certification was superior method to adjudicate case fairly and efficiently. Whitlock v. FSL Mgmt., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 148747 (W.D. Ky. Oct. 16, 2013).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Since the federal basic minimum wage is higher than state minimum wage under this section, the federal law applies to state and local employees, but since the state law has a lower workweek before overtime provisions apply to state and local employees, including policemen, firemen and security officers under KRS 337.285, the state law as to overtime is applicable and, pursuant to KRS 337.050, state and local employees who work seven days (7) in any one (1) workweek must be paid time and a half for the seventh day. OAG 74-532.

The Kentucky minimum wage law merely sets the minimum wage for the first 40 hours of work per week and does not preclude an employer from employing his employees beyond 40 hours per week or eight hours per day. OAG 74-593.

If a city chief of police on 24-hour call seven (7) days a week and receiving $400 per month plus the use of a city apartment meets the definition of an executive, administrative, supervisory or professional employee, he should be excluded from the Kentucky minimum wage law, and by implication from the overtime provisions, but if he does not meet the definition, then he must be paid minimum wages and be covered for overtime. OAG 74-602.

Based upon the Department of Labor's regulations LAB-7, 8 and 13, regular recurring compensation such as hazardous duty pay, specialist pay, regular incentive pay and educational allowances are includable in determining a policeman's base hourly rate, but not court pay which is not regularly paid and comes within the exclusions of section 2(5) of LAB-13. OAG 74-629.

The Kentucky minimum wage law, which has been found constitutional, uses the Department of Labor's regulation

LAB-7, § 8 in computing the hourly rate of various municipal employees who had previously been paid on a monthly basis by multiplying the monthly salary by 12 to get the yearly salary, dividing by 52 to get the weekly salary, dividing by the number of hours worked per week to give the base rate per hour for the first 40 hours, and then multiplying by 1½ for all hours worked over 40. OAG 74-906.

Tobacco workers employed not by farmers but by warehousemen and engaged in stripping, grading, buying, stemming, sorting, redrying, packing and storing tobacco are not "employed in agriculture" within the exemption provision of KRS 337.010 and are entitled to the minimum wage and overtime provisions of this section and KRS 337.285. OAG 75-55.

As an election officer is not an "employee" pursuant to KRS 337.010(2)(c) (now KRS 337.010 (2)(a)), he is not covered by this section. OAG 75-664.

The state minimum wage law does not exempt part-time or seasonal employees from its orbit. OAG 76-377.

The Kentucky Department of Labor has the authority to enforce the Kentucky minimum wage and overtime provisions, this section and KRS 337.285, as to trucking companies employing "over the road" truck drivers who are engaged in interstate commerce. OAG 76-572.

The state minimum wage law does not exclude part-time or seasonal city employees from coverage under its terms. OAG 82-183.

While members of the city auxiliary police force must be paid at least the state minimum wage rate for those hours actually worked, even though they are part-time employees, they are not entitled to pay for that portion of time spent "on call" as opposed to hours actually worked. OAG 82-183.

The state minimum wage statute, this section, as amended in 1982, applies to the jailer deputy and matron. OAG 82-626.

(5) Any employer who violates the provisions of KRS 337.065 shall be assessed a civil penalty of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each offense and shall make full payment to the employee by reason of the violation.

(6) Any person who fails to comply with KRS 337.070 shall be assessed a civil penalty of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each offense and each day that the failure continues shall be deemed a separate offense.

(7) Any employer who violates any provision of KRS 337.275 to 337.325, KRS 337.345, and KRS 337.385 to 337.405, or willfully hinders or delays the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized representative in the performance of his or her duties under KRS 337.295, or fails to keep and preserve any records as required under KRS 337.320 and 337.325, or falsifies any record, or refuses to make any record or transcription thereof accessible to the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized representative shall be assessed a civil penalty of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000). A civil penalty of not less than one thousand dollars ($1,000) shall be assessed for any subsequent violation of KRS 337.285(4) to (9) and each day the employer violates KRS 337.285(4) to (9) shall constitute a separate offense and penalty.

(8) Any employer who pays or agrees to pay wages at a rate less than the rate applicable under KRS 337.275 and 337.285, or any wage order issued pursuant thereto shall be assessed a civil penalty of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000).

(9) Any employer who discharges or in any other manner discriminates against any employee because the employee has made any complaint to his or her employer, to the commissioner, or to the commissioner's authorized representative that he or she has not been paid wages in accordance with KRS 337.275 and 337.285 or regulations issued thereunder, or because the employee has caused to be instituted or is about to cause to be instituted any proceeding under or related to KRS 337.385, or because the employee has testified or is about to testify in any such proceeding, shall be deemed in violation of KRS 337.275 to 337.325, KRS 337.345, and KRS 337.385 to 337.405 and shall be assessed a civil penalty of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000).

(10) Any employer who violates KRS 337.365 shall be assessed a civil penalty of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000).

(11) A person shall be assessed a civil penalty of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) when that person discharges or in any other manner discriminates against an employee because the employee has:

- (a) Made any complaint to his or her employer, the commissioner, or any other person; or
- (b) Instituted, or caused to be instituted, any proceeding under or related to KRS 337.420 to 337.433; or

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Employee’s Right of Action.
2. Wages Wrongfully Withheld.

1. Employee’s Right of Action.

Employee could assert a retaliatory termination claim for being discharged for complaining the employee was unlawfully denied overtime pay because (1) the employee was among the class of persons protected by the Kentucky Wage and Hour Act, and (2) Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 337.990(9) did not provide the employee with a civil remedy. Williams v. King Bee Delivery, LLC, 199 F. Supp. 3d 1175, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 104001 (E.D. Ky. 2016), dismissed, 2017 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 36195 (E.D. Ky. Mar. 14, 2017).

2. Wages Wrongfully Withheld.

Circuit court correctly determined there was no basis for setting aside the Cabinet’s order that the employer wrongfully withheld wages belonging to a former employee where the employer had no policy beyond the requirement of submitting a timesheet that required the employee to prove the number of hours he worked while out of the office, the employee verified the timesheets’ accuracy, the employer approved them, and they showed the employee was owed outstanding wages representing 58 hours of annual leave. Vogt Power Int’l, Inc. v. Labor Dep’t of Workplace Stds., 588 S.W.3d 169, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 186 (Ky. Ct. App. 2019).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

It was the clear intent of the legislature under KRS 337.020 to require firms, individuals, and partnerships as well as corporations to pay employees at least as frequently as semi-monthly and, under subsection (1) of this section, to penalize those who fail to comply. OAG 70-830.

Where the primary factor in the failure to pay pursuant to the prevailing wage rate provisions for a public works project was the fiscal court’s failure to observe the mandatory requirements of KRS 337.510 and 337.512 in that the fiscal court failed to obtain the prevailing wage rate schedules and to incorporate them into the bid specifications and the contract, the fiscal court was not only responsible for making sufficient payments to the contractors and their employees to comply with the applicable prevailing wage provisions, but the fiscal court and its members faced a potential liability for damages, injury or loss sustained by any person as a result of their negligence in failing to comply with the requirements of KRS 337.505 to 337.550. OAG 80-547.

(1) “Gainful occupation” does not include employment in farm work or in domestic service in a private home, nor occasional employment by a householder in connection with the household and not in connection with the householder’s business or occupation, such as grass cutting or carrying ashes or similar casual domestic tasks, nor the delivery of newspapers on regularly scheduled routes, nor to employment as an actor or performer in motion pictures or theatrical productions, or in radio or television productions, nor to employment of minors by their own parents or persons standing in the place of a parent in occupations other than manufacturing, mining, or those found by the commissioner of the Department of Workplace Standards to be particularly hazardous; and

(b) An adult representing the youth athletic program is on the premises where the athletic event is occurring; and

(c) The minor has on file with the person responsible for assigning the minor to officiate for the youth athletic program the original or a copy of a written consent to the child's employment as a referee, umpire, or official signed by the minor's parent or guardian.

1. Special Protection of Minors.

The Constitution, statute and case law of this state reflect a policy of special protection of minors from injury. Pike v. George, 434 S.W.2d 626, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 235 (Ky. 1968).

If a golf club specifically employs caddies, provides specific space for their congregation on the premises of the club, regulates caddies' hours of being on the premises, such as requiring them to attend at specific times, or engages in any activity which indicates such control over the caddie as to create a relationship of employment, even though the club does not directly pay the caddie, such caddie must not be below 14 years of age. However, if the club does not exercise any control over such persons and they come on the course as guests of members or golfers so as to demonstrate that no relationship of employment exists between the club and the caddies, the club would not be in violation of this section. A minor who has passed his or her fourteenth birthday but is under eighteen (18) years of age may be employed, permitted, or suffered to work in, about, or in connection with any gainful occupation, except:

(1) If he or she is under sixteen (16) years of age, he or she may not be employed during regular school hours, unless:

(a) The school authorities have made arrangements for him or her to attend school at other than the regular hours, in which event he or she may be employed subject to regulations of the commissioner of workplace standards during such of the regular school hours as he or she is not required to be in attendance under the arrangement; or

(b) He or she has graduated from high school.

(2) A minor who has passed his or her fourteenth birthday but is under eighteen (18) years of age, may not be employed, permitted, or suffered to work:

(a) In any place of employment or at any occupation, that the commissioner of workplace standards shall determine to be hazardous or injurious to the life, health, safety, or welfare of such minor unless:

1. The minor is at least sixteen (16) years of age;

2. The minor is employed by his or her parent or a person standing in place of a parent and works under adult supervision; and

3. The minor is engaged in nonhazardous aspects of the electrical trades, including but not limited to activities such as pulling wire, setting boxes, or bending conduit;

(b) More than the number of days per week, nor more than the number of hours per day that the commissioner of workplace standards shall determine to be injurious to the life, health, safety, or welfare of such minor. The commissioner of workplace standards in promulgating these regulations may make them more restrictive than those promulgated by the United States Secretary of Labor under provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act and its amendments, but in no event may he or she make them less restrictive;

(c) During the hours of the day that the commissioner of workplace standards shall determine to be injurious to the life, health, safety, or welfare of such minor. The commissioner of workplace standards in promulgating these regulations may make them more restrictive than those promulgated by the United States Secretary of Labor under provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act and its amendments but in no event may he or she make them less restrictive; and

(d) In, about, or in connection with any establishment where alcoholic liquors are distilled, rectified, compounded, brewed, manufactured, bottled, sold for consumption, or dispensed unless permitted by the rules and regulations of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board (except that he or she may be employed in places where the sale of alcoholic beverages by the package is merely incidental to the main business actually conducted); or in a pool or billiard room.

(3) The commissioner of workplace standards shall promulgate regulations to properly protect the life, health, safety, or welfare of minors. He or she may consider sex, age, premises of employment, substances to be worked with, machinery to be operated, number of hours, hours of the day, nature of the employment, and other pertinent factors. The commissioner of workplace standards in promulgating these regulations may make them more restrictive than those promulgated by the United States Secretary of Labor under provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act and its amendments but in no event may he or she make them less restrictive, provided, however, these regulations shall have no effect on the definition of "gainful occupation" under KRS 339.210. To advise the commissioner with respect to the regulations, the Governor shall appoint a committee of four (4) persons which shall consist of a representative from the Cabinet for Health and Family Services, the Department of Education, the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights and the Personnel Cabinet. The regulations promulgated in accordance with this section shall be reviewed by such committee whenever deemed necessary by the commissioner of workplace standards.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A minor 18 or 19 years of age may be lawfully employed in a business establishment holding a restaurant license and a license for the sale of alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises, provided, however, that the duties of such employee must be strictly confined to operation of the restaurant and no duties shall be performed by such an employee in connection with the handling, sale or serving of alcoholic beverages in such an establishment. OAG 62-172.

Substantially all the operations of a county rescue squad composed of volunteers who assist in cases involving drownings, lost children, fires or any other type of emergency would be hazardous and the employment of anyone under age 18 would be proscribed. OAG 69-41.

Every employer who continues to employ a minor in violation of KRS 339.210 to 339.450 after he has been notified by the Department of Workplace Standards, its officers or agents, shall be assessed a civil penalty, in accordance with the provisions of KRS 336.985, of one hundred dollars ($100) for each day the violation continues and the employment of any minor in violation of KRS 339.210 to 339.450 shall with respect to each minor so employed constitute a separate and distinct offense.

CHAPTER 342

WORKERS' COMPENSATION

Section

342.340. Employer to insure or provide security against liability to workers.

342.630. Coverage of employers.

342.640. Coverage of employees.

Penalties.

342.990. Penalties — Restitution.

342.340. Employer to insure or provide security against liability to workers.

(1) Every employer under this chapter shall:

(a) Insure and keep insured its liability for compensation in some corporation, association, or organization authorized to transact the business of workers' compensation insurance in this state; or

(b) Furnish to the commissioner satisfactory proof of its financial ability to pay directly the compensation in the amount and manner and when due as provided in this chapter. In this case, the commissioner shall require the deposit of an acceptable security, indemnity, or bond to secure, to the extent the commissioner directs, the payment of compensation liabilities as they are incurred. A public sector self-insured employer shall not be required to deposit funds as security, indemnity, or bond to secure the payment of liabilities under this chapter, if the public employer has authority to raise taxes, notwithstanding provisions of KRS 68.245, 132.023, 132.027, and 160.470 relating to recall and reconsideration of local taxes; raise tuition; issue bonds; raise fees or fares for services provided; or has other authority to generate funds for its operation.

(2) Every employer subject to this chapter shall file, or have filed on its behalf, with the department, as often as may be necessary, evidence of its compliance with the provisions of this section and all others relating hereto. Any insurance carrier or self-insured group providing workers' compensation insurance coverage for a Kentucky location shall file on behalf of the employer, with the commissioner, evidence of the employer's compliance with this chapter. Evidence of compliance filed with the department may include a named additional insured who has been provided proof of workers' compensation insurance coverage by the employer. The filing shall be made within ten (10) days after the issuance of a policy, endorsement to a policy, or similar documentation of coverage. Every employer who has complied with the foregoing provision and has subsequently canceled its insurance or its membership in an approved self-insured group, as the case may be, shall immediately notify, or have notice given on its behalf to the department of the cancellation, the date, and the reasons; and every insurance carrier or self-insured group shall in like manner notify the commissioner upon the cancellation, lapse, termination, expiration by reason of termination of policy period, or nonrenewal of any policy issued by it or termination of any membership agreement, whichever is applicable under the provisions of this chapter, except that the carrier or self-insured group need not set forth its reasons unless requested by the commissioner. The above filings are to be made on the forms prescribed by the commissioner. Termination of any policy of insurance issued under the provisions of this chapter shall take effect no greater than ten (10) days prior to the receipt of the notification by the commissioner unless the employer has obtained other insurance and the commissioner is notified of that fact by the insurer assuming the risk. Upon determination that any employer under this chapter has failed to comply with these provisions, the commissioner shall promptly notify interested government agencies of this failure and, with particular reference to employers engaged in coal mining, the commissioner shall promptly report any failures to the Department for Natural Resources so that appropriate action may be undertaken pursuant to KRS 351.175.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. In General.
2. Coverage.
3. Applicability of KRS 342.760.
4. Notice of Cancellation.

1. In General.

While the words “secure payment of compensation as provided by this chapter” appearing in KRS 342.760 and 342.690 obviously refer to the providing of insurance or security as required by KRS 342.340, the obligation to so provide is not conditioned on any election by an employer but is automatically imposed on all employers mandatorily made subject to the act by this section, and accordingly, if a subject employer simply ignores the act, in every respect he fails to secure the payment of compensation the same as an employer who has publicly proclaimed his intent to be under the act but who has not provided insurance or security. Davis v. Turner, 519 S.W.2d 820, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 178 (Ky. 1975).

KRS 342.340(1), 342.365, and 342.375 require employers to be fully covered by their insurance carriers to ensure adequate compensation for employees and to prevent employers' funds from depletion before adequate compensation is recovered. AIG/AIU Ins. Co. v. S. Akers Mining Co., 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 338 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 24, 2004), aff'd, 192 S.W.3d 687, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 8 (Ky. 2006).

Employer's workers' compensation insurance carrier was liable for any increase in benefits under KRS 342.165(1) despite a contractual term to the contrary since the legislature has determined that an employer's entire liability for benefits must be secured as a matter of public policy under KRS 342.340, 342.365, and 342.375. AIG/AIU Ins. Co. v. South Akers Mining Co., LLC, 192 S.W.3d 687, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 8 (Ky. 2006).

2. Coverage.

Where employer had executed forms required under this section for accepting provisions of the compensation law and insuring his liability thereunder and had lodged them with his insurance carrier with the express understanding that it would file same with compensation board but insurer negligently failed to do so, insurer was estopped to claim that employer was not operating under the law because, at time of employee's death, such forms had not been filed. Ramey v. Broady, 209 Ky. 279, 272 S.W. 740, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 482 (Ky. 1925).

A policy of insurance taken out by employer under this section to cover his liability for compensation to employees, listing his business as that of “junk dealer,” did not cover claims of employees injured in wrecking a building. Kelly v. Nussbaum, 218 Ky. 330, 291 S.W. 754, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 120 (Ky. 1926).

Utility presented sufficient evidence to establish it secured workers' compensation coverage under this section. The utility presented the trial court with a certificate of compliance from the Department of Workers' Claims certifying compliance with this section and a copy of its insurance policy. Louisville Gas & Elec. Co. v. Galvan, 2020 Ky. App. LEXIS 115 (Ky. Ct. App. Oct. 16, 2020), vacated, 2021 Ky. LEXIS 260 (Ky. Aug. 18, 2021), review denied, ordered not published, 2021 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 541 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 10, 2021).

3. Applicability of KRS 342.760.

KRS 342.760 does not apply when an employer has satisfied this section by providing a workers' compensation insurance policy or by being certified by the board as a qualified, self-insured employer. Whitehead v. Davis, 692 S.W.2d 801, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 242 (Ky. 1985).

4. Notice of Cancellation.

Workers' compensation insurance policy, which lapsed by its own terms prior to the date of the worker's injury, was still in full force and effect on the date of the injury because insurer failed to comply with its duty to provide notice of cancellation as required by subsection (2) of this section. Travelers Ins. Co. v. Duvall, 884 S.W.2d 665, 1994 Ky. LEXIS 96 (Ky. 1994).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Coverage.

Unpublished decision: Manufacturing company could not simply invoke the exclusivity provision of the workers' compensation statute by obtaining workers' compensation coverage; rather, it could only invoke the exclusivity provision if the workers of the contractor were performing the kind of work that was a regular or recurrent part of the work of the manufacturing company and since the evidence did not show that to be the case, the trial court erred in granting summary judgment to the manufacturing company on the workers' and spouses' premises liability claims against the manufacturing company based on asbestos-related illnesses the workers incurred while performing various jobs for various contractors at the manufacturing company's park. Cain v. GE, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 325 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 19, 2003), aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 236 S.W.3d 579, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 173 (Ky. 2007).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Where an employer who has elected to operate under the Worker's Compensation Act fails to keep insured as provided by this section, the Worker's Compensation Board has authority to terminate his election and such termination should be reported to the Commissioner of the Department of Labor. OAG 69-306.

The formerly semiannual filing with the Worker's Compensation Board of proof of insurance form 14 is mandatory since subsection (2) of this section uses the word "shall," and under KRS Chapter 446, construction of statutes, particularly KRS 446.010(24) (now (36)), "shall" is mandatory and therefore until the legislature qualifies subsection (2), any proposal to modify the reporting form by eliminating the semiannual filing would be illegal. OAG 73-258.

Where company failed to comply with this section from July 6, 1986, to January 15, 1993, claims made against it for that period may be payable through the Uninsured Employers' Fund. OAG 93-18.

342.630. Coverage of employers.

The following shall constitute employers mandatorily subject to, and required to comply with, the provisions of this chapter:

(1) Any person, other than one engaged solely in agriculture, that has in this state one (1) or more employees subject to this chapter.

(2) The state, any agency thereof, and each county, city of any class, school district, sewer district, drainage district, tax district, public or quasipublic corporation, or any other political subdivision or political entity of the state that has one (1) or more employees subject to this chapter.

Analysis

1. In General.
2. Constitutionality.
3. Contractor.
4. Agriculture.
5. Quantity of Business.
6. State Agency.
7. Nonresident Employer.
8. Governmental Entities.

1. In General.

The effect of this section is to subject all employers, except for employers of exempt employees, to the Workers' Compensation Law with no option of election not to come under the law. Davis v. Turner, 519 S.W.2d 820, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 178 (Ky. 1975).

While the words "secure payment of compensation as provided by this chapter" appearing in KRS 342.760 and 342.690 obviously refer to the providing of insurance or security as required by KRS 342.340, the obligation to so provide is not conditioned on any election by an employer but is automatically imposed on all employers mandatorily made subject to the act by this section, and accordingly, if a subject employer simply ignores the act, in every respect he fails to secure the payment of compensation the same as an employer who has publicly proclaimed his intent to be under the act but who has not provided insurance or security. Davis v. Turner, 519 S.W.2d 820, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 178 (Ky. 1975).

2. Constitutionality.

The agriculture exclusion contained in the Workers' Compensation Act is not violative of the equal protection clauses of the state and federal constitutions because of discriminatory classification of workers. Fitzpatrick v. Crestfield Farm, Inc., 582 S.W.2d 44, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 678 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

3. Contractor.

A contractor which had no immediate employees was not an employer under this section. Mills v. Arthur Constr. Co., 559 S.W.2d 742, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 873 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

Where a contractor had taught an assistant the electric wiring trade by instructing him on the job, the contractor procured the home improvement jobs, he only decided whether he needed aid after he had begun an electrical project, the contractor determined whether the assistant worked at all, and the assistant served as a helper to the contractor and followed his instructions, no other inference can be drawn than that the assistant was an employee. Wright v. Fardo, 587 S.W.2d 269, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 467 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

City was not liable as a contractor under KRS 342.610(2); KRS 342.630 considers persons and governmental entities to be separate classes of employers subject to KRS Chapter 342, and although KRS 342.630 requires both classes to provide workers' compensation coverage to direct employees, KRS 342.610(2) considers only persons to be contractors subject to up-the-ladder liability. Uninsured Employers' Fund v. City of Salyersville, 260 S.W.3d 773, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 148 (Ky. 2008).

4. Agriculture.

For the courts to declare that boarding horses is covered by the act would impose an unexpected hardship, primarily upon persons operating smaller farms, who have had no legislative notice nor opportunity to obtain insurance coverage. Fitzpatrick v. Crestfield Farm, Inc., 582 S.W.2d 44, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 678 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

In order to qualify for the so-called agricultural exemption, provided for in subdivision (1) of this section, a person must be engaged solely in agriculture and not merely engaged principally in agriculture. Fitzpatrick v. Crestfield Farm, Inc., 582 S.W.2d 44, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 678 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

Operator of farm on which tobacco, hay, cattle and thoroughbred yearlings were raised but on which 73 percent of the gross receipts came from boarding mares owned by others was excluded from the operation of the Workers' Compensation Law since such operation was agriculture. Fitzpatrick v. Crestfield Farm, Inc., 582 S.W.2d 44, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 678 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

The mere fact that a farm owner runs a farm operation caring for the horses of others for compensation does not convert an agricultural enterprise into an industrial one for the purposes of this section. Fitzpatrick v. Crestfield Farm,

Inc., 582 S.W.2d 44, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 678 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

The usual practice of animal husbandry is included within the general term "agriculture." Fitzpatrick v. Crestfield Farm, Inc., 582 S.W.2d 44, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 678 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

Because sale of quail to hunting preserves to be hunted was an agricultural use under 342.0011(18), quail farm which sold the birds was entitled to the agricultural exemption of subsection (1) of this section and 342.650(5); case involving worker injured at farm was remanded back to Workers' Compensation Board with directions to dismiss. Stidham v. Duncan, 931 S.W.2d 463, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 140 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996).

Injured employee was covered by the Kentucky Workers' Compensation Act because the work the employee was performing was logging, which was not "agriculture" as that term was defined by KRS 342.0011(18). Although the work occurred on the employer's farm, the logging was not connected to the day to day operations of the farm itself as the cut timber was commercially sold by the employer for profit. Commonwealth v. Gussler, 278 S.W.3d 153, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 251 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

5. Quantity of Business.

There is no judicial exception to coverage of workers' compensation brought on by the infrequency of the employer's business or by the difficulty of obtaining workers' compensation insurance at a rate profitable to the business. Wright v. Fardo, 587 S.W.2d 269, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 467 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

6. State Agency.

Where claimant worked twenty hours per week at a state training facility as part of the federally-funded "Foster Grandparents" program, where she performed tasks in keeping with the goal of the facility and was paid at an hourly rate, and where the program was administered by an employee of the Department (now Cabinet) of Human Resources, which is a state agency, such claimant was an "employee" entitled to receive the benefits for work-related injuries provided by the Workers' Compensation Act. Sears v. Oakwood Training Facility Dep't of Human Resources, 623 S.W.2d 232, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 436 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

7. Nonresident Employer.

Out-of-state employers, insured or uninsured, are not exempted from coverage of the Workers' Compensation Act; therefore, a nonresident employee of a nonresident, uninsured employer is covered by this state's Workers' Compensation Act when the employee sustains an injury by virtue of the employment in this state, and such nonresident is entitled to benefits from the uninsured employers' fund. Bryant v. Jericol Mining, Inc., 758 S.W.2d 45, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 90 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

8. Governmental Entities.

KRS 342.0011(16), did not include governmental entities within the definition of a "person" because KRS 342.630 made it clear that the legislature intended not to include governmental entities within the term "person;" KRS 342.630 considers persons and governmental entities to be separate classes of employers subject to KRS Chapter 342. Davis v. Hensley, 256 S.W.3d 16, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 149 (Ky. 2008).

County officials had no immunity as to an employee's claim of termination for filing a workers' compensation claim because (1) Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 342.197(1) waived immunity as a matter of law, (2) the employee was a covered employee, (3) the county was a covered employer required to comply with applicable statutes, and (4) the Kentucky General Assembly broadly intended for there to be no distinction between government and private employees. Fields v. Benningfield, 2018

Ky. App. LEXIS 83 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 16, 2018), rev'd in part, aff'd, 584 S.W.3d 731, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 371 (Ky. 2019).

Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 342.197 implicitly waived immunity for a county fiscal court, a county jailer in his official capacity, and another jailer in his official capacity because only the county fiscal court qualified as a deputy jailer's employer; the county jailer and the other jailer were entitled to the same immunity, to the extent they were sued in their official capacities, and the waiver, therefore, applied to them as well. Benningfield v. Fields, 584 S.W.3d 731, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 371 (Ky. 2019).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Any employer, including a governmental unit, may become a self-insurer provided the employer shall present satisfactory proof of its solvency and ability to pay claims. OAG 72-810.

Local officials considered to be in the service of the state for purposes of workers' compensation coverage include: (1) property valuation administrators, (2) Circuit Court clerks and their deputies, (3) Circuit judges, (4) Commonwealth attorney, (5) master commissioners and receivers, and (6) sheriff, jailer and county court clerk in counties of 75,000 or more. OAG 72-830.

The office of county judge (now county judge/executive), magistrate, county commissioner, county clerk, jailer, and sheriff are the responsibility of the county for workers' compensation except for sheriffs, jailers and county court clerks in counties having a population of 75,000 or more. OAG 72-830.

The state is required to pay awards or judgments in favor of state employees regardless of whether the state carries insurance or whether it acts as a self-insurer. OAG 73-28.

The Workers' Compensation Act does not exempt a religious organization from being an employer, if it has at least one covered employee, so that a church that pays a minister, a janitor or any other person who is employed by the religious or charitable organization would be required to cover such personnel under the Workers' Compensation Act. OAG 73-73.

Pursuant to this section and KRS 342.640, the coverages of employer and employee of governmental entities are rather all-encompassing so that the Kentucky State Bar Association should be considered a state agency and the executive director and other employees are covered under the Workers' Compensation Act. OAG 73-304.

All officers and employees of Beechwood Village, whether part or full-time, whether elected or appointed, whether paid or volunteer, are required to be covered under the Workers' Compensation Law and if they are injured in the scope of their employment and do not have coverage, the employer's insurance fund would be responsible for the payment and it could then recover against the employer. OAG 73-511.

The fiscal court of a county is mandatorily required to provide workers' compensation insurance to cover the sheriff's deputies who have been lawfully appointed and salaried. OAG 76-694.

A city is mandatorily required to have workers' compensation for all of its officers and employees whether they are paid by the city or not and the basis for determining their compensation would be the average weekly wage in their regular employment as set out in KRS 342.140. OAG 77-642.

A riverport authority organized and existing pursuant to KRS 65.510 to 65.650 is a covered employer under this section and mandatorily subject to the requirements of the Kentucky Workers' Compensation Act and under 33 USCS § 903(a) (2) not subject to the provisions of the Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act when its specific though limited powers of government as a body politic and an auton-mous public corporation acting pursuant to clearly defined public purposes are considered. OAG 79-277.

A constable would be considered to be in the service of the county for purposes of workers' compensation coverage. OAG 82-628.

A county or fiscal court is required to carry insurance on constables where expressly required to do so by statute, for example, to carry workers' compensation coverage for constables under this section, 342.640(3), and 64.530(2). OAG 95-11.

342.640. Coverage of employees.

The following shall constitute employees subject to the provisions of this chapter, except as exempted under KRS 342.650:

(1) Every person, including a minor, whether lawfully or unlawfully employed, in the service of an employer under any contract of hire or apprenticeship, express or implied, and all helpers and assistants of employees, whether paid by the employer or employee, if employed with the knowledge, actual or constructive, of the employer;

(2) Every executive officer of a corporation;

(3) Every person in the service of the state or any of its political subdivisions or agencies, or of any county, city of any class, school district, drainage district, tax district, public or quasipublic corporation, or other political entity, under any contract of hire, express or implied, and every official or officer of those entities, whether elected or appointed, while performing his official duties shall be considered an employee of the state. Every person who is a member of a volunteer ambulance service, fire, or police department shall be deemed, for the purposes of this chapter, to be in the employment of the political subdivision of the state where the department is organized. Every person who is a regularly-enrolled volunteer member or trainee of an emergency management agency, as established under KRS Chapters 39A to 39E, shall be deemed, for the purposes of this chapter, to be in the employment of this state. Every person who is a member of the Kentucky National Guard, while the person is on state active duty as defined in KRS 38.010(4), shall be deemed, for the purposes of this chapter, to be in the employment of this state; and

(4) Every person performing service in the course of the trade, business, profession, or occupation of an employer at the time of the injury.

KRS 342.316(3)(b) is not in conflict with KRS 342.610(1), 342.640(1), and 342.690(1) Mullins v. Manning Coal Corp., 938 S.W.2d 260, 1997 Ky. LEXIS 1 (Ky.), cert. denied, 521 U.S. 1119, 117 S. Ct. 2511, 138 L. Ed. 2d 1014, 1997 U.S. LEXIS 4077 (U.S. 1997).

KRS 342.395 does not draw a distinction between so-called innocent employees and executive officers who are employees pursuant to KRS 342.640(2). For any employee, including executive officers/owners, to validly reject the Workers' Compensation Act, KRS 342.395 and 803 KAR 25:130, § 1 must be satisfied. Ky. Employers' Mut. Ins. v. J & R Mining, Inc., 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 51 (Ky. Ct. App. Mar. 7, 2008), aff'd, 279 S.W.3d 513, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 77 (Ky. 2009).

2. Applicability.

KRS 342.640 specifically deals with the definition of an employee within the context of the Workers' Compensation Act; therefore, it prevails over provisions regarding employees in the Kentucky Education Reform Act, KRS ch. 160. Pike County Bd. of Educ. v. Mills, 260 S.W.3d 366, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 245 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

KRS 342.640(1) was not applicable as KRS 342.615(5) deemed a temporary help service to be a temporary employee's employer, KRS 342.690(1) would not deem an injured permanent employee and the temporary employee to be co-employees, and therefore immunize the subcontractor and temporary employee from the permanent employee's tort claim. Labor Ready, Inc. v. Johnston, 289 S.W.3d 200, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 2009).

An unpaid officer of a nonprofit trade association is not an "employee" within the purview of this section. Kentucky Farm & Power Equipment Dealers Asso. v. Fulkerson Bros., Inc., 631 S.W.2d 633, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 241 (Ky. 1982).

The threshold requirement in a compensation claim is that the claimant must be an employee for hire, as the essence of compensation protection is the restoration of a part of wages which are assumed to have existed. Kentucky Farm & Power Equipment Dealers Asso. v. Fulkerson Bros., Inc., 631 S.W.2d 633, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 241 (Ky. 1982).

The workers' compensation concept of employee is narrower than the common-law concept of "servant," in the master and servant relationship, and implies that the service to be performed is under a contract of hire, express or implied. Compensation decisions uniformly excluded from the definition "employees" workers who neither receive nor expect to receive any kind of pay for their services. Kentucky Farm & Power Equipment Dealers Asso. v. Fulkerson Bros., Inc., 631 S.W.2d 633, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 241 (Ky. 1982).

The proper legal analysis with regard to whether one is an employee requires consideration of at least four predominant factors: (1) the nature of the work as related to the business generally carried on by the alleged employer; (2) the extent of control exercised by the alleged employer; (3) the professional skill of the alleged employee; and (4) the true intent of the parties. The proper legal conclusions may not be drawn from consideration of one or two of these factors. Uninsured Employers' Fund v. Garland, 805 S.W.2d 116, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 22 (Ky. 1991).

Newspaper carrier was an employee of newspaper within the meaning of Kentucky's Workers' Compensation Statute, despite a purchase agreement which attempted to render this section inapplicable, because an employer cannot by contrivance force an employee to work outside the protection of the Workers' Compensation Statute, even if the employee acquiesces to the employer's terms. Evansville Printing Corp. v. Sugg, 817 S.W.2d 455, 1991 Ky. App. LEXIS 116 (Ky. Ct. App. 1991).

Where claimant and employer entered into a specific written contract of employment containing clear and concise language that successful passage of a pre-employment physical was a prerequisite to the beginning of an employment relationship and where claimant procured the services of another individual to take his pre-employment physical examination, the terms of the agreement were not complied with, and the contract of employment was not consummated; therefore, claimant was precluded from maintaining a claim for workers' compensation for an injury sustained while at work. Honaker v. Duro Bag Mfg. Co., 851 S.W.2d 481, 1993 Ky. LEXIS 70 (Ky. 1993).

Administrative law judge erred in dismissing a claim for workers' compensation benefits based upon a finding that the claimant had misrepresented her educational level on the employment application, thereby precluding the formation of a contract of employment. Clarion Mfg. Corp. of Am. v. Justice, 971 S.W.2d 288, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 43 (Ky. 1998).

A participant in an apprenticeship program conducted by a plumbers' union was not an "employee," notwithstanding that he was paid for the on-the-job part of his apprenticeship program, where he was injured while being instructed in the classroom, an activity for which he received no remuneration. Jecker v. Plumbers' Local 107, 2 S.W.3d 107, 1999 Ky. App. LEXIS 117 (Ky. Ct. App. 1999).

Where it was undisputed that a claimant, during a tryout for a job with a logger, cut trees throughout the day of his injury; that the logger would owe him nothing if dissatisfied with his work; and that the logger did not indicate that he was dissatisfied with the claimant's work or would not have hired him had he not been injured, the claimant was the logger's employee under KRS 342.640(4). Hubbard v. Henry, 231 S.W.3d 124, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 169 (Ky. 2007).

Trial court's finding that an auction business had up-the-ladder immunity in a claim brought by a worker allegedly injured by the negligence of a temporary employee working for the auction business was error because the auction business was a contractor and the temporary service was a subcontractor, and as a contractor, the auction business was liable to the temporary service's employees for workers' compensation, but was immune from civil suit by those employees. Johnston v. Labor Ready, Inc., 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 250 (Ky. Ct. App. Apr. 6, 2007), aff'd, 289 S.W.3d 200, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 2009).

Band instructor who began working for a board of education under an oral contract and who was injured in the course of his duties was an "employee" under KRS 342.640 for purposes of workers' compensation benefits even though the formalities of KRS 160.380 regarding his hiring (in particular, a contract signed by the board superintendent) were not completed until three months after the injury. Pike County Bd. of Educ. v. Mills, 260 S.W.3d 366, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 245 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Because the decedent was a corporate officer of the employer, he was an employee pursuant to KRS 342.640 regardless of whether he was also a shareholder; further, KRS 342.375 required every workers' compensation policy to cover an employer's entire liability, and, as the administrative law judge found that the insurer failed to show that the employer filed a waiver of coverage with the Office of Workers' Claims (now Department of Workers' Claims) as required by KRS 342.395(1) and 803 KAR 25:130, § 1 before the injury, a policy endorsement that excluded the decedent from coverage was ineffective. Ky. Employers' Mut. Ins. v. J & R Mining, Inc., 279 S.W.3d 513, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 77 (Ky. 2009).

Workers' compensation claimant was properly found to be an employee of a construction company pursuant to KRS 342.640(1) because the tasks the claimant performed were within the scope of the employer's business and did not require any special skill, the employer controlled the details of the claimant's work, and the tasks the claimant performed, including sweeping and picking up trash, were necessary on construction sites. Abel Verdon Constr. v. Rivera, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 194 (Ky. Ct. App. Oct. 15, 2010), aff'd, 348 S.W.3d 749, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 116 (Ky. 2011).

In a workers' compensation case, there was no error in determining that an unauthorized minor alien was an employee where the minor was paid cash for picking up trash at a construction site during vacation. An administrative law judge determined that an employment relationship existed based on findings that the work as a site maintenance person was within the scope of the employer's business constructing homes, the employer controlled the work being performed, and the work did not require any particular skill. Abel Verdon Constr. v. Rivera, 348 S.W.3d 749, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 116 (Ky. 2011).

4. Compensable Employment.

The basic ingredient of compensable employment under this act being contract of hire, express or implied, an inmate is not entitled to workers' compensation benefits for injury suffered while working in the prison because a convict could not and did not enter into a true contract of hire with authorities by whom he was confined. Tackett v. Lagrange Penitentiary, 524 S.W.2d 468, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 110 (Ky. 1975).

Where three employees were instructed by their foreman to detour from their customary route of travel to work in order to pick up a company truck to be driven to the work site, a disabling injury suffered by one employee as a result of an accident during the business detour was work related and compensable. N. H. Stone Co. v. Harris, 531 S.W.2d 513, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 42 (Ky. 1975).

Where a contractor had taught an assistant the electric wiring trade by instructing him on the job, the contractor procured the home improvement jobs, he only decided whether he needed aid after he had begun an electrical project, the contractor determined whether the assistant worked at all, and the assistant served as a helper to the contractor and followed his instructions, no other inference can be drawn than that the assistant was an employee. Wright v. Fardo, 587 S.W.2d 269, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 467 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

Where claimant worked twenty hours per week at a state training facility as part of the federally-funded “Foster Grandparents” program, where she performed tasks in keeping with the goal of the facility and was paid at an hourly rate, and where the program was administered by an employee of the Department (now Cabinet) of Human Resources, which is a state agency, such claimant was an “employee” entitled to receive the benefits for work-related injuries provided by the Workers’ Compensation Act. Sears v. Oakwood Training Facility Dep’t of Human Resources, 623 S.W.2d 232, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 436 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

Before there can be an employer-employee relationship there must be a contract of hire, expressed or implied. The fact that claimant signed employment documents for general contractor and received his paycheck from general contractor negates any contract of hire on the bypass job between claimant and subcontractor; general contractor retained the right of control by having on the job its general superintendent, who had complete overall authority over the job, and by virtue of the fact that its right to cease paying claimant gave effective control over claimant. Smith Concrete, Inc. v. Mountain Enterprises, Inc., 833 S.W.2d 808, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 70 (Ky. 1992).

Remuneration is an essential element if an apprentice is to be provided with compensation protection. Salvation Army v. Mathews, 847 S.W.2d 751, 1993 Ky. App. LEXIS 19 (Ky. Ct. App. 1993).

“Training” and “control” are sufficiently dissimilar from the advantages set out in KRS 342.0011(17) as to remove individuals receiving such aid from the definition of a compensable employee or apprentice. Salvation Army v. Mathews, 847 S.W.2d 751, 1993 Ky. App. LEXIS 19 (Ky. Ct. App. 1993).

Claimant, who was injured while participating in a national volunteer program, was not exempt from workers’ compensation coverage under KRS 342.650(3) because the value of in cash and in kind payment for his work far exceeded what was necessary for him to subsist; thus, the claimant was covered under KRS 342.640(4). Anderson v. Homeless & Housing COA, 135 S.W.3d 405, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 123 (Ky. 2004).

Because a worker and a logger agreed that the worker would be paid for the worker’s service if it proved to be satisfactory, KRS 342.640(2) provided workers’ compensation coverage for the worker’s injury during the trial period even though an employment agreement had not been executed and wages had not been fixed. Hubbard v. Henry, 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 47 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 8, 2006), aff’d, 231 S.W.3d 124, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 169 (Ky. 2007).

5. No Judicial Exception.

There is no judicial exception to coverage of workers’ compensation brought on by the infrequency of the employer’s business or by the difficulty of obtaining workers’ compensation insurance at a rate profitable to the business. Wright v. Fardo, 587 S.W.2d 269, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 467 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

6. National Guard.

Notwithstanding the provisions of this statute, member of national guard who at time of injury was entitled to receive federal pay was not on “active state service” nor entitled to receive workers’ compensation benefits. Kentucky Nat’l Guard v. Bayles, 535 S.W.2d 234, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 90 (Ky. 1976).

7. County Jail Personnel.

It is implicit in the provision of this section that the “executive officer of a corporation” referred to is an employee for hire, and the reference does not apply to a volunteer or honorary employee. Kentucky Farm & Power Equipment Dealers Asso. v. Fulkerson Bros., Inc., 631 S.W.2d 633, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 241 (Ky. 1982).

County officials had no immunity as to an employee’s claim of termination for filing a workers’ compensation claim because (1) Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 342.197(1) waived immunity as a matter of law, (2) the employee was a covered employee, (3) the county was a covered employer required to comply with applicable statutes, and (4) the Kentucky General Assembly broadly intended for there to be no distinction between government and private employees. Fields v. Benningfield, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 83 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 16, 2018), rev’d in part, aff’d, 584 S.W.3d 731, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 371 (Ky. 2019).

Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 342.197 implicitly waived immunity for a county fiscal court, a county jailer in his official capacity, and another jailer in his official capacity because only the county fiscal court qualified as a deputy jailer’s employer; the county jailer and the other jailer were entitled to the same immunity, to the extent they were sued in their official capacities, and the waiver, therefore, applied to them as well. Benningfield v. Fields, 584 S.W.3d 731, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 371 (Ky. 2019).

8. Nonresident Employee.

A nonresident employee of a nonresident, uninsured employer is covered by this state’s Workers’ Compensation Act when the employee sustains an injury by virtue of the employment in this state, and such nonresident is entitled to benefits from the uninsured employers’ fund. Bryant v. Jericol Mining, Inc., 758 S.W.2d 45, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 90 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

9. Prisoner.

It is implicit that subdivision (4) of this section refers to service for an employer for hire; a prisoner of the Commonwealth, even though he or she performs some work for the Commonwealth, is not an employee of the Commonwealth. Commonwealth, Dep’t of Education, Div. of Surplus Properties v. Smith, 759 S.W.2d 56, 1988 Ky. LEXIS 52 (Ky. 1988).

10. Student Trainees.

Workers’ compensation benefits are not available to unremunerated student trainees. Salvation Army v. Mathews, 847 S.W.2d 751, 1993 Ky. App. LEXIS 19 (Ky. Ct. App. 1993).

11. Retirement of Employee.

Voluntary retirement and removal from the labor market in no way extinguishes or limits the right to workers’ compensation benefits. Inland Steel C. v. Terry, 464 S.W.2d 284, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 102 (Ky. 1970) (decided under prior law).

12. Agriculture.

Injured employee was covered by the Kentucky Workers’ Compensation Act because the work the employee was performing was logging, which was not “agriculture” as that term was defined by KRS 342.0011(18). Although the work occurred on the employer’s farm, the logging was not connected to the day to day operations of the farm itself as the cut timber was commercially sold by the employer for profit. Commonwealth v. Gussler, 278 S.W.3d 153, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 251 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

County road employees, county hospital employees and volunteers of the fire district are covered employees unless they choose to be excluded under subsection (6) of KRS 342.650. OAG 72-832.

A mayor and members of a city council would be covered while performing their official duties. OAG 72-834.

An autonomous fire protection district organized under the provisions of KRS Chapter 75 is an autonomous taxing district within the meaning of Const., § 157 and, therefore, for purposes of this section such a district would be the "political subdivision" rather than the county in which the district is located. OAG 72-835.

This section would cover a county rescue squad which operates as a nonprofit organization and does volunteer fire fighting and emergency work and which is funded primarily from private donations. OAG 72-836.

A merchant policeman employed by an association of merchants and property to guard the various properties of the membership would be eligible to be covered under workers' compensation. OAG 73-19.

All volunteer firemen are included in workers' compensation coverage, the premium cost of which is borne by the state, but such benefits may be supplemented by additional private insurance up to or in excess of their average earnings in regular employment. OAG 73-72.

Where a real estate salesman receives his salary as a commission on each sale, obtains a license from the real estate commission in order to operate, has no fixed hours of work, is not controlled as to whom he does or does not see, and splits his commission with his broker in return for office space, telephone, and advertising, the salesman is not an employee of the broker but an independent contractor and is not required to be covered under the Workers' Compensation Act. OAG 73-112.

Pursuant to this section and KRS 342.630, the coverages of employer and employee of governmental entities are rather all-encompassing so that the Kentucky State Bar Association should be considered a state agency and the executive director and other employees are covered under the Workers' Compensation Act. OAG 73-304.

All officers and employees of Beechwood Village, whether part or full-time, whether elected or appointed, whether paid or volunteer, are required to be covered under the Workers' Compensation Law and if they are injured in the scope of their employment and do not have coverage, the employer's insurance fund would be responsible for the payment and it could then recover against the employer. OAG 73-511.

It seems clear that for workers' compensation purposes the state is the employer of civil defense workers, whether fully or partially paid or unpaid, and the cost of such coverage should be borne by the state. OAG 73-633.

Workers' compensation must be maintained on a chief of police, mayor, councilman or any other person in the employ of a city, whether full or part time. OAG 74-602.

It is mandatory for elected county officials to be covered under workers' compensation unless they elect to exclude themselves pursuant to KRS 342.650(6). OAG 74-610, withdrawing OAG 60-989.

A "person" would include a woman as well as a man, and therefore volunteer firewomen are also covered by workers' compensation if the personnel belonging to the rescue unit are employees of the volunteer fire department. OAG 75-515.

Those classes of volunteers not enumerated in subsection (3), such as volunteer ambulance personnel, are not covered by workers' compensation. OAG 76-21.

Vocational and industrial arts students are not employees and therefore are not required to be covered under the Kentucky Workers' Compensation Act. OAG 76-388.

A legally appointed deputy sheriff who is filling a deputy position authorized by the fiscal court, and who incurs a work connected injury or disability or medical expenses, should file a claim within the framework of the workers' compensation provisions rather than receiving a direct payment from the general funds of the county for expenses incurred as a result of a work connected injury. OAG 77-140.

The Workers' Compensation Board could not issue a certificate of compliance for an employer who has no workers' compensation coverage, either with an insurance company or as a self insurer, even though that employer's present employees chose not to be covered since such an employer would need coverage for such contingencies as new employees not rejecting the act, old employees rescinding prior rejections and employees whose rejection was subsequently adjudicated as not having been given voluntarily or effectively pursuant to KRS 342.395 and persons adjudicated employees that the employer considered to be independent contractors. In such case where there has been noncompliance the Board could utilize procedures set out in KRS 342.402 seeking a temporary restraining order or temporary and/or permanent injunction against the employer in the Franklin Circuit Court. OAG 77-527.

A fire fighter in the employ of a fire protection district is automatically covered under workers' compensation; if the employee had an active prior disability at the time of his hiring by the fire district, then under KRS 342.120(3) the fire district is only responsible for the degree of injury which results while in its employ and is not responsible for that part of the employee's disability which is attributable to his prior injury, and the fire fighter cannot sue the district at common law for his job-related injury because of KRS 342.690, unless the district fails to secure compensation insurance or be a self-insurer, or the fire fighter opts out of workers' compensation under KRS 342.650(6) and rules of the Workers' Compensation Board. OAG 80-370.

All fire fighters, whether they are city, county, fire district, paid or volunteer fire personnel, are subject to the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act (KRS Chapter 342). OAG 80-635.

Where the firemen are volunteer and receive no regular salary or hourly rate, but do receive an expense allowance of $11 per run, the receipt of an expense allowance does not preclude the volunteer firemen from being covered by the state workers' compensation insurance program for volunteer firemen; however, the program does not cover the chief and assistant chief, who are regularly paid members of the fire district. OAG 80-635.

For the purpose of obtaining employee fringe benefits, the county is responsible for paying on behalf of jail personnel, as county employees, social security payments (KRS Ch. 61), workers' compensation premiums (KRS Ch. 342), unemployment insurance premiums (KRS Ch. 341) and medical insurance coverage (KRS Ch. 67). OAG 82-346.

A constable is clearly a covered "employee" under workers' compensation and would be considered to be in the service of the county. OAG 82-628.

Pursuant to subdivision (3) of this section, workers' compensation applies to special deputy sheriffs, appointed under KRS 70.045 during emergencies, since they are in the service of a political subdivision, i.e., the county, although a special deputy could elect not to be covered; the fiscal court is responsible for providing workers' compensation insurance coverage, unless it elects to be a self-insurer, the premium being paid as properly budgeted under the procedure outlined in KRS Ch. 68. OAG 83-301.

The employees of the Disaster and Emergency Services, Department of Military Affairs, are covered by the workers' compensation program at all times while acting under the direction of the Disaster and Emergency Services chain of command; however, if, for example, one city or county, not under direct state supervision furnishes aid to another city or county and an employee of the furnishing unit of government is injured, the receiving unit of government would be liable for the worker's compensation under KRS 39.415, 39.417, and 39.418. OAG 83-426.

Persons employed by a housing agency on a voluntary work release program are not subject to workers' compensation. OAG 84-120.

A county or fiscal court is required to carry insurance on constables where expressly required to do so by statute, for example, to carry workers' compensation coverage for constables under KRS 342.630(2), this section, and 64.530(2). OAG 95-11.

PENALTIES

342.990. Penalties — Restitution.

(1) The commissioner shall initiate enforcement of civil and criminal penalties imposed in this section.

(2) When the commissioner receives information that he or she deems sufficient to determine that a violation of this chapter has occurred, he or she shall seek civil penalties pursuant to subsections (3) to (7) of this section, criminal penalties pursuant to subsections (8) and (9) of this section, or both.

(3) The commissioner shall initiate enforcement of a civil penalty by simultaneously citing the appropriate party for the offense and stating the civil penalty to be paid.

(4) If, within fifteen (15) working days from the receipt of the citation, a cited party fails to notify the commissioner that he or she intends to contest the citation, then the citation shall be deemed final.

(5) If a cited party notifies the commissioner that he or she intends to challenge a citation issued under this section, the commissioner shall cause the matter to be heard as soon as practicable by an administrative law judge and in accordance with the provisions of KRS Chapter 13B. The burden of proof shall be upon the attorney representing the commissioner to prove the offense stated in the citation by a preponderance of the evidence. The parties shall stipulate to uncontested facts and issues prior to the hearing before the administrative law judge. The administrative law judge shall issue a ruling within sixty (60) days following the hearing.

(6) A party may appeal the ruling of the administrative law judge to the Franklin Circuit Court in conformity with KRS 13B.140.

(7) The following civil penalties shall be applicable for violations of particular provisions of this chapter:

(a) Any employer, insurer, or payment obligor subject to this chapter who fails to make a report required by KRS 342.038 within fifteen (15) days from the date it was due, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each offense;

(b) Any employer, insurer, or payment obligor acting on behalf of an employer who fails to make timely payment of a statement for services under KRS 342.020(4) without having reasonable grounds to delay payment may be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each offense;

(c) Any person who violates KRS 342.020(12), 342.035(2), 342.040, 342.340, 342.400, 342.420, or 342.630 shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each offense. With respect to employers who fail to maintain workers' compensation insurance coverage on their employees, each employee of the employer and each day of violation shall constitute a separate offense. With respect to KRS 342.040, any employer's insurance carrier or other party responsible for the payment of workers' compensation benefits shall be fined for failure to notify the commissioner of a failure to make payments when due if a report indicating the reason payment of income benefits did not commence within twenty-one (21) days of the date the employer was notified of an alleged work-related injury or disease is not filed with the commissioner within twenty-one (21) days of the date the employer received notice, and if the employee has not returned to work within that period of time. The date of notice indicated in the report filed with the department pursuant to KRS 342.038(1), shall raise a rebuttable presumption of the date on which the employer received notice;

(d) Any person who violates any of the provisions of KRS 342.165(2), 342.335, 342.395, 342.460, 342.465, or 342.470 shall be fined not less than two hundred dollars ($200) nor more than two thousand dollars ($2,000) for each offense. With respect to KRS 342.395, each required notice of rejection form executed by an employee or potential employee of an employer shall constitute a separate offense;

(e) Any person who fails to comply with the data reporting provisions of administrative regulations promulgated by the commissioner pursuant to KRS 342.039, or with utilization review and medical bill audit administrative regulations promulgated pursuant to KRS 342.035(5), shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each violation;

(f) Except as provided in paragraph (g) of this subsection, a person who violates any of the provisions of KRS 342.335(1) or (2) where the claim, compensation, benefit, or money referred to in KRS 342.335(1) or (2) is less than or equal to three hundred dollars ($300) shall be fined per occurrence not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) per individual nor five thousand dollars ($5,000) per corporation, or twice the amount of gain received as a result of the violation, whichever is greater;

(g) Any person who violates any of the provisions of KRS 342.335(1) or (2) where the claim, compensation, benefit, or money referred to in KRS 342.335(1) or (2) exceeds three hundred dollars ($300) shall be fined per occurrence not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) per individual nor ten thousand dollars ($10,000) per corporation, or twice the amount of gain received as a result of the violation, whichever is greater;

(h) Any person who violates the employee leasing provision of this chapter shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars ($500) nor more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) for each violation;

(i) Any violation of the provisions of this chapter relating to self-insureds shall constitute grounds for decertification of such self-insured, a fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500) nor more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) per occurrence, or both; and

(j) Actions to collect the civil penalties imposed under this subsection shall be instituted in the Franklin District Court and the Franklin Circuit Court.

(8) The commissioner shall initiate enforcement of a criminal penalty by causing a complaint to be filed with the appropriate local prosecutor. If the prosecutor fails to act on the violation within twenty (20) days following the filing of the complaint, the commissioner shall certify the inaction by the local prosecutor to the Attorney General who shall initiate proceedings to prosecute the violation. The provisions of KRS 15.715 shall not apply to this section.

(9) The following criminal penalties shall be applicable for violations of particular provisions of this chapter:

(a) Any person who violates KRS 342.020(12), 342.035(2), 342.040, 342.400, 342.420, or 342.630, shall, for each offense, be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or imprisoned for not less than thirty (30) days nor more than one hundred eighty (180) days, or both;

(b) Any person who violates any of the provisions of KRS 342.165(2), 342.335, 342.460, 342.465, or 342.470 shall, for each offense, be fined not less than two hundred dollars ($200) nor more than two thousand dollars ($2,000), or imprisoned for not less than thirty (30) days nor more than one hundred and eighty (180) days, or both; and

(c) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter to the contrary, when any employer, insurance carrier, or individual self-insured fails to comply with this chapter for which a penalty is provided in subparagraphs (7), (8), and (9) above, such person, if the person is an owner in the case of a sole proprietorship, a partner in the case of a partnership, a principal in the case of a limited liability company, or a corporate officer in the case of a corporation, who knowingly authorized, ordered, or carried out the violation, failure, or refusal shall be personally and individually liable, both jointly and severally, for the penalties imposed in the above cited subparagraphs. Neither the dissolution nor withdrawal of the corporation, partnership, or other entity from the state, nor the cessation of holding status as a proprietor, partner, principal, or officer shall discharge the foregoing liability of any person.

(10) Fines paid pursuant to KRS 342.267 and subsections (7) and (9) of this section shall be paid into the self-insurance fund established in KRS 342.920.

(11) In addition to the penalties provided in this section, the commissioner and any administrative law judge or court of jurisdiction may order restitution of a benefit secured through conduct proscribed by this chapter.

Legislative Research Commission Note.

(12/12/96). The reference to "subparagraphs (7), (8), and (9) above" in subsection (9)(d) of this statute is how this text read in 1996 (1st Extra. Sess.) Ky. Acts ch. 1, sec. 48. The normal hierarchy of subdivision in a section of the Kentucky Revised Statutes is, in descending order, subsections (indicated by Hindu-Arabic numerals in parentheses), paragraphs (indicated by lowercase letters in parentheses), subparagraphs (indicated by Hindu-Arabic numerals followed by a period), and subdivisions of subparagraphs (indicated by lowercase letters followed by a period). This statute contains no subparagraphs 7., 8., and 9., but the type of numbering used suggests that "subsections" may have been meant in this phrase instead of "subparagraphs."

(7/15/96). This section was amended by 1996 Ky. Acts chs. 318 and 355. Where these Acts are not in conflict they have been codified together. Where a conflict exists, Acts ch. 355, which was last enacted by the General Assembly prevails under KRS 446.250.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Application.

1. Constitutionality.

Former subsection (7) of this section conflicted with Kentucky Constitution, section 111(2). The review of these decisions must be initiated by an original action in a Circuit Court. Orange Ventures v. Workers' Compensation Bd., 923 S.W.2d 909, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 80 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996).

2. Application.

KRS 342.197 does not preempt an employee's right to bring a wrongful discharge action against her employer since this section does not provide a civil remedy. Pike v. Harold (Chubby) Baird Gate Co., 705 S.W.2d 947, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1050 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

Although KRS 342.990 provided civil and criminal penalties for an employer's failure to comply with KRS 342.040(1) regarding the payment of workers' compensation benefits, KRS chapter 342 provided no remedy for affected workers like the employee, who was not notified that the employee was required to apply for temporary total disability benefits within two years after the payment of such benefits ended or be barred from receiving them. Thus, the employer was estopped from asserting a statute of limitations defense where the employer's failure to promptly and properly inform the Office of Workers' Claims (now Department of Workers' Claims) that the employer had terminated the employee's temporary total disability benefits meant that the Office did not notify the employee that the employee only had two (2) years from the date of termination to file an application for such benefits. Ky. Container Serv. v. Ashbrook, 265 S.W.3d 793, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 185 (Ky. 2008).

Although KRS 342.990 provided civil and criminal penalties for an employer's failure to comply strictly with KRS 342.040(1), KRS ch. 342 provided no remedy for a workers' compensation claimant who, unaware of the applicable limitations period, failed to file a timely claim. Hitachi Auto. Prods. USA, Inc. v. Craig, 279 S.W.3d 123, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 238 (Ky. 2008).

344.555. Prohibition against sex discrimination under any education program receiving state financial assistance — Exceptions.

(1) No person shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving state financial assistance, except that:

(a) In regard to admissions to educational institutions, this section shall apply only to institutions of vocational education, professional education, and graduate higher education, and to public institutions of undergraduate higher education;

(b) This section shall not apply to an educational institution which is controlled by a religious organization if the application of this subsection would not be consistent with the religious tenets of the organization;

(c) This section shall not apply to an educational institution whose primary purpose is the training of individuals for the military services of the United States, or the merchant marines;

(d) In regard to admissions, this section shall not apply to any public institution of undergraduate higher education which is an institution that traditionally and continually from its establishment has had a policy of admitting only students of one (1) sex;

(e) This section shall not apply to membership practices of a social fraternity or social sorority which is exempt under Section 501(a) of the Federal Internal Revenue Code of 1954, the active membership of which consists primarily of students in attendance at an institution of higher education, or of the Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, and voluntary youth service organizations which are exempt under Section 501(a) of the Federal Internal Revenue Code, the membership of which has traditionally been limited to persons of one (1) sex and principally to persons of less than nineteen (19) years of age;

(f) This section shall not apply to any program or activity of the American Legion undertaken in connection with the organization or operation of any Boys State conference, Boys Nation conference, Girls State conference, or Girls Nation conference; or any program or activity of any secondary school or educational institution specifically for the promotion of any Boys State conference, Boys Nation conference, Girls State conference, or Girls Nation conference; or the selection of students to attend any such conference;

(g) This section shall not preclude father-son or mother-daughter activities at an educational institution, but if such activities are provided for students of one (1) sex, opportunities for reasonably comparable activities shall be provided for students of the other sex; and

(h) This section shall not apply to any scholarship or other financial assistance awarded by an institution of higher education to any individual because such individual has received the award in any pageant in which the attainment of the award is based upon a combination of factors related to the personal appearance, poise, and talent of the individual and in which participation is limited to individuals of one (1) sex only, so long as the pageant is in compliance with other nondiscrimination provisions of state and federal law.

(2) Nothing contained in subsection (1) of this section shall be interpreted to require any educational institution to grant preferential or disparate treatment to the members of one (1) sex on account of an imbalance which may exist with respect to the total number or percentage of persons of that sex participating in or receiving the benefits of any state supported program or activity, in comparison with the total number or percentage of persons of that sex in any community, state, section, or other area. However, nothing in this subsection shall be construed to prevent the consideration in any hearing or proceeding under KRS 344.550 to 344.575 of statistical evidence tending to show that an imbalance exists with respect to the participation in, or receipt of the benefits of, any program or activity by the members of one (1) sex.

344.560. Agencies and departments required to effectuate KRS 344.555.

Each state department and agency which is empowered to extend state financial assistance to any education program or activity, by way of grant, loan, or contract other than a contract of insurance or guaranty, shall effectuate the provisions of KRS 344.555 with respect to such program or activity by promulgating administrative regulations of general applicability which shall be consistent with achievement of the objectives of the statute authorizing the financial assistance in connection with which the action is taken. This section shall not apply to a state department or agency which extends state financial assistance to an education institution if the amount of state financial assistance extended by the state department or agency represents less than two percent (2%) of the total state financial assistance received by the education institution. Compliance with any requirement adopted pursuant to this section shall be effected:

(1) By the termination of or refusal to grant or to continue assistance under such program or activity to any recipient as to whom there has been an express finding on the record, after opportunity for hearing, of a failure to comply with such requirement, but such termination or refusal shall be limited to the particular political entity, or part thereof, or other recipient as to whom such a finding has been made, and shall be limited in its effect to the particular program, or part thereof, in which the noncompliance has been found; or

(2) By any other means authorized by law.

However, no action shall be taken until the department or agency concerned has advised the appropriate person or persons of the failure to comply with the requirement and has determined that compliance cannot be secured by voluntary means. In the case of any action terminating, or refusing to grant or continue, assistance because of failure to comply with a requirement imposed pursuant to this section, the chief officer of the state department or agency shall file with the committees of the House of Representatives and Senate having legislative jurisdiction over the program or activity involved a full written report of the circumstances and the grounds for such action. No such action shall become effective until thirty (30) days have elapsed after the filing of such report.

369.104. Prospective application of KRS 369.101 to 369.120.

KRS 369.101 to 369.120 applies to any electronic record or electronic signature created, generated, sent, communicated, received, or stored on or after August 1, 2000.

History.

Enact. Acts 2000, ch. 301, § 4, effective August 1, 2000.

369.105. Use of electronic records and electronic signatures — Variation by agreement.

(1) KRS 369.101 to 369.120 does not require a record or signature to be created, generated, sent, communicated, received, stored, or otherwise processed or used by electronic means or in electronic form.

(2) KRS 369.101 to 369.120 applies only to transactions between parties each of which has agreed to conduct transactions by electronic means. Whether the parties agree to conduct a transaction by electronic means is determined from the context and surrounding circumstances, including the parties' conduct.

(3) A party that agrees to conduct a transaction by electronic means may refuse to conduct other transactions by electronic means. The right granted by this subsection may not be waived by agreement.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in KRS 369.101 to 369.120, the effect of any of its provisions may be varied by agreement. The presence in certain provisions of KRS 369.101 to 369.120 of the words "unless otherwise agreed," or words of similar import, does not imply that the effect of other provisions may not be varied by agreement.

(5) Whether an electronic record or electronic signature has legal consequences is determined by KRS 369.101 to 369.120 and other applicable law.

History.

Enact. Acts 2000, ch. 301, § 5, effective August 1, 2000.

KRS 369.101 to 369.120 must be construed and applied:

(1) To facilitate electronic transactions consistent with other applicable law;

(2) To be consistent with reasonable practices concerning electronic transactions and with the continued expansion of those practices; and

(3) To effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law with respect to the subject of KRS 369.101 to 369.120 among states enacting it.

(2) A contract may not be denied legal effect or enforceability solely because an electronic record was used in its formation.

(3) If a law requires a record to be in writing, an electronic record satisfies the law.

(4) If a law requires a signature, an electronic signature satisfies the law.

History.

369.108. Provision of information in writing — Presentation of records.

(1) If parties have agreed to conduct a transaction by electronic means and a law requires a person to provide, send, or deliver information in writing to another person, the requirement is satisfied if the information is provided, sent, or delivered, as the case may be, in an electronic record capable of retention by the recipient at the time of receipt. An electronic record is not capable of retention by the recipient if the sender or its information processing system inhibits the ability of the recipient to print or store the electronic record.

(2) If a law other than KRS 369.101 to 369.120 requires a record to be posted or displayed in a certain manner, to be sent, communicated, or transmitted by a specified method, or to contain information that is formatted in a certain manner, the following rules apply:

(a) The record must be posted or displayed in the manner specified in the other law.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (4)(b) of this section, the record must be sent, communicated, or transmitted by the method specified in the other law.

(c) The record must contain the information formatted in the manner specified in the other law.

(3) If a sender inhibits the ability of a recipient to store or print an electronic record, the electronic record is not enforceable against the recipient.

(4) The requirements of this section may not be varied by agreement, but:

(a) To the extent a law other than KRS 369.101 to 369.120 requires information to be provided, sent, or delivered in writing but permits that requirement to be varied by agreement, the requirement under subsection (1) of this section that the information be in the form of an electronic record capable of retention may also be varied by agreement; and

(b) A requirement under a law other than KRS 369.101 to 369.120 to send, communicate, or transmit a record by United States mail may be varied by agreement to the extent permitted by the other law.

History.

Enact. Acts 2000, ch. 301, § 8, effective August 1, 2000.

369.109. Attribution and effect of electronic record and electronic signature.

(1) An electronic record or electronic signature is attributable to a person if it was the act of the person. The act of the person may be shown in any manner, including a showing of the efficacy of any security procedure applied to determine the person to which the electronic record or electronic signature was attributable.

(2) The effect of an electronic record or electronic signature attributed to a person under subsection (1) of this section is determined from the context and surrounding circumstances at the time of its creation, execution, or adoption, including the parties' agreement, if any, and otherwise as provided by law.

History.

Enact. Acts 2000, ch. 301, § 9, effective August 1, 2000.

369.110. Effect of change or error.

If a change or error in an electronic record occurs in a transmission between parties to a transaction, the following rules apply:

(1) If the parties have agreed to use a security procedure to detect changes or errors and one (1) party has conformed to the procedure, but the other party has not, and the nonconforming party would have detected the change or error had that party also conformed, the conforming party may avoid the effect of the changed or erroneous electronic record.

(2) In an automated transaction involving an individual, the individual may avoid the effect of an electronic record that resulted from an error made by the individual in dealing with the electronic agent of another person if the electronic agent did not provide an opportunity for the prevention or correction of the error and, at the time the individual learns of the error, the individual:

(a) Promptly notifies the other person of the error and that the individual did not intend to be bound by the electronic record received by the other person;

(b) Takes reasonable steps, including steps that conform to the other person's reasonable instructions, to return to the other person or, if instructed by the other person, to destroy the consideration received, if any, as a result of the erroneous electronic record; and

(c) Has not used or received any benefit or value from the consideration, if any, received from the other person.

(3) If neither subsection (1) of this section nor subsection (2) of this section applies, the change or error has the effect provided by other law, including the law of mistake, and the parties' contract, if any.

(4) Subsections (2) and (3) of this section may not be varied by agreement.

History.

Enact. Acts 2000, ch. 301, § 10, effective August 1, 2000.

369.111. Notarization and acknowledgment.

If a law requires a signature or record to be notarized, acknowledged, verified, or made under oath, the requirement is satisfied if the electronic signature of the person authorized to perform those acts, together with all other information required to be included by other applicable law, is attached to or logically associated with the signature or record.

History.

Enact. Acts 2000, ch. 301, § 11, effective August 1, 2000.

369.112. Retention of electronic records — Originals.

(1) If a law requires that a record be retained, the requirement is satisfied by retaining an electronic record of the information in the record which:

(a) Accurately reflects the information set forth in the record after it was first generated in its final form as an electronic record or otherwise; and

(b) Remains accessible for later reference.

(2) A requirement to retain a record in accordance with subsection (1) of this section does not apply to any information the sole purpose of which is to enable the record to be sent, communicated, or received.

(3) A person may satisfy subsection (1) of this section by using the services of another person if the requirements of that subsection are satisfied.

(4) If a law requires a record to be presented or retained in its original form, or provides consequences if the record is not presented or retained in its original form, that law is satisfied by an electronic record retained in accordance with subsection (1) of this subsection.

(5) If a law requires retention of a check, that requirement is satisfied by retention of an electronic record of the information on the front and back of the check in accordance with subsection (1) of this subsection.

(6) A record retained as an electronic record in accordance with subsection (1) of this section satisfies a law requiring a person to retain a record for evidentiary, audit, or like purposes, unless a law enacted after August 1, 2000, specifically prohibits the use of an electronic record for the specified purpose.

(7) This section does not preclude a governmental agency of this state from specifying additional requirements for the retention of a record subject to the agency's jurisdiction.

History.

Enact. Acts 2000, ch. 301, § 12, effective August 1, 2000.

369.113. Admissibility in evidence.

In a proceeding, evidence of a record or signature may not be excluded solely because it is in electronic form.

History.

Enact. Acts 2000, ch. 301, § 13, effective August 1, 2000.

369.114. Automated transaction.

In an automated transaction, the following rules apply:

(1) A contract may be formed by the interaction of electronic agents of the parties, even if no individual was aware of or reviewed the electronic agents' actions or the resulting terms and agreements.

(2) A contract may be formed by the interaction of an electronic agency and an individual, acting on the individual's own behalf or for another person, including by an interaction in which the individual performs actions that the individual is free to refuse to perform and which the individual knows or has reason to know will cause the electronic agent to complete the transaction or performance.

(3) The terms of the contract are determined by the substantive law applicable to it.

History.

Enact. Acts 2000, ch. 301, § 14, effective August 1, 2000.

369.115. Time and place of sending and receipt.

(1) Unless otherwise agreed between the sender and the recipient, an electronic record is sent when it:

(a) Is addressed properly or otherwise directed properly to an information processing system that the recipient has designated or uses for the purpose of receiving electronic records or information of the type sent and from which the recipient is able to retrieve the electronic record;

(b) Is in a form capable of being processed by that system; and

(c) Enters an information processing system outside the control of the sender or of a person that sent the electronic record on behalf of the sender or enters a region of the information processing system designated or used by the recipient which is under the control of the recipient.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed between a sender and the recipient, an electronic record is received when:

(a) It enters an information processing system that the recipient has designated or uses for the purpose of receiving electronic records or information of the type sent and from which the recipient is able to retrieve the electronic record; and

(b) It is in a form capable of being processed by that system.

(3) Subsection (2) of this section applies even if the place the information processing system is located is different from the place the electronic record is deemed to be received under subsection (4) of this section.

(4) Unless otherwise expressly provided in the electronic record or agreed between the sender and the recipient, an electronic record is deemed to be sent from the sender's place of business and to be received at the recipient's place of business. For purposes of this subsection, the following rules apply:

(a) If the sender or recipient has more than one (1) place of business, the place of business of that person is the place having the closest relationship to the underlying transaction.

(b) If the sender or the recipient does not have a place of business, the place of business is the sender's or recipient's residence, as the case may be.

(5) An electronic record is received under subsection (2) of this section even if no individual is aware of its receipt.

(6) Receipt of an electronic acknowledgment from an information processing system described in subsection (2) of this section establishes that a record was received but, by itself, does not establish that the content sent corresponds to the content received.

(7) If a person is aware that an electronic record purportedly sent under subsection (1) of this section, or purportedly received under subsection (2) of this section, was not actually sent or received, the legal effect of the sending or receipt is determined by other applicable law. Except to the extent permitted by the other law, the requirements of this subsection may not be varied by agreement.

History.

Enact. Acts 2000, ch. 301, § 15, effective August 1, 2000.

369.116. Transferable records.

(1) In this section, "transferable record" means an electronic record that:

(a) Would be a note under Article 3 of KRS Chapter 355 or a document under Article 7 of KRS Chapter 355 if the electronic record were in writing; and

(b) The issuer of the electronic record expressly has agreed is a transferable record.

(2) A person has control of a transferable record if a system employed for evidencing the transfer of interests in the transferable record reliably establishes that person as the person to which the transferable record was issued or transferred.

(3) A system satisfies subsection (2) of this section, and a person is deemed to have control of a transferable record, if the transferable record is created, stored, and assigned in such a manner that:

(a) A single authoritative copy of the transferable record exists which is unique, identifiable, and, except as otherwise provided in paragraphs (d), (e), and (f) of this subsection, unalterable;

(b) The authoritative copy identifies the person asserting control as:

1. The person to which the transferable record was issued; or

2. If the authoritative copy indicates that the transferable record has been transferred, the person to which the transferable record was most recently transferred;

(c) The authoritative copy is communicated to and maintained by the person asserting control or its designated custodian;

(d) Copies of revisions that add or change an identified assignee of the authoritative copy can be made only with the consent of the person asserting control;

(e) Each copy of the authoritative copy and any copy of a copy is readily identifiable as a copy that is not the authoritative copy; and

(f) Any revision of the authoritative copy is readily identifiable as authorized or unauthorized.

(4) Except as otherwise agreed, a person having control of a transferable record is the holder, as defined in KRS 355.1-201(20), of the transferable record and has the same rights and defenses as a holder of an equivalent record or writing under KRS Chapter 355, including, if the applicable statutory requirements under KRS 355.3-302(1), 355.7-501, or 355.9-330 are satisfied, the rights and defenses of a holder in due course, a holder to which a negotiable document of title has been duly negotiated, or a purchaser, respectively. Delivery, possession, and indorsement are not required to obtain or exercise any of the rights under this subsection.

(5) Except as otherwise agreed, an obligor under a transferable record has the same rights and defenses as an equivalent obligor under equivalent records or writing under KRS Chapter 355.

(6) If requested by a person against which enforcement is sought, the person seeking to enforce the transferable record shall provide reasonable proof that the person is in control of the transferable record. Proof may include access to the authoritative copy of the transferable record and related business records sufficient to review the terms of the transferable record and to establish the identity of the person having control of the transferable record.

(2) To the extent that a governmental agency uses electronic records and electronic signatures under subsection (1) of this section:

(a) The Commonwealth Office of Technology, giving due consideration to security, may specify the manner and format in which the electronic records must be created, generated, sent, communicated, received, and stored and the systems established for those purposes;

(b) If electronic records must be signed by electronic means, each governmental agency, giving due consideration to security, may specify the type of electronic signature required, the manner and format in which the electronic signature must be affixed to the electronic record, and the identity of, or criteria that must be met by, any third party used by a person filing a document to facilitate the process;

(c) The Commonwealth Office of Technology and the Department for Libraries and Archives, giving due consideration to security, may specify control processes and procedures as appropriate to ensure adequate preservation, disposition, integrity, security, confidentiality, and auditability of electronic records; and

(d) Each governmental agency, giving due consideration to security, may specify any other required attributes for electronic records which are specified for corresponding nonelectronic records or reasonably necessary under the circumstances.

371.405. Conditions governing enforceability of construction contracts — Payment of amounts due.

(1) All payments on construction contracts entered into after June 26, 2007, shall be made pursuant to the terms of the contract and as required in this section and KRS 371.410.

(2) The following provisions in a contract for construction shall be against the public policy of this Commonwealth and shall be void and unenforceable:

(a) A provision that purports to waive, release, or extinguish the right to resolve disputes through litigation in court or substantive or procedural rights in connection with such litigation, except that a contract may require binding arbitration as a substitute for litigation or require nonbinding alternative dispute resolution as a prerequisite to litigation;

(b) A provision that purports to waive, release, or extinguish rights provided by KRS Chapter 376, with the exception of partial waivers of lien rights provided by the contractor or subcontractor for progress payments; or

(c) A provision that purports to waive, release, or extinguish the right of a contractor or subcontractor to recover costs, additional time, or damages, or obtain an equitable adjustment of the contract, for delays in performing the contract that are, in whole or part, within the control of the contracting entity. Unusually bad weather that cannot be reasonably anticipated, fire, or other act of God shall not automatically entitle the contractor to additional compensation under this paragraph.

(3) Subsection (2)(c) of this section shall not render null, void, and unenforceable a contract provision that:

(a) Permits a contractor or subcontractor to recover that portion of delay costs caused by acts or omissions of the contracting entity;

(b) Requires notice of any delay by the party affected by the delay;

(c) Provides for reasonable liquidated damages;

(d) Provides for arbitration or any other procedure designed to resolve contract disputes; or

(e) Specifies which costs are recoverable by a contractor or subcontractor for delay.

(4) If a provision of a construction contract is found to be null and unenforceable, that provision shall not affect other provisions of the contract that are in compliance with this section and, to this end, the provisions of the contract are severable.

(5) Except as provided in subsection (7) of this section, all contracts for construction shall provide that payment of amounts due a contractor from a contracting entity, except retainage, shall be made within thirty (30) business days after the contracting entity receives a timely, properly completed, undisputed request for payment.

(6) Except as provided in subsection (7) of this section, if the contracting entity fails to pay a contractor within thirty (30) business days following receipt of a timely, properly completed, undisputed request for payment, the contractor beginning on the thirty-first business day after receipt of the request for payment, computed at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum on the unpaid amount. Twenty-five (25) business days following the submission of a timely, properly completed, undisputed request for payment, the contractor shall notify the contracting entity by certified mail if payment has not been received. The notice shall also include the date on which interest shall begin to accrue.

(7) For purposes of subsections (5) and (6) of this section, a postsecondary institution and a board of education shall have forty-five (45) business days to make the payment required by those subsections. For purposes of payments by a board of education, the Department of Education shall have ten (10) business days, including the day the undisputed request for payment is received, to complete the final approval and application for payment and return it to the board of education. The ten (10) business days shall be included in the forty-five (45) business days. If the contracting entity fails to pay a contractor within forty-five (45) business days after receipt of the timely, properly completed, undisputed request for payment, the contracting entity shall, beginning on the forty-sixth day after receipt of the request, pay interest to the contractor computed at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum on the unpaid amount.

(8) A contractor shall pay its subcontractors any undisputed amounts due within fifteen (15) business days of receipt of payment from the contracting entity, including payment of retainage if retainage is released by the contracting entity, if the subcontractor has provided a timely, properly completed, and undisputed request for payment to the contractor.

(9) If a contractor fails to pay a subcontractor any undisputed amounts due within fifteen (15) business days of receipt of payment from the contracting entity, the contractor shall pay interest to the subcontractor beginning on the sixteenth business day after receipt of payment by the contractor, computed at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum on the unpaid amount.

(10) Subsections (8) and (9) of this section shall apply to all payments from subcontractors to their subcontractors.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Allowed Damages.
2. Interest.

1. Allowed Damages.

Equipment rendered idle by a delay attributable to the owner who is determined to have breached the contract is a proper element of damages. Ford Contr., Inc. v. Ky. Transp. Cabinet, 429 S.W.3d 397, 2014 Ky. App. LEXIS 22 (Ky. Ct. App. 2014).

2. Interest.

Award of interest was proper because the amounts owed were not disputed by the managing contractor. D. W. Wilburn, Inc. v. Painting Co., 577 S.W.3d 782, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 66 (Ky. Ct. App. 2019).

371.410. Retainage that may be withheld — Release of retainage — Substantial completion.

(1) Notwithstanding any provision of the Kentucky Revised Statutes to the contrary, until fifty percent (50%) of the construction project has been completed in accordance with the contract, a contracting entity, contractor, or subcontractor may withhold no more than ten percent (10%) retainage from the amount of any undisputed payment due, and retainage held after fifty-one percent (51%) of the construction project has been completed shall not be more than five percent (5%) of the total contract amount.

(2) Within thirty (30) days after substantial completion of a construction project, the contracting entity or contractor shall release the retainage less an amount equal to two hundred percent (200%) of the contracting entity's reasonably estimated cost of the balance of any contractor's or subcontractor's contractually obligated, yet uncompleted, work remaining. The contracting entity's agent shall determine the reasonably estimated cost due under this subsection. The contracting entity, contractor, and any subcontractor with work yet to be completed shall mutually agree with the schedule for completion of the work necessary for release of final payment. Within fifteen (15) business days after the retainage has been released by the contracting entity to the contractor, the contractor shall release to the subcontractors their proportional shares of the retainage. For purposes of this subsection, "substantial completion" is the point at which, as certified in writing by the contracting entity, a project is at the level of completion, in strict compliance with the contract, where:

- (a) Necessary approval by public regulatory authorities has been given;
- (b) The owner has received all required warranties and documentation; and
- (c) The owner may enjoy beneficial use or occupancy and may use, operate, and maintain the project in all respects, for its intended purpose.

Partial use or occupancy shall not necessarily result in the project being deemed substantially complete and shall not be evidence of substantial completion.

(3) If a contracting entity, contractor, or subcontractor fails to pay retainage, if any, pursuant to the terms of a contract or as required in this section, the contracting entity, contractor, or subcontractor shall pay interest to the contractor or subcontractor to whom payment was due, beginning on the first business day after the payment was due, at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum.

371.415. Award of costs and attorney's fees in action to enforce KRS 371.400 to 371.425.

In any action to enforce KRS 371.400 to 371.425, including arbitration, the court or arbitrator shall award costs and reasonable attorney's fees to the prevailing party if the losing party is deemed to have acted in bad faith. For public construction contracts, recovery of attorney's fees under this section shall be limited to the public contract rate for attorney's fees. Venue of such an action shall be within the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Bad Faith.

Evidence in the record supported the finding of bad faith because the circuit court made numerous and specific references to a managing contractor's bad faith in its failure to compensate subcontractors for extra work performed at the job site. D. W. Wilburn, Inc. v. Painting Co., 577 S.W.3d 782, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 66 (Ky. Ct. App. 2019).

371.420. Short title for KRS 371.400 to 371.425 — Filing of mechanic's lien by contractor.

(1) KRS 371.400 to 371.425 shall be known and may be cited as the Kentucky Fairness in Construction Act.

(2) Notwithstanding any provision of the Kentucky Revised Statutes to the contrary, after a judgment for the contractor against a contracting entity is entered by a court of competent jurisdiction, a contractor has sixty (60) days to file a mechanic's lien as provided in KRS Chapter 376. The filing of this lien shall not preclude the contractor from seeking additional relief. This subsection shall not apply to public construction contracts with lien rights governed under KRS 376.250.

History.

371.425. Application of KRS 371.400 to 371.425.

(1) Except as provided in subsections (3) and (4) of this section, KRS 371.400 to 371.425 shall apply to public construction and public works projects, and to private construction, excluding residential construction.

(2) KRS 371.400 to 371.425 shall apply to construction contracts entered into after June 26, 2007.

(3) KRS 371.400 to 371.425 shall not apply to contracts entered into by a borrower of funds that are provided, insured, or guaranteed by the United States Department of Agriculture's Rural Utilities Service, or financed under a lien accommodation by the Rural Utilities Service.

(4) KRS 371.400 to 371.425 shall not apply to any contract for construction of or relating to any facility as defined in KRS Chapter 278.

(k) The dated signature of the caregiver;

(l) A statement that acknowledges that a person making false statements in the affidavit shall be subject to criminal penalties;

(m) A statement that acknowledges that execution of the affidavit does not confer upon the caregiver the status of a de facto custodian, guardian, or legal custodian of the minor; and

(n) A statement that acknowledges the requirement for the caregiver to notify any health care provider or school to which the affidavit was presented if the minor ceases to reside with the caregiver or the affidavit is revoked by the minor's parent or parents, de facto custodian, guardian, legal custodian, or caregiver.

(3) The health care authorization portion of the affidavit described in subsection (2) of this section shall be valid for one (1) year and may be renewed annually thereafter unless it is revoked by the minor's parent or parents, de facto custodian, guardian, legal custodian, or caregiver, or if the minor no longer resides with the caregiver. Execution or revocation of the health care authorization portion of the affidavit shall not operate as a complete execution or revocation of the entire affidavit.

(4) The education authorization portion of the affidavit described in subsection (2) of this section shall be valid for one (1) year and may be renewed annually thereafter unless it is revoked by the minor's parent or parents, de facto custodian, guardian, legal custodian, or caregiver, or if the minor no longer resides with the caregiver. Execution or revocation of the education authorization portion of the affidavit shall not operate as a complete execution or revocation of the entire affidavit.

(5) A caregiver may authorize the provision of health care treatment or may refuse the provision of health care treatment to a minor residing with the caregiver if the caregiver presents to a health care provider a duly executed affidavit as described in subsection (2) of this section.

(6) The decision of a caregiver to authorize or refuse health care treatment for a minor shall be superseded by a decision of a parent, de facto custodian, guardian, or legal custodian of the minor.

(7) A health care provider shall honor a caregiver's authorization to provide health care treatment to a minor, or the caregiver's decision to withhold such authorization, if the caregiver presents to the provider a duly executed affidavit described in subsection (2) of this section. A health care provider shall refuse to honor the caregiver's decision to seek or refuse health care treatment if the provider has actual knowledge that a parent, de facto custodian, legal custodian, or guardian has made a superseding decision to authorize or refuse health care treatment for the minor. The provisions of this subsection shall not be construed to prohibit a health care provider from providing health care treatment for a condition that, left untreated, could reasonably be expected to substantially threaten the health or life of the minor.

(8) A person who relies in good faith on a duly executed affidavit as described in subsection (2) of this section in providing or refusing health care treatment shall:

(a) Be under no obligation to undertake further investigation into the circumstances forming the basis of the caregiver's authorization to the provision or refusal of health care treatment; and

(b) Not be subject to criminal or civil liability or professional disciplinary action because of that reliance.

(9) The provisions of this section shall not be construed to relieve any health care provider from liability for negligence in the provision of health care treatment.

(10) An affidavit described in subsection (2) of this section may be revoked by the minor's parent, de facto custodian, guardian, legal custodian, or caregiver, and shall be revoked if the minor to whom it applies ceases to reside with the caregiver. If an affidavit is revoked, the caregiver shall give written notice of revocation to any health care provider to which the affidavit was presented for the purpose of obtaining health care for the minor.

(11) A person who knowingly makes a false statement in an affidavit described in subsection (2) of this section shall be guilty of a Class A misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 406

UNIFORM ACT ON PATERNITY

Section

406.011. Obligations of father — Presumption of paternity.

406.021. Determination of paternity — Liability of noncustodial parent.

406.025. Rebuttable presumption of voluntary acknowledgment-of-paternity affidavit — Temporary support order if paternity is indicated — Continuation of child support until final determination of paternity.

Section

406.031. Limitation of action.

406.051. Remedies — District Court's concurrent jurisdiction for child custody and visitation in paternity cases.

406.011. Obligations of father — Presumption of paternity.

The father of a child which is or may be born out of wedlock is liable to the same extent as the father of a child born in wedlock, whether or not the child is born alive, for the reasonable expense of the mother's pregnancy and confinement and for the education, necessary support and funeral expenses of the child. A child born during lawful wedlock, or within ten (10) months thereafter, is presumed to be the child of the husband and wife. However, a child born out of wedlock includes a child born to a married woman by a man other than her husband where evidence shows that the marital relationship between the husband and wife ceased ten (10) months prior to the birth of the child.

4. Presumption of Legitimacy.
5. Duty of Support.
6. Rebuttal of Presumption.
7. Jurisdiction.
8. Minor Father.

1. Purpose.

The Uniform Paternity Act is designed to give the mother a remedy to compel the putative father to contribute to the support of his illegitimate child. Sweat v. Turner, 547 S.W.2d 435, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 146 (Ky. 1976).

2. Application.

Uniform Paternity Act had no application where man claiming to be natural father of child born out of wedlock brought custody action after mother's death. Sweat v. Turner, 547 S.W.2d 435, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 146 (Ky. 1976).

Trial court erred in finding there was no legal justification for ordering an ex-husband to pay half the funeral expenses for his only son as it would offend equity not to have the ex-husband pay half of the funeral expenses after collecting death benefits based upon his son's death. Jewell v. Jewell, 255 S.W.3d 522, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 162 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

3. Construction.

KRS chapters 406 and 407 are not incompatible since chapter 406 provides a means for identifying the biological parents, while chapter 407 provides the locomotion operandi for enforcing an award of child support. Locke v. Zollicoffer, 608 S.W.2d 54, 1980 Ky. LEXIS 265 (Ky. 1980).

4. Presumption of Legitimacy.

The legislature did not intend to bar an action to establish paternity within three years of birth of a child born with the presumption of legitimacy. Department of Economic Sec. v. Shanklin, 514 S.W.2d 682, 1974 Ky. LEXIS 325 (Ky. 1974).

A 1972 action by the department of economic security to require the father of a child born in 1968, eight months after the parents were divorced, to contribute to the support of the child was not barred by the three year statute of limitations applicable to children born out of wedlock. Department of Economic Sec. v. Shanklin, 514 S.W.2d 682, 1974 Ky. LEXIS 325 (Ky. 1974).

5. Duty of Support.

Agreement entered into by parents of illegitimate child by which father acknowledged paternity and agreed to pay set amount in support and mother agreed to "forbear continued proceedings" unless father failed to meet his support obligations did not prevent mother from bringing subsequent action to increase support payments. Mayfield v. Commonwealth, 546 S.W.2d 433, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1976), cert. denied, 434 U.S. 828, 98 S. Ct. 107, 54 L. Ed. 2d 87, 1977 U.S. LEXIS 2887 (U.S. 1977).

The father of a child born out of wedlock has the same duty of support as the father of a child born in wedlock. Mayfield v. Commonwealth, 546 S.W.2d 433, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1976), cert. denied, 434 U.S. 828, 98 S. Ct. 107, 54 L. Ed. 2d 87, 1977 U.S. LEXIS 2887 (U.S. 1977).

In a case where a legal father was equitably estopped from setting aside an agreed paternity order, it was an abuse of discretion to set aside the father's child support obligation based on the fact that he was not the biological father of two children who were born out of wedlock; the children were statutorily entitled to support, and the court was permitted to deviate from the child support guidelines where their application would have been unjust or inappropriate. K.W. v. J.S., 459 S.W.3d 399, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 21 (Ky. Ct. App. 2015).

6. Rebuttal of Presumption.

In a paternity action, the trial court could reasonably view the evidence as sufficient to remove the question from the realm of reasonable doubt and rebut the presumption of paternity of the husband under this section where the human leukocyte antigens test confirmed the paternity of the defendant, the wife's lover, within a 99.93% degree of accuracy, there was evidence of access, the defendant contributed toward support, and he shared a similar genetic characteristic with the child. Bartlett v. Commonwealth, 705 S.W.2d 470, 1986 Ky. LEXIS 241 (Ky. 1986), overruled in part, J.N.R. v. O'Reilly, 264 S.W.3d 587, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 115 (Ky. 2008).

Testimony by parents as to nonaccess is inadmissible to bastardize an innocent child presumed to have been born legitimate. Drake v. Drake, 721 S.W.2d 728, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1480 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

The parties could not, with the trial court's assistance, illegitimize a child born during the marriage by means of the agreed order acknowledging that the husband was not the natural father of the wife's young son. Drake v. Drake, 721 S.W.2d 728, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1480 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

Although the spouses' marital relationship did not fall into the category of having ceased ten months prior to child's birth, it is uncontested that the husband was found in an earlier Circuit Court proceeding to not be the child's father; that being so, the trial court certainly did not err by concluding that the presumption of legitimacy had been overcome by evidence so clear, distinct and convincing as to remove the question from the realm of reasonable doubt. Montgomery v. McCracken, 802 S.W.2d 943, 1990 Ky. App. LEXIS 181 (Ky. Ct. App. 1990), overruled in part, J.N.R. v. O'Reilly, 264 S.W.3d 587, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 115 (Ky. 2008).

Equitable estoppel required the denial of the CR 60.02 motion to set aside the parentage finding made at the time of the divorce, as the father was unable to overcome the presumption of legitimacy under KRS 406.011; although the mother told the father that the child might not have been the father's, the father represented to the child that he was the child's father, the child was unaware of the mother's statement, the father intended for the child to consider the father as her father, and the child relied on this to the child's detriment. S.R.D. v. T.L.B., 174 S.W.3d 502, 2005 Ky. App. LEXIS 220 (Ky. Ct. App. 2005).

Where the husband was listed on the birth certificate as the father and had supported the child, while the DNA results may have rebutted the presumption of paternity, such a determination did not mean that the husband was without custody rights in the divorce action. Hinshaw v. Hinshaw, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 275 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 1, 2006), aff'd, 237 S.W.3d 170, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 2007).

Family court erred by equitably estopping the father from denying his paternity because the child was not born during the marriage so there existed no presumption of paternity under KRS 406.011, the child knew that appellant was not her biological or natural father and, while he might have acted as the child's natural father, the child, as well as he and the mother, knew that he was not, and, as such, he made no material misrepresentation to the child. J.R.A. v. G.D.A., 314 S.W.3d 764, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 103 (Ky. Ct. App. 2010).

KRS 406.011 set forth standing requirements for a third party to assert paternity of a child born during the lawful wedlock of a husband and wife; the mother did not challenge the biological father's right to bring the action for nearly two years after he brought the paternity petition, and the mother waived any objection to the father's standing to assert paternity. Draper v. Commonwealth ex rel. Heacock, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 10 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 21, 2011, sub. op., 2011 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1012 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 21, 2011)).

Mother was estopped from arguing that KRS 406.180 limited jurisdiction to children born "out of wedlock." The mother and her husband judicially admitted that another man was the father of a child born during the marriage, and diagnostic testing confirmed the other man's paternity; the mother's judicial admissions were sufficient to rebut the presumption that her husband was the father of the child. S.B. v. M.C., 352 S.W.3d 345, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 151 (Ky. Ct. App. 2011).

Trial court properly required genetic testing under KRS 406.081, .091(2) because the man with whom the mother had an affair presented sufficient evidence of access to the mother to make him the child's father under KRS 406.011, .021; the court properly entered an order of contempt against the mother for refusing to submit to testing because the court gave the mother four opportunities to submit to testing. J. K. v. N.J.A., 397 S.W.3d 916, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 59 (Ky. Ct. App. 2013).

Circuit court properly dismissed an adult son's complaint for determination of heirship following the death of his former stepfather because the blood tests taken in a prior child support action precluded the stepfather from being the son's father, that conclusion was res judicata as to the son's right to inherit from the stepfather's estate based on being the stepfather's natural child, and the stepfather did not seek a judgment of adoption. Tucker v. Tucker, 623 S.W.3d 142, 2021 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 2021).

7. Jurisdiction.

Where a child was found by the Circuit Court to have been born out of wedlock to a married woman and fathered by a man other than her husband, the District Court was clearly vested with subject matter jurisdiction to determine paternity. Montgomery v. McCracken, 802 S.W.2d 943, 1990 Ky. App. LEXIS 181 (Ky. Ct. App. 1990), overruled in part, J.N.R. v. O'Reilly, 264 S.W.3d 587, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 115 (Ky. 2008).

While KRS 406.051 provided a District Court with subject matter jurisdiction over an action to establish support for children born out of wedlock, that statutory provision did not apply in a case where the alleged father petitioned the Family Court for custody and support of child born to a wife of another. Kentucky paternity statutes did not apply and, thus, the Family Court did not have jurisdiction, because no evidence was presented to show that the child was born out of wedlock, which would have required a showing that the husband and wife's marital relationship had ceased 10 months before the child's birth, as set forth in KRS 406.011. J.N.R. v. O'Reilly, 264 S.W.3d 587, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 115 (Ky. 2008), overruled in part, J.A.S. v. Bushelman, 342 S.W.3d 850, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. 2011).

Family court had jurisdiction over an action to establish paternity to a child that was conceived while the married couple was legally separated and pursuing a divorce; the presumption of paternity applied under KRS 406.011, because the couple remarried the day before the child was born. Given the unusual facts of this case and the inherent rights of biological parents, the grant of joint custody to appellant former husband could not prevent appellee alleged biological father from pursuing his paternity action under the Uniform Act on Paternity, KRS ch. 406; the allegations and evidence of separation satisfied the jurisdictional requirements of KRS 406.011. Smith v. Garber, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 142 (Ky. June 17, 2010, sub. op., 2010 Ky. Unpub. LEXIS 115 (Ky. June 17, 2010), modified, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 105 (Ky. June 16, 2011)).

Trial court had subject matter jurisdiction over the putative father's paternity action, not under KRS 406.011 because that statute did not define "child born out of wedlock," but under KRS 406.051 and KRS 406.180 because the putative father's action was one to determine the paternity of a child whose alleged biological parents were not married to each other as "marriage" was defined under Kentucky law. The putative father himself had standing to file the paternity action because the allegations contained in the putative father's paternity complaint were sufficient to confer standing on the putative father under KRS 426.021, which allowed putative father's to file a complaint to determine paternity. J.A.S. v. Bushelman, 342 S.W.3d 850, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. 2011).

8. Minor Father.

Father of an illegitimate child, although lacking the statutorily-defined capacity to consent to sexual relations on the date a child is conceived, may be adjudged liable in a civil paternity action for the years subsequent to the date upon which the father reaches the age of majority. Commonwealth ex rel. Rush v. Hatfield, 929 S.W.2d 200, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 148 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Paternity cases cannot be maintained in Kentucky where the child was born out of the state after the effective date of the uniform act on paternity. OAG 64-516.

Action for paternity of child may be maintained if the child was less than three at the commencement of the action and was born before the effective date of the uniform act on paternity. OAG 64-794.

If a child was born after the effective date of the uniform act on paternity, a bastardy action may not be maintained in Kentucky unless the child was born in the state and was born out of wedlock to an unmarried woman. OAG 64-794.

Considering this chapter as a whole and noting that KRS 406.051 provides in part that all remedies under KRS Ch. 407 are available for enforcement of duties of support under this chapter, the county court has a continuing jurisdiction over paternity actions for the purpose of the child's support as well as the future education of the child and thus the court can modify the original judgment as it pertains to the education of the child. OAG 73-354.

Where the husband has been in prison for two and one-half years without physical access to his wife and where the wife was pregnant on the filing of the divorce petition the court should continue the action and not terminate it as provided by subsection (7) of KRS 403.150 since the wife anticipated having a baby of a man extrinsic to the subject marital relationship while the husband is in prison goes a long way toward establishing the “irretrievable breakdown” proposition provided for in KRS 403.170 and since this section permits the court to make a determination of whether the evidence shows that the marital relationship between the husband and wife ceased at least ten months prior to the medically expected birth of the child. OAG 76-465.

Since a paternity judgment of a county is a personal judgment, unless the defendant is personally served in Kentucky in the precise manner indicated in CR 4.04 or unless the defendant enters a voluntary appearance in the action, the judgment would be void for lack of jurisdiction. OAG 77-229.

Essentially a bastardy proceeding is a civil proceeding, and the Kentucky Rules of Civil Procedure govern. OAG 79-635.

The determination of whether the defendant is the actual father constitutes a condition precedent in judicially applying the remedy set out in KRS 406.011 et seq., i.e., in imposing a financial obligation on the alleged father, defendant. OAG 79-635.

There is no explicit provision as relates to subject costs in this chapter. OAG 79-654.

Although a surrogate parenting contract would be illegal and unenforceable in Kentucky, certain noncontractual remedies exist including a custody proceeding by the natural father under KRS 403.270 or, if the natural father and his wife decided that they did not want custody or to adopt the child, the surrogate mother could institute a paternity action under KRS 406.021, and if the presumption under this section, that the child was born to the natural father and his wife, is overcome, the surrogate mother could have liability for certain expenses imposed upon the father. OAG 81-18.

In the absence of contractual provisions between a natural father and a surrogate mother in a surrogate parenting contract providing that the surrogate and her husband agree to assume all risks, including death, incident to the pregnancy and the natural father provides term life insurance and medical insurance for the surrogate, a natural father would not be liable for injuries done to the surrogate mother because of her pregnancy, unless the surrogate establishes his paternity and he becomes liable for the reasonable expense of the surrogate’s pregnancy and confinement under this section. OAG 81-18.

406.021. Determination of paternity — Liability of noncustodial parent.

(1) Paternity may be determined upon the complaint of the mother, putative father, child, person, or agency substantially contributing to the support of the child. The action shall be brought by the county attorney or by the Cabinet for Health and Family Services or its designee upon the request of complainant authorized by this section.

(2) Paternity may be determined by the District Court when the mother and father of the child, either:

(a) Submit affidavits in which the mother states the name and Social Security number of the child’s father and the father admits paternity of the child; or

(b) Give testimony before the District Court in which the mother states the name and Social Security number of the child’s father and the father admits paternity of the child.

(3) If paternity has been determined or has been acknowledged according to the laws of this state, the liabilities of the noncustodial parent may be enforced in the same or other proceedings by the mother, child, person, or agency substantially contributing to the cost of pregnancy, confinement, education, necessary support, or funeral expenses. Bills for testing, pregnancy, and childbirth without requiring third party foundation testimony shall be regarded as prima facie evidence of the amount incurred. An action to enforce the liabilities of the noncustodial parent shall be brought by the county attorney upon the request of such complainant authorized by this section. An action to enforce the liabilities of the cost of pregnancy, birthing costs, child support, and medical support shall be brought by the county attorney or by the Cabinet for Health and Family Services or its designee.

(4) Voluntary acknowledgment of paternity pursuant to KRS 213.046 shall create a rebuttable presumption of paternity.

(5) Upon a showing of service of process on the defendant and if the defendant has made no pleading to the court or has not moved to enter evidence pursuant to KRS 406.091, the court shall order paternity to be established by default.

1. Jurisdiction.

The Uniform Paternity Act vests the county juvenile court with exclusive jurisdiction to determine paternity actions. Sweat v. Turner, 547 S.W.2d 435, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 146 (Ky. 1976).

Because jurisdiction over paternity determinations was exclusively with the District Court, the Circuit Court lacked jurisdiction to render a paternity judgment. Boone v. Ballinger, 228 S.W.3d 1, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 133 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

Despite the fact that KRS 406.021 stated that a paternity complaint may be filed by a “putative father,” the Family Court did not obtain jurisdiction over the alleged father’s petition for custody and support in a case where the alleged father asserted biological father status regarding a child born to a wife of another. Kentucky paternity statutes did not apply where no showing was made that the marital relationship ceased to exist 10 months before the child was born, as set forth in KRS 406.011. J.N.R. v. O’Reilly, 264 S.W.3d 587, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 115 (Ky. 2008), overruled in part, J.A.S. v. Bushelman, 342 S.W.3d 850, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. 2011).

2. Parties.

Where the county attorney did not have the possibility of obtaining a child support order from the putative father’s estate, he lacked standing to bring a paternity action. Commonwealth ex rel. Walker v. Estate of Sullivan, 997 S.W.2d 499, 1999 Ky. App. LEXIS 92 (Ky. Ct. App. 1999).

Where the estate of a decedent filed a complaint for determination of paternity of a child allegedly fathered by the decedent, although the Family Court did not have jurisdiction over a paternity action under KRS 406.021 or KRS 406.180, as the estate was not the proper party to file such a suit, and neither the child nor mother ever lived in the United States, the court had jurisdiction under KRS 418.040 to enter a declaratory judgment as to the child’s paternity. Uninsured Employers’ Fund v. Bradley, 244 S.W.3d 741, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 403 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

When, in a divorce, a trial court entered an order determining a subject child’s paternity, based on an acknowledgment of paternity submitted by the person found to be the child’s father and the child’s mother, and DNA tests subsequently showed this person was not the child’s father, it was error to conclude that the father committed fraud by alleging paternity because (1) the father’s knowledge of a “remote possibility” that the father was not the child’s father was insufficient to show fraud, and (2) any concealment of non-paternity did not bar others involved in a neglect case concerning the child from fully presenting those parties’ sides of the case, since those parties were not parties to the divorce. Ipock v. Ipock, 403 S.W.3d 580, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 100 (Ky. Ct. App. 2013).

3. Prior Paternity Action.

Prior paternity action is not required to petition the circuit court for custody of a child where father can produce reliable evidence that he is the father and that the best interest of the child would result. Sweat v. Turner, 547 S.W.2d 435, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 146 (Ky. 1976).

Trial court had subject matter jurisdiction over the putative father’s paternity action, not under KRS 406.011 because that statute did not define “child born out of wedlock,” but under KRS 406.051 and KRS 406.180 because the putative father’s action was one to determine the paternity of a child whose alleged biological parents were not married to each other as “marriage” was defined under Kentucky law. The putative father himself had standing to file the paternity action because the allegations contained in the putative father’s paternity complaint were sufficient to confer standing on the putative father under KRS 426.021, which allowed putative father’s to file a complaint to determine paternity. J.A.S. v. Bushelman, 342 S.W.3d 850, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. 2011).

When, in a divorce, a trial court entered an order determining a subject child’s paternity, based on an acknowledgment of paternity submitted by the person found to be the child’s father and the child’s mother, and DNA tests subsequently showed this person was not the child’s father, it was not error to amend the order because the conclusive paternity tests were a circumstance rendering the order subject to amendment. Ipock v. Ipock, 403 S.W.3d 580, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 100 (Ky. Ct. App. 2013).

4. Action by County Attorney.

A prosecutor from one county in a multi-county judicial district could bring an action pursuant to this section to determine the paternity of children from another county in the same judicial district, since paternity actions may be brought by and prosecuted by the mother, child, person or agency substantially contributing to the support of the child, through an attorney of their choosing, with the county attorney only entering the case when requested to do so by the complainant, and because, in this case, the Department for Human Resources contracted with the county attorney to represent the complainant pursuant to KRS 407.190 and subsection (3) of KRS 407.250. Commonwealth ex rel. Stumbo v. Wilson, 622 S.W.2d 912, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 281 (Ky. 1981).

5. Blood Tests.

The trial court’s failure to provide an indigent putative father blood tests at no expense to him violated that individual’s Fourteenth Amendment rights. Shaw v. Seward, 689 S.W.2d 37, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 573 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

6. Genetic Testing Required.

Trial court properly required genetic testing under KRS 406.081, .091(2) because the man with whom the mother had an affair presented sufficient evidence of access to the mother to make him the child’s father under KRS 406.011; the court properly entered an order of contempt against the mother for refusing to submit to testing because the court gave the mother four opportunities to submit to testing. J. K. v. N.J.A., 397 S.W.3d 916, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 59 (Ky. Ct. App. 2013).

7. Standard of Proof.

In an action to establish paternity, the “preponderance of evidence” standard satisfies due process. Shaw v. Seward, 689 S.W.2d 37, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 573 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

8. Statute of Limitations.

KRS 406.031, which formerly provided for a four-year statute of limitations in paternity actions pursuant to subsection

(1) of this section, violated the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment of the United States Constitution and was therefore unconstitutional. Alexander v. Commonwealth, 708 S.W.2d 102, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1111 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986) (decision prior to 1986 amendment of KRS 406.031).

The invalidation of KRS 406.031 leaves this commonwealth without a statute of limitations in paternity actions; therefore, as a paternity action is a cause of action created by statute, in the absence of any other time limit fixed by statute, the five-year time limit set out in subdivision (2) of KRS 413.120 shall apply to actions brought pursuant to subsection (1) of this section. Alexander v. Commonwealth, 708 S.W.2d 102, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1111 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986) (decision prior to 1986 amendment of KRS 406.031).

The five-year time limit of subdivision (2) of KRS 413.120 does not run during the minority of any person entitled to bring an action pursuant to subsection (1) of this section. Alexander v. Commonwealth, 708 S.W.2d 102, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1111 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986) (decision prior to 1986 amendment of KRS 406.031).

9. Res Judicata.

If an action has been brought under the Uniform Act on Paternity, and prosecuted to judgment on the merits, the outcome is conclusive on the issue of paternity since such determination is essential to an adjudication of a duty of support; if the issue of paternity is litigated and determined as an element of an action for support, the result is res judicata as to other legal rights which exist by virtue of paternity. Ellis v. Ellis, 752 S.W.2d 781, 1988 Ky. LEXIS 47 (Ky. 1988).

10. Paternity and Custody Statutes Distinguished.

Putative grandparents have standing to pursue reasonable visitation rights under KRS 405.021; there is no requirement that they obtain a court order establishing father's paternity prior to seeking visitation. Posey v. Powell, 965 S.W.2d 836, 1998 Ky. App. LEXIS 27 (Ky. Ct. App. 1998).

Family court erred by concluding that appellant was the legal father of the child because, although the affidavit of paternity under KRS 213.046 created a rebuttable presumption of paternity under KRS 406.021, the father and the mother had acknowledged that his sworn affidavit of paternity was false and they admitted that he was not the child's biological father; thus, the presumption of paternity was clearly rebutted. J.R.A. v. G.D.A., 314 S.W.3d 764, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 103 (Ky. Ct. App. 2010).

11. Void Judgment.

Agreed-upon paternity judgment, which established only non-paternity, was void and set aside because the family court did not follow the mandate of the applicable statute since it did not name the father, provide affidavits to prove his status as father, or order genetic testing. Commonwealth v. B.N.T., 2022 Ky. LEXIS 124 (Ky. Apr. 28, 2022).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

It is the county attorney's duty to prepare the complaint, the clerk's duty to prepare the summons, and the sheriff's duty to serve same upon the alleged father, the defendant. OAG 65-472.

A judgment by default may be entered in a proceeding under this chapter. OAG 66-762.

A judgment for child support may be entered in a paternity action, even when a default has been entered against the putative father only after the court hears evidence on which to base an award. OAG 66-762.

It is within the discretion of the court in which the paternity action is pending to decline to take the issue of paternity as admitted by default and to require proof on behalf of plaintiff on that issue. OAG 66-762.

The court may, if the defendant in the paternity action is within the subpoena power of the court, subpoena him in as a witness at the hearing in spite of his failure to answer the complaint. OAG 66-762.

There is no statutory basis for the county attorney's getting any fee for his services in filing such an action either before or after the action is begun. OAG 71-90.

The act of filing a paternity action is not discretionary with the county attorney. OAG 71-426.

The county attorney may not refuse to file a paternity action on the grounds he thinks it is unfounded if the other conditions of this chapter are met. OAG 71-426.

The county attorney is the proper person to initiate paternity actions upon the request of a proper party, but the county attorney is vested with the discretion to not prosecute such an action if he believes there is no chance of success. OAG 74-63.

Since a paternity judgment of a county is a personal judgment, unless the defendant is personally served in Kentucky in the precise manner indicated in CR 4.04 or unless the defendant enters a voluntary appearance in the action, the judgment would be void for lack of jurisdiction. OAG 77-229.

There is nothing in this section authorizing the county court to consider paternity cases in juvenile session of county court. OAG 78-104.

Although a surrogate parenting contract would be illegal and unenforceable in Kentucky, certain noncontractual remedies exist including a custody proceeding by the natural father under KRS 403.270 or, if the natural father and his wife decided that they did not want custody or to adopt the child, the surrogate mother could institute a paternity action under this section, and if the presumption under KRS 406.011, that the child was born to the natural father and his wife, is overcome, the surrogate mother could have liability for certain expenses imposed upon the father. OAG 81-18.

406.025. Rebuttable presumption of voluntary acknowledgment-of-paternity affidavit — Temporary support order if paternity is indicated — Continuation of child support until final determination of paternity.

(1) Upon completion of a signed, notarized, voluntary acknowledgment-of-paternity affidavit by the mother and alleged father, obtained through the hospital-based paternity program, and submitted to the state registrar of vital statistics, paternity shall be rebuttably presumed for the earlier of sixty (60) days or the date of an administrative or judicial proceeding relating to the child, including a proceeding to establish a child support order.

(2) Upon completion of a signed, notarized, voluntary acknowledgment-of-paternity affidavit by the mother and alleged father obtained outside of the hospital and submitted to the state registrar of vital statistics, paternity shall be rebuttably presumed for the earlier of sixty (60) days or the date of an administrative or judicial proceeding relating to the child, including a proceeding to establish a child support order following the date of signatures on the notarized affidavit.

(3) Pending an administrative or judicial determination of parentage, or upon a signed, notarized, voluntary acknowledgment-of-paternity form having been transmitted by the local registrar and received by the Vital Statistics Branch, a temporary support order shall be issued upon motion of any party if paternity is indicated by genetic testing or other clear and convincing evidence.

(4) The motion shall be accompanied by an affidavit setting forth the factual basis for the motion and the amounts requested.

(5) The court shall, within fourteen (14) days from the filing of the motion, order an amount of temporary child support based upon the child support guidelines as provided by KRS 403.212 or 403.2121. The ordered child support shall be retroactive to the date of the filing of the motion to move the court to enter an order for temporary child support without written or oral notice to the adverse party. The order shall provide that the order becomes effective seven (7) days following service of the order and movant's affidavit upon the adverse party unless the adverse party, within the seven (7) day period, files a motion for a hearing before the court. The motion for hearing shall be accompanied by the affidavit required by KRS 403.160(2)(a). Pending the hearing, the adverse party shall pay child support in an amount based upon the guidelines and the adverse party's affidavit. The child support order entered following the hearing shall be retroactive to the date of the filing of the motion for temporary support unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(6) Unless good cause is shown, court or administratively ordered child support shall continue until final judicial or administrative determination of paternity.

1. Applicability.

Pursuant to Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 406.025(5), attorney's fees were allowed on remand where the judgment specifically invoked and utilized Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 403.212 to resolve the child support claims. Seeger v. Lanham, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 188 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 18, 2016), aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 542 S.W.3d 286, 2018 Ky. 406.031. Limitation of action.

(1) The determination of paternity under the provisions of KRS 406.021(1) shall be commenced within eighteen (18) years after the birth, miscarriage or stillbirth of a child. However, in such cases, liability for child support shall not predate the initiation of action taken to determine paternity as set forth in KRS 406.021 if the action is taken two (2) years or more from the date of birth.

(2) Any person for whom paternity has not yet been established and who had not reached eighteen (18) years of age as of August 16, 1984, including those persons for whom a paternity action was brought but dismissed because a statute of limitations of less than eighteen (18) years was then in effect, may bring an action to establish paternity.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Construction.
3. Application.
4. Action Barred.
5. Inheritance.
6. Time Limitation.

1. Constitutionality.

The three-year statute of limitations formerly set out in this section failed to afford equal protection to illegitimate children and was therefore unconstitutional. Commonwealth ex rel. Leopard v. Young, 666 S.W.2d 735, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 310 (Ky. 1983) (Decision prior to 1984 amendment).

This section which formerly provided for a four-year statute of limitations in paternity actions pursuant to subsection (1) of KRS 406.021 violated the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment of the United States Constitution and was therefore unconstitutional. Alexander v. Commonwealth, 708

S.W.2d 102, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1111 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986) (decision prior to 1986 amendment of this section).

2. Construction.

Court of Appeals of Kentucky holds that a trial court may, in its discretion, apply excess social security retirement dependent benefits as a credit against the pre-petition child support liabilities a father incurs when a paternity action is initiated before a child turns four years old. Seeger v. Lanham, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 188 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 18, 2016), aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 542 S.W.3d 286, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 132 (Ky. 2018).

3. Application.

Where a district court's opinion which awarded arrearages in child support in a paternity suit was entered in the interim after the prior version of this section was held unconstitutional and before the passage of the current version of this section, but the appeal to the circuit court was decided after the current version became effective, the circuit court properly ruled that current version could not be retroactively applied. See Wigginton v. Commonwealth, 760 S.W.2d 885, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 166 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

Trial court erred in holding that excess social security retirement benefits could only be applied as a credit toward the pre-petition child support liabilities from the date that the benefits began accruing where the father's pre-petition child support liability was not established until a judgment, and the child began receiving social security retirement dependent benefits before the judgment date. Seeger v. Lanham, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 188 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 18, 2016), aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 542 S.W.3d 286, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 132 (Ky. 2018).

4. Action Barred.

Where infant was 10 years and 10 months old at the time an action to establish paternity was initially filed, the three-year (now four-year) statute of limitations provided for in this section served as a bar to the suit. Locke v. Zollicoffer, 608 S.W.2d 54, 1980 Ky. LEXIS 265 (Ky. 1980). (Decision prior to 1984 amendment.).

5. Inheritance.

An illegitimate's claim to the putative father's estate was not barred by this section, which merely places a time limitation upon the bringing of paternity actions for the purpose of establishing a duty of support during the minority of a child. Ellis v. Ellis, 752 S.W.2d 781, 1988 Ky. LEXIS 47 (Ky. 1988).

6. Time Limitation.

This section allows 18 years for the "person substantially contributing to the support" to bring an action to determine paternity; but it prohibits parties who unreasonably delay in bringing such actions from recovering large amounts in arrearages; in effect, this section codifies the common law doctrine of laches, and laches can be a valid defense in paternity actions which seek past support. Wigginton v. Commonwealth, 760 S.W.2d 885, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 166 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

A retroactive support award against an itinerant worker was appropriate where (1) the child at issue was born in September, 1990, (2) an action to establish paternity and for support was commenced in December, 1990, but service was not effectuated because the defendant had left the state and his whereabouts were unknown, and (3) in 1993, the mother learned that the defendant was working in Maryland and the case was referred to the State Parent Locator Service, but he was not located and served until 1997. Ramirez v. Commonwealth ex rel. Brooks, 44 S.W.3d 800, 2000 Ky. App. LEXIS 138 (Ky. Ct. App. 2000).

406.051. Remedies — District Court's concurrent jurisdiction for child custody and visitation in paternity cases.

(1) The District Court has jurisdiction of an action brought under this chapter and all remedies for the enforcement of judgments for expenses of pregnancy and confinement for a wife or for education, necessary support, or funeral expenses for children born out of wedlock. An appeal may be had to the Circuit Court if prosecuted within sixty (60) days from the date of judgment. The court has continuing jurisdiction to modify or revoke a judgment for future education. All remedies under the uniform reciprocal enforcement of support act are available for enforcement of duties of support under this chapter.

(2) The District Court may exercise jurisdiction, concurrent with that of the Circuit Court, to determine matters of child custody and visitation in cases where paternity is established as set forth in this chapter. The District Court, in making these determinations, shall utilize the provisions of KRS Chapter 403 relating to child custody and visitation. The District Court may decline jurisdiction if it finds the circumstances of any case require a level of proceedings more appropriate to the Circuit Court.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Appeal.
2. Standard of Proof.
3. Paternity Matters.
4. Jurisdiction.

1. Appeal.

The trial court erroneously assumed that the appellant had only 30 days to appeal under CR 72.02, but the controlling bastardy statute allowed 60 days. Commonwealth ex rel. Hafley v. Hernandez, 434 S.W.2d 811, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 251 (Ky. 1968).

The date of the county (now district) court judgment for appeal purposes was the date when the order book was actually signed by the judge. Blanton v. Castle, 450 S.W.2d 818, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 464 (Ky. 1970).

A District Court could have exercised concurrent jurisdiction with that of the Circuit Court and adjudicated an action for sole custody, adjudication of paternity, award of child support, award of pregnancy and confinement expenses, attorney's fees and costs and, therefore, an appeal from the District Court Order should have been taken to the Circuit Court, rather than to the Court of Appeals. Elery v. Martin, 4 S.W.3d 550, 1999 Ky. App. LEXIS 123 (Ky. Ct. App. 1999).

2. Standard of Proof.

In an action to determine paternity, where putative father has died intestate, the clear and convincing evidence standard of persuasion is to be applied by the trier of the fact in a trial setting; if applied to a summary judgment proceeding, "clear and convincing" evidence must demonstrate an impossibility under CR 56.03. Hibbs v. Chandler, 684 S.W.2d 310, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 509 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

3. Paternity Matters.

Where a child was found by the circuit court to have been born out of wedlock to a married woman and fathered by a man other than her husband, the district court was clearly vested with subject matter jurisdiction to determine paternity. Montgomery v. McCracken, 802 S.W.2d 943, 1990 Ky. App. LEXIS 181 (Ky. Ct. App. 1990), overruled in part, J.N.R. v. O'Reilly, 264 S.W.3d 587, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 115 (Ky. 2008).

While KRS 406.051 provided a District Court with subject matter jurisdiction over an action to establish support for children born out of wedlock, that statutory provision did not apply in a case where the alleged father petitioned the Family Court for custody and support of child born to a wife of another. Kentucky paternity statutes did not apply and, thus, the Family Court did not have jurisdiction, because no evidence was presented to show that the child was born out of wedlock, which would have required a showing that the husband and wife's marital relationship had ceased 10 months before the child's birth, as set forth in KRS 406.011. J.N.R. v. O'Reilly, 264 S.W.3d 587, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 115 (Ky. 2008), overruled in part, J.A.S. v. Bushelman, 342 S.W.3d 850, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. 2011).

Trial court had subject matter jurisdiction over the putative father's paternity action, not under KRS 406.011 because that statute did not define "child born out of wedlock," but under KRS 406.051 and KRS 406.180 because the putative father's action was one to determine the paternity of a child whose alleged biological parents were not married to each other as "marriage" was defined under Kentucky law. The putative father himself had standing to file the paternity action because the allegations contained in the putative father's paternity complaint were sufficient to confer standing on the putative father under KRS 426.021, which allowed putative father's to file a complaint to determine paternity. J.A.S. v. Bushelman, 342 S.W.3d 850, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. 2011).

4. Jurisdiction.

Mother was estopped from arguing that KRS 406.180 limited jurisdiction to children born "out of wedlock." The mother and her husband judicially admitted that another man was the father of a child born during the marriage, and diagnostic testing confirmed the other man's paternity; the mother's judicial admissions were sufficient to rebut the presumption that her husband was the father of the child. S.B. v. M.C., 352 S.W.3d 345, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 151 (Ky. Ct. App. 2011).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Where the complainant in a paternity suit is allowed to proceed as a pauper, upon the establishment of paternity against the defendant, the filing fee or other court costs can be recovered from the defendant as part of the judgment. OAG 65-212.

Where the complaining mother, under the uniform paternity act, is a pauper, she should file a pauper's oath and move the court to be permitted to proceed without paying of filing fees or other court costs after which the court can permit her to proceed. OAG 65-212.

Bastardy cases may be tried by juries consisting of six persons. OAG 71-425.

Considering this chapter as a whole and noting that this section provides in part that all remedies under KRS Ch. 407 are available for enforcement of duties of support under this chapter, the county court has a continuing jurisdiction over paternity actions for the purposes of the child's support as well as the future education of the child and thus the court can modify the original judgment as it pertains to the education of the child. OAG 73-354.

The county court has jurisdiction to adjudicate the issue of the putative father's visitation rights. OAG 76-47.

Although this section does not expressly provide that the county attorney must represent the complainant on an appeal to the circuit court, if the complainant's action is to mean anything ultimately the county attorney must be required to prosecute the appeal where the complainant wishes to avail herself of that remedy. OAG 77-52.

Since the court in a paternity action is precluded from assessing the costs, including the blood tests, against the mother under this section and former KRS 407.220 (now repealed), and since the defendant is not responsible for such costs if he is a pauper under KRS 453.190, and since there is no statute imposing the costs on some other person or a governmental unit, there is simply no statutory basis for imposing such costs on any person or governmental unit in such a case. OAG 79-654.

The district court has jurisdiction to deal with issue of putative father's visitation rights and child's correlative right to see father. OAG 85-28, modifying OAG 76-47.

There are no restrictions or limitations found in KRS 509.070 as to its applicability to different classes of persons or orders of a court; instead, it is general in nature and provides a defense to custodial interference if the person is returned voluntarily and before an arrest or issuance of an arrest warrant. Therefore, if paternity has been established under this chapter and a custody and visitation order had been entered pursuant to that finding, a copy of which is received by the putative father, then KRS 509.070 should be applicable to a father who violates that visitation order. OAG 90-18.

One who knowingly violates a properly established custody and visitation order entered pursuant to this chapter should be subject to prosecution under KRS 509.070; to differentiate between those visitation orders entered under this chapter from those entered under Chapter 403 or other chapters would establish an improper distinction between the children whom these orders cover. OAG 90-18.

Any individual who knowingly violates a child custody and visitation order entered pursuant to this chapter may be prosecuted for violation of that order under KRS 509.070, and OAG 76-147 is modified accordingly. OAG 90-18.

An individual may be prosecuted under KRS 509.070 where a district court has entered a child custody and visitation order under this chapter and the father has notice of said order. OAG 90-18.

7. —School Trustee.
8. City Offices.
9. —Attorney.

12. —Marshal.

1. Construction.

The language “for usurpation of other than county offices,” refers to all offices save county offices, whether state, city or town. Wheeler v. Commonwealth, 98 Ky. 59, 32 S.W. 259, 17 Ky. L. Rptr. 636, 1895 Ky. LEXIS 14 (Ky. 1895).

An ouster proceeding under this section and KRS 415.040 must be brought by one who is entitled to the office by the Commonwealth’s Attorney if a county office is at stake, or by the Attorney General if a state office is at stake. Williamson v. Hughes, 303 Ky. 735, 199 S.W.2d 125, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 540 (Ky. 1947).

In deciding whether the Attorney General has authority to bring ouster proceedings for usurpation of a public office, it is the governmental level of the office, rather than the nature of the usurpation for which ouster is sought which is controlling and since county school board members are state officers it is clear that usurpation of the office is to be attacked through actions brought by the Attorney General under this section. Commonwealth ex rel. Buckman v. Mason, 284 S.W.2d 825, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 53 (Ky. 1955).

Courts should be slow to invoke estoppel against the state in its efforts to enforce a statute the purpose of which is to prevent “conflict of interest” situations and to prevent self-interest in the deliberation of public servants, and fact that county school board member was re-elected to a new term after the acts complained of did not “whitewash” him or furnish a defense. Stringer v. Commonwealth, 428 S.W.2d 203, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 709 (Ky. 1968).

Courts should not be deterred in giving “conflict of interest” statute its full measure of legislative intent by other public school authorities who may be instrumental in invoking the statute for purely selfish reasons. Stringer v. Commonwealth, 428 S.W.2d 203, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 709 (Ky. 1968).

2. Power of Attorney General.

The Attorney General had the power to give authority to an attorney to institute ouster proceedings, in the Attorney General’s name, against members of school board who were allegedly disqualified from holding the office. Commonwealth v. Begley, 273 Ky. 636, 117 S.W.2d 599, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 692 (Ky. 1938).

If the private citizen does not claim the office himself, the Attorney General is the only one who may institute an action for usurpation of offices other than county offices and franchises, and a private citizen may not compel the Attorney General by a writ of mandamus or otherwise to institute ouster proceedings, for the words “shall be” in this section simply provide, in essence, that if the right of action which rests in the Commonwealth is to be asserted in such a case, the Attorney General is the only one who may do so. Hermann v. Morlidge, 298 Ky. 632, 183 S.W.2d 807, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 968 (Ky. 1944).

The Attorney General is invested with a discretion which a private citizen may not coerce, nor a court control, whatever the motives activating the private citizen. Hermann v. Morlidge, 298 Ky. 632, 183 S.W.2d 807, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 968 (Ky. 1944).

A public officer may not be ousted or enjoined from the performance of his duties, except as the result of an action brought by a person who claims the office, or in the case of a state officer, in an ouster action brought by the Attorney General. Griffey v. Board of Education, 385 S.W.2d 319, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 157 (Ky. 1964).

3. Usurpation of Franchise.

The Attorney General has the authority to institute proceedings, in the name of the Commonwealth, against a usurper of the offices of a private or public franchise or corporation; therefore in an action instituted by the Attorney General to prevent the exercising or usurpation of lottery privileges, if the defendants fail to plead to the merits, judgment should be rendered against them by default. Commonwealth v. Frankfort, Simmons & Dickinson, 76 Ky. 185, 1877 Ky. LEXIS 27 (Ky. 1877).

4. State Office.

An action under this section to oust usurpers of state offices, if filed in the name of the Commonwealth, must be filed on relation of, and by authority of, Attorney General; however, where the action is purportedly filed by that official as the plaintiff, and all pleadings refer to Commonwealth, on his relation, as a party to suit, there is a presumption that proper authority to file action was given, and one who would dispute that fact must come forward and affirmatively establish that no such authority was given; in no event will a party be permitted to raise the issue, for the first time on appeal, where his inaction at the trial foreclosed all opportunities to examine the facts concerning the claim. Brooks v. Commonwealth, 286 S.W.2d 913, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 436 (Ky. 1956).

5. —School Board.

A member of the county board of education is not a county official but an official of the state; therefore, an action to oust a member of the county board of education, alleging he is a usurper of the office, should have been brought by the Attorney General and not by the Commonwealth’s attorney. Tipton v. Commonwealth, 238 Ky. 111, 36 S.W.2d 855, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 188 (Ky. 1931).

The Attorney General has the authority through local counsel to institute an action to have a member of the board of education of a county declared a usurper, alleging that he has forfeited his office because of interest in contracts entered into with school board for purchase of coal. Commonwealth ex rel. Vincent v. Withers, 266 Ky. 29, 98 S.W.2d 24, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 594 (Ky. 1936).

The Attorney General by an ordinary action may remove a member of a county board of education from office for wrongful acts. Richardson v. Commonwealth, 275 Ky. 486, 122 S.W.2d 156, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 472 (Ky. 1938).

A member of the county board of education is a state officer and a suit to oust him as a usurper must be brought by the Attorney General. Chadwell v. Commonwealth, 288 Ky. 644, 157 S.W.2d 280, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 182 (Ky. 1941).

A superintendent of schools, not claiming office of school board member, could not bring an action to oust school board member because of illegal transactions with the board in violation of KRS 160.180, but the Attorney General, under this section and KRS 415.060, had to bring the action since the board of education is a state and not a county office. Jones v. Browning, 298 Ky. 467, 183 S.W.2d 38, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 923 (Ky. 1944).

A county board of education cannot declare office of one of its members vacant because of forfeiture due to the ineligibility of the member, and appoint another to serve in his stead under KRS 160.180; proper procedure is for an action to be brought by the Attorney General to have the office declared vacant for the office is a state office. Salyers v. Lyons, 304 Ky. 320, 200 S.W.2d 749, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 637 (Ky. 1947).

An action to prevent usurpation of office by an elected member of county board of education, based on ineligibility because he did not possess an eighth grade education as required by KRS 160.180, which was filed after his election and oath of office but two days before the expiration of the term of his predecessor, was properly dismissed since a usurper is one who intrudes himself into an office that is vacant or without color of title or right, ousts the incumbent and assumes to act as an officer by exercising some of the functions of the office; thus, the term must have begun and the defendant have assumed, usurped or taken possession of the office prior to the filing of a petition for ouster, and the later assumption of the office and amendment of petition cannot give life to a premature petition. Broyles v. Commonwealth, 309 Ky. 837, 219 S.W.2d 52, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 826 (Ky. 1949).

If alleged misconduct by local school board members is not considered by the superintendent of public instruction, in the exercise of a fair discretion, to be such as to warrant action by the state board of education, the local citizens may still obtain a remedy through removal proceedings by the Attorney General under KRS 415.030 and this section. Hogan v. Kentucky State Board of Education, 329 S.W.2d 563, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 1958).

In ouster proceeding by Attorney General under authority of this section and KRS 415.060 against school board member based on his lack of qualifications, member's failure to respond properly to request for admission that he lacked such qualifications constituted an admission of such lack, and judgment of ouster should have been granted. Commonwealth ex rel. Matthews v. Rice, 415 S.W.2d 618, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 10 (Ky. 1966).

The State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education, under the Kentucky Education Reform Act, has the authority to remove members from a county board of education for misconduct in office; there is no language in either KRS 156.132 or KRS 160.180 which suggests, let alone mandates, that the Attorney General has the exclusive power to remove district board members for violations of KRS 160.180. State Bd. for Elementary & Secondary Educ. v. Ball, 847 S.W.2d 743, 1993 Ky. LEXIS 46 (Ky. 1993).

6. —County School Superintendent.

A county school superintendent is not a county officer and thus an action against him for usurpation of office must be brought against him by the Attorney General, not by a Commonwealth's attorney. Commonwealth ex rel. Baxter v. Burnett, 237 Ky. 473, 35 S.W.2d 857, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 623 (Ky. 1931). See Tipton v. Commonwealth, 238 Ky. 111, 36 S.W.2d 855, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 188 (Ky. 1931).

Where a county school superintendent has accepted another state office that is incompatible with the office of school superintendent he has forfeited the office, and, since the county school superintendent is an official of the state, the Attorney General is the only one who can proceed against him for usurping the office. Commonwealth ex rel. Baxter v. Burnett, 237 Ky. 473, 35 S.W.2d 857, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 623 (Ky. 1931).

7. —School Trustee.

Where one is in possession of the office of school trustee, though he be a usurper, he cannot be deprived of it at the suit of a claimant of the same office, unless the latter shows himself entitled thereto, and since petition shows on its face that plaintiff did not have title, the petition was properly dismissed. Only one who could bring action against usurper was the Attorney General or the Commonwealth's attorney. Morgan v. Adams, 250 Ky. 441, 63 S.W.2d 479, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 709 (Ky. 1933).

8. City Offices.

Only the person entitled to the office or the Attorney General may bring an action either to remove a person usurping a municipal office or to test the claim of a potential usurper to such office. Jenkins v. Congleton, 242 Ky. 46, 45 S.W.2d 456, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 209 (Ky. 1932).

9. —Attorney.

Although the office of city attorney of a third-class city is filled by the action of the council, an action may be maintained in the name of the Commonwealth and by the Attorney General to prevent the usurpation of the office, it being an office other than a county office. Wheeler v. Commonwealth, 98 Ky. 59, 32 S.W. 259, 17 Ky. L. Rptr. 636, 1895 Ky. LEXIS 14 (Ky. 1895).

Proceeding by Attorney General under this section to oust city attorney was not authorized by the law where the council of a city of the fourth class had the power under its charter to remove the city attorney at any time, and the council prescribed by ordinance for what cause they would remove such officer, since the council and not the circuit court had the authority to remove him for a violation of the ordinance. Commonwealth v. Willis, 42 S.W. 1118, 19 Ky. L. Rptr. 962 (1897).

A city attorney in a city of the fourth class is an "officer" with the meaning of Section 234 of the Kentucky Constitution and is, therefore, subject to removal under the provisions of this section, is he is not a resident of the city. Hirschfeld v. Commonwealth, 256 Ky. 374, 76 S.W.2d 47, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 416 (Ky. 1934).

10. —Councilman.

The Attorney General has the authority to institute an action against one who is usurping the office of councilman of a city. Stack v. Commonwealth, 118 Ky. 481, 81 S.W. 917, 26 Ky. L. Rptr. 343, 1904 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. 1904).

Proceedings for usurpation of a city office under KRS 425.030 (now repealed) and this section must be instituted by a person claiming title to it or by the Commonwealth in an action instituted by the Attorney General, and some of the members of a city council could not maintain an action against another member of the council to declare his office vacant on the ground a corporation of which he was the principal stockholder sold an automobile to the utility commission, as this would have constituted a forfeiture under KRS 415.060 and not an abandonment of office which is a voluntary renouncement of the office. Jones v. Robinson, 351 S.W.2d 185, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 154 (Ky. 1961).

11. —Mayor and Commissioners.

A municipal officer who accepts an incompatible office, thereby vacating his office as city commissioner, is a usurper and may be proceeded against by the Commonwealth on the relation of the Attorney General for a forfeiture of his office. Commonwealth ex rel. Steller v. Livingston, 171 Ky. 52, 186 S.W. 916, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 298 (Ky. 1916).

The question of eligibility of the mayor and commissioners of a second-class city to hold the offices cannot be tested in an action brought by a taxpayer and citizen; the action can only be instituted by one claiming the office or by the Commonwealth's attorney. Jenkins v. Congleton, 242 Ky. 46, 45 S.W.2d 456, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 209 (Ky. 1932).

12. —Marshal.

An action to enjoin payment of salary to city marshal, alleging that he was ineligible to hold the office, cannot be maintained by a citizen and taxpayer. Such action can only be brought by the Commonwealth or one entitled to the office. Spurlock v. Lafferty, 214 Ky. 333, 283 S.W. 124, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 338 (Ky. 1926).

Cited in:

Milliken v. Harrod, 275 Ky. 597, 122 S.W.2d 148, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 471 (Ky. 1938); Commonwealth ex rel. Stephens v. Stephenson, 574 S.W.2d 328, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 619 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978); Noble v. Meagher, 686 S.W.2d 458, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 207 (Ky. 1985).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Under this section it is the duty of the Attorney General to institute ouster proceedings when a vacancy is created on a county board of education by the unexcused absence of a member from three consecutive meetings. OAG 60-1135.

Actions taken as a school board member after filing for nomination for the office of sheriff and thus disqualifying himself would be valid until the school board member resigned or was removed from office. OAG 65-211.

The Attorney General only is authorized to remove state and municipal officers for usurpation of office, i.e., where they are not qualified or where an act on their part constitutes by law a vacation of office. OAG 67-146.

Evidence submitted to the Attorney General considered sufficient to warrant authorization by the Attorney General to attorney representing citizens' group to initiate ouster proceedings in the name of the Attorney General to remove a mayor from office for alleged violation of the provisions of KRS 61.270 (now repealed) by reason of his alleged interest as a stockholder in a corporation holding the contract for collection and disposal of garbage within the city. OAG 69-33.

A school board member is a legal member of the board until he resigns or is removed in an ouster action. OAG 70-757.

The actions of a duly elected police judge acting under color of legal title would be considered valid until an ouster proceeding is instituted challenging his statutory qualifications. OAG 73-805; 73-816.

Where candidate for police judge was duly elected by the people and took the oath of office knowing that he did not possess the qualifications for the office, the only remedy was an ouster action brought on relation of the Attorney General. OAG 73-805; 73-816.

This section provides the proper procedure for removal from office of a mayor who has ceased to qualify as such by reason of nonresidency. OAG 74-402.

A motion to dismiss an action instituted by a citizen in the nature of an ouster proceeding was well taken, as only a claimant to the office or the Attorney General have the necessary standing to commence the action. OAG 74-794.

The power to authorize an ouster proceeding is purely discretionary with the Attorney General. OAG 76-14.

Failing to meet the qualifications or doing that which is proscribed in KRS 160.180 constitutes cause for consideration for removal of a board of education member from office for usurpation of that office by the Attorney General. OAG 78-159.

The Office of Attorney General, which has the sole responsibility and authority for bringing an ouster or quo warranto action against a school board member pursuant to this section, is not required to accept as conclusive any affidavits as to eighth grade completion which are provided pursuant to subdivision (1)(c) of KRS 160.180. OAG 82-53.

KRS 83A.040(3) requires all members of the city legislative body as well as the mayor to reside within the city and be a qualified voter therein; the procedure for removing a person, who in fact no longer lives in the city and thus becomes a usurper, is for a request to be filed with the Attorney General. Under this section and case law, documented evidence must be presented to the Attorney General for consideration and he has discretion in authorizing an ouster proceeding to be brought in his name by an attorney designated by the requesting party or parties. OAG 83-467.

Ouster proceedings may be taken by the Attorney General pursuant to this section and KRS 415.060 against school board members who fail to obtain the required in-service training pursuant to KRS 160.180(5). OAG 85-145.

This section does not prevent the Attorney General from having assistance of other counsel in cases that he brings when other counsel, with his consent, volunteer their services without any expense to the state. OAG 90-141.

Persons who are ineligible to serve on school board should resign; however, unless a private citizen is claiming the office for himself, there is no proceeding short of an Attorney General ouster complaint which could prevent such individuals from taking the oath of office. OAG 92-160.

Where school board members were ineligible to serve on the board due to the employment of a relative by the school system and members refused to resign, the Office of the Attorney General could instigate ouster proceedings against them. OAG 92-160.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

4. Person Who Must Bring Proceedings.

1. Construction.

This section relates to offenses and conditions which may not affect the legal eligibility to hold office defined by KRS 160.180, and the Attorney General may bring an action to remove member of county board of education. Richardson v. Commonwealth, 275 Ky. 486, 122 S.W.2d 156, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 472 (Ky. 1938).

2. Application.

Where a candidate for the office of mayor of a city received a majority of the votes at an election, received a certificate of election, qualified according to law and entered upon the discharge of his duties, the question of whether he received fraudulent and illegal votes at the election cannot be determined in an action brought by another candidate alleging usurpation of the office. Stine v. Berry, 96 Ky. 63, 27 S.W. 809, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 279, 1894 Ky. LEXIS 81 (Ky. 1894).

The Commonwealth's Attorney is a constitutional officer, and where removal of such officer is sought on grounds of misbehavior and the method of removal is provided in the Kentucky Constitution, such mode is exclusive and methods provided by KRS 415.030 to 415.080 will not apply in seeking a forfeiture of his office. Commonwealth ex rel. Attorney Gen. v. Howard, 297 Ky. 488, 180 S.W.2d 415, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 763 (Ky. 1944).

3. Acts Creating Forfeitures.

An officer of a city who accepts an office that is incompatible, thereby vacates his first office and is a usurper and may be proceeded against to have the office forfeited, but until such a proceeding is instituted and adjudicated he should be treated as a de facto officer. Commonwealth ex rel. Steller v. Livingston, 171 Ky. 52, 186 S.W. 916, 1916 Ky. LEXIS 298 (Ky. 1916).

Evidence was insufficient to establish wrongful conduct by school board member which would constitute him a usurper in the office although his son was named truant officer and his daughter, a teacher, was transferred from the district high school to county high school at an increased salary. Richardson v. Commonwealth, 275 Ky. 486, 122 S.W.2d 156, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 472 (Ky. 1938).

Under statute prescribing qualifications of members of county school board of education and specifying disqualification which will operate as a forfeiture of office, a member of county board of education who cannot prove his educational qualifications in the manner prescribed is a usurper of the office and a forfeiture will be declared in a direct proceeding. Chadwell v. Commonwealth, 288 Ky. 644, 157 S.W.2d 280, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 182 (Ky. 1941).

4. Person Who Must Bring Proceedings.

A superintendent of schools, not claiming office of school board member, could not bring an action to oust school board member because of illegal transactions with the board in violation of KRS 160.180, but the Attorney General, under KRS 415.050 and this section, had to bring the action since the board of education is a state and not a county office. Jones v. Browning, 298 Ky. 467, 183 S.W.2d 38, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 923 (Ky. 1944).

A suit for forfeiture of office under this section could not be brought by three (3) of six (6) members of a city council of a fourth-class city against another member for the sale of automobile to city utility commission by a corporation in which was the principal stockholder, because the action must be brought by the Commonwealth or a person claiming title to the office. Jones v. Robinson, 351 S.W.2d 185, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 154 (Ky. 1961).

Commonwealth ex rel. Baxter v. Burnett, 237 Ky. 473, 35 S.W.2d 857, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 623 (Ky. 1931); McClendon v. Hamilton, 277 Ky. 734, 127 S.W.2d 605, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 723 (Ky. 1939); Commonwealth ex rel. Matthews v. Rice, 415 S.W.2d 618, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 10 (Ky. 1966); Commonwealth ex rel. Stephens v. Stephenson, 574 S.W.2d 328, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 619 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Attorney General only is authorized to remove state and municipal officers for usurpation of office, i.e., where they are not qualified or where an act on their part constitutes by law a vacation of office. OAG 67-146.

Any justice of the peace that becomes disqualified by moving from his district would, if he refused to vacate his office by resignation, be subject to removal as a usurper by the Commonwealth's Attorney. OAG 67-373.

Under Ky. Const., § 142, a magistrate who moves his residence from the district he was elected to serve becomes disqualified for office and, if he refuses to vacate his office by resignation, would be subject to removal as a usurper pursuant to this section. OAG 67-396.

Evidence submitted to the Attorney General considered sufficient to warrant his authorization to attorney representing citizens' group to initiate ouster proceedings in the name of the Attorney General to remove the mayor from office for alleged violation of the provisions of KRS 61.270 (now repealed), by reason of the mayor's alleged interest as a stockholder in a corporation holding the contract for the collection and disposal of garbage within the city. OAG 69-33.

Members of the city council who were duly elected were entitled to take the oath of office and enter upon the duties of office even though they may not have possessed the qualifications of office if they were not challenged before the election, and the acts of such councilmen would be valid until ouster proceedings were instituted on relation of the Attorney General. OAG 73-863.

Ouster proceedings may be taken by the Attorney General pursuant to KRS 415.050 and this section against school board members who fail to obtain the required in-service training pursuant to KRS 160.180(5). OAG 85-145.

415.070. Judgment against usurper — Enforcement.

A person adjudged to have usurped an office or franchise shall be deprived thereof by the judgment of the court, and the person adjudged entitled thereto shall be placed in possession thereof; but no one shall be adjudged entitled thereto, unless the action be instituted by him. And the court shall have power to enforce its judgment by causing the books and papers, and all other things pertaining to the office or franchise, to be surrendered by the usurper; and by preventing him from further exercising or using the same; and may enforce its orders by fine and imprisonment until obeyed.

3. Judgment for Possession.
4. Appeal.
5. Indictment.

1. Application.

Where persons were elected to office of city commissioner in a void election, there being no such office, statutes regarding actions for usurpation of office were inapplicable as a defense to suit brought by mayor, administrative officers appointed by him, and a taxpayer, to restrain the elected commissioners from assuming the management of the city's affairs. Goin v. Smith, 202 Ky. 486, 260 S.W. 10, 1924 Ky. LEXIS 738 (Ky. 1924).

2. Claimant Must Show Title.

A superintendent of common schools of a county, in possession of the office, though he was an usurper, cannot be deprived of it at the suit of another claimant of the office who cannot show himself entitled thereto. Wilson v. Tye, 126 Ky. 34, 102 S.W. 856, 31 Ky. L. Rptr. 491, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 18 (Ky. 1907).

One who vacates the office of commissioner of a second-class city by the acceptance of an incompatible office of employment and then continues in possession of the first office is a usurper, and may be ousted at the suit of the person who is entitled to the office, but the individual seeking to recover it must show that he is lawfully entitled to the office. Hermann v. Lampe, 175 Ky. 109, 194 S.W. 122, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 306 (Ky. 1917).

3. Judgment for Possession.

A person who was legally entitled to the office of councilman of a city of the fourth class could bring suit for its possession against the person who was wrongfully holding it, although such person was elected or appointed by the council of the city which believed it had the authority to elect or appoint him, and this section fully authorized judgment for possession. Powell v. Hambrick, 164 Ky. 340, 175 S.W. 633, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 374 (Ky. 1915).

4. Appeal.

Where judgment was entered holding that offices of members of county board of education were vacant because the members holding said offices were usurpers, the offices became immediately vacant and the judgment could not be suspended pending a final determination on appeal. McClenendon v. Hamilton, 277 Ky. 734, 127 S.W.2d 605, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 723 (Ky. 1939).

A judgment in ouster proceedings against deputy sheriff who had been indicted for murder was not void but only voidable where it had jurisdiction of the subject matter and the parties, and if it committed error the only remedy was by an appeal from the judgment and not by mandatory writ to compel clerk to receive, accept and file his tendered supersedeas bond and to issue a supersedeas thereon. Baker v. Wilson, 310 Ky. 692, 221 S.W.2d 690, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1272 (Ky. 1949).

5. Indictment.

Where one elected to the office of county attorney, for which office he was ineligible, exercised the functions and received the emoluments of the office, he is guilty of usurpation of the office, and may be prosecuted by indictment to recover the fine imposed by statute. Commonwealth v. Adams, 60 Ky. 6, 1860 Ky. LEXIS 4 (Ky. 1860) (decided under prior law).

1. Power to Condemn.
2. —Denial.
3. Federal Licensee.
4. Exemption.

5. Fair Market Value.
6. Condemnation Not Necessary.
7. Title Acquired.

1. Power to Condemn.

Where land was condemned to expand a utility's existing electrical transmission system, the selection of the transmission lines route and the purpose for which they were built was for a public use and therefore proper and well within the power of condemnor. Ratliff v. Fiscal Court of Caldwell County, 617 S.W.2d 36, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 252 (Ky. 1981).

2. —Denial.

In eminent domain proceedings a court will deny the right to take only where there has been gross abuse or manifest fraud. Commonwealth v. Cooksey, 948 S.W.2d 122, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

3. Federal Licensee.

State law does not affect a federal licensee's power to acquire land necessary to effectuate its license. Greenup County v. Utilities Com. of Vanceburg, 632 S.W.2d 463, 1982 Ky. App. LEXIS 211 (Ky. Ct. App. 1982).

4. Exemption.

A cemetery's exemption from taking by condemnation, specifically granted to its property by an 1888 act of the General Assembly, was not invalidated by later general provisions, KRS 177.081 and KRS 416.540 to 416.680, relating to the Department of Highways' power of eminent domain. Mother of God Cemetery Asso. v. Commonwealth, Transp. Cabinet, Dep't of Highways, 759 S.W.2d 69, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 128 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

5. Fair Market Value.

The Eminent Domain Act provides for condemnation of real property upon payment of the difference in the fair market value of the condemnee's property immediately before and immediately after the taking; fair market value of the property condemned is the test, and even where the building upon the property is to be torn down, a city should not be required to pay more for the property because it had a building upon it than the amount by which the building upon it added to the fair market value of the property at the time of the taking. Ford v. Bowling Green, 780 S.W.2d 613, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 104 (Ky. 1989).

6. Condemnation Not Necessary.

Condemnation of farmland near airport by fee simple title was not necessary for the intended public purpose of serving as a buffer zone for airport where landowner offered to restrict the land to agricultural use, to give the airport a noise easement and/or an easement prohibiting trees, residential development, and the erection of any structures on the property up to the airport's building restriction line. City of Bowling Green v. Cooksey, 858 S.W.2d 190, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 227 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

7. Title Acquired.

Circuit court erred ruling that a county had the right to condemn an owner's property under the state constitution and the Eminent Domain Act for a permanent easement for the construction of a large box culvert and drainage system because the interest that the county proposed to take was neither in proportion to the 95% utility it would take from the property nor consistent with the "pass through" function of an easement, the owner could make no physical use of the property if a permanent easement was taken, regardless of what the county stated was necessary for the project, and to take less than a fee simple interest in the property was arbitrary and in excess of the county's authority under the Act. Moore v. Lexington-Fayette Urban Cty. Gov't, 2017 Ky. App.

LEXIS 515 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 15, 2017), rev'd, 559 S.W.3d 374, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 448 (Ky. 2018).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Eminent Domain Act of Kentucky of 1976 (KRS 416.540 to 416.680) does not authorize the condemnation of a passage-way over private property by a private individual and since the statutes authorizing such a proceeding were repealed there is no statute in Kentucky authorizing such procedure. OAG 78-297.

Oil and gas companies cannot condemn public property. OAG 79-346.

The city of Covington could not acquire title to vacant city lots for private disposition by its general condemnation authority or by utilizing the condemnation authority under the Urban Renewal Act unless it elected to operate thereunder. OAG 80-62.

A library district can qualify to issue revenue bonds under KRS ch. 58, since it is a special taxing district under Const., § 157 and is a "governmental agency" under KRS 58.010(3). If it issues revenue bonds for a proposed project, the library district board can exercise the power to condemn real estate pursuant to KRS 58.140. OAG 82-343.

A library district which planned to use mortgage financing for library improvements had no power to condemn the real estate needed. OAG 82-343.

Whenever any condemnor cannot, by agreement with the owner thereof, acquire the property right, privileges or easements needed for any of the uses or purposes for which the condemnor is authorized by law, to exercise its right of eminent domain, the condemnor may condemn such property, property rights, privileges or easements pursuant to the provisions of KRS 416.550 to 416.670. It is not a prerequisite to an action to attempt to agree with an owner who is unknown or who, after reasonable effort, cannot be found within the state or with an owner who is under a disability.

1. Condemnation Not Necessary.

Condemnation of farmland near airport by fee simple title was not necessary for the intended public purpose of serving as a buffer zone for airport where landowner offered to restrict the land to agricultural use, to give the airport a noise easement and/or an easement prohibiting trees, residential development, and the erection of any structures on the property up to the airport's building restriction line. City of Bowling Green v. Cooksey, 858 S.W.2d 190, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 227 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

Appellate court erred in finding that the land at issue was left essentially valueless to the owner after the condemning authority took possession of the land by easement rather than fee simple because the appellate court failed to give appropriate deference to the circuit court's finding that the authority acted in good faith, at the time the authority negotiated its taking with the owner, the authority a duty to pursue the taking of an interest less than fee simple ownership if its public purpose could be so achieved. Lexington-Fayette Urban Cty. Gov't v. Moore, 559 S.W.3d 374, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 448 (Ky. 2018).

2. Illustrative Cases.

Condemnation of an historic theatre was necessary for a valid public purpose, that the condemnor's desire to acquire a fee simple interest (instead of the easement offered by the condemnee) was not unreasonable, that the condemnor did not abuse its discretion, and that it had negotiated in good faith before filing suit. God's Ctr. Found., Inc. v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Gov't, 125 S.W.3d 295, 2002 Ky. App. LEXIS 2315 (Ky. Ct. App. 2002).

Telecommunications company did not have the power to condemn the entirety of an owner's property, nor to condemn the owner's property for the purpose of expanding its "Point of Presence" facility, which was not a "telephone line" for purposes of KRS 278.540(2); the telecommunications company abused its discretion in pursuing a condemnation action against the owner's entire property, and a trial court erred in entering summary judgment in favor of the telecommunications company on the owner's counterclaim for abuse of process. Leggett v. Sprint Communs. Co., L.P., 2005 Ky. App. LEXIS 255 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 2, 2005), aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 307 S.W.3d 109, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 64 (Ky. 2010).

Easement was properly granted to a gathering pipeline operator because the operator engaged in good faith negotiations prior to filing a condemnation petition; the proper corporate entity conducted the negotiations, and good faith negotiations were undertaken based on the written correspondence. Milam v. Viking Energy Holdings, LLC, 370 S.W.3d 530, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 99 (Ky. Ct. App. 2012).

3. Right of Agency to Condemn.

If, prior to the entry of an interlocutory judgment, the issue of the right of the agency to condemn was timely and properly raised, it should have been heard and determined before entry of a judgment awarding the agency the possession, use and control of the property being condemned. Idol v. Knuckles, 383 S.W.2d 910, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 64 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

The landowner had no appeal to challenge the right of the condemning agency to take the property being condemned. Anderson v. Urban Renewal & Community Development Agency, 436 S.W.2d 533, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 187 (Ky. 1968), appeal denied, 395 U.S. 823, 89 S. Ct. 2133, 23 L. Ed. 2d 738, 1969 U.S. LEXIS 1170 (1969), appeal dismissed, Anderson v. Urban Renewal & Community Development Agency, 395 U.S. 823, 89 S. Ct. 2133, 23 L. Ed. 2d 738, 1969 U.S. LEXIS 1170 (1969) (decided under prior law).

An appeal testing the propriety of the circuit court's ruling upholding the agency's right to take is precluded once the circuit court affords a hearing and renders a judgment sustaining the agency's right to condemn. Cartmell v. Urban Renewal & Community Development Agency, 432 S.W.2d 445, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 343 (Ky. 1968) (decided under prior law).

If the issue of the right of the agency to condemn was properly presented it had to be adjudicated before the court awards the interlocutory judgment. Cartmell v. Urban Renewal & Community Development Agency, 432 S.W.2d 445, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 343 (Ky. 1968) (decided under prior law).

Fact that the commissioners placed a substantially higher value on the property did not necessarily indicate that the Department of Highway's offer was unreasonable; thus, the trial court did not clearly err in finding that the Department negotiated in good faith in regard to the condemnation action. Rabourn v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 137 (Ky. Ct. App. July 14, 2006).

(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of the law, a department, instrumentality or agency of a consolidated local government, city, county, or urban-county government, other than a waterworks corporation the capital stock of which is wholly owned by a city of the first class or a consolidated local government, having a right of eminent domain under other statutes shall exercise such right only by requesting the governing body of the consolidated local government, city, county, or urban-county to institute condemnation proceedings on its behalf. If the governing body of the consolidated local government, city, county, or urban-county agrees, it shall institute such proceedings under KRS 416.570, and all costs involved in the condemnation shall be borne by the department, instrumentality, or agency requesting the condemnation.

(2) If any department, instrumentality, or agency of a consolidated local government, city, county, or urban-county government, other than a waterworks corporation the capital stock of which is wholly owned by a city of the first class or a consolidated local government, operates in more than one (1) governmental unit, it shall request the governing body of the consolidated local government, city, county, or urban-county government wherein the largest part of the individual tract of the property sought to be condemned lies, to institute condemnation proceedings on its behalf.

(3) A department, instrumentality, or agency of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, other than the Transportation Cabinet and local boards of education, having a right of eminent domain under other statutes shall exercise such right only by requesting the Finance and Administration Cabinet to institute condemnation proceedings on its behalf. If the Finance and Administration Cabinet agrees, it shall institute such proceedings under KRS 416.570, and all costs involved in the condemnation shall be borne by the department, instrumentality, or agency requesting the condemnation.

(4) Prior to the filing of the petition to condemn, the condemnor or its employees or agents shall have the right to enter upon any land or improvement which it has the power to condemn, in order to make studies, surveys, tests, sounding, and appraisals, provided that the owner of the land or the party in whose name the property is assessed has been notified ten (10) days prior to entry on the property. Any actual damages sustained by the owner of a property interest in the property entered upon by the condemnor shall be paid by the condemnor and shall be assessed by the court or the court may refer the matter to commissioners to ascertain and assess the damages sustained by the condemnee, which award shall be subject to appeal.

7. Damages.

1. Watershed Conservancy District.

A watershed conservancy district was not a branch or instrumentality of state government so as to require it to proceed through the Department of Finance in all condemnation suits, pursuant to subsection (3) of this section. Fearin v. Fox Creek Valley Watershed Conservancy Dist., 667 S.W.2d 389, 1983 Ky. App. LEXIS 380 (Ky. Ct. App. 1983).

2. Sanitation District.

Sanitation district did not lack authority to initiate condemnation proceedings on its own behalf under KRS 416.560(1) because it was not a department, instrumentality or agency of local government, but rather, an autonomous political subdivision under KRS 220.110(1) with fully authority within its boundaries as to the construction and operation of sanitation improvements. Garriga v. Sanitation Dist. No. 1, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 305 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 5, 2003).

3. Evidence.

Where the landowner in condemnation proceeding demonstrated no exceptional circumstances preventing it from obtaining facts or opinions on the same subject by other means, the trial court properly excluded admission of the appraisal report of transportation cabinet employee since such report was an expert opinion pursuant to CR 26.02(4)(b). Commonwealth, Dep't of Transp., Bureau of Highways v. Crafton-Duncan, Inc., 668 S.W.2d 62, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 486 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

4. City or County Participation.

Under subsection (5) of KRS 183.133, the county air board must comply with the procedure for condemnation set out in this section; the board does not have authority to condemn absent county participation. Bernard v. Russell County Air Bd., 718 S.W.2d 123, 1986 Ky. LEXIS 297 (Ky. 1986).

5. Costs.

The fee of the condemnee's expert appraisal witness was not a court cost and, therefore, the Commonwealth was not required to pay the fee. Commonwealth, Transp. Cabinet, Dep't of Highways v. Wireman, 714 S.W.2d 159, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1189 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

6. Waterfront Development Corporation.

Waterfront Development Corporation (WDC) is a state instrumentality, but it is also a city and a county agency; as a city agency, the WDC is required to request the city's governing body to institute condemnation proceedings on its behalf. Martingale, LLC v. City of Louisville, 151 S.W.3d 829, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 203 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004), cert. denied, 545 U.S. 1115, 125 S. Ct. 2913, 162 L. Ed. 2d 295, 2005 U.S. LEXIS 4688 (U.S. 2005).

"Costs" are the amounts paid to the court system or to officers of the court, not incidental or indirect fees which are at best colored as costs. Commonwealth, Transp. Cabinet, Dep't of Highways v. Wireman, 714 S.W.2d 159, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1189 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

7. Damages.

When it has been proven that the owner of property, on which land is being taken by the power of eminent domain, has purchased such property with knowledge of that fact, he is not entitled, for the purpose of assessing damages, to have it considered a part of other property previously acquired by him. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Raybourn, 359 S.W.2d 611, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 200 (Ky. 1962).

Where condemnee's property was wrecked pursuant to an order authorizing possession and prior to a second order setting aside the authorizing order condemnees could not recover damages from the wreckers since the court had the power under former statute to authorize possession upon payment into court of the award of commissioners. Dinwiddie v. Urban Renewal & Community Development Agency, 393 S.W.2d 872, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 247 (Ky. 1965) (decided under prior law).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Department of Transportation does not, under this section, have the right to enter upon private property which has not as yet been acquired for highway right of way to make excavations for archaeological search. OAG 78-10.

An air board is not a department, instrumentality or agency of such a government within the meaning of subsection (1) of this section. OAG 78-526.

An air board need not proceed with a condemnation proceeding through the governing bodies of the city and county as suggested by subsection (1) of this section, and such a proceeding may be initiated by the board itself. OAG 78-526.

Under the associated words doctrine, the word "instrumentality" appearing in subsection (1) of this section must be of the same class as the categories "department" and "agency," and since the riverport authority provided for in KRS 65.510 et seq., although lacking taxing power, possesses power to contract, borrow, and finance its own projects, it is not a department, instrumentality or agency of any county or city within the meaning of subsection (1) and may initiate condemnation proceedings on its own behalf. OAG 79-133.

Assuming that a riverport authority is an instrumentality or agency of the county, subsection (1) of this section and subsections (4) and (5) of KRS 65.530 are irreconcilable with respect to condemnation of property which the authority has been unable to purchase, since the first statute provides that the fiscal court would condemn and the second statute provides the riverport authority may, itself, condemn the property; however, since the legislature republished KRS 65.530 after the enactment of this section, it intended, as relates to the specific subject of riverport authorities, to impliedly repeal subsection (1) of this section to that extent since, whenever there are apparent irreconcilable conflicts in statutes, the later statute controls; thus, the riverport authority may proceed, with the consent of the fiscal court, to condemn the land under its own name. OAG 81-244.

The Louisville Water Company, which is an agency and municipally-owned utility of the city of Louisville but which also operates outside the city and in Jefferson and Oldham Counties, including several small cities, would be subject to the requirements of this section before condemnation proceedings can be instituted. OAG 81-314.

Although KRS 416.130(2) provides that a power company may condemn in the manner provided in the Eminent Domain Act and subsection (4) of this section, which is part of that act, does not contain any requirement of a bond in connection with a precondemnation survey of the land, the provision of KRS 416.130(1), requiring such a bond is controlling as being the later and more specific statute on the subject of prefile survey and damage to land; accordingly, a rural power cooperative was required to post bond before making a survey and appraisal of private property for the purpose of constructing a transmission line and prior to the filing of a petition for condemnation. OAG 81-383.

Although KRS 416.130(2) provides that condemnation shall be brought in the manner provided in the Eminent Domain Act of Kentucky and subsection (1) provides for a bond to cover prefile damages, subsection (4) of this section merely declares a cause of action for any prefile damages, and thus there is no basic disharmony or real conflict, since the bond merely guarantees recovery for any damages under the terms of the bond. OAG 81-383.

A watershed conservancy district existing pursuant to KRS 262.700 et seq., with its defined though limited powers of government, including the authority to tax, borrow money, issue bonds, purchase land and construct necessary structures, is a separate entity and not a department, instrumentality or agency of a city or county or of the Commonwealth in the sense contemplated by subsections (1), (2) and (3) of this section. A watershed conservancy district may, therefore, initiate condemnation proceedings on its own behalf, since subsections (1), (2) and (3) of this section have no application, assuming, of course, that the watershed conservancy district has received prior approval from the board of supervisors of the soil conservation district pursuant to KRS 262.745. OAG 82-272.

416.570. Filing of petition.

Except as otherwise provided in KRS 416.560, a condemnor seeking to condemn property or the use and occupation thereof, shall file a verified petition in the Circuit Court of the county in which all or the greater portion of the property sought to be condemned is located, which petition shall state that it is filed under the provisions of KRS 416.550 to 416.670 and shall contain, in substance:

(1) Allegations sufficient to show that the petitioner is entitled, under the provisions of applicable law, to exercise the right of eminent domain and to condemn the property, or the use and occupation thereof, sought to be taken in such proceedings;

(2) A particular description of the property and the use and occupation thereof sought to be condemned; and

(3) An application to the court to appoint commissioners to award the amount of compensation the owner of the property sought to be condemned is entitled to receive therefor.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Procedure.
3. Bad Faith or Fraud.
4. Denial of Right to Take.
5. Defective Description.
6. Description Adequate.

1. Constitutionality.

This section is not unconstitutionally vague on the theory that the requirements of a condemnation petition are insufficient to permit the public service commissioners to make a proper award. Duerson v. East Kentucky Power Coop., Inc., 843 S.W.2d 340, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 238 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

2. Procedure.

In an eminent domain case, the trial court erred in not disposing of all the claims concerning the right to take before the jury aspect of the case and in allowing a claim for damages to go to the jury. Commonwealth v. Cooksey, 948 S.W.2d 122, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

In eminent domain proceedings there are no statutory provisions or other authority for allowing the taking but limiting damages to monetary sums, for bifurcation of the jury trial, or for deciding if fraud exists in the negotiations if the jury award exceeds the commissioners' recommendation. Commonwealth v. Cooksey, 948 S.W.2d 122, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

3. Bad Faith or Fraud.

The Eminent Domain statutes make no provisions for the jury to consider bad faith or fraud; any allegation of bad faith or fraud would necessarily have to come before the judge who would decide if it affects the state's right to take. Commonwealth v. Cooksey, 948 S.W.2d 122, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

4. Denial of Right to Take.

In eminent domain proceedings a court will deny the right to take only where there has been gross abuse or manifest fraud. Commonwealth v. Cooksey, 948 S.W.2d 122, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

5. Defective Description.

Where defective description in original complaint of property sought to be condemned was cured by correct description in amended complaint and commissioners did in fact view and appraise the actual property condemned and properly described the property in their amended report, circuit court did not err in refusing to appoint new commissioners or to dismiss the original complaint without prejudice, where no exceptions were taken to the original complaint and motion to permit filing of exceptions after the time had expired was overruled. Whitesburg Municipal Housing Com. v. Hale, 371 S.W.2d 482, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 99 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

6. Description Adequate.

In a case involving a pipeline easement, a trial court did not err by granting such because the property was adequately described in a condemnation petition; a trial court found that the testimony of a surveyor was sufficient where it located the centerline of the easement and location of the gas pipeline buried in the easement. Milam v. Viking Energy Holdings, LLC, 370 S.W.3d 530, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 99 (Ky. Ct. App. 2012).

416.580. Commissioners — Appointment — Report — Compensation — Vacancy — Majority required — Eminent domain proceedings.

(1)(a) The Circuit Court, or in the absence of the Circuit Judge from the county, the Circuit Court Clerk, shall appoint as commissioners three (3) impartial housekeepers of the county who are owners of land. They shall be sworn to faithfully and impartially discharge their duties under this section. The commissioners shall view the land or material sought to be condemned and award to the owner or owners such a sum as will fairly represent the reduction in the market value of the entire property, all of or a portion of which is sought to be condemned, said sum being the difference between the market value of the entire property immediately before the taking and the market value of the remainder of the property immediately after the taking thereof, together with the fair rental value of any temporary easements sought to be condemned. Within fifteen (15) days from the date of their appointment they shall return a written report to the office of the Circuit Court, stating the above values in their award and shall describe in their report the property sought to be condemned. They shall be allowed a reasonable fee which shall be taxed as costs.

(b) If any person appointed to serve as commissioner fails, refuses or becomes incapable of acting, the court, or judge thereof shall forthwith appoint a qualified person to fill the vacancy. A majority of the commissioners appointed and qualified have the power to act and to make and sign the award and report. If a majority of the commissioners do not agree on a decision, three (3) new commissioners shall be appointed by the court on application by any of the parties to the action.

(2) In eminent domain proceedings instituted pursuant to KRS 99.700 to 99.730, in determining the market of value blighted or deteriorated property, the commissioners shall consider:

(a) The estimated cost of repairs necessary to bring the property up to the minimum standards of the local housing or nuisance code as determined by an independent appraiser, general building or residential contractor or inspector; or

(b) The cost of demolition of the property, if the commissioners determine that demolition would be the most cost-effective manner of addressing the blighted or deteriorated structures on the property.

History.

Enact. Acts 1976, ch. 140, § 6; 2016 ch. 127, § 10, effective July 15, 2016.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Report As Evidence.
2. Valuation.
3. Appointment.
4. Valuation.

1. Report As Evidence.

The commissioners' report, executed while they were duly sworn, was sufficient evidence to support the jury's award to landowners after condemnation of two easements, even though the commissioners later made inconsistent statements in court indicating a different value than the value quoted in the report. Lake Village Water Ass'n v. Sorrell, 815 S.W.2d 418, 1991 Ky. App. LEXIS 105 (Ky. Ct. App. 1991).

2. Valuation.

Commissioners did not err in determining the value of a bridge taken by a city in condemnation proceedings based only on the Kentucky portion of the bridge as the predecessor of the limited liability company (LLC) that owned the bridge purchased the bridge at a sheriff's sale; as the sheriff could only levy on property located in Kentucky, the LLC did not purchase the portion of the bridge located in Indiana. Martingale, LLC v. City of Louisville, 151 S.W.3d 829, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 203 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004), cert. denied, 545 U.S. 1115, 125 S. Ct. 2913, 162 L. Ed. 2d 295, 2005 U.S. LEXIS 4688 (U.S. 2005).

3. Appointment.

Although the county court record did not contain an order appointing or reappointing commissioners but contained the revised report of the commissioners which was signed by each of them and in which it was stated that they were duly sworn it must be assumed by the reviewing court from the language of the report and from the judgment approving the report that the commissioners were properly appointed and sworn according to law. Price v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 385 S.W.2d 670, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 160 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

4. Valuation.

Circuit court properly denied an owner's motion for an evidentiary hearing and entered an interlocutory judgment to a public utility because the utility had the right to condemn the easement in the owner's real property and was permitted to take possession of the easement upon payment of the compensation awarded, there was no need for, nor a right to, another hearing, the utility did not act arbitrarily when it petitioned the court to condemn the modified, but overlapping, easement in order to avoid a small cemetery found along the original route, and the owner did not seek an injunction or post a supersedeas bond to stay enforcement of the interlocutory judgment. Allard v. Big Rivers Elec. Corp., 602 S.W.3d 800, 2020 Ky. App. LEXIS 61 (Ky. Ct. App. 2020).

Cited in:

Commonwealth v. Cooksey, 948 S.W.2d 122, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

An employee of a city or county can act as a court commissioner appointed to appraise real estate pursuant to this section and receive compensation therefor, since the court commissioner position is an office of the court at most and thus not a state, county or municipal office; the holding of both positions does not violate KRS 61.080 or Ky. Const., § 165. OAG 81-368.

The appointment by a Circuit Court judge of a city controller to the position of court commissioner to appraise real estate pursuant to this section would at most constitute appointment to an office of the court which is not a state, county or municipal office; accordingly, the holding of both offices would violate neither KRS 61.080 nor Ky. Const., § 165. OAG 81-368.

416.590. Issuing summons.

Upon the application of the petitioner, and the filing of any necessary affidavits, the clerk of the court shall issue process against the owner to show cause why the petitioner does not have the right to condemn the lands, or the use and occupation thereof sought to be condemned. The summons shall contain a statement of the amount of the award and shall state that an answer or other pleading, if any, must be filed within twenty (20) days from date of service. The clerk shall make such orders as to nonresidents and persons under disability as are required by the statutes and Rules of Civil Procedure in actions against them in Circuit Courts.

History.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Defective Summons.

Oral notification concerning defective summons was not tantamount to a pleading for extension of time in which to file exceptions and exceptions to award not filed by condemnor within 20 days after report was filed were properly stricken where defendants failed to file an answer or other pleading or exceptions to the report. *Whitesburg Mun. Any answer or other pleading filed by the owner in response to the summons shall be filed on or before the twenty (20) days after date of service and shall be confined solely to the question of the right of the petitioner to condemn the property sought to be condemned, but without prejudice to the owner's right to except from the amount of the compensation awarded in the manner provided in KRS 416.550 to 416.670.

History.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Failure to File Answer.
2. Bad Faith or Fraud.

1. Failure to File Answer.

Since subsection (3) of KRS 416.610 confines any exception to the amount of compensation awarded, the condemnees' statement which accepted the commissioners' award, but requested a legal entrance to the remainder of their property was not an exception to the award; the condemnees should have filed an answer to the condemnation petition to challenge their remaining access, and failure to file an answer precluded them from raising the issue as an exception. Commonwealth, Transp. Cabinet, Dep't of Highways v. Wireman, 714 S.W.2d 159, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1189 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

2. Bad Faith or Fraud.

The Eminent Domain statutes make no provisions for the jury to consider bad faith or fraud; any allegation of bad faith or fraud would necessarily have to come before the judge who would decide if it affects the state's right to take. Commonwealth v. Cooksey, 948 S.W.2d 122, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

416.610. Trial by court on pleadings — Interlocutory judgment.

(1) After the owner has been summoned twenty (20) days, the court shall examine the report of the commissioners to determine whether it conforms to the provisions of KRS 416.580. If the report of the commissioners is not in the proper form the court shall require the commissioners to make such corrections as are necessary.

(2) If no answer or other pleading is filed by the owner or owners putting in issue the right of the petitioner to condemn the property or the use and occupation thereof sought to be condemned, the court shall enter an interlocutory judgment which shall contain, in substance:

- (a) A finding that the petitioner has the right, under the provisions of KRS 416.550 to 416.670 and other applicable law to condemn the property or the use and occupation thereof;
- (b) A finding that the report of the commissioners conforms to the provisions of KRS 416.580;

(c) An authorization to take possession of the property for the purposes and under the conditions and limitations, if any, set forth in the petition upon payment to the owner or to the clerk of the court the amount of the compensation awarded by the commissioners;

(d) Proper provision for the conveyance of the title to the land and material, to the extent condemned, as adjudged therein in the event no exception is taken as provided in KRS 416.620(1).

(3) Any exception from such interlocutory judgment by either party or both parties shall be confined solely to exceptions to the amount of compensation awarded by the commissioners.

(4) If the owner has filed answer or pleading putting in issue the right of the petitioner to condemn the property or use and occupation thereof sought to be condemned, the court shall, without intervention of jury, proceed forthwith to hear and determine whether or not the petitioner has such right. If the court determines that petitioner has such rights, an interlocutory judgment, as provided for in subsection (2) of this section, shall be entered. If the court determines that petitioner does not have such right, it shall enter a final judgment which shall contain, in substance:

(a) A finding that the report of the commissioners conforms to the provisions of KRS 416.580;

(b) A finding that the petitioner is not authorized to condemn the property or the use and occupation thereof for the purposes and under the conditions and limitations set forth in the petition, stating the particular ground or grounds on which the petitioner is not so authorized;

(c) An order dismissing the petition and directing the petitioner to pay all costs.

1. Answer and Exceptions.
2. Expedited Appeal.
3. Appealable Order.
4. All Costs.
5. Exception to Award.
6. Improper Procedure.
7. Denial of Right To Take.
8. Dismissal.

1. Answer and Exceptions.

Where the homeowner's exceptions to the commissioners' report were incorporated in his answer, the whole could be considered a pleading, and since the Commonwealth did not file its motion to strike within the 20 days required by CR 12.06, after the homeowner filed his answer and exceptions, the exceptions should not have been stricken. Stidham v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Transp., Bureau of Highways, 579 S.W.2d 372, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 671 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

Even if the landowners' attorneys were not present at the judgment nor notified of its entry, the property owners should have made inquiry of the progress of the eminent domain proceedings, as subsection (4) of this section required the court to "proceed forthwith" to hear and determine whether or not the Commonwealth utilities had a right to condemn; therefore, the 30-day time period for filing exceptions ran against the property owners. Kentucky Utilities Co. v. Brashear, 726 S.W.2d 321, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 452 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

2. Expedited Appeal.

The provisions of subsection (4) of this section allow a condemnee an immediate, expedited appeal on the question of the condemnor's right to take, despite the absence of an express statutory right to appeal; Ky. Const., § 115, of which the Legislature was aware when this section was enacted, mandates an appeal in all civil and criminal cases, and moreover, in the absence of an immediate appeal, the condemnee cannot be returned to its original position because the condemnor is given the right of immediate possession and can proceed to achieve whatever construction or destruction was the purpose of the petition for condemnation. Ratliff v. Fiscal Court of Caldwell County, 617 S.W.2d 36, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 252 (Ky. 1981).

3. Appealable Order.

An interlocutory judgment made pursuant to this section, which adjudged that a utility had the right to condemn an easement across the condemnees' land for the purpose of constructing and maintaining electricity transmission lines and authorized the utility to take possession of the easement, was final and appealable as to the issue of the right to condemn and the right to immediate entry; accordingly, where the condemnees filed neither a timely notice of appeal nor a timely motion to set aside or vacate the judgment, the trial court was powerless to enlarge the time period allowed for the filing of such motions. Hagg v. Kentucky Utilities Co., 660 S.W.2d 680, 1983 Ky. App. LEXIS 363 (Ky. Ct. App. 1983).

Where the Circuit Court entered an interlocutory order and judgment pursuant to subsection (2) of this section holding that the Commonwealth had the right to condemn certain real property for use in a highway project, where property owner and Commonwealth objected to the award of the commissioners of $110,000, but neither contested the Commonwealth's right to take the subject real property, where the Commonwealth paid the amount of the commissioners' award into court, property owner withdrew the amount of the award and the highway project was completed, and where in 1987, the Commonwealth determined that it took only 3.895 acres, not the 4.884 acres of said property as described in the interlocutory judgment, the Commonwealth, pursuant to Civil Rule 15.01, was entitled to leave to amend its petition and for an order entering an amended interlocutory judgment, as the condemning authority should not have to pay for more land than it actually took. Hamilton v. Commonwealth Transp. Cabinet, Dep't of Highways, 799 S.W.2d 39, 1990 Ky. LEXIS 140 (Ky. 1990).

While the word "interlocutory" normally implies a non-appealable order, a KRS 416.610(2)(c) order can be appealed if a matter is finally litigated by the judgment, or if it operates to divest some right in such manner as to put it out of the power of the court to place the parties in their original condition; if the right of immediate possession is exercised, in many instances, even if an appellate court later reverses the trial court's determination of the condemnor's right to take, the condemnee cannot be returned to his same position. Kipling v. City of White Plains, 80 S.W.3d 776, 2001 Ky. App. LEXIS 1167 (Ky. Ct. App. 2001).

Circuit court properly denied an owner's motion for an evidentiary hearing and entered an interlocutory judgment to a public utility because the utility had the right to condemn the easement in the owner's real property and was permitted to take possession of the easement upon payment of the compensation awarded, there was no need for, nor a right to, another hearing, the utility did not act arbitrarily when it petitioned the court to condemn the modified, but overlapping, easement in order to avoid a small cemetery found along the original route, and the owner did not seek an injunction or post a supersedeas bond to stay enforcement of the interlocutory judgment. Allard v. Big Rivers Elec. Corp., 602 S.W.3d 800, 2020 Ky. App. LEXIS 61 (Ky. Ct. App. 2020).

4. All Costs.

The phrase "all costs" in subdivision (4)(c) of this section does not include an award of attorney's fees; as a general rule, attorney's fees are not allowed in the absence of a statute or contract expressly providing therefor, and there is no statute or contract expressly providing for an award of attorney's fees in a proceeding involving eminent domain. Commonwealth, Dep't of Transp., Bureau of Highways v. Knieriem, 707 S.W.2d 340, 1986 Ky. LEXIS 238 (Ky. 1986).

5. Exception to Award.

Since subsection (3) of this section confines any exception to the amount of compensation awarded, the condemnees' statement which accepted the commissioners' award, but requested a legal entrance to the remainder of their property was not an exception to the award; the condemnees should have filed an answer to the condemnation petition to challenge their remaining access, and failure to file an answer precluded them from raising the issue as an exception. Commonwealth, Transp. Cabinet, Dep't of Highways v. Wireman, 714 S.W.2d 159, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1189 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

6. Improper Procedure.

In an eminent domain case, the trial court erred in not disposing of all the claims concerning the right to take before the jury aspect of the case and in allowing a claim for damages to go to the jury. Commonwealth v. Cooksey, 948 S.W.2d 122, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

In eminent domain proceedings there are no statutory provisions or other authority for allowing the taking but limiting damages to monetary sums, for bifurcation of the jury trial, or for deciding if fraud exists in the negotiations if the jury award exceeds the commissioners' recommendation. Commonwealth v. Cooksey, 948 S.W.2d 122, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

7. Denial of Right To Take.

In eminent domain proceedings a court will deny the right to take only where there has been gross abuse or manifest fraud. Commonwealth v. Cooksey, 948 S.W.2d 122, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

8. Dismissal.

In a condemnation case, a trial court erred when it dismissed a case for lack of prosecution because a statute was silent on the specific amount of time in which a trial on the exceptions and compensation was to be held, even though a property owner was entitled to a prompt trial on the issue of the condemnation itself. The property owner did not contest the right to take the property, but instead contested the valuation, and the trial court should have set the matter for a jury trial on compensation or made an interlocutory order and judgment final and appealable. Commonwealth v. Guess, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 63 (Ky. Ct. App. May 15, 2015), review denied, ordered not published, 2016 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. Apr. 27, 2016).

416.620. Trial of exceptions to interlocutory judgment — Questions as to compensation to be tried by jury — Appeals.

(1) Within thirty (30) days from the date of entry of an interlocutory judgment authorizing the petitioner to take possession of the property, exceptions may be filed by either party or both parties by filing with the clerk of the Circuit Court and serving upon the other party or parties a statement of exceptions, which statement shall contain any exceptions the party has to the award made by the commissioners. The statement of exceptions shall be tried, but shall be limited to the questions which are raised in the original statements of the exceptions, or as amended, but the owner shall not be permitted to raise any question, nor shall the court reconsider any question so raised, concerning the right of the petitioner to condemn the property. All questions of fact pertaining to the amount of compensation to the owner, or owners, shall be determined by a jury, which jury on the motion of either party shall be sent by the court, in the charge of the sheriff, to view the land and material. After a jury trial, and if possession previously has not been taken by the condemnor of the land and material condemned, it may do so upon the payment to the owner or to the clerk of the Circuit Court the amount of the compensation adjudged by the Circuit Court to be due the owner.

(2) Appeals may be taken to the Court of Appeals from the final judgment of the Circuit Court as in other cases except that an appeal by the owner shall not operate as a supersedeas.

(3) The payment by the condemnor of the amount of compensation awarded and the taking possession of the lands and material condemned shall not prejudice its right to except from the award of the commissioners or the judgment of any court, nor shall the acceptance by the owner of the amount of the compensation awarded prejudice his right to except from the award of the commissioners or the judgment of any court.

(4) All costs in the Circuit Court shall be adjudged against the condemnor.

(5) If the condemnor takes possession of the property condemned and the amount of compensation is thereafter increased over that awarded by the commissioners, the condemnor shall pay interest to the owner at the rate of six percent (6%) per annum upon the amount of such increase from the date the condemnor took possession of the property. If the condemnor takes possession of the property condemned and the amount of compensation is thereafter decreased below that awarded by the commissioners, the condemnor shall be entitled to a personal judgment against the owner for the amount of the decrease plus interest at the rate of six percent (6%) per annum from the date the owner accepted the amount of compensation the condemnor paid into court or to the owner. If the owner at all times refuses to accept the payment tendered by the condemnor, no interest shall be allowed in the judgment against the owner for the amount of the decrease.

(6) Upon the final determination of exceptions, or upon expiration of thirty (30) days from entry of the interlocutory judgment if no exceptions are filed, the Circuit Court shall make such orders as may be proper for the conveyance of the title to the extent condemned, to the property, and shall enter such final judgment as may be appropriate.

1. In General.

Because the owner had lost the right of possession of the property being taken upon the payment of the commissioner's award into court and had no right to interest on the amount of the commissioner's award, the Legislature clearly contemplated that the owner could immediately withdraw the amount of the award except where there are conflicting claimants to the condemned property. Foster v. Sanders, 557 S.W.2d 205, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 827 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

Where the Commonwealth failed to develop condemned property within the eight-year period specified in KRS 416.670, the condemnees could not recover monetary damages for a delay in notifying them of their right to repurchase the property; the delay was not a continued taking compensable under KRS 416.620 because the condemnees retained no interest in the property. Martin v. Commonwealth, 199 S.W.3d 195, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 67 (Ky. Ct. App. 2006).

2. Interest.

This section recognizes the owner's right to interest in the event of delay in the payment of compensation beyond the date of taking, but once the condemnor pays the amount of the commissioner's award to the clerk of the court, the condemnor has no further liability for interest on that sum. Foster v. Sanders, 557 S.W.2d 205, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 827 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

The statutory interest provision of subsection (5) of this section controls when in conflict with the general statutory interest provision of KRS 360.040; consequently, six percent (6%) and not 12 percent, therefore, was the proper interest rate on judgment in condemnation suit. Commonwealth, Dep't of Transp., Bureau of Highways v. Crafton-Duncan, Inc., 668 S.W.2d 62, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 486 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

In a condemnation action, subsection (5) of this section requires that the interest rate of six percent (6%) shall apply to the amount of increase or decrease after entry of the final judgment as well as before the final judgment. Bush v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, Transp. Cabinet, 777 S.W.2d 608, 1989 Ky. App. LEXIS 132 (Ky. Ct. App. 1989).

3. Filing of Exceptions.

This section is a limitations statute which prohibits the filing of exceptions at any time after 30 days from the date of interlocutory judgment but does not prohibit the filing of exceptions before the 30-day period. Stidham v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Transp., Bureau of Highways, 579 S.W.2d 372, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 671 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

The Circuit Court did not have discretion to permit the late filings of exceptions and deny the Commonwealth utilities' motion for final judgment pursuant to subsection (6) of this section, resulting in a jury determination of an award in excess of the award of the commissioners. Kentucky Utilities Co. v. Brashear, 726 S.W.2d 321, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 452 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

4. Appealable Order.

An interlocutory judgment made pursuant to KRS 416.610, which adjudged that a utility had the right to condemn an easement across the condemnees' land for the purpose of constructing and maintaining electricity transmission lines and authorized the utility to take possession of the easement, was final and appealable as to the issue of the right to condemn and the right to immediate entry; accordingly, where the condemnees filed neither a timely notice of appeal nor a timely motion to set aside or vacate the judgment, the trial court was powerless to enlarge the time period allowed for the filing of such motions. Hagg v. Kentucky Utilities Co., 660 S.W.2d 680, 1983 Ky. App. LEXIS 363 (Ky. Ct. App. 1983).

5. Costs.

"Costs" are the amounts paid to the court system or to officers of the court, not incidental or indirect fees which are at best colored as costs. Commonwealth, Transp. Cabinet, Dep't of Highways v. Wireman, 714 S.W.2d 159, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1189 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

The fee of the condemnee's expert appraisal witness was not a court cost and, therefore, the Commonwealth was not required to pay the fee. Commonwealth, Transp. Cabinet, Dep't of Highways v. Wireman, 714 S.W.2d 159, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1189 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

6. Statement Not Exception.

Since subsection (3) of KRS 416.610 confines any exception to the amount of compensation awarded, the condemnees' statement which accepted the commissioners' award, but requested a legal entrance to the remainder of their property was not an exception to the award; the condemnees should have filed an answer to the condemnation petition to challenge their remaining access, and failure to file an answer precluded them from raising the issue as an exception. Commonwealth, Transp. Cabinet, Dep't of Highways v. Wireman, 714 S.W.2d 159, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1189 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

7. Writ of Prohibition Granted.

Statutory authority rests solely with the court-appointed commissioners to award just compensation to the owners of land being condemned; therefore, when the Circuit Court Judge ordered a mineral expert's reevaluation report incorporated into the commissioners' original report, even though the commissioners had reported to the court their decision to stand by their original report and award, the Circuit Court Judge usurped the statutory power and authority reserved by the legislature to the commissioners, and the Court of Appeals properly issued a writ of prohibition to prevent the Circuit Court from exceeding its lawful power and authority. Corns v. Transportation Cabinet, Dep't of Highways, 814 S.W.2d 574, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 116 (Ky. 1991).

8. Evidence.

Evidence of plans and specifications of highway department, the condemnor, for particular project is admissible to permit jury to determine to what extent remaining land will be affected, but plans are not conclusive as to future uses of property that may be made by condemnor. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Lyons, 364 S.W.2d 336, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 205 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Topography of ground and susceptibility of land for use as a subdivision could be shown by a plat with lines marking proposed lots on tract purchased for a subdivision and half developed at time of condemnation for interstate highway. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. McCready, 371 S.W.2d 485, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 101 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Evidence of purchase price paid five (5) years and two (2) months before condemnation action was admissible. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Whitlege, 406 S.W.2d 833, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 220 (Ky. 1966) (decided under prior law).

Evidence of formula used by gasoline industry based on gallons of gasoline sold to determine value of service station property was admissible. Standard Oil Co. v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 414 S.W.2d 570, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 14 (Ky. 1966) (decided under prior law).

9. —Burden of Proof.

Where both parties appeal to the Circuit Court in a condemnation proceeding, the burden of proof upon a trial of the issue of damages before a jury is upon the condemnor. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Snyder, 309 S.W.2d 351, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 352 (Ky. 1958) (decided under prior law).

Burden of proving bad faith of abandonment was on condemnee asserting such claim as affirmative defense. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Fultz, 360 S.W.2d 216, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 220 (Ky. 1962) (decided under prior law).

The burden of proving the value of the land condemned for highway purposes and that damages were less than the sum awarded in county court was on Commonwealth on its appeal to Circuit Court. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Berryman, 363 S.W.2d 525, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 279 (Ky. 1962) (decided under prior law).

10. —Value of Testimony.

It was improper to testify to "per lot" value of property not actually subdivided although the property was suitable for subdivision. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Evans, 361 S.W.2d 766, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 252 (Ky. 1962), overruled in part, Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Sherrod, 367 S.W.2d 844, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Witness may testify that he acted as commissioner and as to character of inspection that he made of premises, and then he may be interrogated as any other witness as to damages, and if he gives higher value at trial than award in which he acquiesced in county court, his testimony may be impeached by inquiring into amount of award. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Evans, 361 S.W.2d 766, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 252 (Ky. 1962), overruled in part, Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v.

Sherrod, 367 S.W.2d 844, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Testimony of witness on value was not without probative value where it was plain from his testimony that he knew the type of coal seams that were under land, and average tons per acre of each seam in area where both seams were present. West Kentucky Coal Co. v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 368 S.W.2d 738, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 52 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Testimony as to value of land condemned should be stricken when witness makes it unmistakably clear on cross-examination that his estimates are based entirely on incompetent and improper factors, but it cannot be stricken or ignored merely because he flounders a little. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. McGeorge, 369 S.W.2d 126, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 68 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

It was not error to permit condemnee's witnesses to testify to the value of the land for subdivision purposes and make appropriate allowances for developing it by taking into account the number of lots that could be produced, comparable sales in similar subdivisions, allowance of a reasonable time in which to sell the lots and cost of development of the subdivision including installation of utilities and paved streets which testimony was similar to that used by condemnor's witnesses who treated the land as subdivision lots instead of as farm land. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. McCready, 371 S.W.2d 485, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 101 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Witness, to be qualified to testify as to value of realty, must know property to be valued and value of property in vicinity, must understand standard of value, and must be possessed of ability to make a reasonable inference. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Slusher, 371 S.W.2d 851, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 114 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Appraisal witnesses on direct examination may, after proper qualification as to competence, testify to the before and after market value of property involved, and may relate any pertinent factors considered by them in arriving at values to which they have testified; in so doing they may state their estimate of amount by which a major structure enhances "before" value of land to which it is affixed, and in support of that estimate may testify as to the cost, original or reproduction, less depreciation, of the structure under certain conditions and limitations but it is not proper for appraisal witnesses to ascribe an itemized price tag to "damage" factors. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Cardinal Hill Nursery, Inc., 380 S.W.2d 249, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 299 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

An expert witness may not separate the taking damages from the resulting damages in a condemnation suit. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Swift, 375 S.W.2d 691, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 425 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

Estimate of a witness based solely or primarily on an improper factor is invalid and subject to a motion to strike but where other factors which are proper are employed that rule does not necessarily follow. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. York, 390 S.W.2d 190, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 348 (Ky. 1965) (decided under prior law).

Where witness arrived at the before value by improperly breaking down the component parts of the property but also relied on other proper factors to determine his before value estimate of that portion of his evidence which was based on proper factors was competent and was properly admitted to stand. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. York, 390 S.W.2d 190, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 348 (Ky. 1965) (decided under prior law).

11. —Expert Witnesses.

Admissibility and weight of opinion of expert valuation witness depends on his background and experience and thoroughness of his investigation. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Citizens Ice & Fuel Co., 365 S.W.2d 113, 1963 Ky.

LEXIS 218 (Ky. 1963), overruled, Louisville v. Allen, 385 S.W.2d 179, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 142 (Ky. 1964), overruled in part, Louisville v. Allen, 385 S.W.2d 179, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 142 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

Comment of trial judge as expert witness was leaving stand that he ought to have been the professor instead of the student where it had been revealed in his testimony that he had attended two (2) night classes in appraisal problems conducted by the assistant director of the division of right-of-way and had taught appraisal at the University of Kentucky for five (5) years where he was referred to as "professor" indicated to the jury that he regarded the testimony of the expert witness more highly than that of the assistant director of the division of right-of-way and this was an improper invasion of the jury function of evaluating the evidence. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Eubank, 369 S.W.2d 15, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 57 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Cross-examination of expert witness for state concerning why he had placed a higher evaluation on comparable adjacent land just a week before was proper in order to test the witness' knowledge of the land and to determine his qualifications as an expert witness. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Eubank, 369 S.W.2d 15, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 57 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Witnesses in condemnation suit need not be expert land appraisers in order to state their opinions as to real estate values. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Slusher, 371 S.W.2d 851, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 114 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

11.5. Right to Jury.

Since KRS 416.650 provides that all proceedings under the eminent domain statutes are governed by the Kentucky Rules of Civil Procedure except where those statutes specifically or by necessary implication provide otherwise, CR 38.02 applies to eminent domain proceedings and requires a party to an eminent domain case to obtain a trial by jury by serving a timely demand, failing which, the party waives the right to a jury trial under CR 38.04. Louisville & Jefferson County Metro. Sewer Dist. v. Bischoff, 248 S.W.3d 533, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 265 (Ky. 2007).

In an eminent domain proceeding, as the property owner did not file his demand for a jury trial until almost three months past the last pleading directed to the issue of compensation and 11 months after he filed his first pleading in this case, under CR 38.04, his failure to serve a timely demand under CR 38.02 constituted a waiver of his right to a jury trial. Louisville & Jefferson County Metro. Sewer Dist. v. Bischoff, 248 S.W.3d 533, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 265 (Ky. 2007).

12. Jurors.

In condemnation proceedings implied bias of juror was not an absolute disqualification and the trial court was possessed of discretion in determining whether a prospective juror could render a fair and impartial verdict notwithstanding the existence of implied bias by reason of a blood relationship to one of the parties. Commonwealth v. Hall, 258 S.W.2d 479, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 840 (Ky. 1953) (decided under prior law).

13. —View.

The word "shall" used in former statute was mandatory. Commonwealth v. Farra, 338 S.W.2d 696, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 407 (Ky. 1960) (decided under prior law).

It was improper for court to send a material witness for the state along with the jury with directions to show the jury the vital points developed in his evidence and to permit the jurors to ask such witness question and request to see particular points of the property out of the courtroom and in absence of judge and counsel particularly since former statute required that the sheriff accompany the jury to view the land and material. Keeney v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 345

S.W.2d 481, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 269 (Ky. 1961) (decided under prior law).

Because of much confusion in the record as to the size and shape of the land involved, the jury should have been given a view of the premises. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Raleigh, 375 S.W.2d 384, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 410 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

Where residence building on condemned lot after taking was sold to landowners and then moved to another site 2,000 feet away, it was error to refuse jury view of premises. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Hackworth, 383 S.W.2d 372, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 44 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

That the sheriff was a defendant in a pending condemnation action did not disqualify him to take the jury to view the premises in another case where there was no suggestion that he did not duly observe the court's directions. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Conley, 386 S.W.2d 750, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 181 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

Trial court had discretion to overrule motion for jury view of premises where route to farm was rough and inaccessible and some of jurors were physically unable to make the journey. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Jewell, 405 S.W.2d 678, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 259 (Ky. 1966) (decided under prior law).

Where residence was taken by state and sold back to owner and then removed to another location, it was error to refuse request for jury view of remainder of property as it appeared after taking. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Bates, 408 S.W.2d 424, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 97 (Ky. 1966) (decided under prior law).

In the exercise of its discretion the court may properly deny a view where the premises have been adequately described in the testimony and where visual evidence has been introduced which the court deems to be sufficient. In determining whether a jury view should or should not be permitted the court may properly consider whether there have been such changes in the premises as to impair the value of the view. Fisher v. Urban Renewal & Community Development Agency, 425 S.W.2d 744, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 435 (Ky. 1968) (decided under prior law).

Where a jury was charged with determining the before and after value of land on which a building had been destroyed and a motion was made for the jury to view the property, it could not be said that a view would not be beneficial in making the determination and should be permitted. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Eberenz, 435 S.W.2d 753, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 212 (Ky. 1968) (decided under prior law).

Where the premises had been substantially changed by the project, the trial court did not commit reversible error by permitting the jury to view the premises upon request by one of the parties. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Walker, 496 S.W.2d 344, 1973 Ky. LEXIS 381 (Ky. 1973) (decided under prior law).

The fact that the property to be taken was not marked by stakes, that a jury view of the property would require a five-mile trip over a partially unpaved road, and that a jury view of the property would cause inconvenience and delay in the trial did not constitute unusual or extreme circumstances such as to justify the trial judge's refusal to permit the jury to view the property. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Caudill, 523 S.W.2d 880, 1975 Ky. LEXIS 122 (Ky. 1975) (decided under prior law).

In a condemnation action, reversal was required because the Transportation Cabinet clearly requested a viewing, and the trial court's analysis was insufficient to invoke the narrow grounds of exception to the mandatory statutory language in this section. The trial court's conclusion that the viewing was unnecessary because jurors were familiar with the location, and there were good descriptions of the property were hardly unusual factors. Commonwealth v. PTL Warehousing, LLC, 620 S.W.3d 883, 2021 Ky. App. LEXIS 55 (Ky. Ct. App. 2021).

14. Exceptions.

The provision relating to the filing of exceptions is construed as a requirement that the party appealing to the Circuit Court file his grounds for appeal. Commonwealth ex rel. Curlin v. Moyers, 280 S.W.2d 513, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 167 (Ky. 1955) (decided under prior law).

Filing of exceptions to report of commissioners in county court on ground of inadequacy of compensation was not authorized. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Prather, 369 S.W.2d 118, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 64 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

In condemnation proceeding only those issues raised in statement of appeal, or in original exceptions, may be considered by the Circuit Court. Robinette v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 380 S.W.2d 78, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 271 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

In condemnation suit where exception by condemnor was to the award of commissioners for land taken and damages to the remainder on the ground that the award was excessive, it was not within the province of the Circuit Court to interpret the unchallenged items of residence and house to include all of the land taken and limit recovery to those items plus damages to the remaining strip of land. Davis v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 374 S.W.2d 513, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 181 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

15. Appeals.

16. —Parties.

Upon failure of condemnees to appeal they lost the right to contest either the state's right to condemn or the adequacy of the award and as their fractional interest in property was severable from other tenants in common who appealed, they were not necessary parties to the appeal. Riley v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 375 S.W.2d 245, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 185 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

One of several codefendants in highway condemnation proceeding may appeal without joining all his codefendants as parties to appeal. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Kelley, 376 S.W.2d 539, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 458 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

Construction company holding a long term lease of mineral rights and lien holders by sale contract and deed from condemnor, the fee simple owner, were proper parties at the commencement of condemnation proceedings and where no reason indicated that their presence could operate in any prejudicial manner the proceedings should not have been dismissed as to them. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Cardinal Hill Nursery, Inc., 380 S.W.2d 249, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 299 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

17. —Dismissal.

Failure of appellants to file a copy of condemnation judgment with clerk of Circuit Court within 30 days from date of judgment and unreasonable eight-year lapse between time judgment was entered and time original appeal was filed warranted dismissal of appeal. Thompson v. Kentucky Power Co., 551 S.W.2d 815, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 704 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977) (decided under prior law).

18. Interest.

Where condemnor deposited in the county clerk's office the amount of the commissioner's award, the condemnor was under no duty to instruct the county court clerk to pay the amount to the owners of the land pending further litigation of the matter on appeal and consequently the condemnor was not required to pay interest on the amount so deposited notwithstanding the refusal of the county court clerk to pay it over. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Citizens Ice & Fuel Co., 394 S.W.2d 903, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 219 (Ky. 1965) (decided under prior law).

Where damages awarded on appeal to Circuit Court were less than amount paid to landowner pursuant to county court judgment, condemnor was entitled to interest on the amount of the excess. Sloan v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 405 S.W.2d 294, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 253 (Ky. 1966) (decided under prior law).

19. Attorney's Fees.

Metropolitan sewer district acted in bad faith during condemnation negotiations by making an inadequate last offer to the condemnee of $4,000 when it had previously offered $60,000. However, the trial court did not abuse its discretion in finding that the district's conduct was not so prejudicial as to justify award of counsel fees to the condemnee. Golden Foods, Inc. v. Louisville & Jefferson County Metro. Sewer Dist., 240 S.W.3d 679, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 459 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

Although attorney fees are generally not recoverable without a specific contractual provision or a fee-shifting statute, after the successful defense of a condemnation proceeding, a trial court may award attorney fees if the court determines that the condemnor has acted in bad faith or caused unreasonable delay. If a trial court finds such improper conduct, it should determine the extent that the condemnee has been prejudiced and whether he can be made reasonably whole by the imposition of costs and fees. Golden Foods, Inc. v. Louisville & Jefferson County Metro. Sewer Dist., 240 S.W.3d 679, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 459 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

20. Repayment of Excess.

Order pursuant to KRS 416.620 directing owners to repay the Commonwealth the difference of approximately $357,000 between the property value found in an interlocutory order and the property value as later found by a jury paid to the owners' predecessor in interest was proper because the owners had agreed to be substituted for predecessor, and although the predecessor had spent all of the money and owners received none of it, the owners had accepted the burdens of the litigation. Hunsaker v. Commonwealth, 239 S.W.3d 68, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 237 (Ky. 2007).

21. Dismissal.

In a condemnation case, a trial court erred when it dismissed a case for lack of prosecution because a statute was silent on the specific amount of time in which a trial on the exceptions and compensation was to be held, even though a property owner was entitled to a prompt trial on the issue of the condemnation itself. The property owner did not contest the right to take the property, but instead contested the valuation, and the trial court should have set the matter for a jury trial on compensation or made an interlocutory order and judgment final and appealable. Commonwealth v. Guess, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 63 (Ky. Ct. App. May 15, 2015), review denied, ordered not published, 2016 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. Apr. 27, 2016).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Commonwealth, except for the provisions of this section, pertaining to proceedings for eminent domain, is exempt from paying costs, although it may, pursuant to KRS 453.010, pay costs when such costs are approved and allowed by the judge of the court in which the case was filed. OAG 78-343.

All money paid into court or paid or transferred to the clerk of a court under the provisions of KRS 416.550 to 416.670 shall be received by the clerk of the court and held subject to the order of the court, for which the clerk and his sureties on his official bond shall be responsible to the persons entitled thereto.

416.640. Conflicting claimants to condemned land.

Where there are conflicting claimants to the land sought to be condemned and all such parties are before the court, each claimant, for the purposes of the condemnation proceeding only, shall be deemed to be an owner, and the procedure for the condemnation of the land shall be as provided in KRS 416.550 to 416.670 except that, before the condemnor shall be entitled to take possession of the land, it shall be required to pay the compensation awarded therein to the Circuit Court clerk to be held for the benefit of, and paid over to such persons as may thereafter be determined to be entitled to receive it. In such cases, the claimants may have their rights determined in a separate action, but the filing of such action or its pendency shall in no wise stay or delay said condemnation proceedings.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Application.
2. Interest.
3. Conflicting Claimants.

1. Application.

This section does not deal with the situation in which there are multiple owners of different interests in the land being condemned and the dispute is over the value of their respective interests. Foster v. Sanders, 557 S.W.2d 205, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 827 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

2. Interest.

Where there was a possible dispute over the priority of lien debts, but not over ownership of the condemned property or the leasehold interests therein and there had been no allocation of the commissioner's award between tracts devoted to separate uses, the payment of the award into court did not relieve the Commonwealth of its obligation to pay interest between the date it took possession and the date that ultimate compensation was determined and paid and, accordingly, the trial court erred in refusing to require interest. Foster v. Sanders, 557 S.W.2d 205, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 827 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

3. Conflicting Claimants.

If separate interests of different persons in a single tract can be readily determined or if separate tracts are devoted to unrelated uses, there should be an allocation of the award, but if the interests in a tract of land are so numerous and complex as to be "conflicting claimants" there is no burden on the condemnor to have the award allocated and the condemnor would not be liable for interest because of the delay required for a judicial determination of each owner's share in the award. Foster v. Sanders, 557 S.W.2d 205, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 827 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

If there is a genuine issue with respect to the priority or validity of certain liens upon the property to be condemned, there would be "conflicting claimants" under this section, and to the extent there were such issues in a case the trial court did not err in refusing to pay out the entire amount of the award to the landowners or in refusing to pay specific lien claims. Foster v. Sanders, 557 S.W.2d 205, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 827 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

416.650. Proceedings governed by Rules of Civil Procedure.

All proceedings under KRS 416.550 to 416.670 shall be governed by the provisions of the Rules of Civil Procedure except where the provisions of KRS 416.550 to 416.670 specifically or by necessary implication provide otherwise.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Costs and Attorney Fees.
2. Jury Demand.

1. Costs and Attorney Fees.

Costs and attorney fees may be awarded in a voluntary dismissal of an attempted condemnation, pursuant to CR 41.01, upon a finding of bad faith or unreasonable delay by the condemnor. If a trial court should determine that the condemnor has acted in bad faith, it should also determine the extent to which the condemnee has been prejudiced by a dismissal and whether he could be made reasonably whole by the imposition of costs and fees as a term or condition to the granting of the dismissal. Northern Kentucky Port Authority, Inc. v. Cornett, 700 S.W.2d 392, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 258 (Ky. 1985).

2. Jury Demand.

Since KRS 416.650 provides that all proceedings under the eminent domain statutes are governed by the Kentucky Rules of Civil Procedure except where those statutes specifically or by necessary implication provide otherwise, CR 38.02 applies to eminent domain proceedings and requires a party to an eminent domain case to obtain a trial by jury by serving a timely demand, failing which, the party waives the right to a jury trial under CR 38.04. Louisville & Jefferson County Metro. Sewer Dist. v. Bischoff, 248 S.W.3d 533, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 265 (Ky. 2007).

416.660. Standards for determining compensation — Changes in value — Taking date.

(1) In all actions for the condemnation of lands under the provisions of KRS 416.550 to 416.670, except temporary easements, there shall be awarded to the landowners as compensation such a sum as will fairly represent the difference between the fair market value of the entire tract, all or a portion of which is sought to be condemned, immediately before the taking and the fair market value of the remainder thereof immediately after the taking, including in the remainder all rights which the landowner may retain in the lands sought to be condemned where less than the fee simple interest therein is taken, together with the fair rental value of any temporary easements sought to be condemned.

(2) Any change in the fair market value prior to the date of condemnation which the condemnor or condemnee establishes was substantially due to the general knowledge of the imminence of condemnation or the construction of the project shall be disregarded in determining fair market value. The taking date for valuation purposes shall be either the date the condemnor takes the land, or the date of the trial of the issue of just compensation, whichever occurs first.

11. Evidence of Value.
12. Date of Taking.

1. Loss Caused by Damage.

Where a city instituted proceedings to condemn landowner's property and where between the time the report of the appraisers was filed and the date of the entry of an interlocutory judgment authorizing the city to take possession of the property, the property was vandalized or salvaged and was stripped of numerous items, thereby rendering the value of the building to be considerably less when the interlocutory judgment was entered than it was when appraised by the court-appointed appraisers, since the damage to the building had occurred prior to the trial of the issue of just compensation, the loss caused by damage to the building must be borne by the landowner unless he can establish that the city had actually taken his property before the damage occurred. Ford v. Bowling Green, 780 S.W.2d 613, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 104 (Ky. 1989).

Trial court erred by allowing condemnees to recover trespass damages based on the condemnor's entering their land before its amended condemnation petition was granted; as the land that was trespassed on was eventually taken through condemnation, only "reverse condemnation" damages were proper. Big Rivers Elec. Corp. v. Barnes, 147 S.W.3d 753, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 85 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004).

2. Fair Market Value.

The Eminent Domain Act provides for condemnation of real property upon payment of the difference in the fair market value of the condemnee's property immediately before and immediately after the taking; fair market value of the property condemned is the test, and even where the building upon the property is to be torn down, a city should not be required to pay more for the property because it had a building upon it than the amount by which the building added to the fair market value of the property at the time of the taking. Ford v. Bowling Green, 780 S.W.2d 613, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 104 (Ky. 1989).

When the state highway department condemned crossing easements across a railroad, the railroad's expert's measure of the diminution in the fair market value of the railroad's right-of-way was improperly based on non-compensable expenses for maintaining and operating the crossings and speculative litigation and clean-up costs for predicted accidents at the crossings over the next 20 years, and, as a result, the railroad presented no competent valuation evidence showing the damages it was entitled to, so the highway department was entitled to summary judgment. Commonwealth v. R.J. Corman R.R. Company/Memphis Line, 116 S.W.3d 488, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 2003).

When the state highway department condemned crossing easements across a railroad, even if the railroad was entitled to compensation for the costs of maintaining and operating the crossings and for future litigation costs related to accidents at the crossings, its expert impermissibly determined the damages to which the railroad was entitled by fixing prices for these individual items of damage and totaling them for a claim against the state, rather than focusing on how these harms affected the fair market value of the railroad's property. Commonwealth v. R.J. Corman R.R. Company/Memphis Line, 116 S.W.3d 488, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 2003).

Where land had 4.17 million tons of coal beneath it, which the condemnees' expert opined could be mined economically in 10 to 20 years, the jury was entitled to accept this testimony, though the condemnor's experts disputed it; therefore, the jury's finding that the "highest and best use" of the land was as a coal reserve was supported by the evidence, and the $67,000 condemnation award was not excessive. Big Rivers Elec. Corp. v. Barnes, 147 S.W.3d 753, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 85 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004).

In a condemnation action, references by a property owner's counsel to and questions concerning the effect of an airport runway project on development in the condemned area did not violate KRS 416.660 as the evidence was relevant for two reasons: (1) it provided a reason other than the property's alleged unsuitability for the fact that the owner's property had not been industrially developed, and (2) it explained why the owner's appraiser had not been able to refer to comparable sales in the immediate vicinity of the owner's property but had to look for comparable sales at other points along the airport's perimeter. Baston v. County of Kenton ex rel. Kenton County Airport Bd., 319 S.W.3d 401, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 2010).

KRS 416.660 does not require that increases or decreases in market value caused by the announcement of a government project be disregarded in the sense of being completely ignored. It requires, rather, that the announcement's effect on the market be disregarded in the sense of being corrected for, of being removed, in determining the fair market value of the property. Baston v. County of Kenton ex rel. Kenton County Airport Bd., 319 S.W.3d 401, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 2010).

3. Maintenance Costs.

When the state highway department condemned crossing easements across a railroad, the railroad was not entitled to compensation for the costs of maintaining and operating the crossings, as railroads had to acquiesce to safety regulations, though burdensome, as part of the consideration required for the railroad's right to exercise the power of eminent domain and other franchises and privileges enjoyed. Commonwealth v. R.J. Corman R.R. Company/Memphis Line, 116 S.W.3d 488, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 2003).

4. Practice And Procedure.

Condemnees' attorney's and expert's intentional injection of evidence of a third-party purchase offer for the land, despite the trial court's ruling that this evidence was inadmissible, had entitled the condemnor to a mistrial. Big Rivers Elec. Corp. v. Barnes, 147 S.W.3d 753, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 85 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004).

5. Measure of Compensation.

Difference between fair market of whole premises before taking and fair market value of remainder immediately afterwards was true measure of compensation to be awarded landowner and one was not permitted to slice off part of tract and value it without regard to entire tract. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Sherrod, 367 S.W.2d 844, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Where lots had possible uses other than their present use and were not absolutely essential to the conduct of owner's business and similar property for the same use could be acquired by purchase or rental the fair market value furnished a fair measure of just compensation and the adaptability of the lots to the owner's use was but a factor to consider in determining market value. Newport Municipal Housing Com. v. Turner Advertising, Inc., 334 S.W.2d 767, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 231 (Ky. 1960) (decided under prior law).

Doctrine of additur could not be invoked to raise judgment for property condemned for urban renewal purposes to previous alleged offer by condemnor. Dinwiddie v. Urban Renewal & Community Development Agency, 393 S.W.2d 872, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 247 (Ky. 1965) (decided under prior law).

Interrogatories of executive director of urban renewal agency and other purchases by the urban renewal agency in the area were inadmissible to show the selling or offering price of a condemned tract. Dinwiddie v. Urban Renewal & Community Development Agency, 393 S.W.2d 872, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 247 (Ky. 1965) (decided under prior law).

The landowner was entitled to receive as just compensation the difference in the fair market value of the total tract of land immediately before and immediately after the taking of a portion of the land for school purposes. Usher & Gardner, Inc. v. Mayfield Independent Board of Education, 461 S.W.2d 560, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 641 (Ky. 1970) (decided under prior law).

6. —Difference in Market Value.

Evidence of factors bearing on diminution of value should be addressed to how they will affect market value and not how they will hurt the owner or make less advantageous the use of the property for his particular purposes, or create conditions that he would like to remedy and no price should be put on the individual factors. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Sherrod, 367 S.W.2d 844, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Jury should be instructed to find the fair market value immediately before the taking, the fair market value after the taking, and the difference between the two. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Howard, 405 S.W.2d 20, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 238 (Ky. 1966) (decided under prior law).

In determining the value of land, the proper method is to deduct the after value of the whole tract from its before value if the latter were larger, rather than by determining the before value and deducting the value of the part taken. The latter method does not permit the jury to credit the state with any increase in value attributable to the improvement. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Howard, 405 S.W.2d 20, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 238 (Ky. 1966) (decided under prior law).

Landowners were not entitled to compensation for the loss in value of properties that neighbored their condemned parcels of land under an alternative method of valuing partial takings, whereby "taking damages," the value of the part taken, were assessed apart from and then added to "resulting damages," the value of the "harm" to the remainder; the landowners' "lost value" claim would amount to a revival of the disallowed "taking damages-resulting damages" approach. Bianchi v. City of Harlan, 274 S.W.3d 368, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 128 (Ky. 2008).

7. —Assessed Value.

Where landowner signed assessment list containing evaluation of his property which was later condemned, landowner would not be heard to say that he had not fixed value of his property. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Lanter, 364 S.W.2d 652, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 208 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

If the landowner had turned in a value for assessment, evidence of the assessed value was admissible in condemnation proceedings and it was not necessary that the landowner made a computation and employ a formula to independently determine value. West Kentucky Coal Co. v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 368 S.W.2d 738, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 52 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

8. —Enhancement in Value from Improvement.

Circuit court erred in instructing jury in condemnation action that measure of damages was difference in value of remaining land immediately before and after taking, less any enhancement resulting from improvement, since difference in market value of entire tract before and after taking less any enhancement in value from improvement, was proper measure of damages. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. King, 375 S.W.2d 688, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 424 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

In highway condemnation suit increase in value of the condemned property by nearness to interchanges of proposed highway was admissible in evidence. Cincinnati, N. O. & T. P. R. Co. v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 376 S.W.2d 307, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 445 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

9. —Comparable Sales.

Cross-examination of state's witness by counsel for landowner with respect to prices paid other property owners for rights of way would have been improper and prejudicial and questions directed not to sales prices but to appraisals the witness had made of other property in the area without a showing that the other places mentioned by counsel in the cross-examination were comparable with the property being condemned were incompetent but under the circumstances answers did not have enough meaning or significance to be prejudicial. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Evans, 361 S.W.2d 766, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 252 (Ky. 1962), overruled in part, Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Sherrod, 367 S.W.2d 844, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

If witness was qualified as expert on real estate valuation it was not always absolutely essential to either admissibility or sufficiency of his opinion that it be supported by comparable sales. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Citizens Ice & Fuel Co., 365 S.W.2d 113, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 218 (Ky. 1963), overruled, Louisville v. Allen, 385 S.W.2d 179, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 142 (Ky. 1964), overruled in part, Louisville v. Allen, 385 S.W.2d 179, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 142 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

Knowledge of comparable sales was not the sole acceptable basis for estimate of land value. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Elizabethtown Amusements, Inc., 367 S.W.2d 449, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 24 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Evidence of voluntary sales of other property in neighborhood of condemned property and of somewhat similar nature, such transactions having been consummated within a year or two (2) of institution of condemnation was competent and admissible on issue of value. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Taylor, 368 S.W.2d 732, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 50 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Evidence of comparable sales may be offered on either one (1) of two (2) theories: (1) As independent substantive evidence of the value of the property to which the comparison relates; or (2) As foundation evidence supporting the opinion of the expert witness and where the evidence comes in under the second theory, there is less reason for being strict in regard to similarity, because the evidence serves the purpose only of supporting the credibility of the estimate of value given by the witness. West Kentucky Coal Co. v. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways, 368 S.W.2d 738, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 52 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Testimony of two (2) witnesses as to before-and-after-taking value of property partially condemned for highway purposes was not inadmissible because the witnesses did not have knowledge of comparable sales where they were well acquainted with property values in the county. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Prather, 369 S.W.2d 118, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 64 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

It was the general rule that transaction involving potential condemner was inadmissible as comparable sale because it lacked element of voluntariness and freedom from compulsion. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. McGeorge, 369 S.W.2d 126, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 68 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

The exclusionary rule against comparable sales where purchaser had power of eminent domain amounted to conclusive presumption that prices paid do not reflect free and voluntary transactions. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. McGeorge, 369 S.W.2d 126, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 68 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Where it was condemnors who offered evidence of sale of comparable land to school board, question was not whether school board's power of condemnation had influenced price but whether board's freedom of choice as to location had been so restricted that it was caused to pay more than land was worth. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. McGeorge, 369 S.W.2d 126, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 68 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

In condemnation suit where landowners were permitted to show for comparative valuation purposes a fairly recent transaction in which school board had purchased property the question of whether the school board transaction was free and voluntary from the standpoint of the purchaser was a matter for the consideration of the jury. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. McGeorge, 369 S.W.2d 126, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 68 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

A recent sale of so-called comparable land in the same locale to that condemned was competent evidence in a condemnation suit. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Slusher, 371 S.W.2d 851, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 114 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

The reasoning which forbids consideration of forced sales generally, renders it incompetent for either party to put in evidence the amount paid by the condemnor to the owners of neighboring lands taken at the same time, and as part of the same proceedings however similar they may be to that in controversy and whether the payment was made as the result of voluntary settlement, an award, or the verdict of a jury. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Slusher, 371 S.W.2d 851, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 114 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

It was not error to permit expert witness to cite for comparative purposes three (3) sales of property located in an adjacent county at distances of six (6), ten (10) and 12 miles from property subject to condemnation. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Finley, 371 S.W.2d 854, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 115 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Comparable sales are extremely valuable evidence in condemnation cases and are not lightly to be excluded. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Oakland United Baptist Church, 372 S.W.2d 412, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 136 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

It was reversible error to reject testimony of state's witnesses in condemnation proceedings as to the sale prices of the property described as being comparable property. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Lemar, 375 S.W.2d 678, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 420 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

Landowners' valuation evidence was not rendered incompetent or insufficient for not resting upon comparable sales. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Brubaker, 375 S.W.2d 404, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 417 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

It was reversible error for court to refuse to admit prices paid at recent sales of comparable property and where there was no evidence that sales had been made under compulsion there was a rebuttable presumption that the prices were freely fixed and the sales were voluntary. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Shackelford, 380 S.W.2d 77, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 270 (Ky. 1964) (decided under prior law).

Use of improper factor of income in determining value of property before taking was not error where expert witness used proper factor of comparable sales as another factor by which he determined the before value. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Howard, 405 S.W.2d 20, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 238 (Ky. 1966) (decided under prior law).

10. —Leasehold.

"Loss of business" through condemnation of leasehold did not constitute proper item of recovery. Compensable loss of tenant was "amount by which fair market value of unexpired term of lease exceeds rent reserved for same period." Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Fultz, 360 S.W.2d 216, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 220 (Ky. 1962) (decided under prior law).

In cases involving condemnation of leased property all of the issues may be tried together because the major fact determinations will relate to the value of the property as a whole, before and after the taking, and the allocation between landlord and tenant will be mainly a matter of mathematical computation by the court. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Sherrod, 367 S.W.2d 844, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Proper measure for determining damages to a leasehold interest in condemnation proceedings was to determine the fair market value of the leasehold by subtracting the fair market value of the land as a whole if sold subject to the lease from the fair market value of the land as a whole if sold free and clear of the lease. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Sherrod, 367 S.W.2d 844, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Where lessee was carrying on restaurant business and a portion of the land was condemned so that it was no longer suitable for restaurant purposes he could not claim damages for the loss of his restaurant business but could only claim the depreciation in market value of the lease which would be the difference between the former market value of the lease and the after market value. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Sherrod, 367 S.W.2d 844, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

Where only part of the leased property was condemned the landowner was not entitled to loss of profits, he was limited to loss of market value of land not condemned. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Sherrod, 367 S.W.2d 844, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

If owner of land negotiated lease at rental higher than fair rental value, with result that property would sell for more than normal market value, excess over normal value had to be considered profit for which owner was not to be compensated, and such owner had to be restricted in recovery to fair market value. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Sherrod, 367 S.W.2d 844, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1963) (decided under prior law).

11. Evidence of Value.

Where an easement was condemned on a farm that had sold for $431 per acre and the farm had good subdivision potential, a verdict of $446 an acre for the easement would be within the evidence. East Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corp. v. Bowles, 469 S.W.2d 763, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 310 (Ky. 1971) (decided under prior law).

Where a witness as to before and after valuation of land condemned for an easement was not aware that houses could be built on the easement but, after the fact was called to his attention, took it into consideration but did not change the valuation, the situation did not justify striking the testimony of the witness. East Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corp. v. Bowles, 469 S.W.2d 763, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 310 (Ky. 1971) (decided under prior law).

12. Date of Taking.

Day on which public hearing was held to inform community of public improvement to be undertaken constituted date of taking upon which jury should fix the "before" value of the property to arrive at total amount of recovery. Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Wood, 380 S.W.2d 73, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 266 (Ky. 1964), overruled, Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Claypool, 405 S.W.2d 674, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 258 (Ky. 1966), overruled in part, Commonwealth, Dep't of Highways v. Claypool, 405 S.W.2d 674, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 258 (Ky. 1966) (decided under prior law).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Evidence of Value.

Unpublished decision: In a condemnation case where the amount of compensation due was at issue, an owner made a prima facie showing that the taking caused it to suffer a permanent injury to its remaining property; in analyzing the unity of use/purpose question, it was error to consider only the present use of the property by a short-term tenant. A prior transfer between interrelated companies of a three parcel tract was not competent or reliable evidence of the present fair market value of a single parcel tract nine years later. Putnam & Sons, LLC v. Paducah Indep. Sch. Dist., 2015 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 876 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 20, 2015), rev'd, 520 S.W.3d 367, 2017 Ky. LEXIS 282 (Ky. 2017).

416.670. Limitations on condemnation powers — Rights of current landowner.

(1) Development shall be started on any property which has been acquired through condemnation within a period of eight (8) years from the date of the deed to the condemnor or the date on which the condemnor took possession, whichever is earlier, for the purpose for which it was condemned. The failure of the condemnor to so begin development shall entitle the current landowner to repurchase the property at the price the condemnor paid to the landowner for the property. The current owner of the land from which the condemned land was taken may reacquire the land as aforementioned.

(2) Any condemnor who fails to develop property acquired by condemnation or who fails to begin design on highway projects pursuant to KRS Chapter 177 within a period of eight (8) years after acquisition, shall notify the current landowner of the provisions of subsection (1) of this section. If the current landowner refuses to purchase property described in this section, public notice shall be given in a manner prescribed in KRS Chapter 424 within thirty (30) days of the refusal, and the property shall be sold at auction. Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to property acquired for purposes of industrial development pursuant to KRS Chapter 152 or a project of a transportation improvement district under KRS 184.350 to 184.345.

(3) If there are two (2) or more current owners of the land from which the condemned land was taken because the remaining land was subdivided, and if they have a common boundary with the condemned land, the condemned land shall be reacquired by allowing all owners of a parcel of the remaining land with a common boundary and from which the condemned land was taken to offer sealed bids for the condemned land within thirty (30) days of notification by the condemnor. The condemnor shall accept the highest and best sealed bid equal to or greater than the price paid at the time of condemnation. If there are no sealed bids or if all sealed bids are below the original price paid by the condemnor for the property, the property shall be sold at auction.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Condemning Authority Acting As Land Broker.
2. Calculation of Price.
3. Right to Repurchase.
4. —Monetary Damages.
5. Commencement of Development.
6. Statute of Limitation.
7. Abandonment of Condemnation.

1. Condemning Authority Acting As Land Broker.

Mere convenience is not a sufficient justification for the condemning authority to act as a land broker for private interests. Miles v. Dawson, 830 S.W.2d 368, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 191 (Ky. 1991).

2. Calculation of Price.

The pertinent part of the statute states that condemnee landowner is entitled to repurchase the property at the price the state paid to the landowner for the property. Implicit in this calculation is a pro rata method of determining the repurchase price. This section of the statute further supports the legislative intent to return unused property to its original owners. Miles v. Dawson, 830 S.W.2d 368, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 191 (Ky. 1991).

The calculation of repurchase price is a matter of law, not a finding of fact. City of Covington v. Hardebeck, 883 S.W.2d 499, 1994 Ky. App. LEXIS 53 (Ky. Ct. App. 1994).

3. Right to Repurchase.

Prior private property owner has a statutory right of redemption pursuant to this section to repurchase that part of real property originally condemned but not developed for the purpose for which it was condemned. Miles v. Dawson, 830 S.W.2d 368, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 191 (Ky. 1991).

Where this section provides that development must be started on “any property” which has been acquired through condemnation within a period of eight (8) years, and if not, the land owner is entitled to repurchase, does not mean “all,” and landowner is entitled to repurchase that portion of the property which has not been developed, even though another portion of the property acquired has been developed. Miles v. Dawson, 830 S.W.2d 368, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 191 (Ky. 1991).

Original owners of property acquired by city through eminent domain were entitled to repurchase a portion of the property containing a billboard which had not been committed to a public use within eight (8) years of its condemnation. City of Covington v. Hardebeck, 883 S.W.2d 499, 1994 Ky. App. LEXIS 53 (Ky. Ct. App. 1994).

There was no improper retroactive application of this section where the court allowed the former owners of property condemned by the Transportation Cabinet to repurchase the unused part of condemned property, notwithstanding that the condemnation occurred prior to the amendment of the statute which allowed such repurchase; it was the failure of the Transportation Cabinet to begin development within eight (8) years, and not the condemnation, which entitled the former owners the opportunity to repurchase the surplus property. Kelly v. Thompson, 983 S.W.2d 457, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 128 (Ky. 1998).

The right to repurchase does not apply where property is sold by agreement, notwithstanding that such sale is completed under threat of condemnation. Coleman v. City of Pikeville, 994 S.W.2d 524, 1999 Ky. App. LEXIS 69 (Ky. Ct. App. 1999).

The plaintiffs did not have a right to repurchase property that they sold to an urban renewal agency after the agency was dissolved, the property was transferred to the defendant city and the project for which the property was acquired was abandoned. Coleman v. City of Pikeville, 994 S.W.2d 524, 1999 Ky. App. LEXIS 69 (Ky. Ct. App. 1999).

Failure to begin development, not the condemnation, triggered the redemption right, so where the eight (8) year development period ended after the 1980 amendment to KRS 416.670, the condemnees acquired the right to redeem property condemned by the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet. Vandertoll v. Commonwealth, 110 S.W.3d 789, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 118 (Ky. 2003).

4. —Monetary Damages.

Where the Commonwealth failed to develop condemned property within the eight-year period specified in KRS 416.670, the condemnees could not recover monetary damages for a delay in notifying them of their right to repurchase the property; the delay was not a continued taking compensable under KRS 416.620 because the condemnees retained no interest in the property. Martin v. Commonwealth, 199 S.W.3d 195, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 67 (Ky. Ct. App. 2006).

5. Commencement of Development.

The trial court's determination that the dumping of 66,000 cubic feet of fill material on a 1.348 acre parcel constituted the starting of development was not clearly erroneous. Coleman v. City of Pikeville, 994 S.W.2d 524, 1999 Ky. App. LEXIS 69 (Ky. Ct. App. 1999).

Where an airport board removed structures, trees, and junk from condemned property, it timely began development that precluded repurchase by the former owner; therefore, summary judgment was properly granted. Yahnig v. City of Somerset, 129 S.W.3d 846, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 93 (Ky. Ct. App. 2003).

6. Statute of Limitation.

An action to repurchase condemned property is an action upon a liability created by KRS 416.670; the right to bring an action to repurchase condemned property accrues upon the condemnor's failure to begin development within eight (8) years, and the appropriate period of limitations is the five (5) year period in KRS 413.120(2). Martin v. Commonwealth, 2001 Ky. App. LEXIS 1245 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 30, 2001), aff'd sub nom. Vandertoll v. Commonwealth, 110 S.W.3d 789, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 118 (Ky. 2003).

KRS 416.670(2) clearly places the duty on the condemning authority to give notice to the former landowner that development of condemned property has occurred. Martin v. Commonwealth, 2001 Ky. App. LEXIS 1245 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 30, 2001), aff'd sub nom. Vandertoll v. Commonwealth, 110 S.W.3d 789, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 118 (Ky. 2003).

KRS 413.120(2) five-year statute of limitations applied to enforcement of the condemnees' right to redeem property condemned by the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet, but did not begin to run until the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet had effected required statutory notice of to the condemnees of their redemption rights. Vandertoll v. Commonwealth, 110 S.W.3d 789, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 118 (Ky. 2003).

7. Abandonment of Condemnation.

Where commissioners, in making award, took into consideration property adjoining the property sought to be condemned, which adjoining property had been omitted from the description in the condemnation complaint, the condemnor could abandon the proceedings, even after judgment, so long as possession had not been taken or the award paid and the property owner, in absence of bad faith or unreasonable delay, could not collect damages by reason of the abandonment. Handy v. Hazard, 408 S.W.2d 455, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 110 (Ky. 1966) (decided under prior law).

(1) Every grant of authority contained in the Kentucky Revised Statutes to exercise the power of eminent domain shall be subject to the condition that the authority be exercised only to effectuate a public use of the condemned property.

(2) "Public use" shall mean the following:

(a) Ownership of the property by the Commonwealth, a political subdivision of the Commonwealth, or other governmental entity;

(b) The possession, occupation, or enjoyment of the property as a matter of right by the Commonwealth, a political subdivision of the Commonwealth, or other governmental entity;

(c) The acquisition and transfer of property for the purpose of eliminating blighted areas, slum areas, or substandard and insanitary areas in accordance with KRS Chapter 99;

(d) The use of the property for the creation or operation of public utilities or common carriers; or

(e) Other use of the property expressly authorized by statute.

(3) No provision in the law of the Commonwealth shall be construed to authorize the condemnation of private property for transfer to a private owner for the purpose of economic development that benefits the general public only indirectly, such as by increasing the tax base, tax revenues, or employment, or by promoting the general economic health of the community. However, this provision shall not prohibit the sale or lease of property to private entities that occupy an incidental area within a public project or building, provided that no property may be condemned primarily for the purpose of facilitating an incidental private use.

(4) The exercise of the power of eminent domain for the acquisition of property financed by state road funds or federal highway funds shall be exempt from the provisions of this section.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

424.110. Definitions.

As used in KRS 424.110 to 424.370:

(1) "Publication area" means the city, county, district, or other local area for which an advertisement is required by law to be made. An advertisement shall be deemed to be for a particular city, county, district, or other local area if it concerns an official activity of the city, county, district, or other area or of any governing body, board, commission, officer, agency, or court thereof, or if the subject of the advertisement concerns particularly the people of the city, county, district, or other area;

(2) "Advertisement" means any matter required by law to be published; and

(3) "Zoned edition" means a newspaper edition published at least once a week, distributed in a specific geographic region of the newspaper's circulation area, and containing reporting and advertising of interest to subscribers in that geographic region.

History.

Enact. Acts 1958, ch. 42, § 1; 1960, ch. 168, § 1; 1992, ch. 9, § 1, effective July 14, 1992.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Commencement of Incorporation Action.

Although there must be a public notice, KRS 81.050(2) does not require that it be filed concurrently with the petition, but only demands that the notice be published as required by this chapter; thus, there need be only a petition for incorporation filed with the circuit clerk which commences the action, thereby constituting the first step. Jeffersontown v. Hurstbourne, 684 S.W.2d 23, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 584 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

Cited in:

Board of Education v. Hall, 353 S.W.2d 194, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 8 (Ky. 1962).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Under this section and KRS 424.120, where no newspaper was published in a city and a newspaper in an adjoining city claiming to have the largest circulation in the city concerned but not in the county claimed to be qualified to accept legal advertising under KRS 424.120, such newspaper could not qualify and the qualified newspaper was that newspaper published in the entire county which had the largest bona fide circulation in that county. OAG 73-419.

In view of this section and KRS 424.120, a city could not legally place its required advertisement in a weekly newspaper that did not maintain its office within the corporate limits of the city even though it had the largest circulation therein. OAG 73-663.

For extensive zoning changes and map amendments, only the publication requirements of KRS Chapter 424 must be followed; individual notices need not be given all property owners. OAG 78-74.

For the purpose of legal advertisements, the "publication area" for the Kenton County airport board is Kenton County, inasmuch as the operation of the Kenton County airport, though conducted in the main in Boone County, is an official activity of the airport board, which was created by Kenton County and which is derivatively a board of Kenton County. OAG 80-584.

This chapter applies only to those publications required by law to be published. However, an exception under this act is the list of uncollectible delinquent taxes, which must be published pursuant to KRS 424.330. OAG 82-128.

Under the home rule authority it is possible that a city could, pursuant to appropriate ordinance, require the publication of the names of those persons who are delinquent in paying their sewer and water bills. However, the power to do so would remain questionable pending litigation. OAG 82-128.

“Publication pursuant to KRS Chapter 424,” as provided by KRS 426.560 means (1) publication in a particular “publication area” and (2) publication in a qualified newspaper. OAG 94-9.

Under the language of subsection (1) of this section, the “publication area” within which an advertisement is required by law to be made by a master commissioner, is the particular county in which circuit court a master commissioner serves, is located. OAG 94-9.

The circulation of a newspaper, as reflected in the “statement of ownership,” is not controlling in determining the “bona fide paid circulation” in the publication area; therefore, a fiscal court, in a county with two (2) or more newspapers that meet the requirements of KRS 424.120, must solicit affidavits from otherwise qualified newspapers as to their “bona fide paid circulation” within the publication area, in order to determine which newspaper is entitled to receive statutorily required advertising of governmental notices. OAG 95-28.

424.120. Qualifications of newspapers.

(1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, if an advertisement for a publication area is required by law to be published in a newspaper, the publication shall be made in a newspaper that meets the following requirements:

(a) It shall be published in the publication area. A newspaper shall be deemed to be published in the area if it maintains its principal office in the area for the purpose of gathering news and soliciting advertisements and other general business of newspaper publications, and has a periodicals class mailing permit issued for that office. A newspaper published outside of Kentucky shall not be eligible to carry advertisements for any county or publication area within the county, other than for the city in which its main office is located, if there is a newspaper published in the county that has a substantial general circulation throughout the county and that otherwise meets the requirements of this section; and

(b) It shall be of regular issue and have a bona fide circulation in the publication area. A newspaper shall be deemed to be of regular issue if it is published at least once a week, for at least fifty (50) weeks during the calendar year as prescribed by its mailing permit, and has been so published in the area for the immediately preceding two (2) year period. A newspaper meeting all the criteria to be of regular issue, except publication in the area for the immediately preceding two (2) year period, shall be deemed to be of regular issue if it is the only paper in the publication area and has a paid circulation equal to at least ten percent (10%) of the population of the publication area. A newspaper shall be deemed to be of bona fide circulation in the publication area if it is circulated generally in the area, and maintains a definite price or consideration not less than fifty percent (50%) of its published price, and is paid for by not less than fifty percent (50%) of those to whom distribution is made; and

(c) It shall bear a title or name, consist of not less than four (4) pages without a cover, and be of a type to which the general public resorts for passing events of a political, religious, commercial, and social nature, and for current happenings, announcements, miscellaneous reading matter, advertisements, and other notices. The news content shall be at least twenty-five percent (25%) of the total column space in more than one-half (1/2) of its issues during any twelve (12) month period.

(d) If, in a publication area there is more than one (1) newspaper which meets the above requirements, the newspaper having the largest bona fide paid circulation as shown by the average number of paid copies of each issue as shown in its published statement of ownership as filed on October 1 for the publication area shall be the newspaper where advertisements required by law to be published shall be carried.

(e) For the purposes of KRS Chapter 424, publishing shall be considered as the total recurring processes of producing the newspaper, embracing all of the included contents of reading matter, illustrations, and advertising enumerated in paragraphs (a) through (d) of this subsection. A newspaper shall not be excluded from qualifying for the purposes of legal publications as provided in this chapter if its printing or reproduction processes take place outside the publication area.

(2)(a) If, in the case of a publication area smaller than the county in which it is located, there is no newspaper published in the area, the publication shall be made in a newspaper published in the county that is qualified under this section to publish advertisements for the county. If the qualified newspaper publishes a zoned edition which is distributed to regular subscribers within the publication area, any advertisement required by law to be published in the publication area may be published in the zoned edition distributed in that area.

(b) If, in any county there is no newspaper meeting the requirements of this section for publishing advertisements for that county, any advertisements required to be published for the county or for any publication area within the county shall be published in a newspaper of the largest bona fide circulation in that county published in and qualified to publish advertisements for an adjoining county in Kentucky. This subsection is intended to supersede any statute that provides or contemplates that newspaper publication may be dispensed with if there is no newspaper printed or published or of general circulation in the particular publication area.

(3) If a publication area consists of a district, other than a city, which extends into more than one (1) county, the part of the district in each county shall be considered to be a separate publication area for the purposes of this section, and an advertisement for each separate publication area shall be published in a newspaper qualified under this section to publish advertisements for the area.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Circulation.
2. Substantial Compliance.

1. Circulation.

Statement that newspaper had largest circulation was, standing alone, insufficient to prove such newspaper's qualifications. Williams v. Commonwealth, 392 S.W.2d 454, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 286 (Ky. 1965).

The newspaper with the greatest bona fide paid circulation in the county is entitled to publish the county treasurer's report and not the paper which has the largest overall circulation which includes a number of counties. Whitley Whiz, Inc. v. Whitley County, 812 S.W.2d 149, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 46 (Ky. 1991).

2. Substantial Compliance.

An urban county government's failure to strictly comply with the legal publication requirements of subdivision (1)(b) of this section, by publishing their ordinance concerning a sewer project in a newspaper that did not have the largest bona fide circulation in the area, was not reversible error where substantial compliance with the notification requirements had been achieved, in that the notice was published in the newspaper with the second largest circulation, individual notices were mailed to the affected property owners, and there was considerable publicity about the initiation of the sewer project by means of radio, television and newspaper coverage. Conrad v. Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, 659 S.W.2d 190, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1983).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Where two newspapers satisfy all of the other requirements of paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (1) of this section but neither will admit the greater circulation of the other in the independent school district, the board should secure affidavits from both newspapers as to the number of paid subscribers each has within the independent school district. OAG 61-1055.

Where a newspaper company owned more than one newspaper within a publication area, it could not combine the circulation of two or more papers to qualify as having the largest bona fide circulation. OAG 62-231.

Subsection (2) of this section supersedes KRS 87.050 (repealed) and would require ordinances to be published in a qualified newspaper even though there was no newspaper published in the city. OAG 62-546.

The sale of real property for delinquent taxes must be at a public sale, advertised in a newspaper of local publication, with anyone having the right to bid on such property before a purchase of any of the property is valid. OAG 63-56.

Newspapers claiming to have the largest circulation should be required to file with the fiscal court certified statements as to their circulation after which the court can make its selection from the best information available. OAG 64-399.

The phrase "bona fide circulation" includes copies of newspapers sold on newsstands as well as those delivered by newsboys and free copies sent to correspondents, advertisers or advertising agencies within the publication area as defined in this section. OAG 64-399.

A judgment in a court of law finding one newspaper to be the largest bona fide circulation in the publication area as against a rival newspaper is good only so long as the statutory qualification is met. OAG 65-859.

Free newspapers distributed can be counted in the circulation number so long as the circulation price is paid by not less than 50 percent of those to whom distribution is made. OAG 65-859.

Where the mayor owned and operated the newspaper having the largest bona fide circulation, legal notices would be required to be published in that paper regardless of the other disqualifying factors. OAG 66-18.

The fiscal court must strictly follow the provisions of this section in making a determination of which newspaper has the largest bona fide circulation from time to time during the year. OAG 69-173.

If a newspaper meets the qualifications set forth in this section and KRS 424.110, it should be utilized to publish all city ordinances. OAG 69-688.

KRS 424.340 does not refer to KRS 424.130, but does refer to this section. OAG 70-523.

Under this section a newspaper is not necessarily required to be printed in the county or state if the company publishing the newspaper maintains an office in the publication area for the purpose of gathering news and soliciting advertisements and other general business of newspaper publication and has a second-class mailing permit issued for that office. OAG 72-312.

Where a member of the city council is the owner and publisher of the only county newspaper or printing concern, he would be prohibited from signing a contract with the city for commercial printing by KRS 61.270 and 86.050 (repealed), but if the newspaper is the only one published in the city that qualifies pursuant to this section for publishing notices, financial statements and other material required by law to be published within the city, there would be no conflict of interest with respect to such publication. OAG 73-88.

Under this section and KRS 424.110, where no newspaper was published in a city and a newspaper in an adjoining city claiming to have the largest circulation in the city concerned but not in the county claimed to be qualified to accept legal advertising from that city, such newspaper could not qualify and the qualified newspaper was that newspaper published in the entire county which had the largest bona fide circulation in that county. OAG 73-419.

Where a member of a county board of education and her husband owned a weekly newspaper, the only newspaper in that county, school financial statements and legal notices could pursuant to this section and KRS 424.220 be published in such newspaper without violating KRS 160.180. OAG 73-438.

In view of this section and KRS 424.110, a city could not legally place its required advertisement in a weekly newspaper that did not maintain its office within the corporate limits of the city, even though it had the largest circulation therein. OAG 73-663.

No conflict of interests would exist if the wife of a publisher of a paper qualified pursuant to this section to publish legal advertisements for the county board of education is elected to the board of education. OAG 74-516.

A legal notice of a city ordinance published in a newspaper that has not been published for one year as required by this section is considered published and would be enforceable under KRS 87.050 (repealed) since it is presumed that it was legally published until the courts say otherwise. OAG 75-428.

Although all county election publications must be published in the newspaper qualifying as the one having the largest circulation within the county as prescribed in this section, the contract for the printing of election supplies is not required to be given to the newspaper having the largest circulation and may be given to any other newspaper as long as it is located in the county in conformance with KRS 57.285. OAG 75-711.

If both of the papers in a county are qualified in every other respect, the county should make its legal advertising in the newspaper with the largest circulation in the publication area and the proper way to make the determination is by evidence submitted in affidavit form from the publishers. OAG 78-202.

For the purpose of legal advertisements, the "publication area" for the Kenton County airport board is Kenton County, inasmuch as the operation of the Kenton County airport, though conducted in the main in Boone County, is an official activity of the airport board, which was created by Kenton County and which is derivatively a board of Kenton County. OAG 80-584.

Where a county contains several cities which require publication of legal notices, but only one newspaper serves the entire county, those cities cannot satisfy the publication requirements of subsection (2) of this section by publishing the legal notices in special zoned editions of the single newspapers, which are separate newspapers distributed weekly within a specific geographic area of the county and contain local reporting and advertising, since they would not qualify on their own under subsection (2) of this section; however, the single parent newspaper would qualify because it is published in the county and has the largest bona fide circulation throughout the county. OAG 81-321.

A fiscal court, in determining administratively which newspaper in the county has the greatest bona fide circulation in order to effect county legal advertising, may use any reasonable means to elicit evidence necessary to make such administrative determination; this may include a hearing, upon proper notice, and the taking of sworn testimony of witnesses and the filing of affidavits and, thus, sworn testimony may be introduced which may have the effect of challenging so-called factual data contained in affidavits of publishers previously filed. OAG 82-90.

The annual financial statement of a county cannot be carried by a newspaper other than the one having the greatest bona fide circulation since this section explicitly requires the ad to be carried by the newspaper having the greatest bona fide circulation. OAG 82-117.

Under the express terms of KRS 424.220, the officer responsible for the county financial statement must, within 60 days after the close of the fiscal year, cause the statement to be published in full in a newspaper qualified under this section to publish ads for the county (largest bona fide circulation, etc.), regardless of the financial burden imposed on the county by the cost of placing the full statement in the newspaper. OAG 82-117.

Acts 1982, ch. 430, which amends this section and several other statutes relating to publication requirements of cities, is basically an amendment of the municipal publication requirements and does not affect the city budget process, financial matters in cities or matters relating to the administration of city finances. It gives a city a choice as to which of two devices relating to finances and expenditures must be published annually rather than requiring that they both be published and affects what a city publishes after the completion of the fiscal year, but does not affect the activities of a city during the fiscal year; it does not impair any vested rights. OAG 82-353.

As to its publication provisions for municipal governments, Acts 1982, ch. 430, effective July 15, 1982, is applicable to those municipal governments for the fiscal year July 1, 1981 to June 30, 1982. OAG 82-353.

Under subdivision (1)(d) of this section, if there is, in the publication area, more than one newspaper which meets the requirements of subdivisions (1)(a), (b), and (c) of this section, the greater bona fide circulation controls; in the event the two newspapers should, in their published statement of ownership, show an identical number relating to bona fide circulation, the fiscal court could request the two newspapers to submit affidavits relating to the precise bona fide circulation in the county, but should the affidavits contain identical figures as to the bona fide circulation, only the courts could resolve the question of which paper has the right to print county advertisements. OAG 83-247.

Where KRS 88.060 (repealed) which required newspaper publication of city ordinances was in effect both when a city enacted an ordinance and when it subsequently amended that ordinance, and the city failed to publish both the original ordinance and the amendment, neither ordinance was legally enacted and both ordinances were therefore unenforceable. OAG 83-372.

Where there is more than one newspaper qualifying under this section to run mandated county advertising, then the newspaper with the largest bona fide circulation should get the county's advertising; in speaking of the largest bona fide circulation, it is the circulation shown by the published statement of ownership for the publication area. However, where two county newspapers each claim that it has the largest circulation, the fiscal court in making the determination of which newspaper actually does have the highest bona fide circulation in the county may use any reasonable means to elicit evidence necessary to make such determination. OAG 84-30.

KRS 158.690 (repealed) requires the school district's annual performance report to be published annually in the newspaper with the largest circulation in the county; a district is to determine which paper is the largest circulation by applying the criteria of subdivision (1)(d) of this section. OAG 86-72.

Since the annual performance report required by KRS 158.690 (repealed) to be published is a matter required by law to be published, it is an "advertisement" within the meaning of KRS Chapter 424, and this section is applicable to the school district's duty to publish the annual performance report pursuant to KRS 158.690 (repealed). OAG 86-72.

A newspaper distributed for free may not be considered for publication of the school district's annual performance report required by KRS 158.690 (repealed). OAG 86-72.

The master commissioner of the Campbell Circuit Court is required to advertise master commissioner sales in the Campbell County Recorder newspaper unless otherwise agreed upon by the parties, or unless the appraised value of the property to be sold is less than $100. OAG 94-9.

"Publication pursuant to KRS Chapter 424," as provided by KRS 426.560 means (1) publication in a particular "publication area" and (2) publication in a qualified newspaper. OAG 94-9.

The circulation of a newspaper, as reflected in the "statement of ownership," is not controlling in determining the "bona fide paid circulation" in the publication area; therefore, a fiscal court, in a county with two (2) or more newspapers that meet the requirements of this section, must solicit affidavits from otherwise qualified newspapers as to their "bona fide paid circulation" within the publication area, in order to determine which newspaper is entitled to receive statutorily required advertising of governmental notices. OAG 95-28.

424.130. Times and periods of publication — Posting of delinquent tax lists.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in KRS 424.110 to 424.370 and notwithstanding any provision of existing law providing for different times or periods of publication, the times and periods of publications of advertisements required by law to be made in a newspaper shall be as follows:

(a) When an advertisement is of a completed act, such as an ordinance, resolution, regulation, order, rule, report, statement, or certificate and the purpose of the publication is not to inform the public or the members of any class of persons that they may or shall do an act or exercise a right within a designated period or upon or by a designated date, the advertisement shall be published one (1) time only and within thirty (30) days after completion of the act. However, a failure to comply with this paragraph shall not invalidate any ordinance or resolution or subject a person to any of the penalties provided by KRS 424.990 unless such failure continues for a period of fifteen (15) days after notice to comply has been given him by registered letter.

(b) When an advertisement is for the purpose of informing the public or the members of any class of persons that on or before a certain day they may or shall file a petition or exceptions or a remonstrance or protest or objection, or resist the granting of an application or petition, or present or file a claim, or submit a bid, the advertisement shall be published at least once, but may be published two (2) or more times, provided that one (1) publication occurs not less than seven (7) days nor more than twenty-one (21) days before the occurrence of the act or event.

(c) When an advertisement is for the purpose of informing the public and the advertisement is a notice of delinquent taxes, or notice of the sale of tax claims, the advertisement shall be published either:

1. Once a week for three (3) consecutive weeks; or

2. One (1) time, preceded by a one-half (½) page notice of advertisement the preceding week. The one-half (½) page advertisement shall include notice that a list of uncollectible delinquent taxes is also available for public inspection in accordance with KRS 424.330 during normal business hours at the business address of the city or county and on an identified Internet Web site. The advertisement shall include the business address of the city or county and the Uniform Resource Locator (URL) for the Internet Web site where the document can be viewed. The Internet Web site shall be affiliated with the city or county and contain other information about the city or county government. The delinquent tax list shall be posted on the Internet Web site for a minimum of thirty (30) days and shall be updated weekly.

The provisions of this paragraph shall not be construed to require the advertisement of notice of delinquent state taxes which are collected by the state.

(d) Any advertisement not coming within the scope of paragraph (a), (b), or (c) of this subsection, such as one for the purpose of informing the public or the members of any class of persons of the holding of an election, or of a public hearing, or of an examination, or of an opportunity for inspection, or of the due date of a tax or special assessment, shall be published at least once but may be published two (2) or more times, provided that one (1) publication occurs not less than seven (7) days nor more than twenty-one (21) days before the occurrence of the act or event, or in the case of an inspection period, the inspection period commences.

(e) If the particular statute requiring that an advertisement be published provides that the day upon or by which, or the period within which, an act may or shall be done or a right exercised, or an event may or shall take place, is to be determined by computing time for the day of publication of an advertisement, the advertisement shall be published at least once, promptly, in accordance with the statute, and the computation of time shall be from the day of initial publication.

(2) This section is not intended to supersede or affect any statute providing for notice of the fact that an adversary action in court has been commenced.

1. Applicability.
2. Publication.
3. —Sufficiency.
4. —Insufficiency.
5. Ordinances.
6. Protest or Objection.
7. Elections.
8. —Special.

1. Applicability.

Combined effect of KRS 424.130(1)(d) and KRS 103.2101 was a requirement of at least two notices of the Kentucky Private Action Bond Allocation Committee's public hearings, one not less than 30 days and another between seven (7) and 21 days prior to the hearing. 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 309 (Ky. Ct. App. May 4, 2007).

2. Publication.3. —Sufficiency.

Facts that notice was published three (3) times in only 11 days and that last publication was only two days before advertised event did not constitute insufficient notice. Pierson Trapp Co. v. Peak, 340 S.W.2d 456, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 42 (Ky. 1960).

Since KRS 243.360 does not require that the date of the filing of the application be made a part of the advertisement, and such date was not included, the provision of this section fixing the time within which publication is required did not apply to the publication of a notice of intention to apply for a license but the notice had to afford interested parties an opportunity to protest. S. W. Palmer-Ball v. Esquire Liquors, Inc., 490 S.W.2d 472, 1973 Ky. LEXIS 626 (Ky. 1973).

Since the purpose of the notice of filing petition for annexation requirement is to inform citizens that within a certain time they have a right to respond to the petition, the notice of filing is a form of constructive service of process and unless statutory form is strictly complied with, service is bad. St. Matthews v. Beha, 549 S.W.2d 842, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 677 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

Where notice of filing petition for annexation was published more than 21 days before the date fixed in the advertisement as the last day to remonstrate, the annexation was invalid. St. Matthews v. Beha, 549 S.W.2d 842, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 677 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

The publication of the entire notice of annexation statute (KRS 81A.420) does not reasonably inform the general public of the time frame for protesting an annexation proposal; in preference to giving the public notice by publishing KRS 81A.420 in its entirety, a simple "notice" publication conforming to subdivision (1)(b) of this section and KRS 424.140, informing the interested public of their right to protest would have been sufficient and not reasonably susceptible to misinterpretation. Merritt v. Campbellsville, 678 S.W.2d 788, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 625 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

The verbatim publication of the entire notice of annexation statute (KRS 81A.420) did not constitute sufficient notice of a city's proposed annexation in light of KRS 424.140(4) and this section, so as to give interested parties a fair opportunity to oppose the annexation, and for that reason the annexation was invalid. Merritt v. Campbellsville, 678 S.W.2d 788, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 625 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

4. —Insufficiency.

Where the publication failed to give proper notice as to the time for filing objection to the proposed incorporation and failed to give proper notice of the incorporation hearing, the deficient publication divested the trial court of jurisdiction and dismissal of the case was proper. Okolona v. Lindsey, 706 S.W.2d 835, 1986 Ky. LEXIS 251 (Ky. 1986).

When the Kentucky Private Activity Bond Allocation Committee considered a city's application for approval of industrial revenue bonds to develop certain property, notice of the hearing before the Committee, pursuant to KRS 424.130(d), was insufficient because its description of the hearing's purpose was inadequate when it merely referred to "50 acres of variable use land," thus failing to identify specifically the proposed development property. 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 309 (Ky. Ct. App. May 4, 2007).

When the Kentucky Private Activity Bond Allocation Committee considered a city's application to approve the city's issuance of industrial revenue bonds, the notice of that hearing did not comply with the combined effect of KRS 424.130(1)(d) and KRS 103.2101, because those statutes required at least two (2) notices of such hearings, and only one notice was given. 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 309 (Ky. Ct. App. May 4, 2007).

5. Ordinances.

Ordinance of a second-class city proposing annexation of certain territory was invalid as it was not published three times as required by paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section prior to its amendment in 1960. Vincent v. Bowling Green, 349 S.W.2d 694, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 60 (Ky. 1961).

6. Protest or Objection.

Where zoning board granted permission to erect television tower after notice was published in newspaper on Sunday, a property owner whose residence was near to tower four months later was estopped, after tower was partially erected, to complain. Oeth v. Felty, 421 S.W.2d 860, 1967 Ky. LEXIS 90 (Ky. 1967).

7. Elections.

In regard to whether or not this section regarding time and period of publication has been complied with in determining whether what was done was sufficient compliance, more liberal regard for the term substantial compliance should be had where there is a particular matter to be voted upon at regular or general election fixed by law for choosing public officers than where there will be special or called election at time not fixed by law to vote upon particular proposal, for voters are likely to attend a general election but not a special election. Lyon v. County of Warren, 325 S.W.2d 302, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 41 (Ky. 1959).

Where notice of election on proposal to issue bonds for purpose of remodeling, enlarging and equipping county hospital was not published once a week for two consecutive weeks as required by this section but there was evidence that there had been a vigorous campaign waged for and against the proposal, that there were many feature articles and publicly sponsored advertisements published in local newspapers and several editorials were written concerning the bond issue, that there were numerous radio broadcasts during the period and 20,000 cards and explanatory folders were distributed and 150 signs were posted and that numerous speaking rallies were held boosting the project, in such circumstances notice of advertisement of election was deemed a substantial compliance with the requirement of this section as the object thereof was fully accomplished. Lyon v. County of Warren, 325 S.W.2d 302, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 41 (Ky. 1959) (decision prior to 1960 amendment).

Where this section regarding time and periods of publication of notice of vote on particular proposal has not been complied with in determining whether or not there has been substantial compliance, court often has considered whether voters otherwise had full and actual notice of election and of question submitted and, while official notice is mandatory and cannot be omitted, courts may consider extrinsic material or unofficial notices as supplemental to official notice. Lyon v. County of Warren, 325 S.W.2d 302, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 41 (Ky. 1959).

8. —Special.

Statutory provisions with reference to publicizing a special election or a special proposition to be voted on at a regular election are for the purpose of informing the electorate a sufficient length of time to enable them to arrange to attend the election and make up their minds on how to vote upon the proposition; where that purpose appears to have been accomplished by a substantial compliance with statutory provisions as to times and period of publication, the election ought not and will not be voided. Lyon v. County of Warren, 325 S.W.2d 302, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 41 (Ky. 1959).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The provisions of this section supersede the publication provisions of KRS 66.070 (repealed) and the publication of a special election held pursuant to that section should be made in the manner provided in this section. OAG 60-563.

For a sixth-class city, KRS 81.240 (repealed) controls the publication of an annexation ordinance and where there was no daily or weekly newspaper in the city, the annexation ordinance would have to be published by posting. OAG 63-983.

The county budget must be published in full and synopsis would not be sufficient. OAG 65-131.

Times and periods of publishing judicial sales are determined by paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of this section. OAG 66-769.

The notice to be given to the public under KRS 66.070 (repealed) must comply with paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of this section. OAG 67-400.

In publishing an annexation ordinance, the requirements of this section should be followed. OAG 68-152.

Every ordinance of a fourth-class city council (except those relating to a housing commission) must be published pursuant to subsection (4) of KRS 86.090 (repealed) and paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section. OAG 68-323.

In view of the conflicting provisions between this section and KRS 118.430 (repealed), a proposed constitutional amendment should be published in the manner provided in both sections. OAG 69-309.

This section requires that ordinances must be published one time only and within 30 days after their passage. OAG 69-688.

Under paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of this section, notice of judicial sale must be published once a week for three successive weeks and if, through an error, the notice was omitted from the paper, the advertisement of the notice would have to begin anew and the error could not be corrected by printing the notice twice in one issue or by printing an extra handbill. OAG 70-29.

In order to determine which newspaper has the largest bona fide circulation, the fiscal court should require each paper to submit a certified statement concerning its total circulation within the county. OAG 70-43.

The publication required under KRS 116.190 (repealed) is to be made after the entry of the order ordering alteration of a voting precinct, pursuant to paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section. OAG 70-87.

Paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of this section requiring the publication of certain legal notices one each week for three successive weeks must be substantially complied with, and the publication of two issues in one week with one of the issues being backdated one week is not substantial compliance. OAG 70-120.

KRS 424.340 as amended contemplates only one publication and this section does not apply. OAG 70-523.

KRS 424.340 does not refer to this section, but does refer to KRS 424.120. OAG 70-523.

A resolution authorizing a mayor to contract with the bureau of transportation for the resurfacing of city streets is not an ordinance within the meaning of KRS 86.090 (repealed) and its publication is not required by that or this section. OAG 74-710.

The full text of a proposed zoning ordinance need not be published since KRS 100.207 provides an exception to the normal publication requirements as set forth in this section. OAG 75-141.

A suitable advertisement of forfeiture of a deadly weapon for "official state use" should be made in compliance with subdivision (1)(b) of this section and should contain a description of the weapon and its serial number and such notice should be published in an appropriate newspaper that has circulation within the jurisdiction of the circuit court having the contra-band material. OAG 75-585.

Inasmuch as the publication requirement of this section applies to individual ordinances as they are adopted by a particular city, several cities which have adopted the same ordinance could not meet the requirement by one publication of the ordinance. OAG 77-385.

This section would be applicable to a special election, however, since KRS 118.740 requires at least a 15-day minimum deadline for publishing the notice, the seven-day minimum requirement under this section would not be applicable, so the publication should, if possible, be made between the 15th and the 21st day before the election. OAG 79-12. (opined prior to 1990 amendment to KRS 118.740)

Advertisements for bids for franchises as required by Ky. Const., § 164, must be published in accordance with subdivision (1)(b) of this section, while notice of the enactment of the franchise ordinance must follow subdivision (1)(a) of this section. OAG 79-303.

If reasonably detailed specifications describing the scope of a project are first prepared, such that competing potential bidders can know with particularity the product for which a bid might be tendered, and bids are solicited in relation to those specifications in conformity with this section and KRS 424.140, the design/build approach to construction procurement might be utilized by a county. OAG 92-143.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Election.
2. Publication.
3. —Insufficiency.
4. Time Limitation.
5. Notice.

1. Election.

Where day, date and hour of election were included in notice as well as statement that issue was continuation or not of alcohol sales, such notice was sufficient. McDonald v. Whallen, 415 S.W.2d 840, 1967 Ky. LEXIS 335 (Ky. 1967).

2. Publication.

Where notice of filing petition for annexation was published more than 21 days before the date fixed in the advertisement as the last day to remonstrate, the annexation was invalid. St. Matthews v. Beha, 549 S.W.2d 842, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 677 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

3. —Insufficiency.

In the absence of a showing of prejudice to the remonstrants, a defect in the publication of the notice of the commencement of the annexation proceeding should have only one consequence, namely, that no defense to the annexation proceeding need be filed until after a proper notice is published. Wakefield v. Shelbyville, 563 S.W.2d 756, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 491 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

The publication of the entire notice of annexation statute (KRS 81A.420) does not reasonably inform the general public of the time frame for protesting an annexation proposal; in preference to giving the public notice by publishing KRS 81A.420 in its entirety, a simple “notice” publication conforming to KRS 424.130(1)(b) and this section, informing the interested public of their right to protest would have been sufficient and not reasonably susceptible to misinterpretation. Merritt v. Campbellsville, 678 S.W.2d 788, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 625 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

The verbatim publication of the entire notice of annexation statute (KRS 81A.420) did not constitute sufficient notice of a city’s proposed annexation in light of KRS 424.130 and subsection (4) of this section, so as to give interested parties a fair opportunity to oppose the annexation, and for that reason the annexation was invalid. Merritt v. Campbellsville, 678 S.W.2d 788, 1984 Ky. App. LEXIS 625 (Ky. Ct. App. 1984).

4. Time Limitation.

Although the period set for remonstrance is vague, notification of the time to remonstrate is not required; a city can simply ask the court to fix by order the last day for remonstrance. St. Matthews v. Beha, 549 S.W.2d 842, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 677 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

In the absence of any reference to the time within which a remonstrant could respond to the petition for annexation, a fourth-class city’s notice of the commencement of annexation of litigation did not substantially comply with KRS 81.210 (repealed) and subsection (4) of this section. Wakefield v. Shelbyville, 563 S.W.2d 756, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 491 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

5. Notice.

The notice requirement of KRS 412.070 may be fulfilled by taking out an advertisement pursuant to KRS 424. Barrett v. Reynolds, 817 S.W.2d 439, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 146 (Ky. 1991).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

There is no legal requirement that a planning commission publish, in its notice of proposed zoning change, the legal description of the property based upon recent surveys or the deed of the property involved, unless the commission has so required in rules and regulations enacted pursuant to KRS 100.167; accordingly, a brief, concise description of the property and the purpose of the hearing as well as the time and place of the hearing, as required by this section, would be legally sufficient notice since it would give the average newspaper reader reasonable warning that the property is the subject of a rezoning request. OAG 81-301.

If reasonably detailed specifications describing the scope of a project are first prepared, such that competing potential bidders can know with particularity the product for which a bid might be tendered, and bids are solicited in relation to those specifications in conformity with KRS 424.130, and this section, the design/build approach to construction procurement might be utilized by a county. OAG 92-143.

424.145. Alternative Internet and newspaper publication procedures for local governments. (See LRC Note)

(1) As used in this section:

(a) “Local government” means:

1. Any urban-county government;
2. Any consolidated local government;
3. Any charter county;
4. Any unified local government; and
5. In any county containing a population of eighty thousand (80,000) or more based upon the most recent federal decennial census, the county itself or any:
 - a. City within the county;
 - b. Special district within the county;
 - c. School district within the county; or
 - d. Special purpose governmental entity within the county; and

(b) “Notice Web site” means an Internet Web site that is maintained by a local government or a third party under contract with the local government, which contains links to the legal advertisements or notices electronically published by the local government.

(2) Local governments may satisfy the requirements of this chapter or any other provision of law requiring the publication of an advertisement in a newspaper by following the alternative procedures established in this section.

(3) In lieu of newspaper publication, a local government may post the required advertisement online on a notice Web site operated by the local government that is accessible to the public at all times in accordance with subsections (4) to (9) of this section. Publication of an advertisement shall be deemed to have occurred on the date the advertisement is posted on the local government’s notice Web site.

(4) In conjunction with an alternative Internet posting, the local government shall publish a newspaper advertisement one (1) time providing notice that the public may view the full advertisement on the notice Web site. The newspaper advertisement shall:

- (a) Be not more than six (6) column inches and meet the technical requirements of KRS 424.160(1);
- (b) Be published within ten (10) days of the alternative posting on the notice Web site when the purpose of the posting is to inform the public of a completed act, including those acts specified in KRS 424.130(1)(a), or within three (3) days of the posting when the purpose of the posting is to inform the public of the right to take a certain action, including the events specified in KRS 424.130(1)(b) and (d);

(c) Inform the public of the subject matter of the alternative posting, inform the public of its right to inspect any documents associated with the Internet posting by contacting the local government, and provide a mailing and a physical address where a copy of the document may be obtained and the Web address if the document is available online; and

(d) Provide the full Uniform Resource Locator (URL) of the notice Web site address and the full Uniform Resource Locator (URL) of the address where the full advertisement may be directly viewed along with a telephone number for the local government.

(5) In addition to specific legal requirements applicable to a particular type of advertisement:

(a) The contents of each alternative Internet posting shall meet the minimum requirements of KRS 424.140; and

(b) The local government shall make the alternative Internet posting in accordance with the times and periods established by KRS 424.130, and shall actively maintain the alternative Internet posting on its public Web site:

1. Until the deadline passes or the event occurs if the substance of the advertisement is intended to advise the public of a time to take action or the occurrence of a future event;

2. For at least ninety (90) days if the substance of the advertisement is to inform the public of an action taken by the local government, such as the enactment of an ordinance; or

3. For one (1) year or until updated or replaced with a more recent version if the substance of the advertisement is intended to inform the public about the financial status of the local government, such as annual audits or the budget.

(6) The local government shall display access to any and all alternative Internet postings made pursuant to this section prominently on the homepage or first page of the notice Web site. The section of the notice Web site containing any postings and the actual advertisement shall be made in a manner where the public can readily and with minimal effort identify the location of and easily retrieve the advertisements.

(7) The local government shall provide a conspicuous statement on its notice Web site that individuals who have difficulty in accessing the contents of posted advertisements may contact the local government for information regarding alternative methods of accessing advertisements, which shall include the telephone number of the local government.

(8) As proof of an alternative Internet posting to satisfy any newspaper publication requirement, the local government shall memorialize the posting by capturing the posting in electronic or paper format and shall complete an affidavit signed by the person responsible for causing publications under KRS 424.150, stating that the local government satisfied the publication requirement by alternative Internet posting. The affidavit shall specify the active dates of the notice Web site posting, the specific statutory requirements being satisfied by the alternative Internet posting, and the notice Web site address where the alternative posting was located, including the full Uniform Resource Locator (URL) used for the posting. The local government shall retain the captured posting and the affidavit by the person responsible for publication for a period of three (3) years. Together, the captured posting and the affidavit shall constitute prima facie evidence that the posting was made and occurred as stated within the affidavit.

(9) The failure to cause the newspaper advertisement required in subsection (4) of this section shall not void the action of the local government or negate the enforceability of the matter advertised by alternative Internet posting. Any person who violates the requirements of subsection (4) of this section shall be subject to the penalties provided in KRS 424.990.

2020 ch. 87, § 1, effective July 15, 2020.

Legislative Research Commission Notes.

(7/15/2020). 2020 Ky. Acts ch. 91, sec. 73, which was effective April 15, 2020, stated the following:

“Publishing Requirements: Notwithstanding KRS 83A.060, 91A.040, and Chapter 424, a county containing a population of more than 90,000 or any city within a county containing a population of more than 90,000, as determined by the 2010 United States Census, may publish enacted ordinances, audits, and bid solicitations by posting the full ordinance, the full audit report including the auditor’s opinion letter, or the bid solicitation on an Internet Web site maintained by the county or city government for a period of at least one (1) year. If a county or city publishes ordinances, audits, or bid solicitations on an Internet Web site, the county or city shall also publish an advertisement, in a newspaper qualified in accordance with KRS 424.120, with a description of the ordinances, audits, or bid solicitations published on the Internet Web site, including the Uniform Resource Locator (URL) where the documents can be viewed. Any advertisement required to be published in a newspaper under KRS Chapter 424 shall contain the following statement at the end of the advertisement:

“This advertisement was paid for by [insert the name of the governmental body required to advertise in a newspaper] using taxpayer dollars in the amount of $ [insert the amount paid for the advertisement].”

424.147. Local government posting on Internet if newspaper makes error in publication or fails to publish.

(1) If a newspaper qualified under KRS 424.120 either makes an error or fails in time or substance to make a publication in accordance with KRS 424.130 or 424.140 after receiving the information to be published, a city or county affected thereby may, after it has notice of the error or failure and to avoid undue delay of governmental process and procedure, remedy the error or failure by causing the publication to occur on a notice Web site as defined in KRS 424.145.

(2) Notwithstanding the time requirements imposed by KRS 424.130, a city or county publishing to remedy an error or failure of a newspaper under subsection (1) of this section shall immediately cause the publication of the matter on a notice Web site, and this remedial Web site publication shall be deemed in full compliance with the requirements of this chapter.

History.

2020 ch. 87, § 2, effective July 15, 2020.

424.150. Person responsible for publishing.

When any statute providing for newspaper publication of an advertisement does not designate the person responsible for causing the publication to be made, the responsible person shall be:

- (1) Where the advertisement is of the filing of a petition or application, the person by whom the same is filed;
- (2) Where the advertisement is of an activity or action of:
 - (a) An individual public officer, the officer himself;
 - (b) A city, the city clerk if there be one; if not, the mayor;
 - (c) A county, the county clerk;
 - (d) A district, or a board, commission or agency of a city, county or district, the chief administrative or executive officer or agent thereof;
 - (e) A court, the clerk thereof;
 - (f) A state department or agency, the head thereof.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The city legislative body would have the responsibility of publishing notice of a special election to be held on general election day concerning an indebtedness that would exceed the city's annual income. OAG 67-400.

If the advertisement is of an activity or action of the county generally, the county clerk is responsible for placing the advertisement and making the decision as to the qualifying newspaper. OAG 75-215.

The decision as to the qualifying newspaper should be made by the official immediately responsible for placing the advertisement, where said advertisement is of an activity or action of such officer. OAG 75-215.

The county clerk was given the duty of procuring publication of matters of fiscal court action because the county clerk was generally clerk of the fiscal court, but now it is possible that in any county, except Jefferson, the county clerk may decide to not be clerk of fiscal court, in which case the logical reason for performing this clerical duty would no longer exist, and, therefore, the clerical duty of looking after publication of county ordinances was really intended to be imposed upon the clerk of fiscal court. OAG 78-521.

424.160. Rates for newspaper advertising required by law.

(1) For all newspaper advertising required by law, the publisher is entitled to receive payment for each insertion at a rate per column inch. The advertisement shall be set in no larger than seven (7) point type on solid leading. The rate shall not exceed the lowest noncontract classified rate paid by advertisers. The terms and conditions of any volume discounts given to commercial customers shall be extended to public agencies of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. Newspapers shall give all local public agencies a written notice of at least thirty (30) days of an advertising rate increase.

(2) If by law or by the nature of the matter to be published, a display form of advertisement is required, or if the person or officer responsible for causing an advertisement to be published determines in his discretion that a display form is practicable or feasible, and so directs the newspaper, the advertisement shall be published in display form and the newspaper shall be entitled to receive its established display rate.

(3) If it is provided by statute that an advertisement shall be published of the filing of a petition or application seeking official action, the filing, if required by other than a governmental official or agency, shall not be deemed complete unless there is deposited with the petition or application an amount sufficient to pay the cost of publication.

(4) The expense of advertisements in judicial proceedings shall be taxed as costs by the clerk of the court.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Rates.
2. —Liability.
3. —Federal Receivership.

1. Rates.

Where law required certain publication to be made in newspaper having largest general circulation in county, publication in such paper was mandatory although competing paper offered to publish at a lower rate. Shelby County Fiscal Court v. Cosine, 174 Ky. 504, 192 S.W. 626, 1917 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1917) (decided under prior law).

Compensation was allowed for solid printing, eight-point measure, and hence, if advertisement is displayed by giving extra space and using larger type, amount allowed should be reduced to amount allowable if printing had been done as provided by law. Cornett v. Muncy, 228 Ky. 390, 15 S.W.2d 251, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 557 (Ky. 1929) (decided under prior law).

2. —Liability.

Under law which provides for the advertisement in a newspaper of sheriff's sale of property under execution, the sheriff is not personally liable to the publisher for the cost of the advertisement in the absence of an agreement to that effect; the publisher must look to the party for whose benefit the advertisement is made. Ellis v. Casey, 12 Ky. L. Rptr. 508 (1890) (decided under prior law).

3. —Federal Receivership.

In federal equity receiverships, reasonable allowance for publication of notices of sale of realty would be fairly fixed by this statute, notwithstanding provisions of federal law fixed inadequate rates for printers' fees. Thornton v. Gault, 18 F. Supp. 112, 1937 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2064 (D. Ky. 1937) (decided under prior law).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Under this section regarding material required to be advertised, such material should not be printed in newspapers in a point type smaller than eight-point type and the actual rate for publishing such material must be based upon the space required by eight-point type, even if a larger type is used. OAG 77-141.

Although the face of a sample ballot could be printed with a smaller or larger type, the rate charged for the newspaper advertising must be based on the rate for an eight-point type. OAG 77-405.

Acts 1982, ch. 430, which amends this section and several other statutes relating to publication requirements of cities, is basically an amendment of the municipal publication requirements and does not affect the city budget process, financial matters in cities or matters relating to the administration of city finances. It gives a city a choice as to which of two devices relating to finances and expenditures must be published annually rather than requiring that they both be published and affects what a city publishes after the completion of the fiscal year, but does not affect the activities of a city during the fiscal year; it does not impair any vested rights. OAG 82-353.

As to its publication provisions for municipal governments, Acts 1982, ch. 430, effective July 15, 1982, is applicable to those municipal governments for the fiscal year July 1, 1981 to June 30, 1982. OAG 82-353.

424.170. Proof of publication.

(1) The affidavit of the publisher or proprietor of a newspaper, stating that an advertisement has been published in his newspaper and the times it was published, attached to a copy of the advertisement, constitutes prima facie evidence that the publication was made as stated in the affidavit.

(2) The affidavit of the person responsible for publishing as described in KRS 424.150, stating that an advertisement has been delivered by first class mail to each residence within the publication area, attached to a copy of the advertisement, constitutes prima facie evidence that the publication was made as stated in the affidavit and that the expenditure for the cost of postage, all supplies, and reproduction of the advertisement did not exceed the cost of newspaper publication of the advertisement.

424.195. Supplementation of printed notice by broadcast in certain cases.

(1) Any official of the Commonwealth of Kentucky or any of its political subdivisions who is required by law to publish any legal notice or notice of event may supplement, not to exceed twelve (12) publications unless otherwise ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction thereof by use of radio or television spot announcements, or both, when, in his judgment, the public interest will be served thereby; except, that notices by political subdivisions may be made only by stations having a broadcast studio within the county of origin of the legal notice, and that broadcast notices shall call attention solely to published or posted notices required by statute.

(2) Each radio or television station broadcasting a legal notice or notice of event shall for a period of three (3) months subsequent to such broadcast retain at its office a copy of the transcript of the text of the notices actually broadcast and such shall be available for public inspection.

(3) The radio or television station which broadcasts the legal notice authorized by this section shall be entitled to receive payment of an amount equal to the customary charges of such station for such service.

(1) Excepting officers who are exempted under subsection (8) of this section, every public officer of any city, county, or district less than a county, or of any board, commission, or other authority of a city, county, or district whose duty it is to collect, receive, have the custody, control, or disbursement of any funds collected from the public in any form shall, at the expiration of each fiscal year, prepare an itemized, sworn statement of the funds collected, received, held, or disbursed by him or her during the fiscal year just closed, unless he or she has complied with KRS 424.230.

(2) The statement shall show:

(a) The appropriate officer of a city that has performed an audit under KRS 91A.040 for the fiscal year or years, including the appropriate officer of any municipally owned electric, gas, or water system, shall publish the audit report in accordance with KRS 91A.040(9); and

The advertisement shall be published within ninety (90) days after the close of the fiscal year.

(7) To provide notice to the public that the county's financial statement has been completed as required by this section, the appropriate officer of a county shall publish the county's audit, prepared in accordance with KRS 43.070 or 64.810, in the same manner that city audits are published in accordance with KRS 91A.040(9).

Analysis

1. Standing to Sue.
2. Circulation.

1. Standing to Sue.

Allegation in plaintiff's complaint that city board of trustees did not publish financial statements for city pursuant to this section had statutory remedy provided by the legislature which conferred standing on citizens of the governmental unit to bring actions to compel adherence to the law. Fish v. Elliott, 554 S.W.2d 94, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 756 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

2. Circulation.

The newspaper with the greatest bona fide paid circulation in the county is entitled to publish the county treasurer's report and not the paper which has the largest overall circulation which includes a number of counties. Whitley Whiz, Inc. v. Whitley County, 812 S.W.2d 149, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 46 (Ky. 1991).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The statute relating to the publication of financial statements would not be applicable to municipal housing commissions established under KRS Chapter 80. OAG 60-486.

The financial statement must be published in detail and the publication of a copy of the audit would not be sufficient. OAG 60-794.

The financial report on the city's waterworks should be published in accordance with the provisions of the statute. OAG 61-477.

A city in its financial statement must show the amount of funds collected and received, from what sources received, the amount disbursed, the date of each disbursement, for what purpose expended, and to whom paid, the only exception being the totals of amounts paid to any individual as salary or commission and public utility bills. OAG 64-129.

Funds of a county or city-county health department contributed by the state government or funds derived from the federal government for which the state acts as a conduit and retains custody would be exempt from the annual publication requirements of the statute. OAG 64-330.

Money of a county or city-county health department which is raised locally and derived from a taxing district, the fiscal court, or city government, or from various voluntary contributions, would require the local health department to publish a financial statement. OAG 64-330.

The county treasurer is the officer required to publish the financial statement of the county and the fiscal court is under a corresponding duty to make funds available to pay for the publication. OAG 64-627.

The express requirements of the statute cannot be dispensed with by filing a statement with the fiscal court, the county judge and the county clerk. OAG 64-627.

There is no authorization for additional compensation to the county treasurer for preparing and causing to be published the annual financial statement. OAG 65-100.

A municipal water commission is required to comply with the provisions of this section relating to the publication of an itemized financial statement of a municipally owned water company. OAG 67-219.

Under this section, the appropriate officer of a board or commission operating a municipally owned waterworks of a city of the fifth class as a separate entity of the city is required to publish a financial statement. OAG 67-233.

A school district must publish the financial statement required by this section relative to the receipt and disbursement of funds received under the elementary and secondary education act, title I, even though the source of the funds is entirely federal money. OAG 67-422.

The publication of the auditor's report required in KRS 92.405 (repealed) is in lieu of the publication requirements of this section. OAG 68-314.

The northern Kentucky area planning commission is a "subdivision" within the meaning of this section and is required to comply with the requirements of this section relating to the publication of financial statements. OAG 69-396.

This section does not permit the publication of disbursements by listing each vendor's name and the total amount paid to each during the year. OAG 69-396.

In a county containing a city of the third class as its largest city, the Circuit Court clerk, county court clerk, sheriff, county judge, and county treasurer must all publish the financial statement required by this section, and there is no provision for the consolidation of reports. OAG 69-582.

A member of the city council and chairman of the finance committee would be authorized to review the payroll tax records in the city treasurer's office. OAG 70-353.

Cities of the fifth class are required to publish a financial statement pursuant to the provisions of this section. OAG 70-371.

This section must be followed by the county treasurer as it directs. OAG 70-786.

In a fifth-class city, the police judge's records are not outside the scope of a regular audit of the city's records. OAG 71-57.

The name of the teacher must be reflected along with the gross or total salary paid. OAG 71-128.

Although for libraries formed by the petition method the reports required under both subdivision (2) of KRS 173.770 and this section are necessary, the library board, in making its report under subdivision (2) of KRS 173.770 need only show the totals of amounts paid to each individual as salary and public utility bills with any other expenditures shown by individual voucher. OAG 71-438.

The publication requirements do not apply to a mental health and mental retardation center which is largely supported through federal, state and county aid but which is a charitable, nonstock, nonprofit corporation. OAG 71-468.

Cities of the fifth class are required to publish an annual financial statement pursuant to the terms of this section. OAG 72-45.

This section does not require a fifth- or sixth-class city to have its books audited by a certified public accountant. OAG 72-185.

As the county health, library, and extension districts are all taxing units entrusted with the custody and control of public funds, they come within the scope of this section and must file the appropriate financial statements. OAG 72-479.

This section applies to the Union County air board, the Union County planning commission and to the Morganfield Airport, as all are entrusted with the control and custody of public funds. OAG 72-479.

This section does not apply to the Morganfield municipal housing authority, as a city housing commission is a state agency. OAG 72-479.

Since the hospital board of Hardin Memorial Hospital is owned and operated by Hardin County pursuant to KRS 216.040 (repealed), the board has the duty to publish the financial statement called for by this section. OAG 73-297.

Where a member of a county board of education and her husband own a weekly newspaper, the only newspaper in the county, school financial statements and legal notices could be published in such newspaper pursuant to this section and KRS 424.120 without violating KRS 160.180. OAG 73-438.

Cities of the third class are not required to publish a detailed financial statement but in lieu thereof may publish an audit report as provided by KRS 92.403 and 92.405 (both repealed). OAG 74-89; 74-214.

A utility commission created by a city would be required to publish a statement of its receipts and disbursements as required by this section, independent of the city's obligation to publish a statement of funds under its control. OAG 74-121.

As the annual audit of the financial affairs of a third-class city need not comply with the requirements of this section, the 60-day publication requirement following the close of the fiscal year would not be applicable. OAG 74-173.

An ordinance to establish an Industrial Development Authority which requires an annual audit of the Authority is valid under this section and KRS 152.900. OAG 74-864.

This section is not applicable to a police judge in a third-class city. OAG 75-173.

An annual financial statement is required of the northern Kentucky convention and visitors commission but not the northern Kentucky convention and visitors bureau which is the commission's staff arm and a nonlegal entity. OAG 75-651.

Under the expressed provisions of this section, as amended in 1976, only the lump sum of salaries paid to teachers and other employees of the school district must be shown in the published financial statement. OAG 76-393; 76-415.

A county cannot comply with the requirements of this section by publishing a condensed financial statement under general headings and filing a detailed statement with the county court clerk. OAG 77-142.

Under this section a qualified newspaper may, at its expense, publish as a news item the individual salaries of school employees. OAG 77-418.

Where a court clerk is causing the publication of financial statements in a newspaper other than one which has the largest bona fide circulation in the county, a mandamus action would be an appropriate remedy to compel compliance with this section. OAG 77-550.

Where a city is operating its gas and water system as a separate agency of the city government, the utility system must publish a detailed financial statement as required under this section even though the utility system is not operated out of the general fund. OAG 78-51.

The publication of a letter of transmittal under KRS 43.090 or even an auditor's report of audit in no way serves to cancel out the county treasurer's duty to publish his or her report under this section. OAG 79-103.

The public officer required to prepare and publish the financial statement for a fire protection district involved in this section cannot escape his statutory duty by publishing a copy of the certified public accountant's audit. OAG 80-240.

The supervision of local health departments by the department for human resources does not relieve the public officer of the local health department from his duty under this section to collect, receive, have custody, control or disbursement of funds, and the local health department is required to publish under this section as to the funds it receives and disburses unless it falls within an exception to this section. OAG 80-325.

Where a local health department is co-extensive with a public health taxing district with all its income and disbursements recorded in the district's financial records, the recently enacted KRS 65.070(1)(c) demonstrates an intention to substitute publishing information as to the availability of financial records for publishing the previously-required detailed financial statement; therefore, as to these local health departments, there is to be an exception to the publishing requirements of this section, however, where the local health department is not co-extensive with a public health taxing district with the same financial records, it will have to publish in accordance with this section. OAG 80-325.

Since a city-county air board is entrusted with the control and custody of public funds, the officers of the air board must comply with the provisions of this section concerning the preparation and publication of an annual financial statement. OAG 80-577.

A fire protection district now is required to publish an annual financial statement consistent with the requirements of KRS 65.070(1)(c) in place of the annual financial statement formerly required by this section. OAG 80-627.

The fact that the 1980 legislature placed new requirements on cities with respect to accounting records and financial reports, directed each city to operate under an annual budget ordinance and repealed two preexisting statutes which had required the publishing of a summary of an annual audit, resulted in making the law such that each city must publish a summary of the audit report, KRS 91A.040, and also fully follow the publication requirements for a financial statement set out in this section. OAG 81-37.

The county attorneys of Kentucky are not required to publish a financial statement pursuant to this section since the auditing of the county attorney's books pursuant to KRS 43.070 and KRS 64.810 is ample to disclose the specifics of his official operation. OAG 81-168.

The annual financial statement of a county cannot be carried by a newspaper other than the one having the greatest bona fide circulation since KRS 424.120 explicitly requires the ad to be carried by the newspaper having the greatest bona fide circulation. OAG 82-117.

Under the express terms of this section, the officer responsible for the county financial statement must, within 60 days after the close of the fiscal year, cause the statement to be published in full in a newspaper qualified under KRS 424.120 to publish ads for the county (largest bona fide circulation, etc.), regardless of the financial burden imposed on the county by the cost of placing the full statement in the newspaper. OAG 82-117.

Acts 1982, ch. 430, which amends several statutes relating to publication requirements of cities, including KRS 91A.040 and this section, is basically an amendment of the municipal publication requirements and does not affect the city budget process, financial matters in cities or matters relating to the administration of city finances. It gives a city a choice as to which of two devices relating to finances and expenditures must be published annually rather than requiring that they both be published and affects what a city publishes after the completion of the fiscal year, but does not affect the activities of a city during the fiscal year; it does not impair any vested rights. OAG 82-353.

As to its publication provisions for municipal governments, Acts 1982, ch. 430, effective July 15, 1982, is applicable to those municipal governments for the fiscal year July 1, 1981 to June 30, 1982. OAG 82-353.

A city of the sixth class must continue to prepare an audit and publish it under the terms of subsections (7), (8) or (9) of KRS 91A.040 unless the city qualifies under the provisions of KRS 91A.040, in which case it may in lieu of preparing an audit publish a financial statement pursuant to this section. OAG 82-384.

A county hospital must make a paid publication of its financial statement showing the aggregate sums received according to category and the aggregate sums paid out according to each payee. A newspaper may publish other information from the records of the hospital as news items without cost to the hospital. OAG 82-608.

It is necessary, in order to comply with this section, that a school district include in its financial statement receipts and disbursements for a cafeteria account. OAG 82-622.

A hospital district organized and functioning pursuant to the terms and provisions of KRS 216.310 to 216.360 is required to publish an annual statement consistent with the requirements of KRS 65.070(1)(c) in lieu of the annual financial statement required by this section. OAG 82-631.

This section conflicts with KRS 91A.040 and 91A.041 (repealed) in that it requires the publication of the financial statement within 60 days after the close of the fiscal year; since KRS 91A.040(8) is more specific in nature, in that it applies solely to cities, and since it is new legislation, it would prevail in its time requirement which is tied in with the 270-day time leeway permitted in KRS 91A.040(1) with regard to the preparation of the city's audit. Of course, all other requirements of KRS Chapter 424 must be complied with in respect to such publication. OAG 83-56.

As a political subdivision, a city-county parks and recreation board created pursuant to KRS 97.035 would be subject to the requirements of this section relative to the publication of an annual financial statement. OAG 83-327.

In reading all of subsection (1) of this section together, under the doctrine of in pari materia, it appears that this section does not apply to a district health department; this section emphasizes that those units of government which extract rates, charges, assessments or taxes from the public are brought under the statute. Thus, it would not apply to a district health department which received its funding from state, federal, county, and public health taxing district sources, and imposed no taxes or charges upon the public. OAG 84-335.

KRS 65.070, relating to publication of financial statements, has no application to a district health department; however, the financial statement provisions of this section do apply to a district health department. OAG 85-45, modifying OAG 84-335.

424.230. Optional monthly or quarterly statements.

Any officer who is subject to the provisions of KRS 424.220 may elect to prepare and publish monthly or quarterly statements, in lieu of the annual statements required by KRS 424.220. All of the provisions of KRS 424.220 shall be applicable to such a monthly or quarterly statement except that (1) the statement shall cover only the preceding month or quarter, as the case may be, and (2) the publication shall be made within thirty (30) days after the end of the month or quarter, as the case may be. Any officer who has elected to proceed under this section shall not be exempted from the requirements of KRS 424.220 for any fiscal year unless he has caused to be prepared and published, in accordance with this section, a proper statement for each month or quarter of the fiscal year.

History.

Enact. Acts 1958, ch. 42, § 13.

424.250. School district budget.

At the same time that copies of the budget of a school district are filed with the clerk of the tax levying authority for the district, as provided in KRS 160.470, the board of education of the district shall cause the budget to be advertised for the district by publishing a copy of the budget in a newspaper.

History.

Enact. Acts 1958, ch. 42, § 15.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

While the amending of KRS 160.470 and the making of each school district their own tax levying authority repeals that part of this section as to filing the budget with a clerk, the other part of the statute calling for the budget to be published in a newspaper is capable of being observed. OAG 82-603.

424.260. Bids for materials, supplies, equipment, or services — Exceptions.

(1) Except where a statute specifically fixes a larger sum as the minimum for a requirement of advertisement for bids, no city, county, or district, or board or commission of a city or county, or sheriff or county clerk, may make a contract, lease, or other agreement for:

- (a) Materials;
- (b) Supplies, except perishable foods such as meat, poultry, fish, egg products, fresh vegetables, and fresh fruits;
- (c) Equipment; or
- (d) Contractual services other than professional;

involving an expenditure of more than thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) without first making newspaper advertisement for bids. This subsection shall not apply to the transfer of property between governmental agencies as authorized in KRS 82.083(4)(a).

(2) If the fiscal court requires that the sheriff or county clerk advertise for bids on expenditures of less than thirty thousand dollars ($30,000), the fiscal court requirement shall prevail.

(3)(a) Nothing in this statute shall limit or restrict the ability of a local school district to acquire supplies and equipment outside of the bidding procedure if those supplies and equipment meet the specifications of the contracts awarded by the Office of Material and Procurement Services in the Office of the Controller within the Finance and Administration Cabinet or a federal, local, or cooperative agency and are available for purchase elsewhere at a lower price. A board of education may purchase those supplies and equipment without advertising for bids if, prior to making the purchases, the board of education obtains certification from the district's finance or purchasing officer that the items to be purchased meet the standards and specifications fixed by state price contract, federal (GSA) price contract, or the bid of another school district whose bid specifications allow other districts to utilize their bids, and that the sales price is lower than that established by the various price contract agreements or available through the bid of another school district whose bid specifications would allow the district to utilize their bid.

(b) The procedures set forth in paragraph (a) of this subsection shall not be available to the district for any specific item once the bidding procedure has been initiated by an invitation to bid and a publication of specifications for that specific item has been published. In the event that all bids are rejected, the district may again avail itself of the provisions of paragraph (a) of this subsection.

(4) This requirement shall not apply in an emergency if the chief executive officer of the city, county, or district has duly certified that an emergency exists, and has filed a copy of the certificate with the chief financial officer of the city, county, or district, or if the sheriff or the county clerk has certified that an emergency exists, and has filed a copy of the certificate with the clerk of the court where his necessary office expenses are fixed pursuant to KRS 64.345 or 64.530, or if the superintendent of the board of education has duly certified that an emergency exists, and has filed a copy of the certificate with the chief state school officer.

(5) The provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall not apply for the purchase of wholesale electric power for resale to the ultimate customers of a municipal utility organized under KRS 96.550 to 96.900.

History.

Enact. Acts 1958, ch. 42, § 16; 1960, ch. 168, § 1; 1972, ch. 147, § 1; 1974, ch. 97, § 1; 1978, ch. 197, § 12, effective June 17, 1978; 1982, ch. 282, § 4, effective April 2, 1982; 1990, ch. 95, § 1, effective July 13, 1990; 1992, ch. 178, § 1, effective July 14, 1992; 1996, ch. 89, § 5, effective July 15, 1996; 2000, ch. 5, § 11, effective July 14, 2000; 2000, ch. 225, § 3, effective July 14, 2000; 2000, ch. 510, § 3, effective July 14, 2000; 2005, ch. 85, § 696, effective June 20, 2005; 2016 ch. 22, § 5, effective July 15, 2016; 2019 ch. 79, § 4, effective June 27, 2019; 2022 ch. 150, § 2, effective July 14, 2022.

Analysis

1. Construction.
2. Purpose.
3. Purchases.
4. —Amount.
5. Contractual Services.
6. Standing.
7. Applicability.

1. Construction.

Since the provisions of former law regarding the maximum amounts that could be expended by school boards for buildings, improvements and materials before being required to advertise for competitive bids were less than the amount provided for in this section as enacted in 1958, such former law was to that extent repealed and superseded by this section. Board of Education v. Hall, 353 S.W.2d 194, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 8 (Ky. 1962).

This section contains no language that the lowest and best bidder, or for that matter any bidder, must be awarded the contract and where the record was devoid of any charge that defendants, county fiscal court and hospital acted fraudulently, collusively, arbitrarily, capriciously or in abuse of discretion in refusing the lowest bid, action against them was properly dismissed. Handy v. Warren County Fiscal Court, 570 S.W.2d 663, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 582 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

2. Purpose.

The requirement for advertisement by publication and competitive bidding satisfies the public goals of (a) an offering to the public, (b) an opportunity for competition and (c) a basis for exact comparison of bids, notwithstanding that this section makes no provision for the award of contracts to the lowest and best bidder. Handy v. Warren County Fiscal Court, 570 S.W.2d 663, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 582 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

3. Purchases.

4. —Amount.

Since items purchased fell within several categories, no one of which involved more than $500, advertising for competitive bidding was not required. Board of Education v. Hall, 353 S.W.2d 194, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 8 (Ky. 1962).

5. Contractual Services.

City need not solicit bids before contracting for banking and insurance services. McCloud v. Cadiz, 548 S.W.2d 158, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 646 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

The contractual services for which this section requires the solicitation of bids are those involving personal services of a manual or mechanical nature. McCloud v. Cadiz, 548 S.W.2d 158, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 646 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

6. Standing.

Allegation in plaintiff's complaint that city board of trustees had not advertised for bids to obtain facilities for the city hall pursuant to this section had a statutory remedy provided by the Legislature which conferred standing on citizens of the governmental unit to bring actions to compel adherence to the law. Fish v. Elliott, 554 S.W.2d 94, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 756 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

7. Applicability.

Circuit court properly concluded that a contract for fire protection services between a fire district and a fire department did not require advertisements for public bidding under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 424.260(1) because fighting fires required professional skill. Se. Bullitt Fire Prot. Dist. v. Se. Bullitt Fire & Rescue Dep't, 537 S.W.3d 828, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 397 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The statute would not be applicable to municipal housing commissions established under KRS Chapter 80. OAG 60-486.

The sales tax and other costs such as transportation and professional fees should be included by the city in determining the total cost of a contract and whether or not such costs would require advertising for bids pursuant to this section. OAG 60-518.

Where the sheriff's office was being moved but the safe could not be moved, if the chief executive officer of the county certified that an emergency existed and filed a copy with the chief financial officer of the county, a new safe could be purchased without advertising for bids. OAG 60-822.

If a board of education buys oil and gasoline for school buses in bulk and the purchase price exceeds $1,000, the purchasing of these supplies should be done through bid advertising. OAG 60-1217.

A board of education is not required to advertise for bids in the selection of school bus drivers. OAG 61-634.

The employment of school bus drivers is not within the purview of either KRS 162.070 or this section. OAG 61-634.

Change orders as provided for in a contract for the construction of public school buildings are proper when they do not substantially alter the nature of the contract or may be regarded as matters incidental to or which relate to an integral part of the original contract and specifications, but if they are so great as to constitute a new construction contract or to deal with an unrelated matter, this proposition would not apply. OAG 62-845.

The question of whether competitive bids are required for a change order depends more on the nature of the change order than the amount of money involved. OAG 62-845.

If records of the school board indicate that in prior years the annual cost of paint totals $1,000 or more, the board should advertise for bids on all paint purchased, unless the board is certain that the amount will not exceed $1,000. OAG 62-901.

Where the school board ordered several pieces of related school equipment and furniture from a single vendor and the total amount exceeded $1,000, bids should have been taken. OAG 62-901.

Where the school board is going to make two purchases of the same type of supplies within a span of three or four months and the total amount would exceed $1,000, the amount of supplies needed should be estimated and bids taken. OAG 62-901.

A city is not legally required to advertise for bids in connection with the execution of insurance contracts. OAG 62-1082.

The employment of a fiscal agent by a board of education would constitute a contractual relationship for professional services and advertisement for professional services and advertisement for bids for this service is not required. OAG 63-938.

The statute would apply to purchases or contracts for services of a county hospital commission. OAG 63-1098.

The basic issue in each instance of severability is whether the governmental unit acted in good faith or whether the purchases were split up for the purpose of evading the bidding statute. OAG 64-510.

Even though partially funded with money from the federal government, a county building commission would be required to follow the bidding provisions of this section. OAG 65-746.

If the individual students exercise their own initiative in the purchase of class rings, senior portraits and senior invitations and the school has no control and does not use its accounting procedures in the purchase, bids do not have to be taken and the individual choices must be respected. OAG 66-228.

An ordinance leasing certain city property to an individual was not illegal for failure to execute the lease on a bid basis. OAG 66-728.

A district school board is not required to advertise for bids for the satisfaction of its insurance requirements. OAG 67-66.

If after readvertisement no firm bids are received and there is every indication that none can be obtained, the council would be authorized to privately negotiate for the best contract obtainable for the performance of required work. OAG 67-119.

The city must make every effort to let those contracts coming within the purview of this section on a bid basis even though the public authorities believe in good faith and as a result of inquiries that no firm bids will be received, or that no one other than the one to whom a contract has previously been let would be willing to undertake the job. OAG 67-119.

A school board member is prohibited from contracting with the board of which he is a member, despite the fact that the contract is let pursuant to sealed bids. OAG 67-212.

The local share of the funds for an area public library, or a portion thereof, cannot be segregated from the other government funds going into the project to be supervised by the department of libraries, because it would be impossible for the department to insure full compliance with bidding procedures. OAG 69-65.

Purchases of athletic equipment of over $1,000 by a district school board would have to be made by the bidding procedure even though the purchase money was derived from admissions to athletic exhibitions. OAG 69-327.

Emergencies may be excluded under this section and where the purchases are actually severable on a bona fide basis, the statute would not be offended. OAG 69-515.

Where a school board had no gasoline storage facilities, it should have conducted competitive bidding for retail gasoline rates. OAG 70-74.

Where coal purchases exceeding $1,000 were made at various times by a school board without competitive bidding, the contracts were void, the public funds paid out pursuant to such a transaction were recoverable, and the acceptance of benefits would not permit recovery on a quantum meruit basis. OAG 70-74.

Where the fiscal court advertised a request for bids on the operation and lease of the county rest home and then accepted a bid of 18 percent of gross receipts, the bid was valid as the leasing of the rest home did not require the application of this section. OAG 70-96.

This section is applicable to public utility franchises sold pursuant to KRS 96.010. OAG 70-136.

A contract between the fiscal court and a private individual for property and equipment for a sanitary landfill operation where the fiscal court guaranteed a monthly fee to the operator from which additional fees for private dumping would be deducted would come within the purview of this section requiring that advertisement be made and bids be received. OAG 70-191.

Even though a sanitation or health emergency is deemed to exist, before a franchise for a dumping facility can be granted, it must be advertised and bids received. OAG 70-191.

The fiscal court could legally award a franchise covering a specifically designated portion of the county for the dumping of garbage at a landfill site pursuant to Const., § 164, after advertisement was made and bids received for a site. OAG 70-191.

A lease between a local bank and the county under which the county would lease a dump truck from the bank on a one-year lease, renewable until the truck was paid for, at which time the title would be transferred to the county would be valid if the annual rental did not cause the county to exceed its debt limitation, if the county was only obligated for a one-year lease and if the lease-purchase agreement was let out on competitive bids with the bank the assignee of the successful bidder. OAG 70-233.

Where a district board of education desires to pay all or any part of the premiums on group policies for district employees, the advertising and competitive bid procedure of this section should be followed where the amount to be paid by the board is in excess of $1,000. OAG 70-687.

The electric plant board of a city organized pursuant to the little TVA act would be considered a municipal board or commission referred to in this section and would be required to comply with the bidding requirements of this section. OAG 70-798.

So long as the specifications are reasonable, clear, and identical to all bidders, and if they estimate as definitely as practicable the specific work and work performance level required and the time period required, the specifications would be adequate for bidding for the hiring of special heavy equipment and operators on an hourly basis. OAG 71-27.

Where road repair work was under the constant supervision of the county road supervisor and under adequate time checks, an award of the hiring of special heavy equipment and operators on an hourly rate basis, after bids were let, would be adequate. OAG 71-27.

It is necessary to take competitive bids in accordance with this section for the purchase of office supplies for a county attorney's office when they are purchased out of the excess fee fund. OAG 71-171.

The fiscal court could award a contract for certain items of hospital equipment and furnishings for a new hospital to the lowest bidder after it had made clarifications in the specifications, since the basic pricing device was not altered and because the cost change from manual beds to electric beds did not produce a substantial change in the specifications. OAG 72-162.

Under this section professional services are exempt from competitive bidding; therefore, professional engineers need not engage in competitive bidding for professional services. OAG 72-228.

Under this section a city must let contracts for street improvements on a bid basis if the anticipated expense would exceed the statutory amount, even though there may be only one company within the city or county that has the necessary equipment. OAG 72-231.

While there are no statutes prohibiting the "turnkey" method of construction of a city-county hospital, the bidding provisions of this section must nevertheless be complied with. OAG 72-233.

The advertising requirements of this section would not apply to a contract by a city for the purchase of real estate for use as a city building. OAG 72-609.

The competitive bidding procedure for insurance contracts set forth in this section should be utilized where the amount to be expended is more than $2,500, except in those situations where the premium rates and benefits are fixed by statute or ordinance, so as to eliminate any possible variation in rates, group life, disability and medical coverage insurance contracts, and other types of insurance contracts in which the premium rates and benefits may be competitive and vary from company to company, are not excepted from the bidding requirements as contracts for professional services. OAG 73-367.

Where a county's needs for the application of bituminous materials in repairing its roads exceeded $2,500, the requirement of this section that bids be taken after advertisement could not be circumvented by splitting the total amount into several "rental" payments to the contractor. OAG 73-415.

This section would not apply to a contract by the fiscal court to purchase a private law library and office equipment for the total sum of $2,500 and therefore it would not be required to advertise for bids before executing such contract. OAG 73-433.

If the cost of printing general election ballots exceeds the statutory amount referred to in this section, the contract for printing such ballots must be let on a bid basis as the county clerk acts on behalf of the county or other governmental unit. OAG 73-615.

Where without observing this section the local school board was presented with claims for $281,207 for work on the construction of a new school building which was performed on the basis of an oral agreement between the contractor and the then school superintendent, none of the county's revenue-sharing money can be legally spent in replacing the capital outlay fund money and school building fund money, which funds were illegally spent on a void contract, as this would be a violation of this section. OAG 73-684.

The state board of education has enacted regulations for bidding on the purchase of school equipment and any bidding not conforming to these regulations can be reported to the superintendent of public instruction who is empowered by KRS 156.132 to make written charges against any superintendent or board member who is guilty of misconduct or unlawful acts. OAG 73-740.

Where a school district advertised for bids and opened them at the specified time but delayed awarding a contract until some time not more than 90 days later, during which period of time a new wage rate was issued, since no changes were made in the contract price or work specifications and no justification was shown for an "emergency" authorizing waiver of the bidding statutes under this section, the wage rate to be paid by the contractor should be that in effect on the date of advertisement for bids and not the new rate that was in effect at the time bids were awarded. OAG 73-744; 74-8.

The purchase by a fiscal court of a county vehicle to be used by a senior citizens organization for an amount in excess of $2,500 is void unless it is let out on advertised newspaper bids stating the specifications desired. OAG 74-107.

This section's requirement that local boards of education solicit bids for the purchase of gasoline need not be complied with during the effective duration of the federal petroleum allocation and price regulations which mandated that each school district retain its current gasoline supplier. OAG 74-285; 76-600.

No pre-qualifications are necessary as to professional engineers and architects as they are exempt and should not be required to respond to bidding procedure. OAG 74-379.

The authority to use "fast track" bidding is not prohibited by this section as long as competitive bidding is afforded. OAG 74-379.

This section applies to urban-county government or a governmental corporation created under KRS ch. 273 which is merely the agent or instrumentality of urban county government. OAG 74-379.

There was no need for the board of education to advertise for bids on office space as the words "lease or other agreement for materials, supplies or equipment" do not cover such space. OAG 74-404.

A proposed contract for addition to a hospital would not be valid under this section where the construction manager, if there were no other bids or all bids were in excess of the manager's budgeted cost, would automatically end up with the contract. OAG 74-420.

Since certified, public accounting services are professional, a city is not required to request proposals from various firms to conduct an annual audit of the city's books of account and record. OAG 74-698.

Purchase of housing for a fire engine did not constitute an emergency that would, under this section, waive the necessity for use of the bidding procedure. OAG 74-778.

The Board of Trustees of the Fire Protection District, rather than the chief of the fire department of the district under KRS 75.031, has the authority to contract for the purchase of fire equipment and the requirements of this section must be met if the contract involves an expenditure of more than $2,500 so that the Fire Protection District may legally purchase fire equipment from manufacturers for which the full-time fire chief of the Fire Protection District sells equipment when no commission or other remuneration is received by the chief in connection with purchase by the district and assuming that the statutory bidding requirements, if applicable, are observed. OAG 74-880.

Where hospital's liability insurance has been cancelled the hospital if it desires to continue with liability insurance cannot accept the bid of the next lowest bidder but should let out a new contract by advertising for bids anew, pursuant to this section. OAG 75-19.

When a school district purchases textbooks and materials under the provisions of KRS 156.400 to 156.476, the statutory bidding procedures required by this section are not applicable. OAG 75-27.

Where a city in advertising bids for a sanitary landfill specified a cutoff time and date for the receipt of bids and after that time a city councilman turned over to the city clerk a bid on behalf of the bidder, it was improper for the councilman to deliver the bid and the bid could not be properly accepted by the city after the specified time, since, although not spelled out therein, this section by implication requires strict compliance by a city with its advertised bidding procedures. OAG 75-97.

Where a city in advertising bids specifies a cutoff time and date for the receipt of bids, the city clerk should time stamp all bids showing the precise time of receipt to document compliance with the advertised requirement. OAG 75-97.

A fiscal court may, without advertising for bids, purchase from the county clerk materials and supplies not in excess of $2,500, providing this limitation in amount is not circumvented by splitting a larger purchase into "dribbles and dabs" of separate purchases. OAG 75-98.

An arrangement whereby a political subdivision enters into a negotiated price agreement for the construction of facilities is invalid where the bidding requirements of this section were not complied with prior to the commencement of construction. OAG 75-117.

The agent of the fiscal court, in letting a contract for construction of county hospital facilities would have to comply with the bidding requirements of this section, regardless of the statutory financing method or methods employed, since a negotiated contract would be strictly illegal and void. OAG 75-482.

The services rendered by an auditor are professional services and therefore a board of education may employ an auditor without advertising for bids while "cleaning services" do not fall within the meaning of "professional" services and advertisement for bids involving an expenditure of more than $2,500 for cleaning services is statutorily required. OAG 75-488.

If the cost of services in connection with the production of a school yearbook are as much as $2,500, then, in accordance with this section and Regulations 702 KAR 3:130 and 3:140, schools should advertise for bids and the expenditures must be supervised by the board of education which has the ultimate responsibility. OAG 75-618 (affirming OAG 66-51, 66-228 and 66-417).

A contract for the printing of supplies for county elections is not required to be given to the newspaper having the largest circulation and, therefore, may be given to any other newspaper as long as it is located in the county in conformance with KRS 57.285, but if the printing costs exceed $2,500 then the contract must be let on a bid basis. OAG 75-711.

The bidding requirement cannot be avoided by buying a small amount each month where it is known that certain supplies will be needed over a period of several months, and in such a case, the fiscal court should estimate aggregate needs in advance. OAG 76-9.

The fiscal court has the power to purchase all property for the county out of the county treasury including any equipment purchased for the use of the office of sheriff or for any other county constitutional office and where necessary official purchases are made out of excess fees of county constitutional officers for use of those offices, the fiscal court has the authority to require that such purchases be made by the central purchasing officer established by the fiscal court to effect county purchases after such purchases are authorized by fiscal court orders. OAG 76-390.

Where the county court clerk caused an advertisement to be placed in a local paper stating that the fiscal court was seeking bids on gasoline, fuel oil and labor for repairing county equipment, but no mention was made of the fiscal court's right to reject any and all bids and the fiscal court had not expressed an intent to seek bids and bid specifications were not prepared by them, but in response to the advertisement, two service stations submitted bids, one of which was accepted by the fiscal court even though they were unaware of the clerk's advertisement, the county court clerk acted in absence of any instructions or directions from the fiscal court when he placed the advertisement, and the fiscal court, even though it initially accepted one of the bids, may, after discovering the improper act of the county court clerk and its own failure to authorize the purchase of the items bid upon, revoke the contract if one was made or reject the bids submitted. OAG 76-476.

This section has no application to KRS 117.145 since the latter statute provides for special purchases of election supplies by the county clerk and contains no express provisions for competitive bidding. OAG 76-496.

This section was intended to supersede any similar bidding provisions for local governmental units. OAG 76-496.

In determining whether a contract involving backhoe work is for more than $2,500 and thus subject to the bidding requirement, a city cannot add the value of other services and materials not related to that work such as wages of city employees or materials obtained through other contracts. OAG 76-521.

A local public school district must advertise for bids on each categorically separate food commodity it desires to purchase where the cost of procurement will exceed twenty-five hundred dollars over the period of a school year. OAG 76-556.

A procedure followed by a board of education in awarding contracts for construction, repair and maintenance services that may develop in the future would not comply with this section which contemplates contracts where job specifications are advertised for a specific project and bids are received containing a firm total cost figure. OAG 76-661.

A nonprofit corporation organized for the sole purpose of financing and constructing public projects on behalf of displaced residents would not be required to comply with the bidding statutes. OAG 77-74.

Where a contract relating to the purchase of class rings by students at a county public school would in no way involve school funds, bidding would be unnecessary. OAG 77-255.

A city which has been issued a license to construct a hydroelectric plant could invite bids which specify alternate methods of construction and equipment. OAG 77-265.

This section does not apply to the sale of surplus property by a water district. OAG 77-399.

In receiving bids for construction of a branch library, a public library district could not award the contracts on the basis of the base bids only and then automatically accept the alternates desired at the prices submitted by the chosen low base bidder, but instead must award the specific contracts on the basis of the sum of the base bid plus the desired alternates. OAG 77-428.

A city may hire the necessary personnel and lease the needed equipment to install waterlines, but if the equipment to be leased involves an expenditure of more than $2,500 the city must follow the bidding requirements set forth in this section. OAG 77-458.

Inasmuch as insurance contracts involve a "professional" service rather than a personal service of a manual or mechanical nature, a city may obtain insurance coverage without making a newspaper advertisement for bids. OAG 77-599.

The bidding requirements of this section do not apply to insurance procured for the county, regardless of the amount. OAG 78-12.

A sewer and water board is an agency of the city and would be required to advertise for bids pursuant to this section where the contract involved more than $5,000. OAG 78-95.

This section requiring competitive bidding is mandatory and where applicable it must be observed in good faith by the local governmental authorities so that the legislative body responsible for letting bids cannot circumvent the statute by buying needed supplies in "dribbles and dabs." OAG 78-121.

Under this section, the fiscal court has discretion in applying this section during the duration of awarded bid contract; however, it cannot, in considering the purpose of the bidding statute, act arbitrarily, capriciously or unreasonably and where the fiscal court desired to continue under an existing petroleum contract, whether or not they were acting arbitrarily or capriciously in failing to relet the bids on petroleum products would be determined by the courts. OAG 78-121.

It is illegal for a city to figure its gasoline needs for one day and thus avoid advertising for bids; rather, a city should calculate its gasoline needs for at least a one-year period and advertise for bids if the costs will exceed $5,000. OAG 78-166.

The fact that roads are in poor condition as the result of a bad winter was not unforeseeable and was not of emergency status so as to justify the purchasing of trucks for the county road system without a letting of bids if the cost exceeds $5,000. OAG 78-280.

Where a city offered to pay to blacktop the driveway of leased premises in exchange for such lease, if the city itself was responsible for blacktopping the driveway, making it necessary for it to obtain by contract the necessary materials and equipment to do the job, then this section would be applicable since it applies to all purchases of material and equipment by a city. OAG 78-357.

KRS 45A.385 and this section as amended in 1978 are pari materia and both are to be given effect by construing the $2,500 limitation to be an oversight by the Legislature that it was increasing the limitation of this section to $5,000. OAG 78-357.

The term "professional services" as used in this section refers to those services furnished by a physician, lawyer, engineer, artist, architect, etc. OAG 78-725.

The term "professional services" could in no way include the furnishing of computer billing services contemplated by an electric plant board and, as a consequence, the board would be required to advertise for bids for this type of service in compliance with this section, assuming of course that the cost of such services will exceed $5,000. OAG 78-725.

Under this section the fiscal court would have to observe an accepted bid for the time period agreed upon under the specifications. OAG 79-138.

Where a fiscal court sought bids for both 12- and 18-inch steel, and got bids from one bidder of $2.00 and $3.00 respectively, and of $2.25 and $2.90 respectively from another, it would be necessary to reject both bids and ask for new and separate bids, since under the initial bids it would be impractical to determine a low bidder. OAG 79-138.

Whether or not a fiscal court could reimburse a private citizen for money he spent for work on a public way would depend on whether the cost of the work exceeded $5,000; if it did, this section would have required a bid which did not take place, thus preventing reimbursement; but if it was less than $5,000, then it is in the discretion of the fiscal court to do so. OAG 79-138.

Nothing prevents the delegation of authority to make purchases, up to a certain level less than $5,000, to the county judge/executive, subject to final fiscal court approval, being placed in the administrative code. OAG 79-179.

Where a city-county office building was in dire need of a new roof and bids were twice advertised for with no one making a bid, a resolution declaring an emergency could properly be passed and noncompetitive negotiations entered into despite the fact that such work would involve an expenditure substantially more than $5,000. OAG 79-304.

Where a county is contracting for hospital management services, the bidding statute does not apply. OAG 79-377.

The provisions of the Model Procurement Code (KRS 45A.385) must govern over this section as amended since the Procurement Code is a detailed, comprehensive and specific kind of legislation as contrasted with the short, skeletal and general provisions of this section. OAG 79-429; 79-447.

A firm selected as construction manager for a project could also bid competitively on other phases of the construction work, since the services and work to be performed legitimately can be broken down into various parts or phases. OAG 79-501.

A local school board may directly purchase items or equipment, for a construction project, by competitive bidding, which it would then have installed by others under separate competitive bids. OAG 79-501.

The position of a construction manager over a construction project constitutes professional services and would therefore not be subject to competitive bidding. OAG 79-501.

There is no express provision in KRS Chapter 273 or in this section that required a nonprofit, nonstock corporation to observe the bidding process. OAG 79-577.

Where a county fiscal court has formally adopted the Model Procurement Code, the provisions of that code apply to the construction of a personal care home on behalf of a tenant, which will be a Kentucky nonprofit corporation, the funding of which construction will be effected by a revenue bond issue of fiscal court pursuant to KRS 103.200; however, where the fiscal court has taken no formal action to come under the Model Procurement Code, the code does not apply, and this section, requiring bidding on the construction contract, would apply. OAG 80-297.

If a county has not adopted the Model Procurement Code, the procurement of the services of a public accountant or certified public accountant, in order to audit the county's funds, would not require formal bidding procedure. OAG 80-624.

A county metropolitan sewer district may, whether operating under this section, the bidding statute, or KRS 45A.345, the model procurement code, adopt a "Buy American" clause, which requires a contractor or supplier to furnish only goods manufactured in America, as a standard procurement policy, included in all purchasing contracts and bid specifications. OAG 81-34.

The fiscal court of a county may lease a portion of the tobacco base owned by the county to individuals, since the power of the court under KRS 67.080 to sell real property includes the power to lease, and the lease of county property does not come under the competitive bidding requirements of this section and the Model Procurement Code, KRS Chapter 45A, since the bidding principle applies only to governmental acquisitions, not situations where the government is the lessor; however, the lease must contain the precise consideration given, since the fiscal court must make full public disclosure of its transactions. OAG 81-107.

Where a fiscal court has specifically adopted the Kentucky Model Procurement Code, pursuant to KRS 45A.350 (repealed), it must, under subdivision (23) of KRS 45A.345, purchase insurance under a competitive bidding system, even though this section excepts professional services such as insurance from competitive bidding. OAG 81-109.

A county fiscal court, in a county which has not adopted the Kentucky Model Procurement Code under KRS 45A.350 (repealed), may participate in a self-insuring workers' compensation trust in connection with a workers' compensation benefits program for hospital workers without letting out the insurance contracts under a competitive bidding procedure, since failure to adopt the procurement code leaves the fiscal court free under this section to let the contract without bidding. OAG 81-117.

Assuming that a county fiscal court has not adopted KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460 of the Kentucky Model Procurement Code, then this section applies to the purchase of its gasoline, petroleum, and other supplies used by the county road department. OAG 82-125.

A statutory requirement of advertisement for bids is "jurisdictional," and a fiscal court is without power to enter into a contract without such advertisement, where the purchase requires bidding. Further, a party deals with a public agency at its peril if it contracts with an agency and fails to inquire into the power of the agency to execute such contract. OAG 82-125.

Number of months' supply of any needed commodity which must be considered for bidding purposes is, because of its nature, a matter that must be left to the sound administrative discretion of the fiscal court. OAG 82-125.

The matter of letting out for bids the gasoline and oil needed for the county road department is left to the good business judgment of the fiscal court in terms of the period of consumption, price fluctuations, availability of the commodity for a definite period, etc. However, a fiscal court should not deliberately buy the needed commodities in "dribbles and dabs" merely to circumvent advertised bidding. OAG 82-125.

The three important benefits of the bidding process are: (a) an offering to the public, (b) an opportunity for competition and (c) a basis for an exact comparison of bids. OAG 82-125.

There is no conflict between this section and the model Procurement Code, KRS Chapter 45A, concerning the necessity of school boards taking competitive bids for general liability insurance since local school districts, as local public agencies, have a choice whether to operate with respect to their procurement needs under either the local Model Procurement Code or this section. OAG 82-170.

This section does not require general liability insurance for school districts to be competitively bid. OAG 82-170.

The emergency clause of Acts 1982, ch. 282, which amended this section among others, related solely to § 3 of the act which amended KRS 45A.335 to exclude members of state boards and commissions from the term "officer or employee," as used in the conflict of interest statute, KRS 45A.340(5); it not only did not relate to the other sections of the bill, which were separable, but it gave no reason to justify that an emergency existed with respect to these sections. In view of the fact that the Ky. Const., § 55 requires an act to express in plain language what the emergency is in order for it to be effective only § 3 became effective on April 2, 1982, upon the passage of the act and approval of the governor, and the remaining sections of the act became effective as ordinary legislation on July 15, 1982. OAG 82-308.

A fiscal court, governed by this section (that is, any fiscal court not adopting KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460), may effect purchases up to $7,500 without formal bidding procedure. OAG 82-324.

Any fiscal court adopting KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460 may, under KRS 45A.385, effect purchases not exceeding $5,000 without formal bidding procedures, while those fiscal courts, under current law, which have not adopted such sections, are governed by this section. OAG 82-324.

Although site work can be, and is usually interpreted to be, a part of a project involving school building construction or remodeling, site work unrelated to school building construction does not come within the scope of KRS 162.070. Thus, where a school district wished to correct a drainage problem at one of its schools, this section and the $7,500 "small purchases" ceiling was applicable to the contract for drainage site work. OAG 82-407.

To the extent that KRS 162.070 and this section are in conflict, the provisions and therefore the $7,500 amount found in this section, as amended in 1982, must be deemed to prevail over the lower $5,000 amount remaining in KRS 162.070. OAG 82-407.

Under this section, a cafeteria plan of insurance coverage for school teachers need not be bid; under the Model Procurement Code if a contract is for group life insurance, group health and accident insurance, group professional liability insurance, workers' compensation insurance, and unemployment insurance, the contract may be noncompetitively negotiated. OAG 83-151.

This section has no application to a county sheriff. OAG 83-249.

A fiscal court resolution requiring that tiles and tires be purchased from the cheapest places in the county is in restrictive conflict with this section and KRS 45A.365(5) and is invalid. OAG 83-258.

If the reconstructing or paving of separate county road segments could involve unified specifications and work performance of such nature that bids on the total number of projects as a total package could be obtained, the total work should be let under advertisement for bids, pursuant to this section or KRS Chapter 45A, whichever is applicable to the county; however, if the fiscal court determines upon investigation that lump sum bids upon the total projects cannot be obtained from the road construction trade, then the various road segments should be treated as legally and factually separate and bidding would be necessary for any of the projects if they exceed for a single project the sum of $5,000 (if the Model Procurement Code applies in the county) or exceeds $7,500 (if this section applies in the county). OAG 83-316.

No county fee officer can engage in a bidding contract of purchase of supplies or equipment, i.e., binding on the county where the money for the purchase is to come directly out of the county treasury; the fiscal court is the authority in contracting for county supplies or equipment, payable out of the county treasury. OAG 83-448.

Should a fee officer have to purchase items of equipment or personal property that are not consumable but will have a reasonable life span, such as motor vehicles, the title would be taken in the name of the county and the purchases would be subject to the county's handling of the purchases and applicable provisions relating to bidding law under this section or KRS Chapter 45A (where the fiscal court has adopted the provisions of KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460). Where the county clerk or sheriff has adopted KRS 45A.345 through 45A.460, such officer could handle the purchase under the applicable bidding law in KRS Chapter 45A, but only with the approval of the fiscal court; and the title to the nonconsumable property or property of any reasonable life span would be in the name of the county. OAG 83-448.

KRS 42.355(4) (now subsection (2)), in mentioning the bidding law of this chapter, specifically adopts this section to the extent that this section requires formal bidding. OAG 84-57.

A unit of government, in connection with the demands of a bidding statute, cannot divide the work and let it under several contracts so as to circumvent the bidding requirement, thus where the transactions are not legally and factually severable, they cannot be manipulated to circumvent the declared bidding policy of this section. OAG 84-57.

Even though a riverport authority is created jointly by a city and county, the created authority is still a body politic and corporate, it is still a special district and, thus, the district, i.e., the riverport authority, is subject to the bidding principle under this section, or the Model Procurement Code if adopted by the authority. OAG 84-196.

The bidding statute, this section, applies to a riverport authority created pursuant to KRS 65.510 et seq., unless the authority has specifically adopted the Model Procurement Code (KRS 45A.345 to 45A.460), in which latter case the Model Procurement Code, with its bidding requirements, applies to the riverport authority. OAG 84-196.

A city's expenditure of $10,000 for the services of a professional engineer to survey and engineer a sewer line installation project falls within the category of professional services exempt from bidding under the terms of this section. OAG 84-274.

Where a riverport authority, created pursuant to KRS 65.510 et seq., has chosen to not adopt provisions of the Model Procurement Code under KRS 45A.343, such riverport authority automatically comes under the mandatory terms of the bidding statute, this section. OAG 84-297 (modifying OAG 80-71).

If reasonably detailed specifications describing the scope of a project are first prepared, such that competing potential bidders can know with particularity the product for which a bid might be tendered, and bids are solicited in relation to those specifications in conformity with KRS 424.130, and 424.140, the design/build approach to construction procurement might be utilized by a county. OAG 92-143.

Where the construction inspector hired by the board of education is merely inspecting the building constructed by the general contractor and reporting back to the board, and the contract specifically releases the construction inspector from any responsibility for the actual construction of the school, these activities did not constitute professional services. The construction inspector lacked the necessary decision-making responsibility. Since the construction inspector was not considered to be supplying professional services, he was not exempt from the bidding requirements of this section. OAG 92-144.

Where self-insured groups of Kentucky Association of Counties contracted with third party administrators to provide professional services involving the use of training, discretion, and judgment in the field of insurance, such professional services contracts may be entered into without any type of open bid. OAG 94-1.

Where bid invitation contained no indication of either the quantity of materials to be purchased nor the projects for which the materials would be used, the bid invitation did not grant reasonable notice of county's intentions and did not comply with the statute. OAG 94-20.

Documents tendered as part of competitive sealed bidding become open public records at the time the bids are opened, even if the bids are rejected. Public disclosure of bid documents associated with a competitive sealed bid cannot be delayed until the contracting public agency determined whether to move to competitive negotiation, and if a determination is made to proceed into competitive negotiation, the original bid documents cannot be considered part of the negotiation process and remain closed until a contract is awarded or negotiations are cancelled. OAG 05-ORD-001.

A local public agency that has not adopted the Model Procurement Code is not required to follow competitive bidding procedures for insurance, and may contract with an insurance broker to solicit and receive bids for insurance, although competitive bidding remains preferred. A local public agency that has adopted the Model Procurement Code must follow all applicable provisions in seeking contracts with insurance brokers. OAG 13-006.

424.270. Local administrative regulations.

No general regulation of uniform application throughout the publication area promulgated by any officer, board or commission of a city, county, or district, which is intended to impose liabilities or restrictions upon the public shall be valid unless and until it, or a notice of such promulgation, together with a statement where the original regulation may be examined by the public, has been advertised by newspaper publication.

History.

Enact. Acts 1958, ch. 42, § 17; 1960, ch. 168, § 1.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Application.

This section deals with the regulations of local administrative agencies and not with municipal legislative enactments of the dignity of an ordinance. Miller v. Louisville, 321 S.W.2d 237, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 269 (Ky. 1959).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

This chapter would not be applicable to municipal housing commissions established under KRS Chapter 80. OAG 60-486.

Subdivision regulations adopted by the planning commission must be published in full and as a consequence cannot be published by reference or by abstract. OAG 67-466.

Generally, the ordinances of a fifth-class city must be published in full in a newspaper meeting the qualifications set out in KRS ch. 424, however, a zoning ordinance adopted by a fifth class city need not be published in full in the newspaper, since it is governed by the exception to the publication requirement set forth in KRS 100.207. OAG 75-141.

This section deals solely with the regulations of local administrative agencies and has no application with respect to the municipal legislative enactment and publication of ordinances. OAG 77-385.

424.290. Publication of ballots and supplementary material.

(1) Not less than three (3) days before any primary or regular election the county clerk shall cause to be published in a newspaper a copy of the ballots or supplementary material on which appear the names of candidates or issues to be voted upon. Where the lists of candidates or issues to be voted upon differ for various precincts within the county, the county clerk shall cause to be published only one (1) set of data with appropriate notations showing the differences in the various precincts. If supplemental paper ballots have been approved as provided in KRS 118.215, the supplemental paper ballot shall be published at the same time as other material required to be published by this subsection. The cost of publication shall be paid by the county, except that the cost of publishing any voting data required to be published by this subsection that is limited to a city election or a district election other than a school district election shall be paid by the city or the district as the case may be.

(2) "Copy," as used in subsection (1) of this section, means a summary of candidates and issues to be voted upon showing all the pertinent information that will appear, upon which the voters will cast their votes at a particular polling place.

History.

Enact. Acts 1958, ch. 42, § 19; 1960, ch. 168, § 1; 1962, ch. 213, § 1; 1972, ch. 188, § 67, June 16, 1972; 1976 (Ex. Sess.), ch. 1, § 15; 1978, ch. 384, § 527, effective June 17, 1978; 1982, ch. 360, § 84, effective July 15, 1982; 2021 ch. 197, § 71, effective June 29, 2021.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

This section does not require the publication of a facsimile of the ballot in a special election. OAG 60-255.

This section requires the publication of the face of the voting machine but does not require publication of a copy of the absentee ballots. OAG 66-295.

An abstract or condensed content of the ballot face showing all pertinent or necessary information would be sufficient. OAG 67-203.

In the published ballot abstract, the type might be reduced so long as it is sufficiently legible. OAG 67-203.

Where the ballot face will differ in various precincts, this section requires the publication of at least separate summaries of each ballot face. OAG 69-319.

Where the clerk's instructions regarding the publication of the election ballot were in error and the printer proceeded with a publication that complied with the provisions of this section, the fiscal court was legally obligated to pay any reasonable printing cost resulting from the publication. OAG 69-319.

Subsection (1) of this section does not repeal by implication the provisions of KRS 242.060. OAG 71-313.

424.330. Publication of lists of delinquent taxes by cities — Fee allowance.

Cities may publish a list of uncollected delinquent taxes levied under Section 181 of the Kentucky Constitution, showing the name of and the amount due from each delinquent taxpayer, to be advertised by newspaper publication. A fee equal to the prorated cost of publication per taxpayer per publication may be added to the amount of each tax claim published as publication costs.

History.

Enact. Acts 1958, ch. 42, § 23; 1988, ch. 32, § 3, effective July 15, 1988; 1992, ch. 73, § 1, effective July 14, 1992; 1994, ch. 73, § 2, effective July 15, 1994; 2006, ch. 8, § 7, effective July 12, 2006; 2009, ch. 10, § 69, effective January 1, 2010; 2014, ch. 5, § 4, effective July 15, 2014.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Newspapers claiming to have the largest circulation should be required to file with the fiscal court certified statements as to their circulation after which the court can make its selection from the best information available. OAG 64-399.

This section does not contemplate the readvertising of tax claims involved in certificates of delinquency, but contemplates the publication of only those delinquent taxes for which no certificates of delinquency were issued and filed. OAG 67-312.

The publication requirements of this section are not applicable to delinquent city taxes. OAG 78-420; 78-449.

This chapter applies only to those publications required by law to be published. However, an exception under this act is the list of uncollectible delinquent taxes, which must be published pursuant to this section. OAG 82-128.

424.360. Invitation to bid on municipal bonds.

(1) Except in the case of:

(a) Bonds issued for the purpose of facilitating the construction, renovation, or purchase of new or existing housing as provided by KRS 58.125; or no sale of general obligation bonds or revenue bonds of any governmental unit, political subdivision, or agency thereof shall be made until advertisements for bids are publicized.

(b) Bonds issued and sold pursuant to any section of the Constitution or the Kentucky Revised Statutes providing for the sale of bonds at a private, negotiated sale;

(2) Advertisements for bids may be publicized by:

(a) Newspaper publication in the area constituted by the political subdivision or governmental unit and published to afford statewide notice; or

(b) Posting a notice of sale to a nationally recognized electronic bidding system.

424.380. Failure to comply with publication requirements.

Any resolution, regulation, ordinance or other formal action of any public agency which is required to be published, that is adopted without compliance with the publication requirements of this chapter, shall be voidable by a court of competent jurisdiction. The Circuit Courts of this state shall have the jurisdiction to enforce the purposes of this chapter, by injunction or other appropriate order, upon application by any citizen of this state. The cost of all proceedings, including a reasonable fee for the attorney of the citizen bringing the action, shall be assessed against the unsuccessful party.

History.

Enact. Acts 1982, ch. 430, § 8, effective July 15, 1982.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Acts 1982, ch. 430, which amends this section and several other statutes relating to publication requirements of cities, is basically an amendment of the municipal publication requirements and does not affect the city budget process, financial matters in cities or matters relating to the administration of city finances. It gives a city a choice as to which of two devices relating to finances and expenditures must be published annually rather than requiring that they both be published and affects what a city publishes after the completion of the fiscal year, but does not affect the activities of a city during the fiscal year; it does not impair any vested rights. OAG 82-353.

As to its publication provisions for municipal governments, Acts 1982, ch. 430, effective July 15, 1982, is applicable to those municipal governments for the fiscal year July 1, 1981 to June 30, 1982. OAG 82-353.

PENALTIES

424.990. Penalties.

Any person who violates any provision of KRS 424.110 to 424.370 shall be fined not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500). In addition, any officer who fails to comply with any of the provisions of KRS 424.145(4), 424.220, 424.230, 424.240, 424.250, 424.290, or 424.330 shall, for each such failure, be subject to a forfeiture of not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500), in the discretion of the court, which may be recovered only once, in a civil action brought by any citizen of the local government for which the officer serves. The costs of all proceedings, including a reasonable fee for the attorney of the citizen bringing the action, shall be assessed against the unsuccessful party.

History.

Enact. Acts 1958, ch. 42, § 28; 1960, ch. 168, § 1; 2020 ch. 87, § 3, effective July 15, 2020.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Standing.

Allegations in plaintiff's complaint that city board of trustees did not publish financial statements for the city pursuant to KRS 424.220, that they had not adopted and published a budget pursuant to KRS 424.240, that they had enacted an ordinance providing for a license fee which did not conform to the requirements of KRS 92.330, and that they had not advertised for bids to obtain facilities for the city hall pursuant to KRS 424.260 had statutory remedy provided by the legislature which conferred standing on citizens of the governmental unit to bring actions to compel adherence to the law. Fish v. Elliott, 554 S.W.2d 94, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 756 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

Since recovery for violation may be had only once, the certainty of plaintiff's citizenship and consequent standing should appear on the face of the pleading. Fish v. Elliott, 554 S.W.2d 94, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 756 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

It is the duty of the county clerk to see that the ballot is printed according to the provisions of KRS 424.290 and, if the printer followed the clerk's instructions when printing the ballot, the clerk alone would be subject to the penalties imposed by this section; if, however, the printer disregarded the clerk's instructions and as a consequence the ballot was not printed in conformity with the requirements of the statute, the publisher would be subject to the penalty provisions of this section. OAG 69-578.

427.130. Salaries of public officials and employees and sums due from governmental agencies are subject to attachment or garnishment — Service of process.

(1) Salaries or sums due state, county, city and school board officers and employees shall be subject to attachment or garnishment.

(2) All sums due any person from the Commonwealth of Kentucky, or any agency or department thereof, and all sums due from any county school board, city or county, shall be subject to attachment or garnishment.

(3) Service of attachments or garnishments upon the Commonwealth of Kentucky shall be made by serving the secretary of the finance and administration cabinet, and the state treasurer. 1. Constitutionality.

This section does not contravene Ky. Const., § 133 or § 235. Batesville Casket Co. v. Fields, 288 Ky. 104, 155 S.W.2d 743, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 63 (Ky. 1941) (decision prior to 1942 amendment).

2. Application.

This section applies to both constitutional and elective officers. Batesville Casket Co. v. Fields, 288 Ky. 104, 155 S.W.2d 743, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 63 (Ky. 1941) (decision prior to 1942 amendment).

3. Assignment of Salaries.

This section does not alter the rule that assignment of the salary of a public officer before it is due is against public policy. Batesville Casket Co. v. Fields, 288 Ky. 104, 155 S.W.2d 743, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 63 (Ky. 1941) (decision prior to 1942 amendment).

4. Attachment.

Salary of a state officer may not be attached until the end of the month. Batesville Casket Co. v. Fields, 288 Ky. 104, 155 S.W.2d 743, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 63 (Ky. 1941) (decision prior to 1942 amendment).

5. Public Officers.

In enactment of this section, legislature did not intend to include "public officers" within its terms, as opposed to "public employees." Varden v. Ridings, 20 F. Supp. 495, 1937 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1650 (D. Ky. 1937) (decision prior to 1942 amendment).

6. Poor Farm.

Inmate maintenance funds payable to county poor farm keeper were exempt from garnishment or attachment. Miracle v. Hopkins, 260 Ky. 712, 86 S.W.2d 681, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 545 (Ky. 1935) (decided under prior law).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Where a state employee wrongfully used a gasoline credit card, furnished to him by the Commonwealth, to purchase personal gasoline and groceries in the amount of $436.74 and the employee had accrued wages of $407.83 which were unpaid, the Commonwealth could withhold the pay of the employee as an offset against his improper expenditure. OAG 61-834.

The use of the term "employer" in the 1970 amendment to KRS 425.210 (now repealed) does not affect the requirements of this section relative to the service of attachments or garnishments on the wages of employees of the Commonwealth which, pursuant to the provisions of this section, will continue to be made by serving the commissioner of finance or the state treasurer. OFFENSES AGAINST THE STATE AND PUBLIC JUSTICE

432.350. Giving and taking bribes.

432.350. Giving and taking bribes.

Any member of the General Assembly or any other executive, judicial, ministerial or legislative officer of this state or of any county or city, including members of boards of education and subdistrict trustees, who takes or agrees to take any bribe to do or omit to do any act in his official capacity shall forfeit his office and be disqualified from the right of suffrage for ten (10) years.

History.

1366: amend. Acts 1974, ch. 406, § 317.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Bribery.
2. —Officer.
3. —Members of Legislature.
4. —Disbarment.
5. —Punishment.
6. Evidence.
7. Indictment.

1. Bribery.

There was no violation of the defendant's right to equal protection of the law where he was convicted of accepting a bribe, although the person claimed to have given the bribe was only to be tried for attempted bribery. Fanelli v. Commonwealth, 423 S.W.2d 255, 1968 Ky. LEXIS 479 (Ky. 1968) (decision prior to 1975 amendment).

2. —Officer.

In order to violate this section, the bribe must be taken or agreed to while the person is an officer and, therefore, any agreement made prior to the officer's election does not violate this section. Tharp v. Nolan, 119 Ky. 870, 84 S.W. 1168, 27 Ky. L. Rptr. 326, 1905 Ky. LEXIS 49 (Ky. 1905) (decision prior to 1975 amendment).

A water commissioner is an officer within the meaning of this section. Commonwealth v. Howard, 379 S.W.2d 475, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 247 (Ky. 1964) (decision prior to 1975 amendment).

3. —Members of Legislature.

Section 39 of the Kentucky Constitution does not exclusively vest in the General Assembly the power to try those charged with bribery or attempted bribery of members of the legislature. Campbell v. Commonwealth, 229 Ky. 264, 17 S.W.2d 227, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 756 (Ky. 1929) (decision prior to 1975 amendment).

4. —Disbarment.

Where the defendant attorney was convicted of accepting a bribe, the offense involved moral turpitude warranting his disbarment. Kentucky State Bar Assn. v. Howard, 437 S.W.2d 171, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 423 (Ky. 1969) (decision prior to 1975 amendment).

5. —Punishment.

A Commonwealth's attorney accused of accepting a bribe to quash indictments may be prosecuted either for the common-law offense of malfeasance in office or under this section, but the punishment assessed is limited to that prescribed under this section. Commonwealth v. Rowe, 112 Ky. 482, 66 S.W. 29, 23 Ky. L. Rptr. 1718, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 183 (Ky. 1902) (decision prior to 1975 amendment).

6. Evidence.

Court erred in directing verdict of acquittal on bribery charge where there was evidence that director of building and housing had agreed on payment of a certain sum to a third party in return for dropping condemnation proceedings against certain property even though defendant had never touched the money himself. Commonwealth v. Hillebrand, 508

S.W.2d 566, 1974 Ky. LEXIS 613 (Ky. 1974) (decision prior to 1975 amendment).

7. Indictment.

An indictment which alleged that defendant accepted money for an election committee with intent to influence mayor, but which failed to allege that the mayor received the money or had knowledge of and assented to the illegal intent did not charge a violation of this section. Commonwealth v. Smith, 536 S.W.2d 457, 1976 Ky. LEXIS 77 (Ky. 1976), appeal denied, Smith v. Kentucky, 423 U.S. 909, 96 S. Ct. 210, 46 L. Ed. 2d 137, 1975 U.S. LEXIS 3017 (1975) (decision prior to 1974 amendment).

History.

Enact. Acts 1992, ch. 164, § 2, effective July 14, 1992.

438.050. Use of alternative nicotine products, tobacco products, and vapor products on school premises — Exception.

(1) Any person, except adult employees of the school system who smoke in a room on the school premises designated by the superintendent or principal for the purpose, who uses alternative nicotine products, tobacco products, or vapor products in any school building or any part of any building used for school purposes, or upon school grounds, while children are assembled there for lawful purposes, except in areas in secondary schools designated and supervised by the superintendent or principal for the purpose, shall be fined not less than one dollar ($1) nor more than five dollars ($5).

(2) The exception granted for smoking areas designated by the superintendent or principal shall extend to all schools.

History.

1277a-4: amend. Acts 1972, ch. 19, § 1; 1976, ch. 72, § 1; 1988, ch. 435, § 2, effective July 15, 1988; 2019 ch. 198, § 2, effective June 27, 2019.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

This is a penal statute which must be literally and strictly construed so there would be no violation if a person smokes a cigar or pipe but it would be a violation for anyone to smoke cigarettes in a school corridor or auditorium while children are present for lawful purposes, regardless of whether it is during or after school hours, or for a spectator to smoke cigarettes at a school football game being played on school grounds, but a person may smoke cigarettes during a summer tennis or baseball program conducted by a local recreation board and where no children are assembled. OAG 73-175.

Violation of this section is a misdemeanor and any peace officer may make an arrest or issue a citation for a misdemeanor committed in his presence or a citizen who witnesses a misdemeanor may go before a judge or magistrate and file a sworn complaint whereupon a warrant will be issued for the arrest of the misdemeanant. OAG 73-175.

As it is against the law to smoke on school property, cigarettes may not be sold on such property nor may the school designate an area outside building but on school grounds for student smoking. OAG 74-862.

Every school in the state can have a designated smoking room for the adult employees of the school system pursuant to this section; however, under this section, only secondary schools located in counties containing a city of the first or second class, as set forth in KRS 81.010, or an urban-county government, can have a designated smoking area for both adults and students; accordingly, a county which does not contain a city of the first or second class or an urban-county government may only designate a smoking room for adult employees of the school system, since designating such an area by regulation for the benefit of non-employee adults and students would violate this section. OAG 81-295.

The county board of education in a county not containing a first or second class city or an urban-county government has no legal authority to designate a smoking area for non-employee adults or for school students since the geographical scope of this section goes to “any part of any school building used for school purposes, or upon school grounds, while children are assembled there for lawful purposes”; accordingly, this section precludes smoking in a school corridor or auditorium or even at a football game on school grounds while children are present for lawful purposes regardless of whether it is during or after school hours. OAG 81-295.

This section, as it is written, proscribes only the smoking of tobacco products; however, the board of education, under the authority of KRS 160.290 and KRS 160.340, may regulate the use of tobacco products including the use of snuff or chewing tobacco in ways other than smoking by its employees, other adults or students. OAG 81-295.

Under the current statutes, every school may have a designated smoking room for adult employees of the school system, and every secondary school may have a designated smoking area for all individuals, adults and students. OAG 91-119.

This section does not grant authority to superintendents or principals beyond that authority granted to those officials by the Board, and, as currently written, does not forbid smoking of tobacco products at outdoor athletic events, depending on what smoking areas are to be designated in the schools. OAG 91-137.

Authority concerning the use of all tobacco products by employees, students and visitors in school buildings, on school grounds or on field trips rests with the local board of education, not with superintendents and principals, unless that authority is delegated to them by the board. OAG 91-137.

This section dealing with smoking on school premises directly conflicts with KRS 61.165 which requires governmental buildings that have adopted a policy limiting smoking to provide an indoor smoking room. This section controls because it is the more specific statute; therefore, KRS 61.165, which requires that indoor smoking areas be provided in governmental buildings where smoking is restricted, does not apply to school districts. OAG 94-52.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF JUSTIFICATION

Section

- 503.110. Use of force by person with responsibility for care, discipline, or safety of others.

503.110. Use of force by person with responsibility for care, discipline, or safety of others.

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a parent, guardian, or other person entrusted with the care and supervision of a minor or an incompetent person or when the defendant is a teacher or other person entrusted with the care and supervision of a minor, for a special purpose, and:

(a) The defendant believes that the force used is necessary to promote the welfare of a minor or mentally disabled person or, if the defendant's responsibility for the minor or mentally disabled person is for a special purpose, to further that special purpose or maintain reasonable discipline in a school, class, or other group; and

(b) The force that is used is not designed to cause or known to create a substantial risk of causing death, serious physical injury, disfigurement, extreme pain, or extreme mental distress.

(2) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a warden or other authorized official of a correctional institution, and:

(a) The defendant believes that the force used is necessary for the purpose of enforcing the lawful rules of the institution;

(b) The degree of force used is not forbidden by any statute governing the administration of the institution; and

(c) If deadly force is used, its use is otherwise justifiable under this code.

(3) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a person responsible for the operation of or the maintenance of order in a vehicle or other carrier of passengers and the defendant believes that such force is necessary to prevent interference with its operation or to maintain order in the vehicle or other carrier, except that deadly physical force may be used only when the defendant believes it necessary to prevent death or serious physical injury.

(4) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a doctor or other therapist or a person assisting him at his direction, and:

(a) The force is used for the purpose of administering a recognized form of treatment which the defendant believes to be adapted to promoting the physical or mental health of the patient; and

(b) The treatment is administered with the consent of the patient or, if the patient is a minor or a mentally disabled person, with the consent of the parent, guardian, or other person legally competent to consent in his behalf, or the treatment is administered in an emergency when the defendant believes that no one competent to consent can be consulted and that a reasonable person, wishing to safeguard the welfare of the patient, would consent.

History.

Enact. Acts 1974, ch. 406, § 36, effective January 1, 1975; 1982, ch. 141, § 135, effective July 1, 1982.

Compiler's Notes.

This section was amended by § 147 of Acts 1980, ch. 396, which would have taken effect July 1, 1982; however, Acts 1982, ch. 141, § 146, effective July 1, 1982, repealed Acts 1980, ch. 396.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Parental Discipline.
2. Teacher Discipline.
4. Jury Instructions.

1. Parental Discipline.

It may well be there are situations where using a wire coat hanger to correct a child's behavior, if not appropriate, is at least within the legal limits of parental discretion in raising their children; nevertheless, beatings administered by defendant were sufficient to sustain the charges of torture or cruel punishment to a person under 12 years of age because the children testified to circumstances proving the nature of the beatings to have been cruel and indiscriminate, and far different in character from normal parental discipline. Stoker v. Commonwealth, 828 S.W.2d 619, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 45 (Ky. 1992).

2. Teacher Discipline.

A teacher is justified in the use of physical force within certain bounds. The privilege to use force is unavailable as a defense if the teacher is wanton or reckless in believing the use of any force, or the degree of force used, to be necessary. Holbrook v. Commonwealth, 925 S.W.2d 191, 1995 Ky. App. LEXIS 227 (Ky. Ct. App. 1995).

4. Jury Instructions.

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by failing to instruct the jury on justifiable force because consideration of the facts simply did not allow a reasonable inference that the force used by defendant on the victim was not designed to cause or known to create a substantial risk of causing death, serious physical injury, disfigurement, extreme pain, or extreme mental distress. Breazeale v. Commonwealth, 600 S.W.3d 682, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 125 (Ky. 2020).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Parental Discipline.

Unpublished decision: In a 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 case in which a plaintiff appealed district court's grant of summary judgment in favor of a police officer based on qualified immunity, the record presented no material dispute of fact whether the officer knew conclusively that the parental-discipline statute protected plaintiff's use of force; the undisputed facts tracked the elements of fourth-degree assault, and nothing required the officer to inquire further to discover plaintiff's affirmative defense. Harvey v. Carr, 616 Fed. Appx. 826, 2015 FED App. 0472N, 2015 U.S. App. LEXIS 11019 (6th Cir. Ky. 2015).

(2) The proceeding described in subsection (1) of this section shall be conducted before the court sitting with the jury that found the defendant guilty of the offense unless the court for good cause discharges that jury and impanels a new jury for that purpose. If the jury determines beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is or was a member of a criminal gang, acting for the purpose of benefitting, promoting, or furthering the interest of a criminal gang at the time he or she committed the offense, he or she shall not be released for a minimum of seventy-six (76) to ninety (90) days of the sentence imposed if the offense he or she is convicted of is classified as a Class B misdemeanor, or for a minimum of three hundred eleven (311) to three hundred sixty-five (365) days if the offense he or she is convicted of is classified as a Class A misdemeanor.

(3) This section shall not apply to a juvenile unless he or she has been transferred to Circuit Court as a youthful offender pursuant to KRS 640.010 and has on at least one (1) prior separate occasion been adjudicated a public offender for a felony offense.

(1) Other provisions of law notwithstanding, a person shall be penalized one (1) class more severely than provided in the penalty provision pertaining to that felony offense, unless the reclassification would move the offense to a capital offense, and shall not be released on parole until he or she has served at least eighty-five percent (85%) of the sentence imposed, if that person:

- (a) Is convicted of an offense classified as a felony under any provision of the Kentucky Revised Statutes and for which the commission of the felony or felonies could or did place a member of the public at risk of physical injury, serious physical injury, or death; and
- (b) At the time of the commission of the offense or offenses was a member of a criminal gang as defined in KRS 506.135 and acting for the purpose of benefitting, promoting, or furthering the interests of a

- (b) He or she is a violent offender, as defined in KRS 439.3401.

(3) This section shall not apply in cases where the defendant is found to be a persistent felony offender under KRS 532.080.

(b) A person, who at time the incident or incidents were alleged to take place was a member of a criminal gang as defined in KRS 506.135; that person may bring a cause of action against the defendant or defendants for damages.

(2) In an action brought under this section:

(a) If the plaintiff prevails, he or she shall be entitled to reasonable costs and attorney's fees;

(b) Any award of nominal damages to the plaintiff shall support an award of attorney's fees and costs; and

(c) Punitive damages as well as compensatory damages shall be awardable.

(3) This section shall not be construed as repealing any provision of KRS 431.080 or any other applicable statute or any statutory or common law right of action, but shall be construed as ancillary and supplemental thereto.

1. Construction.

This chapter was intended to include vehicular accidents within the meaning of “assaults.” Martin v. Commonwealth, 873 S.W.2d 832, 1993 Ky. App. LEXIS 181 (Ky. Ct. App. 1993).

Inmate’s guilty plea to charges of first-degree assault, KRS 508.010, necessarily meant that his victims suffered serious physical injury, and thus the inmate was properly considered a violent offender for sentencing purposes pursuant to KRS 439.3401(1); even though the inmate’s final judgment did not expressly state that he had been convicted of a class B felony involving the death or serious injury of the victim, the inmate was still properly considered a “violent offender,” and the inmate’s mandamus petition was properly dismissed. Jackson v. Taylor, 153 S.W.3d 842, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 36 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004).

2. Double Jeopardy.

The evidence of shooting an officer in a patrol wagon at another location would not support a conviction under this section for maliciously shooting an officer at another place, hence, a conviction for shooting the officer in the patrol wagon was not a bar to the prosecution under this section for shooting the other officer. (Decided under prior law) Wallace v. Commonwealth, 207 Ky. 122, 268 S.W. 809, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 30 (Ky. 1925).

Prior conviction for stabbing victim is no defense to prosecution for malicious shooting at a later time than stabbing. The length of time intervening between two offenses is wholly immaterial. (Decided under prior law) Dilley v. Commonwealth, 243 Ky. 464, 48 S.W.2d 1070, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 110 (Ky. 1932).

A prosecution for malicious assault was barred as double jeopardy by a prior acquittal of unlawfully and maliciously assaulting another with intent to rob where the shooting relied on in each indictment was the same act. (Decided under prior law) Rogers v. Commonwealth, 257 Ky. 495, 78 S.W.2d 340, 1935 Ky. LEXIS 43 (Ky. 1935).

Where under three indictments and separate trials defendant was convicted of maliciously striking and wounding another with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, and in the last of the cases for which he was tried, he entered a plea of former jeopardy on the ground he had been convicted of conspiracy in the previous trials and the crime proven was that of maliciously striking and wounding another by his own hand or by acting in concert with others who committed the specific act, each assault constituted a separate crime and plea of former jeopardy was unfounded. (Decided under prior law) Helton v. Commonwealth, 244 S.W.2d 762, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1248 (Ky. 1951).

In a prosecution for maliciously cutting and wounding a police officer, where record did not show defendant requested an instruction or an admonition on prior convictions admitted by defendant in court, it was not prejudicial error for the court to fail to admonish the jury that testimony concerning prior convictions, admitted by defendant in open court, could only be considered for purpose of affecting his credibility as a witness. (Decided under prior law) Patton v. Commonwealth, 273 S.W.2d 841, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1216 (Ky. 1954).

Where defendant was prosecuted for malicious shooting under an original indictment in Circuit Court and two years after conviction applied for a writ of habeas corpus, his retrial under the same indictment did not constitute double jeopardy, since upon grant of habeas corpus defendant was in same position as if there had been no trial at all. (Decided under prior law) Rice v. Commonwealth, 387 S.W.2d 4, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 452 (Ky. 1965).

In a prosecution for both first-degree assault under this section and first-degree escape under KRS 520.020 there was no violation of the defendants' protection against double jeopardy, despite the showing of the common element of the use of force, since first-degree assault does not require proof of escape from custody and first-degree escape does not require proof of physical injury. McClain v. Commonwealth, 607 S.W.2d 421, 1980 Ky. LEXIS 261 (Ky. 1980).

It was not improper for state to prosecute defendant on both charge of possession of a handgun by a convicted felon under KRS 527.040 and on first-degree assault charge under this section even though a single course of conduct establishes the commission of both offenses because of KRS 505.020; and conviction for both crimes is not double jeopardy under Ky. Const., § 13 because neither offense is necessarily included within the other and each requires proof of an element not required by the other. Boulder v. Commonwealth, 610 S.W.2d 615, 1980 Ky. LEXIS 288 (Ky. 1980), overruled, Dale v. Commonwealth, 715 S.W.2d 227, 1986 Ky. LEXIS 284 (Ky. 1986).

Escape from a detention facility or custody is not an element of this section which defines assault in the first degree; thus, double jeopardy did not prohibit punishing the defendant for escape from a detention facility as well as for an assault he committed during the escape. Cope v. Commonwealth, 645 S.W.2d 703, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 215 (Ky. 1983).

Where defendant was first tried on a charge of first degree robbery, that trial ending in a mistrial because the jury could not agree on a verdict, no aspect of the double jeopardy doctrine precluded his retrial on the lesser included offenses of assault in the first and second degree, since he could have been retried on the greater crime of robbery in the first degree. Commonwealth v. Varney, 690 S.W.2d 758, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1985), overruled, Goodman v. Commonwealth, 2015 Ky. Unpub. LEXIS 19 (Ky. Feb. 19, 2015).

Criminal contempt conviction for violating domestic violent order prohibiting defendant from committing further acts of violence upon his wife did not bar action against him for first degree assault; double jeopardy did not attach because the contempt conviction required proof of an element unnecessary to convict him of burglary. Commonwealth v. Burge, 1996 Ky. LEXIS 82 (Ky. Aug. 29, 1996), modified, sub. op., 1997 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. June 19, 1997).

In a prosecution for assault under KRS 508.010, the trial court did not violate the double jeopardy ban or KRS 505.020 by submitting the case to the jury with instructions for three (3) counts of first-degree assault as defendant shot an officer three (3) separate times and inflicted three (3) separate wounds. Welborn v. Commonwealth, 157 S.W.3d 608, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 2005).

Applying the Blockburger test, codified at KRS 505.020, first-degree rape under KRS 510.040, premised on serious physical injury, and first-degree assault under KRS 508.010 were separate offenses, as each contained an element that the other did not. First-degree rape requires sexual intercourse and assault does not; first-degree assault requires that the serious physical injury was obtained by use of a deadly weapon or dangerous instrument, but first-degree rape involving serious physical injury to the victim contains no such deadly weapon or dangerous instrument requirement. Dixon v. Commonwealth, 263 S.W.3d 583, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 138 (Ky. 2008).

Defendant's convictions for both attempted murder and first-degree assault, in violation of KRS 508.010(1), from the shooting of one victim resulted in a double jeopardy violation under KRS 505.020(1)(b); to convict defendant of both attempted murder and assault, the jury had to conclude that defendant intended to kill the victim and, at the same instant, intended not to kill the victim but only to injure the victim. Kiper v. Commonwealth, 399 S.W.3d 736, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 190 (Ky. 2012), reprinted, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 409 (Ky. Nov. 21, 2012), modified, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 145 (Ky. Apr. 25, 2013).

Defendant's convictions for both attempted murder and first-degree assault for shooting the same alleged victim did not violate the protections against double jeopardy under U.S. Const. amend. V and Ky. Const. § 13 because each crime contained an element that the other did not; the convictions did result in a double jeopardy violation of KRS 505.020(1)(b) because there were inconsistent and mutually exclusive findings of fact regarding defendant's mens rea at the moment he fired the shots when the jury had to conclude that defendant intended to kill the alleged victim and, at the same instant, intended not to kill him but only to injure him. Kiper v. Commonwealth, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 409 (Ky. Nov. 21, 2012).

3. Due Process.

In prosecution for malicious shooting denial of continuance, under the circumstances, was denial of defendant's constitutional right to counsel. (Decided under prior law) Perkins v. Commonwealth, 305 S.W.2d 937, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 356 (Ky. 1957).

In prosecution for malicious striking and wounding, refusal of trial court to permit defendant to change his plea of guilty to not guilty before the judgment had been finally pronounced was within the discretion of the trial court and was not a matter of right. (Decided under prior law) Hurt v. Commonwealth, 333 S.W.2d 951, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 217 (Ky. 1960).

Defendant, who was not afforded effective assistance of counsel at his trial for malicious shooting at which no transcript of evidence was made, was entitled to full and complete hearing on writ of habeas corpus. (Decided under prior law) Rice v. Davis, 366 S.W.2d 153, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 4 (Ky. 1963).

Where on cross-examination the defendant's wife was asked to strike the barrel of the shotgun against the car door in a manner simulating the way the gun was struck by the door at the scene of the incident, the reenactment was proper and was not error. (Decided under prior law) Stevens v. Commonwealth, 462 S.W.2d 182, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 649 (Ky. 1970).

Since the arraignment it had been patent to the defendant and his counsel that the first charge, first-degree assault, would require proof of the element of intent therefore, the Commonwealth's failure to file a bill of particulars was not proper justification in support of a motion for continuance and there was no error in denying it. Abbott v. Commonwealth, 822 S.W.2d 417, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 1 (Ky. 1992).

There was no error in a trial court's refusal to exclude a potential juror for cause. While the juror indicated that he might have had trouble acquitting defendant, if the jury found that he had committed the assault and unlawful imprisonment crimes with which he was charged but was so voluntarily intoxicated that he did not know what he was doing, the decision to exclude a juror was within the court's sound discretion, the court was eventually satisfied that the juror had adequately indicated his ability to follow the jury instructions, and if there was any error, it did not rise to the level of an abuse of discretion. Arnold v. Commonwealth, 192 S.W.3d 420, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 141 (Ky. 2006).

4. —Change of Venue.

On second trial for malicious shooting and wounding there was no abuse of discretion in overruling motion for change of venue where publicity given the case was of facts and circumstances which are ordinarily reported by the press and radio in cases of that character. (Decided under prior law) Claypoole v. Commonwealth, 355 S.W.2d 652, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 71 (Ky. 1962).

5. —Prosecutor Comments.

In prosecution for maliciously shooting and wounding companion of defendant's wife, there was no evidence to indicate that there was any contract or writing of any sort between defendant and his wife and there was no basis in the record for statement of Commonwealth's attorney regarding such contract but although such statement was irrelevant it was not prejudicial to the rights of defendant since there was strong evidence against him. (Decided under prior law) Harris v. Commonwealth, 303 Ky. 769, 199 S.W.2d 445, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 554 (Ky. 1947).

In prosecution for malicious cutting and wounding prosecuting witness with intent to kill, statement of prosecuting attorney in closing argument to jury that he was familiar with records of defendant and his wife was not prejudicial to defendant where on cross-examination defendant admitted he had been convicted of a felony and his wife also testified that she had been convicted of a felony. (Decided under prior law) Carnes v. Commonwealth, 306 Ky. 55, 206 S.W.2d 44, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 941 (Ky. 1947).

Where the special counsel who conducted the prosecution, during argument, made a number of highly improper statements, all drawn from outside the record, and the court overruled the objection of the defendant to each statement, the effect was to produce a prejudicial result at the hands of the jury, and judgment of conviction was reversible because of misconduct of counsel for Commonwealth in his argument before the jury. (Decided under prior law) Adams v. Commonwealth, 263 S.W.2d 103, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1232 (Ky. Ct. App. 1953).

In prosecution for shooting and wounding with pistol, there was no prejudice resulting from prosecutor's remarks relating to alleged unsavory reputation of defendant's restaurant, allegedly made without specific proof. (Decided under prior law) Mills v. Commonwealth, 300 S.W.2d 787, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 471 (Ky. 1957).

In prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill, argument of prosecuting attorney during his summation to jury that defendant had left tavern with intention in his mind of hunting down victim and shooting him like you would a dog, and that as victim lay in dirt with blood flowing out of him he looked up to defendant and asked him not to shoot again, was not inflammatory or prejudicial under the circumstances. (Decided under prior law) Claypoole v.

Commonwealth, 355 S.W.2d 652, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 71 (Ky. 1962).

In prosecution for shooting and wounding with intent to kill and with being an habitual criminal where, in his closing argument, the Commonwealth's attorney referred to a penitentiary sentence of 21 years which was the punishment the Commonwealth sought on the principal charge, no prejudicial error was committed in overruling the defendant's objection to such statement. (Decided under prior law) Taylor v. Commonwealth, 449 S.W.2d 208, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 28 (Ky. 1969).

Where the verdict was fully justified under the evidence and the punishment that the jury imposed showed that it was not arrived at as a result of passion or prejudice since the proof established all elements of the crime, remarks concerning the "draft" or "Vietnam" in the prosecution's closing argument did not constitute prejudicial error. (Decided under prior law) Webb v. Commonwealth, 451 S.W.2d 397, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 385 (Ky. 1970).

Where in his closing argument the Commonwealth attorney charged that if the police were removed in two weeks people wouldn't be able to go to church, such argument was not prejudicially improper. (Decided under prior law) Clemons v. Commonwealth, 462 S.W.2d 919, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 562 (Ky. 1971).

A prosecutor calling the defendant's conduct "bizarre" during argument was not cause for a mistrial in defendant's trial for first degree assault under KRS 508.010 and first degree unlawful imprisonment under KRS 509.020. The prosecutor's comments did not imply that defendant should have been convicted because he was abnormal. Arnold v. Commonwealth, 192 S.W.3d 420, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 141 (Ky. 2006).

4. Complicity.

Evidence that defendant assisted codefendants in restraining the victim, throwing her against a kitchen counter twice and possibly kicking her in the head, and stowing her in a bathroom supported defendant's conviction for complicity to first degree assault. McCoy v. Commonwealth, 553 S.W.3d 816, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 281 (Ky. 2018).

6. Elements.

This section brings together two distinct culpable mental states (intent and wantonness manifesting extreme indifference to the value of human life) and punishes them equally under specified circumstances; either mental state will support a conviction of assault in the first degree and punishment for such crime. Wells v. Commonwealth, 561 S.W.2d 85, 1978 Ky. LEXIS 314 (Ky. 1978).

There are three elements which comprise the crimes of assault: the assailant's mental state, the means of attack, and the resultant injury. Commonwealth v. Hammond, 633 S.W.2d 73, 1982 Ky. App. LEXIS 214 (Ky. Ct. App. 1982).

Defendant's conviction for assault in the first degree was affirmed because the evidence was sufficient to convict defendant for the assault under either a theory that defendant intended to cause injury to the victim or that defendant acted wantonly by manifesting an extreme indifference for human life. The evidence established that defendant hit the victim over the head with a glass beer mug, causing defendant to be hospitalized and to receive over 400 stitches. Johnson v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 295 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 29, 2006).

Defendant who caused an auto accident that killed three people and injured a third, and who tested positive for prescription drugs and marijuana in his urine, was improperly convicted of first-degree assault under KRS 508.010. As he did not drive erratically and there was no evidence he was under the influence of drugs, he lacked the necessary mental state; his actions did not occur under circumstances manifesting extreme indifference to human life. Ison v. Commonwealth, 271 S.W.3d 533, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 301 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

7. —Dangerous Instrument.

An assault with one's fists could not be considered an assault with a dangerous instrument so as to constitute assault in the first degree, where it was not clear whether the General Assembly intended that fists be considered to be a dangerous instrument as that term is used in this section. Roney v. Commonwealth, 695 S.W.2d 863, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 267 (Ky. 1985).

8. —Deadly Weapon.

The physical strength of the person using the instrument or weapon, such as rock or club, is also to be considered by the jury in determining whether it is a deadly weapon and instruction embodying these essential elements should be given. (Decided under prior law) Cosby v. Commonwealth, 115 Ky. 221, 72 S.W. 1089, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 2050, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 89 (Ky. 1903).

A weapon is per se deadly when it is made and designated for offensive or defensive purposes only. (Decided under prior law) Perry v. Commonwealth, 286 Ky. 587, 151 S.W.2d 377, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 299 (Ky. 1941).

What constitutes dangerous or deadly missile must often depend on type of missile and manner in which it is used. (Decided under prior law) Harrison v. Commonwealth, 373 S.W.2d 156, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 1963).

9. —Ax Handle.

An ax handle is a deadly weapon. (Decided under prior law) Moore v. Commonwealth, 35 S.W. 283, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 129 (1896).

10. —Bottle.

If it should turn out that the bottle used was not a deadly weapon, defendant might still be found guilty of assault and battery. (Decided under prior law) Commonwealth v. Yarnell, 68 S.W. 136, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 144, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 256 (Ky. Ct. App. 1902).

A bottle may be a deadly weapon, for not only the character of the weapon used, but the manner of its use, is to be considered, and the question of whether it be a deadly weapon left with the jury, unless its deadly character be beyond question. (Decided under prior law) Commonwealth v. Yarnell, 68 S.W. 136, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 144, 1902 Ky. LEXIS 256 (Ky. Ct. App. 1902).

11. —Cane.

(Decided under prior law) Meekey v. Commonwealth, 467 S.W.2d 360, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 374 (Ky. 1971).

24. —Deadly Weapon.

When the weapon was of such a character as to admit of but one conclusion in that respect, the question whether or not it was deadly, within the meaning of the law that provided a penalty for malicious and willful shooting, was one of law, but where the weapon employed was such that its deadly character depended upon the manner and circumstances of its use, the question was one of fact for the jury. (Decided under prior law) Owens v. Commonwealth, 187 Ky. 207, 218 S.W. 719, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 103 (Ky. 1920).

(Decided under prior law) Philpot v. Commonwealth, 247 S.W.2d 499, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 704 (Ky. 1952); Hall v. Commonwealth, 276 S.W.2d 441, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 418 (Ky. 1955).

In a prosecution for malicious cutting and wounding, where Commonwealth, over objection of defendant, introduced and exhibited a knife to the jury, but evidence failed to show how the Commonwealth acquired possession of the knife, or who had possession of it from the date of the fight to the date of the trial, or actually whose knife it was, or that it was the knife used by defendant, the knife was introduced in evidence without proper identification and its introduction was erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Hall v. Commonwealth, 276 S.W.2d 441, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 418 (Ky. 1955).

25. —Force and Physical Injury.

A charge of malicious shooting without wounding is supported by proof of a shooting with wounding, and neither the fact that an unnecessary element was proved, nor an instruction authorizing a conviction, whether the person shot at was wounded or not, can be regarded as prejudicial. (Decided under prior law) Martin v. Commonwealth, 207 Ky. 519, 269 S.W. 556, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 126 (Ky. 1925).

In prosecution under law that provided a penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or stabbing, the use of a deadly weapon, not in self-defense, was evidence of malice. (Decided under prior law) Crawford v. Commonwealth, 279 Ky. 224, 130 S.W.2d 17, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 244 (Ky. 1939).

In a prosecution for first degree assault, evidence of the victim's medical bills was relevant since such evidence tended to make the fact that he suffered serious physical injuries more probable. Justice v. Commonwealth, 987 S.W.2d 306, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 164 (Ky. 1998).

Where the Commonwealth proved multiple acts of assault and multiple injures, some occurring in different time frames, the evidence was sufficient to prove that defendant's conduct caused the victim's injuries. Schrimsher v. Commonwealth, 190 S.W.3d 318, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 104 (Ky. 2006).

One of the elements necessary to prove an assault in the first degree is that the behavior caused serious physical injury, and the indictment in this case for this offense erroneously cited a broken leg for this element, but it was changed to soft tissue damage, and the court was not persuaded that there had been harmful error as a result of the amendment, as the leg was only mentioned in the indictment form and was a clerical error, and there was enough evidence for the jury to have found that the victim suffered a serious physical injury, but the jury found that an assault in the fourth degree had occurred; an element of assault in the fourth degree is that physical injury occurred, not the serious physical injury required for a conviction of assault in the first degree, for purposes of KRS 508.030, and the jury was not presented with evidence about a broken leg, such that the court could not find appellant suffered any prejudice from the indictment. Moran v. Commonwealth, 399 S.W.3d 35, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 71 (Ky. Ct. App. 2013).

26. —Insanity.

In a trial for murder and assault in which the defendant claimed insanity, the rule that only past felony convictions that relate to the issue of credibility, i.e., past felony convictions involving dishonesty are admissible for the purposes of impeachment, was not applicable to an expert witness (a physician) for the reason that the conviction in no way related to his expertise as a physician. Burgess v. Commonwealth, 564 S.W.2d 532, 1978 Ky. LEXIS 377 (Ky. 1978).

27. —Intoxication.

In a prosecution for first degree assault arising from a motor vehicle accident, evidence of the defendant's intoxication was relevant to prove the wantonness of his conduct at the time of the accident. Johnson v. Commonwealth, 36 S.W.3d 763, 2001 Ky. App. LEXIS 9 (Ky. Ct. App. 2001).

Where a trial court failed to instruct the jury on voluntary intoxication, such was found to be harmless error pursuant to RCr 9.24 with respect to defendant's conviction for wanton murder, in violation of KRS 507.020, as the intoxication would not have negated the mens rea of "wantonness" pursuant to KRS 501.020(3); however, the failure to give the instruction caused reversible error for defendant's conviction of assault under extreme emotional disturbance in violation of KRS 508.010, as the intoxication would have negated the necessary element of specific intent. Nichols v. Commonwealth, 142 S.W.3d 683, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 148 (Ky. 2004).

No abuse of discretion occurred when a trial court permitted the Commonwealth to introduce the testimony of its own expert witness to rebut defendant's defense of mental illness or defect, which was based on his claim that he was in an alcoholic blackout when he allegedly assaulted a woman with a hammer in a parking lot and tried to drag her away from her car. RCr 7.24(3)(B)(ii) allowed a rebuttal of the evidence that defendant had introduced, which could have reduced his criminal culpability, so that the expert's testimony was not outside the scope of rebuttal testimony allowed. Arnold v. Commonwealth, 192 S.W.3d 420, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 141 (Ky. 2006).

Because voluntary intoxication was a mental condition within the confines of Ky. R. Crim. P. 7.24(3)(B)(ii), as it bore on the issue of his guilt or punishment, the Commonwealth of Kentucky had a right to introduce the testimony of its own expert witness to rebut defendant's defense of mental illness or defect, which was based on his claim that he was in an alcoholic blackout when he allegedly assaulted a woman with a hammer in a parking lot and tried to drag her away from her car. Once defendant introduced evidence as to his defense, which could have reduced his criminal culpability, the Commonwealth had a right and a duty to rebut that defense, which rebuttal necessarily included obtaining its own expert to

28. —Photographs.

In prosecution for maliciously shooting and wounding with intent to kill, it was proper for witness to point out on photograph taken of premises a window from which he looked, and locations of participants in shooting when he saw them. (Decided under prior law) Nolan v. Commonwealth, 311 Ky. 852, 226 S.W.2d 27, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 566 (Ky. 1950).

In prosecution for maliciously shooting and wounding with intent to kill, photographs of the premises taken immediately after shooting were relevant and were not inadmissible on the grounds that they did not show the entire premises or particular place where participants said they were when incident began. (Decided under prior law) Nolan v. Commonwealth, 311 Ky. 852, 226 S.W.2d 27, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 566 (Ky. 1950).

Photographs showing persons posing in what they claim were the precise positions of the parties or of an automobile or other moving objects at time of occurrence upon which the action was based are not admissible because they are self-serving and are hearsay on part of photographer. (Decided under prior law) Nolan v. Commonwealth, 311 Ky. 852, 226 S.W.2d 27, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 566 (Ky. 1950).

Where a defendant was charged with assault by recklessly driving an automobile onto the median of a four-lane road, striking his victim and dragging him for several hundred feet, photographs of the car and of the clothing of the victim, though gruesome, were competent evidence to depict the scene of the crime and show how the victim sustained his injuries. Moore v. Commonwealth, 556 S.W.2d 161, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 809 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

29. —Prior Assaults.

Evidence of prior assaults by the defendant against his children was incompetent in a prosecution charging the defendant with murdering his wife and assaulting her companion. Raeber v. Commonwealth, 558 S.W.2d 609, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 541 (Ky. 1977).

In a trial for defendant's assault on his wife, there was no error in admitting evidence of prior bad acts against the victim to show the absence of accident, given that the victim was minimizing the significance of the violence. However, it was error to admit evidence of prior bad acts against defendant's former wife that occurred 12 years prior to the charged violent acts. Driver v. Commonwealth, 361 S.W.3d 877, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 22 (Ky. 2012).

30. —Prior Convictions.

Where the trial court did not admonish the jury that evidence of a former conviction should not be considered by them unless they first found the defendant guilty of the principal offense of which he was charged, but the defendant did not request such an admonition, no error was committed that was preserved for review. (Decided under prior law) Taylor v. Commonwealth, 449 S.W.2d 208, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 28 (Ky. 1969).

Evidence in the penalty phase of defendant's trial that defendant's prior convictions were for gun-related crimes complied with KRS 532.055(2)(a)1-2; defendant's history of gun-related convictions was relevant to the appropriate punishment for a gun-related assault. Warfield v. Commonwealth, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 330 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 12, 2004, sub. op., 2004 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 931 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 12, 2004), review denied, ordered not published, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 217 (Ky. Aug. 17, 2005).

31. —Self-defense.

Where defendant contended that he shot victim because victim had previously threatened to kill him and was advancing upon him in a hostile manner with something shiny in his hand which he "guessed" to be a knife, defendant was entitled to introduce testimony of witness that she found a knife near the place of the shooting the next morning, with the result that the refusal to admit such testimony was prejudicial error, although the evidence in the record did not justify introducing the knife found by the witness as an exhibit. (Decided under prior law) Claypoole v. Commonwealth, 355 S.W.2d 652, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 71 (Ky. 1962).

32. —Serious Physical Injury.

In prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill, testimony of physician that injury could have caused death, and testimony of victim that he was hospitalized for 48 ½ days was competent as tending to show seriousness of injury. (Decided under prior law) Claypoole v. Commonwealth, 355 S.W.2d 652, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 71 (Ky. 1962).

Police officer who was shot in the chest did not suffer injury so serious as to support conviction of first-degree assault. Luttrell v. Commonwealth, 554 S.W.2d 75, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 482 (Ky. 1977).

Although assault in the first degree is also a class B felony and requires proof of "serious physical injury," it is not a violation of equal protection rights to convict on the class B felony of robbery on a showing of physical injury alone as opposed to serious physical injury; assault in the first degree only requires injury to the victim, robbery in the first degree requires both a theft and a physical injury, with the injury being an aggravating factor. Hubbard v. Commonwealth, 932 S.W.2d 381, 1996 Ky. App. LEXIS 90 (Ky. Ct. App. 1996).

Defendant's motion for a directed verdict on a charge of first degree assault under KRS 508.010 was properly denied because the evidence was sufficient to induce a reasonable juror to believe beyond a reasonable doubt that the victim had suffered "serious physical injury," as that term was defined in KRS 500.080(15). Defendant, in assaulting a woman in a parking lot and struck her on the head with a hammer, and the woman suffered a concussion and a loss of blood, she needed five staples to close her wound she continued to suffer vertigo and dizziness, and she had a permanent dent in her head where her hair did not grow properly. Arnold v. Commonwealth, 192 S.W.3d 420, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 141 (Ky. 2006).

Injury suffered by the victim after being shot did not amount to a "serious physical injury," as the only proof was the victim's testimony that it took "a couple of months" to get her hand back to full strength using a therapy ball, but she did not describe her exercises with any particularity or mention seeking a physical therapist. McDaniel v. Commonwealth, 415 S.W.3d 643, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 645 (Ky. 2013).

Defendant's conviction for first-degree assault was reversed as the prosecution did not prove the serious physical injury prong of the assault charge because the Commonwealth only presented evidence through the victim's testimony that he had been shot, that he had headaches off and on, and that he had a small scar; although the Commonwealth presented evidence that the victim might suffer from twitchy and watery eyes from time to time, no evidence was presented establishing the frequency of the alleged eye twitch or watering, the amount of water that ran from his eye, or how he was affected by the eye twitching and watering; and there was no evidence presented connecting the headaches, eye watering, and eye twitching to the gunshot. Forte v. Commonwealth, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 182 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 4, 2016).

33. —Sufficient.

Even though a number of witnesses corroborated the defendant's story that the victim fired the first shot there were others who stated that the defendant fired first and, therefore, there was sufficient evidence to sustain a conviction. (Decided under prior law) Childers v. Commonwealth, 279 Ky. 737, 132 S.W.2d 81, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 353 (Ky. 1939).

Evidence, although conflicting, was sufficient to sustain conviction where it showed, that although victim was aggressor in earlier difficulty, accused left scene, obtained gun, hid behind rock, and, as victim who was also carrying a gun, approached on road leading to his home, accused stepped from behind rock and shot him. (Decided under prior law) Combs v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 546, 145 S.W.2d 36, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 510 (Ky. 1940).

Conspiracy between two persons accused of malicious wounding was shown by evidence that one of them remained with other during flight from law and that he stated he had been in shooting match with officers and, after arrest, showed officers where part of officer's car, which had been removed therefrom, was thrown. (Decided under prior law) Hurst v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 599, 145 S.W.2d 520, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 543 (Ky. 1940).

Conviction of maliciously shooting and wounding victim was sustained by evidence for Commonwealth showing that both prior to and at time of shooting accused was not provoked by indignities which victim allegedly offered to accused's wife, credibility of witnesses giving conflicting evidence being solely for jury. (Decided under prior law) Higgins v. Commonwealth, 287 Ky. 767, 155 S.W.2d 209, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 637 (Ky. 1941), overruled, Woodard v. Commonwealth, 147 S.W.3d 63, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 244 (Ky. 2004).

Evidence of prosecuting witness and his wife that defendant, after altercation with prosecuting witness, came out of his house with a gun and sat on railroad tracks across from prosecuting witness's house for 20 or 30 minutes, and then shot into latter's house, was sufficient to take to jury question of defendant's guilt of willfully and maliciously shooting into a dwelling house, defendant's claim being only that gun accidentally discharged when he was holding it across his lap. (Decided under prior law) Grigsby v. Commonwealth, 299 Ky. 32, 184 S.W.2d 77, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 991 (Ky. 1944).

In prosecution for maliciously shooting and wounding companion of defendant's wife, questions asked defendant concerning fact that he had been placed under a peace bond by his wife were competent to prove motive, common scheme, or intent, and in view of the minimum sentence given defendant, such evidence would not have been prejudicial had it been incompetent. (Decided under prior law) Harris v. Commonwealth, 303 Ky. 769, 199 S.W.2d 445, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 554 (Ky. 1947).

Evidence that defendant began affray and that final melee, wherein plaintiff was stabbed in a dozen places about the chest and back, was a mutual combat, was sufficient to sustain conviction. (Decided under prior law) Williams v. Commonwealth, 304 Ky. 359, 200 S.W.2d 926, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 653 (Ky. 1947).

Testimony by the victims, which was corroborated by other witnesses, that the defendants had assaulted the victims without provocation was sufficient to sustain a conviction. (Decided under prior law) Maloney v. Commonwealth, 305 Ky. 549, 204 S.W.2d 939, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 855 (Ky. 1947).

Testimony by the victim which was corroborated by other witness that the defendant had hit and kicked him during a jail escape was sufficient to sustain a conviction. (Decided under prior law) Vogg v. Commonwealth, 308 Ky. 212, 214 S.W.2d 86, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 895 (Ky. 1948).

Where four police officers testified that they went to the defendant's residence to investigate reported shooting and that they found the defendant on the landing and that the defendant fired repeatedly at them, this was sufficient evidence to sustain a conviction. (Decided under prior law) Helton v. Commonwealth, 312 Ky. 268, 226 S.W.2d 939, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1260 (Ky. 1949).

The evidence was insufficient to take the case to the jury where testimony indicated that the prosecuting witness and the defendant became engaged in a hand scuffle during which the defendant's brother struck the prosecuting witness several times with a gun and there was no indication that the defendant had ever asked his brother for such assistance.

(Decided under prior law) Smiddy v. Commonwealth, 240 S.W.2d 565, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 974 (Ky. 1951).

Testimony by the victim that either the defendant or his brother struck him with a chair was sufficient to take the case to the jury. (Decided under prior law) Lee v. Commonwealth, 244 S.W.2d 163, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1205 (Ky. 1951).

In prosecution of police officer for maliciously striking and wounding with intent to kill in arresting prosecuting witness for public drunkenness there was sufficient evidence to support conviction for common-law offense of assault and battery. (Decided under prior law) Palmer v. Commonwealth, 252 S.W.2d 677, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 1013 (Ky. 1952).

There was ample evidence to take case to jury and support conviction for maliciously striking and wounding a victim with intent to kill. (Decided under prior law) Parsley v. Commonwealth, 273 S.W.2d 372, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1165 (Ky. 1954).

The testimony of the prosecuting witness, although confused, indefinite and uncertain on various points, was sufficient to sustain a conviction. (Decided under prior law) Shepherd v. Commonwealth, 277 S.W.2d 42, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 461 (Ky. 1955).

In prosecution for assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, wherein son of complaining witness was permitted, in rebuttal, to testify that he had cut defendant with a knife taken from him shortly after difficulty between complaining witness and defendant, testimony sought to be introduced by defendant in surrebuttal to show that he had his knife at hospital and that it had no blood stains on it was properly refused since it related to a later occurrence and shed no light on the first trouble. (Decided under prior law) Charles v. Commonwealth, 321 S.W.2d 253, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1959).

Although victim, who was cut in back by defendant while holding defendant in bear hug to prevent defendant from participating in fight, could not say who had dangerously cut victim in stomach immediately after he released defendant, evidence sustained conviction of defendant for malicious cutting and wounding of victim. (Decided under prior law) Wright v. Commonwealth, 335 S.W.2d 930, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 302 (Ky. 1960).

That defendant and victim had quarreled violently shortly before defendant fired two shots at him, one of which caused serious wound, was sufficient evidence from which jury could infer that shooting was done maliciously and with intent to kill. (Decided under prior law) Claypoole v. Commonwealth, 355 S.W.2d 652, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 71 (Ky. 1962).

All the evidence warranted the jury in finding defendant guilty of the felony of maliciously shooting and wounding with intent to kill, rather than the misdemeanor of shooting in sudden heat and passion. (Decided under prior law) Combs v. Commonwealth, 356 S.W.2d 761, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 101 (Ky. 1962).

Testimony of the prosecuting witness that the defendant fired a shotgun blast that hit her house after he had threatened to kill the witness and had broken a window with the barrel of the gun was sufficient to sustain a conviction. (Decided under prior law) Lewis v. Commonwealth, 357 S.W.2d 31, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 106 (Ky. 1962).

In prosecution for malicious cutting and wounding with intent to kill, evidence sustained conviction for lesser degree of offense of cutting in a sudden affray or in sudden heat and passion. (Decided under prior law) Watkins v. Commonwealth, 378 S.W.2d 614, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 190 (Ky. 1964).

Evidence pointed unerringly to the guilt of defendant, and sustained conviction for willfully shooting and wounding brother with intent to kill. (Decided under prior law) Stephens v. Commonwealth, 382 S.W.2d 397, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 346 (Ky. 1964).

In prosecution for maliciously striking and wounding with a deadly weapon evidence that first defendant hit victim with a pistol and that while victim was unconscious second defendant beat him with a club was sufficient to hold second defendant guilty, and first defendant guilty of aiding and abetting him. (Decided under prior law) Miller v. Commonwealth, 395 S.W.2d 598, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 158 (Ky. 1965).

The testimony of the sheriff that the defendant fired one shot at him and attempted to fire the second shot combined with the evidence that the defendant had threatened to shoot the officer who sought to arrest him was a sufficient showing of malice and intent. (Decided under prior law) Stevens v. Commonwealth, 462 S.W.2d 182, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 649 (Ky. 1970).

Testimony of witnesses for the Commonwealth that defendant had shot at and hit an occupied automobile was sufficient to present a jury question. (Decided under prior law) Estep v. Commonwealth, 481 S.W.2d 93, 1972 Ky. LEXIS 232 (Ky. 1972).

Law that provided penalty for maliciously and willfully shooting at or into dwelling house was sufficiently broad to convict a defendant who was physically within a dwelling house when he fired a shot into the floor. (Decided under prior law) Gaines v. Commonwealth, 505 S.W.2d 174, 1974 Ky. LEXIS 767 (Ky. 1974).

Where the defendant participated in the planning of an armed robbery in which a .357 Magnum was used, the participants "cased" the store, there was a plan to steal weapons, and the participants used drugs and alcohol immediately prior to the robbery, there were sufficient circumstances surrounding the felony to submit this case to the jury and the determination of wanton murder and first degree assault by the jury under these circumstances was not contrary to the evidence. Kruse v. Commonwealth, 704 S.W.2d 192, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 303 (Ky. 1985).

Evidence was sufficient to convict defendant of wanton first-degree assault as defendant fired from 50 to 75 feet away while the victim was standing with a number of people near the front door of a tavern, defendant fired several shots in the direction of the people, and defendant never testified as to why or at whom he was shooting. Warfield v. Commonwealth, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 330 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 12, 2004, sub. op., 2004 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 931 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 12, 2004), review denied, ordered not published, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 217 (Ky. Aug. 17, 2005).

Trial court properly denied defendant's motion for a directed verdict on the charge of first-degree assault under KRS 508.010(1)(b), in light of the evidence that defendant, while driving at a high rate of speed, ignored road conditions and other vehicles and made no effort to swerve or slow down before ramming another vehicle. This conduct manifested an extreme indifference to human life, and provided a sufficient basis for the jury to find that defendant had engaged in wanton conduct. Berryman v. Commonwealth, 237 S.W.3d 175, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 206 (Ky. 2007).

Evidence was sufficient to sustain defendant's murder, first-degree assault, and first-degree criminal abuse convictions because the medical evidence concerning the force required to inflict the injuries, the obviously battered state of the victim's body, and defendant's police statement admitting instances of "discipline" were sufficient to permit a reasonable juror to conclude that she intentionally abused the child, and that she murdered and assaulted him, either directly or by lending aid to the co-defendant. Peacher v. Commonwealth, 391 S.W.3d 821, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 11 (Ky. 2013).

34. —Insufficient.

The failure to use the words "with a deadly weapon" in accusatory part of indictment was not erroneous where the words were used in the descriptive part of the indictment. (Decided under prior law) Easterling v. Commonwealth, 216 Ky. 541, 287 S.W. 972, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 944 (Ky. 1926).

An indictment charging the defendant in the accusatory part with malicious shooting, and using no other words to describe the offense, charged no offense in the accusatory part, and was bad on demurrer although descriptive part alleged malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill. (Decided under prior law) Puckett v. Commonwealth, 264 Ky. 577, 95 S.W.2d 242, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 369 (Ky. 1936).

Failure of accusatory part of indictment to allege crime was willful did not render indictment defective where facts showing the crime was willful and committed with intent to kill were stated in descriptive part. (Decided under prior law) Hensley v. Commonwealth, 264 Ky. 718, 95 S.W.2d 564, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 387 (Ky. 1936).

Indictment charging defendant in accusatory part with malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill was not at variance with descriptive part making same charge but omitting words "with intent to kill." (Decided under prior law) McClain v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 359, 144 S.W.2d 816, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 500 (Ky. 1940).

Conviction of malicious wounding and conspiracy to commit it was not sustained against one of three persons jointly indicted, where there was no evidence that he fired the shots or conspired with others to do so, but shortly after shooting got out of car from which shots had been fired and went home. (Decided under prior law) Hurst v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 599, 145 S.W.2d 520, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 543 (Ky. 1940).

Malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill, by three of indictees, was not shown by evidence that four men were in highway and refused to step aside until automobile reached them and that shots were fired from one pistol into passing automobile, wounding driver, but evidence did not show that the three indictees, directly or indirectly, instigated, aided, or encouraged act of man who fired shots. (Decided under prior law) Carpenter v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 629, 145 S.W.2d 833, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 555 (Ky. 1940).

Defect in accusatory part of indictment, consisting of omission of words "willfully" and "maliciously" before "cutting," and "another" after "kill," was not fatal where crime was sufficiently charged in descriptive part of indictment. (Decided under prior law) Adkins v. Commonwealth, 292 Ky. 67, 165 S.W.2d 983, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 33 (Ky. 1942).

Where descriptive part of indictment charged defendant with felony defined by law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning of another, but accusatory part omitted the word "maliciously" and thus alleged only the common-law offense of assault and battery, the indictment was good to extent it charged a misdemeanor. (Decided under prior law) Armstrong v. Commonwealth, 289 Ky. 758, 160 S.W.2d 159, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 640 (Ky. 1942).

In prosecution for shooting into railroad car, indictment which did not contain word "maliciously" in accusatory part, nor in proper place in descriptive part, but which did, in one place in descriptive part, state that shooting was "with malicious intent," was improper but not fatally defective. (Decided under prior law) Deaton v. Commonwealth, 303 Ky. 5, 196 S.W.2d 742, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 775 (Ky. 1946).

Evidence that defendants were seen outside dwelling house with a shotgun, and that after two or three shots were heard the glass fell from a window, was not sufficient to take case to jury, where physical evidence showed that no shot had passed through the window and there was no evidence that the defendants had shot the gun at the house, or at all. (Decided under prior law) Deaton v. Commonwealth, 303 Ky. 5, 196 S.W.2d 742, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 775 (Ky. 1946).

Circumstantial evidence relative to motive and opportunity was sufficient to create a suspicion that defendant was guilty of shooting into dwelling house, but was insufficient to exclude every reasonable hypothesis of innocence, the presumption of which must be accorded defendant throughout the trial. (Decided under prior law) Johnson v. Commonwealth, 312 Ky. 674, 229 S.W.2d 445, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 730 (Ky. 1950).

Evidence was insufficient to support conviction under law that provided a penalty for maliciously and willfully shooting and wounding another with intent to kill as no intent to kill was proven, nor was there any testimony that defendant used a deadly weapon. (Decided under prior law) Reed v. Commonwealth, 248 S.W.2d 911, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 768 (Ky. 1952).

Where evidence indicated defendant had been beaten by prosecuting witness, and after defendant and his companions had left, prosecuting witness discovered he had been cut on the left arm and shoulder but no description of the nature of the cut was given, the bare statement alone was of no value in determining what might have caused the wound and trial court should have directed a verdict for defendant. (Decided under prior law) Bradley v. Commonwealth, 314 Ky. 457, 236 S.W.2d 266, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 678 (Ky. 1951).

Where it was stated in the descriptive part of the indictment that the shooting was done willfully, maliciously and not in self-defense or the defense of the defendant's son, and that the shotgun so used was loaded with lead and shots or other hard substance, but the accusatory part of the indictment omitted the word "willfully" and the phrase "loaded with a leaden bullet or other hard substance," the indictment was not defective, since it fully notified the defendant of the offense with which he was charged. (Decided under prior law) Turner v. Commonwealth, 260 S.W.2d 646, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 978 (Ky. 1953).

Where the evidence was merely cumulative and in the main attacked the credibility of complaining witness and his wife and in no way actually refuted the circumstances of the shooting, the court did not commit error in overruling motion for new trial. (Decided under prior law) Chambers v. Commonwealth, 264 S.W.2d 61, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1255 (Ky. Ct. App. 1953).

Where defendant, who was under a domestic violence emergency protective order regarding his wife which order did not contain a no contact provision, sought admission to wife's apartment and was admitted after wife had her male visitor wait in locked bedroom and defendant hearing a noise in the bedroom, went to investigate, forced the door and observed the friend diving out the window, whereupon the defendant proceeded to break several items and grab his wife by the neck, the facts do not support a finding that an assault occurred since no weapon or dangerous instrument was used and since there was no serious injury, and as the facts did not support a finding of assault and therefore the "intent to commit a crime" element of KRS 511.030(1) cannot be satisfied court's overruling of defendant's motion for directed verdict on burglary charge was error. Hedges v. Commonwealth, 937 S.W.2d 703, 1996 Ky. LEXIS 122 (Ky. 1996).

There was insufficient evidence of a "serious physical injury" to convict defendant of first degree assault in violation of KRS 508.010 where the only proof of victim's injury was that he had a laceration on the jaw line, was given IV medication for an elevated heart rate, the laceration was sutured and then he was sent home. Anderson v. Commonwealth, 352 S.W.3d 577, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 115 (Ky. 2011).

35. —Prejudicial.

In prosecution for maliciously shooting at and wounding prosecution witness, trial court did not err in excluding statement of defendant's witness, who had testified that he had done the shooting, that he had been run off the road and "they," identified as two individuals who were with prosecution witness, had threatened to kill him and used abusive language, and, further, court did not err in admonishing jury not to consider statement. (Decided under prior law) Whitaker v. Commonwealth, 302 S.W.2d 601, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 203 (Ky. 1957).

Because the trial court's failure to hold a Daubert hearing pursuant to KRE 702 before admitting shaken baby syndrome opinion evidence was not harmless error under RCr 9.24, it erred in finding defendant guilty of wanton first-degree assault. Hamilton v. Commonwealth, 293 S.W.3d 413, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 138 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009).

36. —Nonprejudicial.

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting into an occupied dwelling house, trial court did not err in permitting deputy sheriff to testify as to acts and conduct of defendant when he was arrested. (Decided under prior law) Grigsby v. Commonwealth, 299 Ky. 32, 184 S.W.2d 77, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 991 (Ky. 1944).

In prosecution for malicious assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill three year old stepdaughter, there was no error in permitting lay witnesses to give their opinions that a fall from a high chair could not have caused all of injuries suffered by the child. (Decided under prior law) Taylor v. Commonwealth, 302 S.W.2d 378, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 191 (Ky. 1957).

In prosecution for shooting and wounding with pistol, it was proper to permit the Commonwealth to introduce as an exhibit the shirt which such victim had worn at time he was shot to show that the shirt was free of powder burns and thus rebut defendant's contention that victim was close upon him with a knife at the time he was shot by defendant. (Decided under prior law) Mills v. Commonwealth, 300 S.W.2d 787, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 471 (Ky. 1957).

Evidence that defendant left the country after the grand jury met, and stayed away for almost a year, was admissible to establish presumption of guilt, though defendant had sent word to the sheriff that he was leaving to earn money to employ a lawyer and he voluntarily surrendered later. (Decided under prior law) Damron v. Commonwealth, 313 S.W.2d 854, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1958).

Where defendant testified his son hit victim with a knife but qualified it by saying he did not see him do it, his son testified that he drew his pocket knife and cut victim, and the prosecution had no one who definitely said they saw defendant use a knife, but their version of the happening was such that if their testimony was believed no one but defendant could have done the cutting, the question of whether defendant or his son cut victim with a knife was for the jury. (Decided under prior law) Damron v. Commonwealth, 313 S.W.2d 854, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1958).

Permitting victim to testify concerning the limited use of his hand because of the wound was not improper. (Decided under prior law) Damron v. Commonwealth, 313 S.W.2d 854, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1958).

Question asking whether witness was present when defendant stabbed at the brother of witness was not prejudicial on the ground that it assumed that defendant had stabbed the brother, although it could have been in better form. (Decided under prior law) Damron v. Commonwealth, 313 S.W.2d 854, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1958).

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting at and into occupied motor vehicle, evidence that defendant had been placed under bond to keep the peace, because of threats of violence he had made toward driver of automobile, was clearly for the purpose of proving threats and animosity, and, hence, failure to admonish jury to consider evidence only for such purpose was not error. (Decided under prior law) Neely v. Commonwealth, 325 S.W.2d 79, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 36 (Ky. 1959).

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting into dwelling house, court properly overruled defendant's objection to testimony of his victim relating to the threat defendant had made against her life, and correctly admonished jury to consider her testimony for sole purpose of determining whether principal offense had been maliciously perpetrated. (Decided under prior law) Perkins v. Commonwealth, 342 S.W.2d 102, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 1960).

In prosecution for malicious cutting with intent to kill, it was not prejudicial error to introduce into evidence the dress worn by the prosecuting witness, to show the location and number of cuts inflicted, where there was sufficient other evidence to support the charges and where no attempt was made by the prosecutor to dramatize the introduction of the dress for the purpose of inflaming the jury. (Decided under prior law) McClure v. Commonwealth, 344 S.W.2d 382, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 222 (Ky. 1961).

In prosecution for malicious wounding, testimony by witness for prosecution that defendant was the man who shot him immediately prior to the shooting of the person for whom defendant was charged with malicious wounding, which contradicted the contention of defendant that another and not defendant shot the witness and a few seconds later also shot the person with whom defendant was charged with maliciously wounding, was admissible as tending to identify the person who did the shooting. (Decided under prior law) Moore v. Commonwealth, 346 S.W.2d 39, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 1961).

Trial court was under no affirmative duty to admonish jury to consider evidence of the shooting of witness only for purpose of identifying person who shot another, where no objection and no request for admonition was made. (Decided under prior law) Moore v. Commonwealth, 346 S.W.2d 39, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 1961).

Where the Commonwealth introduced evidence of the defendant's reputation for killing people to which the defendant objected and which objection was sustained, but the defendant did not move for a mistrial or ask the court to take other action, the trial court did not commit any error which, under RCr 9.22, was preserved for appellate review. (Decided under prior law) Taylor v. Commonwealth, 449 S.W.2d 208, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 28 (Ky. 1969).

There was harmless error in failing to exclude a shotgun shell found in the defendant's car as an exhibit in his trial on a charge of shooting and wounding. (Decided under prior law) Jackson v. Commonwealth, 450 S.W.2d 244, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 435 (Ky. 1970).

Where the identification evidence in a prosecution for robbery and assault was not impermissibly suggestive, denial of a pretrial motion for a suppression hearing on such evidence was not prejudicial and did not deny defendant a fair trial. Watkins v. Commonwealth, 565 S.W.2d 630, 1978 Ky. LEXIS 356 (Ky. 1978).

Where the testimony relating to other offenses was activity unrelated to the defendant but was that of other individuals not on trial, admission of such evidence was not error. Watkins v. Commonwealth, 565 S.W.2d 630, 1978 Ky. LEXIS 356 (Ky. 1978).

The failure of the Commonwealth to furnish defendant with two of the cartridges found at the scene of the shooting and robbery was not prejudicial where neither cartridge was admitted as evidence. Brewster v. Commonwealth, 568 S.W.2d 232, 1978 Ky. LEXIS 371 (Ky. 1978).

Defendant's convictions of second-degree manslaughter, KRS 507.040, and second-degree assault, KRS 508.010, stemming from an automobile accident were affirmed; the trial court properly allowed a doctor to testify as to the effects of methadone and promethazine, which defendant had taken at the time of an automobile accident, as the doctor was qualified, the evidence was relevant under KRE 401, as the Commonwealth's entire case was based on the argument that defendant was aware of and consciously disregarded, as defined in KRS 501.020, the risk of driving while taking methadone and promethazine, the evidence of the risks and adverse effects of those drugs was not outweighed by any undue prejudice pursuant to KRE 403, and the expert opinion testimony would assist the trier of fact under KRE 702, as the effects of the drugs were not within the common knowledge of the jury. Smith v. Commonwealth, 181 S.W.3d 53, 2005 Ky. App. LEXIS 256 (Ky. Ct. App. 2005).

Trial court did not err when it permitted the Commonwealth to introduce evidence of illicit drugs during defendant's trial on charges of wanton murder under KRS 507.020(1)(b), and first-degree assault under KRS 508.010(1)(b). The evidence was relevant and admissible because it helped the jury fully understand defendant's misconduct in that he was so engrossed by his passenger counting illicit pills that he was not paying attention to his driving; any prejudice suffered by defendant due to the admission of the evidence was cured by the trial court's limiting admonition to the jury. Berryman v. Commonwealth, 237 S.W.3d 175, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 206 (Ky. 2007).

37. Indictment.

Where indictment in accusatory part charged defendant with offense of cutting "with intent to kill him," it need not in descriptive part again charge that cutting was done "with intent to kill." (Decided under prior law) Shouse v. Commonwealth, 95 Ky. 621, 26 S.W. 814, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 142, 1894 Ky. LEXIS 71 (Ky. 1894).

Where body of indictment charges defendant with willfully and maliciously cutting "with intent to kill," but introductory part merely charges defendant with crime of malicious cutting and wounding, the indictment is sufficient. (Decided under prior law) Clark v. Commonwealth, 38 S.W. 489, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 758 (1896).

An indictment charging that the shooting and wounding was from ambush and a place of concealment, with intent to kill, charged an offense under law that provided a penalty for the malicious and willful shooting of another, even though another law made shooting from ambush or place of concealment a crime. (Decided under prior law) Collins v. Commonwealth, 70 S.W. 187, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 884 (1902).

The indictment was not bad for duplicity where it charged three defendants with shooting and wounding a named person with a pistol, and striking and wounding him with a shotgun, and striking and stabbing him with a knife all with intent to kill though alleged in separate counts, there being but one offense charged, the malicious wounding with intent to kill. (Decided under prior law) Greenwell v. Commonwealth, 125 Ky. 192, 100 S.W. 852, 30 Ky. L. Rptr. 1282, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 269 (Ky. 1907); Commonwealth v. Lawson, 165 Ky. 4, 176 S.W. 359, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 471 (Ky. 1915).

The indictment need not have charged that defendant, when he fired, was at such distance that death or serious bodily harm could have resulted from his shooting, since the offense was a statutory one, fully described in the statute, and was complete when a person shot at another with the intent of killing him although he may not have wounded him, and the question of whether the person doing the shooting was close enough to the person shot at to wound and kill him was for the jury. (Decided under prior law) Wrist v. Commonwealth, 110 S.W. 849, 33 Ky. L. Rptr. 718 (1908).

Any error committed by the trial court, in not sustaining demurrer to an indictment which charged two persons with the single act of shooting and wounding another with intent to kill, was cured by a dismissal before trial of the indictment as to one of the persons charged. (Decided under prior law) Hemphill v. Commonwealth, 178 Ky. 843, 200 S.W. 2, 1918 Ky. LEXIS 461 (Ky. 1918).

Indictment not containing the word "maliciously" will not support conviction. (Decided under prior law) Coates v. Commonwealth, 235 Ky. 683, 32 S.W.2d 34, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 443 (Ky. 1930).

Joint indictment was valid since aider and abettor was punishable as principal. (Decided under prior law) Short v. Commonwealth, 240 Ky. 477, 42 S.W.2d 696, 1931 Ky. LEXIS 427 (Ky. 1931).

Indictment charging defendant and his codefendants with the malicious shooting of two named persons stated two offenses. (Decided under prior law) Canada v. Commonwealth, 242 Ky. 71, 45 S.W.2d 834, 1932 Ky. LEXIS 221 (Ky. 1932).

Indictment properly charged offense where accusatory part charged that accused unlawfully shot and wounded another with intent to kill, but descriptive part merely charged that accused unlawfully shot and wounded victim omitting words "with intent to kill." (Decided under prior law) Smith v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 80, 143 S.W.2d 859, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 441 (Ky. 1940).

Indictment that charged offenses of malicious and willful cutting, and of cutting in sudden affray, which was degree of former offense, was not duplicitous. (Decided under prior law) Ewers v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 780, 146 S.W.2d 1, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 578 (Ky. 1940).

Indictment may jointly charge two persons with commission of an offense. (Decided under prior law) Deaton v. Commonwealth, 288 Ky. 246, 156 S.W.2d 94, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 89 (Ky. 1941).

Indictment charging the stabbing of two persons was subject to demurrer, but Commonwealth had privilege of electing which offense it would try. (Decided under prior law) Deaton v. Commonwealth, 288 Ky. 246, 156 S.W.2d 94, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 89 (Ky. 1941).

An indictment within the words of the statute is sufficient. (Decided under prior law) Watkins v. Commonwealth, 290 Ky. 416, 161 S.W.2d 625, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 417 (Ky. 1942).

A variance between the indictment charging defendant with shooting a pistol, and the proof showing the defendant shot a shoulder weapon is immaterial as long as the weapon discharged a deadly missile. (Decided under prior law) Campbell v. Commonwealth, 295 Ky. 511, 174 S.W.2d 778, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 280 (Ky. 1943).

Where first count in indictment charged defendant with maliciously striking and wounding another with deadly weapons with intent to kill, and second count charged him with entering into a conspiracy for the purpose of maliciously striking and wounding, two separate and distinct offenses were not charged, but the second count described a different means by which crime of maliciously striking and wounding was committed as authorized by former criminal rule that provided that if the offense could have been committed in different means the indictment could allege such means. (See RCr 6.10.) (Decided under prior law) Helton v. Commonwealth, 244 S.W.2d 762, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1248 (Ky. 1951).

Where the indictment accused the defendant of maliciously striking and wounding another with intent to kill and recited that the act was done with a shotgun, but the evidence established that a .22 caliber rifle was employed in the assault, there was not a fatal variance between the offense charged and the evidence introduced. (Decided under prior law) Oliver v. Commonwealth, 262 S.W.2d 693, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1123 (Ky. 1953).

Words "intent to kill" in indictment charging accused with shooting at another without wounding with "intent to kill," were purely surplusage. (Decided under prior law) Proffitt v. Commonwealth, 281 S.W.2d 898, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 207 (Ky. 1955).

Indictment which charged in part that defendant "with force and arms, unlawfully, willfully, maliciously and feloniously did, strike and wound . . . [another] with his fist, which in manner used, considering defendant's size, build in relation to . . . [other person's] size, was, a deadly weapon, on and upon the head, body, arms, limbs and person . . . with the felonious and malicious intent to kill him, but from which striking and wounding death did not ensue" was insufficient to charge crime of assault with a deadly weapon, since the fist has been held not to constitute a deadly weapon, but was sufficient to sustain a conviction on the lesser offense of assault and battery. (Decided under prior law) Charles v. Commonwealth, 321 S.W.2d 253, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1959).

Indictment following the statute and charging that defendant and another, maliciously and with intent to kill, shot and wounded named person adequately notified defendant of offense charged. (Decided under prior law) Moore v. Commonwealth, 346 S.W.2d 39, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 1961).

An indictment which charged that the shooting was done with the intent to kill and that the victim did not die from his wounds was sufficient. (Decided under prior law) Cavitt v. Commonwealth, 397 S.W.2d 54, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 58 (Ky. 1965).

Amendment of the indictment at the close of the evidence in a trial for robbery and assault so as to change the name of robbery victim, did not prejudice the defendant or expose him to double jeopardy. Watkins v. Commonwealth, 565 S.W.2d 630, 1978 Ky. LEXIS 356 (Ky. 1978).

38. —Completeness.

The omission of word "willful" in accusatory part of indictment, where descriptive part alleges that it was "willfully and maliciously" done, does not render the indictment insufficient; it is not necessary to allege shooting was "feloniously" done. (Decided under prior law) Gregory v. Commonwealth, 187 Ky. 188, 218 S.W. 999, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 97 (Ky. 1920).

39. —Bill of Particulars.

Where defendant and another were indicted jointly for maliciously cutting and wounding with intent to kill, and indictment would have been called upon to make the same defense regardless of whether he was tried as principal offender or as one who had aided or abetted the principal, overruling of defendant's motion for bill of particulars was not abuse of discretion. (Decided under prior law) Chaplin v. Commonwealth, 274 S.W.2d 55, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1222 (Ky. 1954).

40. Instructions.

Assault and battery by cutting with a knife is punished by statute, and instructions under the statutes are all that are necessary. (Decided under prior law) Lewis v. Commonwealth, 156 Ky. 336, 160 S.W. 1061, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 428 (Ky. 1913); Noral v. Commonwealth, 202 Ky. 318, 259 S.W. 706, 1924 Ky. LEXIS 713 (Ky. 1924); Muncy v. Commonwealth, 265 Ky. 730, 97 S.W.2d 606, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 566 (Ky. 1936).

Where evidence warranted the conclusion that defendant wounded another in a reckless shooting, and not in sudden affray, an instruction on common-law offense should have been given. (Decided under prior law) Balle v. Commonwealth, 153 Ky. 558, 156 S.W. 147, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 896 (Ky. 1913).

Defendant was not entitled to instruction under malicious assault law or on shooting and wounding in sudden affray since a defendant is not entitled to specific instruction on intent unless the nature of the evidence is such as to make specific issue as to intent. (Decided under prior law) Luttrell v. Commonwealth, 250 Ky. 334, 63 S.W.2d 292, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 698 (Ky. 1933).

Instruction that defendant should be acquitted if shooting was accidental, defining "accident" as an unusual and unexpected happening, was sufficient, together with self-defense instruction, without adding that gun might have been discharged while defendant was attempting to frighten another person. (Decided under prior law) Crawford v. Commonwealth, 279 Ky. 224, 130 S.W.2d 17, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 244 (Ky. 1939).

In prosecution for willful and malicious shooting, an instruction on shooting and wounding in sudden affray or in sudden heat and passion should be given, where the evidence justifies it. (Decided under prior law) Eve v. Commonwealth, 278 Ky. 123, 128 S.W.2d 616, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 414 (Ky. 1939).

Where defendant, in prosecution for willful and malicious shooting, relied upon an alibi, a lower degree instruction was not authorized. (Decided under prior law) Eve v. Commonwealth, 278 Ky. 123, 128 S.W.2d 616, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 414 (Ky. 1939).

Where the indictment named defendant and charged him with having fired shots into a church, an instruction charging that jury should find defendant guilty if it believed he aided and abetted another in firing the shots is erroneous as one may not be convicted of aiding and abetting unless so charged or the indictment names two or more persons as the perpetrators. (Decided under prior law) Cupp v. Commonwealth, 296 Ky. 464, 177 S.W.2d 581, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 566 (Ky. 1944).

In a prosecution for cutting or striking another with a knife or other deadly weapon, where the proof showed that the weapon used was an ordinary pocket knife, it was not necessary for the instructions to define "deadly weapon." (Decided under prior law) Williams v. Commonwealth, 304 Ky. 359, 200 S.W.2d 926, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 653 (Ky. 1947).

Where defendant, while drunk and without apparent motive, drew a gun on two brothers who grappled with him, and in the struggle the gun was discharged, wounding one of the brothers, in a subsequent prosecution for maliciously shooting and wounding with intent to kill, defendant was entitled to an instruction on accidental shooting. (Decided under prior law) Teeters v. Commonwealth, 310 Ky. 546, 221 S.W.2d 85, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 965 (Ky. 1949).

In prosecution for maliciously shooting a pistol at another with intent to kill, conflicting evidence as to whether or not accused did the actual shooting and whether or not shots were fired at prosecuting witness put in issue the lesser offense, making the drawing, pointing or flourishing a deadly weapon on a public highway a misdemeanor, so as to require that a misdemeanor instruction be included. (Decided under prior law) Johnson v. Commonwealth, 310 Ky. 621, 221 S.W.2d 440, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 974 (Ky. 1949).

In maliciously shooting prosecution failure to instruct on accidental killing, where there is evidence to establish such a theory, is reversible error. (Decided under prior law) Burkhart v. Commonwealth, 312 Ky. 448, 227 S.W.2d 988, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 669 (Ky. 1950).

In prosecution for shooting and wounding with intent to kill, an instruction defining the terms maliciously and willfully is not necessary. (Decided under prior law) Stringer v. Commonwealth, 240 S.W.2d 638, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1015 (Ky. 1951).

In prosecution for maliciously shooting at another without wounding him, wherein defendant testified that he shot in self-defense of his family and admitted that he was shooting at prosecuting witness, not to kill him, but only to bluff him, defendant was not entitled to instruction on reckless use of deadly weapon. (Decided under prior law) Proffitt v. Commonwealth, 281 S.W.2d 898, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 207 (Ky. 1955).

In prosecution for malicious cutting and wounding, in view of the conflicting testimony concerning the incident and the circumstances peculiar to the case, the court should have defined the term "sudden affray." (Decided under prior law) Hall v. Commonwealth, 276 S.W.2d 441, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 418 (Ky. 1955).

In prosecution for malicious shooting at and wounding an individual, trial court did not err in failing to give an affirmative instruction covering defendant's special defense of alibi, where instruction in submitting Commonwealth's theory of the case was couched in language the ordinary juror could easily understand, and its negative completely and adequately covered the defense of defendant. (Decided under prior law) Whitaker v. Commonwealth, 302 S.W.2d 601, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 203 (Ky. 1957).

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting another with intent to kill, evidence that defendants were intoxicated entitled them to an instruction on the lesser offense of shooting and wounding in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice. (Decided under prior law) Cummins v. Commonwealth, 344 S.W.2d 611, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 238 (Ky. 1961).

When instructions embrace all three degrees of shooting and wounding, and defense of accidental shooting as well, accidental shooting instruction must contain proviso that act was neither willful nor result of wanton, reckless, or grossly careless handling of weapons. (Decided under prior law)

Bentley v. Commonwealth, 354 S.W.2d 495, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 40 (Ky. 1962).

Failure to give an instruction for recklessly throwing a missile at a motor vehicle was not erroneous where there was no factual basis upon which to predicate such an instruction. (Decided under prior law) Harrison v. Commonwealth, 373 S.W.2d 156, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 1963).

Where the only instruction on reasonable doubt instructed the jury to find the defendant guilty of the lesser offense if they had reasonable doubt of his guilt of the primary offense, it was error not to give a separate instruction on reasonable doubt. (Decided under prior law) Medley v. Commonwealth, 450 S.W.2d 811, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 460 (Ky. 1970).

Although assault in the first degree is an included offense of the crime of murder, an instruction on this issue need not be given unless the evidence leaves room for some doubt as to whether the act of the accused was the cause of death and, at the same time, all elements necessary to prove an assault in the first degree are present. Muse v. Commonwealth, 551 S.W.2d 564, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 452 (Ky. 1977).

Where trial instructions provided, as alternative grounds for a finding of guilt, either that defendant intended to cause serious physical injury or that he wantonly engaged in conduct which created risk of death to victim, and the state of the evidence was such that it would clearly be unreasonable for a juror to believe that defendant's conduct was other than intentional, the conviction for first-degree assault under this section was reversed with instructions for a new trial because it could not be ascertained whether all jurors based their decision on the first theory, which was the only one supported by the evidence; thus, the Supreme Court could not say that the verdict was unanimous as required by RCr 9.82. Boulder v. Commonwealth, 610 S.W.2d 615, 1980 Ky. LEXIS 288 (Ky. 1980), overruled, Dale v. Commonwealth, 715 S.W.2d 227, 1986 Ky. LEXIS 284 (Ky. 1986).

Where the evidence showed that injury to victim for which defendant was on trial was caused by a gunshot wound, the Circuit Court in order to differentiate instructions on first and second-degree assault, should have adopted Commonwealth's tendered Instruction No. II, which permitted a guilty verdict on second-degree assault upon a finding that defendant intentionally shot the victim with a pistol, resulting in nonserious physical injury, or that defendant wantonly shot the victim with a pistol, resulting in serious physical injury. Commonwealth v. Hammond, 633 S.W.2d 73, 1982 Ky. App. LEXIS 214 (Ky. Ct. App. 1982).

The trial court did not commit error by instructing the jury on first degree assault, where the Commonwealth failed to prove that the victim received serious physical injury, but the defendant was found guilty of second degree assault; conviction of a lesser-included offense renders the instruction of the greater offense harmless error. Russell v. Commonwealth, 720 S.W.2d 347, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1456 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

The trial court properly gave an instruction under KRS 508.040 without defendant's consent which mitigated a conviction for assault under this section, KRS 508.020, and 508.030; there was enough proof in the record to justify the giving of the instruction in question and it was not sufficiently prejudicial to compel a reversal of the trial court. Commonwealth v. Elmore, 831 S.W.2d 183, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 93 (Ky. 1992).

41. —Dangerous Weapon.

In appeal from prosecution for throwing deadly missile into storehouse, Court of Appeals must assume that trial court properly instructed the jury where appellant contended the trial court's failure to instruct on what constituted a dangerous or felonious missile or to instruct or define what constituted a stone or dangerous or deadly missile was erroneous, but appellant failed to meet the burden of proof by setting forth statements of fact necessary to determine the question in compliance with RCA 1.210(a)(3). (Decided under prior law) Snell v. Commonwealth, 420 S.W.2d 127, 1967 Ky. LEXIS 100 (Ky. 1967).

Omission of the requirement that the jury find that the car with which defendant hit the victim was a dangerous instrument in the assault instruction was harmless error where there was no reasonable doubt that the jury would have found the car to be a dangerous instrument when he used it to run down the victim in the course of stealing another's purse. McNeil v. Commonwealth, 468 S.W.3d 858, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 1764 (Ky. 2015).

42. —Deadly Weapon.

In a prosecution for assault with a deadly weapon, court ought to have left it to the jury to decide, considering the character and size of the rock or stone with which the striking was done and the manner of its use, whether or not it was a deadly weapon, and an instruction, that if defendant struck and wounded "with rock or other hard substance, deadly weapon or weapons" the jury should find defendant guilty, was erroneous. (Decided under prior law) McWilliams v. Commonwealth, 35 S.W. 538, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 92 (1896).

Where weapon used was a stick, an instruction which only required the jury to believe death could have been produced by the stick used, without regard to the manner of use, was erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Honaker v. Commonwealth, 76 S.W. 154, 25 Ky. L. Rptr. 675 (1903).

An instruction that if the defendant "struck and wounded S with a rock, a deadly weapon," he should be found guilty, was erroneous in assuming that the rock was a deadly weapon. (Decided under prior law) Owens v. Commonwealth, 187 Ky. 207, 218 S.W. 719, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 103 (Ky. 1920).

In a prosecution for murder, where blow on head with a bottle was sufficient to cause death, instruction under law that provided a penalty for malicious and willful assault on another, defining "deadly weapon" was not required, notwithstanding another hit deceased with a rock, since accused could be found guilty of murder though he only contributed to or hastened death in some minor way. (Decided under prior law) Landrum v. Commonwealth, 266 Ky. 655, 99 S.W.2d 787, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 731 (Ky. 1936).

The most correct instruction defining a deadly weapon is a submission to the jury as to whether the instrument with which the striking was done was reasonably calculated to produce death when used by a person of defendant's physical strength, and in the manner in which it was used by him on the occasion mentioned in the indictment. (Decided under prior law) Perry v. Commonwealth, 286 Ky. 587, 151 S.W.2d 377, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 299 (Ky. 1941).

When weapon employed is not definitely identified, or when it is not per se a deadly weapon, the question of whether it is a deadly weapon is for the jury, and an instruction defining "deadly weapon" should be given. (Decided under prior law) Perry v. Commonwealth, 286 Ky. 587, 151 S.W.2d 377, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 299 (Ky. 1941).

When weapon employed is per se deadly, an instruction defining "deadly weapon" is not necessary. (Decided under prior law) Perry v. Commonwealth, 286 Ky. 587, 151 S.W.2d 377, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 299 (Ky. 1941).

Failure of court, in instruction under law that provided a penalty for willfully and maliciously shooting, to include the words, "with a gun or other instrument loaded with a leaden bullet or other hard substance," which were contained in such law was not prejudicial error. (Decided under prior law) Kelley v. Commonwealth, 300 Ky. 136, 187 S.W.2d 796, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 804 (Ky. 1945).

Hands and feet are not deadly weapons and instruction that it was the duty of the jury to convict defendant if he did willfully and maliciously and not in self-defense or self-defense of any of his codefendants assault, strike, beat and kick named person with poker or other deadly weapon upon or over her head, or both, with intent to then and there kill her, was reversible error. (Decided under prior law) Reed v. Commonwealth, 248 S.W.2d 911, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 768 (Ky. 1952).

In prosecution for striking and wounding wife with a deadly weapon with intent to kill her, the evidence was sufficient to warrant instruction on use of a deadly weapon, a telephone which defendant jerked from the wall when his wife attempted to call the police, although defendant testified he struck her with his hands. (Decided under prior law) Crumbaugh v. Commonwealth, 259 S.W.2d 67, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 934 (Ky. 1953).

In prosecution for maliciously striking and wounding with a knife, a deadly weapon, with intent to kill, failure to define the phrases "deadly weapon" and "sudden affray" was not erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Damron v. Commonwealth, 313 S.W.2d 854, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1958).

Giving of instruction following the form of the usual instruction for malicious striking and wounding, which embodied the language of the indictment concerning the use of the fist as a deadly weapon, and instruction defining the fist as a deadly weapon, constituted reversible error since the fist is not a deadly weapon and the indictment was insufficient to charge a felony. (Decided under prior law) Charles v. Commonwealth, 321 S.W.2d 253, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 274 (Ky. 1959).

43. —Intent.

In prosecution for cutting and wounding with a knife, under law that provided a penalty for maliciously and willfully cutting or striking another with intent to kill, an instruction omitting "with intention to kill" was reversible error although that idea was contained in another instruction. (Decided under prior law) Bailey v. Commonwealth, 70 S.W. 838, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 1114 (1902).

The words "feloniously" and "with malice aforethought" were improperly used in instruction that jury was to find defendant guilty of malicious cutting and wounding if the same was done feloniously and with malice aforethought and with intent to kill. (Decided under prior law) Brown v. Commonwealth, 79 S.W. 1193, 25 Ky. L. Rptr. 2076 (1904).

Instruction under law that provided a penalty for malicious and willful shooting that if defendant shot at one person with intention of killing him or shot at second person with the intention of killing him but wounding first person, was not erroneous as submitting two offenses for jury's consideration, where evidence was doubtful whether accused intentionally shot at first person but it was admitted he shot at second person, since the instruction referred to the same act of shooting. (Decided under prior law) Tall v. Commonwealth, 110 S.W. 425, 33 Ky. L. Rptr. 541 (1908).

One of the essential elements of malicious assault is malice and an instruction which authorizes conviction without requiring the jury to believe the shooting at with intent to kill was done maliciously, clearly is erroneous and prejudicial. (Decided under prior law) Hall v. Commonwealth, 219 Ky. 446, 293 S.W. 961, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 360 (Ky. 1927); Crabtree v. Commonwealth, 227 Ky. 65, 11 S.W.2d 1000, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 464 (Ky. 1928).

In a prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill, it was not erroneous for the court to fail to define in its instruction the words "willfully" and "maliciously." (Decided under prior law) Falls v. Commonwealth, 268 Ky. 696, 105 S.W.2d 828, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 517 (Ky. 1937).

Failure to define the terms "willfully," "feloniously," and "maliciously" in instructions is not prejudicially erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Eve v. Commonwealth, 278 Ky. 123, 128 S.W.2d 616, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 414 (Ky. 1939).

Instructions, which when read together told jury they could not convict accused of felony charge unless they believed cutting was done maliciously, thus making malice distinguishing element between felony and misdemeanor, were not prejudicial to accused's substantive rights, notwithstanding one instruction told jury to convict if they believed beyond reasonable doubt that accused “unlawfully, willfully, and feloniously” cut victim, but omitted word “maliciously.” (Decided under prior law) Smith v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 468, 145 S.W.2d 51, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 517 (Ky. 1940).

Instruction which defined “willfully,” and also defined “maliciously” as “a determination to do the act of cutting, stabbing or wounding without legal excuse,” was proper, being more favorable to accused than instructions which have been approved. (Decided under prior law) Ewers v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 780, 146 S.W.2d 1, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 578 (Ky. 1940).

Where accusatory part of indictment omitted word “maliciously,” the court should have instructed only on common-law misdemeanor of assault and battery, and it was error to instruct on felony of malicious assault. (Decided under prior law) Armstrong v. Commonwealth, 289 Ky. 758, 160 S.W.2d 159, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 640 (Ky. 1942).

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting into dwelling house, instruction that omitted the words “willfully and maliciously” was prejudicially erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Denham v. Commonwealth, 300 Ky. 531, 189 S.W.2d 738, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 592 (Ky. 1945).

The omission of the words “with intent to kill” after the words “a deadly weapon,” in instruction, or at some appropriate place before advice to the jury to find defendants guilty of striking with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, was erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Delph v. Commonwealth, 300 Ky. 722, 190 S.W.2d 340, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 642 (Ky. 1945).

In prosecution for shooting into house, instruction authorizing conviction if jury believed defendant “shot at or into the dwelling house,” without any language describing the purpose and intent with which the shooting was done, was erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Deaton v. Commonwealth, 303 Ky. 5, 196 S.W.2d 742, 1946 Ky. LEXIS 775 (Ky. 1946).

Common-law misdemeanor of assault and battery is made a felony where it is accompanied by an intent to kill and instruction must condition the verdict of guilt upon the finding of criminal intent as that is the gravamen of the crime. (Decided under prior law) Helton v. Commonwealth, 244 S.W.2d 762, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1248 (Ky. 1951).

In prosecution for maliciously striking and wounding another with a deadly weapon with the intent to kill him, instruction which authorized jury to find defendant guilty as a principal, or as an aider and abettor, was fatally defective where it omitted necessary element of intent to kill, and this omitted element was not sufficiently covered by clause which predicated guilt upon assault with a pistol, a deadly weapon, or other instrument reasonably calculated to cause death in manner in which the same was used. (Decided under prior law) Helton v. Commonwealth, 244 S.W.2d 762, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1248 (Ky. 1951).

Instruction was prejudicially erroneous which omitted the words “willfully” and “maliciously” in prosecution for willful and malicious throwing of dangerous or deadly missile at occupied automobile. (Decided under prior law) Harrison v. Commonwealth, 373 S.W.2d 156, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 1963).

Instruction in appellant’s first-degree assault trial permitted the jury to find that appellant acted intentionally, wantonly, or recklessly, for purposes of KRS 501.020, and counsel was adamant that he did not believe the jury had to distinguish the specific state of mind under which the jury found appellant acted; thus, even if the instruction was erroneous and prevented appellant from receiving a unanimous verdict, case law precluded further analysis due to counsel’s waiver of the argument. Moran v. Commonwealth, 399 S.W.3d 35, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 71 (Ky. Ct. App. 2013).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in instructing the jury on first-degree assault nor did it err in denying defendant’s motion for a directed verdict on that charge because he acted wantonly when, by attempting to parallel park a vehicle while intoxicated, he hit the gas pedal rather than the brake, which caused the vehicle accelerated in reverse and crush an individual against a building, crushing his pelvis, breaking his femurs, and damaging his internal organs. McCargo v. Commonwealth, 551 S.W.3d 439, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 498 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

44. —Lesser Degree.

In prosecution for malicious shooting, jury should have been instructed not only under law that provided a penalty for malicious shooting, but also for shooting in sudden affray or in sudden heat and passion without malice, where defendant shot at the person with whom he was having a quarrel but did not hit him. (Decided under prior law) Wilhelm v. Commonwealth, 28 S.W. 783, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 428 (1894).

Where prosecutrix testified that at conclusion of the difficulty defendant cut her with edge of mason’s hatchet, it being a deadly weapon, defendant was entitled to an instruction on cutting in sudden affray, or in sudden heat and passion, it being a degree of the offense under law that provided a penalty for malicious cutting and wounding. (Decided under prior law) Barnes v. Commonwealth, 107 S.W. 806, 32 Ky. L. Rptr. 1152 (1908).

Where authorized by evidence, failure to instruct on assault and battery is error. (Decided under prior law) Cruise v. Commonwealth, 226 Ky. 831, 11 S.W.2d 925, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 168 (Ky. 1928).

Where defendant, charged with murder, was convicted of manslaughter, instruction under laws that provided penalties for willful and malicious assault and assault without previous malice and not in self-defense was not prejudicial, even if it was erroneous, as it was more favorable to defendant than he was entitled to. (Decided under prior law) Martin v. Commonwealth, 223 Ky. 762, 4 S.W.2d 419, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 404 (Ky. 1928).

The weapon charged hereunder was a baseball bat, and since jury might have concluded he did not intend to kill, when defendant struck his wife with the bat, and found him guilty of only assault and battery, failure to instruct on assault and battery was prejudicial error. (Decided under prior law) Marks v. Commonwealth, 223 Ky. 692, 4 S.W.2d 711, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 429 (Ky. 1928).

The giving of the general “reasonable doubt” instruction does not relieve the court of the duty to give the “lesser degree” instruction. (Decided under prior law) Turner v. Commonwealth, 267 Ky. 74, 101 S.W.2d 214, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 284 (Ky. 1937).

In prosecution for willful murder defendant was not entitled to instruction under willful and malicious assault and sudden affray laws, although there was some evidence that codefendant had struck deceased on the head with a pistol and that this might have been the cause of his death. (Decided under prior law) Morris v. Commonwealth, 268 Ky. 768, 105 S.W.2d 1036, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 528 (Ky. 1937).

Where defendant testified that gun fired accidentally and at no place did he claim that he was shooting at something else other than house of prosecuting witness, defendant was not entitled to an instruction on a law that made it a misdemeanor for flourishing or use in a boisterous manner of a deadly weapon. (Decided under prior law) Grigsby v. Commonwealth, 299 Ky. 32, 184 S.W.2d 77, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 991 (Ky. 1944).

Although, in prosecution for willful and malicious shooting with intent to kill, evidence clearly showed a deliberate and unprovoked attack by the accused, and there was no evidence to indicate that the shooting occurred in sudden affray or heat, accused was not prejudiced by giving of sudden affray instructions. (Decided under prior law) Kelley v. Commonwealth, 300 Ky. 136, 187 S.W.2d 796, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 804 (Ky. 1945).

Where, in prosecution for willful and malicious cutting or striking, the court gave a felony instruction, a misdemeanor instruction for cutting in sudden affray, without previous malice not in self-defense and a general self-defense instruction, and the self-defense instruction correctly stated the elements of that defense, the misdemeanor instruction, in requiring the jury to find that the cutting was “not in self-defense,” was not prejudicially erroneous in omitting the words “necessary or apparently necessary self-defense.” (Decided under prior law) Williams v. Commonwealth, 304 Ky. 359, 200 S.W.2d 926, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 653 (Ky. 1947).

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting into a dwelling house, the mere act of defendant in shooting through window of house from distance of 50 feet indicated deliberateness and showed such indifference to the consequences as to impute willfulness and maliciousness or the evil intent to do the wrongful act without just cause or excuse, and, in view of such facts, failure to instruct on the misdemeanor of discharging a deadly weapon on a public highway was not error. (Decided under prior law) Smiddy v. Commonwealth, 311 Ky. 850, 226 S.W.2d 22, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 564 (Ky. 1950).

Instruction was properly given on malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill, a lower degree of crime, where defendant was indicted and tried for murder but Commonwealth failed to prove the death of the person who was shot by defendant. (Decided under prior law) Clark v. Commonwealth, 243 S.W.2d 52, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1119 (Ky. 1951).

In prosecution for malicious striking and wounding, where evidence authorized it, an instruction on the common-law misdemeanor of assault and battery should have been given, as striking with a deadly weapon without malice or intent to kill was not embraced in law that provided a penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting without malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Helton v. Commonwealth, 244 S.W.2d 762, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1248 (Ky. 1951).

In prosecution for maliciously cutting another with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, defendant was not entitled to an instruction on cutting in sudden heat of passion where pistol had been taken from him by the victim some four or more years previously and defendant testified before judge in chambers that he had worried over this imaginative wrong until he “flew mad” and cut victim, and there was no provocation on the occasion of the cutting to cause accused to “fly mad.” (Decided under prior law) Philpot v. Commonwealth, 247 S.W.2d 499, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 704 (Ky. 1952).

In prosecution for willful murder of decedent, it was unnecessary to give an instruction on malicious shooting and wounding, because the wounded person died. (Decided under prior law) Jones v. Commonwealth, 281 S.W.2d 920, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 215 (Ky. 1955).

In a prosecution for malicious cutting and wounding, where the defendant and his witnesses had testified that a knife was not used, an instruction on the offense of common-law assault and battery should have been given. (Decided under prior law) Hall v. Commonwealth, 276 S.W.2d 441, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 418 (Ky. 1955).

The use of the words “in sudden heat and passion” in an instruction on sudden affray was not a sufficient definition of the term sudden affray, since affray means a mutual combat voluntarily engaged in between two (2) or more persons. (Decided under prior law) Hall v. Commonwealth, 276 S.W.2d 441, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 418 (Ky. 1955).

In prosecution for maliciously shooting into occupied motor vehicle, where trial court instructed only on the charge of maliciously shooting into an occupied motor vehicle, which was justified by the evidence of the prosecution, there was reversible error since defendant was entitled to have his theory of the case presented by instruction, where testimony of witness that car was unoccupied was corroborated by several witnesses and the court should have instructed on recklessly shooting into an unoccupied motor vehicle, a lesser offense. (Decided under prior law) Smallwood v. Commonwealth, 303 S.W.2d 293, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 249 (Ky. 1957).

In prosecution for malicious shooting into occupied motor vehicle where instruction was given only on such offense, trial court, under evidence, should have instructed on recklessly shooting into unoccupied motor vehicle and on lesser offense of reckless use of deadly weapon. (Decided under prior law) Smallwood v. Commonwealth, 303 S.W.2d 293, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 249 (Ky. 1957).

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting at and into a motor vehicle occupied by a person, where defendant fired at and struck a passing automobile, it was not error to fail to instruct on misdemeanors of recklessly shooting at or into a motor vehicle and on discharging a deadly weapon on a public highway, although defendant did not know who was in the automobile and had no malice toward him. (Decided under prior law) Neely v. Commonwealth, 325 S.W.2d 79, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 36 (Ky. 1959).

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting at and into a motor vehicle occupied by a person, it was not error to omit instructions on misdemeanors of recklessly shooting at or into a motor vehicle and discharging a deadly weapon on a public highway, since the very evidence of shooting the pistol at passing automobile was evidence of maliciousness as defendant knew the automobile had to be occupied by some person and it was not necessary that defendant know the person or have malice toward the person. (Decided under prior law) Neely v. Commonwealth, 325 S.W.2d 79, 1959 Ky. LEXIS 36 (Ky. 1959).

In prosecution for allegedly maliciously striking and wounding another with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, it was error for the court to fail to instruct on assault and battery where from the character of the wounds the jury might well have concluded that defendant did not have the intent to kill. (Decided under prior law) Broadus v. Commonwealth, 339 S.W.2d 154, 1960 Ky. LEXIS 426 (Ky. 1960).

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting at or into a dwelling house evidence that accused and a companion were walking by prosecuting witness' house, that her dog attacked them, that he struck dog with a stick and prosecuting witness fired several pistol shots at him and that he did not have a gun and did not shoot at the house did not furnish any basis for instruction on simple assault. (Decided under prior law) Lewis v. Commonwealth, 357 S.W.2d 31, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 106 (Ky. 1962).

In prosecution for malicious and willful throwing of a missile at occupied motor vehicle, where there was no factual basis upon which to predicate instruction for recklessly throwing missile at motor vehicle, the trial court did not err in failing to give one. (Decided under prior law) Harrison v. Commonwealth, 373 S.W.2d 156, 1963 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 1963).

In prosecution under law that provided a penalty for throwing a missile or shooting into train, station or motor vehicle “calculated to produce death or great bodily harm,” it was proper to give no instruction under law that provided a penalty for throwing a stone or missile into a “motor vehicle occupied by a person,” for the more specific offense was under the first mentioned law for such a throwing when the vehicle was “stationary or traveling upon a public highway.” (Decided under prior law) Cook v. Commonwealth, 401 S.W.2d 51, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 395 (Ky. 1966).

When a person shoots at or into a structure or vehicle with the intention of striking or frightening some specific person or persons there present or thought to be present, his action is as close to shooting at the other person or persons themselves as if it was done in a sudden affray or in sudden heat of passion without previous malice. (Decided under prior law) Williams v. Commonwealth, 464 S.W.2d 806, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 500 (Ky. 1971).

In a prosecution for malicious and willful shooting where there was testimony that the defendant had no malice toward the officers and that he was attempting to protect himself from them as they accosted him in his residence, he was entitled to an instruction on the lesser crime of wounding in sudden affray without previous malice. (Decided under prior law) Clemons v. Commonwealth, 462 S.W.2d 919, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 562 (Ky. 1971).

In a trial for defendant's assault on his wife, defendant was not entitled to an instruction on assault under extreme emotional disturbance because there was no evidence that he first learned of his wife's affair immediately preceding the altercation, or even on the same day; the wife's testimony was only that they were fighting about her affair, not that she first told him about the affair that night. Driver v. Commonwealth, 361 S.W.3d 877, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 22 (Ky. 2012).

In defendant's first-degree assault case, the court erred by failing to give a lesser included offense instruction on second-degree assault because the evidence established injuries that fell somewhere in the gray area between mere physical injury and serious physical injury. The decision as to which type of injury actually occurred required close observation of the victims' behavior, attention to their testimony, and overall interpretation of the evidence; that function could only be carried out by the jury, not the judge. Swan v. Commonwealth, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 498 (Ky. Aug. 23, 2012).

45. —Proper.

Where defendant's testimony was to the effect the pistol was accidentally discharged in surrendering it to the officer, who knocked it up when extended, defendant was entitled to an instruction on this theory and not on self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Mann v. Commonwealth, 110 S.W. 243, 33 Ky. L. Rptr. 269 (1908); Caperton v. Commonwealth, 189 Ky. 652, 225 S.W. 481, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 492 (Ky. 1920).

Where wounded man was before the jury and testified, an instruction omitting the words "did not thereby die" or words of similar import was not erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Hall v. Commonwealth, 229 Ky. 646, 17 S.W.2d 751, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 821 (Ky. 1929).

In prosecution for malicious shooting without wounding, it was not prejudicial error to fail to instruct on accidental shooting, since, if defendant did not fire the pistol, she was entitled to an acquittal, not on the ground of accidental shooting, but on the ground that she did not shoot at another either with or without malice, and her rights were fully protected by the instruction on reasonable doubt. (Decided under prior law) Stephenson v. Commonwealth, 264 Ky. 390, 94 S.W.2d 1002, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 336 (Ky. 1936).

In prosecution for malicious shooting without wounding, it was not prejudicial error for the court to fail to instruct on misdemeanor of drawing, flourishing or using a deadly weapon, where the court did instruct on misdemeanor of shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray, heat or passion without previous malice. (Decided under prior law) Stephenson v. Commonwealth, 264 Ky. 390, 94 S.W.2d 1002, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 336 (Ky. 1936).

Under indictment for malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill, failure to instruct on assault and battery was not error, since lesser offense of this crime was shooting and wounding without malice or in sudden affray. (Decided under prior law) Caldwell v. Commonwealth, 265 Ky. 402, 96 S.W.2d 1041, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 496 (Ky. 1936).

Where jury administered a penalty of only two years, court's failure to give instruction, carrying the penalty of from two to 21 years was not prejudicial error. (Decided under prior law) Krone v. Commonwealth, 265 Ky. 389, 96 S.W.2d 1052, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 500 (Ky. 1936).

Omission of word "previous" before word "malice" in an instruction for malicious assault was not error. (Decided under prior law) Allison v. Commonwealth, 273 Ky. 538, 117 S.W.2d 184, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 666 (Ky. 1938).

Failure to instruct whether victim lived or died did not prejudice accused's substantial rights where victim testified at trial. (Decided under prior law) Smith v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 468, 145 S.W.2d 51, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 517 (Ky. 1940).

In malicious wounding prosecution, it was not error not to instruct on lower degrees of crime, where evidence showed cold-blooded attempt at assassination, without any evidence to justify inference of shooting in sudden affray or as result of sudden heat and passion or in reckless use of firearms. (Decided under prior law) Hurst v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 599, 145 S.W.2d 520, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 543 (Ky. 1940).

Since the jury might have found defendant guilty of the lesser offense of shooting in sudden heat and passion, rather than of malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill, it was not prejudicial to fail to instruct on reckless handling of firearms where defendant's testimony made it appear he fired to defend himself and that defense was appropriately presented to jury. (Decided under prior law) Jones v. Commonwealth, 289 Ky. 59, 156 S.W.2d 865, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 8 (Ky. 1941).

Where court instructed jury on malicious and willful shooting and also on shooting and wounding in sudden affray or sudden heat and passion, a misdemeanor, defendant's rights were not prejudiced by failure to instruct on shooting at without wounding in sudden affray or sudden heat and passion, since there was not evidence from which it could reasonably be inferred that any person other than defendant shot and wounded the prosecuting witness. (Decided under prior law) Mullins v. Commonwealth, 285 Ky. 804, 149 S.W.2d 725, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 478 (Ky. 1941).

In prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding, the addition of words "feloniously" and "with the felonious intent to kill" to instruction was advantageous and not prejudicial to defendant's substantial rights. (Decided under prior law) Pack v. Commonwealth, 287 Ky. 192, 152 S.W.2d 600, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 520 (Ky. 1941).

It was not error for the court to fail to define "maliciously," "self-defense," and "reasonable doubt." (Decided under prior law) Pack v. Commonwealth, 287 Ky. 192, 152 S.W.2d 600, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 520 (Ky. 1941).

Failure to give an assault and battery instruction, in prosecution for maliciously shooting and wounding, was not erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Pack v. Commonwealth, 287 Ky. 192, 152 S.W.2d 600, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 520 (Ky. 1941).

In prosecution for malicious shooting, instruction for the jury to find defendant guilty as charged in indictment, of shooting at another without wounding upon his personal plea of guilty in open court, and to fix his punishment at confinement in state penitentiary for period of not less than two nor more than twenty-one years, the maximum and minimum limits under law that provided a penalty for malicious shooting, was not erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Hobbs v. Commonwealth, 308 Ky. 268, 214 S.W.2d 274, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 914 (Ky. 1948).

Instruction following language of indictment in describing offense charged as maliciously and feloniously shooting at another with intent to kill but without wounding, to which the court added "but from which shooting at, death did not ensue," was not prejudicial in view of the fact that the offenses of shooting at another without wounding with intent to kill, and shooting and wounding another with intent to kill, but from which he does not die, were both contained in the same subsection of the former law and the same punishment was prescribed therefor. (Decided under prior law) Helton v. Commonwealth, 312 Ky. 268, 226 S.W.2d 939, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1260 (Ky. 1949).

An instruction which lumped the degrees of the offense, and made it more difficult for the jury to understand, but which was not likely to mislead the jury, was not prejudicial. (Decided under prior law) Turner v. Commonwealth, 260 S.W.2d 646, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 978 (Ky. 1953).

In a prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding, the court did not err in giving instructions on shooting and wounding and shooting in sudden affray. (Decided under prior law) Cravens v. Commonwealth, 262 S.W.2d 466, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1100 (Ky. 1953).

Where, in a prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding, the court gave an instruction covering the common-law offense of assault and battery with a firearm, but set as the penalty for that offense the penalty provided for flourishing a deadly weapon, the defendant was not prejudiced as the jury not only found the defendant guilty of malicious shooting and wounding, but fixed his sentence at more than the minimum for that offense, so that a correct instruction on the lesser offense would have been of no benefit to him. (Decided under prior law) Cravens v. Commonwealth, 262 S.W.2d 466, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1100 (Ky. 1953).

In a prosecution for maliciously cutting and wounding with intent to kill, defense that certain testimony revealed circumstances amounting to an avoidance of the charge was adequately covered by an instruction that the jurors were authorized to find the defendant not guilty if they did not believe beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant had cut and wounded the alleged victim. (Decided under prior law) Chaplin v. Commonwealth, 274 S.W.2d 55, 1954 Ky. LEXIS 1222 (Ky. 1954).

In prosecution for malicious cutting and wounding, an instruction on malicious cutting and wounding was proper where there was evidence to show defendant was the aggressor in the affray and that defendant struck the first blow and later cut victim with a knife. (Decided under prior law) Hall v. Commonwealth, 276 S.W.2d 441, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 418 (Ky. 1955).

In a prosecution for maliciously shooting at and wounding another with intent to kill, failure to instruct on defendant's theory of accidental killing was not reversible error where there was no evidence of accidental shooting but the shooting was plainly intentional since defendant said he shot victim to "scare him." (Decided under prior law) Bowling v. Commonwealth, 279 S.W.2d 238, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 515 (Ky. 1955).

In joint prosecution of two defendants for the malicious cutting and wounding of another, instructions expressly authorizing either conviction or acquittal of both defendants or conviction of either defendant and acquittal of the other, supplied omission of any such provision from other instructions given, and omission from such instructions did not result in such prejudice as would constitute reversible error. (Decided under prior law) Gibson v. Commonwealth, 287 S.W.2d 163, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 448 (Ky. 1956).

In prosecution for maliciously shooting and wounding with intent to kill, and charging defendant with having been convicted of two prior felonies, instruction of court referring to second one as having been of "the offense of malicious striking and wounding of another, a felony," but omitting the words "with intent to kill," was not erroneous, since the particular nature of the previous offenses were not important; it was enough that the convictions were identified as felony convictions and they were not required to even state what the particular previous offenses were, much less to state their elements with exactitude. (Decided under prior law) Lee v. Commonwealth, 306 S.W.2d 258, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 23 (Ky. 1957).

In prosecution for shooting and wounding another with intent to kill, defendant was not entitled to an instruction on accidental shooting where he testified that he intended to scare the prosecuting witness by shooting at his feet but he raised his pistol a little too high when he fired, since a defendant may be entitled to an accidental shooting instruction if his shot strikes a person whose presence is not known or anticipated or if his gun may have fired accidentally but not if he intentionally fires a weapon in the direction of a person known to be within range of his shot. (Decided under prior law) Blackburn v. Commonwealth, 306 S.W.2d 268, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 29 (Ky. 1957).

Failure to instruct on lesser offense of reckless shooting into a motor vehicle was not prejudicial error in prosecution for malicious shooting at without wounding another with intent to kill, although defendant denied he shot at the driver and said he merely shot at the automobile, since the shooting was not reckless but intentional, and since the penalties are the same, it made no practical difference whether defendant shot at the car or at the driver so far as prejudicial error in the instruction was concerned. (Decided under prior law) Thacker v. Commonwealth, 306 S.W.2d 292, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 41 (Ky. 1957).

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting and wounding another with intent to kill him, defendant was not entitled to claim that the shooting was accidental and to have an instruction on that theory, where he testified that he and the prosecuting witness voluntarily engaged in a mutual fight and denied he had a weapon or had fired the pistol, undertaking to have the jury believe that prosecuting witness had shot himself. (Decided under prior law) Bell v. Commonwealth, 309 S.W.2d 163, 1958 Ky. LEXIS 336 (Ky. 1958).

In prosecution for malicious cutting and wounding, the giving of a definition of "sudden affray" in the instructions was permissible but not necessary. (Decided under prior law) Medley v. Commonwealth, 450 S.W.2d 811, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 460 (Ky. 1970).

Where fellow inmate was cut and stabbed with a knife by defendant, the court properly refused to instruct that assault and battery was a lesser degree of the offense charged as long as there was an actual cutting and not just a striking. (Decided under prior law) Smith v. Commonwealth, 507 S.W.2d 165, 1974 Ky. LEXIS 670 (Ky. 1974).

First-degree assault combination instruction was proper because the officer testified that, as he chased defendant, defendant pulled something from his waistband, and he turned and shot toward the officer. A reasonable juror might have inferred that defendant fired the gun not for the purpose of causing serious physical injury, but only to stop the pursuit, or that by shooting toward the officer, defendant manifested an extreme indifference toward the value of human life. Buchanan v. Commonwealth, 399 S.W.3d 436, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 181 (Ky. Ct. App. 2012).

Where defendant, acting alone or in complicity with others, stabbed the victim with a knife following a heated telephone argument and washed the blood evidence from the knife to prevent the police from using it as evidence, he was convicted of second-degree assault and tampering with physical evidence. Defendant was precluded from seeking reversal of his conviction on the basis of an alleged improper jury instruction regarding self defense, as he tendered proposed instructions that included the identical language used by the trial court. Spencer v. Commonwealth, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 123 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 9, 2013), review denied, ordered not published, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 268 (Ky. June 19, 2014).

46. —Improper.

Evidence that accused, when prosecuting witness was about to pass him in an automobile as he was walking along the highway, fired two shots from shotgun at the prosecuting witness, which shots missed the witness but struck the automobile, supported verdict finding accused guilty of willful and malicious shooting with intent to kill, and fixing punishment at imprisonment for 15 years, as against contention that verdict was result of passion and prejudice. (Decided under prior law) Kelley v. Commonwealth, 300 Ky. 136, 187 S.W.2d 796, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 804 (Ky. 1945).

In prosecution for willful and malicious shooting, admission of testimony of sheriff, that at time he arrested accused for the offense he also arrested him on a warrant charging desertion from the Army, was prejudicial error, but accused could not avail himself of the error on appeal where he failed to mention it in his motion and grounds for new trial. (Decided under prior law) Kelley v. Commonwealth, 300 Ky. 136, 187 S.W.2d 796, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 804 (Ky. 1945).

A person indicted under law that provided a penalty for willful and malicious shooting, cutting or poisoning must be tried for the statutory offense and not as a common-law offense, and instruction hereunder is erroneous when there is added thereto the words "and under circumstances reasonably calculated to excite his passion beyond his power of self-control." (Decided under prior law) Hardin v. Commonwealth, 114 Ky. 722, 71 S.W. 862, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 1540, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 26 (Ky. 1903).

In prosecution for maliciously and feloniously shooting at and wounding with intent to kill where no witness testified as to who fired the shot which struck prosecuting witness, and two or three persons were present in addition to prosecuting witness and the two codefendants, there was nothing to submit to the jury and an instruction on the lesser offense of shooting in sudden affray without malice was reversible error. (Decided under prior law) Reynolds v. Commonwealth, 271 Ky. 674, 113 S.W.2d 54, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 48 (Ky. 1938).

Where the evidence indicated that the defendant shot at the victim's house while passing and there had been no prior confrontation, an instruction under law that provided a penalty for shooting in sudden affray or heat of passion without malice was not warranted. (Decided under prior law) Mullins v. Commonwealth, 276 Ky. 555, 124 S.W.2d 788, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 556 (Ky. 1939).

Instruction, in prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding, that defendant was to be acquitted if shooting was not willful and malicious, or not reckless and careless, was erroneous, since jury was, by implication, authorized to convict the defendant of a common-law misdemeanor (wounding by reckless and careless use of a pistol), but in fixing the penalty was required to look to the instruction as to a felony (malicious shooting and wounding). (Decided under prior law) Gambrell v. Commonwealth, 282 Ky. 620, 139 S.W.2d 454, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 225 (Ky. 1940).

In a prosecution where the evidence showed the defendant shot at no one and, at most, may have been guilty of reckless use of firearms, produced by his intoxicated condition, the court erred in not instructing the jury to acquit. (Decided under prior law) Campbell v. Commonwealth, 295 Ky. 511, 174 S.W.2d 778, 1943 Ky. LEXIS 280 (Ky. 1943).

Omission of words "with intent to kill" from instruction defining offense of willfully and maliciously cutting and wounding another, was reversible error. (Decided under prior law) Anglin v. Commonwealth, 310 Ky. 15, 219 S.W.2d 972, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 844 (Ky. 1949).

Where, under the evidence presented in prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting at another without wounding, the jury could have found the defendant guilty of the crime of reckless use of firearms, failure of court to give instruction on the latter offense required a reversal. (Decided under prior law) Johnson v. Commonwealth, 313 Ky. 17, 230 S.W.2d 69, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 793 (Ky. 1950).

In prosecution for willfully and maliciously shooting at another without wounding, court's instruction which omitted the word "maliciously," was a reversible error. (Decided under prior law) Johnson v. Commonwealth, 313 Ky. 17, 230 S.W.2d 69, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 793 (Ky. 1950).

In prosecution for malicious striking and wounding, it was reversible error for the court to fail to give instruction on reasonable doubt of guilt of defendant where it gave a proper instruction on reasonable doubt as to proof of guilt of the degrees of the charge, felony or assault and battery. (Decided under prior law) Moore v. Commonwealth, 313 Ky. 505, 232 S.W.2d 1021, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 923 (Ky. 1950).

In prosecution for maliciously striking and wounding another with a deadly weapon with intent to kill him and for entering into conspiracy for purpose of maliciously striking and wounding, instruction which predicated guilt of defendant upon a conspiracy with some one who did actual striking and wounding and which omitted essential elements of malice and willfulness and element of intent to kill and did not state necessity that deadly weapon must have been used in commission of assault, was prejudicially erroneous. (Decided under prior law) Helton v. Commonwealth, 244 S.W.2d 762, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1248 (Ky. 1951).

In prosecution for malicious assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill three year old stepdaughter, instruction authorizing a conviction if the jury believed beyond a reasonable doubt that defendant "unlawfully, willfully and feloniously" struck the child "with a club or stick or other instrument, which used by a person of defendant's build and age, and upon a child of the age of two years would be reasonably calculated to cause death" was erroneous in omitting the words "maliciously" and "with intent to kill" and also in omitting the manner of its use as it concerned the question of whether the stick or switch was a deadly weapon, where the presence of the elements of malice and intent to kill was a close question in the case. (Decided under prior law) Taylor v. Commonwealth, 302 S.W.2d 378, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 191 (Ky. 1957).

Failure to instruct, in prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding, that jury should find defendant guilty of lesser offense of shooting and wounding in a sudden affray, if it had reasonable doubt about degree of offense committed, was prejudicial error, where evidence was sufficient to justify an instruction on sudden affray, and court had so instructed jury. (Decided under prior law) Partin v. Commonwealth, 351 S.W.2d 162, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 143 (Ky. 1961).

In prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding, failure to instruct on misdemeanor of shooting and wounding unintentionally but as a result of defendant's wanton, reckless or grossly careless handling of shotgun was error, but it was not prejudicial in view of the form of the instruction given on the defense of accidental shooting which required acquittal if act was not willful or intentional. (Decided under prior law) Bentley v. Commonwealth, 354 S.W.2d 495, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 40 (Ky. 1962).

47. —Duty.

Defendant was not entitled to a jury instruction asking the jury to decide if she owed her son a duty of care because the existence of such a duty was a question of law for the court and not one of fact for the jury. Bartley v. Commonwealth, 400 S.W.3d 714, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 2013).

48. Lesser Included Offenses.

Where defendant willfully fired at a passenger train, made up of passenger coaches, in which passengers and employees of the railroad company were at the time riding and the evidence showed it was not accidental or unintentional and the purpose of firing the shot was without excuse or provocation, the jury may well have found the firing was malicious and defendant was guilty of malicious shooting offense under which he was indicted, and not the offense of shooting at vehicles. (Decided under prior law) Burkhart v. Commonwealth, 119 Ky. 317, 83 S.W. 633, 26 Ky. L. Rptr. 1245, 1904 Ky. LEXIS 170 (Ky. 1904).

There can be no conviction of a felony for throwing a missile into a railroad car unless it is shown that the thing thrown is calculated to produce death or great bodily harm, and a person or passenger in the car is injured or wounded. (Decided under prior law) Robinson v. Commonwealth, 144 Ky. 111, 137 S.W. 833, 1911 Ky. LEXIS 550 (Ky. 1911).

Offenses of malicious assault and assault in sudden affray are included in charge of murder, and should be instructed upon when evidence authorizes it. (Decided under prior law) Lyons v. Commonwealth, 216 Ky. 202, 287 S.W. 534, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 856 (Ky. 1926); Gill v. Commonwealth, 235 Ky. 351, 31 S.W.2d 608, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 370 (Ky. 1930).

The throwing of an object in front of a pursuing police car driven at high speed did not constitute an offense under law that provided a penalty for reckless throwing of a missile at a motor vehicle in order to cause death or bodily harm. (Decided under prior law) Cook v. Commonwealth, 401 S.W.2d 51, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 395 (Ky. 1966).

In a prosecution for maliciously shooting into an occupied motor vehicle where record indicated that objections to the instructions were first presented by the motion for new trial, which did not mention statutory offense of recklessly shooting, failure to instruct on lesser charge would not be reviewed. (Decided under prior law) Williams v. Commonwealth, 464 S.W.2d 806, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 500 (Ky. 1971).

Reversal was not required where court gave instruction on malicious striking and wounding with intent to kill which was unauthorized by the evidence, but jury convicted of lesser included offense of assault and battery, which was authorized by the evidence. (Decided under prior law) Wills v. Commonwealth, 502 S.W.2d 60, 1973 Ky. LEXIS 63 (Ky. 1973).

As a general rule, assault in the first degree is a lesser included offense of robbery in the first degree. Commonwealth v. Varney, 690 S.W.2d 758, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1985), overruled, Goodman v. Commonwealth, 2015 Ky. Unpub. LEXIS 19 (Ky. Feb. 19, 2015).

Theft and assault are lesser included offenses within the charge of robbery, and a person cannot be convicted of both robbery and assault. Commonwealth v. Varney, 690 S.W.2d 758, 1985 Ky. LEXIS 211 (Ky. 1985), overruled, Goodman v. Commonwealth, 2015 Ky. Unpub. LEXIS 19 (Ky. Feb. 19, 2015).

An assault committed by the defendants, upon a robbery victim, merged into the offense of first-degree robbery. O'Hara v. Commonwealth, 781 S.W.2d 514, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 110 (Ky. 1989), overruled in part, McNeil v. Commonwealth, 468 S.W.3d 858, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 1764 (Ky. 2015).

Trial court did not err in denying a jury instruction on facilitation as a lesser-included offense to the complicity charges for robbery, burglary, and assault because, although the jury might choose to disbelieve part of the testimony of the two accomplices, that did not constitute evidence of the lesser mental state required for a facilitation instruction; and because defendant presented no evidence demonstrating that he was wholly indifferent to the completion of the crime. Forté v. Commonwealth, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 182 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 4, 2016).

Defendant's first degree assault charge merged into defendant's reckless homicide charge because the evidence did not establish that the victim's head wound was a serious physical injury that could have formed the basis of defendant's first degree assault conviction, when defendant hit the victim in the head with a police baton, while one or both of defendant's co-perpetrators held the victim in a choke-hold, and the medical examiner testified that the cause of the victim's death was asphyxiation, most likely a result of the choke-hold. Hammond v. Commonwealth, 504 S.W.3d 44, 2016 Ky. LEXIS 626 (Ky. 2016).

49. Verdict.

A verdict is not palpably against the evidence when it is reasonable for the jury to find from the facts and circumstances that the defendant is guilty, although such facts and circumstances are entirely opposite to the testimony of the witnesses for the defendant. The function of determining the ultimate fact from conflicting testimony is imposed by law upon the jury, and if there is any substantial testimony which, if believed, would determine the guilt of the defendant, it is the duty of the court to render a decision sustaining the verdict. (Decided under prior law) Shepherd v. Commonwealth, 236 Ky. 290, 33 S.W.2d 4, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 739 (Ky. 1930); Newsom v. Commonwealth, 289 Ky. 677, 160 S.W.2d 4, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 623 (Ky. 1942).

Where evidence is conflicting, Court of Appeals will not disturb jury's verdict unless it is flagrantly against evidence, in which event verdict should be directed for defendant. (Decided under prior law) Shepherd v. Commonwealth, 277 S.W.2d 42, 1955 Ky. LEXIS 461 (Ky. 1955).

50. —Directed.

In prosecution for maliciously shooting at and wounding an individual, where there was direct and positive proof of defendant's guilt, the rule that where evidence is as consistent with innocence as with guilt a directed verdict should be granted in defendant's favor did not apply, and trial court correctly refused to grant a directed verdict. (Decided under prior law) Whitaker v. Commonwealth, 302 S.W.2d 601, 1957 Ky. LEXIS 203 (Ky. 1957).

Where there were two contradictory accounts of how the shooting occurred and the defendant admitted he had previously been convicted of a felony which could have had a bearing on his credibility, the defendant was not entitled to a directed verdict. (Decided under prior law) Taylor v. Commonwealth, 444 S.W.2d 725, 1969 Ky. LEXIS 219 (Ky. 1969).

51. —Shooting at Without Wounding.

Where, pursuant to agreement with defendant before entry of plea of guilty to charge of shooting at another without wounding, Commonwealth's attorney recommended punishment of two years to jury but verdict of jury fixed punishment at ten years, the Court of Appeals could not reverse the judgment on that ground although the trial court would have been justified in granting a new trial on the ground of personal bias and prejudice against defendant. (Decided under prior law) Hobbs v. Commonwealth, 308 Ky. 268, 214 S.W.2d 274, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 914 (Ky. 1948).

52. —Shooting and Wounding With Intent to Kill.

Punishment of ten years' imprisonment for maliciously wounding a police officer was not excessive where evidence overwhelmingly established the deliberate and willful shooting of an officer of the law engaged in the performance of his duties and if the jury had inflicted the limit of punishment of 21 years the punishment would not have been excessive under the circumstances shown. (Decided under prior law) Crawford v. Commonwealth, 279 Ky. 224, 130 S.W.2d 17, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 244 (Ky. 1939).

Verdict of two years' imprisonment for malicious shooting was not so extreme as to shock the conscience of the court, where there was no other evidence of passion or prejudice on the part of the jury. (Decided under prior law) Childers v. Commonwealth, 279 Ky. 737, 132 S.W.2d 81, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 353 (Ky. 1939).

Sentence of 21 years for maliciously shooting and wounding policeman with intent to kill is not excessive. (Decided under prior law) Mullins v. Commonwealth, 285 Ky. 804, 149 S.W.2d 725, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 478 (Ky. 1941).

In prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding, where, according to evidence for Commonwealth, shooting resulted from slight provocation, defendant's intention to kill was obvious, victim, an able bodied man of 29 years of age, had a miraculous escape from death and at the time of trial, nearly six months later, was an invalid as a result of the shooting, although defendant was only 17 years of age, a sentence of eight (8) years was not excessive where there was nothing in the record to show he was not responsible for his acts. (Decided under prior law) Spurlock v. Commonwealth, 311 Ky. 238, 223 S.W.2d 910, 1949 Ky. LEXIS 1114 (Ky. 1949).

In prosecution for shooting and wounding with intent to kill where there was testimony that defendant was behind car at time he shot victim and that defendant was not firing in self-defense as he claimed, where court permitted affidavit as to what defendant's companion would have testified to had he been present and where defendant offered no satisfactory explanation for being on the highway with a gun the verdict was not against the law and the evidence. (Decided under prior law) Stringer v. Commonwealth, 240 S.W.2d 638, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1015 (Ky. 1951).

Where the evidence was sufficient to sustain the verdict of the jury in finding the defendant guilty of maliciously shooting and wounding another with intent to kill, and there were no mitigating circumstances in favor of the defendant, if the testimony of the Commonwealth's witnesses was accepted as true, the maximum sentence of 21 years did not indicate passion and prejudice on the part of the jury. (Decided under prior law) Adams v. Commonwealth, 263 S.W.2d 103, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1232 (Ky. Ct. App. 1953).

Judgment, after defendant pleaded guilty to willful and malicious shooting with intent to kill, of 21 years imprisonment, denoting on its face that it was imposed by the court under an agreement with petitioner and with the advice of counsel, could not be reached by review under RCr 11.42. (Decided under prior law) Perry v. Commonwealth, 407 S.W.2d 714, 1966 Ky. LEXIS 183 (Ky. 1966), cert. denied, Perry v. Kentucky, 386 U.S. 968, 87 S. Ct. 1052, 18 L. Ed. 2d 121, 1967 U.S. LEXIS 2134 (1967). (See RCr 9.84.).

53. —Cutting and Wounding.

In prosecution for malicious cutting and wounding where the evidence was conflicting as to how the difficulty arose and what took place and testimony of the prosecution was sufficient to establish the elements of the offense charged, verdict of guilty of malicious cutting and wounding was justified. (Decided under prior law) Gibbs v. Commonwealth, 293 S.W.2d 714, 1956 Ky. LEXIS 84 (Ky. 1956).

54. —Striking and Wounding.

Where defendant, in attempting to arrest another for being drunk, struck him with a blackjack when he resisted, and evidence was conflicting as to whether defendant had made known his intention to make the arrest and the offense charged, verdict finding defendant guilty of malicious striking and wounding was sustained. (Decided under prior law) Harrison v. Commonwealth, 279 Ky. 510, 131 S.W.2d 454, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 306 (Ky. 1939).

In prosecution for striking another with a poker, a deadly weapon, verdict was not flagrantly against the evidence although defendant pleaded self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Caswell v. Commonwealth, 285 Ky. 394, 147 S.W.2d 1045, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 391 (Ky. 1941); Gillenwater v. Commonwealth, 291 Ky. 493, 165 S.W.2d 35, 1942 Ky. LEXIS 271 (Ky. 1942).

Sentence of three (3) years' imprisonment upon conviction of assault with intent to kill was not so severe as to indicate that it resulted from passion and prejudice. (Decided under prior law) Jones v. Commonwealth, 256 S.W.2d 520, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 751 (Ky. 1953).

1. Construction.

The provisions of maiming statute were an enlargement and broadening of the common-law crime of mayhem. (Decided under prior law) Coleman v. Commonwealth, 280 Ky. 410, 133 S.W.2d 555, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 144 (Ky. 1939).

Defendant's conviction for second degree assault under this section qualified as a "crime of violence" for purposes of determining his federal career offender status; the U.S. Supreme Court's opinion in Johnson v. United States, 135 S. Ct. 2551 (2015), did not invalidate defendant's sentence. United States v. Collins, 799 F.3d 554, 2015 FED App. 0206P, 2015 U.S. App. LEXIS 14825 (6th Cir. Ky.), cert. denied, 577 U.S. 1037, 136 S. Ct. 601, 193 L. Ed. 2d 480, 2015 U.S. LEXIS 7796 (U.S. 2015).

District court did not plainly err in treating defendant's Kentucky second-degree assault conviction as a crime of violence for the purposes of enhancing his sentence for illegal reentry; no binding precedent of the court of appeals contradicted the conclusion that the Kentucky second-degree assault statute matched the generic aggravated assault offense. United States v. Alvarado-Martinez, 713 Fed. Appx. 259, 2017 U.S. App. LEXIS 22469 (5th Cir. Tex. 2017).

2. Double Jeopardy.

The conviction of the defendant for first-degree riot and second-degree assault did not constitute double jeopardy because the same use of force was not used to establish assault and then elevate riot to a higher offense. Commonwealth v. Cook, 739 S.W.2d 541, 1987 Ky. LEXIS 255 (Ky. 1987).

Since to be convicted of second-degree assault, one must cause physical injury, and no such requirement exists for first-degree rape, and similarly, for a first-degree rape conviction, sexual intercourse must be proven, and, there is no such requirement for second-degree assault, neither offense is included in the other, and it was not double jeopardy to convict the defendant of both second-degree assault and first-degree rape. Wager v. Commonwealth, 751 S.W.2d 28, 1988 Ky. LEXIS 29 (Ky. 1988).

Defendant can only be convicted of promoting contraband in the first degree for possessing dangerous contraband in a detention facility or penitentiary; that element is not required to support a conviction for second-degree assault and there was no double jeopardy violation where defendant was convicted of both. Tyler v. Commonwealth, 805 S.W.2d 126, 1991 Ky. LEXIS 16 (Ky. 1991).

Criminal contempt conviction for violating domestic violent order prohibiting defendant from committing further acts of violence upon his wife did not bar action against him for second degree assault; double jeopardy did not attach because the contempt conviction required proof of an element unnecessary to convict him of burglary. Commonwealth v. Burge, 1996 Ky. LEXIS 82 (Ky. Aug. 29, 1996), modified, sub. op., 1997 Ky. LEXIS 76 (Ky. June 19, 1997).

Actual infliction of physical injury to the victim by a dangerous instrument was not required to convict defendant of complicity to robbery in the first degree under KRS 515.020, nor was the theft required for conviction of complicity to second degree assault under KRS 508.020; both of the statutes had different elements that had to be proved in finding guilt under the respective instructions. Thus, the double jeopardy rule was not violated. Fields v. Commonwealth, 219 S.W.3d 742, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 2007).

Because there was insufficient evidence to support a finding that defendant's fists caused serious physical injury to the victim, reversal of defendant's conviction for second-degree assault under KRS 508.020 was the equivalent of an acquittal; accordingly, the double jeopardy clauses in U.S. Const. amend. V, and Ky. Const. § 13 barred a retrial. Commonwealth v. Davidson, 277 S.W.3d 232, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 24 (Ky. 2009).

3. Elements.

Word "bite" as used in maiming statute meant severance produced by means of teeth. (Decided under prior law) Hemphill v. Commonwealth, 265 Ky. 194, 96 S.W.2d 586, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 461 (Ky. 1936).

Under maiming statute, offense could be committed during a fight or when perpetrator was not engaged in a fight. (Decided under prior law) Hemphill v. Commonwealth, 265 Ky. 194, 96 S.W.2d 586, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 461 (Ky. 1936).

There are three elements which comprise the crime of assault: the assailant's mental state, the means of attack, and the resultant injury. Commonwealth v. Hammond, 633 S.W.2d 73, 1982 Ky. App. LEXIS 214 (Ky. Ct. App. 1982).

Defendant was not entitled to a directed verdict of acquittal on a charge of second-degree assault because there was sufficient evidence to find him guilty of the lesser included offense of fourth-degree assault, under KRS 508.030(1), because he intentionally inflicted physical injury on the victim. Davidson v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 32 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 3, 2006, sub. op., 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1224 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 3, 2006).

Defendant's attorney was not ineffective in failing to object to the career-offender designation under U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual § 4B1.1 because any such objection would have been unsuccessful as his conviction for assault in the second degree under KRS 508.020 satisfied the definition of a crime of violence under U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual § 4B1.2(a). United States v. Rhodes, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 87088 (E.D. Ky. Aug. 5, 2011).

Trial court did not err by failing to grant defendant's motion for directed verdict on the charge of second-degree assault against the second child because the second child's injury was a physical injury as the second child told the first child that she had been stabbed; and a photograph introduced into evidence showed that the second child had a cut about an inch long and a half centimeter wide on her mid-back. Exantus v. Commonwealth, 612 S.W.3d 871, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 458 (Ky. 2020).

4. —Dangerous Instrument.

Steel-toed work shoes and scissors were "dangerous instruments" where defendant kicked victim in side while he was wearing steel-toed work shoes and stabbed victim in the thigh and pelvic/vaginal area with the scissors. Commonwealth v. Potts, 884 S.W.2d 654, 1994 Ky. LEXIS 106 (Ky. 1994), overruled in part, Doneghy v. Commonwealth, 410 S.W.3d 95, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 2013).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by failing to grant defendant's motion for directed verdict for the second-degree assault of the first child because a butter knife was used to cut the first child's nose, resulting in physical injury; and the butter knife was a dangerous instrument as it was used, attempted to be used, or threatened to be used in a way that was readily capable of causing death or serious physical injury. Exantus v. Commonwealth, 612 S.W.3d 871, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 458 (Ky. 2020).

5. — Deadly Weapon.

When a deadly weapon or dangerous instrument is used intentionally, the requirements of subsection (1)(b) of this section are met when any injury results; the words "impairment of physical condition" in KRS 500.080(13) simply means "injury." Meredith v. Commonwealth, 628 S.W.2d 887, 1982 Ky. App. LEXIS 201 (Ky. Ct. App. 1982).

Where defendant, who was under a domestic violence emergency protective order regarding his wife which order did not contain a no contact provision, sought admission to wife's apartment and was admitted after wife had her male visitor wait in locked bedroom and defendant hearing a noise in the bedroom, went to investigate, forced the door and observed the friend diving out the window, whereupon the defendant proceeded to break several items and grab his wife by the neck, the facts do not support a finding that an assault occurred since no weapon or dangerous instrument was used and since there was no serious injury, and as the facts did not support a finding of assault and therefore the "intent to commit a crime" element of KRS 511.030(1) cannot be satisfied court's overruling of defendant's motion for directed verdict on burglary charge was error. Hedges v. Commonwealth, 937 S.W.2d 703, 1996 Ky. LEXIS 122 (Ky. 1996).

6. —Serious Physical Injury.

Where defendant's wife testified to assaults on her vagina and rectum by her husband with carrot, friend's daughter testified that wife of defendant had screamed for defendant to stop and medical examination nine (9) days later showed swelling, vaginal abrasions, dried blood and slight bleeding, evidence of physical injury was sufficient to convict defendant under this section for second-degree assault with deadly weapon or dangerous instrument. Smith v. Commonwealth, 610 S.W.2d 602, 1980 Ky. LEXIS 284 (Ky. 1980).

A photograph of the victim shown to the jury was not prejudicially gruesome, where all the damage done to the victim was by the defendant. Wager v. Commonwealth, 751 S.W.2d 28, 1988 Ky. LEXIS 29 (Ky. 1988).

Victim was struck in back with a ball bat which knocked the wind out of him and bruised his ribs. The requirements of subdivision (1)(b) are met when any injury results. A victim is competent to testify about his own injuries and medical proof is not an absolute requisite to prove physical injury. Key v. Commonwealth, 840 S.W.2d 827, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 126 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

Second-degree assault does not require infliction of a serious physical injury when one intentionally injures another by means of a deadly weapon, or by means of a dangerous instrument. Commonwealth v. Potts, 884 S.W.2d 654, 1994 Ky. LEXIS 106 (Ky. 1994), overruled in part, Doneghy v. Commonwealth, 410 S.W.3d 95, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 2013).

Pain is an "impairment of health;" if the pain is substantial, but not prolonged, it constitutes a "physical injury" under KRS 500.080(13), but if it is prolonged, then it is a "serious physical injury" under KRS 500.080(15). Thus, a trial judge did not err when it instructed the jury on both the Class C felony of assault 2nd (wanton), KRS 508.020(1)(c), and the Class A misdemeanor of assault in the fourth degree (wanton), KRS 508.030(1)(a), where the evidence established that the victim's injuries resulted not only in headaches and neck pain, but also muscle spasms and numbness of her right arm and where the jury could have found that the duration of those effects constituted a "prolonged impairment of health." Parson v. Commonwealth, 144 S.W.3d 775, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 158 (Ky. 2004).

Where a reasonable jury could have concluded that two months of healing time was "prolonged" with respect to the life of a six-month old infant, the evidence was sufficient for the jury to conclude that the leg fractures caused a "prolonged impairment of health" supporting defendant's convictions for second-degree assault. Schrimsher v. Commonwealth, 190 S.W.3d 318, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 104 (Ky. 2006).

Where the Commonwealth proved multiple acts of assault and multiple injuries, some occurring in different time frames, the evidence was sufficient to prove that defendant's conduct caused the victim's injuries. Schrimsher v. Commonwealth, 190 S.W.3d 318, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 104 (Ky. 2006).

Trial court did not err by denying defendant's directed verdict for second-degree assault because the Commonwealth presented more than a mere scintilla of evidence that a physical injury resulted from defendant's intentional use of a deadly weapon or dangerous instrument where the sergeant testified that he felt a sharp trust under his arm and realized immediately that he had been cut and his medical records showed that he sustained a small wound. Doneghy v. Commonwealth, 410 S.W.3d 95, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 290 (Ky. 2013).

Circuit court erred in sentencing defendant to 10 years' imprisonment after a jury convicted him of second-degree assault because there was not sufficient evidence to support a conviction where the Commonwealth fail to introduce evidence that the victim had sustained a serious physical injury, and the prosecutor admitted that the victim had only sustained a physical injury, not a serious physical injury, when he argued before the court. Farmer v. Commonwealth, 606 S.W.3d 641, 2020 Ky. App. LEXIS 60 (Ky. Ct. App. 2020).

7. Indictment.

An indictment, for maiming, alleging that defendant did "bite of" instead of "bite off" the ear of a person named sufficiently clear to indicate the offense charged and language used was not fatal to the indictment. (Decided under prior law) Commonwealth v. Shelby, 38 S.W. 490, 18 Ky. L. Rptr. 781 (1897).

Where indictment charged violation of maiming statute both by biting and striking, but Commonwealth elected to prosecute for biting and prosecution proceeded on that theory only, error, if any, in charging two offenses in same indictment was immaterial. (Decided under prior law) Coleman v. Commonwealth, 280 Ky. 410, 133 S.W.2d 555, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 144 (Ky. 1939).

8. Instructions.

In the prosecution of a police officer for assault and battery where the officer made no claim that he had to use force in making an arrest but denied having used any at all, the trial court's omission of an instruction on the right of the police officer to use force in effecting an arrest was not error. (Decided under prior law) Phillips v. Commonwealth, 528 S.W.2d 940, 1974 Ky. LEXIS 1 (Ky. 1974).

Where proof of the facts charged in the indictment would establish the commission of both attempted murder and assault in the second degree, assault in the second degree is a lesser included offense and, where the evidence raised the question of whether defendant intended to kill or to injure police officer, failure to give requested instruction on lesser included offense was reversible error. Luttrell v. Commonwealth, 554 S.W.2d 75, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 482 (Ky. 1977).

In a prosecution for assault, the trial court erred when it refused to give an instruction on the mitigating defense of extreme emotional disturbance, where in view of the evidence presented it would not have been unreasonable for a juror to believe beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not acting in self-defense or in defense of his brother, yet still believe that he was acting in a state of extreme emotional disturbance for which there was a reasonable justification or excuse under the circumstances as he believed them to be. Engler v. Commonwealth, 627 S.W.2d 582, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 229 (Ky. 1982).

Defendant was not entitled to an instruction on third degree assault where the evidence as to the seriousness of the injury was that buckshot from the shotgun blast had gone through the victim's elbow and forearm, requiring 29 days of hospitalization and five operations and the replacement of three inches of his bone by a steel plate, and where as a result of the shot, he also sustained muscle and nerve damage and could not move his fingers. Trent v. Commonwealth, 606 S.W.2d 386, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 369 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

Where the evidence showed that injury to victim for which defendant was on trial was caused by a gunshot wound, the Circuit Court in order to differentiate instructions on first and second-degree assault, should have adopted Commonwealth's tendered Instruction No. II, which permitted a guilty verdict on second-degree assault upon a finding that defendant intentionally shot the victim with a pistol, resulting in nonserious physical injury, or that defendant wantonly shot the victim with a pistol, resulting in serious physical injury. Commonwealth v. Hammond, 633 S.W.2d 73, 1982 Ky. App. LEXIS 214 (Ky. Ct. App. 1982).

The trial court did not commit error by instructing the jury on first degree assault, where the Commonwealth failed to prove that the victim received serious physical injury, but the defendant was found guilty of second degree assault; conviction of a lesser-included offense renders the instruction of the greater offense harmless error. Russell v. Commonwealth, 720 S.W.2d 347, 1986 Ky. App. LEXIS 1456 (Ky. Ct. App. 1986).

Trial court did not err by refusing to give instruction on fourth-degree assault in a prosecution for second-degree assault where the defendant pointed a gun at the victim and shot her three times; the defendant's behavior was more compatible with the definition of "intentional" than with "reckless." Adkins v. Commonwealth, 787 S.W.2d 272, 1990 Ky. App. LEXIS 46 (Ky. Ct. App. 1990).

The trial court properly gave an instruction under KRS 508.040 without defendant's consent which mitigated a conviction for assault under KRS 508.010, this section, and KRS 508.030; there was enough proof in the record to justify the giving of the instruction in question and it was not sufficiently prejudicial to compel a reversal of the trial court. Commonwealth v. Elmore, 831 S.W.2d 183, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 93 (Ky. 1992).

In a capital murder case, defendant was not entitled to an instructions on second degree assault, under KRS 508.020, as a lesser included offense of attempted murder, based on voluntary intoxication, because the evidence did not show not only that defendant was under the influence, but that he was so under the influence that he did not know what he was doing, as he walked three miles to the victims' residence, hid in a tool shed to escape immediate detection, concealed the victims' bodies and the weapon used to kill them, lay in wait for his next victim, had the presence of mind to flee the scene after shooting her and to conceal the weapon in a creek, and was able to find another person's residence which he had not visited in almost three (3) years. Soto v. Commonwealth, 139 S.W.3d 827, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 93 (Ky. 2004), cert. denied, 544 U.S. 931, 125 S. Ct. 1670, 161 L. Ed. 2d 495, 2005 U.S. LEXIS 2608 (U.S. 2005).

Where the defendant first started beating the victim and eventually the co-defendant started beating the victim with a lug wrench while defendant threatened to kill the victim and encouraged the co-defendant to get the victim's wallet, the later assault is the action for which defendant was charged with complicity; a jury could not reasonably have found that defendant was not guilty of complicity to the second degree assault, but guilty of only the preceding fourth degree assault, and, thus, the jury instruction on lesser-included offenses was properly denied. Fields v. Commonwealth, 219 S.W.3d 742, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 2007).

Because the complicity charge required proof that co-defendant caused the victim's physical injury, and the fourth degree assault instruction required an inconsistent finding that defendant caused the physical injury, defendant's fourth degree assault could not be a lesser-included charge of complicity to assault in the second degree. Thus, a lesser-included offense jury instruction was properly denied. Fields v. Commonwealth, 219 S.W.3d 742, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 2007).

In defendant's first-degree assault case, the court erred by failing to give a lesser included offense instruction on second-degree assault because the evidence established injuries that fell somewhere in the gray area between mere physical injury and serious physical injury. The decision as to which type of injury actually occurred required close observation of the victims' behavior, attention to their testimony, and overall interpretation of the evidence; that function could only be carried out by the jury, not the judge. Swan v. Commonwealth, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 498 (Ky. Aug. 23, 2012).

For purposes of the second-degree assault convictions, the trial court's failure to instruct on the definition of dangerous instrument was harmless error because the evidence was uncontroverted that defendant cut the first child's nose with a butter knife and that he stabbed the second child with either a butcher knife or a butter knife, resulting in a laceration on her mid-back; and there was simply no basis upon which to conclude that being provided with the definition of dangerous instrument would have somehow changed the jury's verdict. Exantus v. Commonwealth, 612 S.W.3d 871, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 458 (Ky. 2020).

9. Separate Offenses.

Convictions for both conspiracy to commit first degree robbery and accomplice to second degree assault did not violate defendant's constitutional and statutory right against double jeopardy. Wilson v. Commonwealth, 695 S.W.2d 854 (Ky. 1985).

Convictions for both conspiracy to commit first degree robbery and accomplice to second degree assault did not violate the prohibition in KRS 506.110(1) against conviction for both conspiracy to commit a crime and the actual commission of that crime. Wilson v. Commonwealth, 695 S.W.2d 854 (Ky. 1985).

Where defendant approached a co-worker whom he believed had stolen drugs and money from him, where the co-worker gave defendant money and a cellular phone, where defendant kept the money, which he claimed to rightfully be his, and because he believed that the co-worker still had the drugs, kicked the co-worker between the legs and in the face while wearing steel toe shoes, and where defendant was charged with first-degree robbery, the trial court erred in instructing the jury that second-degree assault under KRS 508.020(1)(b) was a lesser-included offense of first-degree robbery under KRS 515.020(1)(a) because (1) the existence of the use of a deadly weapon had to be established by proof of more of the facts required to establish the commission of robbery; (2) the offense of assault was not the offense of attempted robbery; and (3) assault, under the circumstances of the case, required the completely separate element of the use of a deadly weapon; thus, it did not differ from robbery only in the respect that a lesser kind of culpability suffices to establish its commission, or in the respect that a less serious injury or risk of injury to the same person, property, or public interest suffices to establish its commission. Howell v. Commonwealth, 296 S.W.3d 430, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 149 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009).

10. Evidence.

In prosecution under maiming statute, where defendant pleaded self-defense, jury's verdict of guilty of common-law misdemeanor of assault and battery was not palpably against evidence. (Decided under prior law) Ewing v. Commonwealth, 390 S.W.2d 651, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 361 (Ky. 1965).

On prosecution under maiming statute, prosecuting witness was competent to testify that he had always had normal vision in his eye until struck there by defendant, and that thereafter his vision was gone. (Decided under prior law) Ewing v. Commonwealth, 390 S.W.2d 651, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 361 (Ky. 1965).

Where defendant was indicted and tried under maiming statute for putting out eye of prosecuting witness, but was convicted by jury of assault and battery, admission of evidence of such loss of sight did not taint jury's verdict with reversible error. (Decided under prior law) Ewing v. Commonwealth, 390 S.W.2d 651, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 361 (Ky. 1965).

Evidence was sufficient to support a conviction where (1) the victim suffered at least two (2) cuts on her arms from scissors, as well as several other scrapes and contusions; (2) one defendant admitted in his statement that another defendant had cut locks of the victim's hair while she was bound with duct tape; and (3) there was testimony that at the time the defendants left the victim's house, they believed she might die as a result of severe bleeding from a cut on her arm. Murphy v. Commonwealth, 50 S.W.3d 173, 2001 Ky. LEXIS 81 (Ky. 2001).

Evidence was sufficient to support second degree assault conviction where an argument started in a bar between defendant, a victim, and defendant's girlfriend, where defendant flashed a gun at the victim, pointed it at the crowd and shot the victim in the abdomen, where the victim stated that after the shots he ran outside and saw defendant getting into a vehicle that was waiting outside, where another victim testified that after the initial argument defendant and his girlfriend entered from the rear of the bar and made their way to the front of the bar, where, as they walked through the bar they looked around at the faces of each patron, looking for a particular person, where the other victim observed defendant pointing a gun at the crowd, heard shots and felt a pain in his leg, and where defendant was positively identified by one of the victims from a police photo lineup. Woodard v. Commonwealth, 147 S.W.3d 63, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 244 (Ky. 2004).

Because an appellate court had to consider the same evidence as the trial court in its best light in favor of the Commonwealth, there was sufficient evidence of wantonness to support defendant's convictions for second-degree manslaughter and assault after defendant caused a fatal head-on collision; there was evidence that defendant crossed the center line and evidence of defendant's impairment from a drug recognition expert who did not personally observe defendant. Burton v. Commonwealth, 300 S.W.3d 126, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 253 (Ky. 2009).

11. — Admissibility.

Where the victim was 87 years old and had been severely traumatized, and her identification of the defendant was somewhat confused, the testimony of a detective regarding the victim's identification of her assailant one and one-half days after the crime should not have been admitted, even though the victim had since died, and there were no eyewitnesses. Wager v. Commonwealth, 751 S.W.2d 28, 1988 Ky. LEXIS 29 (Ky. 1988).

12. — Prior Convictions.

In a prosecution for assault and battery evidence of defendant's prior felony convictions for detaining a woman against her will and for driving a motor vehicle without the owner's consent were inadmissible to impeach his testimony, since the prior offenses had no bearing on the question of defendant's veracity. (Decided under prior law) Phillips v. Commonwealth, 528 S.W.2d 940, 1974 Ky. LEXIS 1 (Ky. 1974).

508.025. Assault in the third degree.

(1) A person is guilty of assault in the third degree when the actor:

(a) Recklessly, with a deadly weapon or dangerous instrument, or intentionally causes or attempts to cause physical injury to:

1. A state, county, city, or federal peace officer;

2. An employee of a detention facility, or state residential treatment facility or state staff secure facility for residential treatment which provides for the care, treatment, or detention of a juvenile charged with or adjudicated delinquent because of a public offense or as a youthful offender;

3. An employee of the Department for Community Based Services employed as a social worker to provide direct client services, if the event occurs while the worker is performing job-related duties;

4. Paid or volunteer emergency medical services personnel certified or licensed pursuant to KRS Chapter 311A, if the event occurs while personnel are performing job-related duties;

5. A paid or volunteer member of an organized fire department, if the event occurs while the member is performing job-related duties;

6. Paid or volunteer rescue squad personnel affiliated with the Division of Emergency Management of the Department of Military Affairs or a local disaster and emergency services organization pursuant to KRS Chapter 39F, if the event occurs while personnel are performing job-related duties;

7. A probation and parole officer;

8. A transportation officer appointed by a county fiscal court or legislative body of a consolidated local government, urban-county government, or charter government to transport inmates when the county jail or county correctional facility is closed while the transportation officer is performing job-related duties;

9. A public or private elementary or secondary school or school district classified or certified employee, school bus driver, or other school employee acting in the course and scope of the employee's employment; or

10. A public or private elementary or secondary school or school district volunteer acting in the course and scope of that person's volunteer service for the school or school district;

(b) Being a person confined in a detention facility, or a juvenile in a state residential treatment facility or state staff secure facility for residential treatment which provides for the care, treatment, or detention of a juvenile charged with or adjudicated delinquent because of a public offense or as a youthful offender, inflicts physical injury upon or throws or causes feces, or urine, or other bodily fluid to be thrown upon an employee of the facility; or

(c) Intentionally causes a person, whom the actor knows or reasonably should know to be a peace officer discharging official duties, to come into contact with saliva, vomit, mucus, blood, seminal fluid, urine, or feces without the consent of the peace officer.

(2)(a) For a violation of subsection (1)(a) of this section, assault in the third degree is a Class D felony, unless the offense occurs during a declared emergency as defined by KRS 39A.020 arising from a natural or man-made disaster, within the area covered by the emergency declaration, and within the area impacted by the disaster, in which case it is a Class C felony.

(b) For a violation of subsection (1)(b) of this section, assault in the third degree is a Class D felony.

(c) For violations of subsection (1)(c) of this section, assault in the third degree is a Class B misdemeanor, unless the assault is with saliva, vomit, mucus, blood, seminal fluid, urine, or feces from an adult who knows that he or she has a serious communicable disease and competent medical or epidemiological evidence demonstrates that the specific type of contact caused by the actor is likely to cause transmission of the disease or condition, in which case it is a Class A misdemeanor.

(d) As used in paragraph (c) of this subsection, “serious communicable disease” means a non-airborne disease that is transmitted from person to person and determined to have significant, long-term consequences on the physical health or life activities of the person infected.

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Construction.
3. Culpable Mental State.
4. Dangerous Instrument.
5. Defenses.
6. Evidence.
7. Instructions.
8. Probable Cause for Arrest.
9. Sentence.

1. Constitutionality.

This section is not unconstitutional because it removes any degree of culpable mental state, and when coupled with KRS 508.040, it fails to allow the defendant any mitigation for the offense due to an extreme emotional disturbance. In enacting these sections, the General Assembly was seeking to protect those individuals who serve this Commonwealth in law enforcement capacities. Wyatt v. Commonwealth, 738 S.W.2d 832, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 548 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

Subdivision (1)(b) of this section is not void-for-vagueness because it is sufficiently definite that it can be understood by ordinary people, while providing the minimal guidelines necessary to govern law enforcement. Covington v. Commonwealth, 849 S.W.2d 560, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 218 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

2. Construction.

Subdivision (1)(b) of this section is not overbroad because no constitutionally permissible conduct is prohibited. Covington v. Commonwealth, 849 S.W.2d 560, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 218 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

3. Culpable Mental State.

The culpable mental state required for assault in the third degree is written into subdivision (1)(b) of this section by KRS 501.040: a prison inmate confined in a detention facility must inflict physical injury upon an employee of the detention center which necessarily requires an inmate to intentionally or wantonly inflict physical injury upon a prison employee. Covington v. Commonwealth, 849 S.W.2d 560, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 218 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

Subdivision (1)(b) of this section does require a culpable mental state, although not expressly stated, and therefore is not invalid. Covington v. Commonwealth, 849 S.W.2d 560, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 218 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

Subdivision (1)(a)1. cannot be interpreted as imposing absolute liability with respect to any element of the defined offense. Love v. Commonwealth, 55 S.W.3d 816, 2001 Ky. LEXIS 28 (Ky. 2001).

A defendant can be convicted of third degree assault of a police officer under subdivision (1)(a)1. only if he knew at the time of the assault that the victim was a peace officer. Love v. Commonwealth, 55 S.W.3d 816, 2001 Ky. LEXIS 28 (Ky. 2001).

Two (2) of three (3) convictions against defendant for third-degree assault arising out of shooting involving three (3) police officers had to be reversed as the evidence only showed that defendant intended to injure one (1) of the officers by firing his gun at him, and, thus, the lack of evidence showing intent as to the other two (2) officers meant those convictions were not supported by the evidence. Clay v. Commonwealth, 2002 Ky. App. LEXIS 1920 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 6, 2002).

4. Dangerous Instrument.

A vehicle may be used in such a manner as to constitute a dangerous instrument. Wyatt v. Commonwealth, 738 S.W.2d 832, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 548 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

5. Defenses.

Trial court erred in dismissing defendant’s indictment for the third-degree assault of a police officer because the unlawfulness of the officer’s entry into the residence where defendant was sleeping was not a defense to the assault on the officer; moreover, the evidence regarding the alleged assault by was not tainted by the officer’s unlawful entry and was admissible at trial. Commonwealth v. Johnson, 245 S.W.3d 821, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 26 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Like KRS 520.090, which precludes the unlawfulness of an arrest as a defense to a prosecution for resisting arrest, the unlawfulness of an entry or search is not a defense to an assault on a police officer under KRS 508.025. Commonwealth v. Johnson, 245 S.W.3d 821, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 26 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

6. Evidence.

Where prison guard testified that he suffered a bruised face and a scratch below his eye and where he also testified that his injuries inflicted by an inmate caused him pain and required medical attention at the local hospital, there was sufficient proof to establish a “physical injury.” Covington v. Commonwealth, 849 S.W.2d 560, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 218 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

Trial court erred in denying defendant’s directed verdict motion as to two (2) of the three (3) third-degree charges filed against defendant as the evidence only showed that defendant intended to injure one (1) police officer, and not all three (3) officers who tracked defendant to defendant’s apartment. Clay v. Commonwealth, 2002 Ky. App. LEXIS 1920 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 6, 2002).

Circuit court did not err in denying defendant’s motions for directed verdict on a third-degree assault charge given a trooper’s testimony that defendant was charging toward him with a raised baseball bat. Montgomery v. Commonwealth, 505 S.W.3d 274, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 198 (Ky. Ct. App. 2016).

Commonwealth produced sufficient evidence to survive defendant's directed verdict motion for three counts of assault in the third degree, given that defendant, while an inmate, threw a smock covered in toilet water towards three officers, they testified that the substance smelled strongly of urine, and the jury could have found the substance was urine despite the officers not seeing defendant urinate. Evans v. Commonwealth, 544 S.W.3d 166, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 89 (Ky. Ct. App. 2018).

Defendant was not entitled to a directed verdict of acquittal on the charge of third degree assault because the Commonwealth of Kentucky presented satisfactory evidence that defendant intentionally or wantonly spit on a corrections officer as the officer testified that defendant was "raising hell" and "cussing" while in the restraint chair at a detention center and spit on the officer, while other officers substantiated the testimony. Madden v. Commonwealth, 582 S.W.3d 54, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 4 (Ky. Ct. App. 2019).

7. Instructions.

The court erred in failing to instruct the jury on the defendant's culpable mental state where the defendant presented evidence that he was basically unconscious during the episode; although extreme emotional disturbance may not mitigate a reckless assault on a policeman, even recklessness requires some intent, and if there were insufficient mental capacity or no intent, there could be no violation of this section. Wyatt v. Commonwealth, 738 S.W.2d 832, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 548 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

8. Probable Cause for Arrest.

Arrestee's malicious prosecution claim against police officers, a city, and the police department failed because the officers had probable cause to arrest the arrestee for assault on a police officer in violation of KRS 508.025; the arrestee passively resisted the officers' attempts to subdue him and place him in a police car, a scuffle between one officer and the arrestee ensued during the process of placing the arrestee in the car, and the officer suffered trauma to his face during that scuffle. Hubbard v. Gross, 199 Fed. Appx. 433, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 24558 (6th Cir. Ky. 2006).

9. Sentence.

Sentence of ten (10) years received by an inmate for assaulting a prison guard and being a persistent felony offender in the second degree (PFO II) was not so grossly disproportionate to the seriousness of the underlying crime and prior felonies as to constitute cruel and unusual punishment. Covington v. Commonwealth, 849 S.W.2d 560, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 218 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

Defendant's twenty-year sentence for the Class D felony of assaulting a police officer invoked no sense of fundamental unfairness and did not constitute an exercise of absolute and arbitrary power as proscribed by the Kentucky Constitution because he offered nothing that indicated that he had been arbitrarily singled out for severe punishment, and because nothing in the record suggested that he had been subjected to unequal, disparate, or arbitrary treatment; defendant himself conceded that the sentencing evidence showed that he was almost always in trouble with the law. Thornton v. Commonwealth, 421 S.W.3d 372, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 401 (Ky. 2013).

Prosecutor stated in his sentencing phase closing argument that defendant was only going to serve three years even if the jury gave him the maximum sentence for three counts of third degree assault, but this was an improper statement and a misstatement of the law that affected the jury, as the jury asked how much time defendant would actually serve; palpable error resulted and remand was required. Evans v. Commonwealth, 544 S.W.3d 166, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 89 (Ky. Ct. App. 2018).

2. Double Jeopardy.
3. Evidence.
4. — Physical Injury.
5. Witnesses.

9. Lesser Included Offenses.

1. Applicability.

This chapter was intended to include vehicular accidents within the meaning of "assaults." Martin v. Commonwealth, 873 S.W.2d 832, 1993 Ky. App. LEXIS 181 (Ky. Ct. App. 1993).

2. Double Jeopardy.

The double jeopardy clause required vacating an appellant's conviction for fourth degree assault because the physical injury proven as one of the elements of that charge was the same alleged and proven as an element of a first degree burglary charge against him. Butts v. Commonwealth, 953 S.W.2d 943, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 93 (Ky. 1997), overruled in part, Commonwealth v. McCombs, 304 S.W.3d 676, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 61 (Ky. 2009), abrogated in part, Elery v. Commonwealth, 368 S.W.3d 78, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 87 (Ky. 2012).

Defendant's convictions for first-degree burglary under KRS 511.020 and fourth-degree assault under KRS 508.030 did not violate double jeopardy principles under U.S. Const. amend. V. and Ky. Const. § 13 as assault required a specific finding of an intentional, wanton, or reckless mental state, and the physical injury element of burglary did not require such a finding; to the extent of a conflict, Butts v. Commonwealth, 953 S.W.2d 943, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 93 (Ky. 1997), was overruled.

Commonwealth v. McCombs, 304 S.W.3d 676, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 61 (Ky. 2009), modified, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 139 (Ky. Mar. 18, 2010).

Given that a jury convicted defendant of both fourth-degree assault under KRS 508.030 and first-degree burglary under KRS 511.020, and because the appellate court was unable to tell if the jury predicated both convictions on the same physical injury to the victim, a remand was necessary. If the same physical injury was the basis of both convictions, the Double Jeopardy Clause of the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution and Ky. Const. § 13 were both violated. McCombs v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 180 (Ky. Ct. App. June 23, 2006, sub. op., 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 397 (Ky. Ct. App. June 23, 2006), sub. op., 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 330 (Ky. Ct. App. June 23, 2006), modified, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 3 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 12, 2007).

Conviction upon first-degree burglary and fourth-degree assault violated the prohibition against double jeopardy when the same physical injury was used to satisfy the physical injury elements of both KRS 511.020(1)(b) and 508.030(1)(a); fourth-degree assault did not contain an element different from first-degree burglary because if the jury believed defendant acted intentionally to cause the physical injury as to fourth-degree assault, it had to, likewise, have believed defendant acted intentionally to cause the physical injury as to first-degree burglary. McCombs v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 397 (Ky. Ct. App. June 23, 2006, sub. op., 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 330 (Ky. Ct. App. June 23, 2006)).

A defendant who was convicted in a Kentucky state court for assault in the fourth degree in violation of KRS 508.030 could be subsequently prosecuted for a violation of 18 USCS § 922(g)(9) for possessing a weapon after being convicted of a misdemeanor involving domestic violence. Fact that a domestic relationship was not an element of the state court conviction was not grounds for dismissal of the prosecution under § 922(g)(9), and the Government would be given the opportunity to prove the existence of the domestic relationship. United States v. Watkins, 407 F. Supp. 2d 825, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1634 (E.D. Ky. 2006).

3. Evidence.

Where defendant, who was under a domestic violence emergency protective order regarding his wife which order did not contain a no contact provision, sought admission to wife's apartment and was admitted after wife had her male visitor wait in locked bedroom and defendant hearing a noise in the bedroom, went to investigate, forced the door and observed the friend diving out the window, whereupon the defendant proceeded to break several items and grab his wife by the neck, the facts do not support a finding that an assault occurred since no weapon or dangerous instrument was used and since there was no serious injury, and as the facts did not support a finding of assault and therefore the "intent to commit a crime" element of KRS 511.030(1) cannot be satisfied court's overruling of defendant's motion for directed verdict on burglary charge was error. Hedges v. Commonwealth, 937 S.W.2d 703, 1996 Ky. LEXIS 122 (Ky. 1996).

Evidence was sufficient to support a conviction for fourth degree assault. Washington v. Commonwealth, 6 S.W.3d 384, 1999 Ky. App. LEXIS 71 (Ky. Ct. App. 1999).

Defendant was not entitled to a directed verdict of acquittal on a charge of second-degree assault because there was sufficient evidence to find him guilty of the lesser included offense of fourth-degree assault, under KRS 508.030(1), because he intentionally inflicted physical injury on the victim. Davidson v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 32 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 3, 2006, sub. op., 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1224 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 3, 2006)).

4. — Physical Injury.

Pain is an "impairment of health;" if the pain is substantial, but not prolonged, it constitutes a "physical injury" under KRS 500.080(13), but if it is prolonged, then it is a "serious physical injury" under KRS 500.080(15). Thus, a trial judge did not err when it instructed the jury on both the Class C felony of assault 2nd (wanton), KRS 508.020(1)(c), and the Class A misdemeanor of assault in the fourth degree (wanton), KRS 508.030(1)(a), where the evidence established that the victim's injuries resulted not only in headaches and neck pain, but also muscle spasms and numbness of her right arm and where the jury could have found that the duration of those effects constituted a "prolonged impairment of health." Parson v. Commonwealth, 144 S.W.3d 775, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 158 (Ky. 2004).

One of the elements necessary to prove an assault in the first degree is that the behavior caused serious physical injury, and the indictment in this case for this offense erroneously cited a broken leg for this element, but it was changed to soft tissue damage, and the court was not persuaded that there had been harmful error as a result of the amendment, as the leg was only mentioned in the indictment form and was a clerical error, and there was enough evidence for the jury to have found that the victim suffered a serious physical injury, but the jury found that an assault in the fourth degree had occurred; an element of assault in the fourth degree is that physical injury occurred, not the serious physical injury required for a conviction of assault in the first degree, for purposes of KRS 508.030, and the jury was not presented with evidence about a broken leg, such that the court could not find appellant suffered any prejudice from the indictment. Moran v. Commonwealth, 399 S.W.3d 35, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 71 (Ky. Ct. App. 2013).

5. Witnesses.

Where defendant was accused of assault and rape, denial of his right to cross-examine the prosecutrix about her psychiatric history constitutes reversible error since proffered testimony tended to impeach her credibility. Wagner v. Commonwealth, 581 S.W.2d 352, 1979 Ky. LEXIS 262 (Ky. 1979), overruled, Estep v. Commonwealth, 663 S.W.2d 213, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 316 (Ky. 1983), overruled in part, Estep v. Commonwealth, 663 S.W.2d 213, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 316 (Ky. 1983), overruled on other grounds, sub nom. Estep v. Commonwealth, 663 S.W.2d 213, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 316 (Ky. 1983).

8. Instructions.

Defendant was not entitled to an instruction on third degree assault where the evidence as to the seriousness of the injury was that buckshot from the shotgun blast had gone through the victim's elbow and forearm, requiring 29 days of hospitalization and five operations and the replacement of three (3) inches of his bone by a steel plate, and where as a result of the shot, he also sustained muscle and nerve damage and could not move his fingers. Trent v. Commonwealth, 606 S.W.2d 386, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 369 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

Since there was no evidence adduced that the injury caused by the defendant could be classified as anything less than serious, or that his mental state at the time of the assault was anything other than intentional or wanton, there was no basis for the court to give an instruction on assault in the fourth degree. Jones v. Commonwealth, 737 S.W.2d 466, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 574 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

Trial court did not err by refusing to give instruction on fourth-degree assault in a prosecution for second-degree assault where the defendant pointed a gun at the victim and shot her three times; the defendant's behavior was more compatible with the definition of "intentional" than with "reckless." Adkins v. Commonwealth, 787 S.W.2d 272, 1990 Ky. App. LEXIS 46 (Ky. Ct. App. 1990).

The trial court properly gave an instruction under KRS 508.040 without defendant's consent which mitigated a conviction for assault under KRS 508.010, 508.020, and this section; there was enough proof in the record to justify the giving of the instruction in question and it was not sufficiently prejudicial to compel a reversal of the trial court. Commonwealth v. Elmore, 831 S.W.2d 183, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 93 (Ky. 1992).

In instructing a jury on fourth degree assault under KRS 508.030 and first degree burglary under KRS 511.020, the trial court erroneously inserted the term “crowbar” for the terms “dangerous instrument” and/or “deadly weapon,” thereby committing reversible error. A crowbar, as a matter of law, was not a deadly weapon, it was a tool, and whether the crowbar constituted a dangerous instrument was, in view of the disputed testimony, a fact question for the jury to decide. McCombs v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 180 (Ky. Ct. App. June 23, 2006, sub. op., 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 397 (Ky. Ct. App. June 23, 2006), sub. op., 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 330 (Ky. Ct. App. June 23, 2006), modified, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 3 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 12, 2007).

Insertion of the term “crowbar” in the jury instructions where the terms “deadly weapon” and “dangerous instrument” were used by the burglary and assault statutes (KRS 511.020 and 508.030) was harmless error as a deadly weapon included a billy, nightstick, or club under KRS 500.080(4)(d), and a crowbar was very similar to a nightstick or billyclub when wielded as a weapon; there was substantial evidence that defendant used the crowbar as a metal club in defendant’s attack on the victim. Commonwealth v. McCombs, 304 S.W.3d 676, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 61 (Ky. 2009), modified, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 139 (Ky. Mar. 18, 2010).

Any lack of clarity in a jury instruction as to the mental state required for fourth-degree assault was not palpable error because defendant’s substantial rights were not affected, as the jury did not consider the instruction once the jury found defendant guilty of second-degree assault. Burke v. Commonwealth, 506 S.W.3d 307, 2016 Ky. LEXIS 631 (Ky. 2016).

9. Lesser Included Offenses.

Wanton endangerment is not a lesser-included offense of misdemeanor assault as assault in the fourth degree requires a finding of physical injury, whereas wanton endangerment does not, and wanton endangerment requires conduct which creates a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to another, whereas fourth-degree assault does not. Matthews v. Commonwealth, 44 S.W.3d 361, 2001 Ky. LEXIS 24 (Ky. 2001).

Because the complicity charge required proof that the co-defendant caused the victim’s physical injury, and the fourth degree assault instruction required an inconsistent finding that defendant caused the physical injury, defendant’s fourth degree assault could not be a lesser-included charge of complicity to assault in the second degree. Thus, a lesser-included offense jury instruction was properly denied. Fields v. Commonwealth, 219 S.W.3d 742, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 2007).

Where the defendant first started beating the victim and eventually the co-defendant started beating the victim with a lug wrench while defendant threatened to kill the victim and encouraged the co-defendant to get the victim’s wallet, the later assault is the action for which defendant was charged with complicity; a jury could not reasonably have found that defendant was not guilty of complicity to the second degree assault, but guilty of only the preceding fourth degree assault, and, thus, the jury instruction on lesser-included offenses was properly denied. Fields v. Commonwealth, 219 S.W.3d 742, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 2007).

Defendant’s assertion that the jury could have believed he was not legally impaired when he hit three victims, and thus his conduct was merely reckless, was refuted by the evidence. Defendant’s conduct was beyond reckless, and thus an instruction on the lesser-included offense of fourth-degree assault was unwarranted. Iraola-Lovaco v. Commonwealth, 586 S.W.3d 241, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 428 (Ky. 2019).

Trial court did not err by failing to instruct the jury on the lesser included offense of fourth-degree assault for defendant’s attacks on the two children because conspicuously absent from defendant’s tendered instruction was a required finding that defendant caused physical injury to them with a dangerous instrument as the first child testified that defendant cut her nose with a butter knife, and the second child told the first child that defendant had stabbed her; and no evidentiary basis existed upon which the jury could have had reasonable doubt that defendant did not use a dangerous instrument to inflict the girls’ physical injuries. Exantus v. Commonwealth, 612 S.W.3d 871, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 458 (Ky. 2020).

3. Evidence.

1. Lesser Included Offenses.

Unpublished decision: First-degree robbery conviction was affirmed because the trial court did not err in refusing to instruct the jury on theft by unlawful taking over $ 300.00 and fourth-degree assault as lesser-included offenses of robbery, as the jury could not have reasonably doubted defendant’s guilt of robbery, and yet believed beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was guilty of the two lesser crimes. Mack v. Commonwealth, 136 S.W.3d 434, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 150 (Ky. 2004).

3. Evidence.

Unpublished decision: In a 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 case in which a plaintiff appealed district court’s grant of summary judgment in favor of a police officer, the officer was entitled to qualified immunity because he had probable cause to arrest plaintiff for fourth-degree assault; plaintiff, his son, and a pool employee all confirmed that plaintiff slapped his son, and the officer knew that the slap hurt plaintiff’s son. Harvey v. Carr, 616 Fed. Appx. 826, 2015 FED App. 0472N, 2015 U.S. App. LEXIS 11019 (6th Cir. Ky. 2015).

Unpublished decision: In a 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 case in which a plaintiff appealed district court’s grant of summary judgment in favor of a police officer based on qualified immunity, the record presented no material dispute of fact whether the officer knew conclusively that the parental-discipline statute protected plaintiff’s use of force; the undisputed facts tracked the elements of fourth-degree assault, and nothing required the officer to inquire further to discover plaintiff’s affirmative defense. Harvey v. Carr, 616 Fed. Appx. 826, 2015 FED App. 0472N, 2015 U.S. App. LEXIS 11019 (6th Cir. Ky. 2015).

508.032. Assault of family member or member of an unmarried couple — Enhancement of penalty.

(1) If a person commits a third or subsequent offense of assault in the fourth degree under KRS 508.030 within five (5) years, and the relationship between the perpetrator and the victim in each of the offenses meets the definition of family member or member of an unmarried couple, as defined in KRS 403.720, then the person may be convicted of a Class D felony. If the Commonwealth desires to utilize the provisions of this section, the Commonwealth shall indict the defendant and the case shall be tried in the Circuit Court as a felony case. The jury, or judge if the trial is without a jury, may decline to assess a felony penalty in a case under this section and may convict the defendant of a misdemeanor. The victim in the second or subsequent offense is not required to be the same person who was assaulted in the prior offenses in order for the provisions of this section to apply.

(2) In determining the five (5) year period under this section, the period shall be measured from the dates on which the offenses occurred for which the judgments of conviction were entered by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Analysis

1. Sufficiency of the Evidence.
2. Conduct of Trial.

1. Sufficiency of the Evidence.

Because the Commonwealth failed to prove that there was a prior conviction for the assault of a family member or member of an unmarried couple, as required by KRS 508.032, the trial court erred in denying defendant's motion for a directed verdict. Lisle v. Commonwealth, 290 S.W.3d 675, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 113 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009).

Since there was no proof of the identity of the victims and the nature of the relationship between defendant and the victims, the trial court erred in failing to grant defendant's motion for a directed verdict on the fourth-degree assault, third offense, charge. Galloway v. Commonwealth, 424 S.W.3d 921, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 97 (Ky. 2014).

2. Conduct of Trial.

Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 508.032, as well as misdemeanor-sentencing and non-delegation case law, required trifurcation for a conviction under § 508.032. Brewer v. Commonwealth, 478 S.W.3d 363, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 1856 (Ky. 2015).

Under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 508.032, the first phase of the trifurcated process was the guilt phase where no prior-conviction evidence was admissible, and if the jury found guilt, it fixed punishment. Brewer v. Commonwealth, 478 S.W.3d 363, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 1856 (Ky. 2015).

Under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 508.032, the second phase was the § 508.032 guilt phase where prior-conviction evidence was admissible, but only prior convictions of fourth-degree assault involving a family member or member of an unmarried couple and if the jury found defendant not guilty in the second phase, enhanced sentencing was entered imposing the misdemeanor sentence fixed by the jury on the first phase. Brewer v. Commonwealth, 478 S.W.3d 363, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 1856 (Ky. 2015).

Under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 508.032, the third phase, enhanced sentencing for fourth-degree assault, third or subsequent offense within five years, was conducted in accordance with Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 532.055. Brewer v. Commonwealth, 478 S.W.3d 363, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 1856 (Ky. 2015).

508.040. Assault under extreme emotional disturbance.

(1) In any prosecution under KRS 508.010, 508.020 or 508.030 in which intentionally causing physical injury or serious physical injury is an element of the offense, the defendant may establish in mitigation that he acted under the influence of extreme emotional disturbance, as defined in subsection (1)(a) of KRS 507.020.

(2) An assault committed under the influence of extreme emotional disturbance is:

(a) A Class D felony when it would constitute an assault in the first degree or an assault in the second degree if not committed under the influence of an extreme emotional disturbance; or

(b) A Class B misdemeanor when it would constitute an assault in the fourth degree if not committed under the influence of an extreme emotional disturbance.

1. In General.

Since word “strike” did not appear in law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding, or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense, such law did not cover lower degree of offense of striking with deadly weapon with intent to kill, under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning. (Decided under prior law) McIntosh v. Commonwealth, 275 Ky. 126, 120 S.W.2d 1031, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 383 (Ky. 1938).

Malice is the distinguishing element between the offense defined by law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning and the misdemeanor defined by law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Combs v. Commonwealth, 298 Ky. 481, 183 S.W.2d 486, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 932 (Ky. 1944); Kelley v. Commonwealth, 300 Ky. 136, 187 S.W.2d 796, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 804 (Ky. 1945).

Law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense did not include the offense of “striking” with a deadly weapon with an intent to kill. (Decided under prior law) Reed v. Commonwealth, 248 S.W.2d 911, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 768 (Ky. 1952).

At common law, intentional wounding, by shooting or otherwise, was assault and battery. (Decided under prior law) Bentley v. Commonwealth, 354 S.W.2d 495, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 40 (Ky. 1962).

Where defendants all participated in a brawl and acted in concert, the failure to identify the one who did the actual stabbing was immaterial as to their joint guilt for assault. Houston v. Commonwealth, 554 S.W.2d 89, 1977 Ky. App. LEXIS 754 (Ky. Ct. App. 1977).

2. Construction.

Distinction between offense under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat of passion without previous malice and not in self-defense and one under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning is in principle the difference between murder and voluntary manslaughter. (Decided under prior law) Perkins v. Commonwealth, 218 Ky. 802, 292 S.W. 498, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 261 (Ky. 1927).

Offense denounced by law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense was degree of crime defined in law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning. (Decided under prior law) Hensley v. Commonwealth, 264 Ky. 718, 95 S.W.2d 564, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 387 (Ky. 1936); Mullins v. Commonwealth, 276 Ky. 555, 124 S.W.2d 788, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 556 (Ky. 1939); Rice v. Commonwealth, 288 Ky. 152, 155 S.W.2d 757, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 68 (Ky. 1941).

To be an offense under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning the act must have been with malice so that if death had ensued it would have been murder, while under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense, the same act without malice and not in self-defense is a misdemeanor and would have been manslaughter if death had ensued. (Decided under prior law) Pack v. Common-

In prosecution under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful cutting, striking or stabbing another with a knife or other deadly weapon where evidence authorized it, an instruction on the common-law misdemeanor of assault and battery should have been given, as striking with a deadly weapon without malice or intent to kill was not embraced in law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Helton v. Commonwealth, 244 S.W.2d 762, 1951 Ky. LEXIS 1248 (Ky. 1951).

The offense denounced by law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense was not a degree of the one denounced by law that provided penalty for malicious and willful cutting, striking or stabbing another with a knife or other deadly weapon. (Decided under prior law) Reed v. Commonwealth, 248 S.W.2d 911, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 768 (Ky. 1952).

3. Purpose.

KRS 508.025 is not unconstitutional because it removes any degree of culpable mental state, and when coupled with this section, it fails to allow the defendant any mitigation for the offense due to an extreme emotional disturbance. In enacting these sections, the General Assembly was seeking to protect those individuals who serve this Commonwealth in law enforcement capacities. Wyatt v. Commonwealth, 738 S.W.2d 832, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 548 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

4. Elements.

In prosecution under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense for shooting an officer, where shooting is done in sudden heat and passion or sudden affray and without previous malice, the court should define the word “affray,” which is the mutual combat of two or more persons in a public place of the terror of the people. (Decided under prior law) Wallace v. Commonwealth, 207 Ky. 122, 268 S.W. 809, 1925 Ky. LEXIS 30 (Ky. 1925).

Drunkenness of defendant was a factor to be considered by jury in determining whether defendant acted with malice, so as to be guilty of felony under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning rather than misdemeanor under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Abbott v. Commonwealth, 305 Ky. 620, 205 S.W.2d 348, 1947 Ky. LEXIS 901 (Ky. 1947).

Assault under extreme emotional disturbance in Kentucky remained crime of violence under United States Sentencing Guidelines’ elements clause because it required proving that someone used physical force against another. United States v. Maynard, 894 F.3d 773, 2018 FED App. 0130P, 2018 U.S. App. LEXIS 18104 (6th Cir. Ky. 2018).

5. —Extreme Emotional Disturbance.

Because defendant was prosecuted for attempted murder, and not for assault, KRS 508.040 was inapplicable. Keeling v. Commonwealth, 381 S.W.3d 248, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 160 (Ky. 2012).

Whereas self-protection requires justification for the injurious act itself, the element of extreme emotional disturbance requires reasonable justification only for the emotional disturbance, this distinction being the ground for the fact that one calls for an acquittal and the other merely reduces the degree of the offense. Engler v. Commonwealth, 627 S.W.2d 582, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 229 (Ky. 1982).

Although defendant was not entitled to use deadly force against two (2) unarmed men, a jury could believe that defendant acted in retaliation for the beating the victims inflicted; consequently, the trial court erred in refusing to instruct the jury on the lesser-included offense of assault under extreme emotional disturbance under KRS 508.040 and 507.020(1)(a), and RCr 9.54(1). Thomas v. Commonwealth, 170 S.W.3d 343, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 310 (Ky. 2005).

6. Evidence.

When, under an indictment for murder, the proof shows death was not due to the wound inflicted, a conviction may be had under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning for malicious cutting and wounding, or under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Housman v. Commonwealth, 128 Ky. 818, 110 S.W. 236, 33 Ky. L. Rptr. 311, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 100 (Ky. 1908).

Where there was evidence that defendant provoked the conflict during which he stabbed the person with whom he was fighting, this was sufficient to sustain a conviction. (Decided under prior law) Watkins v. Commonwealth, 378 S.W.2d 614, 1964 Ky. LEXIS 190 (Ky. 1964).

In the absence of other evidence, the mere fact that a woman is driving down a public road in broad daylight with a man other than her husband could hardly constitute justification or excuse for a knife attack upon the man. Thomas v. Commonwealth, 587 S.W.2d 264, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 465 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

Trial court properly refused to instruct the jury on assault under extreme emotional disturbance because no reasonable person would consider the ordinary stresses of childrearing a reasonable explanation for a temporary state of mind so enraged, inflamed, or disturbed as to overcome one's judgment, and to cause one to act uncontrollably from the impelling force of the extreme emotional disturbance rather than from evil or malicious purposes. Schrimsher v. Commonwealth, 190 S.W.3d 318, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 104 (Ky. 2006).

7. Indictment.

Where on trial of one indicted under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning there was evidence that there was no malice, but shooting in sudden heat and passion, it was error not to charge under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense where the crime was a misdemeanor and not a felony. (Decided under prior law) Sapp v. Commonwealth, 28 S.W. 158, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 336 (1894).

Indictment charging offense of malicious and willful cutting, and of cutting in sudden affray, which is degree of former offense, is not duplicitous. (Decided under prior law) Ewers v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 780, 146 S.W.2d 1, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 578 (Ky. 1940).

Under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense, the shooting at another must not be in self-defense and instruction should follow the law; moreover instruction that did not refer to shooting in sudden affray as well as in sudden heat and passion was prejudicial. (Decided under prior law) Violet v. Commonwealth, 72 S.W. 1, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 1720, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 479 (Ky. Ct. App. 1903); Greer v. Commonwealth, 85 S.W. 166, 27 Ky. L. Rptr. 333 (1905).

Where conviction was not under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense but for malicious striking and wounding, an instruction under such law, though error, was not prejudicial. (Decided under prior law) Cruise v. Commonwealth, 226 Ky. 831, 11 S.W.2d 925, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 168 (Ky. 1928).

The omission of word "previous" in an instruction under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense before "malice" is not prejudicial and it is better to omit the words "without malice." (Decided under prior law) Howard v. Commonwealth, 71 S.W. 446, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 1301 (1903).

Where defendant shot at boys to keep them from stealing his beans, and with no intent to kill, he is not entitled to an instruction on shooting in sudden affray, but is entitled to instruction on shooting in sudden heat and passion, without previous malice, "sudden affray" being a difficulty or fight suddenly resulting from mutual agreement of parties. (Decided under prior law) Gibbons v. Commonwealth, 253 Ky. 72, 68 S.W.2d 753, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 597 (Ky. 1934).

Defendant was entitled to instruction under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense where he was indicted and tried under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning. (Decided under prior law) Hensley v. Commonwealth, 264 Ky. 718, 95 S.W.2d 564, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 387 (Ky. 1936).

Evidence of cutting in scuffle between boys at dance justified submission of case either as malicious and willful cutting or as cutting in sudden affray. (Decided under prior law) Ewers v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 780, 146 S.W.2d 1, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 578 (Ky. 1940).

The term "sudden affray" should be defined in instruction to jury, but failure to do so is not prejudicial error. (Decided under prior law) Edwards v. Commonwealth, 289 Ky. 318, 158 S.W.2d 377, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 29 (Ky. 1941).

Direction by Court of Appeals that upon retrial court should define term "sudden affray" was inappropriate, inopportune, and not in accord with decisions that failure of court to define that term in instruction was not prejudicial error. (Decided under prior law) Pack v. Commonwealth, 287 Ky. 192, 152 S.W.2d 600, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 520 (Ky. 1941).

Where defendant stated he was not at the scene of shooting and that he did not fire the shots, there was no basis for instruction under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Tipton v. Commonwealth, 250 S.W.2d 1015, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 896 (Ky. 1952).

When instructions embrace all three degrees of shooting and wounding, and defense of accidental shooting as well, accidental shooting instruction must contain proviso that act was neither willful nor result of wanton, reckless, or grossly careless handling of weapon. (Decided under prior law) Bentley v. Commonwealth, 354 S.W.2d 495, 1962 Ky. LEXIS 40 (Ky. 1962).

Two separate factors are necessary for entitlement to an instruction under this section; first, there must be evidence of extreme emotional disturbance, and, second, there must be a reasonable justification or excuse under the circumstances as the accused believes them to be. Creamer v. Commonwealth, 629 S.W.2d 324, 1981 Ky. App. LEXIS 319 (Ky. Ct. App. 1981).

9. —Extreme Emotional Disturbance.

It is of no consequence which witnesses place into evidence the circumstances justifying an instruction on extreme emotional disturbance; thus even though the defendant denies such mitigation or defense as drunkenness, insanity, extreme emotional disturbance, etc., if the evidence as a whole, from any source, warrants an instruction embodying such a defense or mitigation, that instruction must be given. Thomas v. Commonwealth, 587 S.W.2d 264, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 465 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

Although an instruction of the defense of insanity should not have included a statement that the law presumes every man sane until the contrary is shown by the evidence, it was not error to convict a defendant of assault under extreme emotional disturbance where the instruction was tendered to the trial court by the defendant herself. Commonwealth v. Southwood, 623 S.W.2d 897, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 291 (Ky. 1981).

Where in an assault prosecution there was expert testimony that on the date of the offense the defendant was, in fact, seriously emotionally disturbed or out of contact with reality, the defendant was entitled to an instruction on assault under extreme emotional disturbance and the jury should have been permitted to examine the reasonableness of the defendant's excuse or justification through the eyes of the accused. Creamer v. Commonwealth, 629 S.W.2d 324, 1981 Ky. App. LEXIS 319 (Ky. Ct. App. 1981).

In a prosecution for assault, the trial court erred when it refused to give an instruction on the mitigating defense of extreme emotional disturbance, where in view of the evidence presented it would not have been unreasonable for a juror to believe beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not acting in self-defense or in defense of his brother, yet still believe that he was acting in a state of extreme emotional disturbance for which there was a reasonable justification or excuse under the circumstances as he believed them to be. Engler v. Commonwealth, 627 S.W.2d 582, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 229 (Ky. 1982).

In a trial for defendant's assault on his wife, defendant was not entitled to an instruction on assault under extreme emotional disturbance because there was no evidence that he first learned of his wife's affair immediately preceding the altercation, or even on the same day; the wife's testimony was only that they were fighting about her affair, not that she first told him about the affair that night. Driver v. Commonwealth, 361 S.W.3d 877, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 22 (Ky. 2012).

Kentucky felony assault under extreme emotional disturbance, a violation of Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 508.040, was a crime of violence as it required the specific intent to cause physical injury. United States v. Knox, 593 Fed. Appx. 536, 2015 FED App. 0128N, 2015 U.S. App. LEXIS 2343 (6th Cir. Ky. 2015).

10. —Intent.

Although law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense did not condemn "willfully" shooting another in sudden affray, instruction under such law using word "willfully" was not prejudicial, since such word meant intentionally as opposed to accidentally or involuntarily, and such instruction was favorable to defendant. (Decided under prior law) Muncy v. Commonwealth, 265 Ky. 730, 97 S.W.2d 606, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 566 (Ky. 1936).

Where evidence indicated there was no intention to shoot wounded person, but shooting was result of wanton, reckless or careless handling of pistol or shooting it at random, instructions should have been given embracing offense of recklessly or carelessly shooting without intention to wound. (Decided under prior law) Sumpter v. Commonwealth, 251 S.W.2d 852, 1952 Ky. LEXIS 936 (Ky. 1952).

11. —Lesser Offenses.

Where defendant shot at, without hitting, a person with whom he was having a quarrel, the jury should be instructed under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding and cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense as well as for malicious shooting. (Decided under prior law) Wilhelm v. Commonwealth, 28 S.W. 783, 16 Ky. L. Rptr. 428 (1894).

The offense defined in law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense is a degree of the offense of malicious shooting and wounding with intent to kill described in law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning and instruction thereunder is authorized. (Decided under prior law) Barnes v. Commonwealth, 107 S.W. 806, 32 Ky. L. Rptr. 1152 (1908); Williams v. Commonwealth, 102 Ky. 381, 43 S.W. 455, 19 Ky. L. Rptr. 1427, 1897 Ky. LEXIS 115 (Ky. 1897); Gillum v. Commonwealth, 121 S.W. 445 (Ky. 1909); Austin v. Commonwealth, 201 Ky. 615, 258 S.W. 86, 1924 Ky. LEXIS 609 (Ky. 1924).

Where in a prosecution for maliciously shooting a policeman, the defense was that upon demand he turned to surrender the pistol to the officer, who knocked it up and it was discharged, defendant was entitled to an instruction under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense and also for accidental shooting, and also on lesser offense if a reasonable doubt as to degree of offense. (Decided under prior law) Mann v. Commonwealth, 110 S.W. 243, 33 Ky. L. Rptr. 269 (1908).

Where evidence justified an instruction both under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning and law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense, it was reversible error for court to fail to instruct that if jury had a reasonable doubt as to the degree of the offense, he should have only been convicted of lower degree. (Decided under prior law) Breeden v. Commonwealth, 151 Ky. 217, 151 S.W. 407, 1912 Ky. LEXIS 786 (Ky. 1912).

Where there was evidence warranting the conclusion that defendant wounded another in a reckless shooting, and not in sudden affray, an instruction submitting the common-law offense should have been given. (Decided under prior law) Balle v. Commonwealth, 153 Ky. 558, 156 S.W. 147, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 896 (Ky. 1913).

The offense of shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense and one under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning were included in charge of murder, and should have been instructed upon when evidence authorized it. (Decided under prior law) Lyons v. Commonwealth, 216 Ky. 202, 287 S.W. 534, 1926 Ky. LEXIS 856 (Ky. 1926); Harris v. Commonwealth, 218 Ky. 798, 292 S.W. 467, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 257 (Ky. 1927); Gill v. Commonwealth, 235 Ky. 351, 31 S.W.2d 608, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 370 (Ky. 1930).

Court erred in not giving instructions under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense and law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning where, in murder case, there was evidence that deceased was shot prior to infliction of wounds on him by defendant. (Decided under prior law) Noble v. Commonwealth, 217 Ky. 556, 290 S.W. 330, 1927 Ky. LEXIS 19 (Ky. 1927).

Failure to instruct under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning and law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense was not prejudicial where the conviction was for manslaughter. (Decided under prior law) Martin v. Commonwealth, 223 Ky. 762, 4 S.W.2d 419, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 404 (Ky. 1928).

Defendant in murder prosecution is not entitled to an instruction under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense where deceased died from wounds inflicted by defendant. (Decided under prior law) Luttrell v. Commonwealth, 250 Ky. 334, 63 S.W.2d 292, 1933 Ky. LEXIS 698 (Ky. 1933); Pelfry v. Commonwealth, 255 Ky. 442, 74 S.W.2d 913, 1934 Ky. LEXIS 256

(Ky. 1934); Morris v. Commonwealth, 268 Ky. 768, 105 S.W.2d 1036, 1937 Ky. LEXIS 528 (Ky. 1937).

Shooting and wounding with malice was the felony governed by law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning, and malice was one of the essential elements of the offense but where there was no malice, the offense was a misdemeanor, and was governed by law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Childers v. Commonwealth, 279 Ky. 737, 132 S.W.2d 81, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 353 (Ky. 1939).

In prosecution for willful and malicious shooting, an instruction on shooting and wounding in sudden affray or in sudden heat and passion should be given, where the evidence justifies it. (Decided under prior law) Eve v. Commonwealth, 278 Ky. 123, 128 S.W.2d 616, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 414 (Ky. 1939).

In prosecution under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning for willful and malicious shooting, an instruction on assault and battery under law that provided penalty for drawing, flourishing or recklessly using a deadly weapon was not authorized, since shooting and wounding in sudden affray or in sudden heat and passion was the only lower degree of the offense charged. (Decided under prior law) Eve v. Commonwealth, 278 Ky. 123, 128 S.W.2d 616, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 414 (Ky. 1939).

Where defendant, in prosecution for willful and malicious shooting, relied upon an alibi, a lower degree instruction was not authorized. (Decided under prior law) Eve v. Commonwealth, 278 Ky. 123, 128 S.W.2d 616, 1939 Ky. LEXIS 414 (Ky. 1939).

Where court instructed jury under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning and also on shooting and wounding in sudden affray or sudden heat and passion, a misdemeanor defined by law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense, defendant's rights were not prejudiced by failure to instruct on shooting at without wounding in sudden affray or sudden heat and passion, the other misdemeanor defined by that law since there was no evidence from which it could reasonably be inferred that any person other than defendant shot and wounded the prosecuting witness. (Decided under prior law) Mullins v. Commonwealth, 285 Ky. 804, 149 S.W.2d 725, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 478 (Ky. 1941).

Although, in prosecution for malicious shooting evidence clearly showed a deliberate and unprovoked attack by the accused, and there was no evidence to indicate that the shooting occurred in sudden heat or affray, accused was not prejudiced by giving of sudden affray instruction, under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Kelley v. Commonwealth, 300 Ky. 136, 187 S.W.2d 796, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 804 (Ky. 1945).

In a prosecution for malicious shooting and wounding, the court did not err in giving instructions on shooting and wounding and shooting in sudden affray. (Decided under prior law) Cravens v. Commonwealth, 262 S.W.2d 466, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 1100 (Ky. 1953).

Defendants prosecuted for willfully and maliciously shooting another with intent to kill were entitled, under the evidence of intoxication, to an instruction on the lesser offense of shooting and wounding in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice. (Decided under prior law) Cummins v. Commonwealth, 344 S.W.2d 611, 1961 Ky. LEXIS 238 (Ky. 1961).

Where the record of the trial for malicious shooting did not contain any objection to the failure of the court to instruct upon the lesser offenses of shooting in sudden affray or recklessly using a deadly weapon and the point was not raised in the motion for a new trial, the issue was not preserved for review. (Decided under prior law) Stevens v. Commonwealth, 462 S.W.2d 182, 1970 Ky. LEXIS 649 (Ky. 1970).

In a prosecution under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning, where there was testimony that the defendant had no malice toward the officers and that he was attempting to protect himself from them as they accosted him in his residence, he was entitled to an instruction on the lesser crime under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Clemons v. Commonwealth, 462 S.W.2d 919, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 562 (Ky. 1971).

12. —Proper.

An instruction under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense including words "willfully and feloniously" was not erroneous, in that it was more favorable to defendant than he was entitled to. (Decided under prior law) Hall v. Commonwealth, 229 Ky. 646, 17 S.W.2d 751, 1929 Ky. LEXIS 821 (Ky. 1929).

The omission of word "previous" before "malice" in instruction under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense was not error. (Decided under prior law) Allison v. Commonwealth, 273 Ky. 538, 117 S.W.2d 184, 1938 Ky. LEXIS 666 (Ky. 1938).

Although better practice would have required instruction to define "sudden affray," failure to define it was not prejudicial error in view of simple state of facts, involving cutting in scuffle between boys at dance. (Decided under prior law) Ewers v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 780, 146 S.W.2d 1, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 578 (Ky. 1940).

Since law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense did not contain condition that "sudden heat and passion" must be upon provocation reasonably calculated to excite passions of defendant beyond his control, instruction merely following language of statute without such condition was proper. (Decided under prior law) Ewers v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 780, 146 S.W.2d 1, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 578 (Ky. 1940).

Court did not err in giving instructions and in failing to properly define technical terms used therein, "maliciously," "sudden affray," "self-defense," and "reasonable doubt," where it denied term "sudden affray," as used in one of its instructions as "a fight or difficulty in excessive rage or anger arising from a temporary provocation," and where court also gave instructions on "self-defense" and upon "reasonable doubt." (Decided under prior law) Pack v. Commonwealth, 287 Ky. 192, 152 S.W.2d 600, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 520 (Ky. 1941).

The trial court properly gave an instruction under this section without defendant's consent which mitigated a conviction for assault under KRS 508.010, 508.020, and 508.030; there was enough proof in the record to justify the giving of the instruction in question and it was not sufficiently prejudicial to compel a reversal of the trial court. Commonwealth v. Elmore, 831 S.W.2d 183, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 93 (Ky. 1992).

13. —Improper.

An instruction under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense, which required the shooting in sudden heat and passion to be "upon a provocation reasonably calculated to excite the passion of defendant beyond his power of control," was erroneous and prejudicial; it was properly applicable to a case of voluntary manslaughter, but improper under the offense covered by the first mentioned law. (Decided under prior law) Tall v. Commonwealth, 110 S.W. 425, 33 Ky. L. Rptr. 541 (1908); Hardin v.

Commonwealth, 114 Ky. 722, 71 S.W. 862, 24 Ky. L. Rptr. 1540, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 26 (Ky. 1903).

In absence of evidence of a substantial nature to support a felony indictment under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning, giving a felony instruction was error, but inasmuch as conviction was for a misdemeanor under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense, error did not authorize a reversal. (Decided under prior law) Edwards v. Commonwealth, 233 Ky. 356, 25 S.W.2d 746, 1930 Ky. LEXIS 557 (Ky. 1930).

Accused cannot complain that instruction defining offense added words “feloniously,” and also “with felonious intent to kill,” since such added words were advantageous rather than prejudicial to him, and “feloniously” was at most only superfluous. (Decided under prior law) Pack v. Commonwealth, 287 Ky. 192, 152 S.W.2d 600, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 520 (Ky. 1941).

14. —Properly Denied.

Although cutting with a knife is an assault and battery, defendant is not entitled to an instruction on assault and battery, as this offense is fully covered by law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning and law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Lewis v. Commonwealth, 156 Ky. 336, 160 S.W. 1061, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 428 (Ky. 1913); Caldwell v. Commonwealth, 265 Ky. 402, 96 S.W.2d 1041, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 496 (Ky. 1936); Muncy v. Commonwealth, 265 Ky. 730, 97 S.W.2d 606, 1936 Ky. LEXIS 566 (Ky. 1936).

Under an indictment for malicious striking under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning where malice was in issue defendant was not entitled to an instruction under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense which does not embrace striking, but was entitled to an instruction for assault and battery. (Decided under prior law) Caperton v. Commonwealth, 189 Ky. 652, 225 S.W. 481, 1920 Ky. LEXIS 492 (Ky. 1920).

Where the offense of malicious shooting and wounding was committed by defendants in attempt to commit a felony by breaking in a store, and complaining witness interrupted defendants by shooting at them, which fire they returned, defendants were not entitled to an instruction for shooting in sudden heat and passion without malice. (Decided under prior law) Brewington v. Commonwealth, 200 Ky. 276, 254 S.W. 917, 1923 Ky. LEXIS 84 (Ky. 1923).

Person who shot at someone with deadly weapon was not entitled to instruction on breach of peace. (Decided under prior law) Noral v. Commonwealth, 202 Ky. 318, 259 S.W. 706, 1924 Ky. LEXIS 713 (Ky. 1924).

Where circumstances in case and actions of defendant in fight were such as to warrant jury’s conclusion that defendant acted with malice, defendant’s argument that he was guilty, if at all, only under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense was without merit. (Decided under prior law) Stevens v. Commonwealth, 286 Ky. 511, 151 S.W.2d 404, 1941 Ky. LEXIS 305 (Ky. 1941).

Defendant, in prosecution under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense, was not entitled to instruction on his right to evict wounded person from his premises, since defendant had fired gun, not to evict such person, but to defend himself from number of disorderly persons. (Decided under prior law) Small v. Commonwealth, 257 S.W.2d 906, 1953 Ky. LEXIS 814 (Ky. 1953).

15. Lesser Included Offenses.

A conviction before a justice of the peace for breach of the peace is a bar to a prosecution under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense when the indictment is based on same facts as in the breach of peace charge. (Decided under prior law) Commonwealth v. Gill, 90 S.W. 605, 28 Ky. L. Rptr. 879 (1906).

Shooting in sudden affray under law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and battery are degrees of the offense denounced by law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning. (Decided under prior law) Pack v. Commonwealth, 282 Ky. 835, 140 S.W.2d 626, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 267 (Ky. 1940).

Offense of shooting in sudden affray or heat and passion and offense of drawing, flourishing, and recklessly using deadly weapon are lower degrees of crime of malicious and willful wounding under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful shooting, cutting or poisoning. (Decided under prior law) Hurst v. Commonwealth, 284 Ky. 599, 145 S.W.2d 520, 1940 Ky. LEXIS 543 (Ky. 1940).

In a prosecution under law that provided penalty for malicious and willful cutting, striking or stabbing another with a knife or other deadly weapon where the evidence clearly disclosed the violation of that law the court properly refused to reduce the charge to that contained in law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense. (Decided under prior law) Mayberry v. Commonwealth, 296 Ky. 471, 177 S.W.2d 594, 1944 Ky. LEXIS 568 (Ky. 1944).

The offense covered by law that provided penalty for shooting, wounding or cutting in sudden affray or heat and passion without previous malice and not in self-defense was not a degree of the one denounced by law that provided penalty for malicious and willful cutting, striking or stabbing another with a knife or other deadly weapon. (Decided under prior law) Delph v. Commonwealth, 300 Ky. 722, 190 S.W.2d 340, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 642 (Ky. 1945).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Construction.

Unpublished decision: In a case in which defendant appealed his 235-month sentence for violating 18 U.S.C.S. §§ 922(g)(1) and 924(e)(1), he unsuccessfully argued that the district court erred when it sentenced him as an armed career criminal because his Kentucky conviction for assault under extreme emotional disturbance under KRS 508.040 did not qualify as a violent felony under the Armed Career Criminal Act. Section 508.040 incorporated the elements of KRS Ann. §§ 508.010, 508.020, or 508.030, and it operated only to reduce the applicable sentence. United States v. Colbert, 525 Fed. Appx. 364, 2013 FED App. 0462N, 2013 U.S. App. LEXIS 9555 (6th Cir. Ky. 2013).

2. Elements.

1. Purpose.

This section was designed to replace common law simple assault, but was also intended to reach certain conduct which could not be reached under common law assault in some jurisdictions, such as threatening with an unloaded weapon. Dobrowskyj v. Jefferson County, 823 F.2d 955, 1987 U.S. App. LEXIS 9181 (6th Cir. Ky. 1987), cert. denied, 484 U.S. 1059, 108 S. Ct. 1012, 98 L. Ed. 2d 978, 1988 U.S. LEXIS 681 (U.S. 1988).

2. Elements.

An allegation that a gun had been waved at someone would form the basis of a criminal violation of this section. Graham v. Commonwealth, 667 S.W.2d 697, 1983 Ky. App. LEXIS 396 (Ky. Ct. App. 1983).

1. Constitutionality.

This section is constitutional; its terms are not vague or incapable of being comprehended. Hardin v. Commonwealth, 573 S.W.2d 657, 1978 Ky. LEXIS 415 (Ky. 1978).

The application of the statute to the conduct of the defendant in engaging in sexual intercourse with the victim with knowledge that he was HIV positive did not constitute an unconstitutional application of the statute. Hancock v. Commonwealth, 998 S.W.2d 496, 1998 Ky. App. LEXIS 130 (Ky. Ct. App. 1998).

Because Commonwealth v. Morris, 142 S.W.3d 654, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 153 (Ky. 2004), which held that all viable fetuses were “persons” protected under the penal statutes, was decided a year and half before defendant ingested the cocaine that served as the basis for a wanton endangerment charge under KRS 508.060(1), she had fair notice that her conduct could result in criminal charges. Therefore, the rights afforded her by Ky. Const. §§ 2 and 11 were not violated. Commonwealth v. Cochran, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 8 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 11, 2008), sub. op., 2008 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 733 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 11, 2008), rev’d, 315 S.W.3d 325, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 157 (Ky. 2010).

Where defendant’s newborn child testified positive for cocaine, trying her for first degree wanton endangerment of her unborn child under KRS 508.060(1) did violate her due process and equal protection rights under Ky. Const. §§ 2, 3, and 11; abortion laws did not grant a woman the unfettered guarantee to an abortion at any time and certainly not to one on the day a woman gave birth. Commonwealth v. Cochran, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 8 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 11, 2008), sub. op., 2008 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 733 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 11, 2008), rev’d, 315 S.W.3d 325, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 157 (Ky. 2010).

2. Applicability.

Although the wanton conduct in this case led to a death, there is no restriction disallowing a charge of wanton endangerment when a death occurs, and under the circumstances of the case at bar, the Commonwealth attorney did not abuse his discretion in determining to bring a charge of wanton endangerment rather than one of criminal homicide. Commonwealth v. Self, 802 S.W.2d 940, 1990 Ky. App. LEXIS 95 (Ky. Ct. App. 1990).

KRS 508.060 is designed to protect each and every person from each act coming within the definition of the statute and is not a statute designed to punish a continuous course of conduct; thus, where seven lives were endangered in three shooting incidents, defendant was properly convicted on seven, rather than three charges of wanton endangerment. West v. Commonwealth, 161 S.W.3d 331, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 121 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004).

Woman could not have been charged with wanton endangerment of the woman’s child under KRS 508.060 for ingesting illegal drugs while pregnant, as Kentucky’s General Assembly expressly precluded such a prosecution by the Maternal Health Act of 1992. Cochran v. Commonwealth, 315 S.W.3d 325, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 157 (Ky. 2010).

3. Purpose.

This section was designed to protect each and every person from each act coming within the definition of the statute, not to punish a continuous course of conduct. Hennemeyer v.

Commonwealth, 580 S.W.2d 211, 1979 Ky. LEXIS 243 (Ky. 1979).

4. Double Jeopardy.

Where the evidence which supported defendant's wanton endangerment conviction arose out of his unsuccessful attempt to start a fire, while his arson conviction arose out of the successful effort about three hours later to burn the building, defendant's convictions for second degree arson and first degree wanton endangerment did not violate defendant's right against double jeopardy. Crayton v. Commonwealth, 846 S.W.2d 684, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 198 (Ky. 1992), cert. denied, 510 U.S. 856, 114 S. Ct. 165, 126 L. Ed. 2d 125, 1993 U.S. LEXIS 5563 (U.S. 1993).

Defendant's prosecution in Kentucky for wanton endangerment was not for the same conduct for which he was convicted in Tennessee, despite notification by Kentucky troopers that they were in pursuit of defendant, where the two crimes of wanton endangerment in Kentucky were completed in Kentucky against two Kentucky victims before defendant ever entered Tennessee and where there was no evidence that defendant was prosecuted in the state of Tennessee for his conduct in Kentucky. Hash v. Commonwealth, 883 S.W.2d 892, 1994 Ky. App. LEXIS 56 (Ky. Ct. App. 1994).

Because the offenses of driving under the influence and wanton endangerment, found in KRS 189A.010(c)(1) and 508.060(1) respectively, were included in the offense of fleeing or evading police, found in KRS 520.095(1)(a), defendant's conviction for all three (3) offenses constituted double jeopardy in violation of Ky. Const. § 12 and KRS 505.020. Pinkston v. Commonwealth, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 92 (Ky. Ct. App. May 2, 2003), vacated, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 48 (Ky. Feb. 11, 2004).

Defendant's convictions for first-degree fleeing or evading under KRS 520.095(1)(a)(4) and first-degree wanton endangerment under KRS 508.060 were not prohibited by double jeopardy as each offense contained at least one element not present in the other. Eberenz v. Commonwealth, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 184 (Ky. Ct. App. June 13, 2008).

Convictions on both first-degree fleeing or evading under KRS 520.095(1)(a)(4) and first-degree wanton endangerment under KRS 508.060 will not trigger double jeopardy, as fleeing and eluding requires operation of a motor vehicle and disobeying a direction to stop given by one recognized to be a police officer, while wanton endangerment does not; to prove wanton endangerment, the Commonwealth has to prove that a defendant manifested an extreme indifference to the value of human life, while fleeing or evading does not contain this element. Eberenz v. Commonwealth, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 184 (Ky. Ct. App. June 13, 2008).

Defendant's convictions for first-degree fleeing or evading police, KRS 520.095(1), and first-degree wanton endangerment, KRS 508.060(1), did not constitute double jeopardy because as with first-degree wanton endangerment, the three elements of operating a motor vehicle, having intent to elude or flee, and disobeying a police officer's direction to stop were required of the fleeing or evading charge but not of the wanton endangerment charge; consequently, each provision required proof of a fact that the other did not. Brown v. Commonwealth, 297 S.W.3d 557, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 256 (Ky. 2009).

Under a proper Blockburger analysis, double jeopardy does not occur when a person is charged with two crimes arising from the same course of conduct, as long as each statute requires proof of an additional fact which the other does not. Properly applying the Blockburger analysis, the Supreme Court of Kentucky overrules its precedent holding that convictions on both wanton endangerment under KRS 508.060 and terroristic threatening under KRS 508.080 involving the same victim are barred under the double jeopardy clause. Mullikan v. Commonwealth, 341 S.W.3d 99, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 89 (Ky. 2011).

Terroristic threatening requires a threat to commit a crime, but wanton endangerment does not require such a threat, and wanton endangerment requires actual conduct placing others at serious risk, but terroristic threatening does not require such actual conduct or such actual serious risk. Consequently, convictions on both offenses do not violate KRS 505.020 because terroristic threatening is not included within wanton endangerment since terroristic threatening is not established by proof of the same or less than all the facts required to establish the commission of wanton endangerment. Mullikan v. Commonwealth, 341 S.W.3d 99, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 89 (Ky. 2011).

5. Defenses.

Defendant was not guilty of first-degree wanton endangerment where defendant sitting in driver's seat of one truck fired past driver of second truck, killing passenger who had previously threatened defendant and who made sudden downward move to floor of truck before being shot, since presence of second driver between defendant and victim did not diminish defendant's apprehension of serious injury or impending death and did not modify his right to protect himself, where jury accepted his defense of self-protection. Justice v. Commonwealth, 608 S.W.2d 74, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 387 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

6. Elements.

The offense of wanton endangerment is not dependent upon intent. Hennemeyer v. Commonwealth, 580 S.W.2d 211, 1979 Ky. LEXIS 243 (Ky. 1979).

Where a gun used by defendant was never pointed directly at robbery victim, the essential elements of wanton endangerment were not present. Gilbert v. Commonwealth, 637 S.W.2d 632, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 282 (Ky. 1982), cert. denied, 459 U.S. 1149, 103 S. Ct. 794, 74 L. Ed. 2d 998, 1983 U.S. LEXIS 3135 (U.S. 1983).

The pointing of a gun, whether loaded or unloaded (provided there is reason to believe the gun may be loaded) at any person constitutes conduct that "creates a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to another person" in violation of this section. In the instant case, the wanton conduct also included the shooting of the gun near the victims. Either conduct, independent of the other, was sufficient to meet the requirements of this section. Key v. Commonwealth, 840 S.W.2d 827, 1992 Ky. App. LEXIS 126 (Ky. Ct. App. 1992).

Wanton endangerment is not susceptible to the single impulse or act analysis. Hash v. Commonwealth, 883 S.W.2d 892, 1994 Ky. App. LEXIS 56 (Ky. Ct. App. 1994).

Because there were three independently targeted victims and three independent acts of shooting and killing one patron, shooting and wounding another, and struggling with other patrons, that occurred in the diner that gave rise to the three charges against defendant for which he was convicted of intentional murder but mentally ill, attempted murder but mentally ill, and first-degree wanton endangerment but mentally ill, the verdict did not involve inconsistent mental states nor violate double jeopardy principles. Port v. Commonwealth, 906 S.W.2d 327, 1995 Ky. LEXIS 79 (Ky. 1995).

One is guilty of wanton endangerment in the first degree when, under circumstances manifesting extreme indifference to the value of human life, he wantonly engages in conduct which creates a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to another person. Ramsey v. Commonwealth, 157 S.W.3d 194, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 2 (Ky. 2005).

Where defendant and her newborn child tested positive for cocaine, since under KRS 500.080(12), all viable fetuses were "persons" protected under Kentucky's penal statutes, the trial court erred in dismissing an indictment charging defendant with first degree wanton endangerment of her unborn child pursuant to KRS 508.060(1). Commonwealth v. Cochran, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 8 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 11, 2008), sub. op., 2008

Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 733 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 11, 2008), rev'd, 315 S.W.3d 325, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 157 (Ky. 2010).

Defendant who caused an auto accident that killed three people and injured a third, and who tested positive for prescription drugs and marijuana in his urine, was improperly convicted of two counts of first-degree wanton endangerment under KRS 508.060. As he did not drive erratically and there was no evidence he was under the influence of drugs, he lacked the necessary mental state; his actions did not occur under circumstances manifesting extreme indifference to human life. Ison v. Commonwealth, 271 S.W.3d 533, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 301 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Because defendant juvenile's conduct did not amount to wantonness, he was not criminally liable for assault or wanton endangerment; none of the passengers testified that defendant acted wantonly, and there was no evidence that violating a license restriction was wanton conduct. B. B. v. Commonwealth, 2014 Ky. App. LEXIS 77 (Ky. Ct. App. May 16, 2014).

Trial court properly denied defendant's motion for a directed verdict on the wanton murder and wanton endangerment charges because a reasonable jury could have concluded that defendant had reason to know that a shoot-out was rendered substantially more probable by his firing the initial, and multiple, shots into the air amid a late-night crowd gathered in a parking lot to socialize. Taylor v. Commonwealth, 617 S.W.3d 321, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 392 (Ky. 2020).

7. Evidence.

Where the evidence tended to show that defendant had set two fires in a house, but that the house was empty at the time and neither fire got beyond the room in which they were set, there was insufficient evidence to warrant a first-degree wanton endangerment charge. Sweatt v. Commonwealth, 586 S.W.2d 289, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 454 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

Drunk driving may be a circumstance manifesting indifference to human life. The extreme nature of a defendant's intoxication is sufficient evidence from which a jury could infer wantonness so extreme as to manifest extreme indifference to human life. Ramsey v. Commonwealth, 157 S.W.3d 194, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 2 (Ky. 2005).

Drunk driving with his 10-year-old child as a passenger in a car created a substantial and unjustifiable risk to that child which supported defendant's conviction for first-degree wanton endangerment. Ramsey v. Commonwealth, 157 S.W.3d 194, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 2 (Ky. 2005).

Whether a defendant's wanton conduct manifests extreme indifference to human life is a question to be decided by the trier of fact. Ramsey v. Commonwealth, 157 S.W.3d 194, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 2 (Ky. 2005).

Where three defendants were jointly indicted and convicted for the wanton endangerment of the same two victims but the evidence showed that only one defendant engaged in conduct constituting the crime, the conviction of the others who were merely present at the scene would have to be reversed. McIntosh v. Commonwealth, 582 S.W.2d 54, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 412 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

Defendant was not entitled to a directed verdict of acquittal on the first-degree wanton endangerment charge because the jury was not unreasonable to conclude that defendant's conduct, which included driving late at night, sometimes down the middle of the road, at perhaps triple the speed limit, created a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to his passenger; defendant nearly caused two high-speed, head-on collisions and barely avoided crashing into a tree and telephone pole, and although he avoided getting into a catastrophic accident, the evidence supported that he repeatedly foisted the risk of catastrophic injury onto his passenger. Brown v. Commonwealth, 297 S.W.3d 557, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 256 (Ky. 2009).

In defendant's trial on charges of capital murder, burglary, and wanton endangerment, the trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion for a judgment of a directed verdict on the endangerment charge because the evidence established that defendant shot his estranged wife while her grandchild, an infant, was in a bassinet in the room where the murder occurred and was in close proximity to the wife when she was shot. Two bullets were found in the vicinity of the bassinet, indicating that they flew within a matter of feet of her; because it was well-known that bullets could ricochet and because evidence established that defendant was intoxicated when he fired the gun, the evidence supported the denial of his motion for a directed verdict. Hunt v. Commonwealth, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 292 (Ky. Nov. 25, 2009), sub. op., 304 S.W.3d 15, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 346 (Ky. 2009), modified, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 138 (Ky. Mar. 18, 2010).

Defendant's convictions for murder, DUI, first-degree wanton endangerment, and first-degree criminal mischief were supported by the evidence; before the collision, which killed a child, defendant admitted that defendant had consumed around six beers and was under the influence of alcohol. Baumia v. Commonwealth, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 191 (Ky. Nov. 21, 2012), sub. op., 402 S.W.3d 530, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 503 (Ky. 2012), modified, op. withdrawn, sub. op., 402 S.W.3d 530, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 247 (Ky. 2013).

Evidence was sufficient to sustain defendant's conviction for first-degree wanton endangerment because defendant sat on a horse, deliberately fired a shot to the side of the porch where people were seated, and even though his horse began to buck defendant continued firing. Smith v. Commonwealth, 410 S.W.3d 160, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 404 (Ky. 2013).

8. Indictment.

An indictment, which alleged that the defendant engaged in sexual intercourse with the victim with knowledge that he was HIV positive, was sufficient to state an offense under the statute, notwithstanding his contention that the victim knew of his HIV positive status and nevertheless consented to sexual intercourse with him, as such assertion more properly related to a defense, rather than to the sufficiency of the indictment. Hancock v. Commonwealth, 998 S.W.2d 496, 1998 Ky. App. LEXIS 130 (Ky. Ct. App. 1998).

9. Instructions.

Where the conduct of defendant clearly could have caused others who perceived his conduct to engage in action which would create a substantial danger of death, serious physical injury or physical injury, defendant's assertion that because the pistol was inoperable he was not guilty of wanton endangerment was rejected; the trial court, however, should have instructed the jury on second-degree, as well as first-degree, wanton endangerment. Thomas v. Commonwealth, 567 S.W.2d 299, 1978 Ky. LEXIS 367 (Ky. 1978), overruled in part, Ray v. Commonwealth, 611 S.W.3d 250, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 403 (Ky. 2020).

Where the evidence showed that the defendant had fired two shots, one of which missed the head of the complainant by less than two feet from a distance of 30 to 35 feet there was no error in instructing the jury only on first-degree wanton endangerment and denying a request for an instruction for second-degree wanton endangerment. McIntosh v. Commonwealth, 582 S.W.2d 54, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 412 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

There was no need for new trial upon reversal for failure to instruct jury on self-protection defense to first-degree wanton endangerment charge under this section, since the jury had found on the murder charge against the defendant that defendant acted in his own self-protection, thus precluding a conviction for wanton endangerment. Justice v. Commonwealth, 608 S.W.2d 74, 1980 Ky. App. LEXIS 387 (Ky. Ct. App. 1980).

An instruction on a lesser included offense is not required unless the evidence is such that a reasonable juror could doubt that the defendant is guilty of the crime charged but yet conclude that he is guilty of a lesser included offense; accordingly, the trial court in a prosecution for wanton endangerment in the first degree did not err when it refused to give an instruction on wanton endangerment in the second degree, where a reasonable juror could not doubt that the defendant acted wantonly under circumstances which manifested an extreme indifference to the value of human life, and, likewise, a reasonable juror could not doubt that his conduct created a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to another person. Combs v. Commonwealth, 652 S.W.2d 859, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 258 (Ky. 1983).

Where the defendant pointed a loaded firearm at two Commonwealth police officers who were in the performance of their official duties, the trial court properly instructed the jury under both wanton endangerment statutes. Commonwealth v. Clemons, 734 S.W.2d 459, 1987 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1987).

Where the instruction submitted to the jury on a first-degree wanton endangerment charge stated that in order to find defendant guilty it must find beyond a reasonable doubt that he conspired to apply an accelerant to a certain building or to disable the fire alarm systems at the building, and that he thereby wantonly created a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to various occupants, and that under these circumstances his conduct manifested an extreme indifference to the value of human life, from the evidence, it was clearly sufficient to support a conviction on this charge. Hicks v. Commonwealth, 805 S.W.2d 144, 1990 Ky. App. LEXIS 170 (Ky. Ct. App. 1990).

Simply that defendant started driving recklessly in Kentucky and continued on, putting several other drivers at risk in two states, did not require the conclusion that defendant committed but one crime. Hash v. Commonwealth, 883 S.W.2d 892, 1994 Ky. App. LEXIS 56 (Ky. Ct. App. 1994).

10. Lesser Included Offense.

Defendant who held policemen and other hostages at gunpoint and fired at them as they fled could not be convicted of both terroristic threatening and wanton endangerment since the former is included in the latter. Watson v. Commonwealth, 579 S.W.2d 103, 1979 Ky. LEXIS 233 (Ky. 1979).

Where a defendant pointed a pistol at a person during the course of a robbery, the act of wanton endangerment merged with the act of robbery of which it is an included offense under KRS 505.020; accordingly, convictions for both first-degree robbery and first-degree wanton endangerment arising out of the same robbery violated the constitutional and statutory prohibitions against double jeopardy and the wanton endangerment charge must be dismissed. Marshall v. Commonwealth, 625 S.W.2d 581, 1981 Ky. LEXIS 306 (Ky. 1981).

The possession and use of the pistol did not constitute an offense separate from the first-degree robbery charge for which the defendant was being tried and was convicted. One of the elements elevating robbery to the highest degree, being armed with a deadly weapon, cannot be separate and also used to convict on a separate offense such as wanton endangerment. Gilbert v. Commonwealth, 637 S.W.2d 632, 1982 Ky. LEXIS 282 (Ky. 1982), cert. denied, 459 U.S. 1149, 103 S. Ct. 794, 74 L. Ed. 2d 998, 1983 U.S. LEXIS 3135 (U.S. 1983).

Terroristic threatening is a lesser included offense of wanton endangerment and a defendant cannot be convicted of both charges when they concern the same victim. Commonwealth v. Black, 907 S.W.2d 762, 1995 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1995).

Wanton endangerment is not a lesser-included offense of misdemeanor assault as assault in the fourth degree requires a finding of physical injury, whereas wanton endangerment does not, and wanton endangerment requires conduct which creates a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to another, whereas fourth-degree assault does not.

Matthews v. Commonwealth, 44 S.W.3d 361, 2001 Ky. LEXIS 24 (Ky. 2001).

11. Sufficiency of the Evidence.

Evidence was insufficient to sustain defendant conviction for wanton-endangerment because there was no proof or reasonable inference that showed that defendant pointed a gun at the complainant or fired a shot near her when defendant went into her room. Merely being in the presence of guns, even when wielded by persons who were intent on harming and terrorizing, was not sufficient by itself to create a wanton-endangerment crime. Swan v. Commonwealth, 384 S.W.3d 77, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 111 (Ky. 2012), sub. op., modified, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 498 (Ky. Aug. 23, 2012), modified, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 492 (Ky. Dec. 20, 2012).

Court should have directed a verdict on defendant's first-degree wanton-endangerment conviction because there was no proof or reasonable inference that showed that defendant pointed a gun at the complainant or fired a shot near her when he went into her room. Merely being in the presence of guns, even when wielded by persons who were intent on harming and terrorizing, was not sufficient by itself to create a wanton-endangerment crime. Swan v. Commonwealth, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 498 (Ky. Aug. 23, 2012).

Defendant was not entitled to a directed verdict as to wanton endangerment in the first degree, under KRS 508.060(1), because (1) a jury reasonably concluded defendant showed extreme indifference to human life and possessed the required wanton mental state, when defendant continued to operate defendant's vehicle despite knowing a victim was pinned under defendant's tires, and (2) it was not unreasonable to conclude defendant also created a substantial danger of death or serious injury to others. Hurt v. Commonwealth, 409 S.W.3d 327, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 397 (Ky. 2013).

Trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion for directed verdict because it would be reasonable for a jury to find him guilty of first-degree wanton endangerment; the Commonwealth provided more than a mere scintilla of evidence and could allow a fact-finder to infer that defendant was the driver of the car that led police on a high-speed chase because his friend testified that defendant was known to drive a car of the same make and model. Culver v. Commonwealth, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 534 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 22, 2017, sub. op., 2017 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 952 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 22, 2017)).

Trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion for directed verdict because it would be reasonable for a jury to find him guilty of first-degree wanton endangerment; Police officers' testimony that they broke off their pursuit during a high-speed chase because they felt unsafe driving at that speed on those roads was enlightening as to how dangerous defendant was driving, given that the trained officers considered it too dangerous to pursue him any further. Culver v. Commonwealth, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 534 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 22, 2017, sub. op., 2017 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 952 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 22, 2017)).

Evidence was sufficient for the jury to find that defendant's conduct in a high speed car chase caused or created a substantial risk of serious physical injury or death to the police officers who pursued defendant in separate police cars because the pursuit happened in the dark on a highway and curvy side roads, the officers' speed reached 10-25 m.p.h. over the speed limit, and both officers testified that the officers felt in danger in pursuing defendant until breaking off the pursuit. Culver v. Commonwealth, 590 S.W.3d 810, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 535 (Ky. 2019).

Trial court did not err when it failed to grant directed verdict motions for first-degree wanton endangerment and first-degree fleeing or evading because a sergeant testified that he was 100% certain defendant was the driver of the pickup truck, and defense counsel thoroughly cross-examined the sergeant; the deputy's police cruiser blocking a single-lane road with its emergency lights on was a visible, non-verbal direction to approaching drivers, including defendant, to stop their vehicles, but defendant accelerated, and the deputy was forced to drive his cruiser out of the way and into a ditch to avoid a head-on collision; and defendant's actions created a substantial risk of serious physical injury or death. Eversole v. Commonwealth, 600 S.W.3d 209, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 2020).

Trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion for directed verdict on the wanton endangerment charge, as the evidence was sufficient to conclude that raising a hammer at the victim created a substantial danger of physical injury or death, as that excitement could have easily caused the victim, who had a pacemaker and had had five surgeries in three months, to have a heart attack or defendant could have accidentally dropped the hammer on the victim's head which also could have caused serious physical injury or death. Ray v. Commonwealth, 611 S.W.3d 250, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 403 (Ky. 2020), cert. denied, 142 S. Ct. 168, 211 L. Ed. 2d 65, 2021 U.S. LEXIS 4011 (U.S. 2021).

Where defendant was found guilty of two counts of intentional murder and four counts of wanton endangerment, the trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion for a directed verdict on the wanton endangerment charges, because four children were inside of the small residence at the time of the shooting; defendant's actions created a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to the children. Hall v. Commonwealth, 645 S.W.3d 383, 2022 Ky. LEXIS 125 (Ky. 2022).

12. Relationship with Other Laws.

Because defendant's prior Kentucky convictions for first degree wanton endangerment was categorically a "crime of violence" for purposes of U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual § 4B1.1, the district court properly sentenced defendant as a career offender. United States v. Meeks, 664 F.3d 1067, 2012 FED App. 0003P, 2012 U.S. App. LEXIS 159 (6th Cir. Ky. 2012).

Because wanton endangerment involves conduct that creates a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury, it necessarily involves a serious potential risk of violence akin to the level of risk associated with the listed crimes, and is categorically a "crime of violence" for purposes of U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual § 4B1.1. United States v. Meeks, 664 F.3d 1067, 2012 FED App. 0003P, 2012 U.S. App. LEXIS 159 (6th Cir. Ky. 2012).

District court did not err in finding that KRS 508.060, Kentucky's wanton endangerment offense, constituted a violent felony under the Armed Career Criminal Act, 18 U.S.C.S. § 924(e), because the offense included a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to another and a conscious disregard of the risk. United States v. Clark, 458 Fed. Appx. 512, 2012 FED App. 0130N, 2012 U.S. App. LEXIS 2215 (6th Cir. Ky. 2012), cert. denied, 567 U.S. 911, 132 S. Ct. 2755, 183 L. Ed. 2d 625, 2012 U.S. LEXIS 4437 (U.S. 2012), dismissed, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 131021 (E.D. Ky. Sept. 29, 2015).

Defendant's federal sentence for being a felon in possession of a firearm was properly enhanced based on use of a firearm in connection with another felony offense, as evidence that defendant fired a gun multiple times in a densely populated area while intoxicated and engaged in an argument was sufficient to find that his conduct satisfied the elements of first-degree wanton endangerment under Kentucky law. United States v. Kelley, 585 Fed. Appx. 310, 2014 FED App. 0751N, 2014 U.S. App. LEXIS 18975 (6th Cir. Ky. 2014).

Analysis

1. Double Jeopardy.
2. Sufficiency of the Evidence.
3. Relationship with Other Laws.

1. Double Jeopardy.

Unpublished decision: There was no double jeopardy violation of the Fifth Amendment in habeas petitioner's convictions, because each of the two statutes under which he was convicted, KRS 515.020 (first-degree robbery) and KRS 508.060 (first-degree wanton endangerment) required proof of an element that the other did not. Groves v. Meko, 2013 FED App. 0213N, 2013 U.S. App. LEXIS 4327 (6th Cir. Ky. Feb. 28, 2013), amended, 516 Fed. Appx. 507, 2013 FED App. 0298N, 2013 U.S. App. LEXIS 6324 (6th Cir. Ky. 2013).

Unpublished decision: In a case in which a state inmate appealed a district court's denial of his petition for a writ of habeas corpus, his convictions for first-degree robbery, in violation of KRS 515.020, and first-degree wanton endangerment, in violation of KRS 508.060, did not, as he argued, violate his constitutional right not to be subjected to double jeopardy. He had unsuccessfully argued that the first-degree wanton endangerment charges were based on the same conduct that gave rise to the first-degree robbery charge--pointing a gun at restaurant employees--and thus, the wanton endangerment charges should have merged into the robbery charge. Groves v. Meko, 516 Fed. Appx. 507, 2013 FED App. 0298N, 2013 U.S. App. LEXIS 6324 (6th Cir. Ky. 2013).

2. Sufficiency of the Evidence.

Unpublished decision: Defendant contended that the evidence was insufficient to support his conviction; however, the Commonwealth met its burden in proving each of the necessary elements of first degree wanton endangerment. Fister v. Commonwealth, 133 S.W.3d 480, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 170 (Ky. Ct. App. 2003).

3. Relationship with Other Laws.

Unpublished decision: Sentencing enhancement was proper because the court properly enhanced the sentence when the self-defense justification under Kentucky law was not available, and evidence tampering provided an alternative basis. United States v. Sweat, 688 Fed. Appx. 352, 2017 FED App. 0257N, 2017 U.S. App. LEXIS 8092 (6th Cir. Ky. 2017).

4. Prosecutor's Comments.
5. Double Jeopardy.

1. Evidence.

Where the evidence tended to show defendant had set two fires in a wood house, with other houses within 20 feet, at a time when people were normally home from work or school and eating dinner, and that at the very least the firemen answering the alarm were in danger, there was ample evidence to justify a second-degree wanton endangerment instruction. Sweatt v. Commonwealth, 586 S.W.2d 289, 1979 Ky. App. LEXIS 454 (Ky. Ct. App. 1979).

The court did not err in failing to grant the defendant's motion for a directed verdict, where the defendant failed to stop his car when so instructed and failed to pull his car over while being chased by a police officer, and there was also testimony that the defendant swerved from side-to-side on the road, forcing pedestrians and other vehicles off the road and endangering their lives. Wyatt v. Commonwealth, 738 S.W.2d 832, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 548 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

While an arrestee's statements criticizing conservation officers were protected by the First Amendment, because probable cause supported the arrestee's indictment, arrest, and prosecution for interfering with a conservation officer in violation of KRS 150.090(6), the arrestee's 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 claims for retaliatory arrest and prosecution failed as a matter of law; pointing a gun at an officer in a manner that created a substantial danger of injury clearly established probable cause for a charge under KRS 150.090(6). Barnes v. Wright, 449 F.3d 709, 2006 FED App. 0187P, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 13610 (6th Cir. Ky. 2006).

Circuit court erred in denying defendant's motion for a directed verdict of acquittal on a wanton endangerment in the second degree charge where the sole instance of the child running ahead of defendant's mother was not similar to him escaping from the house while his mother and brother slept, thus not probative of the instant incident, and it was not a gross deviation from the standard of conduct for defendant to be sleeping while her child slept. Deville v. Commonwealth, 534 S.W.3d 802, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 383 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

2. Instructions.

Where the conduct of defendant clearly could have caused others who perceived his conduct to engage in actions which would create a substantial danger of death, serious physical injury or physical injury, defendant's assertion that because the pistol was inoperable he was not guilty of wanton endangerment was rejected, the trial court, however, should have instructed the jury on second-degree, as well as first-degree, wanton endangerment. Thomas v. Commonwealth, 567 S.W.2d 299, 1978 Ky. LEXIS 367 (Ky. 1978), overruled in part, Ray v. Commonwealth, 611 S.W.3d 250, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 403 (Ky. 2020).

An instruction on a lesser included offense is not required unless the evidence is such that a reasonable juror could doubt that the defendant is guilty of the crime charged but yet concluded that he is guilty of a lesser included offense; accordingly, the trial court in a prosecution for wanton endangerment in the first degree did not err when it refused to give an instruction on wanton endangerment in the second degree, where a reasonable juror could not doubt that the defendant acted wantonly under circumstances which manifested an extreme indifference to the value of human life, and, likewise, a reasonable juror could not doubt that his conduct created a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to another person. Combs v. Commonwealth, 652 S.W.2d 859, 1983 Ky. LEXIS 258 (Ky. 1983).

Where the defendant pointed a loaded firearm at two (2) Commonwealth police officers who were in the performance of their official duties, the trial court properly instructed the jury under both wanton endangerment statutes. Commonwealth v. Clemons, 734 S.W.2d 459, 1987 Ky. LEXIS 216 (Ky. 1987).

Trial court did not commit reversible error in specifying in its second-degree wanton endangerment instruction that the victim was a high school student because the error, if any, was not palpable as no manifest injustice resulted; the jury already knew that defendant's passenger was a high school student, and defendant was convicted of wantonly endangering the victim under an instruction that did not refer to her age. Brown v. Commonwealth, 297 S.W.3d 557, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 256 (Ky. 2009).

3. Intoxication.

On a charge of wanton endangerment, the condition of the accused as to intoxication is relevant as a part of the surrounding circumstances. Wilcher v. Commonwealth, 566 S.W.2d 812, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 537 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

4. Prosecutor's Comments.

Where, after court excluded evidence of blood test, the prosecutor remarked "Okay, if they don't want it to come out," such remark was nonprejudicial given the weight of the evidence supporting a conviction for wanton endangerment in the second degree. Wilcher v. Commonwealth, 566 S.W.2d 812, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 537 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

5. Double Jeopardy.

Defendant's convictions for first-degree fleeing or evading police, KRS 520.095(1), and second-degree wanton endangerment, KRS 508.070(1), constituted double jeopardy because once the Commonwealth proved the specific conduct required to convict defendant of first-degree fleeing or evading police, it necessarily proved the general conduct necessary to convict him of second-degree wanton endangerment; both statutes were satisfied by proof of wantonly engaging in certain conduct that creates a substantial danger of serious physical injury to another person, and for second-degree wanton endangerment, the conduct is general and open-ended, and for first-degree fleeing or evading police, the conduct is specified as intentionally fleeing from police while operating a motor vehicle. Brown v. Commonwealth, 297 S.W.3d 557, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 256 (Ky. 2009).

(a) Intentionally makes false statements that he or she or another person has placed a weapon of mass destruction on:

1. The real property or any building of any public or private elementary or secondary school, vocational school, or institution of postsecondary education;

2. A school bus or other vehicle owned, operated, or leased by a school;

(2) A counterfeit weapon of mass destruction is placed with lawful authority if it is placed, with the written permission of the chief officer of the school or other institution, as a part of an official training exercise and is placed by a public servant, as defined in KRS 522.010.

(3) A person is not guilty of commission of an offense under this section if he or she, innocently and believing the information to be true, communicates a threat made by another person to school personnel, domestic violence shelter personnel, a peace officer, a law enforcement agency, a public agency involved in emergency response, or a public safety answering point and identifies the person from whom the threat was communicated, if known.

508.078. Terroristic threatening in the second degree.

(1) A person is guilty of terroristic threatening in the second degree when, other than as provided in KRS 508.075, he or she intentionally:

(a) With respect to any scheduled, publicly advertised event open to the public, any place of worship, or any school function, threatens to commit any act likely to result in death or serious physical injury to any person at a scheduled, publicly advertised event open to the public, any person at a place of worship, or any student group, teacher, volunteer worker, or employee of a public or private elementary or secondary school, vocational school, or institution of postsecondary education, or to any other person reasonably expected to lawfully be on school property or at a school-sanctioned activity, if the threat is related to their employment by a school, or work or attendance at school, or a school function. A threat directed at a person or persons at a scheduled, publicly advertised event open to the public, place of worship, or school does not need to identify a specific person or persons or school in order for a violation of this section to occur;

(b) Makes false statements by any means, including by electronic communication, indicating that an act likely to result in death or serious physical injury is occurring or will occur for the purpose of:

1. Causing evacuation of a school building, school property, or school-sanctioned activity;

2. Causing cancellation of school classes or school-sanctioned activity; or

3. Creating fear of death or serious physical injury among students, parents, or school personnel;

(c) Makes false statements that he or she has placed a weapon of mass destruction at any location other than one specified in KRS 508.075; or

(d) Without lawful authority places a counterfeit weapon of mass destruction at any location other than one specified in KRS 508.075.

(2) A counterfeit weapon of mass destruction is placed with lawful authority if it is placed as part of an official training exercise by a public servant, as defined in KRS 522.010.

(4) Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, terroristic threatening in the second degree is a Class D felony.

(5) Terroristic threatening in the second degree is a Class C felony when, in addition to violating subsection (1) of this section, the person intentionally engages in substantial conduct required to prepare for or carry out the threatened act, including but not limited to gathering weapons, ammunition, body armor, vehicles, or materials required to manufacture a weapon of mass destruction.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. In General.
2. Evidence.

1. In General.

Where defendant was a driver of a trucking company and complained about the weather and driving conditions and refused to drive, and the employer then ordered him to drive, defendant refused, said he was going to hire an attorney, and the attorney was going to come to the employer's business and fire all the employees, terroristic threatening, KRS 508.075, 508.078, or 508.080, was sufficiently pled. Commonwealth v. Isham, 98 S.W.3d 59, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 19 (Ky. 2003).

2. Evidence.

Judgment finding juvenile defendant guilty of terroristic threatening in the second degree was supported by sufficient evidence, including defendant's admission to several witnesses that he had written a note which contained the names of persons on a "hit list," and which was properly admitted into evidence; although defendant's father testified some of the names on the "hit list" did not appear to be in his son's writing, other names appeared to have been written by defendant, and thus, defendant's argument that no actual threat existed was without merit. The fact that the note included a "hit list," in and of itself, constituted a threat of death or serious physical injury as the term indicated. S.D.O. v. Commonwealth, 255 S.W.3d 517, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 139 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

508.080. Terroristic threatening in the third degree.

(1) Except as provided in KRS 508.075 or 508.078, a person is guilty of terroristic threatening in the third degree when:

(a) He threatens to commit any crime likely to result in death or serious physical injury to another person or likely to result in substantial property damage to another person; or

(b) He intentionally makes false statements for the purpose of causing evacuation of a building, place of assembly, or facility of public transportation.

(2) Terroristic threatening in the third degree is a Class A misdemeanor.

History.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Construction.
3. Complaint.

4. Double Jeopardy.
5. Elements.
6. Instructions.
7. Lesser Included Offenses.

1. Constitutionality.

This section is not unconstitutionally vague and overbroad since the conduct proscribed, "threaten[ing] to commit a crime likely to result in death or serious physical injury" is not protected under either the Kentucky or United States Constitutions, and the language of the statute is sufficiently explicit to put the average citizen on notice as to the nature of the conduct so proscribed. Thomas v. Commonwealth, 574 S.W.2d 903, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 633 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

2. Construction.

This section does not require that the victim be placed in reasonable apprehension of immediate injury. Thomas v. Commonwealth, 574 S.W.2d 903, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 633 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

While this section does not apply in the case of idle talk or jesting, the defendant's intent to commit the crime of "terroristic threatening" can be plainly inferred from the defendant's own words (a threat to behead his wife and daughter) and the circumstances surrounding them, since all this section requires is that the defendant threaten "to commit any crime likely to result in death or serious physical injury to another person or likely to result in substantial property damage to another person." Thomas v. Commonwealth, 574 S.W.2d 903, 1978 Ky. App. LEXIS 633 (Ky. Ct. App. 1978).

Language of 101 Ky. Admin. Regs. 2:095, § 9(1)(b) differs substantially from that of the terroristic threatening statute, KRS 508.080, by specifically adding the requirement that threatening statement or behavior "give a state employee or member of the general public reasonable cause to believe that his health or safety is at risk;" therefore, a hearing officer for the Kentucky Racing Commission's (KRC's) Personnel Board did not misconstrue the actual language of subparagraph (1)(b) when he concluded that a KRC employee had not violated the regulation because the threat he made did not actually make a fellow employee apprehensive for his own safety at any time. Hughes v. Ky. Horse Racing Auth., 179 S.W.3d 865, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 106 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004).

3. Complaint.

Where defendant was a driver of a trucking company and complained about the weather and driving conditions and refused to drive, and the employer then ordered him to drive, defendant refused, said he was going to hire an attorney, and the attorney was going to come to the employer's business and fire all the employees, terroristic threatening, KRS 508.075, 508.078, or 508.080, was sufficiently pled. Commonwealth v. Isham, 98 S.W.3d 59, 2003 Ky. LEXIS 19 (Ky. 2003).

District court properly granted summary judgment to the police officer on the arrestee's claim for false arrest because officer acted pursuant to legal process, and although it was later determined that arrest warrant lacked probable cause, district court had authority to issue the warrant based on a charge of terroristic threatening. Juillerat v. Mudd, 735 Fed. Appx. 887, 2018 U.S. App. LEXIS 14238 (6th Cir. Ky. 2018).

4. Double Jeopardy.

Under a proper Blockburger analysis, double jeopardy does not occur when a person is charged with two crimes arising from the same course of conduct, as long as each statute requires proof of an additional fact which the other does not. Properly applying the Blockburger analysis, the Supreme Court of Kentucky overrules its precedent holding that convictions on both wanton endangerment under KRS 508.060 and terroristic threatening under KRS 508.080 involving the same victim are barred under the double jeopardy clause.

Mullikan v. Commonwealth, 341 S.W.3d 99, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 89 (Ky. 2011).

Terroristic threatening requires a threat to commit a crime, but wanton endangerment does not require such a threat, and wanton endangerment requires actual conduct placing others at serious risk, but terroristic threatening does not require such actual conduct or such actual serious risk. Consequently, convictions on both offenses do not violate KRS 505.020 because terroristic threatening is not included within wanton endangerment since terroristic threatening is not established by proof of the same or less than all the facts required to establish the commission of wanton endangerment. Mullikan v. Commonwealth, 341 S.W.3d 99, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 89 (Ky. 2011).

5. Elements.

The criminal offense of terroristic threatening can be committed even if the victim has no knowledge of the threat, thus victim statements to his mother that he was going to kill defendant was terroristic threatening. Brock v. Commonwealth, 947 S.W.2d 24, 1997 Ky. LEXIS 18 (Ky. 1997).

6. Instructions.

In prosecution for first-degree robbery, the defendant's evidence did not justify giving an instruction on terroristic threatening as a lesser included offense of robbery, where the defendant claimed that he told the victim that "me and you are going to fight, if you don't give me my money," and then left the scene, returning with a gun which he concealed beneath his clothes; however, he claimed that before he could remove the gun from his clothing or make any threats, the victim suddenly appeared and shot him. Blankenship v. Commonwealth, 740 S.W.2d 164, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 587 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

Where it would be "reasonable" for a juror to have a "reasonable doubt" as to whether the defendant committed first degree wanton endangerment and still find him guilty of the lesser charge of terroristic threatening, the jury should be instructed on first degree wanton endangerment, and in the alternative, terroristic threatening as a lesser included offense. Commonwealth v. Black, 907 S.W.2d 762, 1995 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1995).

7. Lesser Included Offenses.

Defendant who held policemen and other hostages at gunpoint and fired at them as they fled could not be convicted of both terroristic threatening and wanton endangerment since the former is included in the latter. Watson v. Commonwealth, 579 S.W.2d 103, 1979 Ky. LEXIS 233 (Ky. 1979).

Terroristic threatening is a lesser included offense of wanton endangerment and a defendant cannot be convicted of both charges when they concern the same victim. Commonwealth v. Black, 907 S.W.2d 762, 1995 Ky. LEXIS 121 (Ky. 1995).

Because terroristic threatening in the third degree requires proof of a threat to commit a crime likely to result in death or serious physical injury while intimidation of a participant in the legal process does not require proof of such a threat but requires proof simply that physical force or a threat of any nature be used, terroristic threatening in the third degree is, therefore, not a lesser included offense of intimidating a participant in the legal process. Cecil v. Commonwealth, 297 S.W.3d 12, 2009 Ky. LEXIS 245 (Ky. 2009).

508.090. Definitions for KRS 508.100 to 508.120.

The following definitions apply in KRS 508.100 to 508.120 unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Abuse" means the infliction of physical pain, injury, or mental injury, or the deprivation of services by a person which are necessary to maintain the health and welfare of a person, or a situation in which an adult, living alone, is unable to provide or obtain for himself the services which are necessary to maintain his health or welfare.

(2) "Physically helpless" and "mentally helpless" means a person who lacks substantial capacity to defend himself or solicit protection from law enforcement agencies.

History.

Enact. Acts 1982, ch. 168, § 4, effective July 15, 1982.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Evidence.

Evidence was sufficient to sustain a conviction for first-degree criminal abuse because the victim was uninjured when defendant entered the victim's room alone, he was the victim's primary caregiver, and a doctor testified that defendant's story did not match the type of fracture the victim suffered, and it was not common in a two-year old. Mason v. Commonwealth, 331 S.W.3d 610, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 2011).

Persons walking into defendant's trailer and surveying the scene could have reasonably concluded that his children were being abused, as defined in KRS 508.090(1), because they were locked in their rooms on one of the hottest days of the summer, clad in urine-soaked clothing, and speckled with feces; one child was hungry to the point of eating his own feces. Commonwealth v. O'Conner, 372 S.W.3d 855, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 42 (Ky. 2012), modified, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 661 (Ky. Aug. 23, 2012).

Mother's conviction for first-degree criminal abuse was erroneous because the trial court erred in instructing the jury as to direct abuse by her, as defined in KRS 508.090(1); she could retried under the alternative theory of permitting the abuse of her child because the jury never reached that question, and she was not entitled to a directed verdict of acquittal. Acosta v. Commonwealth, 391 S.W.3d 809, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 2013), overruled in part, Ray v. Commonwealth, 611 S.W.3d 250, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 403 (Ky. 2020).

1. Constitutionality.

This section is not unconstitutionally void for vagueness. Carpenter v. Commonwealth, 771 S.W.2d 822, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 56 (Ky. 1989).

Subdivision (1)(c) of this section was not unconstitutionally vague; a severe spanking that does not result in serious physical injury, or permanent scarring, may constitute "torture, cruel confinement or cruel punishment" as statutorily prohibited. Canler v. Commonwealth, 870 S.W.2d 219, 1994 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 1994).

2. Applicability.

Where the injury is the result of the use of a deadly weapon or a dangerous instrument, the proper charge is first or second-degree assault, not criminal abuse, regardless of whether the victim is related to the assailant. Commonwealth v. Chandler, 722 S.W.2d 899, 1987 Ky. LEXIS 186 (Ky. 1987).

This section does not apply to every situation where a child is injured but only to those instances where abuse is involved. Carpenter v. Commonwealth, 771 S.W.2d 822, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 56 (Ky. 1989).

3. Purpose.

The purpose of the statutes on criminal abuse, this section, and KRS 508.110 and 508.120, is to criminalize serious physical abuse of children twelve (12) or less by a custodial person, although their scope includes others who are "physically helpless or mentally helpless". Commonwealth v. Welch, 864 S.W.2d 280, 1993 Ky. LEXIS 128 (Ky. 1993).

4. Legislative Intent.

This section is constitutionally proper if the word "intentionally" is construed to modify both abuse and permits. This is a logical construction because the legislature intended to impose criminal liability only if the accused were mentally culpable and because the internal structure of the three degrees of the offense of criminal abuse is the same. Carpenter v. Commonwealth, 771 S.W.2d 822, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 56 (Ky. 1989).

5. Elements.

Criminal abuse involves a situation where a person inflicts serious physical injury on another person of whom he or she has actual custody. Commonwealth v. Chandler, 722 S.W.2d 899, 1987 Ky. LEXIS 186 (Ky. 1987).

While first-degree criminal abuse is committed where having custody of a person allows another to abuse that person, the offense established by KRS 209.990(2) appears to contemplate either the infliction of physical pain or injury on the adult victim by the caretaker himself, or by someone acting at his instigation, or the deliberate deprivation by the caretaker of services necessary to maintain the health and welfare of the victim. Morris v. Commonwealth, 783 S.W.2d 889, 1990 Ky. App. LEXIS 24 (Ky. Ct. App. 1990).

Jury instruction incorporating "actual custody" element was not error; such custody, as used in this section, was not intended to apply only to those with legal custody or guardianship rights, but also to persons such as defendant, who reside in the same household and stand in loco parentis to the child. Davis v. Commonwealth, 967 S.W.2d 574, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 44 (Ky. 1998), modified, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 101 (Ky. June 18, 1998).

6. Evidence.

It may well be there are situations where using a wire coat hanger to correct a child's behavior, if not appropriate, is at least within the legal limits of parental discretion in raising their children; nevertheless, beatings administered by defendant were sufficient to sustain the charges of torture or cruel punishment to a person under 12 years of age because the children testified to circumstances proving the nature of the beatings to have been cruel and indiscriminate, and far different in character from normal parental discipline. Stoker v. Commonwealth, 828 S.W.2d 619, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 45 (Ky. 1992).

Supreme Court had no difficulty in holding the bizarre misconduct involved in charges of criminal abuse generated by tying up children, putting tape over their mouths, and forcing them to watch pornographic movies, could reasonably and appropriately be deemed by a jury to constitute "torture, cruel confinement or cruel punishment to a person 12 years of age or less." Stoker v. Commonwealth, 828 S.W.2d 619, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 45 (Ky. 1992).

Circumstantial evidence presented, including testimony evidence that the child died of forcible asphyxiation that was an inflicted death and that defendant had the opportunity commit the acts of abuse, was adequate to survive defendant's motion for directed verdicts of acquittal. Ratliff v. Commonwealth, 194 S.W.3d 258, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 170 (Ky. 2006).

Evidence was sufficient to sustain a conviction for first-degree criminal abuse because the victim was uninjured when defendant entered the victim's room alone, he was the victim's primary caregiver, and a doctor testified that defendant's story did not match the type of fracture the victim suffered, and it was not common in a two-year old. Mason v. Commonwealth, 331 S.W.3d 610, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 2011).

Court erred in overturning defendant's convictions for criminal abuse of his children, in violation of KRS 508.100(1) because the court did not properly defer to the jury its proper fact-finding role; it was not unreasonable for the jury to conclude that the abuse was intentional as the children were locked in their rooms on one of the hottest days of the summer, clad in urine-soaked clothes, and speckled with feces. Commonwealth v. O'Conner, 372 S.W.3d 855, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 42 (Ky. 2012), modified, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 661 (Ky. Aug. 23, 2012).

Evidence was sufficient to sustain defendant's murder, first-degree assault, and first-degree criminal abuse convictions because the medical evidence concerning the force required to inflict the injuries, the obviously battered state of the victim's body, and defendant's police statement admitting instances of "discipline" were sufficient to permit a reasonable juror to conclude that she intentionally abused the child, and that she murdered and assaulted him, either directly or by lending aid to the co-defendant. Peacher v. Commonwealth, 391 S.W.3d 821, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 11 (Ky. 2013).

Evidence was sufficient to sustain defendant's criminal abuse charge because the acts occurred during the time that defendant was the child's primary caregiver, and the evidence could be perceived to show that defendant, rather than someone else, committed the abusive acts that resulted in the leg fractures. Johnson v. Commonwealth, 405 S.W.3d 439, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 92 (Ky. 2013).

This case did not present a situation where a parent has placed a child in harm's way with no particular desire that harm ensue; rather the evidence strongly indicates that father struck and injured child, and permitted step-mother to do so, with the conscious and express goal of inflicting severe pain. Accordingly, because the jury could not rationally find father guilty of second-degree criminal abuse yet not guilty of first-degree criminal abuse, the District Court did not err in denying father's request for an instruction on second-degree criminal abuse. United States v. Phillip, 948 F.2d 241, 1991 U.S. App. LEXIS 25714 (6th Cir. Ky. 1991), cert. denied, 504 U.S. 930, 112 S. Ct. 1994, 118 L. Ed. 2d 590, 1992 U.S. LEXIS 3012 (U.S. 1992).

In defendant's criminal abuse case, there was no "real possibility" that a juror voted to convict defendant under the cruel confinement theory when there was no evidence to support that theory, but there was ample evidence to support the other theories of guilt. So there was no probability that the result of the action was altered by the addition of the superfluous theories of guilt in the criminal abuse instruction, and therefore, the erroneous criminal abuse instruction failed to constitute palpable error. Mason v. Commonwealth, 331 S.W.3d 610, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 3 (Ky. 2011).

Mother's conviction for first-degree criminal abuse, in violation of KRS 508.100(1), was erroneous because the trial court erred in instructing the jury as to direct abuse by her; she could be retried under the alternative theory of permitting the abuse of her child because the jury never reached that question, and she was not entitled to a directed verdict of acquittal. Acosta v. Commonwealth, 391 S.W.3d 809, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 2013), overruled in part, Ray v. Commonwealth, 611 S.W.3d 250, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 403 (Ky. 2020).

8. Joinder of Defendants.

Trial court did not err in joining trials of codefendants in child's death; severance was not required merely because defendants were likely to cast blame on each other. Davis v. Commonwealth, 967 S.W.2d 574, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 44 (Ky. 1998), modified, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 101 (Ky. June 18, 1998).

9. Lesser-Included Offense.

Criminal abuse is not a lesser-included offense of first or second degree assault. Commonwealth v. Chandler, 722 S.W.2d 899, 1987 Ky. LEXIS 186 (Ky. 1987).

1. In General.

Criminal abuse involves a situation where a person inflicts serious physical injury on another person of whom he or she has actual custody. Commonwealth v. Chandler, 722 S.W.2d 899, 1987 Ky. LEXIS 186 (Ky. 1987).

Defendant failed to preserve his claim that the Commonwealth improperly obtained a conviction based on a theory of wanton criminal abuse that was not specifically set forth in the indictment as it was not raised at trial, and there was no manifest injustice or prejudice to defendant as his counsel addressed the theory in closing; the evidence that defendant fed a child a mixture of milk and castor oil from a bottle that contained cocaine supported the conviction, even though no witness testified that defendant knew that the bottle contained cocaine. Thomas v. Commonwealth, 153 S.W.3d 772, 2004 Ky. LEXIS 275 (Ky. 2004).

2. Applicability.

Where the injury is the result of the use of a deadly weapon or a dangerous instrument, the proper charge is first or second-degree assault, not criminal abuse, regardless of whether the victim is related to the assailant. Commonwealth v. Chandler, 722 S.W.2d 899, 1987 Ky. LEXIS 186 (Ky. 1987).

This section did not apply to the abuse of a fetus by a woman who was drug dependent and who took drugs during her pregnancy where child was born with neonatal abstinence syndrome. Commonwealth v. Welch, 864 S.W.2d 280, 1993 Ky. LEXIS 128 (Ky. 1993).

3. Purpose.

The purpose of the statutes on criminal abuse, KRS 508.100, this section and KRS 508.120, is to criminalize serious physical abuse of children twelve (12) or less by a custodial person, although their scope includes others who are "physically helpless or mentally helpless". Commonwealth v. Welch, 864 S.W.2d 280, 1993 Ky. LEXIS 128 (Ky. 1993).

4. Cruel Punishment.

Consistent with KRS 446.080's directive that ordinary words in statutes shall be given their ordinary meaning, cruel punishment outside the criminal arena is defined as "heartless and unfeeling." Cutrer v. Commonwealth, 697 S.W.2d 156, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 621 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

Although reasonable minds might differ as to the precise degree of misconduct that constitutes cruel punishment, the due process clause does not require this section to meet impossible standards of specificity; the plain language of this section is sufficiently clear to apprise ordinary sensible persons of the type of acts it sanctions. Cutrer v. Commonwealth, 697 S.W.2d 156, 1985 Ky. App. LEXIS 621 (Ky. Ct. App. 1985).

Reasonable juror could find that the significant impairment of the use of an 11-month-old victim's arm for a four-week period, because it was broken, constituted either "prolonged impairment of health” or “prolonged loss or impairment of the function of a bodily organ,” for purposes of a conviction of third degree criminal abuse, under the definition of “serious physical injury” in KRS 500.080(15). Clift v. Commonwealth, 105 S.W.3d 467, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 89 (Ky. Ct. App. 2003).

5. Instructions.

Where there was no evidence that the defendant’s stabbing his son in the right eye with a karate sword was anything other than intentional or wanton, and the defendant presented no evidence of a reckless mental state required for third-degree criminal abuse, he was not entitled to an instruction on criminal abuse. Commonwealth v. Chandler, 722 S.W.2d 899, 1987 Ky. LEXIS 186 (Ky. 1987).

Trial court properly determined that a third-degree criminal abuse instruction could properly be given because the evidence could fairly support an inference that defendant, intending to discipline the child, caused the child to suffer unintended injuries; and that defendant was surprised at the extent of the injuries he had inflicted upon the child based upon his texted reactions to the picture the child’s mother sent him of the child’s bruises. *Green v. - (e) Pricking, piercing, incising, scraping, or cauterizing the genital area; or

(f) Any other action to purposely alter the structure or function of the female genitalia for a non-medical reason.

508.130. Definitions for KRS 508.130 to 508.150.

As used in KRS 508.130 to 508.150, unless the context requires otherwise:

(1)(a) To “stalk” means to engage in an intentional course of conduct:

1. Directed at a specific person or persons;
2. Which seriously alarms, annoys, intimidates, or harasses the person or persons; and
3. Which serves no legitimate purpose.

(b) The course of conduct shall be that which would cause a reasonable person to suffer substantial mental distress.

(2) “Course of conduct” means a pattern of conduct composed of two (2) or more acts, evidencing a continuity of purpose. One (1) or more of these acts may include the use of any equipment, instrument, machine, or other device by which communication or information is transmitted, including computers, the Internet or other electronic network, cameras or other recording devices, telephones or other personal communications devices, scanners or other copying devices, and any device that enables the use of a transmitting device. Constitutionally protected activity is not included within the meaning of “course of conduct.” If the defendant claims that he was engaged in constitutionally protected activity, the court shall determine the validity of that claim as a matter of law and, if found valid, shall exclude that activity from evidence.

(3) “Protective order” means:

(a) An emergency protective order or domestic violence order issued under KRS 403.715 to 403.785;

(b) A foreign protective order, as defined in KRS 403.720 and 456.010;

(c) An order issued under KRS 431.064;

(d) A restraining order issued in accordance with KRS 508.155;

(e) An order of protection as defined in KRS 403.720 and 456.010; and

(f) Any condition of a bond, conditional release, probation, parole, or pretrial diversion order designed to protect the victim from the offender.

1. Constitutionality.

Since when read in conjunction with this section, KRS 508.140 defines the offense of stalking with sufficient definiteness that ordinary people can determine what conduct is prohibited, such statute is not unconstitutionally vague. Monhollen v. Commonwealth, 947 S.W.2d 61, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 33 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

2. Constitutionally Protected Activity.

The trial court did not err when it did not hold a hearing to determine whether the defendant was engaged in constitutionally protected activity. A defendant can knowingly and voluntarily waive even the most fundamental constitutional rights. In this case, no fundamental right was waived; rather, it was the waiver of a hearing to determine whether that right existed, i.e., freedom of speech. Since defendant twice rejected the hearing, it was waived. The use of “shall” in KRS 508.130(2) cannot mandate a hearing when the defendant waives it. Johnson v. Commonwealth, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 34 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 15, 2008, sub. op., 2008 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1219 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 15, 2008)).

3. Evidence.

Where the Commonwealth did not introduce sufficient evidence that defendant engaged in a pattern of conduct composed of two (2) or more acts that evidenced a continuity of purpose, the evidence was not sufficient for purposes of convicting him of stalking, in violation of KRS 508.150, and the trial court erred in not directing the verdict on that charge in his favor; the definition of “stalk” under KRS 508.130 required two (2) or more acts. Morgan v. Commonwealth, 189 S.W.3d 99, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 12 (Ky. 2006), overruled, Shane v. Commonwealth, 243 S.W.3d 336, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 262 (Ky. 2007), overruled in part, Roe v. Commonwealth, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 2080 (Ky. Sept. 24, 2015).

Because defendant carried signs and a gun outside of the victim’s office for two (2) months, defendant was engaged in first-degree stalking under KRS 508.130 and not a constitutionally-protected activity; because defendant carried a gun, there was no evidentiary foundation for giving a lesser-included instruction on second-degree stalking. Johnson v. Commonwealth, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 34 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 15, 2008, sub. op., 2008 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1219 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 15, 2008)).

Circuit court clearly erred in entering an interpersonal protective order against appellant where appellee’s alleged fear that appellant would intentionally go to places where he was in order to have him arrested for violating a domestic violence order and his jealousy of appellant’s new relationship did not meet the elements of stalking. Halloway v. Simmons, 532 S.W.3d 158, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 564 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

4. Instructions.

Trial court failure to instruct the jury on all of the elements of stalking was reversible error, as the definition of “course of conduct” was required in the definition of “stalk” in order for the jury to have been aware that the pattern of conduct necessary to have proved the offense required inclusion of at least two intentional acts. Morgan v. Commonwealth, 189 S.W.3d 99, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 12 (Ky. 2006), overruled, Shane v. Commonwealth, 243 S.W.3d 336, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 262 (Ky. 2007), overruled in part, Roe v. Commonwealth, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 2080 (Ky. Sept. 24, 2015).

5. Generally.

For an individual to be granted an interpersonal protective order for stalking, he or she must at a minimum prove by a preponderance of the evidence that, an individual intentionally engaged in two or more acts directed at the victim that seriously alarmed, annoyed, intimidated, or harassed the victim, that served no legitimate purpose, and would have caused a reasonable person to suffer substantial mental distress, and that these acts may occur again. Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. §§ 508.130 and 456.060. Additionally, the individual must prove that there was an implicit or explicit threat by the perpetrator that put the victim in reasonable fear of sexual contact, physical injury, or death. Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 508.150. Halloway v. Simmons, 532 S.W.3d 158, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 564 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

- (1) A person is guilty of stalking in the first degree,
 - (a) When he intentionally:
 1. Stalks another person; and
 2. Makes an explicit or implicit threat with the intent to place that person in reasonable fear of:
 - a. Sexual contact as defined in KRS 510.010;
 - b. Serious physical injury; or

c. Death; and

(b)1. A protective order has been issued by the court to protect the same victim or victims and the defendant has been served with the summons or order or has been given actual notice; or

2. A criminal complaint is currently pending with a court, law enforcement agency, or prosecutor by the same victim or victims and the defendant has been served with a summons or warrant or has been given actual notice; or

3. The defendant has been convicted of or pled guilty within the previous five (5) years to a felony or to a Class A misdemeanor against the same victim or victims; or

4. The act or acts were committed while the defendant had a deadly weapon on or about his person.

(2) Stalking in the first degree is a Class D felony.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Relationship to federal law.
3. Elements.

1. Constitutionality.

Since when read in conjunction with KRS 508.130, this section defines the offense of stalking with sufficient definiteness that ordinary people can determine what conduct is prohibited, such statute is not unconstitutionally vague. Monhollen v. Commonwealth, 947 S.W.2d 61, 1997 Ky. App. LEXIS 33 (Ky. Ct. App. 1997).

2. Relationship to federal law.

Because a conviction under the sexual-contact provision of KRS 508.140 does not necessarily require the threatened use of violent force, a violation of Kentucky's statute is not categorically a violent felony under the force prong of the Armed Career Criminal Act. United States v. Johnson, 707 F.3d 655, 2013 FED App. 0044P, 2013 U.S. App. LEXIS 3520 (6th Cir. Tenn.), cert. denied, 571 U.S. 886, 134 S. Ct. 296, 187 L. Ed. 2d 153, 2013 U.S. LEXIS 7226 (U.S. 2013).

First-degree stalking under Kentucky law was the type of offense that by its nature posed a serious risk of physical injury to another; even if one could imagine a hypothetical scenario of first-degree stalking where the risk of injury were not present, the combination of acts necessary for a conviction under Kentucky's first-degree stalking statute was not only purposeful and violent conduct, but also conduct of escalating aggression that made it more likely that the individual, if in possession of a gun, would use that gun deliberately to harm a victim. Therefore, defendant's violation of Kentucky's first-degree stalking statute was categorically a violent felony under the Armed Career Criminal Act's residual clause. United States v. Johnson, 707 F.3d 655, 2013 FED App. 0044P, 2013 U.S. App. LEXIS 3520 (6th Cir. Tenn.), cert. denied, 571 U.S. 886, 134 S. Ct. 296, 187 L. Ed. 2d 153, 2013 U.S. LEXIS 7226 (U.S. 2013).

3. Elements.

Because appellant's actions toward appellee met the definition of "stalk" under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 508.130 and he made an implicit threat with the intent to place appellee in reasonable fear of physical injury or death by intentionally damaging her car so that it would not function properly, appellant satisfied the elements of second-hand stalking under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 508.150(1). Because there was sufficient evidence for the circuit court to find that appellant stalked appellee, the circuit court properly entered an interpersonal protective order against appellant. Calhoun v. Wood, 516 S.W.3d 357, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 55 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

Appellant's conduct toward appellee did not appear to satisfy the elements of first-degree stalking because there were no allegations that the elements of Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 508.140(1)(b) were met. Calhoun v. Wood, 516 S.W.3d 357, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 55 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

Circuit court properly entered an interpersonal protective order in favor of the victim based on her brother-in-law's attempted sexual assault, stalking, and third degree sexual abuse after her husband's death because the brother-in-law's manner of touching, his prior words and actions, as well as the timeframe in which the incident occurred supported the family court's findings, there was no legitimate purpose for the brother-in-law's conduct, and the entire incident, including the brother-in-law's earlier text messages, occurred over a period of less than 24 hours. Jones v. Jones, 617 S.W.3d 418, 2021 Ky. App. LEXIS 5 (Ky. Ct. App. 2021).

508.155. Restraining order or interpersonal protective order to be issued upon violation of KRS 508.140 to 508.150.

(1)(a) Before January 1, 2016, a verdict of guilty or a plea of guilty to KRS 508.140 or 508.150 shall operate as an application for a restraining order utilizing the provisions of this section and limiting the contact of the defendant and the victim who was stalked, unless the victim requests otherwise.

(b) Beginning January 1, 2016, a verdict of guilty or a plea of guilty to KRS 508.140 or 508.150 shall operate as an application for an interpersonal protective order issued under KRS Chapter 456, unless the victim requests otherwise. Notwithstanding the provisions of KRS Chapter 456:

1. An interpersonal protective order requested under this subsection may be issued by the court that entered the judgment of conviction;

2. The judgment of conviction shall constitute sufficient cause for the entry of the order without the necessity of further proof being taken; and

3. The order may be effective for up to ten (10) years, with further renewals in increments of up to ten (10) years.

(2) The court shall give the defendant notice of his or her right to request a hearing on the application for a restraining order. If the defendant waives his or her right to a hearing on this matter, then the court may issue the restraining order without a hearing.

(3) If the defendant requests a hearing, it shall be held at the time of the verdict or plea of guilty, unless the victim or defendant requests otherwise. The hearing shall be held in the court where the verdict or plea of guilty was entered.

(4) A restraining order may grant the following specific relief:

(a) An order restraining the defendant from entering the residence, property, school, or place of employment of the victim; or

(b) An order restraining the defendant from making contact with the victim, including an order forbidding the defendant from personally, or through an agent, initiating any communication likely to cause serious alarm, annoyance, intimidation, or harassment, including but not limited to personal, written, telephonic, or any other form of written or electronic communication or contact with the victim. An order issued pursuant to this subsection relating to a school, place of business, or similar nonresidential location shall be sufficiently limited to protect the stalking victim but shall also protect the defendant's right to employment, education, or the right to do legitimate business with the employer of a stalking victim as long as the defendant does not have contact with the stalking victim. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to a contact by an attorney regarding a legal matter.

(5) A restraining order issued pursuant to this section shall be valid for a period of not more than ten (10) years, the specific duration of which shall be determined by the court. Any restraining order shall be based upon the seriousness of the facts before the court, the probability of future violations, and the safety of the victim, his or her immediate family, or both.

(6) Unless the defendant has been convicted of a felony, or is otherwise ineligible to purchase or possess a firearm under federal law, a restraining order issued pursuant to this section shall not operate as a ban on the purchase or possession of firearms or ammunition by the defendant.

(7) The restraining order shall be issued on a form prescribed by the Administrative Office of the Courts and may be lifted upon application of the stalking victim to the court which granted the order.

(8) Within twenty-four (24) hours of entry of a restraining order or entry of an order rescinding a restraining order, the circuit clerk shall forward a copy of the order to the Law Information Network of Kentucky (LINK).

(9) A restraining order issued under this section shall be enforced in any county of the Commonwealth. Law enforcement officers acting in good faith in enforcing a restraining order shall be immune from criminal and civil liability.

(10) A violation by the defendant of an order issued pursuant to this section shall be a Class A misde-meaneor. Nothing in this section shall preclude the filing of a criminal complaint for stalking based on the same act which is the basis for the violation of the restraining order.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Coarse or Abusive Language.
3. Standing.
4. Unlawful Imprisonment.
6. Instructions.
- 6.5. Physical Contact.
7. Sufficiency of Evidence.

1. Constitutionality.

A conviction under subdivision (1) (b) of this section was reversed because of the unconstitutional overbreadth of the prohibition against “offensively coarse” utterances, gestures or displays or “abusive language,” and because of the absence of any state court decision narrowing the application of the statute so as to eliminate the potential for interference with rights guaranteed by U.S. Const., amend. 1. United States v. Sturgill, 563 F.2d 307, 1977 U.S. App. LEXIS 11273 (6th Cir. Ky. 1977).

As written, subdivision (1)(b) of this section is unconstitutionally vague and overbroad; this subdivision has no such measuring stick, so that, in a broad range of cases persons could be found guilty of its violation in circumstances that would infringe constitutional guarantees of free speech. Musselman v. Commonwealth, 705 S.W.2d 476, 1986 Ky. LEXIS 242 (Ky. 1986).

2. Coarse or Abusive Language.

One person cannot escape the consequences of his commission of the offense of using abusive language by showing that the person to whom insulting language was used was at the same time guilty of a violation of the same offense. (Decided under prior law) Bruce v. Scully, 162 Ky. 296, 172 S.W. 530, 1915 Ky. LEXIS 57 (Ky. 1915).

The words “God damn sons-of-bitches,” as applied to others, are reasonably calculated to invoke violent resentment and constitute a “breach of the peace.” (Decided under prior law) Jones v. Commonwealth, 307 Ky. 286, 210 S.W.2d 956, 1948 Ky. LEXIS 1093 (Ky. Ct. App. 1948).

Subdivision (1)(b) of this section as written punishes coarse or abusive language, per se; the court cannot add to it a phrase restricting it to language likely to cause violence. Musselman v. Commonwealth, 705 S.W.2d 476, 1986 Ky. LEXIS 242 (Ky. 1986).

Former employee’s harassment claim failed because a supervisor’s two comments regarding a woman in heels and a dress and one hourglass gesture did not rise to the level of actionable harassment. Montell v. Diversified Clinical Servs., 969 F. Supp. 2d 798, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 120598 (E.D. Ky. 2013), aff’d in part and rev’d in part, 757 F.3d 497, 2014 FED App. 0135P, 2014 U.S. App. LEXIS 12125 (6th Cir. Ky. 2014).

3. Standing.

Because KRS 446.070 allowed a private cause of action for damages to any person injured by the violation of any statute, and KRS 525.070 and 525.080 prohibited harassment and harassing communications, the court did not dismiss the harassment and intentional infliction of emotional distress claims alleged by plaintiff in connection with the alleged reporting of adverse credit information by the bank. Massey v. MBNA Am. Bank, N.A., 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 28756 (W.D. Ky. Nov. 17, 2005).

4. Unlawful Imprisonment.

Actual or threatened physical contact made with the intent to harass so as to restrain another would constitute evidence that supports convictions for both harassment and unlawful imprisonment and, if the Commonwealth actually relies on and seeks to prove the defendant’s commission of the offense of harassment as the act, that accomplished the victim’s restraint, then it might be said that, under this unique set of facts, harassment is a lesser included offense of unlawful imprisonment. Hart v. Commonwealth, 768 S.W.2d 552, 1989 Ky. App. LEXIS 170 (Ky. Ct. App. 1989).

Harassment is not a lesser offense necessarily included in the offense of unlawful imprisonment in the first or second degree. Although evidence of actual or threatened physical force or contact by the accused certainly can be relied on to prove an element of each offense, proof of these offenses does not always involve such evidence. More importantly, both offenses of unlawful imprisonment require proof of the additional fact of substantial interference with liberty of another whereas the offense of harassment requires proof of the additional fact of intent to harass, annoy or alarm another person. Hart v. Commonwealth, 768 S.W.2d 552, 1989 Ky. App. LEXIS 170 (Ky. Ct. App. 1989).

6. Instructions.

Trial court did not err in failing to issue a harassment instruction because the evidence did not support one; the record was void of any evidence that defendant touched the victim and intended to harass or annoy her, and he denied touching the victim in any manner. Boone v. Commonwealth, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 152 (Ky. Ct. App. Oct. 18, 2013), review denied, ordered not published, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 407 (Ky. Aug. 13, 2014).

6.5 Physical Contact.

County sheriff’s refusal to return a gun owner’s firearms did not violate the Second Amendment because the owner’s Kentucky harassment conviction qualified as a misdemeanor crime of domestic violence because “physical contact” met the physical force element. Laubis v. Witt, 597 Fed. Appx. 827, 2015 U.S. App. LEXIS 594 (6th Cir. Ky. 2015).

7. Sufficiency of Evidence.

Dismissal of a subdivision lot owner's harassment counterclaim against the developer of the subdivision was appropriate when the developer sought to enforce restrictive covenants because the trial court found a lack of intent to annoy or alarm and a legitimate purpose. All of the communications between the residents of the subdivision were appropriate given the concerns of the residents, and all were directed toward the proper enforcement of the restrictions. Hensley v. Gadd, 560 S.W.3d 516, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 503 (Ky. 2018).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Probable cause.

Unpublished decision: Where a juvenile was arrested after being found by a police officer randomly ringing doorbells at a condominium complex, allegedly trying to find her friend's condominium, the officer did not violate her constitutional rights because the officer had probable cause to arrest her for disorderly conduct and harassment. Straub v. Kilgore, 100 Fed. Appx. 379, 2004 U.S. App. LEXIS 10668 (6th Cir. Ky. 2004).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A passenger in a car would be guilty of harassment if he interfered with an officer who has stopped the car to give the driver a verbal warning or citation. OAG 75-8.

Since in defining a "public place" KRS 525.010 excludes rooms or apartments designed for actual residence, a private home does not become a public place because one of the owners summons police there and where an owner there uses offensive or abusive gestures to a policeman he may not be charged with harassment unless he uses language containing a threat to the physical well being of the officer in addition to merely commenting on his ancestry or family relationship. OAG 75-63.

A peace officer, in whose presence a "violation" is committed, has the option of issuing the violator a citation or making a full custodial arrest. OAG 76-166.

If a bicyclist is physically or vocally harassed by persons in a motor vehicle he could make a criminal complaint under this section. OAG 78-25.

525.080. Harassing communications.

(1) A person is guilty of harassing communications when, with intent to intimidate, harass, annoy, or alarm another person, he or she:

(a) Communicates with a person, anonymously or otherwise, by telephone, telegraph, mail, or any other form of electronic or written communication in a manner which causes annoyance or alarm and serves no purpose of legitimate communication;

(b) Makes a telephone call, whether or not conversation ensues, with no purpose of legitimate communication; or

(c) Communicates, while enrolled as a student in a local school district, with or about another school student, anonymously or otherwise, by telephone, the Internet, telegraph, mail, or any other form of electronic or written communication in a manner which a reasonable person under the circumstances should know would cause the other student to suffer fear of physical harm, intimidation, humiliation, or embarrassment and which serves no purpose of legitimate communication.

(2) Harassing communications is a Class B misdemeanor.

History.

Enact. Acts 1974, ch. 406, § 218, effective January 1, 1975; 2008, ch. 125, § 5, effective July 15, 2008; 2016 ch. 99, § 1, effective July 15, 2016.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Applicability.
3. Indictment.
4. Jurisdiction.
5. Threatening Letter.

1. Constitutionality.

This section does not violate the First Amendment of the United States Constitution because it does not concern face to face communication in a public place where confrontations could arise, but rather it relates to protecting one's right to privacy; no individual whose intention is to annoy, alarm, or harass has the right to impose his ideas on an unwilling listener not in a public forum. Yates v. Commonwealth, 753 S.W.2d 874, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 56 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

This section is not unconstitutionally vague and overbroad, because it does not regulate speech but rather the intentional use of private communication to annoy, alarm, or harass the receiver, and the meaning of this section is clear and provides reasonable opportunity to know what actions are prohibited. Yates v. Commonwealth, 753 S.W.2d 874, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 56 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

2. Applicability.

Because KRS 446.070 allowed a private cause of action for damages to any person injured by the violation of any statute, and KRS 525.070 and 525.080 prohibited harassment and harassing communications, the court did not dismiss the harassment and intentional infliction of emotional distress claims alleged by plaintiff in connection with the alleged reporting of adverse credit information by the bank. Massey v. MBNA Am. Bank, N.A., 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 28756 (W.D. Ky. Nov. 17, 2005).

3. Indictment.

An indictment under law that provided penalty for sending a threatening letter should have set out the letter, or its substance. (Decided under prior law) Commonwealth v. Patrick, 127 Ky. 473, 105 S.W. 981, 32 Ky. L. Rptr. 343, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 157 (Ky. 1907).

4. Jurisdiction.

Where a threatening letter was written and placed in a post office in one county, and addressed to and received by the person threatened at his post office in another county, the courts of both counties had jurisdiction of the offense, as it was a violation to send such a letter or circulate, exhibit or post it. (Decided under prior law) Commonwealth v. Morton, 140 Ky. 628, 131 S.W. 506, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 340 (Ky. 1910).

5. Threatening Letter.

A threatening letter is any letter or writing that is calculated to alarm, disturb, intimidate or injure, without reference to whether it designates, describes or mentions any offense that has been committed by the person referred to, or contains any statement showing why it is written or posted. (Decided under prior law) Commonwealth v. Morton, 140 Ky. 628, 131 S.W. 506, 1910 Ky. LEXIS 340 (Ky. 1910).

525.085. Dissemination of personally identifying information.

(1) For the purposes of this section:

(a) "Dissemination" means electronically publishing, posting, or otherwise disclosing information to a public Internet site or public forum;

(b) "Household member" means a person who regularly resides in the household or who within the six (6) months preceding the conduct of the offense regularly resided in the household;

(c) "Immediate family member" means a parent, grandparent, spouse, child, stepchild, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, sibling, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, or grandchild; and

(d) "Personally identifying information" means information that identifies or reasonably can be used to identify an individual, including but not limited to:

1. Social Security number or other government-issued identifier;
2. Date of birth;
3. Home or physical address;
4. Electronic-mail address or telephone number;
5. Financial account number or credit or debit card number;
6. Biometric, health, or medical data, or insurance information; or
7. School or employment locations.

(2) A person is guilty of disseminating personally identifying information about another person when, with the intent to intimidate, abuse, threaten, harass, or frighten a person who resides in the Commonwealth, he or she:

(a) Intentionally disseminates the personally identifying information of the person or a person's immediate family member or household member; and

(b) The dissemination would cause a reasonable person to be in fear of physical injury to himself or herself, or to his or her immediate family member or household member.

(3) This section shall apply to electronic communications originating within or accessible within the Commonwealth.

(4) Disseminating personally identifying information is a Class A misdemeanor, unless the dissemination results in:

(a) Physical injury to the victim or to a victim's immediate family member or household member, in which case it is a Class D felony;

(b) Serious physical injury to the victim or to a victim's immediate family member or household member, in which case it is a Class C felony; or

(c) Death of the victim or of a victim's immediate family member or household member, in which case it is a Class B felony.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be construed to impose liability on a broadband Internet access service provider, a telecommunications service provider, an interconnected VoIP provider, or a mobile service provider as defined in 47 U.S.C. sec. 153, a commercial mobile service provider as defined in 47 U.S.C. sec. 332(d), or a cable operator as defined in 47 U.S.C. sec. 522, when acting in its capacity as a provider of those services.

History.

2021 ch. 199, § 1, effective June 29, 2021.

525.090. Loitering.

(1) A person is guilty of loitering when he:

(a) Loiters or remains in a public place for the purpose of gambling with cards, dice or other gambling paraphernalia, except that the provisions of this section shall not apply if the person is participating in charitable gaming defined by KRS 238.505; or

(b) Loiters or remains in a public place for the purpose of unlawfully using a controlled substance; or

(c) Loiters or remains in or about a school, college or university building or grounds, not having any reason or relationship involving custody of or responsibility for a pupil or student or any other specific legitimate reason for being there and not having written permission from anyone authorized to grant the same; or

(d) Loiters or remains in any transportation facility, unless specifically authorized to do so, for the purpose of soliciting or engaging in any business, trade or commercial transactions involving the sale of merchandise or services.

(2) Loitering is a violation.

History.

Enact. Acts 1974, ch. 406, § 219, effective January 1, 1975; 1980, ch. 267, § 8, effective July 15, 1980; 1984, ch. 102, § 2, effective July 13, 1984; 1994, ch. 66, § 18, effective March 16, 1994.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A peace officer, in whose presence a "violation" is committed, has the option of issuing the violator a citation or making a full custodial arrest. OAG 76-166.

The adoption of a proposed loitering ordinance which would prohibit loitering for the purpose of engaging in "an unlawful drug transaction" is prohibited by KRS 67A.070, because such an enactment would be in conflict with existing state legislation by attempting to redefine statutory crimes. OAG 91-27.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to institutions of postsecondary or higher education.

(2) Each chief administrator of a public or private school shall display about the school in prominent locations, including, but not limited to, sports arenas, gymnasiums, stadiums, and cafeterias, a sign at least six (6) inches high and fourteen (14) inches wide stating:

(b) Any pupils who are members of the reserve officers training corps or pupils enrolled in a course of instruction or members of a school club or team, to the extent they are required to carry arms or weapons in the discharge of their official class or team duties;

(h) A person possessing unloaded hunting weapons while traversing the grounds of any public or private educational institution for the purpose of gaining access to public or private lands open to hunting with the intent to hunt on the public or private lands, unless the lands of the educational institution are posted prohibiting the entry; or

(i) A person possessing guns or knives when conducting or attending a “gun and knife show” when the program has been approved by the board of education or board of trustees of the educational institution.

(4) Unlawful possession of a weapon on school property is a Class D felony.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Duty to Warn of Violation.

There is no duty imposed by this section to report to school officials alleged violations of KRS 527.070. James v. Wilson, 95 S.W.3d 875, 2002 Ky. App. LEXIS 770 (Ky. Ct. App. 2002).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The fact that the legislature in enacting subsection (1) of this section has elected not to criminalize the carrying of those weapons on the property of institutions of postsecondary or higher education, does not preclude the governing boards of public institutions of higher education from otherwise controlling the possession of deadly weapons on their properties. MINORS AND JUVENILES

527.100. Possession of handgun by minor.

(1) A person is guilty of possession of a handgun by a minor when, being under the age of eighteen (18) years, he possesses, manufactures, or transports a handgun as defined by KRS 527.010, except when the person is:

(a) In attendance at a hunter's safety course or a firearms safety course;

(b) Engaging in practice in the use of a firearm, or target shooting at an established firing range, or any other area where the discharge of a firearm is not prohibited;

(c) Engaging in an organized competition involving the use of a firearm, or participating in or practicing for a performance by a group organized under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code or any successor thereto which uses firearms as a part of the performance;

(d) Hunting or trapping pursuant to a valid license issued to him pursuant to the statutes or administrative regulations of this Commonwealth;

(e) Traveling to or from any activity described in paragraphs (a) to (d) of this subsection with any unloaded handgun in his possession;

(f) On real property which is under the control of an adult and has the permission of that adult and his parent or legal guardian to possess a handgun; or

(g) At his residence and with the permission of his parent or legal guardian possesses a handgun and is justified under the principles of justification set forth in KRS Chapter 503 in using physical force or deadly physical force.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1) of this section, a handgun is “loaded” if:

(a) There is a cartridge in the chamber of the handgun; or

(b) There is a cartridge in the cylinder of the handgun, if the handgun is a revolver; or

(c) There is a cartridge in the magazine of a semiautomatic handgun, if the magazine is attached to the handgun; or

(d) The handgun and the ammunition for the handgun, are carried on the person of one under the age of eighteen (18) years or are in such close proximity to him that he could readily gain access to the handgun and the ammunition and load the handgun.

(3) Possession of a handgun by a minor is a Class A misdemeanor for the first offense and a Class D felony for each subsequent offense.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Sufficiency of Evidence.

Evidence was sufficient to support a conviction for possession of a handgun by a minor where the defendant admitted that he was 17 years of age on the date in question, that he took possession of a .38 handgun shortly after arriving at a residence and that he retained possession of it until shortly before his apprehension. *Taylor v. Section

530.070. Unlawful transaction with a minor in the third degree.

530.070. Unlawful transaction with a minor in the third degree.

(1) A person is guilty of unlawful transaction with a minor in the third degree when:

- (a) Acting other than as a retail licensee, he knowingly sells, gives, purchases or procures any alcoholic or malt beverage in any form to or for a minor. The defendant may prove in exculpation that the sale was induced by the use of false, fraudulent, or altered identification papers or other documents and that the appearance and character of the purchaser were such that his age could not have been ascertained by any other means and that the purchaser's appearance and character indicated strongly that he was of legal age to purchase alcoholic beverages. This subsection does not apply to a parent or guardian of the minor;
- (b) He knowingly induces, assists, or causes a minor to engage in any other criminal activity;
- (c) He knowingly induces, assists or causes a minor to become a habitual truant; or
- (d) He persistently and knowingly induces, assists or causes a minor to disobey his parent or guardian.

(2) Unlawful transaction with a minor in the third degree is a Class A misdemeanor.

Analysis

1. In General.
2. Instructions.

1. In General.

Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control officer's arrest for supplying alcohol to a minor in violation of this section, which arrest was found to be defective for failing to comply with KRS 431.005, as officer did not witness each element of the offense, did not support an action under 42 USCS § 1983, because § 1983 action depended only on whether the officer had probable cause for the arrest under the Fourth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution. Pyles v. Raisor, 60 F.3d 1211, 1995 FED App. 0228P, 1995 U.S. App. LEXIS 20249 (6th Cir. Ky. 1995).

A finding of malicious prosecution by a school administrator against a father was reversed because the administrator alleged in his criminal complaint merely that the father had failed to send the child to school, not that he had induced the child to engage in sexual activity; the sexual misconduct charges were rather filed by the County Attorney. Collins v. Williams, 10 S.W.3d 493, 1999 Ky. App. LEXIS 94 (Ky. Ct. App. 1999).

2. Instructions.

In the prosecution of a mother for unlawful transaction with a minor in the third degree as a result of her children's habitual truancy, the failure of the court to include a formal definition of the term "habitual truancy" was harmless error as "truant" was a term of common usage which the jury could be expected to understand without a formal definition and the jury did not evidence any lack of understanding of the term "habitual truant." Commonwealth v. Hager, 35 S.W.3d 377, 2000 Ky. App. LEXIS 121 (Ky. Ct. App. 2000).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Negligence per se.

Unpublished decision: Neither a national social fraternity nor individual local chapter members were negligent per se under KRS 530.070 and § 244.085 in connection with the death of a college student by a drunk fraternity member because there was no evidence that the national fraternity knowingly induced, assisted, or caused the drunk member to possess alcohol, and none of the members of the fraternity gave the drunk member alcohol. Shaheen v. Yonts, 394 Fed. Appx. 224, 2010 FED App. 0581N, 2010 U.S. App. LEXIS 18461 (6th Cir. Ky. 2010).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

In a prosecution of an adult under this section, it is not necessary to establish that the minor involved has committed delinquent acts, has been adjudged a delinquent, or has been charged with a crime but only that the adult has committed any of the prohibited acts of this section. OAG 75-330.

An adult who permits a juvenile to operate a motor vehicle without an operator's license may be proceeded against directly under KRS 186.620 or under this section in juvenile court for having an unlawful transaction with a minor and it is not necessary that the juvenile have been proceeded against in juvenile court. OAG 75-563.

A charge under subsection (1)(c) of this section requires proof of habitual truancy that is not required to be proved to establish a charge under KRS 159.990(1) and therefore a parent or legal guardian could be charged and punished under KRS 159.990(1) and also under this section and a prosecution under one of these sections would not be a bar to a prosecution under the other. OAG 77-514.

Not only can the director of pupil personnel be directed to institute proceedings charging the parents of a child who has been habitually truant from public schools and the parents of a child who has been attending an unapproved private or parochial school under subsection (1)(c) of this section, but he can also be directed by the local superintendent, the local board of education, or the State Board of Education to institute proceedings under such subsection against those individuals in charge of the public or parochial school the child is attending and the burden of proof would be to show beyond a reasonable doubt that the individual or individuals in charge of the unapproved school “knowingly induced, assisted or caused” the child attending such school to become habitually truant from the public common schools. OAG 77-514.

A minor may be charged with unlawful transaction with another minor under this section. OAG 82-624.

Even though confidentiality of proceedings against a juvenile is the rule when the matter is to be adjudicated under the provisions of KRS 208.060 (repealed), if a juvenile charged with violating this section would desire a trial by jury, KRS 208.020(6) (repealed) mandates that a trial by jury be provided. OAG 82-624.

Violation of this section is a Class A misdemeanor; however, a juvenile adjudicated beyond a reasonable doubt of having committed an unlawful transaction with a minor must be dealt with by the juvenile court under KRS 208.200 (repealed), which may include subsections (4), (5) and (6) if the child adjudicated of violating this section is 16 years of age or older. OAG 82-624.

A parent, legal guardian, or other person exercising custodial control or supervision may be charged with the misdemeanor of unlawful transaction with a minor pursuant to this section if the situation of habitual truancy of the child develops. OAG 87-40.

KRS 244.080 appears to be directed more toward retail businesses, while this section appears to be directed toward private persons acting in their private capacities. OAG 91-51.

(2) “Matter” means any book, magazine, newspaper, or other printed or written material or any picture, drawing, photograph, motion picture, live image transmitted over the Internet or other electronic network, or other pictorial representation or any statue or other figure, or any recording transcription or mechanical, chemical or electrical reproduction or any other articles, equipment, machines, or materials.

(3) “Obscene” means:

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Construction.
3. Destruction of Obscene Material.
4. Freedom of Speech and Press.
5. Indictment.
6. Newspapers.
7. Obscene.
8. — Contemporary Standards.

1. Constitutionality.

Although the definition of obscenity contained in former obscenity law did not explicitly require that the material be utterly without redeeming social value, it conformed to the definition of obscenity approved by U.S. Supreme Court and was constitutional on its face. (Decided under prior law) Cambist Films, Inc. v. Tribell, 293 F. Supp. 407, 1968 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8099 (E.D. Ky. 1968).

Former obscenity law was not constitutionally infirm by reason of its failure to require that material be “utterly without redeeming social value” before falling within its proscription. (Decided under prior law) Smith v. Commonwealth, 465 S.W.2d 918, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 470 (Ky. 1971); Hayes

v. Commonwealth, 470 S.W.2d 601, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 278 (Ky. 1971).

The former obscenity law was not unconstitutional under the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution since the defendant was forewarned in sufficiently specific terms that the depiction of actual sexual conduct in the film "Deep Throat" was proscribed as hard core pornography. (Decided under prior law) Western Corp. v. Commonwealth, 558 S.W.2d 605, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 540 (Ky. 1977).

2. Construction.

Even though the constitutional standards defining obscenity were not literally incorporated into the former obscenity law, those standards are to be implied whenever the statute is applied. (Decided under prior law) Smith v. Commonwealth, 465 S.W.2d 918, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 470 (Ky. 1971).

Under the former obscenity law, each proven occurrence of the showing of an obscene motion picture was a separate violation of law and was punishable as such. (Decided under prior law) Western Corp. v. Commonwealth, 558 S.W.2d 605, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 540 (Ky. 1977).

3. Destruction of Obscene Material.

Under the former statute, the trial judge properly ordered the destruction of an obscene film after the accused theater owner was convicted of violating the obscenity law. (Decided under prior law) Western Corp. v. Commonwealth, 558 S.W.2d 605, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 540 (Ky. 1977).

4. Freedom of Speech and Press.

Conviction for offering obscene literature for sale affirmed by Kentucky Court of Appeals was reversed as offending the First and Fourteenth Amendments of the federal Constitution. (Decided under prior law) Austin v. Commonwealth, 386 S.W.2d 270, 1965 Ky. LEXIS 498 (Ky. 1965), rev'd, 386 U.S. 767, 87 S. Ct. 1414, 18 L. Ed. 2d 515, 1967 U.S. LEXIS 1571 (U.S. 1967).

5. Indictment.

Indictment must set out the writing on which the indictment is founded, unless lost or destroyed or in possession of accused, or is too obscene to be perpetuated as a record of the court, in which case the indictment must so allege. (Decided under prior law) Kinnaird v. Commonwealth, 134 Ky. 575, 121 S.W. 489, 1909 Ky. LEXIS 422 (Ky. 1909).

Indictment charging defendant with offense of having in his possession with intent to sell, lend, give away or show obscene magazines of an indecent character in violation of former obscenity statute charged but one offense. (Decided under prior law) King v. Commonwealth, 313 Ky. 741, 233 S.W.2d 522, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 977 (Ky. 1950).

6. Newspapers.

However clean and pure the matter contained in a newspaper may generally be, yet, if it should in a single issue print an indecent or filthy article, it would be subject to indictment. (Decided under prior law) Commonwealth v. Herald Pub. Co., 128 Ky. 424, 108 S.W. 892, 32 Ky. L. Rptr. 1293, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 79 (Ky. 1908).

The same strict rule should not be applied to a daily newspaper as to printed publication in form of books or pamphlets wholly or in greater part devoted to treatment of lewd or scandalous subjects, or to single or isolated articles designed to call public attention to indecent transactions. (Decided under prior law) Commonwealth v. Herald Pub. Co., 128 Ky. 424, 108 S.W. 892, 32 Ky. L. Rptr. 1293, 1908 Ky. LEXIS 79 (Ky. 1908).

7. Obscene.

The dissemination of a particular work which is alleged to be obscene should be completely undisturbed until an independent determination of obscenity has been made by a judicial officer, including an adversary hearing. (Decided under prior law) Cambist Films, Inc. v. Tribell, 293 F. Supp. 407, 1968 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8099 (E.D. Ky. 1968).

Where publication is of such character as to raise a doubt in the mind of an ordinary upright, well-balanced person as to whether it is obscene or indecent within meaning of former obscenity statute, the question should be submitted to jury. (Decided under prior law) King v. Commonwealth, 313 Ky. 741, 233 S.W.2d 522, 1950 Ky. LEXIS 977 (Ky. 1950).

The court properly overruled the defendant's motion for a directed verdict of acquittal at the close of the prosecution's evidence where the court determined as a matter of law that the publication demonstrated on its face that it possessed no redeeming social value. (Decided under prior law) Smith v. Commonwealth, 465 S.W.2d 918, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 470 (Ky. 1971).

Magazines containing photographs of females in various states of undress with primary emphasis in each photograph upon the naked female pubic area were obscene. (Decided under prior law) Hayes v. Commonwealth, 470 S.W.2d 601, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 278 (Ky. 1971).

The movie, "Deep Throat," which contained repeated scenes of actual sexual intercourse, anal sodomy, fellatio and cunnilingus, had no serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value and was therefore obscene and violative of contemporary community standards. (Decided under prior law) Western Corp. v. Commonwealth, 558 S.W.2d 605, 1977 Ky. LEXIS 540 (Ky. 1977).

8. — Contemporary Standards.

There was no need for a prior adversary hearing in the area to determine contemporary standards applied by the average person in the community. (Decided under prior law) Smith v. Commonwealth, 465 S.W.2d 918, 1971 Ky. LEXIS 470 (Ky. 1971).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The general assembly has, by enacting KRS Chapter 531, preempted the field of legislation on pornography and the fiscal courts cannot enact pornography or obscenity laws. OAG 81-417.

531.120. Distribution of sexually explicit images without consent.

(1) A person is guilty of distribution of sexually explicit images without consent when:

(a) He or she intentionally distributes to any third party private erotic matter without the written consent of the person depicted, and does so with the intent to profit, or to harm, harass, intimidate, threaten, or coerce the person depicted; and

(b) The disclosure would cause a reasonable person to suffer harm.

(2) This section shall not apply to:

(a) Images involving voluntary nudity or sexual conduct in public, commercial settings, or in a place where a person does not have a reasonable expectation of privacy;

(b) Disclosures made in the public interest, including the reporting of unlawful conduct, or lawful and common practices of law enforcement, criminal reporting, corrections, legal proceedings, or medical treatment;

(c) Disclosures of materials that constitute a matter of public concern; or

(d) Internet service providers or telecommunications services, or interactive computer services, as defined in 47 U.S.C. sec. 230(f)(2), for content solely provided by another person.

(3) A person who maintains an Internet Web site, online service, online application, or mobile application that distributes private erotic matter shall remove any such image if requested by a person depicted, and shall not solicit or accept a fee or other consideration to remove the visual image.

(4) Distribution of sexually explicit images without consent is a Class A misdemeanor for the first offense and a Class D felony for each subsequent offense, unless the person distributes the private erotic matter for profit or gain, in which case it is a Class D felony for the first offense and a Class C felony for each subsequent offense.

(5) In this section, “consent” means the consent to transmission of images to a specific recipient or recipients. Consent to the creation of the visual image does not, by itself, constitute consent to the distribution of the visual image.

(6) Notwithstanding KRS 17.500 to 17.580, a conviction under this section shall not result in the offender being deemed a registrant or being required to register as a sex offender.

SEXUAL EXPLOITATION OF MINORS

531.305. Treatment in criminal or civil proceeding or property or material portraying child pornography or a sexual performance by a minor.

(1) In a criminal or civil proceeding, any property or material that portrays child pornography or a sexual performance by a minor as defined in this chapter shall remain secured or locked in the care, custody, and control of a law enforcement agency, or the prosecutor. Any property or material that portrays child pornography or a sexual performance by a minor shall not be filed with or stored by the court unless introduced as an exhibit for trial. Storage of trial court exhibits portraying child pornography or a sexual performance by a minor shall be in accordance with a court order.

(2) Notwithstanding any other law or rule of court, a court shall deny, in any proceeding, any request by the defendant to copy, photograph, duplicate, or otherwise reproduce any property or material that portrays a sexual performance by a minor or constitutes child pornography so long as law enforcement, the prosecutor, or the court, if the matter was introduced as an exhibit at trial, makes the property or material reasonably available to the defendant.

(3) For the purposes of this section, property or material shall be deemed reasonably available to the defendant if the prosecutor provides ample opportunity at a designated facility for the inspection, viewing, and examination of the property or material that portrays a sexual performance by a child or constitutes child pornography by the defendant, his or her attorney, or any individual whom the defendant uses as an expert during either the discovery process or a court proceeding.

CHAPTER 532 CLASSIFICATION AND DESIGNATION OF OFFENSES — AUTHORIZED DISPOSITION

Section

532.045. Persons prohibited from probation or postincarceration supervision — Procedure when probation or postincarceration supervision not prohibited.

532.045. Persons prohibited from probation or postincarceration supervision — Procedure when probation or postincarceration supervision not prohibited.

(1) As used in this section:

(a) “Position of authority” means but is not limited to the position occupied by a biological parent, adoptive parent, stepparent, foster parent, relative, household member, adult youth leader, recreational staff, or volunteer who is an adult, adult athletic manager, adult coach, teacher, classified school employee, certified school employee, counselor, staff, or volunteer for either a residential treatment facility or a detention facility as defined in KRS 520.010(4), staff or volunteer with a youth services organization, religious leader, health-care provider, or employer;

(b) “Position of special trust” means a position occupied by a person in a position of authority who by reason of that position is able to exercise undue influence over the minor; and

(c) “Substantial sexual conduct” means penetration of the vagina or rectum by the penis of the offender or the victim, by any foreign object; oral copulation; or masturbation of either the minor or the offender.

(2) Notwithstanding other provisions of applicable law, probation shall not be granted to, nor shall the execution or imposition of sentence be suspended for, nor shall a finding bringing the defendant within the provision of this section be stricken for a person convicted of violating KRS 510.050, 510.080, 529.040, 529.070, 529.100 where the offense involves commercial sexual activity, 530.020, 531.310, 531.320, or 531.370, or criminal attempt to commit any of these offenses under KRS 506.010, and, who meets one (1) or more of the following criteria:

(a) A person who commits any of the offenses enumerated in this subsection against a minor by the use of force, violence, duress, menace, or threat of bodily harm;

(b) A person who, in committing any of the offenses enumerated in this subsection, caused bodily injury to the minor;

(c) A person convicted of any of the offenses enumerated in this subsection and who was a stranger to the minor or made friends with the minor for the purpose of committing an act constituting any of the offenses enumerated in this subsection, unless the defendant honestly and reasonably believed the minor was eighteen (18) years old or older;

(d) A person who used a dangerous instrument or deadly weapon against a minor during the commission of any of the offenses enumerated in this subsection;

(e) A person convicted of any of the offenses enumerated in this subsection and who has had a prior conviction of assaulting a minor, with intent to commit an act constituting any of the offenses enumerated in this subsection;

(f) A person convicted of kidnapping a minor in violation of the Kentucky Penal Code and who kidnapped the minor for the purpose of committing an act constituting any of the offenses enumerated in this subsection;

(g) A person who is convicted of committing any of the offenses enumerated in this subsection on more than one (1) minor at the same time or in the same course of conduct;

(h) A person who in committing any of the offenses enumerated in this subsection has substantial sexual conduct with a minor under the age of fourteen (14) years; or

(i) A person who occupies a position of special trust and commits an act of substantial sexual conduct.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the additional period of five (5) years' postincarceration supervision required by KRS 532.043.

(3) If a person is not otherwise prohibited from obtaining probation or conditional discharge under subsection (2), the court may impose on the person a period of probation or conditional discharge. Probation or conditional discharge shall not be granted until the court is in receipt of the comprehensive sex offender presentence evaluation of the offender performed by an approved provider, as defined in KRS 17.500 or the Department of Corrections. The court shall use the comprehensive sex offender presentence evaluation in determining the appropriateness of probation or conditional discharge.

(4) If the court grants probation or conditional discharge, the offender shall be required, as a condition of probation or conditional discharge, to successfully complete a community-based sexual offender treatment program operated or approved by the Department of Corrections or the Sex Offender Risk Assessment Advisory Board.

(5) The offender shall pay for any evaluation or treatment required pursuant to this section up to the offender's ability to pay but not more than the actual cost of the comprehensive sex offender presentence evaluation or treatment.

(6) Failure to successfully complete the sexual offender treatment program constitutes grounds for the revocation of probation or conditional discharge.

(7) The comprehensive sex offender presentence evaluation and all communications relative to the comprehensive sex offender presentence evaluation and treatment of a sexual offender shall fall under the provisions of KRS 197.440. The comprehensive sex offender presentence evaluation shall be filed under seal and shall not be made a part of the court record subject to review in appellate proceedings and shall not be made available to the public.

(8) Before imposing sentence, the court shall advise the defendant or his counsel of the contents and conclusions of any comprehensive sex offender presentence evaluation performed pursuant to this section and afford a fair opportunity and a reasonable period of time, if the defendant so requests, to controvert them. The court shall provide the defendant's counsel and the Commonwealth's attorney a copy of the comprehensive sex offender presentence evaluation. It shall not be necessary to disclose the sources of confidential information.

(9) To the extent that this section conflicts with KRS 533.010, this section shall take precedence.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Constitutionality.
2. Construction.
3. Construction with Other Laws.
4. Position of Authority or Special Trust.
5. Probation improper.
6. Sentencing Alternatives.
7. Extending Probation.

1. Constitutionality.

There is a reasonable basis in the General Assembly's contrasting sexual offenders who are strangers or mere acquaintances of the abused child from those who abuse not only the child, but their advantageous position as a person who society teaches the child to regard as an adult role model; therefore, this section does not violate Ky. Const., § 59 as being class legislation. Owsley v. Commonwealth, 743 S.W.2d 408, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 589 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

This section, as it pertains to persons convicted of violating KRS 510.110, does not violate Ky. Const., § 51. Owsley v. Commonwealth, 743 S.W.2d 408, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 589 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

This section does not violate the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution because it punishes males but not females who engage in “substantial sexual conduct” with a minor under the age of fourteen (14) years, as this section clearly condemns penetration by any foreign object as well as other kinds of sexual conduct capable of being performed by males or females. Owsley v. Commonwealth, 743 S.W.2d 408, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 589 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

2. Construction.

Whether a defendant is a person in a position of authority or special trust is a question of fact for the jury, the jury is not limited to the list of persons contained in the statute, and the definitions of position of authority and position of special trust are not mutually exclusive at all; a person occupying a position of special trust is one who is in a position to exercise authority over a minor, and the position need not be an official one, and it is enough that a jury make an objective determination that the defendant is a person in a trustful position of power over the minor. Boone v. Commonwealth, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 152 (Ky. Ct. App. Oct. 18, 2013), review denied, ordered not published, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 407 (Ky. Aug. 13, 2014).

Court sees nothing that would require a finding of a personal, intimate, or meaningful relationship; the statute requires no regularity, frequency, or duration of contact between the perpetrator and the victim, and the court sees no reason to impose one upon it. Boone v. Commonwealth, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 152 (Ky. Ct. App. Oct. 18, 2013), review denied, ordered not published, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 407 (Ky. Aug. 13, 2014).

Definitions of position of authority and position of special trust are not mutually exclusive, and rather, one defines the other; the jury was not presented with alternate theories of guilt in this first-degree sexual abuse case and defendant’s unanimity argument failed. Boone v. Commonwealth, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 152 (Ky. Ct. App. Oct. 18, 2013), review denied, ordered not published, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 407 (Ky. Aug. 13, 2014).

Defendant, who was 15 years old when when charged with various sexual offenses including incest under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 530.020, was subject to the provisions of this section, as it applied to render a juvenile convicted as a youthful offender of sexual offenses ineligible for probation. Bloyer v. Commonwealth, 647 S.W.3d 219, 2022 Ky. LEXIS 136 (Ky. 2022).

3. Construction with Other Laws.

KRS 500.095, which allows a trial judge to create innovative and effective sentencing alternatives, does not overrule the sentencing prohibition set forth in this section. Porter v. Commonwealth, 841 S.W.2d 166, 1992 Ky. LEXIS 169 (Ky. 1992).

KRS 510.110(1)(d) is not unconstitutionally vague under U.S. Const. amend. XIV; although 16-17 year olds could have legally consented to sexual activity, the Kentucky General Assembly has recognized that certain persons may be able to abuse a position of authority or influence to obtain sexual contact with minors, and the legislature has a rational basis to impose a higher standard on persons who have an advantageous position of authority or influence over minors in their care. Even if the statutory definitions of “position of authority” and “position of special trust” were potentially vague in some situations, they clearly applied to appellant, who was exercising parental authority over a child staying at his house, and a dismissal of the indictment for first-degree sexual abuse was not appropriate. Stinson v. Commonwealth, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 161 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 9, 2011).

Trial court did not err by denying defendant’s motion for a directed verdict after determining that the phrase “with whom he or she comes into contact as a result of that position” of KRS 510.110(d) merely required proof that defendant came into contact with the child victim as a result of his position of authority, but that the contact could, though did not have to be, the initial contact or the sexual contact. Sprague v. Commonwealth, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 242 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 16, 2011, sub. op., 2011 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 984 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 16, 2011)).

Element of lack of consent under KRS 510.110(1)(d) was satisfied by the fact that the victim was unable to consent, as she was 17 and was subjected to sexual contact by a person in a position of authority or special trust within the meaning of KRS 532.045(1)(b); defendant was the victim’s uncle and the head of her household at the time of the offense. Stinson v. Commonwealth, 396 S.W.3d 900, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 87 (Ky. 2013).

Requirement under KRS 510.110(1)(d) that the perpetrator be in a “position of authority” and/or “position of special trust” does not render the statute unconstitutionally void for vagueness, as those terms are defined by KRS 532.045. Stinson v. Commonwealth, 396 S.W.3d 900, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 87 (Ky. 2013).

4. Position of Authority or Special Trust.

It was not defendant’s mere status as an adult that categorized him as a person in a position of authority or special trust, and the evidence showed more than that and was sufficient to support a factual finding that he fit the definitions, as he had been a household member for two years and was engaged to the mother of the victim’s friend. Boone v. Commonwealth, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 152 (Ky. Ct. App. Oct. 18, 2013), review denied, ordered not published, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 407 (Ky. Aug. 13, 2014).

There was sufficient evidence from which the jury could have found that defendant occupied a position of authority and special trust in relation to the victim, and came into contact with the victim as a result of that position, and thus the denial of defendant’s motion for a directed verdict for his charge of first degree sexual abuse was proper. Boone v. Commonwealth, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 152 (Ky. Ct. App. Oct. 18, 2013), review denied, ordered not published, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 407 (Ky. Aug. 13, 2014).

Because appellee could be properly considered as a person in a position of authority or a person in position of special trust as she was often the only adult supervising several small children in the afterschool program, she had the ability to punish them by putting them in time out and was responsible for reporting any disciplinary incidents that occurred between the children, and she could, theoretically, use her position of authority to exercise undue influence on those children, the Department for Community Based Services, Cabinet for Health and Family Services had a statutory duty to investigate reports that a child had been neglected. Dep’t for Cmty. Based Servs., Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. Baker, 613 S.W.3d 1, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 459 (Ky. 2020).

5. Probation improper.

Defendant, who pled guilty to sodomizing and sexually abusing his three (3) year-old daughter, was not entitled to shock probation. Porter v. Commonwealth, 869 S.W.2d 48, 1993 Ky. App. LEXIS 177 (Ky. Ct. App. 1993).

The mere fact that the trial judge mentioned the possibility of probation in the future during juvenile defendant’s initial sentencing for sodomy in the first degree does not put the matter of probation in issue, and the Commonwealth was not barred from appealing a later grant of probation bestowed on defendant after his completion of the sexual offender program. Commonwealth v. Taylor, 945 S.W.2d 420, 1997 Ky. LEXIS 35 (Ky. 1997).

Defendant who was convicted of first degree sodomy and sexual abuse upon his sister who was the age of 14 when the act occurred was a person who occupied a position of special trust, and thus, subsection (2) of this section prohibited the granting of probation to defendant. Commonwealth v. Taylor, 945 S.W.2d 420, 1997 Ky. LEXIS 35 (Ky. 1997).

6. Sentencing Alternatives.

Where the charges against defendant were no greater than Class D felonies, the trial court may and should have at least considered sentencing alternatives other than incarceration. Corman v. Commonwealth, 822 S.W.2d 421, 1991 Ky. App. LEXIS 143 (Ky. Ct. App. 1991).

Where defendant was convicted of sexual abuse in violation of KRS 510.110, the trial court erred in holding that he was ineligible for probation due to the constraints of KRS 532.045(b) because he was in a “position of authority” with the victim, as the more lenient language of KRS 533.030(6) indicated the legislative intent to allow probation in such situations in order to reduce prison overcrowding; however, as the trial court also relied on other more traditional reasons for denying probation, any error was harmless. Ebertshouser v. Commonwealth, 2005 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 47 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 4, 2005).

7. Extending Probation.

Trial court improperly extended appellant’s probationary term beyond the two-year period set forth in KRS 533.020(4) based on his failure to complete a sex offender treatment program; appellant did not request the extension, KRS 532.045 only authorized the revocation of probation, and the last-minute citation to KRS 532.045 was problematic. On remand, jurisdiction was not lost in this case because the Commonwealth initiated probation revocation proceedings prior to the expiration of the two-year probationary period; appellant was on notice and litigating his probation revocation proceeding prior to October 27, 2008, the date probation was set to expire. Miller v. Commonwealth, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 227 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 10, 2010), sub. op., 2010 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1001 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 10, 2010), aff’d in part and rev’d in part, 391 S.W.3d 801, 2013 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 2013).

Legislative Research Commission Notes.

(7/12/2012). Under the authority of KRS 7.136(1), the Reviser of Statutes has inserted paragraph designations into subsections (23) and (63) of this statute. The words in the text were not changed.

(7/15/98). This section was amended by 1998 Ky. Acts chs. 57, 303, 426, and 538. Where these Acts are not in conflict, they have been codified together. A conflict exists between ch. 538, which is nonrevisory and substantive in nature, and ch. 426, which is a revisory amendment to reflect an agency name change. In codification of this conflict, ch. 538 has been allowed to prevail. Cf. KRS 7.136(3).

1. In General.

Language of this section does not include an element of intent. Commonwealth v. K.S., 585 S.W.3d 202, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 382 (Ky. 2019).

2. Separate Dispositions Required.

It is statutorily forbidden for any one child to be adjudged both dependent and abused or neglected in the same disposition. J.H. v. Commonwealth, 767 S.W.2d 330, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 204 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

Court erred in terminating a mother’s parental rights because the removal petition was based upon a single incident of the children being exposed to drug use in a shed occupied by their maternal grandmother in which the mother was allegedly involved, and since that time, almost all of the mother’s fifty drug screens were negative, and there was no evidence that the state provided reasonable efforts to reunite the family. K.D.H. v. Commonwealth, 630 S.W.3d 729, 2021 Ky. App. LEXIS 82 (Ky. Ct. App. 2021).

3. Exclusion of Public and Press.

Although this section provides that the Unified Juvenile Code applies to matters conducted in the juvenile session of district court, in light of KRS 610.070(3), KRS 610.340, and Ky. Const., § 115, the public and press are to be excluded not only from all juvenile proceedings at the district court level, but from all appellate proceedings stemming therefrom. F.T.P. v. Courier-Journal, 774 S.W.2d 444, 1989 Ky. LEXIS 48 (Ky. 1989).

4. Status Offenses.

5. —Curfew Ordinances Excluded.

The legislature expressly excluded curfew ordinances from the definition of status offenses. Covington v. Court of Justice, 784 S.W.2d 180, 1990 Ky. LEXIS 13 (Ky. 1990).

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) is not authorized to require its court designated workers to process juvenile curfew violators as public offenders under KRS 610.010(1)(a); therefore, respondent city was expressly prohibited from requiring its court designated workers to process juvenile curfew violators as status offenders under the definition in this section. Covington v. Court of Justice, 784 S.W.2d 180, 1990 Ky. LEXIS 13 (Ky. 1990).

6. Juvenile Court Authority.

The juvenile court did not have the authority to sentence an eighteen (18) year-old defendant to confinement in a juvenile facility for a car theft committed prior to the defendant’s eighteenth birthday. Jefferson County Dep’t for Human Services v. Carter, 795 S.W.2d 59, 1990 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1990).

Circuit court finding that a father neglected or abused his minor child because the father completed the case plan to the satisfaction of the Cabinet for Health and Family Services, there was no allegation that the father ever engaged in any neglectful act directed toward the child, merely that his substance abuse in the past put the newborn child at risk of physical harm, and even more troubling was the disparate treatment received by the mother—against whom the Cabinet moved to dismiss the allegations—in spite of the fact that she had placed the child in actual, physical harm by substance abuse while pregnant with the child. C.B. v. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs., 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 54 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 26, 2018, sub. op., 2018 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 279 (Ky. Ct. App. Jan. 26, 2018).

7. Least Restrictive Alternative.

In a juvenile proceeding in which the juvenile argued that the trial court erred because commitment was not the least restrictive alternative since an aunt was willing to take her and that the trial court should have made findings as to why commitment was the only option, the trial court's failure to make written findings or state during the hearings what alternatives had been tried was not fatal to the commitment. The record was full of second chances, house confinement, foster care, and other alternatives that the Cabinet for Families and Children and the court tried in order to help the juvenile. K.F. v. Commonwealth, 274 S.W.3d 457, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 376 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Commitment of the juvenile was necessary to protect him from physical injury, and to the extent less restrictive alternatives were available, they were considered by the family court and determined unfeasible, KRS 600.010(2)(c), 600.020(35). J.S. v. Commonwealth, 304 S.W.3d 67, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 216 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009).

8. Qualified Mental Health Professional.

1996 amendment to the definition of "qualified mental health professional" in KRS 600.020 merely modified the existing definition to include a licensed clinical social worker and did not indicate the General Assembly's intention to qualify such a person as an expert for all purposes. R.C. v. Commonwealth, 101 S.W.3d 897, 2002 Ky. App. LEXIS 1401 (Ky. Ct. App. 2002).

9. Abused and Neglected Child.

Order terminating a father's parental rights was affirmed where, inter alia, father had no contact with the child for several years, and provided no financial support for 31 months; while the father claimed he did not know where to send support payments, the parties' agreement included the proper address. B.T.R. v. J.W., 148 S.W.3d 294, 2004 Ky. App. LEXIS 290 (Ky. Ct. App. 2004).

Evidence that the residences parents and children lived in were unsanitary and unsafe for human habitation, and that the older child had been sexually abused by his uncles and parents, was sufficient to establish that the children were abused and neglected as defined in KRS 600.020(1) and to support the family court's termination order. Cabinet for Health and Family Servs. v. A.G.G., 190 S.W.3d 338, 2006 Ky. LEXIS 97 (Ky. 2006).

Pre-trial order excluding evidence of sexual abuse on one of the child's siblings that resulted in the removal of the siblings from the home was vacated as the disputed evidence was not barred under the doctrine of issue preclusion since the identity of the perpetrator was not established in a prior proceeding; the identity of the perpetrator was not material to the finding that the siblings were abused or neglected since KRS 600.020(1) required only a finding that a parent or guardian had created or allowed to be created a risk that the child would be the victim of sexual abuse or exploitation. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. R.H., 199 S.W.3d 201, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 259 (Ky. Ct. App. 2006).

Because there was no substantial evidence to support a finding under either KRS 625.090(1)(a)1. or (a)2., and there was no allegation of criminal charges under KRS 625.090(1)(a)3., the family court erred in finding that a child was abused or neglected; thus, as there was no ground supporting termination, the family court abused its discretion in terminating a mother's parental rights to her daughter. T.G. v. Commonwealth, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 158 (Ky. Ct. App. May 18, 2007, sub. op., 2007 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 816 (Ky. Ct. App. May 18, 2007), rev'd, 2008 Ky. Unpub. LEXIS 150 (Ky. Aug. 21, 2008).

Cabinet for Health and Family Services did not present substantial evidence that a parent's children were abused and neglected as required under KRS 600.020(1). It was not shown that the children suffered any direct, emotional or physical injury from the parent, and the Cabinet witnesses testified that the parent was a nurturing parent and that the children were well-cared for by the parent. M.E.C. v. Commonwealth, 254 S.W.3d 846, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 158 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

To find that KRS 620.030 does not apply, there must be a finding that the act committed upon the child is not an act of sexual abuse. For purposes of KRS Chapter 600, the definition of a neglected or abused child is set forth at KRS 600.020. If sexual abuse has occurred, then the mandatory reporting requirement in KRS 620.030 would have required the teacher to report this incident and such mandatory reporting would result in this being considered a ministerial rather than a discretionary act which would preclude the teacher from claiming qualified official immunity. Nelson v. Turner, 256 S.W.3d 37, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 177 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Finding that the father abused only one of the four children did not preclude the court from ordering the father to refrain from contact with all four children because KRS 600.020(1) permitted such a finding where a risk of abuse existed and did not require actual abuse. Z.T. v. M.T., 258 S.W.3d 31, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 206 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Family court properly found that a child was an abused or neglected child as defined in KRS 600.020(1) and terminated the parental rights of the child's minor mother under KRS 625.090 without receiving expert testimony as to the mother's parenting potential upon adulthood because § 625.090(2)(e), (g) did not require proof that the minor parent would be unable to effectively parent the child when the parent reached the age of majority. Commonwealth v. T.N.H., 302 S.W.3d 658, 2010 Ky. LEXIS 5 (Ky. 2010).

Finding that a child was abused or neglected under KRS 600.020 was not supported by substantial evidence because a family court failed to determine the truth or falsity of all the allegations in a complaint under KRS 620.100, and it relied upon information outside the record that was neither raised as an allegation in the complaint nor presented as evidence during a hearing; also, a dependency, neglect, or abuse adjudication hearing was not the appropriate forum for rehashing custody issues. Even though judicial notice of a prior case involving the mother and father could have been taken, the family court's consideration of the evidence it heard in the earlier action was improper; moreover, there was no notice or opportunity to be heard relating to the taking of judicial notice. S.R. v. J.N., 307 S.W.3d 631, 2010 Ky. App. LEXIS 62 (Ky. Ct. App. 2010).

Under the plain language of KRS 600.020(1), the definition of an abused child is limited to a scenario in which his or her parent, guardian, or other person exercising custodial control or supervision inflicted or committed abuse, allowed abuse to be inflicted or committed, or created or allowed to be created a risk of abuse. As a result, the mandatory reporting requirement of KRS 620.030(1) does not apply when a child inappropriately touches another child unless a parent, guardian, or other person exercising custodial control or supervision allows such inappropriate touching to be committed or creates or allows such a risk of abuse. Turner v. Nelson, 342 S.W.3d 866, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 96 (Ky. 2011).

Evidence that was based on compounded inferences was insufficient to support a finding of a mother's neglect of her children under KRS 600.020(1)(f); her failure to sign an "Aftercare Plan" to keep the father away from the children, without evidence that he posed a risk to them, was insufficient. K.H. v. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs., 358 S.W.3d 29, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 248 (Ky. Ct. App. 2011).

KRS 600.020(1)(a)(2) allowed a finding by a court of neglect or abuse where the risk of abuse existed, and in this termination case, the child tested positive for marijuana at birth and the parents admitted to using such before and during the pregnancy, such that there was sufficient evidence to remove the child from the home in order to ensure her safety. C.J.M. v. Cabinet for Health and Family Servs., 389 S.W.3d 155, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 301 (Ky. Ct. App. 2012).

Parents conceded that the child was neglected or abused since they did not contest such. C.J.M. v. Cabinet for Health and Family Servs., 389 S.W.3d 155, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 301 (Ky. Ct. App. 2012).

Trial court did not err by determining that the children were abused and/or neglected under KRS 600.020, 625.090 because the parents admitted that their children were neglected as a result of their substance abuse issues and admitted that because of their lack of supervision of one child she was injured and sustained a bruise to her face. C.A.W. v. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs., 391 S.W.3d 400, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 24 (Ky. Ct. App. 2013).

Substantial evidence supported conclusion that son was abused or neglected under this section, including evidence that the father had not seen his son since his removal from his mother in June 2009, he refused to provide documentation that he had a steady job or was making child support payments, and he had a very limited understanding of his son's psychological needs. Cabinet for Health and Family Servs. v. K.H., 423 S.W.3d 204, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 13 (Ky. 2014).

Informal adjustment requiring a juvenile to live with the juvenile's father in another state was improper because the informal adjustment, (1) in effect, changed custody without a hearing on the father's propriety as a custodian, and (2) did not provide for the child's possible inability to live with the father. Q.M. v. Commonwealth, 459 S.W.3d 360, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 1613 (Ky. 2015).

When a juvenile returned to Kentucky, contrary to an informal adjustment requiring the juvenile to live with the juvenile's father in another state, it was error to subject the juvenile to formal proceedings because once the child and other interested parties agreed to an informal process waiving constitutional safeguards, it was error to shift to a formal process, especially when there was a factual question as to whether the juvenile violated the informal adjustment's sole term. Q.M. v. Commonwealth, 459 S.W.3d 360, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 1613 (Ky. 2015).

When a juvenile returned to Kentucky, contrary to an informal adjustment requiring the juvenile to live with the juvenile's father in another state, the juvenile's subsequent commitment to the Department of Juvenile Justice as a juvenile sexual offender erred because (1) it was error to subject the juvenile to formal proceedings, once an informal adjustment was agreed to, and (2) the juvenile's admission was defective. Q.M. v. Commonwealth, 459 S.W.3d 360, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 1613 (Ky. 2015).

Termination of a mother's parental rights was appropriate because a child was found to be abused and neglected based on the infliction of an emotional injury; the child suffered from Reactive Attachment Disorder, and the mother's mental illness made it incapable for her to care for the child. Moreover, the mother inflicted emotional injury to the child, failed to provide adequate parental care and supervision, and failed to provide the essentials of life for the child's overall well-being; termination was in the best interest of the child, reunification efforts were made, and the child's welfare would have improved if termination was ordered. B.E.K. v. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs., 487 S.W.3d 457, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 40 (Ky. Ct. App. 2016).

Termination of a father's parental rights on the ground of abandonment was inappropriate because, although the father did not visit with and support the child after the child was placed in foster care, the failures by the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services denied the father an opportunity to maintain contact with the child and to work toward a court-approved case plan to regain custody. Furthermore, the oral parenting plan given to the father was so lacking in formality and detail that it did not constitute a plan. H.M.R. v. Cabinet, 521 S.W.3d 221, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 157 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

Circuit court erred in requiring that a father's contact with his two sons in the family home be supervised where joint stipulations showed only that he twice pled guilty to sex crimes more than a decade ago, was assessed a low risk sex offender and required to register for life, and completed only the first of three phases of sex offender treatment program, there was no evidence that he had done anything to harm his sons, the sparse record did not show a proclivity to harm them, the father and mother had cooperated with authorities, and during 18 months of scrutiny, nothing had happened. R.S. v. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs., 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 562 (Ky. Ct. App. Sept. 29, 2017), rev'd, 570 S.W.3d 538, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 534 (Ky. 2018).

For a parent to neglect a child, he or she must intend to do so, and dependency is different than neglect, because while dependency may occur in circumstances similar to neglect, it lacks the requisite intent on the part of the parent; a child who suffers harm as a result of a parent's intentional acts is neglected or abused, and in contrast, a child is dependent if the harm results from a parent's unintentional acts, or from a cause unrelated to parental culpability. K.S. v. Commonwealth, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 224 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 17, 2018), rev'd, 585 S.W.3d 202, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 382 (Ky. 2019).

Abused or neglected child means a child whose health or welfare is harmed or threatened with harm and some would interpret "threatened with harm" as implicating a risk of neglect; although this interpretation may be sound in some cases, it does not obviate the necessity of intent for neglect or abuse. K.S. v. Commonwealth, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 224 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 17, 2018), rev'd, 585 S.W.3d 202, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 382 (Ky. 2019).

Termination of the mother's parental rights was improper because the evidence did not show that the child was neglected; while a doctor stated that the mother's limited intellect gave rise to a risk of neglect, that is not the same as neglect but rather indicates a child is dependent. The mother never had custody of the child, never neglected the child, and complied with her case plan, and while she had developmental disabilities, that alone was insufficient to render her behavior as neglectful. K.S. v. Commonwealth, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 224 (Ky. Ct. App. Aug. 17, 2018), rev'd, 585 S.W.3d 202, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 382 (Ky. 2019).

Neglect finding was proper because a father did not have to exercise control or supervision over the child, as "exercising custodial control or supervision" modified "other person." Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. C.B., 556 S.W.3d 568, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 365 (Ky. 2018).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion when it found children to be neglected and requiring in-home supervision because the father had a history of criminal convictions for sexually abusing his underage half-brother and failed to comply with conditions of probation; the dispositional order was not unreasonable because the father was convicted of sexually abusing an underage male family member, violated his probation, and was classified as a risk, albeit low, to reoffend. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. R.S., 570 S.W.3d 538, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 534 (Ky. 2018), cert. denied, 140 S. Ct. 242, 205 L. Ed. 2d 130, 2019 U.S. LEXIS 5735 (U.S. 2019).

Subsection (1)(a)(2) does not calibrate for the judiciary the tolerable degree of risk when considering a potential finding of neglect, and it is a matter for judicial discretion; if psychosexual assessment standards do not contain a category of "no risk" in evaluating an offender's chances for reoffending, then a risk for reoffending necessarily exists, and that risk of reoffending surely must be taken into account considering the offender's initial offenses and subsequent history. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. R.S., 570 S.W.3d 538, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 534 (Ky. 2018), cert. denied, 140 S. Ct. 242, 205 L. Ed. 2d 130, 2019 U.S. LEXIS 5735 (U.S. 2019).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in finding that children were at risk because the father had prior criminal acts, committed against an underage family member, and he was unable to complete probation supervision successfully. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. R.S., 570 S.W.3d 538, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 534 (Ky. 2018), cert. denied, 140 S. Ct. 242, 205 L. Ed. 2d 130, 2019 U.S. LEXIS 5735 (U.S. 2019).

Nothing in the plain language of Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 600.020(1) or in judicial precedent requires a trial court to find that a parent intentionally abused or neglected her child. Cabinet for Health & Fam. Servs. v. P.W., 582 S.W.3d 887, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 481 (Ky. 2019).

Court of Appeals of Kentucky held that for a parent to abuse or neglect a child under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 600.020(1), she must intend to do so. This is requiring an intentional result, i.e., that the parent intend that the result of their actions be that the child is abused or neglected. The Supreme Court of Kentucky is explicitly overruling that holding today. Cabinet for Health & Fam. Servs. v. P.W., 582 S.W.3d 887, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 481 (Ky. 2019).

Substantial evidence supported a neglect finding in the termination of parental rights where the mother knew the father's history of violence, failed to take any action to protect the child, and she could have prevented the child's injury if she had been honest about the domestic violence that was occurring, had accepted services to address the violence, or been able to apply the skills she learned through multiple case plans. Cabinet for Health & Fam. Servs. v. P.W., 582 S.W.3d 887, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 481 (Ky. 2019).

While no evidence showed that a second child was subjected to physical abuse, the evidence of abuse and neglect as to the other child provided sufficient evidence of a risk of harm. Cabinet for Health & Fam. Servs. v. P.W., 582 S.W.3d 887, 2019 Ky. LEXIS 481 (Ky. 2019).

Family court acted properly in determining that the Commonwealth could not establish a prima facie case for educational neglect where the child was only five years old when she was enrolled in kindergarten and incurred the absences which provided the basis for the temporary removal petition, pursuant to Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 158.030(2), her enrollment and attendance were optional, and there could be no educational neglect of a child for excessive absenteeism who was not required by law to attend school. Commonwealth v. H. K., 595 S.W.3d 498, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 218 (Ky. Ct. App. 2019).

Termination of the mother's parental rights was proper because the child was neglected as she was born with amphetamines in her system that came from the mother's use of amphetamines prescribed to her, but she did not inform her physician of her pregnancy; she continuously abused drugs over the two-year period after the child had been removed; she went from one abusive relationship to another and did not complete her protective parenting class; and she did not pay child support; because there was no reasonable expectation of improvement in the mother's situation within a reasonable amount of time; and because the child had been in foster care for 15 of the most recent 22 months preceding the filing of the petition to terminate. T.R.W. v. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs., 599 S.W.3d 455, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 223 (Ky. Ct. App. 2019).

Department for Community Based Services, Cabinet for Health and Family Services failed to prove its allegation of neglect by appellee by showing that it was more likely than not that appellee failed to provide a child adequate supervision necessary for the child's well-being in the afterschool program as the only evidence presented by the Cabinet that the boys touched each other sexually was unreliable and inconsistent hearsay; and no witness testified that the touching was ever reported to appellee. Dep't for Cmty. Based Servs., Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. Baker, 613 S.W.3d 1, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 459 (Ky. 2020).

Family court erred in finding that a father neglected his children because there was simply no evidence to support a finding that his drinking subjected his children (aged 13 and 15 and largely capable of looking after themselves) to an actual and reasonable potential for harm or that his substance use disorder rendered him incapable of caring for them or meeting their needs. M.C. v. Commonwealth, 614 S.W.3d 915, 2021 Ky. LEXIS 9 (Ky. 2021).

Family court erred in terminating the father's parental rights because the Interstate Compact for the Placement of Children home study should not be required for a noncustodial parent who was not the subject of allegations or findings of child abuse or neglect; no evidence of domestic violence was proven; no witness testified at the trial to establish that any domestic violence occurred between the parties; although the court found that the father had abandoned the child for more than 90 days, the social worker testified that the father maintained appropriate contact with her, and the child testified that he and the father spoke on the phone every week; and there was no proof that the state ever sought child support from either parent. A.G. v. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs., 621 S.W.3d 424, 2021 Ky. LEXIS 130 (Ky. 2021).

Court of Appeals properly affirmed the trial court's orders found that the natural, minor children of were abused or were at risk of being abused while in his care because, although the testimony of the child's treating therapist identifying the father as the child's abuser was error, as it was not necessary for the specific abuser to be identified, the trial court properly relied upon the remainder of the therapist's testimony, in conjunction with other testimony, to find by a preponderance of the evidence that acts of sexual abuse were committed upon the child when she was in the father's care and custody, and that her siblings were also at risk of sexual abuse. B.B. v. Commonwealth, 635 S.W.3d 802, 2021 Ky. LEXIS 241 (Ky. 2021).

Findings supported the termination of father's parental rights; he had previously stipulated to the neglect of the two other children, plus ample evidence supported the family court's conclusion that he abused or neglected each of the children, as father failed to make sufficient progress on his case plan, failed to consistently pay child support during the six months preceding trial, and was discharged from his drug treatment program for being noncompliant. D.H. v. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs., 640 S.W.3d 736, 2022 Ky. App. LEXIS 7 (Ky. Ct. App. 2022).

10. Informal Adjustment.

In a proceeding in which a juvenile was charged with first degree sexual assault, under KRS 600.020(31), the trial court's approval for the parties' agreement for an informal adjustment was required, and as it was in the best position to make that assessment, its decision not to approve the agreement would not be reversed. W.D.B. v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 346 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 22, 2006), sub. op., 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1108 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 22, 2006), aff'd, 246 S.W.3d 448, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 241 (Ky. 2007).

11. Guilty Pleas.

Defendant juvenile was wrongly designated as a status offender after a family court found him in contempt because the court did not engage defendant in any sort of meaningful discussion concerning the consequences of his guilty plea, nor did it determine or assure whether he made it voluntarily. The court did not ask defendant about his state of mind or if anyone had pressured him to make the plea, it did not explain to defendant that he had the option of pleading not guilty and thus becoming entitled to a hearing, and it did not ascertain whether he was aware of the constitutional rights that he waived as a result of his admission. D.G. v. Commonwealth, 355 S.W.3d 476, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 228 (Ky. Ct. App. 2011).

12. Valid Court Order.

Standard School Attendance Order (SSAO) was a valid court order and therefore the trial court properly held the minor in contempt, because she received the full due process rights to which she was entitled at that stage of the proceedings. The SSAO was entered after the minor was initially brought into court for her arraignment on the beyond control of parent charge and entered a plea of not true, she was made subject to the SSAO, and it regulated her future conduct. B.H. v. Commonwealth, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 164 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 22, 2013), review denied, ordered not published, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 423 (Ky. Aug. 13, 2014).

13. De Facto Custodian.

Circuit court properly committed a father's 31-month-old child to the Cabinet for Health and Family Services because there was an emergency where the father was arrested on drug charges and drugs and a handgun were seized from a child's bedroom, the stepmother did not meet the requirements of a de facto custodian where it was not established that the POA the father purportedly executed made her the child's legal guardian, the father's three blood relatives were eliminated from consideration as either living with, or being, drug traffickers, and the least restrictive appropriate placement available was the foster mother with whom the child has spent the majority of his life. G. P. v. Cabinet for Health and Family Servs., 572 S.W.3d 484, 2019 Ky. App. LEXIS 34 (Ky. Ct. App. 2019).

14. Governmental Immunity.

Family court properly denied the motions to dismiss three dependency/neglect/abuse (DNA) petitions filed by the Cabinet for Health and Family Services that arose from its actions involving the custody and care of three children previously committed to its care because, while the Cabinet was clearly entitled to the protection of governmental immunity, the petitions were statutorily authorized, and the Cabinet was not immune from a DNA petition. Commonwealth v. K.T., 2021 Ky. App. LEXIS 63 (Ky. Ct. App. Apr. 23, 2021), vacated, 645 S.W.3d 411, 2022 Ky. LEXIS 116 (Ky. 2022).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A married child under the age of 16 has a legal responsibility to attend school, but once a child marries, the parent or guardian no longer has a legal obligation to ensure that the child attends school; however, if the spouse of a minor who is under the age of 16 and who is an habitual truant, is found to be a person exercising custodial control or supervision as defined by this section, the spouse may be subject to penalties under the Juvenile Code. OAG 87-40.

It is clear from the language of this section and KRS 610.010(1)(c) that a student under the age of 18 years who is failing to attend school in violation of KRS 159.010 is subject to a delinquency prosecution in accordance with the Juvenile Code. OAG 90-106.

While the two definitions of "habitual truant" in KRS 159.150 and in this section cannot be reconciled in terms of their language, it may be possible to reconcile them in their application. KRS 159.140 gives Directors of Pupil Personnel authority to enforce compulsory attendance laws, including KRS 159.150. Penalties are set forth under KRS 159.990 and are enforced by the District Court. Through exclusive jurisdiction over habitual truants the District Court has discretion in enforcement. The court may either rely on a Director of Pupil Personnel to initiate proceedings for violations of KRS 159.150, or the court may order a Director of Pupil Personnel to enforce this section, in which case the director would have authority to apply the definition found therein. OAG 91-79.

A married female under 16 years of age is a "child" as defined in this section. OAG 93-37.

This section controls over KRS 159.150 in ascertaining the number of days a child must have unexcused absences prior to being found habitually truant under the Unified Juvenile Code. OAG 93-37.

A child who does not receive necessary medical care due to his parents' religious belief may be considered an abused or neglected child; accordingly, the reporting requirements of KRS 620.030(1) and the investigation requirements of KRS 620.050(3) are mandatory and must be followed in cases involving the religious exemption contained in subsection (1) of this section. OAG 93-84.

Notwithstanding any other provision of KRS Chapter 600 to 645, the inherent contempt power of the court shall not be diminished, except that an order of detention for a child found in contempt shall not exceed thirty (30) days.

Analysis

1. Juvenile Proceedings.
2. Contempt Sentence.
3. Restitution Proceedings.
4. Criminal Contempt.

1. Juvenile Proceedings.

Although a juvenile was only 15-years old, a District Court had authority under KRS 600.060 to sentence the juvenile to 60-days detention for criminal contempt. C.G. v. Commonwealth, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 57 (Ky. Ct. App. Mar. 14, 2003, sub. op., 2003 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 1383 (Ky. Ct. App. Mar. 14, 2003), review denied, ordered not published, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 212 (Ky. Aug. 17, 2005).

Both of the family court's contempt orders violated Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann § 600.060 as ordered the juvenile to be detained for more than 30 days. C.S. v. Commonwealth, 559 S.W.3d 857, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 203 (Ky. Ct. App. 2018).

2. Contempt Sentence.

KRS 635.060(4) provided that a juvenile offender who was older than age 14 but younger than age 16 could be confined for a period not to exceed 45 days but KRS 600.060 stated that notwithstanding any other provision of KRS Chs. 600 to 645, the inherent contempt power of the court was not diminished, so, because KRS 600.060 specifically addressed the juvenile court's contempt powers, it controlled over the more general limitation on sentencing of public offenders contained in KRS 635.060(4), and a juvenile court was allowed to sentence a public offender to 60 days in detention for being in contempt of court. A.W. v. Commonwealth, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 91 (Ky. Ct. App. May 2, 2003), aff'd, 163 S.W.3d 4, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2005).

3. Restitution Proceedings.

Juvenile court retained jurisdiction over an offender to enforce a restitution order entered by the juvenile court after the offender turned 18 because KRS 600.060 authorized the use of contempt powers to enforce the restitution order. Commonwealth v. S.K., 253 S.W.3d 486, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 2008).

4. Criminal Contempt.

Family court erred in imposing criminal contempt sanctions against the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services because the court held the Cabinet in contempt for having disregarded a procedural rule which the court itself acknowledged regularly disregarding and the court failed to find willful disobedience by a case worker in the failure to file a required report. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. J.M.G., 475 S.W.3d 600, 2015 Ky. LEXIS 2013 (Ky. 2015).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Contempt Sentence.

Unpublished decision: KRS 600.060 did not restrict a juvenile court's imposition of contempt sanctions, for violations of conditions of probation, as the juvenile court had the inherent authority to impose the sanctions; further, KRS 635.060 did not act as a limitation on the length of sentence imposed under a contempt order. A.W. v. Commonwealth, 163 S.W.3d 4, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2005).

600.070. Release of educational records.

Pursuant to the authority granted to the Commonwealth under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, 20 U.S.C. sec. 1232g, when a statute within KRS Chapters 600 to 645 refers to the release of educational records, the purpose of the release shall be limited to providing the juvenile justice system with the ability to effectively serve, prior to adjudication, the needs of the student whose records are sought. The authorities to which the data are released shall certify that any educational records obtained pursuant to a statute within KRS Chapters 600 to 645 shall only be released to persons authorized by statute and shall not be released to any other person without the written consent of the parent of the child.

History.

CHAPTER 605 ADMINISTRATIVE MATTERS

Section

605.110. Smoking cessation services, medical care, and educational programs for committed children — Kentucky Educational Collaborative for State Agency Children — Personnel — Financing.

605.115. Access to Medicaid funding for local school districts providing funding matches for services for eligible children with disabilities.

605.110. Smoking cessation services, medical care, and educational programs for committed children — Kentucky Educational Collaborative for State Agency Children — Personnel — Financing.

(1)(a) Any child committed to or in the custody of the cabinet or the Department of Juvenile Justice who is not placed in a location where smoking cessation services are provided may participate in smoking cessation services offered by local health departments or their contracted agents at no cost.

(b) Unless provided otherwise, when any child committed to or in the custody of the Department of Juvenile Justice or the cabinet requires medical or surgical care or treatment, the Department of Juvenile Justice or the cabinet may provide the same or arrange for the furnishing thereof by other public or private agencies, and may give consent to the medical or surgical treatment. For this purpose, the services and facilities of local health officers and departments shall be made available, at a cost not to exceed the Medicaid reimbursement rate, to the Department of Juvenile Justice or the cabinet, and as far as practicable, any publicly owned hospital shall provide hospitalization without charge for any such child who is a resident of the political subdivision by which the hospital is owned or operated. This section does not authorize nor shall permission be granted for abortion or sterilization.

(2) Any child placed in a foster home by an agency duly authorized in KRS Chapter 620 to place a child in a foster home shall receive a complete medical, visual, and dental examination by a professional authorized by the Kentucky Revised Statutes to conduct such examinations. Arrangements for a child placed in a foster home to receive such examinations shall be made within two (2) weeks of his placement in a foster home and not less than every twelve (12) months thereafter.

(3) Children maintained in any of the facilities and programs operated or contracted by the Department of Juvenile Justice or the cabinet shall, so far as possible, receive a common school education.

(a) The Kentucky Educational Collaborative for State Agency Children shall be established to serve children in facilities and programs operated or contracted by the Department of Juvenile Justice or the Cabinet for Health and Family Services, residential, day treatment, clinical, and group home programs. All policies and procedures necessary to educate state agency children shall be approved by the Kentucky Board of Education. All duties, responsibilities, rights, and privileges specifically imposed on or granted to the local education administration units shall be imposed on or granted to the Department of Juvenile Justice or the Cabinet for Health and Family Services and contracted agencies with regard to educating agency children. Classrooms for the Kentucky Educational Collaborative for State Agency Children shall be within or near the facilities and programs operated or contracted by the Department of Juvenile Justice or the cabinet. The Kentucky Department of Education, the Department of Juvenile Justice, and the Cabinet for Health and Family Services, Department for Community Based Services, shall develop a biennial plan regarding the educational needs and provisions of educational programs, with emphasis on the coordination of all treatment services and funds available to provide for the education of state agency children. The biennial plan shall include strategies to assure that teacher preparation programs include content related to working with state agency children and that adequate professional development opportunities for better meeting the needs of these students are available for teachers and schools.

(b) Teachers and other staff shall be hired on contract through a local school district or if a local school district is not willing to participate, teachers may be hired by the Kentucky Educational Collaborative for State Agency Children or a contract may be entered into with a private provider of educational services. All certified educational staff hired by the Kentucky Educational Collaborative for State Agency Children shall be members of the Kentucky Teachers' Retirement System.

(c) Beginning July 1, 1993, the Kentucky Education Collaborative for State Agency Children shall be financed through:

1. The amount generated by state agency children under the Support Education Excellence in Kentucky program as provided in KRS 157.360 for the guaranteed base and adjustments for the number of at-risk students, exceptional students, and transportation costs;
2. A per-pupil distribution of professional development funds with the collaborative serving as a consortium for state agency children;
3. A per-pupil distribution of technology funds in accordance with the state education technology plan pursuant to KRS 156.670 and the formula for the distribution of funds to local school districts;
4. A per-pupil distribution of textbook funds pursuant to KRS 157.100 and 157.190;
5. The funding for school services for state agency children authorized by KRS 158.135; and

6. Other grants and entitlements, including federal funds, identified in the implementation plan developed pursuant to paragraph (f) of this subsection for the education of Kentucky's children.

(d) The commissioner of Juvenile Justice and the secretary of the Cabinet for Health and Family Services shall promulgate administrative regulations, pursuant to KRS Chapter 13A, with the assistance of the Kentucky Department of Education and upon recommendation of the Kentucky Board of Education regarding the governance, curriculum, and other topics necessary to educate state agency children. The regulations shall:

1. Provide for the development and implementation of interagency agreements that:
 - a. Define the financial responsibility of each state and local agency for providing services to state agency children;
 - b. Establish procedures for resolving interagency disputes among agencies that are parties to the agreements; and
2. Provide procedures for the implementation of the Kentucky statutes regarding school-based decision making, student outcomes, accountability, assessment, rewards and sanctions, technology, staff development, salaries, and the development of coordinated individual treatment, education, and transition plans to ensure compliance with present education and treatment laws and regulations specific to the needs of children in the programs of the Cabinet for Health and Family Services.

(e) When the placement of a state agency child is changed so that the state agency child must transfer from one school or educational facility to a different school or educational facility, the school or educational facility that the state agency child is leaving shall, within two (2) days of the state agency child leaving, prepare an educational passport for the child, which shall be delivered to the cabinet or the Department of Juvenile Justice. The cabinet or the Department of Juvenile Justice shall, within two (2) days of enrolling a state agency child in a new school or educational facility, present the educational passport to the receiving school or educational facility.

(f) The commissioner of Juvenile Justice and the secretary of the Cabinet for Health and Family Services and the commissioner of the state Department of Education shall initiate development of a plan for implementation of the Kentucky Educational Collaborative for State Agency Children.

effective June 20, 2005; 2006, ch. 17, § 2, effective July 12, 2006.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Jurisdiction.

Trial court had jurisdiction to enter custody orders as to a child who was originally presented to a hospital in Kentucky with life-threatening injuries, and who was transferred to a hospital in Tennessee, by air lift on that same date; however, an order permitting the Cabinet to terminate life sustaining treatment for the child was improper because the best interests of the child were secondary to the overriding and paramount right of the mother to a due process adjudication of termination. Until those rights were formally adjudicated, the Cabinet was not permitted to terminate treatment. D.K. v. Commonwealth, 221 S.W.3d 382, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 93 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

The commissioner of the Department of Juvenile Justice and the secretary of the Cabinet for Health and Family Services, with the cooperation of the Kentucky Board of Education and the commissioner of education, shall implement policies to assure that local school districts providing a funding match shall have direct access to Medicaid funding as Medicaid providers for the provision of health-related services to eligible children with disabilities under the age of twenty-one (21) years of age. They shall develop policies and procedures so the Department of Education can transfer the local school districts' matching funds to the Department for Medicaid Services. CHAPTER 610

PROCEDURAL MATTERS

Section

610.010. District Court jurisdiction of juvenile matters.
610.100. Investigation — Informal adjustment.

Section

610.220. Permitted purposes for holding child in custody — Time limitation — Extension — Separation from adult prisoners — Prohibition against attaching child to stationary object.
610.265. Detention of children in specified facilities — Time frame for holding detention hearing — Release of child required if hearing not held as specified.
610.280. Considerations for and findings from detention hearing.
610.290. Rights of juvenile.
610.295. Detention costs — Assessment against parent after hearing — Payments when adjudication based on status offense or public offense — Payment schedule and discharge.

610.010. District Court jurisdiction of juvenile matters.

(1) Unless otherwise exempted by KRS Chapters 600 to 645, the juvenile session of the District Court of each county shall have exclusive jurisdiction in proceedings concerning any child living or found within the county who has not reached his or her eighteenth birthday or of any person who at the time of committing a public offense was under the age of eighteen (18) years, who allegedly has committed a public offense prior to his or her eighteenth birthday, except a motor vehicle offense involving a child sixteen (16) years of age or older. A child sixteen (16) years of age or older taken into custody upon the allegation that the child has committed a motor vehicle offense shall be treated as an adult and shall have the same conditions of release applied to him or her as an adult. A child taken into custody upon the allegation that he or she has committed a motor vehicle offense who is not released under conditions of release applicable to adults shall be held, pending his or her appearance before the District Court, in a facility as defined in KRS 15A.067. Children sixteen (16) years of age or older who are convicted of, or plead guilty to, a motor vehicle offense shall, if sentenced to a term of confinement, be placed in a facility for that period of confinement preceding their eighteenth birthday and an adult detention facility for that period of confinement subsequent to their eighteenth birthday. The term "motor vehicle offense" shall not be deemed to include the offense of stealing or converting a motor vehicle nor operating the same without the owner's consent nor any offense which constitutes a felony;

(2) Unless otherwise exempted by KRS Chapters 600 to 645, the juvenile session of the District Court of each county or the family division of the Circuit Court shall have exclusive jurisdiction in proceedings concerning any child living or found within the county who has not reached his or her eighteenth birthday and who allegedly:

- (a) Is beyond the control of the school or beyond the control of parents as defined in KRS 600.020;
- (b) Is an habitual truant from school;
- (c) Is an habitual runaway from his or her parent or other person exercising custodial control or supervision of the child;
- (d) Is dependent, neglected, or abused;
- (e) Has committed an alcohol offense in violation of KRS 244.085; or

(f) Is mentally ill.

(3) Actions brought under subsection (1) of this section shall be considered to be public offense actions.

(4) Actions brought under subsection (2)(a), (b), (c), and (e) of this section shall be considered to be status offense actions.

(5) Actions brought under subsection (2)(d) of this section shall be considered to be nonoffender actions.

(6) Actions brought under subsection (2)(f) of this section shall be considered to be mental health actions.

(7) Nothing in this chapter shall deprive other courts of the jurisdiction to determine the custody or guardianship of children upon writs of habeas corpus or to determine the custody or guardianship of children when such custody or guardianship is incidental to the determination of other causes pending in such other courts; nor shall anything in this chapter affect the jurisdiction of Circuit Courts over adoptions and proceedings for termination of parental rights.

(8) The court shall have no jurisdiction to make permanent awards of custody of a child except as provided by KRS 620.027.

(9) If the court finds an emergency to exist affecting the welfare of a child, or if the child is eligible for the relative or fictive kin caregiver assistance as established in KRS 620.142, it may make temporary orders for the child's custody; however, if the case involves allegations of dependency, neglect, or abuse, no emergency removal or temporary custody orders shall be effective unless the provisions of KRS Chapter 620 are followed. Such orders shall be entirely without prejudice to the proceedings for permanent custody of the child and shall remain in effect until modified or set aside by the court. Upon the entry of a temporary or final judgment in the Circuit Court awarding custody of such child, all prior orders of the juvenile session of the District Court in conflict therewith shall be deemed canceled. This section shall not work to deprive the Circuit Court of jurisdiction over cases filed in Circuit Court.

(10) The court of each county wherein a public offense, as defined in subsection (1) of this section, is committed by a child who is a resident of another county of this state shall have concurrent jurisdiction over such child with the court of the county wherein the child resides or the court of the county where the child is found. Whichever court first acquires jurisdiction of such child may proceed to final disposition of the case, or in its discretion may make an order transferring the case to the court of the county of the child's residence or the county wherein the offense was committed, as the case may be.

(11) Nothing in this chapter shall prevent the court from holding a child in contempt of court to enforce valid court orders previously issued by the court, subject to the requirements contained in KRS 610.265 and 630.080.

(12) Except as provided in KRS 635.060(4), 630.120(5), or 635.090, nothing in this chapter shall confer upon the District Court or the family division of the Circuit Court, as appropriate, jurisdiction over the actions of the Department of Juvenile Justice or the cabinet in the placement, care, or treatment of a child committed to the Department of Juvenile Justice or committed to or in the custody of the cabinet; or to require the department or the cabinet to perform, or to refrain from performing, any specific act in the placement, care, or treatment of any child committed to the department or committed to or in the custody of the cabinet.

(13) Unless precluded by KRS Chapter 635 or 640, in addition to informal adjustment, the court shall have the discretion to amend the petition to reflect jurisdiction pursuant to the proper chapter of the Kentucky Unified Juvenile Code.

(14) The court shall have continuing jurisdiction over a child pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, to review dispositional orders, and to conduct permanency hearings under 42 U.S.C. sec. 675(5)(c) until the child is placed for adoption, returned home to his or her parents with all the court imposed conditions terminated, completes a disposition pursuant to KRS 635.060, or reaches the age of eighteen (18) years.

Analysis

1. Legislative Intent.
2. Curfew Violation Not Status Offense.
3. Juvenile Court Authority.
4. Federal Jurisdiction.
5. Appellate Jurisdiction.
6. Circuit Court Jurisdiction.
7. Removal From Home State.
8. Guilty Pleas.
9. Valid Court Order.
10. Jurisdiction.

1. Legislative Intent.

The intent of this section in giving the District Court the ability to review any information it may require regarding one of its orders is to safeguard the interests of the child, considering its welfare as being too precious a commodity to jeopardize by an incomplete or inadequate judicial review. Cabinet for Human Resources v. McDonald, 765 S.W.2d 581, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 175 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

Because the Kentucky Legislature conferred sole and exclusive authority upon the Cabinet for Health and Family Services to determine the appropriate placement of a child committed to its care in KRS 610.010(11) (now (12)), pursuant to Ky. Const., §§ 27, 28, the trial court erred in restricting where the Cabinet could place two (2) children. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. ex rel. A.W. v. Huddleston, 185 S.W.3d 222, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 47 (Ky. Ct. App. 2006).

2. Curfew Violation Not Status Offense.

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) is not authorized to require its court designated workers to process juvenile curfew violators as public offenders under this section; therefore, respondent city was expressly prohibited from requiring its court designated workers to process juvenile curfew violators as status offenders under the definition in KRS 600.020. Covington v. Court of Justice, 784 S.W.2d 180, 1990 Ky. LEXIS 13 (Ky. 1990).

3. Juvenile Court Authority.

The juvenile court did not have the authority to sentence an eighteen (18) year-old defendant to confinement in a juvenile facility for a car theft committed prior to the defendant's eighteenth birthday. Jefferson County Dep't for Human Services v. Carter, 795 S.W.2d 59, 1990 Ky. LEXIS 73 (Ky. 1990).

Express statutory authority anticipated that a juvenile court had the power to hold a child in contempt as KRS 610.010(10) (now (11)) specifically provided that nothing in "this chapter" would prevent a District Court from holding a child in contempt of court to enforce valid court orders previously issued by the court, KRS 610.265(1), 610.265(5) (now (3)) and 635.055 each set out provisions for the detention of a juvenile who was charged with being in contempt of court, and KRS 635.083(1) gave a juvenile court continuing jurisdiction over a juvenile who was convicted or adjudged delinquent of three (3) or more offenses, this jurisdiction continued even after the service of incarceration or other court-ordered punishment in the form of conditional discharge, and violation of the terms and conditions of conditional discharge could be punished as contempt of court. A.W. v. Commonwealth, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 91 (Ky. Ct. App. May 2, 2003), aff'd, 163 S.W.3d 4, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2005).

Juvenile court had the authority to hold a public offender in contempt for violating the terms of her probation, but the court should refrain from using its contempt authority to punish violations of probation unless it found that other options were either inappropriate or unavailable. A.W. v. Commonwealth, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 91 (Ky. Ct. App. May 2, 2003), aff'd, 163 S.W.3d 4, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2005).

When a public offender was found in contempt for violating the terms of her probation, significant due process considerations came into play, and, while her counsel's stipulation to a violation of probation was adequate to establish a violation, it could not serve as the basis for finding the offender guilty of contempt of court. A.W. v. Commonwealth, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 91 (Ky. Ct. App. May 2, 2003), aff'd, 163 S.W.3d 4, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2005).

KRS 610.010(11) (now (12)), restricting the trial court's authority over the actions of the Cabinet concerning the placement, care, or treatment of a child committed to it, did not restrict the trial court's authority to order the Cabinet to pay for drug abuse treatment for the mother because the mother's treatment did not relate to the child's treatment. Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. Evans, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 52 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 17, 2006, sub. op.), 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 831 (Ky. Ct. App. Feb. 17, 2006).

Order modifying the amount of restitution that a juvenile was directed to pay was affirmed because KRS 610.010(13) (now (14)) granted the juvenile court continuing jurisdiction to review a previously entered restitution order. Further, the order was not untimely as CR 59.05 did not apply to the entry of the dispositional order. D.F. v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 81 (Ky. Ct. App. Mar. 17, 2006, sub. op.), 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 499 (Ky. Ct. App. Mar. 17, 2006).

Since there was precedent and a clear statement in KRS 610.010(13) (now (14)) that as a general rule juvenile court jurisdiction did not extend to adults, a circuit court erred when it inferred such an extension with respect to outstanding restitution orders to former juveniles who had turned 18. Nothing in KRS 413.090 conveyed jurisdiction. S.K. v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 154 (Ky. Ct. App. May 26, 2006), rev'd, 253 S.W.3d 486, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 2008).

As a general rule, KRS 610.010(13) (now (14)) limits juvenile court jurisdiction to minors. Neither the court's contempt power nor the limitations period for an action on a judgment implies an exception to that rule for restitution obligors. S.K. v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 154 (Ky. Ct. App. May 26, 2006), rev'd, 253 S.W.3d 486, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 6 (Ky. 2008).

4. Federal Jurisdiction.

Federal District Court and not state District Court had jurisdiction over juvenile for crimes committed on Fort Knox military reservation since by KRS 3.030 the Kentucky Legislature has expressly granted jurisdiction to federal courts for matters occurring on the premises of Fort Knox and such statute does not conflict with this section. United States v. Juvenile Male, 939 F.2d 321, 1991 U.S. App. LEXIS 15266 (6th Cir. Ky. 1991).

5. Appellate Jurisdiction.

Once a Circuit Court enters a judgment terminating parental rights to a child who was previously committed to the Cabinet for Human Resources, the District Court loses its jurisdiction to review the earlier commitment order. (Decided under prior law) Cabinet for Human Resources v. D.S., 746 S.W.2d 87, 1988 Ky. App. LEXIS 30 (Ky. Ct. App. 1988).

The Court of Appeals lacked jurisdiction over and, therefore, properly dismissed a juvenile's appeal from an order of an elected Circuit Court judge sitting in Family Court which required the juvenile to cooperate in counseling, undergo a drug and alcohol screening, and to schedule a gynecological examination before the next hearing date; the juvenile should have taken her appeal to the Circuit Court pursuant to the Family Court rules of practice. T.A. v. Byer, 13 S.W.3d 629, 2000 Ky. LEXIS 27 (Ky. 2000).

6. Circuit Court Jurisdiction.

Trial court had jurisdiction to enter custody orders as to a child who was originally presented to a hospital in Kentucky with life-threatening injuries, and who was transferred to a hospital in Tennessee by air lift on that same date; however, an order permitting the Cabinet to terminate life sustaining treatment for the child was improper because the best interests of the child were secondary to the overriding and paramount right of the mother to a due process adjudication of termination. Until those rights were formally adjudicated, the Cabinet was not permitted to terminate treatment. D.K. v. Commonwealth, 221 S.W.3d 382, 2007 Ky. App. LEXIS 93 (Ky. Ct. App. 2007).

Firearm enhanced drug offense is actually charged at the higher level regardless of the procedural circumstances. Therefore, a circuit court properly acquired jurisdiction in a juvenile case because transfer order was facially valid where a district court found probable cause that appellant committed the offense of drug trafficking with a firearm enhancement; moreover, the trial court made two sets of findings, one concerning mandatory findings and one about the discretionary factors. Jackson v. Commonwealth, 363 S.W.3d 11, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 25 (Ky. 2012).

7. Removal From Home State.

The trial court abused its discretion in relieving the Cabinet for Human Resources of its responsibility, under an original order, to return the children to their home state of New York from where they had been removed from proper custody. (Decided under prior law) Waters v. Cabinet for Human Resources, 736 S.W.2d 365, 1987 Ky. App. LEXIS 565 (Ky. Ct. App. 1987).

8. Guilty Pleas.

Defendant juvenile was wrongly designated as a status offender after a family court found him in contempt because the court did not engage defendant in any sort of meaningful discussion concerning the consequences of his guilty plea, nor did it determine or assure whether he made it voluntarily. The court did not ask defendant about his state of mind or if anyone had pressured him to make the plea, it did not explain to defendant that he had the option of pleading not guilty and thus becoming entitled to a hearing, and it did not ascertain whether he was aware of the constitutional rights that he waived as a result of his admission. D.G. v. Commonwealth, 355 S.W.3d 476, 2011 Ky. App. LEXIS 228 (Ky. Ct. App. 2011).

Entry of a guilty plea did not preclude the consideration of whether a transfer order in a juvenile case was facially invalid, and a waiver rule did not apply to a facially insufficient transfer order. Jackson v. Commonwealth, 363 S.W.3d 11, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 25 (Ky. 2012).

9. Valid Court Order.

Standard School Attendance Order (SSAO) was a valid court order and therefore the trial court properly held the minor in contempt, because she received the full due process rights to which she was entitled at that stage of the proceedings. The SSAO was entered after the minor was initially brought into court for her arraignment on the beyond control of parent charge and entered a plea of not true, she was made subject to the SSAO, and it regulated her future conduct. B.H. v. Commonwealth, 2013 Ky. App. LEXIS 164 (Ky. Ct. App. Nov. 22, 2013), review denied, ordered not published, 2014 Ky. LEXIS 423 (Ky. Aug. 13, 2014).

Court may only hold a child in contempt of court to enforce a valid court order previously issued by the court. Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 610.010(11). It is manifestly unjust to subject a juvenile to sanctions for contempt, especially confinement in a detention facility, when the status offense case against her was effectively terminated without the entry of a valid written order regulating her future conduct. C.S. v. Commonwealth, 559 S.W.3d 857, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 203 (Ky. Ct. App. 2018).

10. Jurisdiction.

District court lacked particular case jurisdiction when it ordered the Department for Community Based Services of the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services—which investigated and found no substantiation for a parent’s claims that the other abused their child—to open a case and further assess the family needs. T.C. v. M.E., 603 S.W.3d 663, 2020 Ky. App. LEXIS 54 (Ky. Ct. App. 2020).

NOTES TO UNPUBLISHED DECISIONS

1. Juvenile Court Authority.

Unpublished decision: Juvenile court’s imposition of contempt sanctions, because of a juvenile’s violations of conditions that were placed on her probation, did not violate KRS 610.010(10), as the contempt power existed for the purpose of compelling the juvenile to comply with the court’s orders and to enable the court to help the juvenile become a productive citizen. A.W. v. Commonwealth, 163 S.W.3d 4, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2005).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

It is clear from the language of KRS 600.020(24) and subdivision (1)(c) of this section that a student under the age of 18 years who is failing to attend school in violation of KRS 159.010 is subject to a delinquency prosecution in accordance with the Juvenile Code. OAG 90-106.

610.100. Investigation — Informal adjustment.

(1) Unless there is a suitable prior disposition investigation report or unless waived by the child who is represented by counsel, before making disposition of the case of a child brought before the court under the provisions of KRS Chapters 630 or 635, whether by complaint pursuant to KRS 610.020, or by reason of having been taken into custody pursuant to KRS 610.190, the judge shall cause an investigation to be made concerning the nature of the specific act complained of and any surrounding circumstances which suggest the future care and guidance which should be given the child. The investigation shall include an inquiry into the child’s age, habits, school record, general reputation, and everything that may pertain to his or her life, and character. The investigation shall also include an inquiry into the home conditions, life, and character of the person having custody of the child. The investigation shall also include an assessment of the parent or guardian’s ability to pay all or part of the cost of the child’s care and treatment should the child be ordered into a treatment program or placed on supervised probation. The result of the investigation, including the result of the validated risk and needs assessment, shall be reported in writing to the court and to counsel for the parties three (3) days prior to the child’s dispositional hearing and shall become a part of the record of the proceedings. The child may waive the three (3) day requirement. Objections by counsel at the dispositional hearing to portions of the dispositional report shall be noted in the record.

(2) The investigation shall be conducted by a suitable public or private agency. The cabinet and the Department of Juvenile Justice may furnish investigation services under agreements with the individual juvenile courts. For this purpose, any county judge/executive or chief executive officer of an urban-county government may enter into a contract on behalf of his or her county with the Department of Juvenile Justice or the cabinet for the furnishings of such services.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. No Appeal Available.

By its plain language, an informal adjustment was not a final or appealable order adjudicating all the rights of all the parties in an action or proceeding, and no appeal from an informal juvenile adjustment pursuant to KRS 610.100(3) was available. Commonwealth v. C.J., Commonwealth v. C.J., 156 S.W.3d 296, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 47 (Ky. 2005).

610.220. Permitted purposes for holding child in custody — Time limitation — Extension — Separation from adult prisoners — Prohibition against attaching child to stationary object.

(1) Except as otherwise provided by statute, if an officer takes or receives a child into custody on an allegation of committing a public offense or into protective custody on being a suspected runaway, the child may be held at a police station, secure juvenile detention facility, youth alternative center, a nonsecure facility, or, as necessary, in a hospital or clinic for the following purposes:

- (a) Identification and booking;
- (b) Attempting to notify the parents or person exercising custodial control or supervision of the child, a relative, guardian, other responsible person, or the cabinet;
- (c) Photographing;
- (d) Fingerprinting;
- (e) Physical examinations, including examinations for evidence;
- (f) Evidence collection, including scientific tests;
- (g) Records checks;
- (h) Determining whether the child is subject to trial as an adult; and
- (i) Other inquiries of a preliminary nature.

(2) A child may be held in custody pursuant to this section for a period of time not to exceed two (2) hours, unless an extension of time is granted. Permission for an extension of time may be granted by the court, trial commissioner, or court-designated worker pursuant to KRS 610.200 (6) (d) and the child may be retained in custody for up to an additional ten (10) hours at a facility of the type listed in subsection (1) of this section except for an intermittent holding facility for the period of retention.

(3) Any child held in custody pursuant to this section shall be sight and sound separated from any adult prisoners held in secure custody at the same location, and shall not be handcuffed to or otherwise securely attached to any stationary object.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Rights of Minors.
2. Separation from Adults.

1. Rights of Minors.

A system of selective placement of juveniles in the county jail for dispositional and predispositional purposes, although for limited periods of time, constituted a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment in that it was treating, for punitive purposes, the juveniles as adults and yet not according them, for due process purposes, the rights accorded to adults. (Decided under prior law) Baker v. Hamilton, 345 F. Supp. 345, 1972 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14032 (W.D. Ky. 1972).

Trial courts should treat a violation of KRS 610.220 as an important factor in the overall determination of whether a juvenile defendant gave his statement voluntarily. Shepherd v. Commonwealth, 251 S.W.3d 309, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 30 (Ky. 2008).

Sixteen-year old defendant's claim that his police interview was coercive as a matter of law because he was held in custody longer than the statutory limit set forth in KRS 610.220(2) failed because defendant properly understood his Miranda rights, was not under the influence of any substance that would impair his judgment, and was not physically abused or coerced by the police; a possible technical violation of KRS 610.220(2) did not necessarily require the suppression of an otherwise voluntary statement. Shepherd v. Commonwealth, 251 S.W.3d 309, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 30 (Ky. 2008).

Analysis that requires compliance with the provisions of KRS 610.200 as an important variable in determining whether a juvenile's confession was given voluntarily should also apply to violations of KRS 610.220. Shepherd v. Commonwealth, 251 S.W.3d 309, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 30 (Ky. 2008).

As the police complied with KRS 610.220(2) in acquiring the necessary extensions to hold defendant in custody beyond the two-hour limit, the defendant answered the detective's questions voluntarily, and there was no evidence of coercion, there were no grounds to suppress defendant's taped statements. Taylor v. Commonwealth, 276 S.W.3d 800, 2008 Ky. LEXIS 313 (Ky. 2008), cert. denied, 558 U.S. 865, 130 S. Ct. 175, 175 L. Ed. 2d 110, 2009 U.S. LEXIS 5366 (U.S. 2009).

2. Separation from Adults.

There was no legal authority for the detention of a thirteen (13) year-old child in any portion of a county jail that is not physically separated from sight and sound of all other portions of the jail. (Decided under prior law) Skeans v. Vanhooose, 512 S.W.2d 520, 1974 Ky. LEXIS 404 (Ky. 1974).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

This section statutorily authorizes the fingerprinting and photographing of juveniles taken or received into custody by an officer without the requirement of a court order. OAG 88-34.

Treatises

Petrilli, Kentucky Family Law, Juvenile Court, § 32.20.

610.265. Detention of children in specified facilities — Time frame for holding detention hearing — Release of child required if hearing not held as specified.

(1) Any child who is alleged to be a status offender or who is accused of being in contempt of court on an underlying finding that the child is a status offender may be detained in a nonsecure facility or a secure juvenile detention facility for a period of time not to exceed twenty-four (24) hours, exclusive of weekends and holidays, pending a detention hearing. Any child who is accused of committing a public offense or of being in contempt of court on an underlying public offense may be detained in a secure juvenile detention facility or a nonsecure setting approved by the Department of Juvenile Justice for a period of time not to exceed forty-eight (48) hours, exclusive of weekends and holidays, pending a detention hearing.

(2) Within the period of detention described in subsection (1) of this section, exclusive of weekends and holidays, a detention hearing shall be held by the judge or trial commissioner of the court for the purpose of determining whether the child shall be further detained. At the hearing held pursuant to this subsection, the court shall consider the nature of the offense, the child's background and history, and other information relevant to the child's conduct or condition.

(3) If the court orders a child detained further, that detention shall be served as follows:

(a) If the child is charged with a capital offense, Class A felony, or Class B felony, detention shall occur in a secure juvenile detention facility pending the child's next court appearance subject to the court's review of the detention order prior to that court appearance;

(b) Except as provided in KRS 630.080(2), if it is alleged that the child is a status offender, the child may be detained in a secure juvenile detention facility for a period not to exceed twenty-four (24) hours after which detention shall occur in a nonsecure setting approved by the Department of Juvenile Justice pending the child's next court appearance subject to the court's review of the detention order prior to the next court appearance;

(c) If a status offender or a child alleged to be a status offender is charged with violating a valid court order, the child may be detained in a secure juvenile detention facility, or in a nonsecure setting approved by the Department of Juvenile Justice, for a period not to exceed forty-eight (48) hours, exclusive of weekends and holidays, pending the child's next court appearance;

(d) Prior to ordering a status offender or alleged status offender who is subject to a valid court order securely detained because the child violated the valid court order, the court shall:

1. Affirm that the requirements for a valid court order were met at the time the original order was issued;

2. Make a determination during the adjudicatory hearing that the child violated the valid court order; and

3. Within forty-eight (48) hours after the adjudicatory hearing on the violation of a valid court order by the child, exclusive of weekends and holidays, receive and review a written report prepared by an appropriate public agency that reviews the behavior of the child and the circumstances under which the child was brought before the court, determines the reasons for the child's behavior, and determines whether all dispositions other than secure detention have been exhausted or are inappropriate. If a prior written report is included in the child's file, that report shall not be used to satisfy this requirement. The child may be securely detained for a period not to exceed forty-eight (48) hours, exclusive of weekends and holidays, pending receipt and review of the report by the court. The hearing shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of KRS 610.060. The findings required by this subsection shall be included in any order issued by the court which results in the secure or nonsecure detention of a status offender; and

(e) If the child is charged with a public offense, or contempt on a public offense, and the county in which the case is before the court is served by a state operated secure detention facility under the statewide detention plan, the child shall be referred to the Department of Juvenile Justice for a security assessment and placement in an approved detention facility or program pending the child's next court appearance.

(4) If, at the hearing conducted under subsection (2) of this section, the court conducts an adjudicatory hearing on the merits of a violation of a valid court order, that hearing shall conform to the requirements of KRS 630.080.

(5) If the detention hearing is not held as provided in subsection (1) of this section, the child shall be released as provided in KRS 610.290.

(6) If the child is not released, the court-designated worker shall notify the parent, person exercising custodial control or supervision, a relative, guardian, or other responsible adult, and the Department of Juvenile Justice or the cabinet, as appropriate.

Legislative Research Commission Note.

(7/15/2008). 2008 Ky. Acts ch. 87, sec. 5 amended KRS 610.265. This amendment inserted the following phrase at the beginning of subsection (4) of this section: "If, at the hearing conducted under subsection (3) paragraph (c) of this section, ...". It appears that this reference is not correct. Subsection (3)(c) of this section does not mention hearings. It appears that the reference should have been to subsection (2) of KRS 610.265, which does deal with hearings. The Reviser of Statutes has made this change under the authority of KRS 7.136(1)(e).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Rights of Minors.
2. Separation from Adults.

1. Rights of Minors.

A system of selective placement of juveniles in the county jail for dispositional and predispositional purposes, although for limited periods of time, constituted a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment in that it was treating, for punitive purposes, the juveniles as adults and yet not according them, for due process purposes, the rights accorded to adults. Baker v. Hamilton, 345 F. Supp. 345, 1972 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14032 (W.D. Ky. 1972) (decided under prior law).

Express statutory authority anticipated that a juvenile court had the power to hold a child in contempt as KRS 610.010(10) (now (11)) specifically provided that nothing in "this chapter" would prevent a District Court from holding a child in contempt of court to enforce valid court orders previously issued by the court, KRS 610.265(1), 610.265(5) (now (3)) and 635.055 each set out provisions for the detention of a juvenile who was charged with being in contempt of court, and KRS 635.083(1) gave a juvenile court continuing jurisdiction over a juvenile who was convicted or adjudged delinquent of three (3) or more offenses, this jurisdiction continued even after the service of incarceration or other court-ordered punishment in the form of conditional discharge, and violation of the terms and conditions of conditional discharge could be punished as contempt of court. A.W. v. Commonwealth, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 91 (Ky. Ct. App. May 2, 2003), aff'd, 163 S.W.3d 4, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2005).

2. Separation from Adults.

There is no legal authority for the detention of a thirteen (13) year-old child in any portion of a county jail that is not physically separated from sight and sound of all other portions of the jail. Skeans v. Vanhoose, 512 S.W.2d 520, 1974 Ky. LEXIS 404 (Ky. 1974) (decided under prior law).

610.280. Considerations for and findings from detention hearing.

(1) At the detention hearing held pursuant to KRS 610.265, the court shall make separate findings as follows:

(a) If there is probable cause to believe that an offense has been committed and that the accused child committed that offense. Probable cause may be established in the same manner as in a preliminary hearing in cases involving adults accused of felonies. The child shall be afforded the right to confront and cross-examine witnesses. The Commonwealth shall bear the burden of proof, and if it should fail to establish probable cause, the child shall be released and the complaint or petition dismissed unless the court determines further detention is necessary to assure the appearance of the child in court on another pending case;

(b) In determining whether a child should be further detained, the court shall consider the seriousness of the alleged offense, the possibility that the child would commit an offense dangerous to himself or the community pending disposition of the alleged offense, the child's prior record, if any, and whether there are other charges pending against the child.

(2) If, after completion of the detention hearing, the court is of the opinion that detention is necessary, the order shall state on the record the specific reasons for detention.

610.290. Rights of juvenile.

(1) Unless a hearing is held within the time frame established by KRS 610.265, and the necessity for detention properly established, the child shall be released to the custody of his parents, person exercising custodial control or supervision or other responsible adult pending further disposition of the case.

(2) The child shall have a right to counsel at his detention hearing determining his right to freedom pending the disposition of his case, and his parents, person exercising custodial control or supervision or other responsible adult shall have a right to attend the hearing if such attendance will not unnecessarily delay the hearing. Any person aggrieved by a proceeding under this subsection may proceed by habeas corpus to the Circuit Court.

(3) Whether the child is released before or after a hearing, or is detained as a result of such hearing, the child and his parents, person exercising custodial control or supervision or other responsible adult shall be given written notice of the time and place of the adjudicatory hearing concerning the child and an account of the specific charges against the child, including the specific statute alleged to have been violated. Such notice shall be given at least seventy-two (72) hours prior to the initial hearing on the case.

610.295. Detention costs — Assessment against parent after hearing — Payments when adjudication based on status offense or public offense — Payment schedule and discharge.

(1) Any statute to the contrary notwithstanding, detention costs shall not be assessed by a court against a parent unless the court has conducted a hearing and has determined:

(a) That the child has previously been adjudicated as a habitual truant under KRS Chapter 630, a public offender under KRS Chapter 635, or a youthful offender under KRS Chapter 640, and now stands adjudicated guilty of a subsequent habitual truancy or public offense, or is now being considered for transfer to the Circuit Court for trial as a youthful offender; and

(b) That the failure or neglect of the parent to properly supervise or control the child is a substantial contributing factor of the act or acts of the child upon which the proceeding is based; and

(c) That the parent has the financial ability to pay any fees ordered.

(2) Any orders for payment shall direct that payments be made to the fiscal court or legislative body of a consolidated local government, urban-county government, or charter government if detention is based upon adjudication related to a status offense and to the Department of Juvenile Justice if the adjudication is based upon a public offense or transfer as a youthful offender.

(3) The fiscal court or legislative body of a consolidated local government, urban-county government, or charter government or the Department of Juvenile Justice, as appropriate, shall establish a payment schedule for parents against whom detention costs have been assessed, and may discharge any remaining portion of the debt upon proof of substantial change in circumstances of the parent.

(4) The authority granted under subsection (3) of this section may be applied to all pre-existing court orders assessing detention costs in effect on July 15, 2002.

620.030. Duty to report dependency, neglect, abuse, human trafficking, or female genital mutilation — Husband-wife and professional-client/patient privileges not grounds for refusal to report — Exceptions — Penalties.

(1) Any person who knows or has reasonable cause to believe that a child is dependent, neglected, or abused shall immediately cause an oral or written report to be made to a local law enforcement agency or to the Department of Kentucky State Police, the cabinet or its designated representative, the Commonwealth's attorney, or the county attorney by telephone or otherwise. Any supervisor who receives from an employee a report of suspected dependency, neglect, or abuse shall promptly make a report to the proper authorities for investigation. If the cabinet receives a report of abuse or neglect allegedly committed by a person other than a parent, guardian, fictive kin, person in a position of authority, person in a position of special trust, or person exercising custodial control or supervision, the cabinet shall refer the matter to the Commonwealth's attorney or the county attorney and the local law enforcement agency or the Department of Kentucky State Police. Nothing in this section shall relieve individuals of their obligations to report.

(2) Any person, including but not limited to a physician, osteopathic physician, nurse, teacher, school personnel, social worker, coroner, medical examiner, child-caring personnel, resident, intern, chiropractor, dentist, optometrist, emergency medical technician, paramedic, health professional, mental health professional, peace officer, or any organization or agency for any of the above, who knows or has reasonable cause to believe that a child is dependent, neglected, or abused, regardless of whether the person believed to have caused the dependency, neglect, or abuse is a parent, guardian, fictive kin, person in a position of authority, person in a position of special trust, person exercising custodial control or supervision, or another person, or who has attended such child as a part of his or her professional duties shall, if requested, in addition to the report required in subsection (1) or (3) of this section, file with the local law enforcement agency or the Department of Kentucky State Police, the cabinet or its designated representative, the Commonwealth's attorney, or county attorney within forty-eight (48) hours of the original report a written report containing:

(a) The names and addresses of the child and his or her parents or other persons exercising custodial control or supervision;

(b) The child's age;

(c) The nature and extent of the child's alleged dependency, neglect, or abuse, including any previous charges of dependency, neglect, or abuse, to this child or his or her siblings;

(d) The name and address of the person allegedly responsible for the abuse or neglect; and

(e) Any other information that the person making the report believes may be helpful in the furtherance of the purpose of this section.

(3) Any person who knows or has reasonable cause to believe that a child is a victim of human trafficking as defined in KRS 529.010 shall immediately cause an oral or written report to be made to a local law enforcement agency or the Department of Kentucky State Police; or the cabinet or its designated representative; or the Commonwealth's attorney or the county attorney; by telephone or otherwise. This subsection shall apply regardless of whether the person believed to have caused the human trafficking of the child is a parent, guardian, fictive kin, person in a position of authority, person in a position of special trust, or person exercising custodial control or supervision.

(4) Any person who knows or has reasonable cause to believe that a child is a victim of female genital mutilation as defined in KRS 508.125 shall immediately cause an oral or written report to be made by telephone or otherwise to:

(a) A local law enforcement agency or the Department of Kentucky State Police;

(b) The cabinet or its designated representative; or

(c) The Commonwealth's attorney or the county attorney. This subsection shall apply regardless of whether the person believed to have caused the female genital mutilation of the child is a parent, guardian, or person exercising custodial control or supervision.

(5) Neither the husband-wife nor any professional-client/patient privilege, except the attorney-client and clergy-penitent privilege, shall be a ground for refusing to report under this section or for excluding evidence regarding a dependent, neglected, or abused child or the cause thereof, in any judicial proceedings resulting from a report pursuant to this section. This subsection shall also apply in any criminal proceeding in District or Circuit Court regarding a dependent, neglected, or abused child.

(6) The cabinet upon request shall receive from any agency of the state or any other agency, institution, or facility providing services to the child or his or her family, such cooperation, assistance, and information as will enable the cabinet to fulfill its responsibilities under KRS 620.030, 620.040, and 620.050.

(7) Nothing in this section shall limit the cabinet's investigatory authority under KRS 620.050 or any other obligation imposed by law.

(8) Any person who intentionally violates the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a:

(a) Class B misdemeanor for the first offense;

(b) Class A misdemeanor for the second offense; and

(c) Class D felony for each subsequent offense.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Duty of Trial Court.
2. Immunity.
3. —Intent.
4. Affirmative Duty.
5. Sufficiency of Report.
6. Negligence per se.
7. Summary Judgment.

1. Duty of Trial Court.

In cases involving alleged abuse of children, and where there is reason to believe such abuse has occurred, a trial court must take an active role in assuring that the child's physical and emotional wellbeing have been protected and is required, under this section, to report suspected abuse or neglect where the proper authorities or investigating agency have not been notified. Fugate v. Fugate, 896 S.W.2d 621, 1995 Ky. App. LEXIS 78 (Ky. Ct. App. 1995).

Nothing exempts a trial judge, under this section, of the duty to report dependency, neglect or abuse. Fugate v. Fugate, 896 S.W.2d 621, 1995 Ky. App. LEXIS 78 (Ky. Ct. App. 1995).

2. Immunity.

Where a hospital employee allegedly made a false report to authorities that a newborn child's meconium stool sample tested positive for drugs, which led to the child's being placed in foster care, a doctor was immune from civil liability for the report under KRS 620.030(1) and KRS 620.050(1), because there was no allegation that she acted in bad faith. Garrison v. Leahy-Auer, 220 S.W.3d 693, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 151 (Ky. Ct. App. 2006).

To find that KRS 620.030 does not apply, there must be a finding that the act committed upon the child is not an act of sexual abuse. For purposes of KRS Chapter 600, the definition of a neglected or abused child is set forth at KRS 600.020. If sexual abuse has occurred, then the mandatory reporting requirement in KRS 620.030 would have required the teacher to report this incident and such mandatory reporting would result in this being considered a ministerial rather than a discretionary act which would preclude the teacher from claiming qualified official immunity. Nelson v. Turner, 256 S.W.3d 37, 2008 Ky. App. LEXIS 177 (Ky. Ct. App. 2008).

Trial court did not err in granting a neighbor's motion to dismiss an action filed by a mother and father alleging that their child was removed from their home based on a false report because the neighbor was entitled to immunity under KRS 620.030(1) when the mother and father failed to demonstrate that the neighbor acted in bad faith in reporting suspected child neglect; the neighbor reported the suspected neglect to her local law enforcement agency, and it did not matter that the police officer she spoke with was her son because he was a member of her local law enforcement agency. Morgan v. Bird, 289 S.W.3d 222, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 68 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009).

Reporter may be acting under KRS 620.030 to 620.050 in good faith if the reporter subjectively believed he or she was discharging the duty imposed by KRS 620.030; therefore, a reporter's good faith belief that he or she is discharging the lawful duty to report under KRS 620.030, even if such a belief is ultimately determined to be erroneous, is all that is required under KRS 620.050(1). As a result, several health care providers were immune from liability under KRS 620.050(1) because they acted in good faith under KRS 620.030 in making a report of a new mother's suspected child abuse, even though a blood alcohol report was erroneous. Norton Hosps., Inc. v. Peyton, 381 S.W.3d 286, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 165 (Ky. 2012).

Custody evaluator was immune for a report to the Cabinet for Health and Family Services of a father's gun possession because no bad faith or lack of a subjective belief that the evaluator discharged the evaluator's duty to report was shown. J.S. v. Berla, 456 S.W.3d 19, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 14 (Ky. Ct. App. 2015).

Because a doctor who treated a minor child prior to the child's death did not report suspected abuse of the child while in foster care to the proper authorities, the doctor was not entitled to statutory immunity from civil suit. A.A. v. Shutts, 516 S.W.3d 343, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 34 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

School officials were entitled to qualified immunity as to the student's claims regarding their failure to report the teacher after becoming aware of his texting relationship with another student because this section's reporting requirement involved a discretionary action when a school official was determining whether there was reasonable cause to believe that a child had been or was being abused. Ritchie v. Turner, 559 S.W.3d 822, 2018 Ky. LEXIS 434 (Ky. 2018).

3. —Intent.

Because parents could not show doctor had bad intent when, after performing a series of tests on their baby including a CT scan showing a subarachnoid hemorrhage he noted was consistent with "Shaken Baby Syndrome," he reported the baby's injury to social services, the doctor was afforded the immunity granted by KRS 620.050; because doctor could not be held liable, neither could hospital. Hazlett v. Evans, 943 F. Supp. 785, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16769 (E.D. Ky. 1996).

In a report of child neglect to the Kentucky Cabinet of Health and Family Services' Department of Community Based Services based on a four-year-old student wandering away from a school, who was found approximately one-half mile away, the trial court did not err in dismissing appellant's claims against her employer alleging wrongful discharge, negligence and vicarious liability, and defamation as the record did not support any allegations that the employer's report of neglect was done in bad faith as appellant did not dispute that the child wandered away from the school while she was working; and, although appellant was ultimately exonerated from having committed neglect, an erroneous belief regarding neglect did not constitute bad faith. Collins v. KCEOC Cmty. Action P'ship, 455 S.W.3d 421, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 9 (Ky. Ct. App. 2015).

4. Affirmative Duty.

This chapter has created an affirmative duty to prevent physical injury to children; prosecution for such conduct can fall either under the assault provisions of the statute or under the abuse provision of the statute. Lane v. Commonwealth, 956 S.W.2d 874, 1997 Ky. LEXIS 68 (Ky. 1997), modified, 1997 Ky. LEXIS 97 (Ky. Sept. 4, 1997), cert. denied, 522 U.S. 1123, 118 S. Ct. 1067, 140 L. Ed. 2d 127, 1998 U.S. LEXIS 1074 (U.S. 1998).

Under former KRS 199.335, diocese had duty to take action when it discovered that a teacher in its employ was sexually abusing students; failure to do so was a violation of the aforementioned section, and constituted concealment and obstruction under KRS 413.090, so as to toll the applicable statute of limitations for an action based on negligence on the part of the Diocese. Roman Catholic Diocese v. Selter, 966 S.W.2d 286, 1998 Ky. App. LEXIS 31 (Ky. Ct. App. 1998).

Trial court did not err in granting a police officer summary judgment in an action filed by a mother and father alleging that their child was removed from their home based on a false report because the officer properly followed the guidelines outlined in KRS 620.030 for reporting a claim of neglect to the Cabinet for Health and Family Services; in light of finding no bad faith by the officer, it followed that the claims against a city and its council members based on failure to properly supervise and/or train the officer were also properly dismissed. Morgan v. Bird, 289 S.W.3d 222, 2009 Ky. App. LEXIS 68 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009).

Under the plain language of KRS 600.020(1), the definition of an abused child is limited to a scenario in which his or her parent, guardian, or other person exercising custodial control or supervision inflicted or committed abuse, allowed abuse to be inflicted or committed, or created or allowed to be created a risk of abuse. As a result, the mandatory reporting requirement of KRS 620.030(1) does not apply when a child inappropriately touches another child unless a parent, guardian, or other person exercising custodial control or supervision allows such inappropriate touching to be committed or creates or allows such a risk of abuse. Turner v. Nelson, 342 S.W.3d 866, 2011 Ky. LEXIS 96 (Ky. 2011).

In civil rights suit, defendants could not assert indemnity against plaintiff's parents, based upon plaintiff's claim of failing to report child abuse because, if defendants had knowledge of potential child abuse, failing to exercise their affirmative duty to report would preclude them from claiming they were passive tortfeasors. Compton v. City of Harrodsburg, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 142306 (E.D. Ky. Oct. 2, 2013).

5. Sufficiency of Report.

A report by a teacher or counselor to his or her supervisor does not satisfy the statutory duty to report. Commonwealth v. Allen, 980 S.W.2d 278, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 148 (Ky. 1998).

6. Negligence per se.

District court refused to grant the city's motion to dismiss plaintiff's claim for failure to report child abuse, because the court was persuaded that a negligence per se claim could be brought under KRS 446.070 for a violation of KRS 620.030 for failure to report child abuse. Compton v. City of Harrodsburg, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 68690 (E.D. Ky. May 10, 2013).

7. Summary Judgment.

Doctor who treated a minor child prior to the child's death was not entitled to an award of summary judgment on the issue of breach of duty for failing to report the possible abuse of the child because a jury could reasonably have concluded that the doctor should have been on heightened awareness to suspected abuse, thus triggering a duty to report the child's head injury, especially when the physical evidence and medical records left unanswered questions about the story given by the child's relative as to the child's injury. A.A. v. Shutts, 516 S.W.3d 343, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 34 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Although subsection (3) (now (4)) of this section provides that agencies providing services to children, such as schools, must cooperate with the Cabinet for Human Resources (CHR) and provide assistance and information, such interviews should be conducted in a manner that causes the least disruption to the students' school schedule and the procedures vary if the allegations of student abuse are against school personnel. OAG 92-138.

If the police desire to talk with a student who is a victim of a crime, then the school authorities should use their best judgment in determining whether the parents should be contacted. In the event that the officer is investigating allegations of dependency, neglect or abuse, the school should allow the interview to occur at school. The school should consult with the officer before the school officials inform the parents that an interview has taken place. OAG 92-138.

School officials should use their discretion and confer with the police officer in deciding whether to be present when the court designated worker or the police questions a student. If the child is a victim of abuse, then the child should have input on choosing a trusted adult to sit in during the interview. OAG 92-138.

Since the school is not required to notify the parents before the Cabinet for Human Resources talks with the students, the fact that the parents cannot be reached is immaterial. OAG 92-138.

The school system is required pursuant to this section to permit social workers from the Cabinet for Human Resources (CHR) to come into the school and talk with students regarding investigations of dependency, neglect or abuse. OAG 92-138.

Whether school personnel should be present when the social workers question the students is a decision that is best left to the discretion of the Cabinet for Human Resources' social worker conducting the interview. OAG 92-138.

A child who does not receive necessary medical care due to his parents' religious belief may be considered an abused or neglected child; accordingly, the reporting requirements of subsection (1) of this section and the investigation requirements of KRS 620.050(3) are mandatory and must be followed in cases involving the religious exemption contained in KRS 600.020(1). OAG 93-84.

620.040. Duties of prosecutor, police, and cabinet — Prohibition as to school personnel — Multidisciplinary teams.

(1)(a) Upon receipt of a report alleging abuse or neglect by a parent, guardian, fictive kin, person in a position of authority, person in a position of special trust, or person exercising custodial control or supervision, pursuant to KRS 620.030(1) or (2), or a report alleging a child is a victim of human trafficking pursuant to KRS 620.030(3), the recipient of the report shall immediately notify the cabinet or its designated representative, the local law enforcement agency or the Department of Kentucky State Police, and the Commonwealth's or county attorney of the receipt of the report unless they are the reporting source.

(b) Based upon the allegation in the report, the cabinet shall immediately make an initial determination as to the risk of harm and immediate safety of the child. Based upon the level of risk determined, the cabinet shall investigate the allegation or accept the report for an assessment of family needs and, if appropriate, may provide or make referral to any community-based services necessary to reduce risk to the child and to provide family support. A report of sexual abuse or human trafficking of a child shall be considered high risk and shall not be referred to any other community agency.

(c) The cabinet shall, within seventy-two (72) hours, exclusive of weekends and holidays, make a written report to the Commonwealth's or county attorney and the local enforcement agency or the Department of Kentucky State Police concerning the action that has been taken on the investigation.

(d) If the report alleges abuse or neglect by someone other than a parent, guardian, fictive kin, person in a position of authority, person in a position of special trust, or person exercising custodial control or supervision, or the human trafficking of a child, the cabinet shall immediately notify the Commonwealth's or county attorney and the local law enforcement agency or the Department of Kentucky State Police.

(2)(a) Upon receipt of a report alleging dependency pursuant to KRS 620.030(1) and (2), the recipient shall immediately notify the cabinet or its designated representative.

(b) Based upon the allegation in the report, the cabinet shall immediately make an initial determination as to the risk of harm and immediate safety of the child. Based upon the level of risk, the cabinet shall investigate the allegation or accept the report for an assessment of family needs and, if appropriate, may provide or make referral to any community-based services necessary to reduce risk to the child and to provide family support. A report of sexual abuse or human trafficking of a child shall be considered high risk and shall not be referred to any other community agency.

(c) The cabinet need not notify the local law enforcement agency or the Department of Kentucky State Police or county attorney or Commonwealth's attorney of reports made under this subsection unless the report involves the human trafficking of a child, in which case the notification shall be required.

(3) If the cabinet or its designated representative receives a report of abuse by a person other than a parent, guardian, fictive kin, person in a position of authority, person in a position of special trust, or other person exercising custodial control or supervision of a child, it shall immediately notify the local law enforcement agency or the Department of Kentucky State Police and the Commonwealth's or county attorney of the receipt of the report and its contents, and they shall investigate the matter. The cabinet or its designated representative shall participate in an investigation of noncustodial physical abuse or neglect at the request of the local law enforcement agency or the Department of Kentucky State Police. The cabinet shall participate in all investigations of reported or suspected sexual abuse or human trafficking of a child.

(4) School personnel or other persons listed in KRS 620.030(2) do not have the authority to conduct internal investigations in lieu of the official investigations outlined in this section.

(5)(a) If, after receiving the report, the law enforcement officer, the cabinet, or its designated representative cannot gain admission to the location of the child, a search warrant shall be requested from, and may be issued by, the judge to the appropriate law enforcement official upon probable cause that the child is dependent, neglected, or abused. If, pursuant to a search under a warrant, a child is discovered and appears to be in imminent danger, the child may be removed by the law enforcement officer.

(b) If a child who is in a hospital or under the immediate care of a physician appears to be in imminent danger if he or she is returned to the persons having custody of him or her, the physician or hospital administrator may hold the child without court order, provided that a request is made to the court for an emergency custody order at the earliest practicable time, not to exceed seventy-two (72) hours.

(c) Any appropriate law enforcement officer may take a child into protective custody and may hold that child in protective custody without the consent of the parent or other person exercising custodial control or supervision if there exist reasonable grounds for the officer to believe that the child is in danger of imminent death or serious physical injury, is being sexually abused, or is a victim of human trafficking and that the parents or other person exercising custodial control or supervision are unable or unwilling to protect the child. The officer or the person to whom the officer entrusts the child shall, within twelve (12) hours of taking the child into protective custody, request the court to issue an emergency custody order.

(d) When a law enforcement officer, hospital administrator, or physician takes a child into custody without the consent of the parent or other person exercising custodial control or supervision, he or she shall provide written notice to the parent or other person stating the reasons for removal of the child. Failure of the parent or other person to receive notice shall not, by itself, be cause for civil or criminal liability.

(e)1. If a report includes a child fatality or near fatality, and the law enforcement officer has reasonable grounds to believe any parent or person exercising custodial control or supervision of the child was under the influence of alcohol or drugs at the time the fatality or near fatality occurred, the law enforcement officer shall request a test of blood, breath, or urine from that person.

2. If, after making the request, consent is not given for the test of blood, breath, or urine, a search warrant shall be requested from and may be issued by the judge to the appropriate law enforcement official upon probable cause that a child fatality or near fatality has occurred and that the person exercising custodial control or supervision of the child at the time of the fatality or near fatality was under the influence.

3. Any test requested under this section shall be conducted pursuant to the testing procedures and requirements in KRS 189A.103.

(6) To the extent practicable and when in the best interest of a child alleged to have been abused, interviews with the child shall be conducted at a children's advocacy center.

(7)(a) One (1) or more multidisciplinary teams may be established in every county or group of contiguous counties.

(b) Membership of the multidisciplinary team shall include but shall not be limited to social service workers employed by the Cabinet for Health and Family Services and law enforcement officers. Additional team members may include Commonwealth's and county attorneys, children's advocacy center staff, mental health professionals, medical professionals, victim advocates including advocates for victims of human trafficking, educators, and other related professionals, as deemed appropriate.

(c) The multidisciplinary team shall review child sexual abuse cases and child human trafficking cases involving commercial sexual activity referred by participating professionals, including those in which the alleged perpetrator does not have custodial control or supervision of the child or is not responsible for the child's welfare. The purpose of the multidisciplinary team shall be to review investigations, assess service delivery, and to facilitate efficient and appropriate disposition of cases through the criminal justice system.

(d) The team shall hold regularly scheduled meetings if new reports of sexual abuse or child human trafficking cases involving commercial sexual activity are received or if active cases exist. At each meeting, each active case shall be presented and the agencies' responses assessed.

(e) The multidisciplinary team shall provide an annual report to the public of nonidentifying case information to allow assessment of the processing and disposition of child sexual abuse cases and child human trafficking cases involving commercial sexual activity.

(f) Multidisciplinary team members and anyone invited by the multidisciplinary team to participate in a meeting shall not divulge case information, including information regarding the identity of the victim or source of the report. Team members and others attending meetings shall sign a confidentiality statement that is consistent with statutory prohibitions on disclosure of this information.

(g) The multidisciplinary team shall, pursuant to KRS 431.600 and 431.660, develop a local protocol consistent with the model protocol issued by the Kentucky Multidisciplinary Commission on Child Sexual Abuse. The local team shall submit the protocol to the commission for review and approval.

(h) The multidisciplinary team review of a case may include information from reports generated by agencies, organizations, or individuals that are responsible for investigation, prosecution, or treatment in the case, KRS 610.320 to KRS 610.340 notwithstanding.

(i) To the extent practicable, multidisciplinary teams shall be staffed by the local children's advocacy center.

(8) Nothing in this section shall limit the cabinet's investigatory authority under KRS 620.050 or any other obligation imposed by law.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Due Process.
2. Separation of Powers.

1. Due Process.

Although this section and KRS 620.050 and 200.100 require the Cabinet for Human Resources to take action regarding abused, neglected and dependent children, these sections do not mandate any particular substantive result; they merely provide a plaintiff with an expectation that a certain procedure will be followed by the Cabinet, and this is not sufficient to give rise to a state-created due process liberty interest, which requires a plaintiff to have an expectation that a particular result will follow from a particular required action. "Tony" L. v. Childers, 71 F.3d 1182, 1995 FED App. 0369P, 1995 U.S. App. LEXIS 35928 (6th Cir. Ky. 1995), cert. denied, 517 U.S. 1212, 116 S. Ct. 1834, 134 L. Ed. 2d 938, 1996 U.S. LEXIS 3341 (U.S. 1996).

2. Separation of Powers.

When a district court ordered the Department for Community Based Services of the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services—which investigated and found no substantiation for a parent's claims that the other abused their child—to open a case and further assess the family needs, it violated the separation of powers doctrine. The district court usurped the Cabinet's authority to the benefit of the complaining parent who presented nothing in the case except two unsworn petitions in two different emergency protective order cases. *T.C. v. 620.050. Immunity for good-faith actions or reports — Investigations — Confidentiality of reports — Exceptions — Parent's access to records — Sharing of information by children's advocacy centers — Confidentiality of interview with child — Exceptions — Confidentiality of identifying information regarding reporting individual — Internal review and report — Waiver — Medical diagnostic procedures — Sharing information with relatives — Interaction among siblings who are not jointly placed.

(1) Anyone acting upon reasonable cause in the making of a report or acting under KRS 620.030 to 620.050 in good faith shall have immunity from any liability, civil or criminal, that might otherwise be incurred or imposed. Any such participant shall have the same immunity with respect to participation in any judicial proceeding resulting from such report or action. However, any person who knowingly makes a false report and does so with malice shall be guilty of a Class A misdemeanor.

(2) Any employee or designated agent of a children's advocacy center shall be immune from any civil liability arising from performance within the scope of the person's duties as provided in KRS 620.030 to 620.050. Any such person shall have the same immunity with respect to participation in any judicial proceeding. Nothing in this subsection shall limit liability for negligence. Upon the request of an employee or designated agent of a children's advocacy center, the Attorney General shall provide for the defense of any civil action brought against the employee or designated agent as provided under KRS 12.211 to 12.215.

(3) Neither the husband-wife nor any professional-client/patient privilege, except the attorney-client and clergy-penitent privilege, shall be a ground for refusing to report under this section or for excluding evidence regarding a dependent, neglected, or abused child or the cause thereof, in any judicial proceedings resulting from a report pursuant to this section. This subsection shall also apply in any criminal proceeding in District or Circuit Court regarding a dependent, neglected, or abused child.

(4) Upon receipt of a report of an abused, neglected, or dependent child pursuant to this chapter, the cabinet as the designated agency or its delegated representative shall initiate a prompt investigation or assessment of family needs, take necessary action, and shall offer protective services toward safeguarding the welfare of the child. The cabinet shall work toward preventing further dependency, neglect, or abuse of the child or any other child under the same care, and preserve and strengthen family life, where possible, by enhancing parental capacity for adequate child care.

(5) The report of suspected child abuse, neglect, or dependency and all information obtained by the cabinet or its delegated representative, as a result of an investigation or assessment made pursuant to this chapter, except for those records provided for in subsection (6) of this section, shall not be divulged to anyone except:

(a) Persons suspected of causing dependency, neglect, or abuse;

(b) The custodial parent or legal guardian of the child alleged to be dependent, neglected, or abused;

(c) Persons within the cabinet with a legitimate interest or responsibility related to the case;

(d) A licensed child-caring facility or child-placing agency evaluating placement for or serving a child who is believed to be the victim of an abuse, neglect, or dependency report;

(e) Other medical, psychological, educational, or social service agencies, child care administrators, corrections personnel, or law enforcement agencies, including the county attorney's office, the coroner, and the local child fatality response team, that have a legitimate interest in the case;

(f) A noncustodial parent when the dependency, neglect, or abuse is substantiated;

(g) Members of multidisciplinary teams as defined by KRS 620.020 and which operate pursuant to KRS 431.600;

(h) Employees or designated agents of a children's advocacy center;

(i) Those persons so authorized by court order; or

(j) The external child fatality and near fatality review panel established by KRS 620.055.

(6)(a) Files, reports, notes, photographs, records, electronic and other communications, and working papers used or developed by a children's advocacy center in providing services under this chapter are confidential and shall not be disclosed except to the following persons:

1. Staff employed by the cabinet, law enforcement officers, and Commonwealth's and county attorneys who are directly involved in the investigation or prosecution of the case, including a cabinet investigation or assessment of child abuse, neglect, and dependency in accordance with this chapter;

2. Medical and mental health professionals listed by name in a release of information signed by the guardian of the child, provided that the information shared is limited to that necessary to promote the physical or psychological health of the child or to treat the child for abuse-related symptoms;

3. The court and those persons so authorized by a court order;

4. The external child fatality and near fatality review panel established by KRS 620.055; and

5. The parties to an administrative hearing conducted by the cabinet or its designee in accordance with KRS Chapter 13B in an appeal of a cabinet-substantiated finding of abuse or neglect. The children's advocacy center may, in its sole discretion, provide testimony in lieu of files, reports, notes, photographs, records, electronic and other communications, and working papers used or developed by the center if the center determines that the release poses a threat to the safety or well-being of the child, or would be in the best interests of the child. Following the administrative hearing and any judicial review, the parties to the administrative hearing shall return all files, reports, notes, photographs, records, electronic and other communications, and working papers used or developed by the children's advocacy center to the center.

(b) The provisions of this subsection shall not be construed as to contravene the Rules of Criminal Procedure relating to discovery.

(7) Nothing in this section shall prohibit a parent or guardian from accessing records for his or her child providing that the parent or guardian is not currently under investigation by a law enforcement agency or the cabinet relating to the abuse or neglect of a child.

(8) Nothing in this section shall prohibit employees or designated agents of a children's advocacy center from disclosing information during a multidisciplinary team review of a child sexual abuse case as set forth under KRS 620.040. Persons receiving this information shall sign a confidentiality statement consistent with statutory prohibitions on disclosure of this information.

(9) Employees or designated agents of a children's advocacy center may confirm to another children's advocacy center that a child has been seen for services. If an information release has been signed by the guardian of the child, a children's advocacy center may disclose relevant information to another children's advocacy center.

(10)(a) An interview of a child recorded at a children's advocacy center shall not be duplicated, except that the Commonwealth's or county attorney prosecuting the case may:

1. Make and retain one (1) copy of the interview; and
2. Make one (1) copy for the defendant's or respondent's counsel that the defendant's or respondent's counsel shall not duplicate.

(b) The defendant's or respondent's counsel shall file the copy with the court clerk at the close of the case.

(c) Unless objected to by the victim or victims, the court, on its own motion, or on motion of the attorney for the Commonwealth shall order all recorded interviews that are introduced into evidence or are in the possession of the children's advocacy center, law enforcement, the prosecution, or the court to be sealed.

(d) The provisions of this subsection shall not be construed as to contravene the Rules of Criminal Procedure relating to discovery.

(11) Identifying information concerning the individual initiating the report under KRS 620.030 shall not be disclosed except:

(a) To law enforcement officials that have a legitimate interest in the case;

(b) To the agency designated by the cabinet to investigate or assess the report;

(c) To members of multidisciplinary teams as defined by KRS 620.020 that operated under KRS 431.600

(d) Under a court order, after the court has conducted an in camera review of the record of the state related to the report and has found reasonable cause to believe that the reporter knowingly made a false report; or

(e) The external child fatality and near fatality review panel established by KRS 620.055.

(12)(a) Information may be publicly disclosed by the cabinet in a case where child abuse or neglect has resulted in a child fatality or near fatality.

(b) The cabinet shall conduct an internal review of any case where child abuse or neglect has resulted in a child fatality or near fatality and the cabinet had prior involvement with the child or family. The cabinet shall prepare a summary that includes an account of:

1. The cabinet's actions and any policy or personnel changes taken or to be taken, including the results of appeals, as a result of the findings from the internal review; and

2. Any cooperation, assistance, or information from any agency of the state or any other agency, institution, or facility providing services to the child or family that were requested and received by the cabinet during the investigation of a child fatality or near fatality.

(c) The cabinet shall submit a report by September 1 of each year containing an analysis of all summaries of internal reviews occurring during the previous year and an analysis of historical trends to the Governor, the General Assembly, and the state child fatality review team created under KRS 211.684.

(13) When an adult who is the subject of information made confidential by subsection (5) of this section publicly reveals or causes to be revealed any significant part of the confidential matter or information, the confidentiality afforded by subsection (5) of this section is presumed voluntarily waived, and confidential information and records about the person making or causing the public disclosure, not already disclosed but related to the information made public, may be disclosed if disclosure is in the best interest of the child or is necessary for the administration of the cabinet's duties under this chapter.

(14) As a result of any report of suspected child abuse or neglect, photographs and X-rays or other appropriate medical diagnostic procedures may be taken or caused to be taken, without the consent of the parent or other person exercising custodial control or supervision of the child, as a part of the medical evaluation or investigation of these reports. These photographs and X-rays or results of other medical diagnostic procedures may be introduced into evidence in any subsequent judicial proceedings or an administrative hearing conducted by the cabinet or its designee in accordance with KRS Chapter 13B in an appeal of a cabinet-substantiated finding of child abuse or neglect. The person performing the diagnostic procedures or taking photographs or X-rays shall be immune from criminal or civil liability for having performed the act. Nothing herein shall limit liability for negligence.

(15) In accordance with 42 U.S.C. sec. 671, the cabinet shall share information about a child in the custody of the cabinet with a relative or a parent of the child's sibling for the purposes of:

(a) Evaluating or arranging a placement for the child;

(b) Arranging appropriate treatment services for the child; or

(c) Establishing visitation between the child and a relative, including a sibling of the child.

(16) In accordance with 42 U.S.C. sec. 671, the cabinet shall, in the case of siblings removed from their home who are not jointly placed, provide for frequent visitation or other ongoing interaction between the siblings, unless the cabinet determines that frequent visitation or other ongoing interaction would be contrary to the safety or well-being of any of the siblings.

1. In General.

A report by a teacher or counselor to his or her supervisor does not entitle him or her to immunity from prosecution since such a report is not a report within the meaning of KRS 620.030. Commonwealth v. Allen, 980 S.W.2d 278, 1998 Ky. LEXIS 148 (Ky. 1998).

Commonwealth of Kentucky, Cabinet for Health and Family Services' (Cabinet) failure to disclose the requested records constituted a "willful" violation of the Open Records Act, KRS 61.871; the Cabinet failed to make particularized analysis and instead relied on an all-encompassing policy of nondisclosure despite the purpose of the Act and despite the acknowledged applicability of KRS 620.050(12)(a) under these circumstances, and the circuit court concluded that these denials were made in "bad faith." Commonwealth v. Lexington H-L Servs., 382 S.W.3d 875, 2012 Ky. App. LEXIS 216 (Ky. Ct. App. 2012).

2. Due Process.

Although this section and KRS 620.040 and 200.100 require the Cabinet for Human Resources to take action regarding abused, neglected and dependent children, these sections do not mandate any particular substantive result; they merely provide a plaintiff with an expectation that a certain procedure will be followed by the Cabinet, and this is not sufficient to give rise to a state-created due process liberty interest, which requires a plaintiff to have an expectation that a particular result will follow from a particular required action. "Tony" L. v. Childers, 71 F.3d 1182, 1995 FED App. 0369P, 1995 U.S. App. LEXIS 35928 (6th Cir. Ky. 1995), cert. denied, 517 U.S. 1212, 116 S. Ct. 1834, 134 L. Ed. 2d 938, 1996 U.S. LEXIS 3341 (U.S. 1996).

3. Intent.

Because parents could not show doctor had bad intent when, after performing a series of tests on their baby including a CT scan showing a subarachnoid hemorrhage he noted was consistent with "Shaken Baby Syndrome," he reported the baby's injury to social services, the doctor was afforded the immunity granted by KRS 620.050; because doctor could not be held liable, neither could hospital; motions to dismiss granted. Hazlett v. Evans, 943 F. Supp. 785, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16769 (E.D. Ky. 1996).

Where a hospital employee allegedly made a false report to authorities that a newborn child's meconium stool sample tested positive for drugs, which led to the child's being placed in foster care, a doctor was immune from civil liability for the report under KRS 620.030(1) and KRS 620.050(1), because there was no allegation that she acted in bad faith. Garrison v. Leahy-Auer, 220 S.W.3d 693, 2006 Ky. App. LEXIS 151 (Ky. Ct. App. 2006).

4. Marital Privilege.

The marital privilege, which courts construe strictly and narrowly, is inapplicable in a case regarding an abused, neglected, or dependent child; thus, neither a husband charged with third degree sodomy against a fourteen (14) year old girl, nor his wife, who reported the act to the police, could claim the marital privilege. This section does not conflict with Rule 504, nor does its application violate Rule 1102. Mullins v. Commonwealth, 956 S.W.2d 210, 1997 Ky. LEXIS 147 (Ky. 1997).

Defendant was not allowed to invoke spousal privilege under Ky. R. Evid. 504 to prevent his ex-wife from testifying about a conversation they had while married where the charges involved the rape and sodomy of a teenage girl, and thus, marital privilege was abrogated under Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 620.050. Kays v. Commonwealth, 505 S.W.3d 260, 2016 Ky. App. LEXIS 177 (Ky. Ct. App. 2016).

5. Immunity.

Custody evaluator was immune from a report to the Cabinet for Health and Family Services of a father's gun possession because no bad faith or lack of a subjective belief that the evaluator discharged the evaluator's duty to report was shown. J.S. v. Berla, 456 S.W.3d 19, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 14 (Ky. Ct. App. 2015).

Reporter may be acting under KRS 620.030 to 620.050 in good faith if the reporter subjectively believed he or she was discharging the duty imposed by KRS 620.030; therefore, a reporter's good faith belief that he or she is discharging the lawful duty to report under KRS 620.030, even if such a belief is ultimately determined to be erroneous, is all that is required under KRS 620.050(1). As a result, several health care providers were immune from liability under KRS 620.050(1) because they acted in good faith under KRS 620.030 in making a report of a new mother's suspected child abuse, even though a blood alcohol report was erroneous. Norton Hosps., Inc. v. Peyton, 381 S.W.3d 286, 2012 Ky. LEXIS 165 (Ky. 2012).

Relative who reported suspected abuse was entitled to immunity since she had reasonable cause to make the allegations. The relative reported that the mother and children were living with her father, who was suspected of abusing the mother as a child; moreover, the relative alleged that the mother had engaged in bizarre behavior and reported similar allegations made by the mother's pastor. Leamon v. Phillips, 423 S.W.3d 759, 2014 Ky. App. LEXIS 8 (Ky. Ct. App. 2014).

In a report of child neglect to the Kentucky Cabinet of Health and Family Services' Department of Community Based Services based on a four-year-old student wandering away from a school, who was found approximately one-half mile away, the trial court did not err in dismissing appellant's claims against her employer alleging wrongful discharge, negligence and vicarious liability, and defamation as the record did not support any allegations that the employer's report of neglect was done in bad faith as appellant did not dispute that the child wandered away from the school while she was working; and, although appellant was ultimately exonerated from having committed neglect, an erroneous belief regarding neglect did not constitute bad faith. Collins v. KCEOC Cmty. Action P'ship, 455 S.W.3d 421, 2015 Ky. App. LEXIS 9 (Ky. Ct. App. 2015).

Because a doctor who treated a minor child prior to the child's death did not report suspected abuse of the child while in foster care to the proper authorities, the doctor was not entitled to statutory immunity from civil suit. A.A. v. Shutts, 516 S.W.3d 343, 2017 Ky. App. LEXIS 34 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017).

6. Duty to Investigate.

Because appellee could be properly considered as a person in a position of authority or a person in position of special trust as she was often the only adult supervising several small children in the afterschool program, she had the ability to punish them by putting them in time out and was responsible for reporting any disciplinary incidents that occurred between the children, and she could, theoretically, use her position of authority to exercise undue influence on those children, the Department for Community Based Services, Cabinet for Health and Family Services had a statutory duty to investigate reports that a child had been neglected. Dep't for Cmty. Based Servs., Cabinet for Health & Family Servs. v. Baker, 613 S.W.3d 1, 2020 Ky. LEXIS 459 (Ky. 2020).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

This section requires schools to continue to allow the Cabinet for Human Resources (CHR) to interview children on school premises without consent of parents in the course of an abuse investigation if that is the course of action determined appropriate by the CHR. OAG 87-33.

The Department for Social Services acted properly when it refused to make available for inspection to the alleged perpetrator of child abuse the names of informants and those portions of the statements of a judge and an informant wherein those parties set forth personal opinions, observations, and recommendations not related to the child abuse investigation and the findings resulting from that investigation. OAG 87-82.

The public agency's refusal to furnish records and documents to the requesting party relative to an investigation of an alleged instance of child abuse and neglect was supported by subdivision (1)(j) of KRS 61.878 and subsection (4) of this section. OAG 88-4.

Cabinet for Human Resources acted consistently with the Open Records Laws to the extent that it withheld from inspection the names of informants which spawned its investigation pursuant to KRS 61.878(1)(a) and (j) and subdivision (4)(a) of this section, and to the extent that it denied inspection of the verbal complaint or oral allegations made by an individual to an employee of the cabinet. However, the cabinet acted inconsistently with the Open Records Law to the extent that it denied inspection of the written complaint which initially spawned the investigation, although, the names of informants contained within the written complaint may properly be withheld. OAG 91-33.

Where person requesting documents regarding detention of student at a school and the report and findings of an investigation conducted by the Department for Social Services did not demonstrate that he fell under any of the statutorily recognized classifications of this section or KRS 61.878 or that his particular situation warranted the release of the requested material, his request was properly denied. OAG 91-93.

Subsection (4) is applicable to information obtained as a result of a joint investigation by the Cabinet for Human Resources and the Kentucky State Police. OAG 91-173.

This section clearly requires that the Cabinet for Human Resources and the Department for Social Services withhold from all persons information acquired as a result of an investigation conducted pursuant to this section, unless the requesting party can demonstrate that he or she satisfies one of the requirements set forth in subsection (4)(a) through (4)(f) of this section. Thus where, although the requesting party was currently involved in a custody dispute with his former wife, she was the custodial parent, and the allegations of abuse were not substantiated, the requesting party could not be said to have satisfied the requirements of subsection (4)(e) of this section and his open records request was properly denied. OAG 92-53.

Subsection (4) of this section KRS 61.878(1)(k) and KRS 610.320(3) are aimed at protecting juveniles, and not adults who are criminally prosecuted for victimizing juveniles. OAG 93-ORD-42.

The Kentucky State Police improperly relied on subsection (4) of this section, KRS 61.878(1)(a) and (k), and KRS 610.320(3) in denying a request to inspect the files generated in the course of its investigation into a candidate for county sheriff who was charged with sodomy, sexual abuse and unlawful transaction with a minor. Although the privacy interests of the juveniles whose names appeared in those records were superior to the public's interest in disclosure of their identities, that interest could be protected by redaction of the juveniles' names and personally identifiable information. The candidate's privacy interests, however, were outweighed by the public's interest in assessing his fitness to serve as county sheriff, and the public's interest in evaluating the performance of the Kentucky State Police in investigating the case. OAG 93-ORD-42.

Unless the Kentucky State Police is acting as the Cabinet for Human Resources' designated representative in conducting a joint investigation into allegations of dependency, neglect, or abuse, as opposed to independently conducting an investigation into possible criminal charges against an adult, subsection (4) of this section does not operate to authorize nondisclosure of the records it compiles. OAG 93-ORD-42.

The Department of Social Services improperly denied the Kentucky Board of Nursing's request for medical records referenced in a report prepared by the Department in the course of an investigation into suspected child abuse pursuant to subsection (4) of this section, which is incorporated into the Open Records Act by operation of subdivision (1)(k) of KRS 61.878. OAG 93-ORD-132.

A child who does not receive necessary medical care due to his parents' religious belief may be considered an abused or neglected child; accordingly, the reporting requirements of KRS 620.030 (1) and the investigation requirements of subsection (3) of this section are mandatory and must be followed in cases involving the religious exemption contained in KRS 600.020 (1). OAG 93-84.

Since the shroud of secrecy mandated by KRS 620.050(4) is "not intended to protect the identities of adults and employees of a public agency charged with violations of the criminal laws," but is instead intended to protect the affected families, and in particular, the affected children, the Cabinet for Human Resources could not persuasively argue that it was bound by the confidentiality provision found at KRS 620.050(4) in withholding unsubstantiated complaints of abuse against its employees, and, at the same time, that it was free to release most, if not all, of the remaining records it compiled in its investigation of alleged employee misconduct. OAG 94-ORD-76 (overruling OAG 88-4 where inconsistent).

Cabinet for Health Service properly relied on KRS 61.872(6) and 61.878(1)(a), (k) and (l) and various confidentiality provisions found in both state (KRS 209.140, 210.235, 214.420, 214.625 and 620.050) and federal law, in denying request for inspection of all nursing facility licensure inspection reports for a two year period where the Cabinet sustained the burden of showing that such request was an unreasonable burden on the Cabinet in describing with specificity the actual volumes of records implicated by the request and where the exemptions to disclosure provided by the state and federal law were mandatory and the difficulty of separation of confidential from releasable information constituted an unreasonable burden. 97-ORD-88.

The Cabinet for Families and Children properly relied on KRS 61.878(1)(a), in addition to KRS 194B.060 and subsection (4) of this section, which are incorporated into the Open Records Act by operation of KRS 61.878(1)(l), in denying a request for a copy of the Children's Protective Services Report relating to two (2) children identified in the request and their mother. OAG 99-ORD-197.

Although the requester has established that she has "relative placement" of at least one of her grandchildren, she has not established that she is the children's custodial parent or legal guardian within the meaning of KRS 620.050(5)(b) or that she otherwise falls within one of the remaining statutorily recognized classifications. A letter prepared by a social worker does not invest her with the status of custodial parent or legal guardian. Nor has she produced a court order directing disclosure of the disputed records to her. Insofar as none of the criteria found in KRS 620.050(5) are satisfied, the requester is not entitled to receive a copy of those records pursuant to KRS 61.878(1)(l). OAG 03-ORD-70.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

2. Placement with Relatives.

Order awarding custody of the twins to the Grandmother and Uncle was not proper because they lacked standing to pursue custody, which made the custody order entered by the court voidable and the circuit court's sua sponte use of equitable estoppel to disallow the Cabinet for Health and Family Services' lack-of-standing defense was an abuse of discretion and its application was erroneous as a matter of law. Commonwealth v. Batie, 645 S.W.3d 452, 2022 Ky. App. LEXIS 48 (Ky. Ct. App. 2022).

(3) Has been an habitual truant from school; or

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Analysis

1. Right to Counsel.
2. Due Process.

1. Right to Counsel.

A juvenile is entitled to counsel where juvenile court is making decision whether or not to waive jurisdiction. (Decided under prior law) Smith v. Commonwealth, 412 S.W.2d 256, 1967 Ky. LEXIS 421 (Ky.), cert. denied, 389 U.S. 873, 88 S. Ct. 162, 19 L. Ed. 2d 155, 1967 U.S. LEXIS 933 (U.S. 1967).

2. Due Process.

It was error for the family court to adjudicate the juvenile's status as an habitual truant from school and to place the juvenile under the authority of the Department of Community Based Services when the juvenile was not present at the adjudication or the disposition hearing. Determinations in the juvenile's absence violated his due process rights. B.J. v. Commonwealth, 2006 Ky. App. Unpub. LEXIS 111 (Ky. Ct. App. Dec. 8, 2006), rev'd, 241 S.W.3d 324, 2007 Ky. LEXIS 259 (Ky. 2007).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

KRS 600.020(24) [now (28)] controls over KRS 159.150 in ascertaining the number of days a child must have unexcused absences prior to being found habitually truant under the Unified Juvenile Code. OAG 93-37.

custody file a complaint with the court, stating the basis for taking the child into custody and the reason why the child was not released to the parent or other adult exercising custodial control or supervision of the child, relative or other responsible adult, a court designated agency, an emergency shelter or medical facility. Pending further disposition of the case, the court or the court designated worker may release the child to the custody of any responsible adult who can provide adequate care and supervision.

If the Commonwealth fails to establish probable cause that the child is a status offender, the complaint shall be dismissed and the child shall be released. If the Commonwealth establishes probable cause that the child is a status offender, but that further detention of the child is not necessary for the protection of the child or the community, the child shall be released to the parent or person exercising custodial control or supervision of the child. (4) A status offender or alleged status offender who is subject to a valid court order may be securely detained upon a finding that the child violated the valid court order if the court does the following prior to ordering that detention:

(a) Affirms that the requirements for a valid court order were met at the time the original order was issued;

(b) Makes a determination during the adjudicatory hearing that the child violated the valid court order; and

(c) Within forty-eight (48) hours after the adjudicatory hearing on the violation of a valid court order by the child, exclusive of weekends and holidays, the court receives and reviews a written report prepared by an appropriate public agency that reviews the behavior of the child and the circumstances under which the child was brought before the court, determines the reasons for the child's behavior, and determines whether all dispositions other than secure detention have been exhausted or are inappropriate. If a prior written report is included in the child's file, that report shall not be used to satisfy this requirement. The child may be securely detained for a period not to exceed forty-eight (48) hours, exclusive of weekends and holidays, pending receipt and review of the report by the court. The hearing shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of KRS 610.060. - (a) Give the child adequate and fair written warning of the consequences of the violation of the order; and
- (b) Provide the child and the child's attorney, and parent, or legal guardian a written statement setting forth the conditions of the order and the consequences for violating the order.

An order issued pursuant to this section is a valid court order and any child violating that order may be subject to the provisions of KRS 630.080(4).

(2) The court shall consider all appropriate local remedies to aid the child and the child's family subject to the following conditions:

(a) Residential and nonresidential treatment programs for status offenders shall be community-based and nonsecure; and

(b) With the approval of the education agency, the court may place the child in a nonsecure public or private education agency accredited by the Department of Education.

(3) At the disposition of a child adjudicated on a petition brought pursuant to this chapter, all information helpful in making a proper disposition, including oral and written reports, shall be received by the court provided that the child, the child's parents, their counsel, the prosecuting attorney, the child's counsel, or other interested parties as determined by the judge shall be afforded an opportunity to examine and controvert the reports. For good cause, the court may allow the admission of hearsay evidence.

(4) The court shall affirmatively determine that all appropriate remedies have been considered and exhausted to assure that the least restrictive alternative method of treatment is utilized.

(5) The court may order the child and the child's family to participate in any programs which are necessary to effectuate a change in the child and the family.

(6) When all appropriate resources have been reviewed and considered insufficient to adequately address the needs of the child and the child's family, the court may, except as provided in subsection (7) of this section, commit the child to the cabinet for such services as may be necessary. The cabinet shall consider all appropriate local remedies to aid the child and the child's family subject to the following conditions:

(a) Treatment programs for status offenders shall be, unless excepted by federal law, community-based and nonsecure;

(b) The cabinet may place the child in a nonsecure public or private education agency accredited by the department of education;

(c) The cabinet may initiate proceedings pursuant to KRS 610.160 when the parents fail to participate in the cabinet's treatment programs; and

(d) The cabinet may discharge the child from commitment after providing ten (10) days' prior written notice to the committing court which may object to such discharge by holding court review of the commitment under KRS 610.120.

(7) No child adjudicated guilty of an alcohol offense under KRS 244.085 or a tobacco offense under KRS 438.305 to 438.340 shall be committed as a result of that adjudication.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Due Process.

Juvenile's disposition was reversed because, when the trial court rejected a recommendation to continue the juvenile's dispositional hearing and committed the juvenile over counsel's objection, (1) the juvenile did not receive a dispositional hearing that satisfied statutory requirements or the due process right to a meaningful and fair proceeding, even though the juvenile was before the court for habitual truancy, as due process attached to status offenses, and (2) the denial was not harmless beyond a reasonable doubt. C.F. v. Commonwealth, 560 S.W.3d 528, 2018 Ky. App. LEXIS 246 (Ky. Ct. App. 2018).

630.160. Escape charge not to be filed in certain circumstances.

Notwithstanding any provision of KRS Chapter 520 to the contrary, no child accused of being or who has been adjudicated as a status offender or who has been accused of or held in contempt of court based upon an underlying finding that the child is a status offender who is absent without leave from a nonsecure detention option or home detention, or who fails to comply with the conditions of supervised placement, shall be charged with escape for being absent without leave or failing to comply with the conditions of supervised placement.

CHAPTER 635

PUBLIC OFFENDERS

635.055. Detention of child found in contempt of court.

No child who is found to be in contempt of court shall be committed as a public offender as a result of such finding, nor detained because of such finding in a facility other than a secure juvenile detention facility, youth alternative center, an alternative to detention program approved by the Department of Juvenile Justice, or a nonsecure detention alternative. NOTES TO DECISIONS

1. Contempt.

Express statutory authority anticipated that a juvenile court had the power to hold a child in contempt as KRS 610.010(10) [now (11)] specifically provided that nothing in “this chapter” would prevent a District Court from holding a child in contempt of court to enforce valid court orders previously issued by the court, KRS 610.265(1), 610.265(5) and 635.055 each set out provisions for the detention of a juvenile who was charged with being in contempt of court, and KRS 635.083(1) gave a juvenile court continuing jurisdiction over a juvenile who was convicted or adjudged delinquent of three (3) or more offenses, this jurisdiction continued even after the service of incarceration or other court-ordered punishment in the form of conditional discharge, and violation of the terms and conditions of conditional discharge could be punished as contempt of court. A.W. v. Commonwealth, 2003 Ky. App. LEXIS 91 (Ky. Ct. App. May 2, 2003), aff'd, 163 S.W.3d 4, 2005 Ky. LEXIS 88 (Ky. 2005).
